AMERICAN WON BIG RUN

London, July 24.—Crowds began to assemble along the Marathon route early today and it was a huge gathering that witnessed the great event of the Olympic games. The roads are in perfect condition. The distance run was 26 miles and 385 yards. Borando, of Italy, won the race, after reaching the Stadium, he staggered along the track for a short distance and then fell down. John F. Hayes, of the Irish American Athletic Club came in second, Hefferon of South Africa was third and Forshaw, of the Missouri Athletic Club was fourth.

A. R. Weidon, another American was fifth. Borando collapsed 200 yards from the finish and was unable to continue and the officials picked him up and practically carried him over the finish line. The Americans entered a protest against the assistance rendered and the protest was allowed and Hayes declared the winner, he having finished two minutes later without assistance.

Borando's time, taken when he was assisted across the finish line was 2 hours, 54 minutes and 46 seconds. The second place in the Marathon goes to Hefferon, of South Africa, and third place to Joseph Forshaw, of the Missouri A. C.

In the final pole vault, A. C. Gilbert, of Yale and W. T. Cook, of Cornell tied for first and second places, with 12 feet and 2 inches.

25 MEN DROWNED IN TUNNEL UNDER ALPS.

Berne, Switzerland, July 24.—Twenty-five Italian workmen in the Loetschberg tunnel in the Bernese Alps, were drowned today after drilling through a wall which separated them from a subterranean river or lake. The existence of which was unknown. The water now fills the tunnel.

PRESENT FISHING AGREE-MENT IS EXTENDED.

Saw Bear in the Mountains.

C. M. Hester, proprietor of the Hotel Richards, has just returned from a fourteen days' trip to the White Mountains, and reports having seen quite a number of bears on the trip. While he was riding through thick shrubbery on the mountain side he was overtaken by a huge bear (so he says) and was treed for over ten hours in a very uncomfortable position, and if it had not been for his companions, McGee and Hahn, dry farmers, he most likely would not have been home yet.

A WILD NIGHT ON THE FIELD OF GETTYSBURG.

Gettysburg, Pa., July 24.—An all night search throughout Camp Hayes, where ten thousand men of the national guard of Pennsylvania have been in camp a week, and which was visited last night by a terrific electrical wind storm, shows three soldiers struck dead by lightning and nearly half a hundred other persons injured. It was probably the wildest night in the history of the battle ground since the memorable days of July, 1863.

The cots in the hospital tent were filled with injured, some of whom are women and children who had been visiting the camp. Governor Stuart's tent was blown down and the governor and his guests were buried under the canvas. A tall iron flagstaff in front of Governor Stuart's and General Wiley's tent was struck by lightning, stunning several members of the governor's staff. In the case of each man killed, the new army puttees furnished just before the men went into camp were torn from their limbs, the steel ribs being exposed. Some of the officers believed the steel attracted the lightning.

TROUBLE IN TURKEY

Constantinople, July 24.—An imperial edict issued this morning ordains the assembling of the chamber of deputies in accordance with the constitution which has been elaborated by the Sultan. Necessary orders for holding an election were issued. The constitution is practically the one worked out in 1876.

The immediate cause of the Sultan's raising of the white flag was a telegram from the Albanians of Uskub informing him they had taken their oath to favor the reestablishment of the constitution. Up to this time the Sultan had been under the impression he could depend upon the Albanians in all circumstances.

Belgrade, Serbia, July 24.—A dispatch from the European Viliayet of Macedonia, declares the young Turks are complete masters of the situation. All the Turkish authorities have surrendered themselves into their hands.

Belgrade, July 24.—The entire garrison at Uskub is reported to have mutinied, and the Albanians are said to be marching upon the city, although there is nothing to show whether they propose to join the mutiny or attempt to quell it.

Salonica, July 24.—The imperial edict restoring to Macedonia the constitution of 1876 was read publicly in this city this morning in the presence of the civil and military authorities and an immense orderly crowd. Great enthusiasm prevailed.

Vienna, July 24.—It is reported here that Uskub and Salonika are in the hands of young Turks. Order is maintained everywhere.

Turkish Commander Taken.

Vienna, July 24.—Marshal Osman Feizi Pasha, the new commander of Monastir, has been seized and carried off by the Young Turks, according to a telegram received today from Monastir. It is also reported that a revolt of the Macedonian garrison in favor of the Young Turks may be expected within a few days. The signatory powers of the Berlin treaty have no present intention of interfering with the course of events in Turkey.

FAIRBANKS TALKS AT THE QUEBEC CELEBRATION

Quebec, July 24.—Vice-President Fairbanks represented the United States last night at the celebration here and made the following talk:

Address of Mr. Fairbanks.

Your Royal Highness: I acknowledge with grateful appreciation the welcome which you so generously extend. The sentiments which you are pleased to express with regard to my country I receive with profound sensibility. They are renewed evidence of that respect and cordial good will which has so long existed between the United States and Great Britain, and will tend to strengthen and preserve their amicable relations.

Permit me to extend to Quebec my hearty congratulations upon the distinction which she enjoys in the presence of your Royal Highness and upon the enthusiasm with which she has welcomed you within her gates. It is, indeed, a signal honor which you have done her. It is a happy circumstance which brings you across the sea. The event is one which will be long treasured among the annals of Quebec.

The eyes of the western world are upon this historic city. The celebration of the tercentenary of Champlain's founding of Quebec is altogether admirable both in the comprehensiveness of its conception and in the excellence of its execution, and is an event which awakens interest not only in the Dominion of Canada but in the United States. From this point as a base, intrepid explorers blazed the pathway of civilization through trackless forests and explored lakes and rivers in territory which is now within the jurisdiction of the United States. Names associated with the early history of Quebec are landmarks in our geography and are indelibly impressed upon our civilization.

Three hundred years is but a brief period in the history of England or France, but it is all the history of Quebec and all of Anglo-Saxon America. Here has been written an interesting story. Here has been witnessed the victories and defeats of war and the blessed triumphs of peace. The battle ships of three great nations rest yonder upon the bosom of the St. Lawrence. The representatives of those powers assembled here are recalling past differences but only to emphasize the present prevalence of a spirit of genuine friendship between them.

It is with unusual pleasure I bring you greetings from the President and the people of the United States who rejoice with you in the progress you have made in the manifold ways which make for the strength and honor of a great people. We are not indifferent to your welfare nor are you indifferent to ours. The blood of a common ancestry is in our veins. We have much in common. We glory in many of the same traditions and we have the same jurisprudence. Our standards of civilization are alike. Here, side by side, owing allegiance to different sovereigns, we are, in God's Providence, to work out our destiny. We wish you that contentment which comes from the cultivation of the arts of peaceful industry under those political institutions which are the guaranty of justice and liberty among men.

The United States and Canada have but fairly entered upon their careers. Each has vast areas either sparsely settled or unoccupied where many will make their homes in the future. Many millions will be added to our population and to yours. We have each made much advance in the scale of civilization and are gratified with the progress we have made. Back of us lies a brief but honorable history, and before us stretch limitless opportunities. We confidently believe that we are each destined to play a large and worthy part in the progress of the human race upon the western continent. We have no rivalries except in the ways of peace. We neither covet the other's territory. We covet only each other's neighborly esteem. We rest upon a common frontier more than five thousand miles in length. It is crossed and re-crossed by instrumentalities of commerce which tend to strengthen our neighborly ties. There are no fortifications upon our frontier and no battle ships upon the waters which divide us, and we believe and fervently hope that there will never be need of any defensive preparation between us.

As we behold this majestic celebration in which the representatives of different nations participate and witness the manifestations of a genuine fraternal spirit among them, we are impressed with the thought that there is no rational reason why nations should resort to war. May we not, on this theatre of past conflicts, surrounded now by the impressive monuments of peace, venture to hope that the widespread movement which seeks to insure the maintenance of peace among the nations of the world without invoking the sword, may grow in strength and at no distant day become incorporated as a part of the fixed policy of nations. To advocate measures to the maintenance of international tranquility, to endeavor to substitute reason for force, is not evidence of any decay in the courage or manhood of nations, but it is the proclamation of the great truth that modern civilization is not a failure. It is a failure if it does not substitute for force the serene and all-powerful chamber of reason and deliberation. There is such a thing as righteousness among nations. Let them take their differences into international courts of justice and there let reason and righteousness prevail. Let nations by every honorable means which enlightened statesmanship may suggest avoid an appeal to that court where might alone turns the balance.

We have no reason to fear that the relations between the United States and Great Britain will ever again be disturbed. We have faith to believe that our flags which grace this historic occasion and which mingle together and salute each other upon the Plains of Abraham will never confront each other in conflict upon either land or sea.

I beg again to thank your Royal Highness for the gracious welcome and hospitality which you tender to me as the representative of the United States and to wish for your country and your people a continuance of the blessings of peace, progress and prosperity.

The tasting is proof of the pudding. Give the T. C. a trial. 2411

BODY WAS KULAY'S

Deputy Sheriff O. Z. Finley and Fred Carstensen returned at 6:30 last night from their trip to the place where the man's body was found, 45 miles northwest of town, and report that it was the body of Theodore Kulay, the German who went from Roswell with Albert Ross about a month ago and started to walk to Albuquerque. The cause of death remains a mystery, although plenty of theories exist in the minds of the officers and others posted in the case. The theory of O. Z. Finley, who has observed the case from first to last, is that the two men got in a fight, probably over the $35 that Kulay took from Roswell, that Ross stabbed Kulay in the neck, wounding him slightly, that Kulay took the knife from Ross and stabbed him, leaving him to die, and walked to the place where his body was found, and took poison.

The body of Kulay was found three miles west of the place where Ross's body was picked up. It was lying in a little, open grassy flat, the head pillowed on the man's coat. The clothing was open and the lower garments down; and in this respect the two bodies were found exactly the same. Nearby were his shoes, his French harp his open valise with papers and contents scattered about, crackers, cheese and two bottles, one full of sulphuric acid and the other containing only a small quantity of the same poison. The black bugs had eaten part of the flesh from the neck and arm and all of the flesh from one fore arm. The body was so badly putrified it was impossible to move it.

The two men from Roswell were accompanied by Fritz Brinck from his sheep camp nearby, and another sheep man and the four searched the clothing thoroughly, but failed to find any trace of the missing $35 or any place where it had been sewed in the garments. In the vest pocket were a silver watch, $2.36 in coins, a metal puzzle that Carstensen readily recognized a bit chip on an El Paso saloon, an Egyptian coin, memorandum book, an envelope containing fishline, pencil, pocket knife, etc. The neck showed where a knife wound had been made and blood from this wound found its way down the neck to the shirt and undershirt. There was no other wound on the head or body, and this one hardly appeared to have been fatal.

The missing $35 still makes it look like a case of murder and robbery, but it is possible that Kulay lost the money and thought Ross had taken it, this causing their trouble. The clothes of Ross will be re-searched for the missing money, as they are still at the morgue, not having been buried with the body. On the other hand, if it was a case of robbery, there were many places nearby where the bodies could have been hidden and never found in all time.

The remains of Kulay were in no condition to bring to Roswell and they were buried where found.

TROPHY MUST BE WON THREE TIMES BY ONE MAN.

The trophy put up by the Wigwam as a prize for the champion billiard player of the Roswell Commercial Club must be won three times by one man before it becomes his property. Judge C. W. Grier won it in the first monthly contest. It is his place now to contest all comers during the present month, and should he be beaten two out of three, the new winner will secure the trophy for the next month. He in turn must contest all comers. If any member holds the trophy three months it becomes his property and the title of champion will be accorded him. Monthly champions do not have to contest every claimant, however. They can refer aspirants to other members whom they have defeated, and thus make them show credentials before taking up the time of the champion. Otherwise, the champion would have to devote all his time to the game, playing aspirants for the trophy. Fred C. Hunt has bested Judge Grier this month by nine points in three games. The contest is drawing wide interest in the club.

The trophy is a beautifully engraved, solid gold watch fob, emblematic of the honor it confers.

Cy Waugh, the Well Known Barber, Moves His Shop to the Old Amonett Stand on Main Street.

Cy Waugh the well known barber, who has been in Roswell for nine years, has moved from the rear of the Roswell Seed Company store to the stand on Main street recently vacated by E. T. Amonett and he has remodeled the place and has one of the best appointed barber shops in the city. He rented the entire building and has put in a partition and rented the south side and upstairs rooms and has his barber shop and bath rooms on the north side. He will immediately duplicate the furniture he has and will add one more modern bath tub and two more chairs and fixtures. He has had the wall neatly papered and the wood work painted. Bran new linoleum covers the floor and the place presents a very attractive appearance and Mr. Waugh is bound to receive his share of the patronage, as it is one of the very best stands in the city. 2313.

Clarence Davison came up from Hagerman in Tanner's automobile, today. It was his first visit since the primary in which he was an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination for assessor. To his many friends he said that this was the first time he had the nerve to face the music that he knew he would hear in Roswell. But his friends were easy on him.

MEXICANS HAVE FUN ON LOCAL FREIGHT TRAIN.

There is a great crowd of 25 or 30 young Mexicans who have the time of their lives every morning or afternoon when the local freight train drags its weight over the hill of Chihuahua addition. The slowly moving train gives them an opportunity to hop off and on and gambol over the cars with ease. None of them have been reported as having neglected the opportunity lately. They are having lots of fun, but some one is bound to get killed if the custom is continued, and something will be done soon to stop it.

Wm. Taylor, who lives in the U. S. Bateman property on Lea avenue, was joined here last night by his parents and children, who arrived from King City, Mo. All will make Roswell their home.

BRYAN AND PROHIBITION.

A dispatch from Fairview published in morning papers of the 22nd, says: "The prominent part the prohibition question will play in the campaign was talked over between Mr. Bryan and Wiley B. Phillips, editor of the California Voice, of Los Angeles, who is returning from Columbus, O., where he was a delegate to the national Prohibition convention. "We agreed," said Mr. Phillips, "not to discuss for publication what was said at our conference." Mr. Phillips volunteered the statement that unquestionably a number of Prohibitionists would vote for Mr. Bryan as against their own candidate."

EDUCATION SHOULD

AIM AT CHARACTER.

(By the Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott of New York at Dartmouth College Commencement.)

What is your education going to do for you? What are you going to do with your education? These are two forms of the same question. The end of education is character; the end of character is service. The world will measure you by what you do, not by what you know. Therefore I ask you again, what equipment has your education given you?

We take from the generation that has passed, and we give to the generation that is to come. Thus you young men are the heirs of all the ages past. Thus you are the trustees of all the ages to come.

You are not to throw away the past. Sift and find the truth and apply it to present needs.

Ice Cream

You won't hear a dissentient voice when the question is put: Who likes PURITY ICE CREAM? and the fair sex particularly are positively fond of it, because it is so temptingly delicious. A part from its attractive appearance and taste, we guarantee its purity, both as to its ingredients and the method of its manufacture. Yet it costs just as little as the inferior kind. Stop in and try a portion.

Kipling's Candy Store

Every good today grows out of yesterday; every better tomorrow grows out of today.

We need reform, social, scientific, medical, theological reform, but the roots must be in the past. No reform will grow that begins by cutting the tree from its ancient roots. Nourish it, graft it if you will, but do not destroy it.

When a man tells you that what was good enough for his grandfather is good enough for him, tell him that if his grandfather had thought of our glorious country would be different from what it is today.

STATEHOOD CONSISTENCY.

Silver City Independent. The statehood plank in the Democratic national platform is emphatic and clear. It reads: "The national Democratic party has for the last 16 years labored for the admission of Arizona and New Mexico as separate states of the Federal Union, and recognizing that each possesses every qualification to successfully maintain separate state governments, we favor the immediate admission of these territories as separate states."

The plank was inserted freely and voluntarily, without effort on behalf of New Mexico and Arizona delegations, as a just recognition of the rights to which the people of the two territories were entitled. How different from the action of the resolutions committee of the Chicago convention, which at first absolutely refused even to consider such a plank for the Republican platform, and yielded only when the representatives from New Mexico stated that its omission would result in Republican defeat in this territory this fall. And for this statement of facts, we have the Republican press of New Mexico.

The action of the two national conventions in reference to the statehood plank aptly illustrates the position of the two parties on this all important question. As stated in the Democratic platform, the Democratic party has for the last sixteen years consistently advocated and labored for the admission of New Mexico as a state. During the same period, and long prior thereto, the Republican party has by the action of its members in congress just as consistently defeated such a measure. True, statehood planks have been inserted in Republican platforms but past experience has repeatedly shown that they were for political and not practical effect. And the 1908 plank is inserted for this very purpose. The campaign in New Mexico this year is going to be made upon the issue that in order to secure statehood it is necessary to elect a Republican delegate to congress. We have had Republican delegates continuously since 1894, with the single exception of Hon. H. B. Fergusson, and New Mexico is still a territory. Delegate Andrews has served two terms in congress, and statehood is as far distant as ever. The whole fact of the matter is that the Republican party is opposed to statehood, always has been and always will be. The election or defeat of a Republican delegate will not affect the movement in the slightest degree. When statehood comes it will be through the medium of the Democratic party, and it must therefore be said with much stronger force, that all those who desire this great privilege of American citizenship should support O. A. Larrazolo, the Democratic nominee to the 61st Congress of the United States

A TIDAL WAVE FOR

BRYAN IS CERTAIN.

George Fred Williams, of Massachusetts, talking in Denver of the conditions in the East, said:

"The Republican party is demoralized in the East on account of the terrible effects of the panic of last fall on business conditions in every staple line. The huge cotton, wool and leather industries of New England are at a standstill because of inability to dispose of stocks on hand except as demand comes from the West, where the panic was not felt in the same measure as in the East. Thousands upon thousands of textile and leather workers are out of employment as a result of the panic, and the party in power is universally condemned as being responsible for the conditions that exist. "The workers look to the Democratic party to adjust the unsettled conditions and to inaugurate reforms that will serve to prevent recurrences of such calamities as have been visited under the Roosevelt regime. Massachusetts is safely in the Democratic column, as is Connecticut and New York.

"The people of New England, and that speaks for the East generally, are more than pleased with the ticket selected and the platform adopted by the Democratic convention. Our people have implicit confidence in Bryan and Kern, and the platform is the most generally satisfactory that has been presented in many years. With the election of the ticket and the enactment of legislation along the lines suggested by the important planks, more will be accomplished in the direction of protecting the country against panics engineered by the money combines than has ever before been possible. The people of the East realize this, and they have the hardest fight that has ever been made by them in support of a national ticket. They have the battered and divided Republican party of the state completely at their mercy, and they are not going to let victory, either nationally or in the state and counties, slip away from them. In saying this I speak advisedly. After the convention I returned to the East to prepare for this trip to Denver, which is purely in the interest of personal business. On that trip East I discussed the situation generally with the New York leaders and other prominent Democrats. They all declared they were with the national ticket first, last and all the time and were going to win.

"What I consider particularly encouraging in this direction is the fact that these men are already distributing the federal positions that come within the gift of the government in their states. This is an unusual condition in the last twelve years. Previously there has been a sort of a general impression that the

had a very recent object lesson in the manufacture of panics.

"From this they are still suffering, and the lesson has proved beyond any reasonable doubt that the much talked of party of prosperity has just as big a claim on the panic market as any other party that has ever been in or sought power. They realize that panics are the result of the Republican system, and they will take steps on November 3 to wipe out the system.

"In support of the principles advocated by the platform and by the candidates who stand on that platform the Democrats of the country are united. There has been a great deal of talk about what the Democrats of New York would do. There is no question in my mind that they will make party was beaten before the fight started, but if anybody believes that now, let him go and hear the boys talk about who the national committeemen and the other party leaders will be with for the good jobs. All reports from the central states indicate that the Democratic party is in better shape there than it has been for years, and the Republican party in worse condition, largely because of the same demoralized conditions that affect the East.

"The Republicans of the country are not with Taft as a personal proposition. They feel that his nomination was forced on the convention, though he was not the choice of very many of the delegates. They feel that Roosevelt has been guilty of just as serious a breach in forcing Taft's nomination as he would have been had he forced his own. They will not stand for the establishment of a dynasty by Mr. Roosevelt or anyone else, and if anything more is needed to drive them from the party, it is for his Lordship to take the stump for the man he forced down the throat of the convention in an effort to perpetuate the reign of the House of Roosevelt."
