Democratic Central Committee Decides to Contest

FIERY EXPRESSIONS USED

President, Senator Penrose, Speaker Cannon Scored--Others "Get it in Neck."

Albuquerque, Nov. 26.—The Territorial Democratic Central Committee which met in this city last Saturday was very enthusiastic, especially considering the few members who attended. It was mostly a proxy affair. Those in attendance made up by loud and vociferous talk for the paucity of attendance.

The following were present: Chairman A. A. Jones of Las Vegas, Secretary W. B. Walton of Silver City, A. B. Renehan of Santa Fe, W. B. Bunker of Las Vegas, T. D. Leib of Raton, Felix Martinez of El Paso, Texas, Rafael Romero of Mora, James G. Fitch of Socorro, J. A. Raff of Valencia County, O. A. Larrazolo of Las Vegas, and the usual Albuquerque contingent with proxies.

Chairman A. A. Jones of Las Vegas presided and Secretary W. B. Walton of Silver City was on hand. The meeting was held behind closed doors, but your correspondent managed to get particulars from two of the members present which are believed to be substantially correct. Chairman Jones stated in a rather neat speech that he favored the contest. He was sure that awful frauds had been committed in the Republican counties and that this could be proven; every Republican election official should be indicted and sent to the penitentiary. He urged the adoption of resolutions demanding a contest against Delegate-elect W. H. Andrews, a strong endorsement of Governor Hagerman, a demand upon district attorneys to indict and convict Republican election officials and stated that he fully believed that New Mexico would be a Democratic state, if admitted and surely a Democratic Territory, if remaining in a territorial condition. If his recommendations were adopted.

REVOLUTION ENDS IN CUBAN REPUBLIC

Last Band of Eight Men Run Down and Captured by Rural Guards.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—Secretary Taft received the following dispatch today from Governor Magoon at Havana under yesterday's date: "The band of Cienfuegos was overwhelmed by a detachment of rural guards under Charles Landeau. All were taken into custody and disarmed without difficulty and are now being brought to Cienfuegos. The band was composed of eight men."

With the capture yesterday at Cienfuegos of a band of eight men who took to the woods under Chief of Police Ruiz, the last vestige of disorder in Cuba has disappeared. Ruiz was at first reported to have a large following, but the captured men proved this to be untrue. Reports received by Governor Magoon from all parts of the island show that perfect tranquillity prevails, not even the faintest rumor of trouble being heard anywhere.

MRS. MYERS' FIGHT FOR TIME LOST

Supreme Court Justice Refuses Attorney's Request--Hottam and Woman to Hang.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—Justice Brewer, in the Supreme Court of the United States, today refused to allow the attorneys for Mrs. Agnes Myers, under sentence of death for a murder in Missouri, more time in which to file a complete record of the case. The time as originally fixed expires on Wednesday next.

Mrs. Agnes Myers and Frank Hottam, her lover, are under sentence of death for murdering Clarence Myers, the woman's husband, who was a printer in Kansas City.

DESERTION OF SOLDIERS GROWING

Report of Military Secretary Shows Alarming Figures--Leniency the Cause.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—Desertion is on the increase in the army. The annual report of the military secretary shows desertions for the year ending June 30, 1906, to be 6,589 or 7.4 for every one hundred soldiers in the army. In 1905 the desertion was 6.8 and for the ten years between 1895 to 1904 the average was 4.5 and the rate of desertion among the white soldiers was three and a half times as great as among the negro soldiers.

General Ainsworth says the number of desertions will be greatly decreased if the military authorities will cease the exercise of the leniency with which apprehended deserters are treated.

GOVERNOR WILL NOT SAVE PATRICK

Says He Never Made Statement That He Would Pardon Man to Die for Murder.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 26.—"The statement that I have promised or intimated to anybody that I will commute the sentence of Albert T. Patrick is absolutely and unqualifiedly false," said Governor Higgins this afternoon. Patrick was an able attorney who was found guilty and sentenced to death for the killing of an aged man. His motive for the crime was said to have been the desire to secure the victim's money and life insurance. Since his incarceration, he has conducted his own defense as far as possible and has refused to ask for clemency.

NO BONANZAS YET FOR W. A. WOODY

Rinconada Ore Ran Only 40 Cents to Ton.

TOUGH ALASKA EXPERIENCE

Although 56 Years Old Will Commence Again--Plucky and Persevering.

William A. Woody, of Rinconada, was in the city last week on business before the local courts. Mr. Woody has had considerable experience in mining and fruit raising in northwestern New Mexico. He was seen at the Clair Hotel by a representative of the New Mexican and had the following to say:

"I was born and spent my boyhood in Fort Worth, Texas, where my father and several brothers still reside. I am fifty-six years of age; I feel that I am getting a little old, but to tell you that my father is still an active man, would be surprising. Before leaving to visit with one of my brothers this winter, he cut enough stove wood to last him during the cold weather."

Came to New Mexico Ten Years Ago.

"I spent some time in Idaho engaged in mining but sold out and left that state. Ten years ago I came to New Mexico and settled near Rinconada. There I discovered what I believed to be one of the best bodies of gold bearing ore in the country. I thought a fortune was mine and like many other miners, was in the end, left out in the cold. I have a claim there which affords very good opportunities for mining as far as location is concerned. When I first made a test of the ore, I concluded I would make a good stake. I was deceived in this way: The side of the mountain into which I put a shaft is 1,200 feet or more high, almost perpendicular. This mountain on the top for a short distance contained many deep cracks. I did not know this at first. The ore on each side of these cracks had been frozen and had fallen down to the bottom where it had accumulated, and when I dug into the mountain, of course not very far, I brought out lots of quartz. This induced me to put in a mill on a small stream to work the mine on an extensive scale and expected results according to what I had done here. I intended to go beyond the cracks which were near the edge of the rock. I then failed to get much quartz, the ore averaging only 40 cents per ton which of course would not pay. I took the gold out of the ore by a process which is known as 'cyaniding.' I have an immense flume which is almost large enough to turn a buggy around on. This is not doing me any good and I presume never will. I have been thinking of converting this immense flume into a factory for woolen goods or into a roller mill wherewith I can make woolen goods or flour and perhaps get back some of the money which I put into it."

U. S. COURT IN SESSION

Recess Necessary Because Attorneys Are at Las Vegas in Train Robbery Case.

United States court for the First Judicial District convened in adjourned session at 9 o'clock this morning. Judge John R. McFie presiding. A. M. Bergere was at his post as clerk.

Immediately after the names of the grand jurors summoned for the judicial term were called, court adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. United States Attorney W. H. H. Lewellen and Assistant United States Attorney E. L. Motler, are both busy in the Logan train robbery case in the federal district court at Las Vegas and Assistant United States Attorney D. J. Leahy is in attendance on the federal district court which convened today at Alamogordo. Judge McFie received this morning the government could be here until tomorrow and therefore ordered a recess taken after the roll call of the grand jurors. The Logan train robbery case is expected to go to the jury this afternoon or tonight.

Some Experiences in Alaska.

"Before putting up this cyanidizing plant at Rinconada, I staked out my claim near that place and went to Chicago, where I left my wife with one of my sons in the Windy City. Immediately thereafter I struck out for Alaska, where I thought I could in a short time make a fortune in mining. I had a very hard time getting into what is called the Klondike. However, I made it over the ice, only breaking in a couple of times. I had a sleigh with me two tons of provisions as there was no other chance of getting anything to eat during the winter in that cold part of Uncle Sam's domain. I would arise early in the morning, hitch up the dogs and with a ton of provisions would strike out driving as fast as possible until 3 o'clock p. m. Then I would unload, or better still, cache my stuff. I returned the same day to the place from where I started in the morning, riding on the sleigh on my way back. I would put up for the night and in the morning would load the other ton of provisions on the sleigh and continue my journey. By doing this I would have to stay two nights at one place, but it was the best I could do and in fact I thought I was making pretty good time. I stayed in Alaska during the years 1888 and 1899. While there I penetrated country which I believe never before had been walked over by any body. I found mines which would some day be worked and which will bring fortunes to some lucky man or men. These were no good to me as they were many miles away from the railroad and transportation of no kind could be had with which to get the ore to a smelter. While in Alaska I was engaged for a time in the building of a saw mill and in getting out logs for the same. This work I did for Uncle Sam. I contracted with a captain who was as that time on the Yukon River with a vessel of men, mules, wagons, etc. This mill was brought up on the vessel and during the two years in Alaska this was the only batch of mules or horses that I ever saw in that cold country. Well, a short time before that I remember a man arriving near our place with two fine mares. One of them I bought

LONE TRAIN ROBBER CAUGHT

Held Up Chicago Alton Express---Got $2,000.

CONDUCTOR DISARMED HIM

By Knocking Gun From His Hand--Landed in Jail.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 26.—One of the most unique and daring train robberies in the history of the Southwest was committed 100 miles east of Kansas City early today between Slater and Armstrong, Missouri, when a masked man single handed robbed twenty passengers in three cars of the eastbound combination Alton-Burlington passenger train. After about half an hour's work he secured approximately $2,000 besides several watches and pieces of jewelry. The bandit was finally overpowered by E. B. Heywood, conductor of the train, who knocked the revolver from the robber's hand and forced him to the floor.

Robber Made to Disgorge and Landed in Jail.

The robber was made to disgorge, and four hours after the robbery was committed he was placed in jail. The robber, who said his name was Trueheart and that he came from California, was recognized as the same man who on November 7 last in exactly the same manner and at the same place went through the rear sleeper on the Rock Island train running over the same tracks.

Robber Cared Nothing for His Own Safety.

At exactly the same spot and under similar conditions this lone bandit held up and robbed the passengers of a train about three weeks ago. On that occasion he conducted himself fearlessly and almost courted capture. After ridding several cars, he jumped from the train and dashed away in the darkness. His capture was the result of his own carelessness and seeming disregard for his personal safety.

LABOR LEADER ASKS U. S. AID

Ordered to Leave Canada for Conducting Strike.

INTERNATIONAL QUESTION

Never Before Presented---Street Car Riots Caused Trouble.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 26.—The United States government has been asked to furnish protection for a labor leader engaged in conducting a strike in another country. The appeal came yesterday from Frederick Fay, who is leading a street car strike in Hamilton, Ontario. After serious riots on Saturday night in Hamilton, in which many were injured, the Canadian authorities ordered Fay to leave the country at once.

Defied Canadian Authorities When Told to Leave.

Fay declined to go, and instead sent a telegram to Chicago asking for aid. The message was received by President William D. Mallon, head of the Street Car Men's Union in this country, who immediately sent the following reply:

Demand Protection and Stay Where You Are.

"Demand protection of United States Consul at Hamilton and stay where you are."

Mallon last night stated that efforts would be made today to have the matter taken up at Washington and also the international question of the situation, which is without parallel so far as is known.

SANTA FE NEW MEXICAN.

Entered as Second Class Matter at the Santa Fe Postoffice.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

"TRIAL MARRIAGES."

Some men and women engaged as professional teachers and great advocates of education seem to have mighty little to do after all. These days they are taking up all sorts of questions that were better left alone and not agitated.

Commenting upon this trial marriage discussion the New York Evening Sun pertinently says that it appears that the writers of our text books on Sociology have more courage than those who provide the treatises on physiology. The former do not fight shy of the problems of existence, though the latter do.

However startling the proposal may be to us, precedents are not lacking. In certain European countries experimental marriage was practiced in former times. In Denmark if a child was born the relation became permanent.

THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT TO PANAMA.

The visit of President Roosevelt to the Panama Canal zone will prove of benefit all around. The President now understands the situation thoroughly and will be able to act upon the results of personal investigation and correct knowledge of the conditions of the zone.

The press of the country at large, with the exception of a few hide bound and yellow newspapers that are always carping and criticizing, belittling and falsifying, approve of the trip of the President and, expresses the opinion that its results will be great and good.

This visit was unique in that for the first time in the history of the country the President went so far from home for any purpose whatsoever. During all of the time he was under the jurisdiction of the United States, and hence cannot be said to have gone into a foreign country.

There is little doubt that the canal project will receive a strong impetus from this visit and that interest in the undertaking will be much increased. Work will be pushed with all the more vigor because of the President's personal inspection while on the Isthmus, and he will be able to lay before Congress all the more clearly for the same reason his views in regard to the legislation which may be needed in the future.

Ex-Governor L. Bradford Prince did good work for the Sunshine Territory at the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress at its sessions during the last week. Ex-Governor Prince can always be depended upon to stand by New Mexico and her best interests.

Hon. T. C. Platt has resigned as husband to a young wife, but still hangs on to his senatorial and express jobs. He should give up all of them. About time.

THE QUESTION SHOULD BE DISCUSSED FREELY.

Opponents of the project to hold a statehood convention at an early date in this city by the delegates elected to that body on November 6th last state that since the defeat of the statehood project there is no law authorizing such a convention. This is time lost. No one has ever asserted that there was a law governing the case since the defeat of joint statehood but there is also no law preventing members elected from assembling, framing a constitution and submitting it to the Congress of the United States for action.

TRY FOR THE BUSINESS.

The El Paso Herald is agitating the project of building a boulevard road from El Paso to Las Cruces to be used by automobiles and then to change it into an electrical railroad. The Herald urges action and thinks the road should be constructed at once in order to be ready for and catch the great business that will develop in the Mesilla Valley by the construction of the Elephant Butte reservoir system which is scheduled to commence at an early date.

A BENEFICIAL PUBLICATION.

Ten thousand copies of the booklet entitled "Go To The Land of Sunshine," issued during the past year by the Bureau of Immigration have been distributed and a new edition is now in the press. For this several applications amounting to over 2,000 copies have already been made by general passenger agents of railways, by immigration agents and by persons interested in inducing immigration into New Mexico.

Railroad companies are going into the express business and the elimination of independent express companies from railroad trains is but a matter of time.

Secretary Shaw says he wants currency reform, but will not recommend any specific plan to Congress, though the bankers' brand looks good to him.

Wholesale railroad cremation of human beings furnishes another argument for steel passenger cars.

That Cuban republic seems to have been "one grand sweet" graft from start to finish.

Mail service on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway from and to this city, would be greatly improved by a quick connection with trains No. 3 from the east and No. 10 from the south and which are scheduled to arrive at Lamy at 9:15 and 9:25 a. m.

It now appears that one reason for the slump in the Andrews vote in the cattle growing counties of New Mexico, was that the cattle owners voted against the Delegate for reelection because he had worked very hard for the passage of the joint statehood bill.

President Edmond J. Vert, chairman of the local committee which has in charge the program of the New Mexico Educational Association to be held in Las Vegas beginning December 26, has received a statement from city superintendent of schools, J. E. Clark of Albuquerque, that nearly all of the Albuquerque teachers will be present at the approaching meeting.

The question of the construction of a new and decent depot for the city of Santa Fe by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway, "will not down." Like Banco's ghost, it hobbys up serenely and constantly.

Our friends, the enemy have concluded "to raise a rumpus and a racket." The immaculate Larrazo will file a contest for the seat as Delegate to the 60th Congress from New Mexico to which Delegate W. H. Andrews has been fairly and justly elected.

Last week's snow storm and blizzard have done much harm to livestock interests in certain sections of the Territory. Fortunately they were unprecedented in New Mexico as regards their intensity, their duration and their violence.

Among the Territorial institutions that are doing great good and are being well managed are to be mentioned specially the Institute for the Blind at Alamogordo and the Institute for the Deaf and Dumb in Santa Fe. These institutions are entitled to the fullest and fairest support and this they will receive. They are very deserving.

The Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress held in Kansas City last week placed itself unequivocally on record in favor of immediate and separate statehood for New Mexico. The Trans-Mississippi Congress did well in this instance and what is more it did right and the right must prevail.

Things are warming up in Cuba when the leader of the negro faction publicly serves notice of his intention to head a revolution if the United States does not hurry up and turn the island over to the Cubans. If he tries it he'll get the surprise of his life.

Uncle "Joe" Cannon doubtless welcomed the story that he was to be defeated for Speaker of the next House by a combination of Democrats and tariff reform Republicans, as an old and familiar friend.

Hearst and young Pulitzer might settle their personal difficulties in a 24-foot ring, advertising the scrap as "the battle of the yellows." Neither has a streak of yellow—both are yellow all over and all through.

The personnel of the House of Representatives of the 37th Legislative Assembly sizes up remarkably well. The New Mexican believes that the work of the body will also size up well.

It is evident that Secretary Metcalf failed to persuade San Francisco folk to toss even a tiny bouquet to the Japs.

"Fighting Bob" Evans has joined Hobson in shouting for a bigger navy, and he is no slouch of a shouter.

Wholesale railroad cremation of human beings furnishes another argument for steel passenger cars.

That Cuban republic seems to have been "one grand sweet" graft from start to finish.

HER END A MYSTERY

NO ONE KNOWS WHAT BECAME OF OLD ENGINE.

Famous Locomotive "Orange" is Supposed to Have Found Its Graveyard in the Old Scrap Heap at Susquehanna.

If the scrap heap at Susquehanna could speak it might possibly be able to tell what became of the old engine Orange. No living person seems able to do so.

The Orange was the fourth locomotive owned by the Erie, the first three being named Eleazer Lord, Piermont and Rockland, respectively.

The Orange had a mate in the Ramapo, all five having been built by William Norris of Philadelphia in 1740-41, at an approximate cost of $5,000 each.

The Orange was engaged in building the road at intervals all the way from Piedmont to Dunkirk and was used for like work, after having been sold by the Erie, on the Attica & Hornellsville, and the Buffalo, Bradford & Pittsburg roads. In 1859 she was abandoned on a siding at Carrollton, N. Y. An employe who heard she was to be sold for scrap, fired her up and ran her to Bradford, Pa., out of the jurisdiction of New York state officers, and left her on the track there. The next morning she had disappeared.

Some Causes of Accidents. Author Points Out Reasons for Disasters to Train Crews. Most of the common accidents caused by neglect of the train crew are summarized by Mr. Richardson, in his book, "Railroad Accidents; Their Causes and Prevention," as follows:

- Failure to watch for and observe signals. Trains following each other too closely. Trains following at too high a rate of speed. Failure to protect trains stopped on the main track. Cars not being left into clear at sidings. Switches being left wrong. Lack of caution in time of storm or fog. General carelessness. Most of the injuries to employes caused by their own carelessness are from coupling cars, getting on and off, or falling from trains and engines.

The New Mexican Printing Company has on hand a large supply of writing tablets and scratch pads suitable for school children, lawyers, merchants and also for home use, which will be cleaned out at 10 cents a pound and cheaper if ordered in larger quantities.

MORE KILLED AND INJURED.

Railway Casualties in Fiscal Year 1906 Compared with 1905.

Accident bulletin No. 20, issued by the interstate commerce commission for the three months ended June 30, 1906, shows the total number of casualties to passengers and to employes while on duty to be 16,937, as against 18,296 reported in the preceding three months.

The number of passengers and employes killed in train accidents was 194, as against 274 reported in the preceding three months. The total number of collisions and derailments was 3,103 (1,588 collisions and 1,515 derailments), of which 173 collisions and 163 derailments affected passenger trains. The damage to cars, engines and roadway by these accidents amounted to $2,373,924.

The number of employes killed in coupling and uncoupling cars and engines was 68, being 16 less than the number reported killed in the previous quarter.

The two most disastrous accidents reported in the present bulletin was a butting collision of passenger trains that killed 10 passengers and employes, and one derailment, killing nine passengers.

The total number of persons killed recorded in this bulletin is less than in the last preceding quarter, but is more than in the corresponding quarter of 1905. The same is true as to the number of employes killed in coupling accidents. In train accidents there is a gratifying diminution, both in passengers and employes killed, compared with either of the two earlier quarters mentioned.

The bulletin completes the publication of the records of accidents for the year ended June 30, 1906, which

The Santa Fe has begun planting trees on its land in San Diego county, southern California. The tract is 5,650 acres in extent, and is known as the Rancho San Diego. It is near Del Mar. It will be converted into a eucalyptus grove. About 700 acres a year will be planted for a number of years. The wood will be used for ties and piles. F. P. Hosp, who has charge of this class of work, estimates that $3,000 worth of timber for ties can be raised on one acre. The red gum will be planted, as this, as well as the sugar and iron bark varieties of eucalyptus, has been shown by experiments in Australia to last more than 25 years underground, while the blue gum will not last more than three years underground.—Railroad Gazette.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggists recommend and sell

MINOR CITY TOPICS

Mrs. L. Bradford Prince is able to be up and around again, after her brief illness which confined her to her bed Saturday.

A new time table will go into effect next Thursday on the Santa Fe Central Railway. Train No. 2 will arrive at 5:40 instead of 4:20 o'clock, but there will be no change in the leaving time of No. 1, which leaves at 1:20 p. m.

The following have been issued marriage licenses by Probate Clerk Marcos Castillo: Miss Antonia Guruk, aged 16, and Jose E. Gonzales, aged 22, both of Golden, and Miss Anastacia Vargas, aged 18, and Andres Martinez, aged 33, both of Chimayo.

Miss Encarnacion Rivera and Secundino Sandoval of Pojoaque were united in marriage at 8 o'clock this morning in the Roman Catholic Church at Santa Cruz. Benigno Muniz of this city acted as best man. The marriage ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

L. Lowenthal, of Louisville, Kentucky, a traveling man, representing a clothing house, is laid up with a broken arm at Albuquerque. He slipped in front of the Alvarado Hotel there a few days ago while running to catch a train for Santa Fe. The fracture was reduced by a surgeon, and the injured arm placed in a plaster cast until the bones knit together.

There was a double wedding at the Cathedral this morning when Rev. Father Antonio Fourchegu united in marriage Miss Guadalupe Sisneros and Jose Gutierrez and Miss Francisquita Herrera and Romulo Garcia, young native people of this city. The cathedral was filled with the relatives and friends of the couples. After the ceremony the guests went to the homes of the respective brides, where wedding breakfasts were served and receptions held. Next Sunday will mark the beginning of Advent, the season of prayer preparatory to Christmas, and an important event in the Catholic calendar. It has been the custom at the Cathedral here to inaugurate Advent with forty hours' devotion services. This practice will be continued this year. The devotions covering a period of forty hours will begin with solemn high mass and the sacred procession of the Blessed Sacrament. A special mass will be celebrated next Thursday, which is Thanksgiving day. Miss Guadalupe Sisneros was the bride and Jose V. Gutierrez the groom at an interesting wedding which was solemnized this morning at 8 o'clock at the Cathedral by Very Reverend Father Antonio Fourchegu, vicar general. The spacious auditorium was well filled with relatives and friends of the couple while the ceremony was performed in connection with mass. Following the marriage an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Hillside Avenue. A wedding dinner was served at noon after which dancing became the feature of the festivities. The Perez band furnished music for the occasion and the merrymaking will continue throughout the evening. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Amado Gutierrez and is associated with his father in the bakery and grocery business on Galisteo Street. The store was closed today on account of the wedding.

COLFAX COUNTY NEWS BRIEFS

Springer, N. M., Nov. 26.—The large Santa Fe Railway bridge over the Cimaron has been completed and with the exception of a few touches of finishing work, is ready for use. It was eleven months ago that work first began on the bridge and despite the many delays it is one of the most substantial bridges on the Santa Fe System.

At one place in Springer last week the coal oil was found frozen. The snowfall during the storm last week amounted to about eight inches in Springer but it was heavier in other portions of this county. Colfax County stockmen have sent out several train loads of fine cattle to the Kansas City and St. Louis markets during the past month. Cattle in this section are in fine condition.

COLORED WOMAN WHIPPED HUSBAND

Given Ninety Days in Jail and Said She Would Sue for Divorce When Released.

Prescott, Ariz., Nov. 26.—"I suddenly do hate that man. De divorce co't for dis lady jes as soon as mah time is up." Mrs. Mary Green drawled out the foregoing as she left the justice court a few days ago at Ash Forks. She had been arrested for assaulting her husband, who had the misfortune of having a wooden leg in place of the one furnished him by nature. The evidence showed that he had been soundly thrashed and his pugilistic wife was sentenced to ninety days in jail. Both are colored.

On Fashion's Highway

By FRANCES RIVERS

Toward five o'clock, on a supremely hot July day, Mr. Godfrey Boyne strolled leisurely along the gravel path of the promenade.

He loitered, seemingly at random making his way slowly between groups of animated people, stopping for no reason, and remained idly gazing over the heads of the crowd on fashion's highway.

Amongst these men, immaculately valeted, in all this fashionable life which, motley and picturesque, displayed its plumage in the sunshine to the envy of the unfashionable in the shade, he was an alien, made so by ten years' expatriation.

At any rate, he thought, applying this recollection as healingunction to the scratches imparted on his vanity by the acid of such general forgetfulness, Audrey has remembered; and he, smiling, recalled the facility with which intimacy with Lady Annandale had been resumed; the friendly informality with which she had reentered into relations with him; the bewildering immensity of her social influence; the celebrity which, at first as the wife, then as the widow, of a viscount, notorious in career and memory for his many vices, she had acquired.

He had taken himself to Fashion's highway, the purpose of joining Lady Annandale being less distinct in his thoughts than the wish to see her. So immersed was he in reflection that he failed to notice that a victoria had stopped opposite to him. Suddenly a footman addressed him:

"I beg your pardon, sir," said he, "but her ladyship sent me to say that she wishes to speak to you."

Godfrey turned; Lady Annandale was stepping from the carriage.

"You can go home," said she to the footman.

"Very good, my lady."

Then she gave to Godfrey her hand. "This place—" she glanced round at the radiant prospect—"seems scarcely the spot suited to serious discussion. We might, perhaps, over there."

So, side by side, Lady Annandale and Mr. Godfrey Boyne walked across the soft, green turf and established themselves upon chairs under the sweet-scented lime trees, whose sheltering boughs masked them from observation.

He beamed amiably round. "This is certainly very nice," he assented.

"I have brought you here, that you may continue your last night's interrupted account of the woman with whom you were in love," said she.

"Was in love? It's absurd to use the past tense. I am in love with her, Love is not a state from which you can recover as from an epidemic. I am, of course, speaking of the real thing."

"I see; something other than flirtation."

"Flirtation is but the froth of love."

Lady Annandale laughed. "Passion! does your real thing include that?"

"Passion is love's dress, besides being Cupid's pseudonym for the work he is ashamed to acknowledge."

"I had no idea I was speaking to an expert; but how, may I ask, did you come to study the subject so profoundly?"

"In Ceylon, beyond love's influence, I devoted some attention to the science."

"She raised her eyebrows. 'Is that all you learned?'"

"That, and to make money."

"To make money?"

"Certainly. I'm a wealthy tea-planter of Ceylon."

"A wealthy tea-planter, did you say? But to return to your love," she suggested.

"You can't return to a thing you've never parted from, can you?"

"Then you know more of the subject?"

"A great deal more."

"Here it is. I see a boy and girl, the joyful intimacy of their childhood deepening into the poetry of youth—"

"And, of course, the girl knows that the boy loves her?"

"Naturally, since not an hour of the day passes but he tells her so."

"Tells her? Surely not."

"By every means in his power, except his tongue. He doesn't put it into words, because he knows that to do so would be hopeless if she doesn't understand without that."

"Don't you think she might make a mistake if he says nothing?"

"But she must know that he dreams his dream of the future, in which, having made a nest and lined it softly with down, he will come to her and say: 'It awaits you.' Then he hopes that, with the gracious spirit manifest in all her bearing, the girl, with love and tenderness shining from her eyes, would, putting her hand in his, say: 'I am ready.'"

"Your vision is charming, idyllic; but how about the girl and her dreary days of waiting, for I suppose the boy to have gone off into the world?"

"He had to go into it to fill his man's part."

"Before going he should have told her in words of his love."

"You really think that his doing so would have made any difference—when all that he was then in a position to ask was faithfulness?"

Lady Annandale sighed.

"This particular girl was probably brought up to marry, as, had she been a boy, she would have been brought up to some profession. In your vision, what became of her?"

"She fulfilled what I see you consider to have been her destiny."

"Marriage?"

"Yes; she married a peer."

"And was happy ever after, according to the formula?"

"I suppose so. Isn't every woman happy who achieves rank and is an acknowledged beauty?"

"And the boy?"

"Woke from rosy dreams in the sunlight to find that in the time of his slumbering the sky had become overcast."

"And blamed the girl for a fault that was his own?"

"No; he didn't blame her, but for a time he was heartbroken."

"Did he lose sight of her altogether?"

"Not altogether; for when, in the fullness of time, she was again free, he came back to her."

"And he found her the same?"

"This woman's beauty is a fact of an astonishing order, and she is ten times more lovely even than she was."

"Her nature. Has that deteriorated?"

Lady Annandale spoke earnestly; her face was grave and sad.

"To test that is very simple."

"Really?"

"I have but to say to her: 'Marry me, and let us together renew the simplicity of our youth.' The next— you remember that I spoke of a nest—"

She bowed her head.

"It is fairly lined. Will you with it accept my heart and name?"

Lady Annandale's arms of aggression, even of defense, were possibly close at hand, but she made no attempt to reach them, and was not maladroit in thus leaving them untouched; for this harmlessness of attitude on her part induced Godfrey to lay aside his bucker of suspicion, and in reply to her "Then this visit of yours is, I take it, a tribute—a small tribute to youthful sentiment, to a dead love?" he, as lightly rejoined:

"By no means. Love, amongst the other attributes which I have enumerated, resembles a sachet, with the scent of which we are so familiar believe you."

"You are the only woman I have ever cared for."

"Does not every man tell every woman that?" She looked into his eyes and laughed.

Then, across this chasm Lady Annandale lightly threw a plank, accomplishing with a woman's dexterity, more in one moment than Godfrey had been able to do in weeks of arduous work.

Vaguely, in a tremor of unformulated hope, Godfrey saw that which had appeared to him as the end might really be but the beginning.

"In all the phrases, creeds, commonplaces which you have said of love, you have omitted to enumerate the only attributes that woman recognizes," said she, and paused to beg him, by a little Sphinx-like smile, to pay attention to her words.

"These are its power of over-riding every obstacle; of conferring upon woman a title higher than that of queen."

"Go on, please, go on," he stammered.

She looked straight into his eyes. "You are dense and stupid if you cannot understand how dear to some women may be the name of 'wife.'"

State Monopolies in France.

State monopolies are more than ever in favor in France as a means of raising revenue to the prejudice of private enterprise. A committee of the chamber of deputies has been appointed, with a former minister of finance as chairman, to collect information on the possible working of monopolies of sugar and petroleum refining, the rectification of alcohol and insurance.

Tree Owns Land It Stands On.

In Athens, Ga., there is an old oak tree at least 200 years old, which bears the distinction of owning the land upon which it stands. This tree stands on land that formerly belonged to Col. William H. Jackson. He was so fond of the tree that when he died a deed was found that deeded the tree to itself.

A Nation of Innkeepers.

An English authority notes a sign of the return of good times to his country in the improved business of British hotels, which is reported to be very marked. This looks as if the tight little isle were beginning to consider itself a summer resort instead of a great industrial commonwealth.

Her First Literary Efforts.

The early literary composition of the late Mrs. Craigie (John Oliver Hobbes) took a somewhat peculiar form. She wrote love letters for the servants and the unconventionality of these epistles led to frequent quarrels and misunderstandings between the lovers.

WISE SUMMER CHAP.

The following dialogue, translated from a German paper, shows that in Europe the holiday season brings its joys and worries:

"Well, and have you spent a pleasant holiday?"

"Yes, thanks. Don't I look as if I had?"

"Indeed you do. I have never seen you look more fit. Not everybody profits by the holiday tour as you have done."

"No. But, then, I was particularly fortunate in my choice. I liked the place so much that I mean to spend my next holidays there again."

"Good cooking?"

"Excellent. You could get anything you wished for."

"Pleasant company?"

"Delightful people. And, best of all, no formalities. We could do exactly as we liked."

"Quiet?"

"I never was in a more quiet place."

"Beds all right?"

"First rate. Private bathroom, too."

"But very expensive, no doubt?"

"On the contrary, it was the cheapest holiday I ever had."

"But, man, tell me the name of the place?"

"I stayed at home."

That Terrible Youngster.
