SULZER'S FATE WILL SOON BE KNOWN

VOTING IN SECRET SESSION BY THE COURT OF IMPEACHMENT BEGAN AT 3 O'CLOCK THIS AFTERNOON. MANY WILL EXPLAIN THEIR VOTES, IT IS SAID.

DOUBT EXPRESSED AS TO RESULT OF VOTE

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 16.—The eight articles are in substance, as follows: Article 1. That Governor Sulzer filed with the secretary of state a false statement of his receipts and other monetary transactions involved in his gubernatorial campaign.

Article 2. That he committed perjury in his statement to the secretary of state relative to receipts and expenditures.

Article 3. That he bribed witnesses to withhold testimony from the legislative committee which investigated his campaign expenditures and receipts.

Article 4. That he suppressed evidence by means of threats to keep witnesses from testifying before the legislative investigating committee.

Article 5. That he prevented and dissuaded a particular witness, Frederick L. Colwell, from attending under subpoena the sessions of the investigating committee.

Article 6. That he committed larceny in speculating in stocks with money and checks contributed for his campaign.

Article 7. That he threatened to use his office and influence to affect the vote or political action of certain public officers.

Article 8. That while governor he corruptly used his authority or influence to affect the current prices of securities on the New York stock exchange in some of which securities he was at the time interested.

The judges and senators filed into the senate chamber at 6 minutes after three. At that time the galleries were crowded with spectators and many thronged the corridors and were unable to gain admittance. A roll call showed that all the 57 members of the court were present. Governor Sulzer was not present, but was represented by his attorney.

It was 3:10 o'clock when Presiding Judge Cullen directed the erier to open court. After Judge Cullen had pronounced the high court duly opened, he said:

"Gentlemen, the next proceeding is the final decision of this court on the articles presented by the assembly against the respondent."

The presiding judge then directed Clerk Patrick E. McCabe to read article 1.

Senator Argersinger, the first member of the court, voted guilty.

"I find the acts of the respondent before January 1 so inextricably combined with his acts after January 1 that I am unable to divorce them. Therefore, I vote guilty."

Judge Bartlett, next on the list, asked permission to file a written explanation of his negative vote. In a brief verbal explanation, however, he said he could see no connection between the governor's election campaign statement and his acts while a governor.

"I don't find that he is guilty of mal and corrupt misconduct in office, and vote No," he said.

Senator Blauvelt Voted Guilty. "I have no hesitancy," he said, "in reaching the conclusion of the Judge just proceeded me, but I believe traditions should be brushed aside when a great question of the public good confronts us. I find the respondent morally unfit to occupy the office of governor and guilty of all the acts charged in article 1."

Senator Elton R. Brown, Republican leader of the senate voted guilty. He read a long opinion, in which he referred to differences he had had with the governor, but declared that no motives of revenge could be attributed either to himself or any other members of the court in the face of the oath taken to administer justice. Senator Brown asserted "that on account of weakness of his case, the respondent did not dare to take the witness stand" the testimony of Peck, Ryan and Morgenstau stood unchallenged and was overwhelming, he asserted.

Judge Chase voted not guilty. He read an opinion holding that the acts charged in article 1 were committed before the governor took office. He said he had no doubt that the governor was morally guilty, but thought it unwise to establish a precedent contrary to law.

Judge Collins voted guilty and announced that he would file an opinion. Judge Cuddeback declared that a violation by a candidate of the corrupt practices act "reached into the office itself."

"Therefore I vote guilty," he concluded, and filed an opinion. Presiding Judge Cullen voted not guilty. He announced that he has prepared a long opinion, which treated articles 1, 2 and 6 together, he said:

"I am constrained to find," he said, "that the respondent did take advantage of his nomination and candidacy for office to seek to personally enrich himself, by diverting contributions which he received for campaign purposes. I find that the respondent knowingly signed a false campaign statement. And I find that he did verify this statement under oath, knowing it to be false.

"However, I must vote not guilty." Speaking of article four, the larceny charge, Judge Cullen said: "The use of this money for his own purposes for political wards is not an offense and I believe that he had the legal right to use the money for any purpose he saw fit. I do not think he could be held guilty of larceny."

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 16.—The high court of impeachment which is trying William Sulzer adjourned shortly after 1 o'clock today to meet again at 3 o'clock this afternoon, at which time, it was announced, a start would be made on the final vote to determine the guilt or innocence of the governor. It was reported that the court voted informally in its secret session this morning to remove the governor from office by a ballot of 43 to 14. A vote to disqualify him from ever holding another office under the state was lost, it was said.

When a verdict will be reached in the impeachment trial of Governor Sulzer, now depends entirely on the length of the speeches of his judges in explaining their votes.

This applies to the remarks in secret sessions, one of which began with the opening of court today and the public sessions which follow.

Efforts to attach significance to the informal votes were denounced by many of the senators as unjust, both to the members of the court itself and the governor. It was pointed out that questions of fact were being discussed and decided in the case of each article, and also the legal admissibility of the article and that while a member might vote to admit the article from a legal point of view, on his formal vote, he might decide either for or against it when it came to his formal vote.

The eight articles will be voted on separately in order. Not until after the money articles have been voted on will a vote be taken as to whether Governor Sulzer should be removed from office. He might be found guilty and still be permitted to retain his office. The extreme penalty would be removal from office and prohibition from ever again holding a position of honor or trust under the state.

There was not a single vote favorable to his disqualification, it was reported. Every article of impeachment was voted on separately, according to the news that leaked from the court room and not all of them were sustained. Those on which the governor was reported to have been held guilty were articles 1, 2, 6 and 4 of the impeachment charges. The three first are the money articles, having to do with the alleged falsification of the governor's campaign statement and the misuse of campaign contributions. Article four relates to the suppression of evidence by the governor before the Frawley committee, including the testimony of Duncan W. Beck, superintendent of public works.

It was reported that the following members of the court voted in favor of finding the governor not guilty and against removing him.

Presiding Judge Edgar M. Cullen and Senators James F. Duhamel, Independence league; James A. Egerson, Republican; Seth G. Heacock, Republican; John W. McKnight, Democrat; Thos. H. O'Keefe, Democrat; Abraham J. Palmer, Republican and Progressive; W. R. Peckham, Democrat; John Seelye, Democrat; John D. Stivers, Republican; Ralph W. Thomas, Republican; Gottfried H. Wendt, Democrat; Clayton L. Wheeler, Democrat; Geo. H. Whitney, Republican.

"BATTLE OF THE NATIONS" IS CELEBRATED

Vienna, Austria, Oct. 16.—A splendid military review was held here today in celebration of the centenary of the "battle of the nations" fought at Lepell, October 18-19, 1813, when 200,000 of the allied armies of Austrians, Russians, Prussians, Swedes and Saxons commanded by the Austrian field marshal, Prince Carl Philipp Von Schwarzenberg, defeated Napoleon with an army of about 180,000 French troops. The combined casualties of both armies of 94,000 killed and wounded, and 30,000 French were taken.

The display took place on Schwarzenberg plain, where Emperor Francis Joseph, all the Austrian archdukes, the members of the cabinet, court and state officials and all the generals on the Austrian active army list, had gathered.

The aged emperor laid a huge laurel wreath at the foot of Schwarzenberg monument and subsequently on the Ringstrasse reviewed deputations from the regiments which had participated in the historic battle.

SHOT AND KILLED MAN WHO ATTACKED HIS WIFE.

Keith, who is superintendent of construction for an interurban railroad, telephoned to the police, told of his deed and was arrested. Mrs. Keith said she was attacked by Paul a year ago, but feared to tell her husband. When the attack was repeated recently, she said, her secret became too burdensome and she told of it to her husband.

FORTY NINE STRIKERS ARE ARRESTED

MARCHED THREE MILES TO JAIL AT TRINIDAD AMID CROWD OF SYMPATHISERS WHO CONTINUALLY TRY TO LIBERATE THEM 71 MINERS NOW IN JAIL.

Trinidad, Colo., Oct. 16.—Forty-nine striking miners, charged with picketing, were arrested at the McLoughlin mine of the Santa Fe coal company shortly before noon today and marched three miles to the county jail at Trinidad. Fifteen deputies armed with rifles, flanked the prisoners on either side and a machine gun, mounted on an automobile brought up the rear, but in spite of this several members of the crowd of 200 strikers that followed the party attempted to break through the lines and liberate the prisoners.

A crowd of 75 strikers gathered at the McLoughlin mine this morning when they learned that the twenty miners employed at the mine, whom they succeeded in preventing from entering the mine yesterday, had returned to work.

The strikers paraded back and forth in front of the mine shouting "we're waiting for the scabs to come out." The demonstration continued for two hours before the arrival of the deputies. Seventy-one miners are now being held at the county jail on the charge of picketing.

EATON MURDER TRAIL IS ON AT PLYMOUTH

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 16.—The preliminaries over the trial of Mrs. Jeanne May Eaton, charged with the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton, started in earnest today. The court room was filled with spectators. It was expected that the opening statements of counsel would be completed today and the first witnesses heard.

The prosecution contends and expects to show," said Mr. Katzman, "that Mr. Eaton met his death at the hands of his wife, by the administration of poison. The commonwealth expects the jury to render a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree if the act is shown to have been committed by a rational being."

Mr. Zatzman indicated that jealousy was the motive for the alleged crime. He recounted the incidents of the admiral's courtship and marriage to Mrs. Eaton and told of unsettled life in the household.

For years, he said, Mrs. Eaton had tried vainly to have her husband adjudged insane. The foundation for these attempts, he said, was Mrs. Eaton's statement in the summer of 1908 that her husband had poisoned a child, the previous spring.

"Mrs. Eaton cried in the highways and the byways," said he, "that the admiral had poisoned the child and had tried to poison her and her daughters."

THE SITUATION IN MEXICO IS DELICATE

NO ANSWER LOOKED FOR TO WILSON'S NOTE.—PROTEST AGAINST MAAS IN U. S.—HUERTA MAKES LOAN IN FRANCE.—ENGLAND IS WATCHING SITUATION.

PROMINENT MEXICANS FLEE FROM REPUBLIC

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—The Mexican situation remained unchanged today and administration officials agreed generally in the view that the Huerta government would make no answer to President Wilson's latest note. News of late constitutionalist victories were received without comment. The delicacy of the situation, however, was unaltered and the attitude of the Washington government, was still a waiting one, with the United States in the attitude of a close observer.

Senator Sheppard of Texas, today filed formal protest with the state department against the federal general Mass, journeying across Texas from one point in Mexico to another. He charged that similar privileges were recently denied generals of the constitutionalists. A reply was promised by the department by tomorrow.

The vessel will dock about 6 p. m.

May Send Warship. Paris, Oct. 16.—The foreign office here today received a telegram from the French legation at Mexico City suggesting that a warship be sent to Mexico.

The government officials are considering the matter and following the usual practice of sending a warship when a French colony requests one, it is probable that one of the French vessels already in American waters, will be detailed to Mexico.

The French foreign office has not been advised whether the diplomatic corps at Mexico City counseled the Mexican government to use caution in replying to the representations of the American government.

Flees From Mexico. Vera Cruz, Oct. 16.—Mamuel Bonilla, who was minister of communications in the late President Madero's cabinet, sailed from here today on board the Hamburg American liner, Kron Prinzessin Cecilie, in disguise.

Following arrest, he has fled from Mexico. He arrived here this morning and went on board the liner, which was due to sail at 1 o'clock for Cuba, Spain, England and Germany.

TRIAL RESUMED IN RUSSIAN MURDER CASE.

Kiev, Russia, Oct. 16.—Evidence was given today at the resumption of the trial of Mendel Belliss for the murder of Andrew Yushinsky in 1911, by Vera Teberliak, the mother of the murdered boy's play fellow. She testified that the woman Malitsky, who occupied a room above that of the Teberliaks, had denounced her because of an old quarrel. The witness also said a journalist, Brazul Bruskovsky, declared her husband would lose his position in the post-office unless he assisted in discovering the murderers.

Madame Teberliak swore that she was offered $25,000 to take the guilt on her own shoulders, those making the offer, saying it was necessary to refute the charges against Belliss.

SEN. MARTINE URGES REPEAL OF TREATY

BEGS SENATE TO RECOMMEND SUCH ACTION AS IT INTERFERES WITH TOO MANY AMERICAN RIGHTS ESPECIALLY AS REGARDS THE TARIFF.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—Senator Martine of New Jersey today urged the senate to recommend repeal of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty with Great Britain on the ground that it interferes with too many American rights. He said he had received many protests that the tariff bill's five per cent shipping rebate was a violation of the terms of the treaty.

The senator added that he preferred a repeal of the treaty rather than a repeal of the five per cent rebate in the tariff law and predicted that the United States would have the best of the argument if foreign countries tried to make commercial reprisals because of the five per cent rebate.

"If Germany should elect to try it on us," said Senator Martine, "we would shut off her supplies of cotton, copper and potash. To great Britain we would give the same medicine. Should South American throw down the gauntlet, we could shut off their coffee and rubber for a little while and ruin would stare them in the face. Japan needs our cotton and besides this we are her best market. No senator or congressman wants commercial war or any other kind of war, but other nations grant important favors to their industries."

ILLINOIS WOMEN INTERESTED IN JUDGES ELECTION

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 16.—Although women of the fifth supreme court district cannot vote, at the forthcoming election of a state supreme judge, the incursion of suffragette speakers from Chicago in behalf of the Progressive candidate is resulting in a rousing the greatest interest among the women partially enfranchised at the last session of the legislature.

Woman suffrage in Illinois extends only to officers created by statute and does not apply to positions named in the state constitution, such as supreme court judges.

This is the first important campaign in which the women have exerted their efforts for their respective candidates. The attack of Mrs. Medill McCormick on Judge Putebaugh yesterday and his spirited defense by other women has resulted in a sharp drawing of the lines. The Chicago women, Mrs. Medill McCormick, Mrs. Herman Booth, and Mrs. George Plummer planned a strenuous campaign in the smaller cities near here.

WOMAN KILLED MAN DYING IN CHICAGO HOTEL

Chicago, Oct. 16.—A man and woman were found, the woman dead with her throat cut and the man shot three times and apparently dying, in a room in the Sherman house here this afternoon. They were registered as Mr. and Mrs. William C. Ellis, of Cincinnati, Ohio. The woman appeared to have been instantly killed. Ellis is said to have been a prominent leather merchant.

Attaches of the hotel said that Ellis was a member of the wholesale leather firm of G. E. Ellis and company, of Cincinnati. Ellis' wounds had been inflicted with a small revolver which was found in the room. He was taken to the county jail hospital, where it was said that his wounds were not necessarily fatal.

A small pen knife, with which the police said the woman's fatal wounds probably had been inflicted, also was found in the room.

The woman is believed to have been dead for some hours when the room was entered. The wounded man telephoned incoherently shortly after noon to a friend, who became alarmed and asked the hotel management to investigate.

House detectives found that Ellis had suffered three bullet wounds and a cut on the side of his neck. The woman was lying dead on the bed. The knife and revolver were on the floor. The man told Manager Bering of the hotel: "We decided to die. She cut her throat. I shot myself and stuck myself in the throat with a penknife."

Hotel employees said that tonight was to be their wedding anniversary. The woman was clad in her night clothes when found. She lay as if sleeping. The two registered last evening.

Examination of Mrs. Ellis' body at an undertaking establishment disclosed that she had been shot twice under the left arm.

Known in Cincinnati. Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 16.—William C. Ellis, a member of the firm of G. E. Ellis & Son, dealers in harness and saddlery, of this city. At his residence it was said that he was in Chicago on business, his wife accompanying him. They were expected home tonight. His relatives here had received no word of the tragedy.

CRIME IN TEXAS CONFESSED BY INDIANA FELON

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 16.—A convict in the state reformatory at Jeffersonville has confessed that he murdered Florence Brown, the Dallas, Texas, stenographer, who was found in an office there with her throat cut on last July 28, according to D. C. Peyton, superintendent of the reformatory here last night. The official report to announce the name of the prisoner, but said it had been definitely learned that the man was in Dallas on the day of the crime. An investigation now is being made because it is believed that other persons were implicated.

The man who confessed had been sentenced for murder in Indiana and paroled. He went to Texas, where, he told the official, after being intoxicated for several weeks, he went into a real estate office where Miss Brown was employed to rob the place. The stenographer threatened to scream and he cut her throat with his pocket knife.

The convict returned to Indianapolis where he was returned to the reformatory for violating his parole. Chief of Police Ryan of Dallas, was at the reformatory Tuesday to investigate the confession and returned to Dallas, yesterday.

CALLS HEWETT "A LAUGHING STOCK"

ALFRED TOZZER, DISTINGUISHED HARVARD PROFESSOR, SAYS OUTSIDE OF A FEW WASHINGTONIANS, NOT AN AMERICAN ARCHAEOLOGIST STANDS FOR THIS PROMOTER.

TRIED TO "EXPLAIN" HEWETT FOR 8 YEARS

"I rejoice that Santa Fe has at last arisen to the occasion and has placed Hewett where he belongs. His methods of work serve as a laughing stock for a great many of us."

So writes Alfred Marston Tozzer, Harvard University professor, and recognized in scientific circles throughout the world as a great archaeologist.

The letter of Professor Tozzer is addressed to President Henry H. Dorman, of the Santa Fe Chamber of Commerce, and is of unusual interest at this time because of the action of four regents of the New Mexico Museum in ousting the chamber of commerce from its room in the Old Palace, the reason generally ascribed being one Edgar L. Hewett, promoter.

That Dr. Hewett is "a world-famed scientist," as has been stated by certain persons, is denied by President Dorman, who in two interviews in the New Mexican this month declared that the School of American Archaeology needs a new director, a man who can bring real students and not a few dabblers to the school; a man who enjoys the confidence of the great eastern universities.

A Joke, Says Tozzer. "What does Harvard University think of Dr. Hewett as a scientist? HE IS A JOKE, according to Professor Tozzer, as is seen in the following letter:

HARVARD UNIVERSITY Division of Anthropology "Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 11, 1913.

"Dear Mr. Dorman: "I have your letter of the 7th and the newspaper. I could dispose of half a dozen copies.

"I rejoice that Santa Fe has at last arisen to the occasion and has placed Hewett where he belongs. His methods of work serve as a laughing stock for a great many of us. I have lost interest in his activities as our paths no longer touch. As I wrote you, I think, with the exception of a few people in Washington there is not an American archaeologist who stands for him. . . .

"I think there are several men who would be willing to help you in showing up Hewett in his true light. Professor Franz Boas, of Columbia, is one of these. If you will write me I will see that these men are informed.

"Explain" Hewett. "I have been trying to 'explain' Hewett for the last eight years. Again, I say, I am glad that Santa Fe is learning what manner of man he is!

"Sincerely yours, (Signed) "ALFRED TOZZER." Editor's Note.—Space will be offered to Dr. Hewett in these columns in case he wishes to reply to Professor Tozzer and also should he wish to answer President H. H. Dorman's two interviews published October 3 and October 9.

NEWS NOTES FROM STATE COLLEGE

State College, N. M., Oct. 16.—A number of valley orchardists have been inquiring as to whether it were advisable to irrigate their trees now. Professor Garcia, director of the experiment station, wishes to advise them through the newspapers as follows:

"In giving advice on this subject it is well to take into consideration the local conditions. If it were a little earlier in the season it would not be considered a good plan to irrigate trees, as there would probably result a new growth, which would not have time to mature or season, and might be winter killed. But now it is so late in the season that frost is likely to occur any night, which would check any effort made by the tree to start new growth, if irrigated now. The starting of a lot of new succulent growth by late irrigation is a thing to be avoided; but there is no danger of this at the present time. On the contrary, an irrigation from now on would doubtless be very beneficial to the tree; and besides, there is water available now, where there might not be later on. If the orchard soil is dry, as has been the case all this summer and fall, a late fall and early irrigation is considered beneficial to trees. Fruit growers ought to practice more winter irrigation than they do now."

The football eleven of the New Mexico State college met and defeated the team of the cavalry stationed at El Paso on Saturday, October 11th, the score of the game being 51 to 0. This is the second victory won by the Mesilla Valley Aggies since the beginning of the 1913 season, these being the only two games played so far. The first game was won from the El Paso high school a week earlier by the closer score of 7 to 2.

The college will be represented by a strong eleven this year if present indications count for anything. The heavy backfield of last year was lost last spring by graduation, but new candidates have taken their places and it is expected that the team will play up to the tradition of the institution. The schedule includes games with the University of New Mexico Catholic Athletic association of El Paso, a return game with the cavalry team, and one with the University of Arizona, the final game of the year being with the New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell on Thanksgiving day.

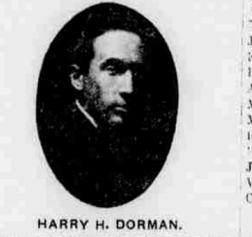

The commercial department of the college has just issued a booklet setting forth the advantages offered to young people of New Mexico for business training in that department. The various courses are described in detail and attention is called to the fine records made by graduates of the department, which has been training young New Mexicans for business careers for the past twenty years and numbers among its graduates many leading business men of the state.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 16.—Two detectives started on the trail of a new copper-colored suspect—a hunter of white women—the man who crushed the life from the body of Miss Ida Genelas Leegson, artist and sculptor.

September 29 this latest suspect pounced upon a little girl in Morgan Park and almost killed her. The unfortunate child gave a description of the man, which it was discovered, answers that of the claw-handed, deep-chested slayer of Miss Leegson.

He was followed to Chicago. Here he was swallowed up in the countless hundreds of his kind. His trail was taken up in Morgan Park this afternoon.

The "death house" was found, a strange abode—a tumbled-down, ramshackle, squalid shack, fashioned from a box car. It was within half a mile of where the woman's body was discovered. Between it and that spot her clothing had been strewn, showing the progress of her flight.

The first real clue which leads to the belief that Miss Leegson fought to her death in that cabin was the discovery of bent and twisted hairpins. Outside of the dingy place the men came upon footprints in the mire. One was that of a big, powerful, well formed and well-clad man's foot deep in the earth. The other was that of a delicate, shapely shoe similar to those frequently worn by Miss Leegson.

THEIR FIRST JOY RIDE IS A SAD ONE

St. Louis, Oct. 16.—Two country girls from Washington, Mo., who are employed here, reported to the police that they had been attacked by men companions while on a "joy ride" last night in the country and that they were forced to walk home, a distance of about three miles, accompanied by their chauffeur.

The girls, Catherine Meyer and Alvin Klussner, who never had ridden in a motor car before, attended a dance a few nights ago and met a young man who asked them to accompany him and a friend in a machine. Mrs. Edith Martineau was the chaperon. Both the girls and Mrs. Martineau say they will prosecute the men, one of whom has been arrested, while the police are looking for the other.

GIRL INHALES GAS. BURIED, SAVED

Willes-Barre, Penn., Oct. 16.—After being overcome by inhaling sewer gas, Mary Shaelaha, eight-years-old daughter of Thomas Shaelaha, of Dupont, was buried in a small excavation, leaving only her nose and mouth protruding above the ground, and this form of treatment revived her and she is now well.

The father was digging a trench, and exploded a charge of dynamite. The little girl ran close to the edge of the trench after the shot was fired, and a part of the bank gave way under her and she was hurled into the excavation. It was sometimes before she was found, the father dis-covering that she was overcome by the gas.

While friends were getting the girl from the trench the father dug a hole in the earth big enough to hold her body. He buried her under about one foot of earth only her nose and mouth were left uncovered. The damp earth restored the child to consciousness, and after a wait of several minutes she was disinterred and hurried to her home, where doctors were summoned to treat her.

CATRON BECOMES A POLITICAL PROPHET IN PRINT

Republicans in the United States will be united in the next campaign, says the El Paso Herald.

Wilson will ask for another term, although elected on a platform endorsing a single term.

Wilson and Bryan will split before the expiration of the president's term of office and Champ Clark will fight both of them.

In these three paragraphs United States Senator Thomas B. Catron, of New Mexico, while at Albuquerque from his home, at Santa Fe, forecasted national politics. The senator, home from Washington to attend to a legal case, said:

"I have been closely observing the trend among Republicans and ninetieths of those who left the party in the last presidential election, from the eastern states to California, are back with the party and they will present a solid front, carrying the party back into power in the next election.

A Taft Parallel.

"Five out of nine of President Taft's cabinet were opposed to his candidacy for the presidency for a second term. I look for something of a similar nature in President Wilson's cabinet. Undoubtedly President Wilson will ask for another term, although he was elected on a platform endorsing a single term of four years. Bryan and Wilson will split and Champ Clark will oppose both of them. Under such conditions, the Republicans will swamp the Democrats.

"Roosevelt's parting warning to his opponents, I think, was the last wriggle. Men who followed him, believing his strength was greater than it was and that many Democrats would support him in the election, are disgusted and are back in the party. The loss was great and they realize it."

Fall and Mexico.

Questioned regarding his colleague, Senator A. B. Fall, Senator Catron replied:

"Fall, oh, he's all right. He is still trying to settle the Mexican question. For that matter we have both worked along those lines, only on different angles. Senator Fall, who is now at Three Rivers, N. M., would have the United States recognize the belligerency of both Huerta and the rebels. Such a policy, as I view it, would not settle the controversy as there would always be warring factions for recognition as belligerents.

"I would have the United States recognize Huerta, giving him a specified time in which to restore peace. If it was not accompanied within that time then I would intervene.

"Congressman Ferguson of New Mexico, is doing as well back in Washington as some of the others. He said he favored a tariff on wool, but would vote for the party. He has his family with him in Washington and I doubt if he returns to New Mexico during adjournment of congress.

Mark Smith Considered Safe.

"Senator Mark Smith of Arizona, is fixing his fences for the next campaign and I think he will be elected again.

"On the Wilson administration currency bill, no two senators agree on the measure in its entirety. It will not be acted upon at this session, but must be threshed out and will go over until the December session. When a currency bill is finally passed, it must be non-partisan."

"Don't you hope the ship sinks?" was a query of the senator in discussing Felix Martinez of New Mexico and El Paso, now commissioner to the South and Central American republics to secure exhibits from Latin America to the Panama-Pacific exposition. "Well, you people in El Paso can keep him; we don't want him in New Mexico," he concluded.

Hard Man to Find.

Senator Catron, well known in Albuquerque, was described to the searcher for information as a "large man, slightly stooped, not caring much about his personal appearance and whose clothes don't fit."

"I saw him on that corner (Central avenue and Second street, which was congested by thousands viewing the trades parade of a few minutes ago," was one bit of information volunteered. And then the search for the United States senator was on. Through the milling crowds it continued in that immediate vicinity, the state fair apparently drawing more than one "large man, slightly stooped, not caring much about his personal appearance and whose clothes don't fit." The size of the man and the size of the office he holds makes little difference in a crowd of several thousand spectators at a state fair.

One man, closely answering the description was accosted. "Hell, no," was his answer to the query if by any good luck he might be the United States senator from New Mexico. His answer told plainly that he was not a teacher of a Sunday school class and indicated, too, that he was acquainted with the New Mexico senator.

Has Relatives Here.

Senator Catron is not assuming, is pleasant to meet and jovial in his reminiscences. He is well known in El Paso being an uncle to Harry and William Waltz and also a relative, by marriage of Major and Mrs. W. J. Fewel.

While in Albuquerque he visited his nephew, Harry Waltz, who was in attendance at the fair. Senator Catron left Albuquerque Friday night for his home at Santa Fe.

OFFICIAL. FEDERAL COURT WILL NOT INTERFERE IN CANAVAN CASE

U. S. DISTRICT JUDGE WILLIAM H. POPE QUASHES HABEAS CORPUS WRIT AND REMANDS DEFENDANT BACK TO CUSTODY OF BERNALILLO COUNTY SHERIFF.

GREAT INTEREST SHOWN IN LEGAL POINT RAISED

Judge William H. Pope, of the U. S. district court, today quashed the writ of habeas corpus in the Stephen Canavan case, and remanded the defendant to the custody of the sheriff of Bernalillo county to serve out his jail sentence for contempt of court.

Great interest was manifested in the past few days in this case and query after query was received over the Associated Press regarding the matter.

Judge Pope's opinion handed down in the case is as follows:

"The case of the petitioner for discharge upon this habeas corpus proceeding proceeds upon the following contentions:

First—That Canavan was committed because of a disobedience of a restraining order made on August 3, 1910, by the terms of which he was not to dispose of any of his estate real or personal, until the further order of the court.

Second—That this order became merged into and terminated by the final decree in the cause, which latter, it is contended, contained no equivalent terms.

Third—That the order of commitment for contempt was civil, and not criminal, in its nature.

Fourth—That after an order has been dissolved, or has, by merger into a final decree, lost its force, there can be no judgment of civil contempt for violating such order, although it was in full force at the time of the alleged disobedience; in other words, to make civil contempt punishable the order violated must be in force not only at the time of the disobedience but at the time of the judgment for such contempt.

Fifth—That the state court was thus without jurisdiction to punish for a violation of a civil contempt arising out of the order of August 3, 1910, after such had been superseded, and that in committing Canavan under such circumstances the proceeding was without due process of law.

The case of Gompers vs. Buck Stove and Range Co., 221 U. S. 418, is cited as sustaining in principle the position of law above contended for, but conceding all that is claimed in the second, third and fourth positions above stated, is position first sustained by the record, and does position five follow as a matter of law? The foundation of petitioner's prayer for relief is that the state court punished for a violation of the restraining order of August 3, 1910, and that, because that order had been superseded by final decree, there was no jurisdiction to punish for civil contempt. Unless this position be true as a matter of fact petitioner's case has no substantial ground, even according to his own contentions, calling for relief. But does the judgment referred to rest purely upon a violation of the preliminary order above referred to? The record distinctly declares that it does not. The order of contempt of March 14, 1912, it is true, recites that petitioner violated the restraining order, but it finds as well that he had failed to obey the final decree, and the form of the order adjudging contempt and committing therefor indicates that the court was attempting to enforce this latter rather than to punish because of the former.

Whatever, therefore, may be said of the power of the court to proceed upon the restraining order because of any merger of it into a final decree, there can be no question of its power to proceed as it did, upon this latter. With power to proceed under the final decree there was jurisdiction of the subject matter. If, as is denied, the defendant was in court upon this proceeding there was also jurisdiction of the person. If, further, as is not denied, he was given an opportunity to introduce proof and to be heard on his own behalf according to the rules and practices of our system of jurisprudence, then there was due process of law, no constitutional right was invaded and there is no ground calling for relief from this court. These questions are, of course, altogether aside from the inquiry as to whether the order committing for contempt was or was not erroneous. It may be that the court improperly interpreted this final decree. It may be that the court was mistaken in holding that under the terms of that decree the petitioner had been affirmatively ordered to do anything. It is further possible that that court may have erred in finding upon the facts that the petitioner had violated the order which the court found was contained in the decree. But all of these, if errors at all, were errors within the exercise of the court's jurisdiction, not outside of it. They were remediable by the proper appellate procedure to the supreme court of the state, a right which that court, in Canavan vs. Canavan, 131 Pac. 493, 497, held to exist.

It was stated by counsel for petitioner on the argument that a writ of error was sued out from the supreme court of New Mexico to review the order of contempt, but that this had been, or would be, quashed because of the irregularity in its issuance. But, however that may be, the failure to prosecute proceedings in error in the state courts cannot justify discharge upon habeas corpus by the federal courts. To permit this would be to violate the very elementary principle of procedure that the writ of habeas corpus cannot be invoked to perform the functions of a writ of error. This is especially true where the federal courts are called upon to deal with proceedings in the state courts, and where principles of comity and of orderly procedure prescribe that the national courts shall not interfere by habeas corpus to discharge a prisoner until he has exhausted the remedies afforded by the state for determining whether he is illegally restrained of his liberty.

A Different Case.

"The present is quite a different case from Stevens vs. McLaughry, decided by the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals on July 19, 1913. There the prisoner had been sentenced twice for what the court held to have been the same federal offense. He was discharged upon habeas corpus by the circuit court of appeals—and this notwithstanding no appeal had been taken—on the expiration of his first sentence upon the ground that the court in imposing the latter half of the sentence had acted outside the law and without jurisdiction. In the case at bar, however, there was a charge that Canavan had violated a final decree confessedly in full force. To this charge he appeared and had full opportunity to present proof and to be heard on his own behalf. The court upon such hearing held that he had violated the decree. It had jurisdiction to construe this decree and to decide what it meant thereby. It had jurisdiction to decide whether, as a matter of fact, he had violated it. It had jurisdiction to punish such a violation; either as for civil or criminal contempt. It did so punish by a sentence which as to character and length was within its powers. Petitioner had the right of review, which he has not effectively claimed. And now he asks that this court, ignoring all that has been done in the state court, declare him entitled to discharge upon the ground that the state court was without due process of law. It is found impossible, however, to accede to such a view of the matter. Petitioner, even if erroneously tried, was tried according to due course of law, and must be remanded to be dealt with accordingly.

The Order.

"Wherefore, this cause having been brought to the court upon the petition for a writ of habeas corpus upon the return thereto and upon the answer to the return, counsel having been heard, and the matter having been fully submitted,

MAN WANDERS LONG WITH MEMORY BLANK. Chico, Cal., Oct. 16.—While on a hunting trip, Ben Hudspeth, city clerk of Chico, was overtaken by an electrical storm and rendered unconscious by a bolt of lightning. Five miles later he regained his senses, five miles away from where he was stricken, and remembered nothing of his wanderings. Hudspeth says he feels no ill effects from his experience.

ONE BIT PIECE MAY BE COINED

SECRETARY M'ADOO IS CONSIDERING THE FEASIBILITY OF THE MOVE—WOULD DECREASE PRICE OF MERCHANDISE == NATIONAL LABOR EXCHANGE IS PROPOSED.

(Staff Correspondence to the Daily New Mexican.)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—The "one-bit" piece may become a reality in the United States if Secretary McAdoo considers the plan proposed to him by Frederic C. Howe, of New York, who came to Washington to confer with the secretary on the matter of coining such pieces.

Mr. Howe, who is the director of the People's Institute in New York, believes that a practical method of reducing the high cost of living will be to coin half-cent, two-and-a-half-cent and twelve-and-a-half-cent pieces. He also wants the treasury department to begin the issue of the abandoned "shin plasters" in denominations of 25 and 50 cents.

The half-cent piece would be coined by punching a square hole in the one-cent coin; the 2 1/2 cent piece would use the nickel in the same way; and the 12 1/2 cent coin would be made by punching a hole in the quarter.

It is Mr. Howe's contention, as expressed to the secretary, that such coins would bring down the prices of many articles which are now priced higher because we have no convenient coins in which to express their value. He believes that many articles which now sell for one cent go to a half-cent if we had such a coin. He points out that in all other countries a coin of small denomination is used to advantage. He goes on to show that in the west for many years a one-cent piece was a curiosity and that newspapers and other articles sold for a nickel simply because of lack of a smaller coin. Articles priced at 5 cents would in many cases be reduced to 2 1/2 cents and the 15 cent bargain would be 12 1/2 cents if such coins were available. Mr. Howe would not be surprised to see the "two-and-a-half and five cent store," replace the "five and ten cent store."

The particular purpose of using the "shin plasters" according to Howe, is to stimulate the use of the parcel post. He pointed out to the secretary that the great majority of workmen do not have bank accounts and that many persons do not know how to draw a check or have an opportunity to draw one. The use of a money order costs a fee. He contends that a 25 and 50 cent paper note would be extensively used in making remittances by mail and would thus stimulate the parcel post business. The secretary has taken the matter under advisement.

The American Federation of Labor is to take up actively the work for the proposed bill for a national labor exchange which will probably be introduced into congress at an early date. The Federation's legislative committee has examined and approved the proposed measure, which seeks to set the post offices as labor exchange to put the unemployed workman in touch with employers and vice versa. President Samuel Gompers in his last annual report recommended the establishment of such a plan. Indications are that the proposition will be endorsed at the annual A. F. of L. convention which meets in Seattle in November.

The bureau of labor favors an international agreement for fixing a minimum age for workers employed at night. In a bulletin just issued on this subject, the bureau suggests the age of 18 years, which has already been fixed by the states of California and Massachusetts in the United States, as well as by England, France, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, Switzerland, Greece and Servia.

The necessity for an international agreement arises from the fact that if one nation alone took this position and prescribed adult labor for night work, the manufacturing establishments affected by the law would be at a disadvantage in competition with establishments of other countries which could still use the cheaper child labor.

"The international regulation of the employment of young persons," says the bulletin, "offers the best guaranty that the temptations to exploit young persons will be reduced to a minimum, that the later will be given a chance to acquire education and that the hope for a reform corresponding to technical developments and introduced within a full and expert understanding of the situation will be realized."

Here is a list of measures which congress has not passed: Compensation for federal employees for injury or occupational diseases.

Compensation for employees in interstate commerce injured in their employment.

An eight-hour day for women employed in the District of Columbia.

Provisions in the immigration act for mental examination of immigrants by alienists; safeguarding welfare of immigrants at sea, detaching American medical officers and matrons to immigrant-carrying ships.

Provision for a national department of health.

A hospital ship for American deep-sea fishermen.

The seaman's bill to better conditions of American seamen and prevent accidents at sea.

A bill to provide a commission to investigate jails and the correction of first offenders.

Abolition of contract convict labor system by restricting the interstate traffic in prison-made goods.

PUNT FORMATION---FORWARD PASS.

BY "HURRY UP" YOST.

Here is a regular Yost forward pass formation, in which the opposition may confidently be expected to go "up in the air." At the signal the ends step off four yards from the tackle, as if to go down field on a kick; the quarter blocks the opposing tackle and the left half blocks the opposing end. As the ball is snapped directly to the player who is to make the pass, the loose ends and the right half dash down field, as shown in the diagram; the man who makes the pass runs to the right and then passes the ball to either of the three men best situated to get away with the ball after it is passed, as shown in the diagram.

FAMOUS CAPTAIN OF CORNELL'S GREAT ELEVEN.

Captain Munn, the Cornell grid-iron leader, a veteran of the football field, has a heavy task on his hands. On top of a hard schedule Munn must whip his team into shape to pull down an ancient foe—Penn, in the big game of the year.

FAMOUS CAPTAIN OF DARTMOUTH'S GREAT ELEVEN.

Capt. R. N. Hogsett leads the Dartmouth team of giant killers. Upsetting the big fellows is the delight of the Dartmouth eleven, and scarcely a year passes that they do not upset one or more of the big three. This year Capt. Hogsett aspires to down not only Cornell but Harvard and Princeton, as well.

MONDAY'S BIG BOUT TO BE A SIZZLER

"Tommy" O'Rourke after his usual roadwork went through his customary training stunts yesterday afternoon which consisted of handball, rope skipping, mat work and eight rounds of boxing with three different sparring partners. Tommy now weighs just 129 3/4 pounds, and is in the very pink of form. Although the weight for the contest is 136, he will weigh little, if any more than at present when the goes into the ring. He really is naturally a 128 to 130 pounder but always has had to meet heavier men in order to get contests. The workout yesterday showed a decided improvement on the part of Durand.

Mike Baca came over to see the work, but as usual refused to participate. He will not allow Durand see him train at all, but is doing a lot of work and keeping very quiet about it. He says his wind and condition are fine and that his method of training will enable him to spring a surprise party on Durand.

O'Rourke announced yesterday that the preliminary scrappers would have to mix it and if any one of the contestants in the preliminary bouts failed to make good and attempted to stall, instead of fight he would be ordered from the ring, and deprived of any part of the percentage of the receipts.

Little Demon Rivera creates much enthusiasm by his boxing and gameness and fine form. Some difficulty is being experienced in getting the go with Carson. The Albuquerque contingent appears to now have a wholehearted respect for our really remarkable little piece of fighting machinery.

"READY MONEY" WAS UP TO THE BRADY STANDARD

Clean, wholesome and enjoyable, "Ready Money," the second Brady production in two weeks, was presented at the Elks theater last night, and the impression left by this troupe joined with the one two weeks ago in such that capacity houses in Santa Fe can be guaranteed the Brady shows so long as they keep up to the standard set by these two.

Briefly "Ready Money" is the story of a young man plunged from the depths of despondency to the pinnacle of success in a few short hours. His wealth came not from the discovery of gold in his "Gallup," Arizona, mine as his friends thought it had, although a real discovery just before the curtain went down in the last act fixed everything all right for the future, but from a roll of "phony" $1,000 bills a counterfeiter had given him. As soon as his friends saw the flash of the yellow backs they fell over themselves to buy stock in his mine, just as the counterfeiter had said they would. The "queer" was not passed at all, and following one or two close shaves with the secret service men, the $50,000 roll of bogus bills is torn up, after it had attracted to the young mine owner some $64,000 in real money, half of which he gives to his counterfeiting friend as per their agreement.

The two leading parts were those of Steve Baird, the owner of the "Sky-rocket" mine, and Jackson Ives, an international character as he is called, who handed Baird the bogus money; Ives as a master crook, silent, alert, keen witted and far seeing played a remarkably consistent part, while Baird who had faced hard luck so long and suffered so many disappointments that he was extremely suspicious that his good fortune was but a phantom, played a most difficult part exceedingly well. The other parts were equally well played, but were minor parts in comparison with the two above mentioned. Maurice Barrett as Sidney Rosenthal, Walter Fredericks as James R. Morgan, the rival mine owner, and Adelaide Hastings as Mrs. James E. Tyler, with John C. Brownell as the thoroughly subdued not to say henpecked Mr. James E. Tyler held up their end of the play well. Others in the play might and probably should be mentioned, depending on the way they appealed to each one in the audience, but that it was good, and above all clean, and played by a well balanced cast, none can dispute.

ENGLAND VS. U. S. IN WOMEN'S GOLF FINALS

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 16.—As a result of today's play in the third round of the Women's National Gold championship at the Wilmington country club, England and the United States will contest in the final match on Saturday for the American title.

Miss Muriel Dodd, the British and Canadian champion, today defeated Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia, while Gladys Ravenscroft, a former British champion, won from Miss Fannie C. Osgood, the Massachusetts title holder.

Miss Harriet Curtis of Boston, former national champion, captured her match from Miss Mabel Harrison, the Irish title holder. The match between Miss Marion Hollins of New York, the Metropolitan champion, and Mrs. E. M. Fitter of Philadelphia, resulted in a victory for the former.

Tomorrow Miss Hollins will play Miss Curtis in one of the semi-final matches, while Miss Dodd and Miss Ravenscroft are matched in the other semi-final.

"DOC" CORNISH IS FIXTURE ON YALE TEAM.

"Doc" Cornish, the Albuquerque boy who is attending Yale, has clinched the regular position of quarterback on the Blue eleven. Cornish, who has been playing off and on with Yale in the early games this season, played a full game Saturday against Lafayette, and his splendid showing over Wilson, who was shifted to full-back, won Cornish the position permanently, critics say.

In the game against Lafayette, the eastern newspaper reports and Cornish's work, declaring he was everywhere, as the Yale quarterbacks use to be, and that he ran back punts like a veteran. Besides this, Cornish would, from time to time, carry the ball for substantial gains, always finding some hole to squeeze through.

Cornish scored two of the four touchdowns made by Yale, which defeated Lafayette last Saturday, 27 to 0.

OLYMPIC HERO DIES OF TYPHOID.

San Francisco, Oct. 16.—Ralph Rose, holder of the Olympic and world's records for shot putting, died here today of typhoid fever after a brief illness.

Rose was a big, florid, full-blooded man of the type typhoid finds rich soil. From the first his battle against the disease was not encouraging to his physicians.

Ralph Rose was born in Healdsburg, California, 29 years ago, graduated from the Healdsburg high school, and for a time attended the University of Michigan, but did not graduate. He remained in California, studied law, was admitted to the bar, and has been a practicing attorney since.

For eight years Rose has been a championship figure in amateur athletics. His prowess won him a place on the first American Olympic team that went to Athens in 1906, and he was successively a member of the American teams at London in 1908, and Stockholm in 1912, always bringing home first place, until last year when he was beaten by McDonald, (American), with a put 8 inches short of Rose's own world record of 51 feet flat, for the sixteen pound shot, made at Travers Island, N. Y., in 1909.

MONTAGNI SERIOUSLY ILL IN BERLIN HOSPITAL.

Rome, Oct. 16.—Monsignor Montagnini, who was secretary of the Papal Nunciature at Paris at the time of the rupture between France and the Vatican in 1906, is critically ill following an operation in Berlin for an affection of the throat.

ONE KILLED AND TWO INJURED BY DUKES AUTO

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 16.—Laurence Duke, aged 35, nephew of James B. Duke, president of the American Tobacco company, spent the night in the county jail after his racing automobile had struck and killed Henry G. Farr, a saloonkeeper, and seriously injured Alfred G. Hogeland, an express man, and Thomas G. Simmons, a shipping clerk, on a country road south of Seattle. It is expected that a formal charge of manslaughter will be placed against Duke.

The tracks of his car show that Duke applied the brake when about 100 feet from Farr and the others who were gathered in the road about Hogeland's auto engaged in replacing a tire.

ROYAL GERMANS IN QUARREL OVER THRONE.

Berlin, Oct. 16.—The German crown-prince recently sent a letter of protest to Imperial chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg, against permission being given to Prince Ernest August of Cumberland, the husband of the crown prince's only sister, to occupy the throne of the Duchy of Brunswick, without his expressed renunciation of his pretensions to the throne of Hanover.

This protest has proved unsuccessful for the imperial chancellor today sent a long reply to the crown prince in which he justified the position taken by the Prussian government. At the same time the Prussian government today formulated a resolution for submission to the federal council of the German empire, revoking its decision of 1907 against any member of the house of Cumberland occupying the Dukedom of Brunswick.

MRS. PARKHURST WILL SPEAK EVEN IF UNDER BOND.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—Congressman Conroy was assured by Assistant Secretary Post of the department of labor today that any action of the immigration authorities toward Mrs. Emmeline Parkhurst, the militant British suffragette, when she lands in New York Saturday, would not prevent her appearance Sunday night at Madison Square Garden.

Mr. Post promised that in the event of Mrs. Parkhurst's detention the immigration authorities would release her under a bond. The secretary specifically disclaimed in his action however, any indication that Mrs. Parkhurst would be detained, saying her case would be treated as that of any other immigrant.

BANK WRECKER IS PARDONED BY PRESIDENT.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—President Wilson today pardoned Thomas P. Bowman of Wabpeton, N. Dak., sentenced in June, 1912, to five years imprisonment for embezzlement from the Citizens National bank of Wabpeton. He was in the Anamosa, Ia., reformatory.

TRYING HARD TO REACH UP TO THE SKY

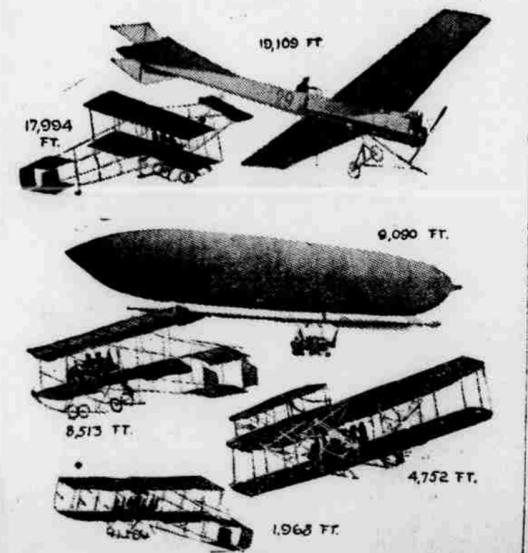

MEN WHO GO UP INTO THE AIR IN SHIPS ARE ATTAINING HIGHER AND HIGHER ALTITUDES, BUT A GAS BALLOON STILL HOLDS THE RECORD, OVER SIX MILES.

"The old dog laughed to see such fun And the cow jumped over the moon."

Nobody's jumping over the moon yet, but human beings are going farther and farther up in the air and away from Mother Earth.

Despite the speed and handiness, including climbing ability of the aeroplane, a gasbag holds the altitude record as yet. In 1911, Berzon ascended in a balloon 32,723 feet. That's six and one-fifth miles. The aeroplane altitude record is held by Perreyon, 19,109 feet; carrying two passengers. Fliner climbed 17,994 feet; a dirigible piloted by Adjutant Reau ascended 9,090 feet; Hpartez carried three passengers in his aeroplane up 8,513 feet; Marty carried four 4,752 feet and Frantz carried five passengers 1,968 feet. These are world records.

SHRINERS WILL HAVE GRAND PARADE CLASS OF 54 HAVE PICTURE TAKEN IN A GROUP

NOBLES WILL GATHER HERE SATURDAY TO CROSS THE HOT SANDS. AT 10.30 A. M. MAKE A TRIP AROUND THE CITY, WEARING SAME GORGEOUS COSTUMES.

The Mystic Shrine illustrious shieks, are preparing a great welcome in Santa Fe Saturday for the "the unregenerate sons" to the number of two score or more.

In obedience to the command of the illustrious potentate the nobles are hurrying across the desert even at this hour, with Santa Fe, oldest city in the United States, as their mecca. "Tis in this oasis that the imperial potentate William W. Irwin has summoned the divan of Albuquerque to turn the faces of the nobles-to-be toward the rising sun and make the affair the grandest ceremonial session that has come down the centuries.

Great secrecy is maintained concerning the "program" and many a novice is now quaking in his shoes wondering how tight he will be able to hold to the rope.

Certain it is that there are reasons for selecting the armory with its floor so re-enforced as to withstand the pressure of the houghty tread of a regiment in full march. The "ceremonial," secret and awe-inspiring, is to be held there at 1:30 p. m. Saturday, but the public event—the parade around the city—will take place at 10:30 in the morning.

Banquet At Night.

Then, as the nobles, with all their baggage may gaze at the rapidly disappearing wells of Zem-Zem, they will be taken from the hot sands and escorted to the banquet table lavishly spread by the Women's Board of Trade.

The banquet will be held at 8:30 p. m. in the banquet hall of the Scottish Rite Cathedral.

Col. J. W. Willson, commandant of the New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell and grand commander Knight Templars of the state, arrived at noon today. He will be here for the reunion this week and the meeting of the grand commandery next week.

Mrs. A. H. Garnett and Miss Kate M. Parkell, of Estancia, delegates to the Women's Federation held in this city last week, and who have been the house guests of Mrs. Henry Woodruff, at her home on Lincoln avenue, left the city for their homes after visiting with their many Santa Fe friends and renewing old friendships.

Alfred Harmsworth, nephew of the famous journalist, Lord Northcliffe, returned from the cliff dwellings yesterday afternoon and left last night for the east. Mr. Harmsworth was much pleased with his visit to Santa Fe and environs and will write a magazine article on the cliff dwellings for a London publication.

Mrs. Leo Hersch and Mrs. Elias Clark returned last evening from Albuquerque where they had been in attendance at the state fair. While in the Duke City Mrs. Hersch was the guest of Mrs. Isaac Barth and Mrs. Clark was a guest at the home of Mrs. A. Singer. On Thursday evening an elaborate party was given by Mrs. Barth at which the guests of honor were Mrs. Hersch, Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Coppock, a sister of the hostess. The Santa Fe ladies report a very delightful time.

BRILLIANT DANCE AT CATHEDRAL TO-NIGHT

One of the largest classes in the history of the Scottish Rite reunions is now taking the higher degrees of Masonry. The program this morning consisted of posing for a class photo. The posing was done on the steps of the Scottish Rite Cathedral as Jesse Nixtam, mounted on a scaffold, told the fifty-four Masons to "look pleasant and not squint at the sun."

At 10 a. m. the fifteen degree was conferred with the usual brilliant ceremonies. At noon luncheon was served, and at 1:30 p. m. degree work continued. The Twenty-seventh degree will be conferred at 1:15 p. m. today.

Before 8:30 o'clock tonight the banquet hall of the Cathedral will be transformed into a ball room, with the Elks orchestra discoursing dreamy waltzes and stirring two-steps. The dance will be in full swing by 9 o'clock.

The local Masons regret that owing to the large number of visitors it will be impossible to invite any but Masons and their ladies to the dance. Amusement will be by card.

SECRETARY REDFIELD'S VIEW.

The steamboat inspection service, which has for its prime duty the caring for the safety of passengers on our rivers, lakes, and harbors and sea, will be kept free from all questions of partisan politics. It is not and cannot be a political service. It is a human one. It has under its care women and children, under conditions in which they are helpless to care for themselves.

Honor does not permit entering this service under considerations save those of loyal, faithful, strong and kindly enforcement of the law provided for the safety of the people. Everything that can be done to increase the efficiency of this service will be done. Nothing that seems likely to decrease its efficiency, to open the door to pressure or temptation or to weaken the safeguards thrown around the innocent by law, will be willingly permitted.

The above is a quotation from a letter of Secretary of Commerce and Labor Redfield, regarding the removal of steamship inspectors, which is demanded by the Democrats who seem to feel that the law of "to the victors belong the spoils" should apply in all positions of appointment by the officials of the government in all departments.

It is to be hoped the time will come when a certain class of public officials will receive their appointment or election on account of their ability and fitness and loyalty to the public service and nothing else, but there is on the other hand, another class who will always come under the old rule of the so-called spoils system.

We believe that the selection of the judges of our courts should be entirely free from political alliances and that they should be chosen with no other thought in view than the just and unbiased enforcement of the law, without any influence of politics or of men who are governed only by their own interests or the effect of certain action on any political party.

This is true of other appointive positions, as well. It is difficult to understand why men should be appointed to the positions of steamboat inspectors because they are Democrats or Republicans. These officials should have no other thought than the strict adherence to duty and no other influence should control.

On the other hand there is a good deal that appeals in the appointment to certain classes of the service, of men who have given time and labor and money toward the success of the party and the old theory that there are as good fish in the sea as ever have been caught is applicable in the matter of official appointments. There is a place to draw the line.

IT IS ENCOURAGING.

The recent visit of Secretary of the Interior Lane to the west has been instrumental of good results.

Being a resident of the west, it was natural to suppose that the secretary would not be unfavorable to anything that would aid in the upbuilding of this section of the country, but any person who is not entirely familiar with the conditions in each locality, is apt to get the wrong impression of the exact situation and that is one reason why the immigration to this section has not been, perhaps, as rapid as it would have been or as it will be in the future.

Since his visit the secretary has spoken of his conclusions as follows: "I am convinced that it will be necessary to extend the time in which the settlers on projects now have to pay for their lands. Ten years—the time fixed by the existing law—is too short a period for the average farmer to get fairly on his feet. As a business proposition, their request for additional time ought to be granted.

"Personally I favor extending the paying period to about twenty years, with a free period of four or five years in which it would be necessary for the settlers to make no repayments."

This is pleasant news to every resident of the great west. It is the position of a man who is looking toward the establishment of justice to the settler.

The trip made by Secretary Lane was for the express purpose of getting a more complete insight into the exact conditions and he is evidently impressed with the idea of a necessary change in some features of the land laws as they exist at present.

That there is more to be done to make easy the occupation of our western lands has been recognized by the residents here for some time and it needed a western man to realize these things and to see the conditions in each locality.

There is hope ahead for the future of this western empire and the secretary will have the active co-operation of his assistant in the person of A. A. Jones, who is himself a western man and is particularly acquainted with the localities where the policy as set forth in the above statement will apply with a peculiar force.

Secretary Lane has given much encouragement to the people of the west in the position which he has taken.
It means a better chance for the settler.

MORE DEMOCRATIC HYMNS.

One night at Rochester, N. Y., Dr. Samuel Crothers, who preaches across the road from Harvard and writes the best essays now coming from an American pen, listened for 30 minutes while 1,200 folks in a social center—Jew and Gentile, master and slave, but for that occasion all free and equal—poured out their souls in songs of democracy. Then he said:

"Do you realize what you have done? You have found a substitute for war. We peace fellows have had all the arguments but one; and that one has been unanswerable. The military fellows say it takes a war to make a common people really feel together, to know a common interest, to own a common country. And how do they prove it? They tell us that from '61 to '65 we learned a single nation, and that's true. Those were the days when we learned 'Marching Through Georgia,' 'Tenting Tonight,' 'Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory,' 'Tramp, Tramp, Tramp,' 'When Johnny Comes Marching Home.' 'I was a boy in those days and I never expected to hear such singing that again. But I have heard it here tonight. You sang in that spirit. What does it mean? It means that, down underneath, you have been gripped by that same, throbbing common reality; not hate this time, nor fear, but love. You know a common interest. You own a common country. You've found what the military fellows say we can't get without fighting. You've spoiled the only argument for war."

The spiritual vibration which comes from fellowship on a level can't be understood until it is felt. It is the best thing in every enterprise in which men and women engage in groups. It is what furnishes the motive power for hymns and cheers and what stimulates those soul forces which make heroes and martyrs of folks ordinarily just like you and us.

All of which reminds us that there's a need for some more good hymn writing. The old religious hymns of selfish personal salvation are pretty well played out. Even the orthodox churches are casting them aside. The tunes may live, and many are worth living. But they require new words—words expressive of the new note of social service; words summoning not only man, but also society to repent and be just.

Open social centers to the full call of democracy and you'll be astonished how soon a new crop of poets and hymn writers will grow up.

Sulzer's passionate announcement that he would "tell it all," seemed to have become a very temperate affair as the trial advanced and the other side had spoken. They beat the governor to it in telling it all.

The news notes say that an aviator flew faster than the telephone message announcing his departure. Well, what of it? There is nothing so strange about that, is there?

THEN THE PARSON BEAT IT

An old lady, wishing to pay a compliment to the new preacher, told him: "Really, sir, we didn't know what sin was until you came to this town."

AS THE BYSTANDER SEES IT.

Just Bunk.

In yesterday's paper there was an item in the news notes about a man who was a woman hater proper, and who in his will declared his animosity to womankind.

He was a selfish specimen and he wanted all for himself and had his monument made ornate as possible, and on it a picture described thus:

"On the tombstone or monument shall be engraved an old bachelor standing on the brink of the Jordan, preparing to cross the river, and on the other side of the river a group of old maids, each carrying in her hands a bunch of roses, and beckoning to him to cross."

He can only be set down as a conceited ass. The man of sense—the man as God made him, is not that kind of a man. I have noticed that it is usually the man that does the beckoning and it is not always heeded, either. It is the man that does the running and I have observed that he is not generally running away. The man who thinks he is being pursued all the time by woman is like the bull on the railroad track,—he has more nerve than sense.

The average woman is worth running after and the average man is not. It is an undeniable fact that a woman does not get much when she gets him. I am only stating a fact that is not very agreeable, but not to be controverted, and it always makes me tired to hear a fellow telling of his attractions and his conquests when the chances are that he had the time of his life getting the lady who is the head of the house, from a decorative and every other standpoint.

Man is really the easiest thing to get that ever came down the pike, and all this talk of setting traps for him is the veriest bunk, as he can be caught without the trouble of baiting and setting any trap. He even comes without being called. We all really belong to the "easy mark" family.

The Two Fields.
Chicago has had two eminent citizens named Field. One had a genius for buying and selling at a profit; an amazing keen scent for a bargain. He built up the largest mercantile business in the world and left behind him a fortune among the biggest this country has yet known.

But no child lisp lovingly the name of Marshall Field. He had little time for children or the things in which children are interested. He lived for dollars. For dollars and for powers.

The other Field had the most casual interest in money, but he would journey far to see a rare book, to talk with a quaint "character" or to play with a beautiful child. His home was full of children, friends and toys. Where he went the youngsters liked to follow. And the poems that he wrote, so whimsical, so rich in soul here, some will live as long as English is read.

Eugene Field died property poor. Above his grave is a simple stone. He needs no more and would not wish for ornate honors. But in the city wherein he lived and did the brightest of his work there are some who feel that, for their sake, and as a means of emphasizing the finer values, a more conspicuous monument should be built. They are inviting others, who feel as they feel, to help.

In a way, it is an interesting test of the people's judgment.

It was interesting to compare the two men from the standpoint of personal appearance. Marshall Field was the typical business man of wealth and had the polish and the air of prosperity that we see with men in his position in life. To the stranger he appeared a little haughty and distant, and was immaculate in his dress.

"Gene" Field was the opposite in all ways. He was the man of the people and whole-souled in his reception of his friends and genial with his companions and even with strangers he was friendly from the first, because he had the heart of a boy and he did not care if his dress was often a little frayed.

We respected Marshall, but we loved Gene.

Lessons.

There are few plays in which there is not a lesson of some kind. Last night was no exception. With all its fun and the comedy in it the drama presented a picture of real life and it was no problem play and was not written for that purpose. But how true it was and how often we see that very spirit everywhere.

"Money begets money, and the man who has it can get more, and we look upon the man who makes it as a wizard and a wonder and he can have ours if he but tells us he knows how to make more for us with it. It is a picture of life and simply takes the mask off and shows us as we are.

In the preceding play, "Bought and Paid For," which we saw and enjoyed to the utmost a few nights ago, there was a getting down to the roots of things and lifting the veil from another phase of life. It showed the ghost to us and he was one to bring terror, inasmuch as he was a wrecker of the dearest thing in the world,—the happy home life.

Last winter we had a lesson in the strong drama called "Klondike" and it took us out of the present season and into the past. It showed the life of the under side and what those in it contend against and how they meet them and how they fail.

Then we had "The City," and in it we saw the trail of the serpent, and the wreck of ambitions and the results of wrong and the penalty we pay, and how heavy is the toll.

It is all the mirror of real life, is the scene of the true drama, and all about us, every day, we see the same lessons taught, but they are sketched and not drawn out, so too often we miss the purport. The trouble is that we go out of the theater and say, "That was a great play, and then we forget it. A new day dawns and with it come the worries of the hour and we have lost that which we should have clung to. We might get much more than just recreation out of the play if we only would. But most of us do not go for that.

HEADQUARTERS TO ALAMOGORDO

Cloudercroft, N. M., Oct. 16.—Tomorrow the headquarters of the Alamo National Forest will be moved to Alamogordo, for the winter months. This change has been under consideration by the department for some time and it has just been decided to make the change. At this period of the year the field work of the forest service in the Alamo forest is practically over and for this time of the year it is thought that the move to Alamogordo will reduce expenses. Supervisor R. P. Balthis has already moved his family to Alamogordo for the winter months and his clerk, Chalmers McConnell, will move his family there when the transfer is made. The change in the location of headquarters will not cause any shifting about of the ranger force, however. Ranger W. J. Anderson has been detailed for special office work this winter. The order for this had been issued before that of the transfer of the office.

H. M. Denney is in Alamogordo, where his wife is very sick.

Superintendent of the Otero County Schools R. S. Tipton, has left Cloudercroft after making an inspection of the school here.

C. F. Knight of the Cleve and Knight Mercantile company, accompanied by his wife and little boy, are visiting relatives in Lincoln county this week. Justice of the Peace J. M. Poss is in El Paso this week on business.

J. O. Hough and family have returned from a visit to Palomas Springs. J. A. Tatum, manager of the Cloudercroft Commercial company, and family, have returned from a visit to Missouri.

During the winter months all the stores and the postoffice in Cloudercroft will close at 6 p. m. every day except Saturday. The hours of the postoffice will be from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. every day except Sunday. The office will not be open on Sunday as this is the day on which no mails are received or dispatched during the winter months.

Caught the Chinamen.

Tuesday afternoon of this week up on the arrival of a freight train from the south, Immigration Inspectors Ames and Heath made a lucky find.

The Festive Bean.

Irvin Ogden, Jr., has just completed the threshing of nearly 20,000 pounds of beans for James Johnson, Sr., with the little bean thresher. Mr. Johnson has sold the major portion of this crop to the Goodman Mercantile company at a good price.

While inspecting the train for contraband, Inspector Heath thought the arrangement of the interior of a car of shooks looked suspicious.

He called Chief Inspector Ames to his assistance and a thorough search of the car revealed a hiding place built in the center of the car which contained two Chinamen. The inspectors accompanied the train to Albuquerque in hopes of being able to catch the smugglers.

The Chinamen were turned over to an officer from Immigration office at El Paso and were taken there to await deportation from the United States.—San Marcial Standard.

GRABS MOVING AUTO AND LOSES FINGER

Tamaqua, Pa., Oct. 16.—While Edward J. Thomas, Doctor Neumiller and Fred Lewis, of Lansford, were automobiling through new Philadelphia, a man sprang forth from the darkness and clutched at the machine, only to be hurled backward.

The occupants of the car, thinking it was an attempted hold-up sped toward town. When they reached here they were horrified to find the first finger of a man's hand, from which was hanging twelve inches of ligaments of the arm, wedged between the hood and the back of the car.

It was found that a man with blood dripping from his hand and one finger missing had applied to Doctor Milton Stine, New Philadelphia, for treatment. He was a foreigner, who refused to give his name. He stated that he was drunk, and did not know why he attempted to board the car.

MOUNTED POLICE TO GO OUT OF EXISTENCE

A WRIT OF MANDAMUS IN SUPREME COURT TO COMPEL THE STATE AUDITOR TO LEVY FOR ITS SUPPORT AFTER DEC. 1, LOST, AND PETITION ORDERED DISMISSED.

TO-DAY'S DECISION REVERSES LOWER COURT

The mounted police lost its fight to compel the state auditor to make a levy to raise $12,000 for the continuance of this body, after December 1, when the supreme court today reversed the lower court and ordered the petition to be dismissed. The story is given in the following brief of the opinion:

State of New Mexico, ex. rel., Fred Fornoff, Appellee, vs. William G. Sargent, Auditor, Etc., Appellant. From Santa Fe county.

This is an action in mandamus to compel the state auditor, William G. Sargent, to make a tax levy sufficient to raise twelve thousand dollars for the support and maintenance of the mounted police of the state upon the theory that in the legislative act, (Chap. 9, Laws of 1905) creating such force, a continuous appropriation was made for the salaries and expenses of said force and the failure of the legislature, at the session held this year, to appropriate for the salaries and expenses of said force does not justify a failure, upon the part of the state auditor to make a levy, for the purpose aforesaid.

To the petition for the writ an answer was filed by respondent, setting up, among other things, that Section 4, Chapter 127 of the laws of 1909 repealed the provisions of Chapter 9 of the laws of 1905, under which it was claimed by relator that continuing appropriation had existed, and that he was only under the duty of making tax levies to meet the appropriation made by the legislative session of the year 1913.

A demurrer to this answer was filed and sustained by the lower court, from which judgment the respondent appealed.

Judgment of the lower court reversed; cause remanded with instructions to dismiss the petition.

SYLLABUS.
 Where the constitution of a state creates an office and prescribes the salary for such office, the necessity for legislative appropriation for such office is dispensed with on the ground that such provision in a state constitution is proprio vigore an appropriation.

This rule has been extended to a general law fixing the salary of a public officer, and prescribing its payment at particular periods.

Held, that the act of 1905 (Chap. 9) creating a force of Mounted Police, fixing salaries of its members, and providing for payment thereof, was repealed by the act of the legislature of 1909 (Chap. 127, Sec. 4) insofar as it provided for salaries and membership of the force, and that, therefore, a writ of mandate directed to the state auditor requiring him to make a levy to pay such salaries is not issuable, because the appropriation by the act of 1905 has ceased to be a continuing appropriation, and the legislature has failed to make appropriation for the present fiscal year.

When statute professes to repeal absolutely a prior law, and substitutes other provisions on the same subject, which are limited only till a certain time, the prior law does not revive after the repealing statute is spent, unless the intention of the legislature to that effect be expressed.

Re-affirms Socorro Case.
 State of New Mexico, Appellee, vs. Jose Sanchez y Armijo, Appellant. From Socorro county.

Upon re-hearing having been granted and the cause re-argued and submitted to the court, the court announced its decision adhering to the former opinion which affirmed the judgment of the court below.

Governor in Pecos Valley.
 Governor McDonald came to Roswell yesterday accompanied by his son-in-law, T. A. Spencer, says the Roswell Record of Tuesday. They came over in their car from Carrizozo for the purpose of shipping out about 2,500 head of cattle. They arrived last evening about 5 o'clock and will be here until tomorrow, then going down the road to Artesia to take in the alfalfa festival.

Today the governor spent at the Riverside stockyards looking after the shipping out of his cattle, which will be sent to Montana.

OFFICIAL.
H. C. DEVORE CASE DECIDED BY THE COURT

WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS BY THE PRISONER IN STATE PENITENTIARY QUASHED, AND PRISONER REMANDED BY SUPREME COURT.—LIQUOR CASE ALSO DECIDED.

DEVORE ESCAPED, BUT WAS SOON CAPTURED

The Devore case as it is called, and one which has attracted considerable attention among the legal fraternity of the state was decided in the supreme court yesterday, by the quashing of the writ of habeas corpus and remanding the prisoner, H. C. Devore and others broke out of the Otero county jail, assaulting and binding the jailer as they did so. Devore who was regarded as the leader was sentenced to from eight to ten years in the penitentiary for jail breaking. A writ of habeas corpus was applied for, issued and heard some three months ago. The contention was that Devore had not committed such a crime as to call for the heavy sentence he was given. The case was regarded as an important one especially because of its bearing on the interpretation of the so-called common law in New Mexico.

Devore is the man who with Darrel Rexford broke out of the penitentiary about two weeks ago, and was recaptured before 24 hours had passed, by Warden McManus himself.

The supreme court also decided another important case involving liquor licenses, in O. Lorenzino vs. the State ex rel. John James. The opinions briefly are as follows:

Ex Parte, H. C. Devore, habeas corpus, No. 1597.
 Original application by H. C. Devore for writ of habeas corpus. Writ issued and hearing had on return thereto. Writ quashed and prisoner remanded.

Syllabus.
 1. Common law crimes are recognized and punished in New Mexico, by virtue of Sec. 3422, C. L. 1897, which provides, "In criminal cases, the common law as recognized by the United States and the several states of the union shall be the rule of practice and decision."

2. The word "recognize," used in the above section is given various significations by the lexicographers, Webster, among other definitions, defines its meaning to be, "to avow knowledge of." Century dictionary, "to know again." Webster defines the meaning of the verb "know" to be, among others given, "to recognize." In the above section the word "recognized" was used in the sense of "known," and as used was intended to adopt the common law of crimes, as known in the United States and the several states of the union, which was the common law, or lex non scripta of England, as it existed at the time of the independence of the United States, supplemental and modified by such British statutes as were of a general nature and not local to that kingdom.

3. Penal statutes are to be strictly construed, but are not to be subject to a strained or unnatural construction in order to work exemptions from their penalties. Such statutes are to be interpreted by the aid of the ordinary rules for the construction of statutes, and with the cardinal object of ascertaining the legislative intention.

4. Where a statute does not specifically repeal or cover the whole ground occupied by the common law, it repeals it only when, and so far as directly and irreconcilably opposed in terms.

5. Where a party is confined in prison, the legality of the imprisonment does not rest upon the mittimus, but upon the judgment and a prisoner who has been legally and properly sentenced to prison cannot obtain his discharge simply because there is an imperfection or error, in the mittimus.

6. While common law crimes are recognized and punished in this state, common law penalties are not inflicted, but the punishment therefor is prescribed by Sec. 1054, 1897.

7. Where petitioner, in his application for the writ of habeas corpus, sets forth certain grounds for his discharge, which his counsel fail to discuss in their brief, or upon the argument of the case, the court assume that such points are waived and will not consider the same.

O. Lorenzino, appellant, vs. State ex rel. John James, from McKinley county.
 This appeal involves the question as to whether mandamus is an available remedy to compel the revocation by the board of county commissioners of a liquor license, where liquor is being sold thereunder, "outside of the locality for which such license was granted." The lower court granted the writ, upon an agreed statement of facts. By the statement it was stipulated that the facts stated in the petition filed with the board of county commissioners, were to be taken as true by the district court. In the petition it was averred that the building wherein liquor was being sold under the license sought to be cancelled was not "within the limits of said village," of Diamond camp, where the license was authorized to sell intoxicating liquor. The holder of the license prosecutes this appeal for a reversal of the cause presents three propositions which may be stated as follows:

1. In determining whether the liquor license should be cancelled, the board of county commissioners act judicially, and, therefore mandamus will not lie.

2. Relator had an adequate remedy under section 4129, C. L. 1897, and could not, therefore, maintain this action and 3, that the building wherein liquor was being sold under the license was not without the limits of the village.

Judgment of the court below affirmed.

Syllabus.
 1. Under section 4 chapter 115, S. L. 1905, where liquor is being sold "outside of the locality for which such license was granted," it is the duty of the board of county commissioners to cancel the license, and such board has no discretion in the matter, where the facts exist, which authorize the cancellation.

2. The word "may" as used in the statute, is employed in the sense of "shall."

3. The board of county commissioners, in determining the fact as to whether liquor is being sold outside of the locality for which the license was granted, acts only in a ministerial capacity, and, where the facts upon which it acts are not disputed, mandamus is the proper remedy to compel the cancellation of a liquor license where liquor is being sold thereunder outside of the locality for which such license was granted.

4. Section 4128, C. L. 1897, construed, and held out to authorize the cancellation of a liquor license.

INDICTED DOCTORS WILL BE DISCHARGED

Albuquerque, Oct. 16.—The indictments returned against twenty-five Albuquerque physicians, charged with failure to file death reports with the county clerk, probably will be dismissed when the doctors comply with this law, it is understood. District Attorney M. U. Vigil, however, refused to make any statement yesterday.

Tom Morris, city sanitary inspector, is preparing the reports neglected by physicians, for filing. He will include all deaths unreported since 1907, when the law became effective, in the backlog, and, doctors estimate, he will have about 1900 certificates for filing. He is expected to finish the work this month.
