TABIFF REFORM PROGRESSING.

The Democratic tariff conference held a session to-day from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p. m. and after a few minutes for lunch continued the session throughout the after-noon. No agreement had been reached at recess. The conferees said, however, fair progress was making toward that end. One house member said it would be two or three days before it could be said would be with certainty that the bill would be agreed on. As heretofore sugar, iron ore and coal are the items at issue. As to iron and coal there seems to be ground for the report that a sliding scale will be the said of th

Senator Gray, chairman of the sugar in-Senator Gray, chairman of the sugar investigation committee, presented the report of the committee to-day and asked that the committee be discharged. The main report is signed by all the members. Senators Lodge and Davis presented a supplemental report and Senator Allen presented his own views on some features. Secretary Carlisle is exonerated and parts of the article in the Philadelphia Press of the article in the Philadelphia Press reflecting on him are declared without foundation, "except it is a fact according to Secretary Carlisle's testimony that he did at the request of Senator Jones draft an amendment to the sugar schedule." The conduct of Edwards, says the report, in publishing specific charges against pub-lic men without having personal knowl-edge of the facts, calls for the serious reprobation of the senate. The committee says: "There has been no testimony pre-sented before your committee, and your committee has been unable to discover BLACKSMITHING, HORSE SHOEany, tending to show that the sugar sched-ule was made up in consideration of any sums of money that had been paid for off. campaign purposes of the Democratic party." The committee also unite in saying that no evidence has been adduced tending to show improper conduct on Prompt Work! Reasonable Prices! the part of those engaged in framing the sugar schedule. THURSDAY, AUGUST 2

THE CAMPAICH.

The following self-explanatory communication has been addressed to the members of the Democratic territorial central committee: Santa Fe, N. M., July 26, 1894 .- Dear Sir: In the course of political events in New Mexico the time has arrived for a meeting of the Democratic territorial central committee for the purpose of fixing the when and where of a Democratic territorial convention for the nomination of a candidate for delegate to the house

3d day of March, 1895. Under the authority in us vested, a meeting of said committee is hereby called, to be held in the city of Santa Fe at the hour of 11 a.m. on the 11th day of August next.

In addition to the calling of said convention and apportioning the delegates thereto among the several counties, other important business awaits the attention of the committee. If controlling circumstances make it impossible for you to attend, please send your proxy to the chair-man or some member of the committee whom you know will attend, together with your preferences as to the time and place of holding said convention.

Cordially yours, J. H. Crist,

T. P. GABLE, Secretary.

SEND the military home.

JUDGE CALDWELL has his wits about

THE Democratic tariff reform bill will become law next week.

THE Russian bear doesn't mean much when it says it will witness "no diminishment" of Corean territory. It would be difficult to diminish that little peninsula,

BEFORE the president gets through with his case Senator Gorman will make the discovery that not all the wise tariff legislation on earth is included in the pages of the McKinley and senate tariff bills, Eh?

Conguess has done the right thing by the people of New Mexico and Arizona in appropriating $10,000 to enable the officials of the department of justice to prove up the fraudulent nature of the socalled Peralta-Reavis land grant.

The senate, after all its Gormandizing, is coming around all right for tariff reform. There's a whole lot of country in these United States outside of Maryland and New York, and President Cleveland can make no mistake as long as he acts on this theory.

FLOUR, canned goods, etc., are already going forward from the Pacific coast to China as a result of the war. With the modern equipment a foreign war would ic a terrible thing, but if it must come the west is ready to supply the edibles The east can look out for the weapons. Thus in times of war as well as in times of peace the west is great!

THE BAR AT WORK.

The movement of the New Mexico Bar association for a system of code pleading and practice in New Mexico is certainly worthy of the best thought of all the members of the bar of the territory. Let's get abreast of the times. The ability and honesty of the bar of New Mexico is of the highest order, and it would indeed appear that "the time has come" when in this respect we can no longer afford to have it said of New Mexico that we are just about a century behind in our methods of legal practice.

DEBS' DISCOVERY.

Debs is coming to his senses. He says the ballot's the thing for workingmen to fight their battles with. Correct. That's the position the New Mexican took long ago. Debs is far more patriotic than he has been given credit for. This latest utterance of his will make him and his cause friends. Stick to your work and vote right, and the result of three decades of Republicanism will soon vanish in thin air. The sooner the better for workingman and capitalist alike.

SEND THE TROOPS HOME.

Now that the A., T. & S. F. receivers nave officially informed Judge Caldwell that they have no intention of molesting the existing schedule of wages, and have also expressed a desire to re-employ their former workingmen, we may reas onably expect that business on this great public highway will soon resume its normal condition. The strike has proved a sad experience for many, capitalists and laborers alike, and a lesson has been learned that will not soon be forgotten, Debs sounds the key not ewhen he says that labor's battles must henceforth be fought out peacefully at the polls by the use of the ballot. Now send the militia back to their proper stations.

THE ORIENTAL WAR.

Japan has struck a lively gait, and the question now arises, can she keep it up? Not likely. In general intelligence, diplomacy and its ability to adapt itself to modern methods Japan is away ahead of China, but there are some 425,000,000 of the latter, whereas Japan's population is about 35,000,000, and in the long run Chine was 2500,000,000, and in the long run p. m. China may swarm in on them like rats and wipe them out on land, although unable to cope with them in naval warfare. The navies of the contending governments are about the same in strength, Spitz' Jewelry Store. The Missouri Pacific railway on April 29, 1894, placed in effect a new schedule for its "Fast Mail" train between Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo, and Kansas City and St. Louis; leaving Denver at 3:00 p. m., Colorado Springs at 5:25 p. m., and Pueblo at 7:00 p. m., and arriving at Kansas City at 5:45 p. m., St. Louis at 6:55 a. m., and Chicago at 8:00 a. m., with a direct connection over all trunk lines for New York City, Boston, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C., and all intermediate points. This will enable passengers from Colorado interior points to make a direct connection with the Missouri Pacific "Fast Mail" at Pueblo, by taking D. & R. SHOOTING STARS.

Your poem used? I should say not! answered the editor. Would you give me a candid criticism unspeakably idiotic.

Good!

Good? Yes; set it to music and it will become a popular song. On the Safe Side.

Everybody knows this is a good place to be, but everybody does not take regulated line. The Yankees seemed surprised at the sudden apparition, rising out of the ground, as it were, but manifested no disposition to make off. On the concipient disease, and there is no one more reliable than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in cases where the kidneys are inactive, which is but the preliminary to various destructive maladies, which disregarded have fatal terminations. Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, cedema, are but the outgrowths of neglected inaction of the kidneys and bladder. They should be checked at the outset with the Bitters, which will prevent their progress by arousing the renal organs to activity, and thus place those who resort to this saving medicine on the safe side. This preservative of safety also conquers constipation, liver complaint, malarial fever, nervousness and dyspepsia. Brown: I believe young Smith failed in the entrance examinations for college. Jones: I don't see how that can be. He's six feet one, and weights a hundred and seventy-four pounds.

Syms: Bronson, poor fellow, was at his wits' end yesterday. Smyles: Sort of rattled, eh?

Syms No-dead.

that has never been satisfactorily answered; but, in nine cases out of ten, frightful dreams are the result of imperfeet digestion, which a few doses of Ayer's Sarsaparilla wil effectually remedy. Don't delay-try to-day.

Fair Graduate: Which is the proper expression, "girls, are," or "girls is"? Chorus of Schoolmates: "Girls are," of course!

Fair Graduate: Of course: pshaw!girls, are my hat on straight?

Ayer's Ague Curn never fails to neutralize the poisons of malaria, and eradicate them from the system. The preparation is purely vegetable, contains no harmful ingredients, and, if taken according to directions, is warranted to cure fever and ague. Try it.

Mother: Did I hear you kiss young Dr. Phlynn at the door? Daughter: Yes, mamma, but Charley applied an antiseptic immediately.

A VETERAN'S VERDICT.

The War is Over. A Well-known Soldier, Correspondent and Journalist Makes a Disclosure. Indiana contributed her thousands of brave Indiana contributed her thousands of brave soldiers to the war, and no state bears a better record in that respect than it does. In literature it is rapidly acquiring an enviable place. In war and literature Solomon Yewell, well known as a writer as "Sol," has won an honorable position. During the late war he was a member of Co. M. 2d. N. Y. Cavairy and of the 18th Indiana Infanity Volunteers. Regarding an important circumstance he writes as follows:

"Several of us old veterans here are using Dr. Miles" Restorative Nervine, Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills, all of them giving splendid satisfaction. In fact, we have never used remedies that compare with them. Of the Pills we must say they are the best combination of their nature we have ever known. We have none but words of praise for them. They are the outgrowth of a new principle in medicine, and tone up the system wonderfully. We say to all, try these remedies.

These remedies are sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., or receipt of price, $\frac{1}{2}$ per bottle, six bottles $\frac{1}{2}$, express prepaid. They positively contain neither apparent and dangerous drugs.

Sold by all druggists.

AFTER MANY YEARS.

Sitting on the ground with my back to the parapet and immediately facing the little wooden office in which the general was making his headquarters, I noticed, with more or less amusement, the annoy ance the old general experienced at the falling of little particles of wood and splinters upon the table whereon he wrote. The roof of this little office was a trifle higher than the parapet, and the federal sharpshooters were amusing themselves with practice at the shingles. I thought it funny to see the old fellow glance at the litter through his glasses, brush it away with his sleeve and resume his writing without giving any attention to the top of his domicile.

"Do you reckon the old cuss knows where those splinters are coming from?" remarked a comrade

"No idea in the world," I answered. When the general had finished his next paragraph, he made a swipe at the trouesome splinters, arose, came to the door and called the colonel of a North Carolina regiment. "Colonel " said he "detail 200 men under an officer and drive those people from the front." With this he returned to his correspondence. When the detachment was ready to move out, my comrade, a member of the Guards battallon, and whose name I did Certainly. It's clumsy and vulgar, and not then know, suggested that we accompany the expedition, and obtaining the officer's consent we fell in on the extreme left. One other member of the Guards slipped in—a tall, erect young fellow, with keen, dark eyes. The head of the column entered the most at the left flank of the battery, and forming in the ditch the improvised battalion moved round to the front and stepped to the surface in well trary, and in the most methodical fash-ion, they suspended their nonsense with the general's roof and directed their practice on us. We moved forward at quick time, firing at will, the Federals backing away and re-turning the civility in the same fashion.

We could go so far only before coming under the additional fire of the enemy's advanced works, and as nothing more was contemplated than to allow the general an opportunity of finishing his correspondence without disturbance our officer in command soon gave the order, "In retreat, by files from the left." This let out our file first, but being disposed to assist the line as it was being diminished by the order of retirement, we-that is to say, the two members of the guard and I—entered a two story frame building and ascending to the upper floor opened fire from the windows. The weatherboarding had been removed from the front of the building as high in some places as the second floor, a circumstance, however, which possessed no scrious feature while any material part of our line remained between us and the now advancing enemy. We had perhaps fired a dozen rounds when we realized that our entire line had passed our position in retreat, and that instead of splinters being dropped on the general's table they were What causes bad dreams is a question flying about our own cars in a most uncomfortable fashion. "Don't stand before that window. We must get out of here." This remark had scarcely been made when I heard the tingling of a pane of glass, broken out of the window at the back side of the house and immediately in line with the one in front from which we were firing. The bullet which broke the glass had passed through the wrist and body of my first comrade, who staggered about the floor. We two caught him and assisted him to lie down, and as he did so he had something to say and something to give to his comrade. Running to the back window, I called to the battery for a sur-geon, and at the imminent risk of his life this officer promptly responded. The doc-tor knelt by his patient, took his wrist, reflected a moment, then turning to us, re-marked: "This man will be dead in five

You can be of no service. Get out of the house." I stood about irresolutely for a moment. and then noting the absence of my other comrade I asked, "What became of the soldler who was here a moment ago?

"He jumped out of the window. I then followed suit. Thirty years after this occurrence, and just preceding a county election, I was one of a party of gentlemen standing in front of a drug store in a certain Georgia town. A tall, erect, thin visaged man, with peculiar dark eyes, approached and addressed the party thus: "Gentlemen, I am a candidate for coroner and would be glad to have your support. I would say that I am somewhat familiar with the duties of the place, and perhaps you may consider that an old soldier has some little claim on your suffrage."

Our party seemed to feel no interest in the candidacy of our orator, and to relieve any embarrassment which the prospective officeholder might experience at the silence with which his solicitation had been re-

"What command did you belong to?"

"Did you serve with your command on Morris island, and, if so, perhaps you can tell me the name of the handsome young fellow who was killed in the upper story of the building in front of the battery?"

"Why, yes," said he. "John Maher was his name. I helped lay him down, I and a stranger—a man I never saw before nor since. In the little interval before he died he gave me a ring and a message which he wished delivered to his sweetheart. As he was about breathing his last the doctor, who had come up stairs at great risk, told us to get out. I ran down one flight of stairs to about where the weatherboard-ing had been knocked off and lit out of the window. The Yankees were then in the neighborhood of the front door. As the house was a structure of two stories and a basement, I might be said to have jumped out of the second story."

"Humph!" I ejaculated. "I understood the doctor to mean that you had gone out of the window of the upper story, and it was from there I made my exit, for I am the stranger who helped you lay John Maher down. I have often thought of this circumstance and how singular it was this circumstance and how singular it was that my comrade should have lost his life through the letter that fell on the general's table. No less strange is it that the same trifling cause should have set us two jumping like reckless grasshoppers from a dangerous elevation, and that now, 80 years subsequent, the same incident is exerting its influence in Georgia politics, for, recognizing the affinity which should exist between jumpers, I shall vote for you for coroner."—William Riley in Louisville Courier-Journal.

GEMS IN VERSE.

The Battle. After the battle-peace! But for some men
The battle lasts till death. All efforts lead

Their souls are mettled for some blacker strife; They struggle bravely for an inch of life.

These are the hapless ones, or so we deem Our brothers who must either fight or die. Yet he that ever swam an angry stream And reached firm shore knows more than

They are not hapless. In their heart of hearts They know the deepest faith that life can give.

Their living is no playing of old parts.
In the wide wisdom of the gods they live,
For they have conquered where the millions

Their ship of life is stronger for the gale.

—George Edward Montgomery.

Some of these days all the skies will be brighter, Some of these days all the burdens be lighter. Hearts will be happier, souls will be whiter, Some of these days. Some of these days, in the deserts upspringing, Fountains shall flash while the joybells are ringing. And the world, with its sweetest of birds, shall go singing Some of these days.

Some of these days! Let us bear with our sorrow,
Faith in the future—its light we may borrow.
There will be joy in the golden tomorrow—
Some of these days.
—Frank L. Stanton.

Wishes. I asked a little child one day, I asked a little child one day,
A child intent on joyous play,
"My little one, pray and tell me Your dearest wish—what may it be?"
The little one thought for awhile,
"Then answered, with a wistful smile,
"The thing that I wish most of all Is to be big, like you, and tall."

I asked a maiden, sweet and fair, Of dreamy eyes and wavy hair, or dreamy eyes and wavy hair,
"What would you wish, pray tell me true,
That kindly fate should bring to you?"
With timid mien, and downcast eyes,
And blushes deep, and gentle sighs,
Her answer came, "All else above,
I'd wish some faithful heart to love."

I asked a mother, tried and blest, With babe asleep upon her breast, "Oh, mother fond, so proud and fair, What is thy inmost secret prayer? She raised her caim and peaceful eyes, Madonnalike, up to the skies. "My dearest wish is this," said she, "That God may spare my child to me."

Again, I asked a woman old,
To whom the world seemed hard and cold,
"Pray tell me, O thou blest in years,
What are thy hopes, what are thy fears?"
With folded hands and head bent low
She answer made in accents slow:
"For no remains but core request." "For me remains but one request. It is that God may give me rest."

—Boston Globe

-Cosmonolitan How Blue and Gray Blend. Oh, mother, what do they mean by blue And what do they mean by gray?"
I heard from the lips of a little child
As she bounded in from her play.
The mother's eyes filled up with tears.

And smoothed away from the sunny brow The treasure of golden hair. "Why, mother's eyes are blue, my sweet, And grandpa's hair is gray, And the love we bear our darling child Grows stronger every day."
"But what did they mean?" persisted the child,

"For I saw two cripples today,
And one of them said he had 'fought for the

The other had 'fought for the gray.' "The one of the blue had lost a leg, And the other had but one arm,
And both seemed worn and weary and sad.
Yet their greeting was kind and warm.
They told of battles in days gone by Till it made my blood grow chill. The leg was lost in the Wilderness fight And the arm on Malvern Hill."

Then the mother thought of other days— Two stalwart boys from her riven; How they'd knelt at her side, and, lisping,

"Our Father which art in heaven;"
How one wore the gray and the other the blue;

How they passed away from sight And had gone to the land where gray and Merge in tints of celestial light.

And she answered her darling with golder hair, While her heart was sorely wrung

With the thoughts awakened in that sac hour
By her innocent prattling tongue:
"The blue and the gray are the colors of God.

They are seen in the sky at even,
And many a noble, gallant soul
Has found them passports to heaven."
—Charles L. Brace.

Faith.

Doubt no longer that the Highest is the wisest and the best. Let not all that saddens nature blight thy hope or break thy rest. Quail not at the flery mountain, at the shipwreck, or the rolling Thunder, or the rending earthquake, or the famine, or the pest! Neither mourn if human creeds be lower than the heart's desire!

Through the gates that bar the distance comes a gleam of what is higher.

Wait till death has flung them open, when the man will meet the Maker.

Dark no more with human hatred or the glare of deathless fire! -Tennyson.

Answered. When do I miss you most, dear heart?
At evening, when the shadows fall,
I miss your sunny, coaring ways,
Your joyous laugh, your ringing call.

I miss you in the morning hours.
I need your strength to help me bear
My daily burdens, and my joys Loss half their worth unless you share.

From night until the morning houre, At noon, and till the shadows climb The hills, my heart calls for its sun— I miss you most, dear, all the time! —Florence A. Jones.

world wide fame.

THE WORLD'S ONLY SANITABIUM. Prof. Mark Harrington, chief of the U. S. weather bureau, says: "Santa Fe is in the driest habitable part of the United surroundings. States. This region is extensive, and changes in form from season to season, but Santa Fe is always in it."

It is situated in a charming nook of the Santa Fe range, and its climate is dominated by the influence of mountain peaks that tower nearly 14,000 feet high. Together with this it lies at an altitude of 7,015 feet, and latitude, about the 36th degree north, that gives it a peculiar advantage as a sanitarium. The elevation tempers the summer heats, which naturally should be about that of Memphis, Teun., or Bakersfield, Cal., and its southsen situation reduces the rigors of winter.

As an illustration, during the winter of 1892, the daily public concerts in the plaza were only stopped three times by weather, and last winter the omissions did not exceed half a dozen.

The altitude compels the lungs to work, and no one in Santa Fe can be accused of being "too lazy to breathe," as a great physician expressed it. The rare, ozon-ated air permeates every cell of the lungs, and thus prevents hemorrhage. Drs. Symington and Harroun, who have practiced in Santa Fe for over twenty years, report that they have only found two sases among the native people of consumption.

The U.S. weather observation office the climate of Santa Fe. Taking the summer heat and the winter cold the following tables show a most equable and delightful temperature:

There is no other locality, even the boasted climate of southern France, that can show such a stable and equable range of heat and cold. The health seeker need fear no sudden changes. A little attention to clothing and he can bid colds and inflammations defiance. In cases of death from tubercular disease the Now Mexico rate is only 3 in 1,000.

This is the lowest known record, and it must be remembered that the local contingent of consumptives is daily sug-mented by the immigration of those who seek respite from that dreaded scourge. The record of deaths at Santa Fe is much lower than the territorial average. In New England the consumptive death munity; in Minnesota it is 14, and throughout the southern states six per 1,000. This city enjoys the spring cli-mate of northern Illinois and Indiana;

the summer climate of Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota, and the winter temperature of southern Illinois, Indiana and Tennessee. This, however, is only as shown by the thermometer. The dry tonic air of the mountain altitude fills one with vivacity and health, and so strong is Santa Fe for domestic purposes and for the influence of the ozone and electricity on the nerves and system that acclimation is wonderfully rapid. their purple bases lend an ideal back-ground for all this splendor. PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS. Among the more important public institutions located here, in spacious and attractive modern buildings, are the U. BESOUDCES. Santa Fe county has an grea of 1,498,000 acres and a population of about 17,000. The city itself contains over 10,000 actual residents. The valley soils are especially adapted to fruit raising, and the product is of the finest flavor and appearances. Peaches sweet as a nectarine, plums and apricots, large and luscious, apples, pears, berries and all the hardy fruits flourish in abundance, usually commanding a better and more remunerative market than even the California fruits. The cloudless, sun-ny days bring out all their fruity and saccharine qualities.

Large mineral deposits, including gold, silver, precious stones, principally the turquoise and garnets nearly as line as rubies, and topaz, also; both bituminous and anthracite coal are found in giant veins.
The two kinds sometimes run in parallel veins in the same mine. In addition to this "natural coke" is found.

PROSPECTIVE RESOURCES. The Chicago Municipal & Investment company has completed a magnificent water works system just east of town, furnishing water under 140 pounds pressure. All the modern improvements in the way of serestion, etc., are provided. In addition thereto preliminary work is now being conducted on reservoirs and canals that will irrigate over 100,000 acres of splendid land in and around the city. These will undoubtedly be completed within two years, as every effort is being made to hurry their construction.

THE WATERS OF SANTA PE.

Dr. J. F. Danter, vice president of the American Health Resort association, says: "It is worth traveling miles to drink of such waters as flow through this deep cut in the mountains and supply the city of irrigation of the fruit farms. The water is absolutely pure, cold and fresh from the melting snows above, or trickling free from all lime, alkali or other ingredients so very injurious to the consumptive patient. LAND COURT APPEALS.

An Important Statement Respecting Appeals-Vital Questions in the Balance-The U.S. Attorney Speaks.

Santa Fe, July 31 .- In your note of this the attorney general of the United States has concluded that an appeal from the court of private land claims to the su-On the application of the U.S. court at Preme court will not lie, and that the

> I have no knowledge as to what the conclusions of the attorney general may be upon the subject. I am aware of the fact, through the solicitor general, that the matter has been under consideration by the department, but what the conclusion has been, I do not know.

I had examined into the question as to whether or not an appeal would lie to the supreme court, if so provided by contion to meet them half way in reaching a common ground that will be advantage out to all concerned and result in giving. whether congress has not provided, that the supreme court shall assume original,

So that you may more fully understand the matter, I will state, that it was at first no appeal would lie to the supreme court, even if properly so provided by congress. It is true, the tribunal is not a constitutional one, but falls within that class designated as "legislative courts."

The questions to be adjudicated fall within the judicial powers of the Uni ed States, as defined by the constitution, and also further fall within said powers by reason of the United States being a party. It makes no difference whether the court or tribunal called upon to decide the cases is constitutional or legislative; it is the questions they are called upon to decide that determine the jurisdiction. It was so held in the case of Martin vs. Hunter, 1. Wheaton, wherein the court "It is the case, not the court that governs the jurisdiction."

There can be no doubt but congres could lawfully and properly provide for an appeal from a judgment of this cou-to the supreme court of the Unite States. But the question now arises, had it done so? And this seems to be the point upon which the whole question likely to turn. The language of the ac-is as follows: "On any such appeal the supreme court shall re-try the cause, as well the issues of fact as of law, and may cause testimony to be taken in addition to that given in the court below, and may amend the record of the proceedings below as truth and justice may require; and on such retrial and hearing every question shall be open, and the decision of the supreme court thereon shall be final and conclus-

It is strongly contended that the exercise of jurisdiction by the supreme court under such provision, being a trial de novo, is the exercise of original and not appellate jurisdiction. Such was the holding of the supreme court upon appeals from the board of land commissioners to the district courts in California, and there seems to be no good reason why it will in this instance vary from that holding.

The constitution defines the cases over which the judicial power of the United States shall extend, and in the the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction. In all other cases before mentioned the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as congress shall make."

It is thus clear that the supreme cour can not exercise original jurisdiction over cases from this court, and if the Vista, Mora county, on a visit to her language of section 9 of the act creating the court of private land claims is to be with total product to date of nearly a construed as requiring the supreme court to assume original jurisdiction, by reto a language of section 9 of the act creating mony, etc., then the act in that respect is unconstitutional, and the judgments of the sanitarium.

Where the court of private land claims are final and conclusive. This, however, can be remedied by congress providing that the court of private lands of the court of the for Washington City going there to settle appealed, as it does equity cases appealed from the circuit courts of the United States. Congress in providing for appeal ha gone so far as to give the supreme court original instead of appellate jurisdic-

New Strikes in Cochiti District-The Denver Press Stands Solidly by the Great Camp.

Cochiti has covered herself all over the supreme court shall assume original, with glory this week. Big strikes have instead of appellate jurisdiction over been made all over the district, strikes that are beyond the shadow of a doubt rich in the precious metals. The Union, Posy, Goodhopes, Blanco, Hopewell, Albemarle and several other properties contended that the court of private land are proving to the world that the claims claims, not being a constitutional court, of Cochiti are based on true merit.—Co-chiti Call. Again the Denver Republican says: Again the Denver Republican says:

"The Cochiti district in New Mexico is coming to the front rapidly. It is one of the best of the newly discovered gold camps, and it seems that it contains a vast quantity of high grade ore. Denver capital is represented there, and the outlook is that the gentlemen who have invested their money will be well satisfied with the results. It would be an excellent thing for Denver if the Denver & Rio Grande would extend its New Mexico branch to the Cochiti district, for that would result in giving this city a large share of the new trade, while at the same time it would facilitate shipments of ore to this market." Denver Daily Mining Record: "We would not be surprised if the Cochiti mining district in New Mexico becomes mining district in New Mexico becomes in a short time one of the most noted mining centers in the United States. There seems to be no question that it is very rich in large deposits of gold ore of more than ordinary value. It has filled up rapidly with population, and the number of its inhabitants will doubtless ircrease as the mines are developed and opportunity is thus given for the employ-ment of labor. It appears to be alto-gether the best camp in New Mexico, and it promises to have an important and powerful influence upon the development of that territory. * * * Senator Wm. Gelder goes to Cochiti and Hillsboro, N. M., in a few days to look up a number of gold propositions. The Record is prom-
