ARMORIES NOT FOR SKATING

Adjutant General Opposed to Renting Armories for Skating Rings

JUDGE WRIGHT TAKES OATH

Superintendent J. E. Clark at Work on Lengthy Biennial Report.

Governor Mills was greatly impressed with the enthusiasm manifested in Dona Ana county over the constitution which, he says, will have 700 to 1,000 majority in that county and will undoubtedly be carried by 15,000 at least in the territory.

Judge Edward R. Wright of Alamogordo was sworn in as an associate justice of the supreme court of New Mexico yesterday by Acting Territorial Secretary Edwin F. Conrad.

Governor Mills returned today on No. 19 coming from Las Cruces where he spent a couple of days and addressed a statehood meeting.

Working on Report. Superintendent of Public Instruction J. E. Clark is at work on his biennial report for the period ending June 15, 1910.

More Cash for Treasury. Territorial Treasurer Otero has received the following remittances for the treasury: Thomas K. D. Madison, clerk of the second district, clerk fees $760.50; Alexander Sandoval, treasurer of Sandoval county, $121.12; B. C. Hernandez, treasurer of Rio Arriba county, $3,901.67; Tito Melendez, treasurer of Mora county, $1,896.73; Adjutant General A. S. Brookes, $80.09; and Game and Fish Warden Thomas P. Gable, $162.

Inspection of Troops. Adjutant General A. S. Brookes will leave Santa Fe next Tuesday for Las Cruces to inspect the New Mexico National Guard. He will be gone three or four days.

Use of Armories. Adjutant General Brookes is preparing an order with regard to the use of armories. It is understood that the adjutant general does not oppose leasing the armories certain evenings for festivals or for dancing classes, when they are properly conducted, because revenues from such sources are considered desirable, but turning armories into skating rinks is said to meet with his disapproval.

Taking Bar Examination. Seven young attorneys were busy this morning taking a bar examination at the capitol. Several more may arrive today or tomorrow.

Enforce Vaccination. The trustees of the Spanish-American Normal School have requested Doctor Stetson, who is the health officer of Rio Arriba county, to have all the children in the schools of El Rito vaccinated as required by law; and Doctor Stetson has authorized Doctor McCormack of Espanola to perform that duty.

Heavy Business at Land Office. The Las Cruces Land Office is the first to have completed its official summary of the business done during the past quarter. The total receipts in cash for the quarter ending Dec. 31, 1910, were $20,562. Of this amount $2,522 was tendered in connection with homestead entries in this district, and the balance, $18,040, was tendered in connection with desert land entries, mineral entries, etc. This last quarter shows an increase in receipts of more than $9,000 over the previous quarter of 1910.

LONDON HAS A MURDER MYSTERY

Deeds of Violence Committed by Aliens Stir Public and Politicians

EXCITEMENT RUNS VERY HIGH

Battle With Anarchists Yesterday Resulted in Injuries to Many.

London, Jan. 4.—Public excitement over the hunting down and battle with an anarchist crowd yesterday continues great. The remains of another body were found in the ruins today, which are believed to be those of "Peter the Painter." Neither he, nor "Dutch Fritz," leaders of the gang, ever showed signs of doing any honest work, according to a member of the club who gave the police a clue.

Tolerating Foreign Criminals.

London, Jan. 4.—Five policemen, a sergeant in the Scots Guards, and half a dozen spectators were wounded by bullets during yesterday's battle of the most of them slightly, and five firemen injured, two seriously in the collapse of the burning building. A mysterious tragedy uncovered on Sunday is believed to form a link in the story of the Hounds Ditch Burglar gang. A French Jew, Joseph Bergeron, who had lived near the anarchist's rendezvous was found murdered. London was greatly stirred by the succession of murders which were wholly foreign to the British experience and the conservative papers severely score the government for its failure to enforce the aliens act.

Almost a Joke.

London, Jan. 4.—The provincial papers too, criticize the authorities sharply, saying that the Englishmen have been made to appear ridiculous. The report that the remains of another body were found in the ruins today appears to be a mistake. Nothing has developed to establish that more than two men held the tenement against several hundred police, two and a half companies of Scots Guards from the tower of London, a detachment of Horse Artillery with two machine guns and a gaffing gun and a fire brigade, to say nothing of tens of thousands who lent moral support expressed in vociferous cheers.

ATTEMPTED SLAYER OF MAYOR GAYNOR ON TRIAL.

Declared Sane by Jury He Must Answer Charge of Assault on Bill Edwards.

Jersey City, Jan. 4.—James Gallagher, the attempted slayer of Mayor Gaynor, who was declared sane yesterday by a jury, was placed on trial today before Justice Swayzee charged with intent to kill Street Cleaning Commissioner Edwards. At the same time he attempted to assassinate Mayor Gaynor.

Twelve Years for Gallagher.

Jersey City, Jan. 4.—James J. Gallagher, who attempted to assassinate Mayor Gaynor of New York City last August, today was found guilty of atrocious assault with intent to kill Street Cleaning Commissioner Edwards. He was given a sentence of twelve years in the state prison.

DISASTER TO WOOL GROWERS

Sheep Raisers Are Unanimously Opposed to Reduction of Tariff

CONVENTION AT PORTLAND

Forty Second Annual Gathering of Association Is Being Held.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 4.—The solicitude that is being manifested by the manufacturing end of the wool industry, lest interference with the tariff wreck disaster upon the wool producer, is not taken as being wholly without alloy by the delegates to the forty-second annual convention of the National Wool Growers' association which opens here today. According to many delegates, the profession of friendship is too sudden and savors too much of ulterior motive. But that the wool growers are unequivocally opposed to any change in the wool tariff is evidence on every hand and nearly every delegate says that the reduction of the tariff would spell disaster to the sheep raisers.

EXECUTIVES MAKE SUGGESTIONS

Governor Dix Pleads Against Increased Taxation and Extravagance

EBERHARD ON FEE SYSTEM

Also Declares That There Are Too Many Boards and Commissions.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 4.—Both houses of the Minnesota legislature met in joint session today to witness the inauguration of Governor Adolph O. Eberhart. In his message Governor Eberhart declared that there are too many state boards and commissions for the same objects and recommended material changes. He also attacked the fee system of salary, and recommended that the size of the state legislature be reduced.

Against Excessive Taxation.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 4.—In his message to the legislature today, Governor John A. Dix called attention to the gradually increasing state debt. This he said, unquestionably represented excessive taxation and "Excessive Taxation is the next door to criminality, for it inevitably breeds extravagance, waste and criminal corruption." The governor recommends a direct nominations law and the election of United States senators by direct vote.

EARTHQUAKE DESTROYS CITY OF 23,000.

Tashkent, Asiatic Russia, Jan. 4.—Violent earthquakes this morning at various points in Russian Turkestan caused many fatalities, though the loss of life is not yet known. Great fissures opened in the ground. Ypenny, a city of 23,000 is practically destroyed.

FLORIDA IN GRIP OF GOLD

Fourteen Below Freezing Reported From That Sunny State

ORANGE CROP BADLY DAMAGED

Arkansas River Frozen Over and Blizzard Continues in Oklahoma.

Washington, Jan. 4.—Florida, the land of flowers and sunshine, is in the grip of frigid weather and by night a cold wave will have swept as far south as Miami and the extreme south portion of the main land. Today the thermometer is at freezing point at Jacksonville and twelve to fourteen below freezing in the northwestern part of the state. Great damage has been done the orange crop.

Arkansas Frozen Over.

Tulsa, Okla., Jan. 4.—The cold wave continues here. The Arkansas river is frozen over with ice three inches thick, and cattle on the ranches are suffering.

Sixteen Above at Kansas City.

Kansas City, Jan. 4.—Rising temperatures are reported throughout the southwest this morning, the extremely cold weather of the last three days ending as abruptly as it began. It was 16 above here this morning and the mercury was rising two degrees an hour.

MINING OPERATIONS IN CAMP OF WHITE OAKS.

Judge John V. Hewitt, of White Oaks, Lincoln county, one of the few Democratic members of the last legislative council, is in Santa Fe on business before the supreme court. He says that it was zero when he left White Oaks on Monday but that he anticipates no serious suffering from the brief cold spell.

The court reappointed the bar examiners, W. J. Lucas, Julius Staab and C. C. Caron. Admitted to Practice. The bar examiners admitted today the following to practice before the New Mexico bar, on certificates of practice in other jurisdictions: Fred Sherman, Edward W. Holmes, James R. Jaffee, Fred L. Borgan, Edward Mechem, Blake Franklin, Charles A. Johnson, Henry V. B. Smith, Donald Whiteson, M. M. Robertson, Berry L. Strange, James W. Norman, Harry D. Moulton, and J. Ellis Walker.

THREE CORPORATIONS FINED FOR ILLEGAL REBATING

Philadelphia and Reading, Lehigh Valley and Bethlehem Steel Must Pay $40,000 Each. Philadelphia, Jan. 4.—Judge Holland in the U. S. district court today fined the Philadelphia and Reading, and the Lehigh Valley railroad companies, and the Bethlehem Steel company $40,000 each on the charges of unlawful rebating. The government was the prosecutor.

SUPREME COURT IS AT WORK

Will Take Recess on Account of Statehood Campaign

TWO CASES ARE AFFIRMED

Old Term Adjourned Since Die Last Evening, New Term Convened Today.

The court has been recessed by a number of members of the bar to take a recess until after the election upon the constitution, in order that attorneys and others defined by our session may participate in the campaign now in progress. The court recognizes the importance of the election and the reasonableness of this request. Pursuant thereto the following announcement is made.

The docket for the present week will be heard as follows:

The cases set for January 5th and 10th will be advanced for argument or submission on Saturday, January 7th.

Upon the latter day a recess will be taken until Monday, January 23rd, at 10 a. m., when the remaining cases will stand for argument in numerical order, three being set for each day, including Saturdays.

Two Cases Affirmed.

The supreme court of New Mexico met last night in adjourned session for the term of 1910 and disposed of the following cases:

No. 1231. Mrs. W. R. Childers, executrix vs. Frank A. Hallock. Order entered vacating order of September 1, overruling motion to offset.

No. 1271. Territory of New Mexico vs. Manuel Chacon. Order docketed and judgment of the court below affirmed. Sentence not less than one nor more than three years in the penitentiary.

No. 1272. The Territory of New Mexico vs. Daniel Riley. Case ordered docketed and judgment of the court below affirmed. Sentence not less than two nor more than three years.

All cases and motions pending and undisposed of were continued for the term. The court then adjourned sine die.

January Terms Opens.

The January term of 1911 of the supreme court convened this morning with Chief Justice William H. Pope, presiding, and Associate Justices John L. McFie, Ira A. Abbott, Merritt C. Mechem, Edward R. Wright and Clarence J. Roberts; Frank W. Clancy, attorney general, and Marshal C. M. Fernald represented by Deputy Marshal L. L. Chaves; Jose D. Sena, supreme court clerk present. Associate Justice Frank W. Parker arrived this afternoon.

The court disposed of the following motions:

No. 1266. Modern Woodmen of the World, vs. Cordelia Erwin. The motion to recall the mandate was overruled.

No. 1269. Territory of New Mexico appellee, vs. Antonio Pettine, for murder, appellant, on appeal from the district court Bernalillo county. Appellant plea until January 23 to file additional briefs.

Reappointed Examiners. The court reappointed the bar examiners, W. J. Lucas, Julius Staab and C. C. Caron.

Admitted to Practice. The bar examiners admitted today the following to practice before the New Mexico bar, on certificates of practice in other jurisdictions: Fred Sherman, Edward W. Holmes, James R. Jaffee, Fred L. Borgan, Edward Mechem, Blake Franklin, Charles A. Johnson, Henry V. B. Smith, Donald Whiteson, M. M. Robertson, Berry L. Strange, James W. Norman, Harry D. Moulton, and J. Ellis Walker.

Justice Lorton, then on the circuit bench, announced the opinion of the United States circuit court of appeals for the sixth circuit, in which the injunction requested by the manufacturer was denied. The case was appealed to the supreme court, and Frank F. Keed and Edward S. Rogers presented a brief in support of the position taken by the Dr. Miles Medical Company. Alton B. Parker and William J. Shroder filed a brief for the John D. Parker & Sons Company.

In the brief for the manufacturer, it was urged that the lower court had erred in holding that even if the contracts were construed as contracts of consignment or agency that they were void because in restraint of trade, both at common law and under the Sherman anti-trust law.

In the first place it was argued in the brief that contracts between a principal and an agent were not in restraint of trade, whatever conditions were included in the contracts.

REBELLIONS MADE TO ORDER

New York and Chicago Capitalists Financed Recent Outbreaks

JACKPOT OF SEVERAL MILLIONS

Department of Justice Lays Bare Plans of Comprehensive Conspiracy.

Chicago, Jan. 4.—The Recorder and today prints the following: "Carefully laid plans of Chicago and New York capitalists, owners of silver and copper mines in northern Mexico and Honduras to finance the revolutions now in progress in those countries, coupled with the attempted dispatching of two filibustering expeditions to the war zone have been unearthed in Chicago by the department of justice. More than ten agents of the department are in the city secretly investigating the war plot and the arrest of several well known financiers may result on the charge of a violation of the neutrality laws.

Million Dollar Jack Pot.

The "jackpot" fund for financing the revolutions is said to aggregate several million dollars. The appearance in Chicago of Gustavo Madero, brother of Francisco I. Madero, leader of the Mexican revolutionists, is said to have brought to a head the government's efforts to nip the syndicate's war plans.

Department is Non-Committal.

Washington, Jan. 4.—Further than a guarded statement that the agents of the department of justice were watching for any violation of the neutrality laws in connection with the revolutions in Mexico and Honduras, no information regarding Chicago developments were available at the department of justice today.

CUT RATES IN PATENT MEDICINES

Important Question Argued Before U. S. Supreme Court Today

Validity of Contracts With Manufacturers of Proprietary Articles.

Washington, Jan. 4.—Do contracts to prevent "cut rates" in proprietary medicines violate the Sherman anti-trust law or the common law in restraint of trade?

That question was argued today before the supreme court of the United States. Upon the decision of the court is said to depend the continuation of "cut rates" in proprietary medicines in the United States. It probably will be several weeks before the court will announce its decision.

The question was brought before the court by the Dr. Miles Medical Company, of Elkhart, Indiana. A few years ago, that company entered into certain contracts with dealers in medicines throughout the country. Those were not contracts of sale, so the company now contends, but contracts of consignment, under which the dealers did not become the owners of the medicines, but did become agents of the company. One of the conditions of the contracts was that the dealers should sell only to certain persons and at certain prices.

John D. Park and Sons Company, of Cincinnati, Ohio, did not enter into a contract with the Dr. Miles Medical Company, but the latter charges the Cincinnati firm with inducing others who did make such contracts to break the conditions concerning persons and price. The manufacturing company went into the courts asking for an injunction against the Cincinnati firm to prevent it from procuring contract violations and from selling the medicine at cut rates.

Justice Lorton, then on the circuit bench, announced the opinion of the United States circuit court of appeals for the sixth circuit, in which the injunction requested by the manufacturer was denied. The case was appealed to the supreme court, and Frank F. Keed and Edward S. Rogers presented a brief in support of the position taken by the Dr. Miles Medical Company. Alton B. Parker and William J. Shroder filed a brief for the John D. Parker & Sons Company.

THIRTY KANSAS BANKS ROBBED

Several Hundred Thousand Dollars Secured by Skilled Highwayman

NOT ONE HAS BEEN CAUGHT

Gangs Make Their Headquarters in Oklahoma and Nebraska.

Topeka, Kans., Jan. 4.—Bank Commissioner J. N. Dole reports that during the last three months thirty banks have been robbed in Kansas, one every third day, and safe cashiers have secured $100,000. Not one of the robbers has been captured. Commissioner Dole says that there are two organized gangs, one on the northern and one on the southern border of the state and their system of protection is so perfect as to place bank robbing among the less hazardous occupations. The headquarters are in Nebraska and Oklahoma but operations are confined to Kansas.

AFTERMATH OF YESTERDAY'S COLD WAVE.

Wood Cutter Frozen to Death Near Las Vegas—Zero Weather at Las Cruces.

San Francisco, a woodcutter, was frozen to death at Vegosa, a small settlement ten miles southeast of Las Vegas. The last seen of him alive was when he started for home from Las Vegas on Saturday evening. His young wife found him frozen stiff the following morning. Rivera was 27 years of age. Joseph Boushara, a young man of Las Vegas, froze his hands and feet in driving home from Gandalupita, Mora county. When he drove up to the home of his mother, Joseph Boushara, he was frozen so stiff that he could not move and had to be lifted from his wagon. It was eight degrees below zero at Las Vegas yesterday.

Below Zero in the Mesilla Valley. Las Cruces, Jan. 4.—Intensely cold weather has prevailed in the Mesilla valley during the past seventy-eight hours. Monday night was the coldest ever experienced since official records began to be kept at the Agricultural College at Mesilla, many years ago. Last evening the thermometer at the College station indicated four degrees above zero on the mesa and below zero on the lower land.

Two Feet of Snow in Sacramento. Clonderoff, N. M., Jan. 4.—Snow to the depth of over two feet has fallen here. Heavy snows have fallen throughout all this section since Saturday.

RADICAL DEMOCRATS DEFEATED IN COLORADO.

Denver, Jan. 4.—With the Democrats in control of both houses, the general assembly of Colorado convened at noon today. George McLachlan of Denver was elected speaker of the House, last night's Democratic caucus in which the "platform" Democrats were signally defeated, having settled this question. In the Senate, Senator William J. Adams of Conejos, was elected president pro tem. The defeat of the "platform" Democrats in caucus presages that little or nothing in the way of radical legislation will be enacted at this session.

Safeguards About Legislation. "Many of our leading men have been recently pointing out special features that deserve praise. I concur in much that these have said. In my examination, however, I have been especially impressed with the safeguards put about legislation and the superiority which this status will give us over present conditions. Among these are the provisions that the subject of any bill shall be clearly expressed in the title; that no bill embracing more than one subject (except general appropriation and law revision bills) shall be passed; that all appropriations except for expenses required by existing laws shall be made by separate bills; that no law shall be revised as amended by reference only; that no special laws shall be enacted where a general law can be made applicable; that no law shall be enacted remitting any fine, penalty or judgment against any officer or validating any illegal use of public funds; that no law shall be enacted giving extra compensation to any public officer or agent after services are rendered; that no member of the legislature shall during his term be eligible to office; that no act of the legislature shall affect any pending case and that there shall exist the power to veto part of an appropriation bill. It would be tedious to point out the numerous instances in our territorial history where the absence of controlling provisions such as those just mentioned have worked a grievous injustice. It is within the knowledge of bar and bench alike that many cases in the courts, barred by statutes of limitation or defeated by a failure of litigants or their counsel to comply with salutary rules of procedure have been legislated to a successful conclusion by the interposition of the legislature. The outcome of more than one case has thus depended not upon the strength of the cause but the strength of the litigants in legislative walls. Very often, such aid has been secured not by an act whose purpose was honestly disclosed by the title but by a provision skillfully concealed in some sequestered corner of an appropriation measure or other lengthy bill. All these and other evils too numerous to mention are obviated by the pro-

MERITS OF THE CONSTITUTION

Chief Justice W. H. Pope Gives Strong Reasons for Its Approval

LEGISLATIVE SAFEGUARDS

Calm and Dispassionate Review of Salient Features of Fundamental Law.

Chief Justice William H. Pope, who arrived from Roosevelt last evening, to preside over the deliberations of the territorial supreme court, is in favor of the approval of the constitution. He did not reach this favorable conclusion from the partisan standpoint, or without reason, but after careful study of the draft of the fundamental law, which two of his colleagues, Associate Justices Frank W. Parker and J. J. Roberts, assisted in formulating. It is a relief to turn aside for a moment from the purely partisan view of things, from the superlative and hyperbole which each side is hurling at each other in the campaign, for so calm and dispassionate an expression of views as Judge W. H. Pope gives in the following interview. That his opinion will carry weight goes without saying. He is, after all, the highest official in the Territory. His integrity and judicial fairness, his intellectual attainments and clear career, are the pride of Democrats and Republicans alike in New Mexico. To a representative of the New Mexican he said:

Unqualified Endorsement. "Presumption of jury trial has enabled me only within the last week to give such an examination to the proposed constitution as justifies a definite opinion from me as to its merits. The result of that consideration is an unqualified endorsement of it and an earnest desire that it shall be adopted by the people. I do not think there is any substantial difference of opinion among our people as to the desirability of statehood. The long and earnest efforts to that end, beginning almost immediately after the treaty of 1848 and evidenced by resolutions from our territorial legislatures at almost every session asking for statehood—show that it is the earnest desire of the people of New Mexico that we shall have the degree of self-government resulting from a state form of government. The only real question which properly divides our people at this time is whether the constitution is of such a character as insures us in a reasonable degree the blessings of self-government or whether it so unreasonably abridges those blessings as to make preferable a continuance of our territorial government, in the hope that later we shall secure a fuller degree of self-government. My consideration of the constitution leads me unhesitatingly to adopt the former view. Of course, in the determination of the merit of all legislation there are three considerations: First, the good there is in it; second, the bad there is in it, and third, the good that might have been in it but was omitted.

Safeguards About Legislation. "Many of our leading men have been recently pointing out special features that deserve praise. I concur in much that these have said. In my examination, however, I have been especially impressed with the safeguards put about legislation and the superiority which this status will give us over present conditions. Women's Hair Destroyed

Great Havoc Wrought by Women's Carelessness

Many women destroy the beauty of their hair through thoughtlessness or ignorance of certain facts. They do not shampoo their hair often enough, or too often. They use soaps or preparations which contain ingredients harmful to the scalp and hair. As a result of such treatment dandruff is created, the hair loosens, loses color, falls out, and baldness commences, unless proper and prompt precautions are taken in time. Then again, microbes and certain diseases bring about unhealthy scalp and hair conditions.

Most people can rid themselves of dandruff and correct diseased scalp and hair conditions, if they will use the right remedy. We have that remedy, and we will positively guarantee that it will eradicate dandruff and prevent baldness or it will not cost the user anything.

That's a pretty broad statement but we will back it and prove it with our own money. Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is the remedy that will grow hair and overcome scalp and hair troubles. It will grow hair even on bald heads, unless all life in the hair roots has been extinguished, the follicles closed, and the scalp is glazed and shiny. It gets its name from the fact that it grows hair in 93 out of 100 cases, where it received a thoroughly hard, impartial and practical test.

We want you to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic at our risk. You surely cannot lose anything by doing so, while you have everything to gain. You would better think this over, and then come in and see us about this offer. You will be well repaid for your visit to our store. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Santa Fe only at our store.—The Rexall Store, The Fischer Drug Co.

DECEMBER WAS WARMER AND DRIER THAN USUAL

There Was Not a Day Without Sunshine at Santa Fe and Wind Movement Was Small.

December 1910, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau at Santa Fe, was warmer and drier than the average December in 29 years. The maximum temperature was 56 degrees on December 10 and the lowest 7 degrees on December 29. The greatest daily range was 39 degrees on December 29 and the least daily range was 12 degrees on December 1. There was an excess of temperature during the year over the normal of 37 degrees or a little over one degree a day. There was not a day with less than 19 per cent of sunshine and there were only three days with less than 50 per cent, while the days had 100 per cent of sunshine. The number of days classed as cloudy was only one, 14 days were clear, 15 partly cloudy and 16 as clear. The mean maximum temperature was 43.2 degrees and the mean minimum 29.9 degrees. The mean temperature for the month was just 32 degrees. The sunshine percentage was 76. The mean barometric pressure was 30.17, the highest 30.48 on December 29, and the lowest 29.75 on December 31. The precipitation was only .01 of an inch and the snowfall 4.5 inches. The greatest precipitation during the month was .11 of an inch on December 20 and 21. During the year there was a deficiency of the rainfall of 5.63 inches. The prevailing direction of the wind was from the northeast, the total wind movement was 6708 miles, the average hourly velocity 8.5 miles, the maximum velocity for five minutes only 35 miles per hour from the northeast on December 1. The mean relative humidity at 6 p. m. was 58 per cent and at 6 a. m. 62 per cent.

THE DAILY ROUND UP.

Perspective.
And you shall shortly know that lengthened breath Is not the sweetest gift God sends his friends, And that sometimes the sable pall of death Conceals the fairest boon his love can send. If we could push ajar the gate of life And stand within, and all God's workings see, We could intercept all this doubt and strife, And for each mystery could find a key.

But not today. Then be content poor heart; God's plans like hills pure and white unfold; We must not tear the close-shut leaves apart; Time will reveal the calyxes of gold.

And if through patient toil we reach the land Where tired feet with sandals loosed may rest, When we shall clearly see and understand, I think that we shall say, "God knew the best."

New Catholic Church at Taos.—The plans for the new Catholic church at Taos have been accepted and work of construction will begin in spring.

Marriage License Issued.—A marriage license was issued yesterday at Albuquerque, to Arlington Fugate and Helen B. Cadman, both of Albuquerque.

Yaromaster at Belen.—Frank Le-master, a young man, formerly a well known resident of Albuquerque, has been promoted to be night yardmaster for the Santa Fe at Belen and has assumed the duties of the position.

Limited Late.—Santa Fe train No. 3, the westbound limited, due to arrive at 10:50 yesterday, did not arrive until 11 o'clock, being delayed by the heavy snows and cold weather in northern New Mexico, Colorado and Kansas. No. 10 did not arrive until 7 p. m.

Farewell Tres Piedras.—Because there was not enough business at Tres Piedras to pay its agent's salary, the Denver and Rio Grande has discontinued stopping there and now the residents of that once live burg will be allowed merely to gaze in longing at the fast trains as they whirl through the place.

At the Close of Day.—The State Savings Bank of Taos has issued a very pretty calendar entitled "At the Close of Day" from the painting of Beaudin. The artist is a Belgian and his scene depicts a Flemish peasant who has snatched a moment's relaxation after a hard day's work. There is a shade of quiet pensiveness about her features. Perhaps she is awaiting a lover at a favorite resting place or perhaps she is wondering why she has not broken some man's heart—which is the privilege of every attractive woman. She has a wistful look in her eyes, anyway.

Worth Weight in Gold

Abingdon, Va.—Mrs. Jennie McCall, of this place, says, "I had been troubled with female complaints, for over ten years. I could not walk or stand on my feet and had been almost confined to the house, for a long time. I began to take Cardui, the woman's tonic, and now I can walk anywhere I want to go. Cardui is worth its weight in gold." This is a high estimate on a plain, herb medicine, yet there are thousands of women who would gladly pay this price for a remedy to relieve their suffering. Cardui has helped others. Why not you? Try it. Your druggist sells it in $1 bottles.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When the tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Albuquerque Police Recover Valuables Purloined—Bonds Set at $800.

Albuquerque, N. M., Jan. 4.—Unable to furnish a bond of $800 following arraignment before Justice of the Peace George R. Craig yesterday on a charge of grand larceny, Earl Grey, the young man who is charged with stealing a number of valuable articles from Santa Fe hospital patients, was remanded to the county jail to await the action of the grand jury.

Grey waived preliminary examination. Previously he had turned over to Deputy Sheriff Dick Lewis, who brought him back from Las Vegas, practically all the stolen goods he had on him when arrested. Included in the property, which is now in the custody of the sheriff, is a diamond ring valued at $350, two gold watches, an automatic revolver, a regulation style pistol, two silver rings, thirty dollars in money, a ticket to Denver and two suit cases.

It will be remembered that Grey left Albuquerque Sunday night, after having duped Elmer Vaughn, a hospital patient, whom he had been instructed to place on a westbound train.

 Santa Fe people endorse this. Read case of it:
 Hilario Baca, Delgado St., Santa Fe, N. M., says: "About two and a half years ago I gave a public statement, telling of my experience with, and opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills. They completely rid me of pains in my back which had troubled me off and on for months. When I stooped or brought any strain on my loins, I suffered severely and there were various other symptoms that my trouble came from disordered kidneys. I finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills and they brought prompt relief. I continued taking Doan's Kidney Pills and it was not long before every symptom of my trouble disappeared. The fact that I have had no return attack, warrants me in giving Doan's Kidney Pills my re-endorsement."

"CONSTITUTION IS" THE BEST EVER

F. W. Farmer Tells Yeomen It Must Be Carried by Voters January 21

FIRST ANNUAL BANQUET

Brotherhood of American Yeomen Listened to Real Orators Last Night.

That the constitution of New Mexico recently drafted by a convention of the citizens from all over New Mexico is the best ever and that it is the duty of every one to go to the polls Wednesday, January 21, and adopt it, was the declaration of F. W. Farmer in a ringing speech at the first annual banquet of the F. W. Farmer Homestead No. 2873 Brotherhood of American Yeomen, held last night in the Palace hotel.

Mr. Farmer aroused his audience to a high pitch of enthusiasm as he called upon them not to let this opportunity to pass of bringing in the new state, "the state-to-be of New Mexico."

From a point of numbers and also for the stirring speeches, the banquet was a great success.

Constitution." He lauded the wisdom of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen which he said had an order founded right and a good right. He declared it worthy of any insurance organization in its strength.

A Good Constitution "but I want to talk to you on another constitution—that of New Mexico, the state about to be admitted to the union. We have to give this constitution by 100 yeomen from all over the territory, to adopt it and statehood. It is the best constitution ever and I sincerely hope every yeoman in the state will vote for it and make it his duty on Saturday, January 21, to carry this constitution to the polls." (Cheers and applause.)

"Wisdom" was the next topic and was ably discussed by a F. W. Farmer, who threw a wealth of information into his discourse, pointing out how wisdom in the basic law which happiness (good) rest. As he said his seat he was the result of prolonged applause.

"Charity" was the next topic, responded to by the Rev. B. Summers, pastor of St. John's Episcopal church in place of Dr. David Knapp, who was unavoidably absent. Mr. Summers amplified his position by telling the story of "second choice" in selecting a man and he said that it was rather sad on him to have to be a speaker on the night of the banquet held to it. He emphasized however, the importance of charity "in all things," especially in after dinner speaking and conversation.

check and the Spanish half—warming on this is the personalification of all that is lovely."

As Mr. Baca took his seat he was simultaneously applauded. Former Assistant Postmaster G. M. Kinsell was then introduced by toastmaster Richie to respond to the toast of Erateremus a toast to which the toastmaster readily responded and most cheerfully in making the introduction.

Due to the lateness of the hour, Mr. Kinsell was brief and to the point. He said that he would show the true fraternal spirit by not taxing his audience but allowing them to go home with the pleasant memory of a very happy first banquet of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen.

The banquet was rendered all the more enjoyable by the presence of the standard orchestra which discoursed "many sweet melodies."

20 YEARS AGO TODAY

From the New Mexican of this date, 1890.

Peter Kory died recently near Independence, Mo. He was well known here 20 years ago as express messenger from Kansas City to Santa Fe via the Santa Fe trail, at a time when the Indians were bad and buffaloes covered the plains. He continued as messenger until the locomotive whisked him off the trail.

The brick famine continues to retard building arrangements. If the weather is at all favorable all the brick makers will begin operations unusually early this spring.

Miss Malleson, niece of Major and Mrs. Palen, now here on a visit, will visit Mrs. McLean of Albuquerque during the month of January.

Among those who kept "open house" and formally received callers on New Year's day were Mrs. L. Bradford Prince, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Harriott and Mrs. Clancy at the governor's residence. Mrs. Palen was assisted by Miss Malleson and Miss Stubb at the Palen residence. Mrs. Dugman received, assisted by the ladies of the post. There were some 120 callers.

As these days begin to lengthen the cold begins to strengthen. However, Santa Fe's sunshine refuses to subside even at the bidding of old winter.

WORKING WOMEN

Here is a Helping Hand—A Newton Woman's Experience.
 You know just how it is yourself—when you are tired out, perhaps a little run-down and hardly able to drag around, life is a burden, you are irritable, nervous, depressed and every little task seems like a mountain.

Miss Katherine Burns, of Newton, Mass., says—"About six months ago I was in a run-down condition and my blood was very poor. I had taken several medicines prescribed by physicians, but they seemed to do me no good. Finally Vinol was recommended, and from the first bottle I noticed a great improvement. I have taken six bottles and I feel as well as ever, and I would recommend Vinol to anybody needing a good tonic to build them up and make them strong." (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

We want to ask every woman who finds herself in this condition to try Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, without oil, with the understanding that their money will be returned if it does not help them.

We know Vinol will create an appetite, aid digestion, make pure, rich blood, and in this way build up and strengthen the run-down, overworked, nervous system. You take no chances. Try it. The Capital Pharmacy.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF SANTA FE COUNTY.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

THESE ARE FACTS.

Judge A. D. Felt has indicated that although there is a cry for the initiative and recall by demagogues, the Democrats pushed it, without any reflection to pass that came in the committee of the constitutional convention nearly a week ago.

Santa Fe Democrat Lefroy P. Goodrich, editor of the Extero newspaper.

"The truth about" these things in the constitution, say some, has been shown to show that the recall was never mentioned in the constitution, a part of which was supposed to be 29 modern "reform" candidates. The only way it could have stood any show of getting into the constitution would have been for some one to have introduced it. The reason this is called to your attention is that you don't want to be misled into drawing wrong conclusions by checking everything up with one crowd."

He adds:

"The Democratic party of New Mexico is fighting the constitution, says an enthusiastic writer who is a faithful follower of the national emblem of that faith. Looking at it strictly from the Democratic side, let's see whether the party is or not. In the territorial call for the convention to take a stand on the constitution nearly two delegates were provided for. In the convention only 60 delegates were present and only 16 counties represented, and in the majority of these 16 counties the organization, the chairman and secretary and two or three wheel horses, met and drafted the delegates. In Curry for instance only a total of four precincts were represented. Mr. Rank and File of the Democratic party: Does that kind of convention represent you? Even conceding for the moment that it might, the convention resolved that every man should vote on the constitution according to his own conscience, and not be influenced by party lines."

TREACHEROUS OFFICE HOLDERS.

The San Juan County Enterprise says that some of the Democratic officials of San Juan county oppose the constitution because they object to the fees being paid into the county treasury and because statehood will break up the officeholders' ring. The people of San Juan county should keep those officials in mind when the first statehood election comes around. Any public official who will forget himself and patriotism so far as to oppose statehood, should be relegated to the rear when the proper time comes. Says the Enterprise:

"It appears that the change from the fee system to the salary system for the remuneration of county officials has caused many county officials in various parts of the Territory to oppose the adoption of the constitution. It has been charged from the stump and in the newspapers in the eastern part of counties that the largest percentage of opposition comes from that source and it has not yet been refuted in a manner to carry conviction. Many of the county officials in the larger counties are receiving from $5,000 to $10,000 per year in fees. Under the salary system these men will receive from $1,800 to $2,500 per year, which is fully as much or more than the same class of work and ability paid by private employers. In San Juan county it is estimated that the change will save about $5,000 per year for the taxpayers. We had not supposed that our officials would oppose the constitution for that reason and we still hope that they will not, but we received information from Aztec yesterday to the effect that such is the case and that the adoption of the constitution is now being opposed by some of our officials and also by some prospective candidates for county office for no other reason than that it will reduce the salaries."

The United States supreme court is making history more rapidly than is Congress. The decisions handed down yesterday seemed to lean toward a more liberal interpretation of the constitution than was heretofore the rule. However, until the text of the opinions is read, that can not be taken as a certainty. In upholding the bank guaranty laws of Kansas and Oklahoma, and declaring the Carmack amendment to the Hepburn rate law constitutional, while at the same time the Panamaibel suit against the New York World was quashed, there is an intimation of broadening out and the abandonment of narrow construction, by the highest tribunal of the nation. The spirit of the times will invade even the sacred precincts of the federal judiciary.

At Santa Fe, during 1910, there was a deficiency in precipitation of 5.63 inches and an excess of temperature of 367 degrees. These two factors explain why dry farming was a failure in so many portions of New Mexico this year and reflect conditions that may be repeated at any time but which are not the normal. The dry farmer must take chances in some respects but he can by careful selection of crops and seed and by scientific cultivation of the soil, as well as by providing wells, overcome the disadvantages even of abnormal years such as 1910 proved to be.

In the Forum appears a communication directed to the New Mexican by the superintendent of public schools at Dallas, Texas. It enters upon a brief discussion of the philosophy of government and sounds a well intended warning, against forsaking the path of the fathers to follow the ignis fatuus of the modern socialists, who would bring on the millennium not only by legislation but by the subversion of the Republican form of government. The warning is timely and should be taken to heart.

With bank robberies and train hold-ups occurring more frequently and the outlaws as a rule escaping detection, it may seem proper for a man starting out on a trip to arm himself heavily and for every banker and bank employe to be swathed in an armor plate suit when on duty and to have handy a machine or Gatling gun. It is time that a couple of robbers were made to bite the dust even before the police arrive.

Greenlee County, Arizona, is formally organized and Arizona should have better luck with fourteen counties than it had with thirteen.

Speaking of the career of Joseph G. Robin, the banker indicted for embezzlement and who attempted suicide and feigned insanity, the newspapers reflect the popular ideal of success when they display large headlines "Robin Rises from Shoeblick," "Robin Rises from Immigrant." Fortunately, there are a few people who still maintain that Robin has fallen, not risen, since he quit being a shoeblick to become a banker.

The "next session" of Congress does not mean the "next Congress," the Albuquerque Tribune-Citizen to the contrary notwithstanding. It is not customary for one Congress to bind the Congress that follows, in fact one Congress can not bind one that follows. If it could, the present Congress would see to it that the next Democratic House would be bound hand and foot in other matters besides that of statehood.

Governor Mills brings good tidings from Dona Ana county where the opposition to the constitution has been most active and has been apparently well organized. The county will give a majority of 700 votes or more for the fundamental law. This is no more than right for the document as formulated has upon it the impress of the fine delegation that the county sent to the constitutional convention, a delegation of which any county could have been proud.

Twelve more lawyers in New Mexico. At every session of the supreme court lately, from a dozen to a score or more lawyers have been admitted to practice. There has been a great increase in litigation in late years and there is no indication that there will be a decrease. In a year or two, even eight district judges will be unable to cope expeditiously with the business as it arises.

The radicals in Colorado have received a deserved setback in the organization of the legislature. Colorado has been held back and has suffered irretrievably from the agitation of its demagogues. It is certain that if Colorado had not surrendered to so many political whims that it would today have a population of a million and its capital city of a quarter million.

A dispatch says that more than 200,000 were paid in tips to waiters in Chicago restaurants and hotels on New Year's day. The tip system may not be as well developed in the United States as it is in Europe, but it is to be doubted whether in all of Germany, all of the tips last year, totaled to an equivalent of the Chicago figures.

The business done by the Santa Fe postoffice during the month of December, would raise it to first class if continued during every month of the present year. With statehood will come such an uplift for the business interests of the capital, that it will be in trim to re-enter the race for the honor of becoming the metropolis of the southwest.

Adjutant General Brookes is correct in his opinion to the leasing of National Guard Amories for skating rinks or any other purpose that will curtail the use of the Armory to the militia. Amories were erected for the purpose of affording facilities for the National Guard but in more than one town they have served quite a different purpose.

El Paso is breaking out with other symptoms than population to prove that it has arrived in the Big City class. Last year, the police of the city made 6116 arrests, and collected in fines $17,497.50. While those fines were tallied money, the question suggests itself why Santa Fe does not have a bigger income from fines than the financial reports indicate.

A rantankerous suffragette in the East proposes a law that each married man be compelled to wear big rings on his thumbs so that poor innocent maidens be not deceived into believing the man unmarried. She might as well make it a ring in the nose, for few are the men in married life, who are not led around by the nose by some woman.

The Mesilla valley contributed largely to happiness and romance this Yuletide. It shipped 20,000 packages of mistletoe and the visions that this little statement conjures into view will make more than one old bachelor wipe his mouth involuntarily.

They may talk about the wild and lawless West but when a handful of Anarchists dare defy police and the troops in the heart of London, it seems that a man is safer in the most remote portion of the Navajo reservation than he is in the centers of civilization, as far as attacks of man upon man are concerned.

That New Mexico continues growing despite setbacks, evil reports and drought, is apparent from the fact that the receipts of the new Fort Sumner Land Office, one of six in New Mexico, during December just past, were $10,000, and that 120 final proofs were made.

It is gratifying indeed to hear from Chief Justice W. H. Pope that ninety per cent of the vote cast in Chaves and Eddy counties will be probably in favor of the constitution and that even Curry and Roosevelt counties will give a majority for it.

Governor Eberhart coincides with that part of the New Mexico constitution, at least, which abolishes the obnoxious fee system, for in his inaugural address today he denounces it in no uncertain terms.

The few feeble voices that are still being raised against the constitution, are being drowned in the chorus of acclaim.

FIVE HUNDRED WANT
 DEPUTY COMMISSIONS.
 Sheriff's Office at Albuquerque Besieged With Applicants for Official Jobs.
 Albuquerque, N. M., Jan. 4.—During the past two days the sheriff's office in the court house has been besieged by men who are in search of commissions as deputy sheriffs, and Under Sheriff F. B. Heyn yesterday estimated that at least five hundred requests had been made for the jobs.
 As there are only thirty commissions available, Mr. Heyn was forced to express his regrets to many of the candidates. Twenty-one of the commissions are distributed to certain members of the city police force, the Santa Fe secret service and jailors. The other nine are given to men in the various precincts of the county who are recommended by petitions signed by the citizens of the precinct in which the applicant desires to exercise his authority as an officer. As a general rule fifty signatures are demanded from each of the applicants from the precincts.
 There is but little pecuniary renu-meration attached to the job of a deputy sheriff the fees and commissions being small. The commissions are desired, however, because of a certain prominence which a deputy sheriff is supposed to possess in the precinct in which he lives. A new ruling put into effect this year at the suggestion of Mr. Heyn is that a deputy sheriff's commission can not be held by any saloonkeeper or any man who has any direct or indirect connection with the liquor traffic.

It behooves the people of this nation to compare the calm intelligence of the truthful exposition here quoted from The Spirit of Laws with the vociferations of the unconscious revolutionists who are advocating "direct legislation," "initiative," "referendum," "imperative mandate," and that most inconsistent of all such suicidal devices, the "recall."

During 1910 great improvements were made in the methods of operating the mines. Each of the three larger operating companies has employed mine inspectors whose duty it is to look after the safety of the men employed. In addition to these mine inspectors the fire bosses and shot firers must also report any unsafe conditions in their respective districts, and when an accident occurs where any person is injured in the mine, the circumstances and conditions are immediately investigated to discover if the workmen were allowed to go into an unsafe working place, and if so, the fire boss or shot firer who neglected to report such unsafe condition is held responsible.

Ways of the Mays

"No, ma'am, I couldn't leave my place, not even if I was to better myself a lot," said the neat maid. "You see, my people need somebody who's used to their ways. I don't know how either of them could get along without somebody who would make allowances for them."

"Hard to live with? No, indeed; there never were nicer, kinder people than the Mays, if I do say it, who's just like one of the family, pretty near. But they're so awful cheerful about everything. They don't ever take anything serious. That's their trouble. If they didn't have somebody to look out for them I don't know what would become of them."

"Why, it was only last week, Tuesday afternoon, that Mrs. May came into the kitchen laughing and said to me: 'Here's a joke on us, Hilda. I've just got a note from Mr. May's sister saying she and her husband will be a little late for dinner tonight on account of some business.'"

"Dinner tonight? Why, it's half-past four now," I said. "I know, Hilda, dear," she answered in her soft way. "I ought to have told you when I invited them because you remember everything and I forget everything. But I know you can manage somehow."

"Of course, I pitched right in and telephoned a hurry order to the market and we had just as good a dinner as anyone could ask for. After dinner Mrs. May came into the kitchen and she says to me: 'Hilda, isn't this Jake's night?' I owned up that it was and then she said: 'You must leave your dishes until morning and get Jake to take you to the theater, for Mr. May forgot all about the company, too, and he bought tickets for tonight.' Then she laughed again and ran back to the parlor, and it was a good show."

"Well, Saturday morning when I was waiting on the breakfast table I asked Mrs. May if she remembered about the leak in the roof in the back hall. Then Mr. May laughed and said: 'Why, Maymie, haven't you had that mended yet?' And then she laughed and said: 'Why, Billy, haven't you had that mended yet?' Then they both laughed. Sometimes I think their cheerfulness will make me gray-headed."

"Well, I said, for I could hardly be polite, I suppose it's awful funny that there was a regular pond in the back hall this morning after the rain last night. 'It really should be fixed, shouldn't it?' remarked Mrs. May. 'Yes, of course it should,' answered Mr. May. 'I tell you what, Maymie, you come down town and have lunch with me and we'll investigate that new patent roofing which I can put on myself.'"

"And let's have lunch at the Fernery—that's such a nice place," said Mrs. May. 'Of course it was a relief to me to think they'd got their minds on that leaky roof at last, for I'd spoken of it over and over again, and I was real glad when Mrs. May started downtown that morning, though I did have to run after her with her purse.'

"How silly of me to leave my wealth!" she said. "Thank you, Hilda, you are a jewel." She does have awful sweet ways.

"Well, the more I got to thinking about it, the more afraid I was they wouldn't do anything about that roof, so when I was out to market I just stepped round to see Jake's brother, who is a carpenter, and he come home with me and fixed it."

"Just before dinner Mrs. May come running into the kitchen, saying: 'I wanted to tell you, Hilda, that Mr. May got tickets for this afternoon and we saw the "Lost Princess" after all. Isn't it a fine play?' Before I could answer Mr. May come to the kitchen door and says: 'Hilda, don't you let Jake carry you off the way the princess was, for we couldn't find another princess like you.'

"I guess there's no danger," I answered as I took up the mashed potatoes. 'I'm glad you got in before the rain, Mrs. May.'

"Why, is it raining? Oh, Billy, you didn't see about that roofing?"

"That's so, you didn't, Maymie, Well, aren't you the limit!" Then they both laughed. 'Hilda,' said Mrs. May, 'just put a tub under the leak and I—'

"It's not necessary," I said, real stiff. 'I had that roof mended before noon today.'

"Well, you are a brick," said Mr. May. 'Then Mrs. May came up behind me and gave me such a squeeze that I spilled all the gravy I was taking up on to the stove and they both laughed again.'

"You can see yourself, ma'am, that no matter what I was offered I wouldn't feel it hardly safe to leave such awful cheerful people as them to some one who wasn't used to their ways."

Wheat.

The estimated consumption of wheat in this country for the present year is about six bushels per capita. At the present rate of increase, it will be seven bushels about the year 1940.

Where He Lives.

"He lives on Main street, doesn't he?"

"No, he just lives in Texas now; he has got an auto since you saw him last."

Important Happenings.

Young Father—My dear, today a movement has started which is going to revolutionize popular government.
Young Wife—Yes, darling, and today baby for the first time said "Mam-mam."

Kindness to Dumb Animals.

"Justin," said Mrs. Wyas.
"Yes," replied Mr. Wyas.
"Will you speak a kind word to Fido and make him wag his tail? He hasn't had one bit of exercise all day."

MAKE UP YOUR MIND.

If you'll make up your mind to be contented with your lot And with the optimistic agree That trouble's soon forgot,
You'll be surprised to find, I guess, Despite misfortune's darts, What constant springs of happiness Lie hid in human hearts.

What sunny gleams and golden dreams The passing years unfold, How soft and warm the twilight beams When you are growing old.

Getting Shot.

The smart man burst into the room. "Hear the news about Dickenson getting shot?" he roared, red with excitement.
Club members dropped their papers and sprang suddenly to life.

"No!" they cried. "When?"
"Bout half an hour ago!" gasped the smart man. "I was there and saw it!"
"Where did he get shot?" broke in another.

"Down at the ironmonger's!" chuckled the smart man, slipping into the best chair. "He bought two pounds of it!"

Quite Impossible.

"Are the Smith-Joneses here?" asked Mrs. Snobblington of St. Peter, at the gate of heaven.
"No," answered the saint.
"In that case, my dear," said Mrs. Snobblington to her husband, who was meekly standing in the rear, "I shall not think of applying for admittance. The society here is evidently not composed of the smartest people."

Natural Inference.

Gyer—I guess there isn't much demand for flying machines.
Myer—Why do you think there isn't?
Gyer—I haven't heard of any trust clamoring to have them protected by a duty of a couple of hundred per cent.

Reason for a Grouch.

Brown—What have you got against that man Smith? He has done several good things.
Jones—Yes, but I happened to be one of them.—Smart Set.

THE GIRAFFE.

Mollie—What a job his nurse must have washing his neck.
Lydia—Yes, but what a treat to be able to reach the jam out of the cupboard without having to get a chair.

Occupied.

You never heard a fellow whine Or life belittle, Who has a handy wedge of pine To whittle.

A Masterpiece.

"That was a mighty good poem you had in the Millennial Magazine last month."
"I am glad you think well of it."
"Yes, I read it through three times and I haven't found out yet what you were driving at."

Easily Elated.

"Upperton is the sort of fellow who gets a great deal out of life."
"Yes."
"When he wins two cigars on a tobaccoist's wheel he struts as much as if he had broken the bank at Monte Carlo."

Bags and Bags.

"Do you believe there is any money in moving pictures?"
"There was in the moving picture I saw yesterday."
"What was it about?"
"All Baba and the Forty Thieves."

Nerve.

Lady—Why do you give me this bit of paper?
Tramp—Madam, I do not like to criticize your soup, but it is not like mother used to make. Allow me to give you her recipe.

What She Would Do.

"If you and I," he suggested, "were cast away together on a desert island, what is the first thing you would do?"
"Give up hoping," she replied with a yawn, "that you might want to catch the next car."

An Anomaly.

"The British police authorities are confronted with an etymological difficulty with the suffragettes."
"What is that?"
"When they arrest them, they don't stop them."

An Authority.

"Do men like blonde hair or brown best?"
"Ask your friend Emmy. She was once blonde, then brunette and now her hair is coal black. She ought to know."

Not Complimentary.

Aviator (to workman who has rescued him from the sea)—Ah, my preserver, my good preserver!
Workman (deflected)—Stow it, guv'nor. Don't chaff a feller just because he works in a jam factory.

ADVICE TO JOHN

Even you, John, should have learned long before this that your most foolish foolishness is to act the way you do when you feel like criticizing your wife as a housekeeper. If you really desire better conditions and a happy home, instead of tears and divorce proceedings, there is a better way.

It has been your custom, you know, when you saw dust on the center table, to quietly and not unceremoniously stick your forefinger into it, then look at the finger with an air of patient martyrdom, wipe it carefully on your handkerchief and then use the handkerchief as a dust rag. When you have accidentally discovered that sweepings have been left under the davenport, you have without comment, and almost secretly, gotten the dust pan and broom and swept up the litter, giving Mrs. John only the barest hint of what you have been doing by asking her what to do with the painful of trash. When you have come home to a slipshod and unappetizing dinner, with accompaniment of spotted napery, you have merely been moodily disagreeable, really unconscious of the look of holy resignation you are wearing. And all the while, when your wife has been sneaking away to sniff and sob out her indignation and aggression, you have flattered yourself with the unctuous thought that less patient men would have said withering things or wrangled under such circumstances.

It would be much better, John, for you to throw china and wash furniture. But this is the best plan of all: If one of these annoyances turns up tomorrow, overlook it as entirely as if your wife, over her employer's wife, and you were dining with said employer to talk over an increase in your salary. Put on your society manner. Not only try to be gallant but try to be fascinating. It will be hard for you, John, but try. Be as complimentary as you can without showing you have something up your sleeve. You must be that way at least one whole day before attempting to apply the remedy.

If the other annoyances come up next day, continue to play your part. You must not even whisper to your inner consciousness the sarcastic excuse that modern housewives are often compelled to neglect household duties of shopping, paying calls, shopping, attending bridge parties, shopping, going to matinees or shopping. At lunch, particularly, be a paragon of gallantry and thoughtful courtesy, and take reluctant and affectionate leave of your wife before going back to the office.

As soon as you get back to the office send her this note by messenger: Dear Trix: The home atmosphere so took possession of me at lunch that I forgot all about the office, and, incidentally, about Tumpkins. You know, the Tumpkinses, poor things, haven't any perfect home life like ours—yours. Poor old Tump was complaining about their miserable condition today, and I felt so sorry for 'em I wanted to give 'em a real treat in a homey home like ours, with one of those jolly little dinners you are so good at getting up, so I invited 'em out for this evening. Sorry I forgot to tell you before, dearest, but I know my little owney own will fix things just right. Your loving—Jack.

You will go home early that night, and when you open your door you will think you have gotten into the wrong house. It will be the brightest, coziest, most orderly house you ever saw. You will find your wife in the kitchen "Oh, dearie," you must exclaim, "everything is beautiful, exquisite, perfect! But you shouldn't have gone to so much trouble for just the Tumps."

"Why, John," she will say; "don't you know Mrs. T— is the spitefullest, most critical old cat in the world?"
Continue to be exclaimatory enthusiastic until the Tumpses arrive. By that time Mrs. John will be flushed with pleasure and look unusually pretty.

For a week after this event you can keep telling her how proud you were at the flattering things Tumps said up at the office. And you must be appreciatively complimentary of her efforts to follow up this success. Then, by the time the Tumpkinses or other friends have dined with you five times, you will be able to tell Mrs. John, in all sincerity, how happy it makes you to know you can invite a friend home at any time, without any warning, knowing he will find a well-ordered house and a good, though simple dinner.

A pat on the back beats a slap on the wrist from here to Texas, John.

A Safe Bet.

The small boy came home at night and claimed his father's attention.
"Dad," he said, "I made a lecture bet yesterday—a real bet—with Johnnie Morris."
Papa shook his head reprovingly, but was inwardly delighted at this evidence of sporting blood.

"How much did you bet?" he demanded.
"I bet a nickel on Harding."
"Why, then you lost?"
"I know it. But I don't care."
"Why don't you care?"
The youngster grinned.
"Cause I ain't going to pay till Johnnie asks me for it—and he don't dare ask me 'cause he knows I'll knock the stuffs out of him if he does!"

Would Avoid Him.

Slopay—Here comes a man I don't care to meet. Let's cross over.
DeLong—Why don't you care to meet him?
Slopay—He has a mania for collecting bills.

Not So Long as He Had Thought.
"Metals have been used for 5,000 years."
"Judging from some of the cutlery in our boarding house I should have thought they had been in use longer than that."

A Spruce.

"Well, how was the turkey at your house?"
"Turkey? Huh! We had bacon."

NOT VERY FRIENDLY

Pat—Is Kelly a friend of yours?
Mike—He is not—but last time I licked him he refused to shake hands!

ANY PORT IN A STORM.

The Old-Time Yachtsman—The worst experience I ever had was when we ran out of port in a gale of wind.
The Amateur Yachtsman—Gee! I thought sailors always drank rum!

HE WAS DOWN ON BARBERS.

"What are relics of barbarism, pa?"
"Something you won't have if you shave yourself."

CERTAINLY WAS MEAN

Baby Mosquito—Oh! ma! Brother's just too mean for anything!
Mother Mosquito—What's the matter?
Baby Mosquito—Why, he's found a hole in the mosquito netting over that baby, and he won't tell me where it is.

NOT ENCOURAGING.

Eastern dentist—I suppose it would keep a man busy out here drawing teeth?
Amber Pete—Not half as much as it would drawing a gun.

A Word of Warning.

Pause ere you promise to be his wife, Oh, innocent, trusting maid! Perchance you may have to keep his life insurance assessments paid.

An Exception.

"An ill wind blows nobody good."
"I am sure the doctors wouldn't agree to that about an ill wind."

OLD-FASHIONED WINTER.

Same old snowstorm
Pull of wrath;
Same old snowdrifts
To the path.
Same old shovel
For the work;
Same old leader
Wants to talk.
Same old pavement
Smooth as ice;
Same old slip-up
In a trice;
Same old tumble
Fit to kill;
Same old sarcasm—
Same old bill.
Same old zero
Stubbling round;
Same old four front
On the ground;
Same old blizzard
Fierce and cold;
Same old winter—
Mighty cold.

Reopened Wounds.

"She was disappointed and heart-broken when she got the news of his death 'way up there in the wilds of Alaska."
"She must have been."
"The life insurance company, however, paid the amount of his insurance promptly."
"But her husband proved to be alive?"
"Yes, he came back before she had a chance to spend the money and she was disappointed and broken-hearted all over again."

YOUTHFUL DEFINITION.

"What's the horizon for, Willie?"
"Why—er—the horizon keeps the sea from sloppin' over into the sky."

Words I Have Met.

I'm sort of stuck on "recherche." It is a noble word and great. You must pronounce it "reess-shay." And push down on the ultimate.

A Consistent Prophet.

There had been a prolonged dry spell.
"It will rain every day for two weeks," said Jones.
"I don't believe it," retorted Smith.
"Well," said Jones, "I'm willing to borrow your umbrella as a guaranty of good faith."

Accident to Grouchy.

"Well, that's the last of Grouchy! Some one of us must go to break the news to his family."
"I'll go."
"Now, don't be too sudden with it."
"Aw, don't be silly, joy seldom kills."

Ring Methods.

Ella—Has Fred called on you with in the last day or two?
Stella—Yes; but why do you ask?
Ella—He told me only a few days ago that I was the only girl that he had ever kissed, and I told him to go and get a reputation.—Puck.

DISCRIMINATING.

Pete—Don't you think it is disgraceful to go to jail?
Tim—Dat depends on what jail you pick out. Some jails is right luxurious.

The Shy Boarder.

If landladies served flying fish, I do believe, by Jingo, That every time they'd press the dish 'D surely get a wing!

What Did She Do?

"And this place is called 'Lovers Leap.'"
"Why is it called that, there's nothing to leap from."
"See that red ant heap? He sat on it."

A Practical Proof.

Suffragist—Do you really think womankind ought to be restricted in her movements?
Conservative—But, my dear ma'am, look what she is doing herself with the new hobble skirt.

Suitable.

Lady Shopper—I am looking for a suitable Christmas present for a gentleman.
Clerk—What is your friend's occupation?
Lady Shopper—He is an undertaker.
Clerk—An undertaker. Let me show you a nice berry set.

Perfect Agreement.

The contributor wrote: "The enclosed are original and have never been published."
The editor answered: "I can quite believe it."—Lippincott's.

SAW TOO MANY.

Wife—Aren't you ashamed to come home in this condition?
Husband—Yeah, my dear—I can't see so many of you I feel like a b—bigamish!

THEIR WAY.

The Tenderfoot—What verdict did the coroner's jury render in the case of that lynching?
Alkali Ike—Solecide. He should have known that stealin' a horse out here would prove fatal.

RUNNING DOWN HILL.

First Baby—You look below par.
Second Baby—Yes, I haven't absorbed an unfriendly germ for so long now that I'm losing all power of resistance.

MUSEUM REPARTEE.

The Bearded Lady—I wonder why the snake charmer married that contortionist?
The Fat Boy—I suppose she thought he was a man she could wind around her little finger.

SOMETHING NEW FOR HIM.

Eye—Adam, you act queerly.
Adam—Well, you know I'm not used to ladies' society.

Her Fault, Anyhow.

"Norah, I hate to do it, but you are bred. That breakfast was the last straw!"
"But it was the missus cooked the breakfast, sor!"
"I know it, and didn't I tell you never to let her in the kitchen?"

Just Wishing.

"What's the matter, parson?"
"I was just wishing that people would struggle to get into heaven like they struggle to get into society."

MERITS OF THE CONSTITUTION.

posed constitution, I think that any one who examines Article 4, entitled Legislative Department, will agree with me that it is difficult to conceive of more complete safeguard against oppressive legislation.

Judges and Their Salary.
"As to the bad that there is in the constitution, I have in the endeavor to find whether there was sufficient of this to make the instrument unworthy of support, carefully considered the objections made by the recent Democratic convention and also with characteristic eloquence urged by Mr. Ferguson. Among the objections is the number of district judges and the size of their salaries. I speak of these two objections especially because of some familiarity with the subject. I do not believe, considering the great distances in our Territory, the present amount of litigation, the prospects of increasing property interests and population that eight trial judges are too many. Take the county of Chaves, for example. During the first eleven years of its history (up to 1902) the total number of civil cases filed in that county was less than 500. During the eleven years since 1902, the number of civil cases has been about 1500. I dare say that with statehood the next seven years will see 3,000 filed. This condition is typical of the rest of the Territory and shows the wisdom of the convention in anticipating and providing for such an increase of business. I can hardly view as serious the claim that the judicial salaries are excessive. The present salary of our judges, drawn in part from the territorial treasury, is five thousand dollars each. I violate no confidence in saying that with traveling expenses to pay and other special demands which the holding of a high office imposes upon an incumbent, it is impossible to do more than pay expenses upon this judicial income. The theory of our government ought to be to draw to our bench men still in the vigor of manhood, who can handle the business with promptness and with firm mental grasp. Such men, out of office, would be laying aside something for old age. I do not believe the constitution should be criticized even if it allowed the judges a similar seat margin.

Substance and Shadow.
"But, perhaps, the most violent attacks upon the proposed constitution come from those who believe there are good things which might have been in it but have been omitted and that therefore the constitution must be rejected. Favoring statehood, conceding that the document has much good in it, they would indefinitely postpone statehood, they would meanly deny us the benefits which the constitution confessedly does embody in order that by delay we may possibly at some favorable date in the future secure benefits which it does not embody. I can not but believe this position illogical and ill advised. It strips the substance in seeking the shadow. It postpones a condition that all want and that we can attain because we cannot just at this time get a little more. It says we shall not take a step forward because we cannot take two.

Prohibition.
"I leave to the others who have dealt with the subject the application of this character of logic to the omission from the constitution of the initiative and the recall. There is no subject however, upon which I feel privileged to speak and that is the opposition to the constitution from territorial friends of prohibition because of the failure of the constitution to submit as part of the constitution the issue of state-wide prohibition. I feel that I feel privileged to speak upon this point because I live in the Pecos valley section which is practically prohibition territory already by virtue of municipal ordinances, because I have by public and private utterance sought to aid in bringing about these results at home and abroad while the constitutional convention was in session. I was one of those who wrote urging upon the convention the submission of the prohibition issue. But the convention decided otherwise. If called together again I believe it would just now reach the same conclusion. I cannot believe that the Anti-Saloon League should be aiding to defeat the constitution since upon the cause of temperance the partial burden for such a result. The temperance sentiment in our territory is growing. The experience of the Pecos valley is in my judgment daily demonstrating not only that the absence of saloons is a benefit but that laws to that end can be enforced. With this sentiment growing, the people of the new state will before long have the opportunity to vote upon the issue. When that time comes it will be the duty of all to do with the matter calmly but courageously. Members, I cannot feel that we should refuse to erect the barrier because we cannot just yet keep all the rooms in it. We should like to have. There can be added later. I believe that this view will in dealing with this matter prevail with the large body of our people who will regard prohibitionists are first of all progressive and patriotic citizens."

Pecos Valley for the Constitution.
Asked as to the condition of public sentiment regarding the proposition in eastern New Mexico, Judge Pope said:
"I think that the constitution will have a heavy majority in the Pecos valley. In Chaves and Eddy counties, I believe ninety per cent of those who vote will favor it. The only source of danger lies in a failure to get out the votes. A series of meetings bringing before the people the merits of the instrument would do much to overcome an existing apathy. I believe meetings of this kind are being planned with such speakers as C. R. Brice, G. A. Richardson, and K. K. Scott. There is a very general desire over there to hear H. M. Dougherty and other leaders from this part of the territory who aided in the formation of the document. In Curry and Roosevelt counties, the conditions immediately following the convention were unfavorable to the constitution. One or more delegates from each of these counties returned home actively opposing it. I find, however, that there has been a distinct change in the tide. At Clovis, the people realize that adopting the constitution means that their splendid young city will become one of the great gateways of the new state and will soon reach the ten thousand mark in population. At Portales, likewise, it is realized that statehood means new capital and more people. These last to a town which has within the last year put a half million dollars into a pumping plant and other public improvements are no small considerations. I am of the opinion that by election day, both Roosevelt and Curry counties will be in line with substantial majorities."

CUT RATES IN PATENT MEDICINES.
Furthermore, it was contended that the medicines embodied trade secrets and from the very nature of the articles the owner of the secrets was entitled to a monopoly therein.
In the brief prepared by Mr. Parker and Mr. Shroder it was argued that the courts could not insure an unnecessary monopoly in proprietary medicines. It was argued that the manufacturer was asking for a protection granted only to patented articles, without subscribing to the condition imposed upon patented articles, namely that they will become available to the public after a few years. Extended arguments were presented in the brief to show that the contracts violated the common law and the Sherman act.

ENORMOUS SUMS SET ASIDE FOR DIVIDENDS.
But Almost One Half Goes to Stockholders of Steel Trust, Safety Appliance Laws.

Chicago, Jan. 4.—The small representation of the West among the giant corporations whose New Year's dividend disbursements totaled $227,000,000 as against $200,000,000 last year was a striking anomaly, for the increase of dividends was due to the nine billion dollar crop. The "organizing" of one industry after another has taken away from Chicago the headquarters of many which nevertheless center in Chicago. The big packing concerns, chronically under federal indictment, comprise the one big independent and typically western industry not removed to Wall street. The annual reports of many companies explained the reason for the combinations of "high finance." Earnings, not upon the new capitalization but upon the gross business of the year, are significant. The United States Steel Corporation, headed by an ex-Chicagoan, Judge Gary, alone will pay dividends of $107,773,099 and 1910 its net earnings were $121,491,413 on a gross business for the year of $646,382,251, this being a margin of profit of over 20 per cent on the business done. The International Harvester Company, since the western harvester concerns were combined, has done an annual gross business of less than $60,000,000 on which the margin of profits has been steadily increasing from 10 per cent in 1905 to 40 per cent for the last year. The margin of 2.33 per cent on a gross business of $250,000,000 shown by the Armour & Company annual report is a decided and perhaps significant contrast to these figures. For 1909 the Swift & Company margin on turnover was less than two per cent. The profits of the big trusts suggest how great must have been the pressure upon the packers to join the Wall street contingent. The high prices of steel are included among reasons advanced for an increase of freight rates upon commodities in general use. To maintain steel prices the mills are now generally shut down causing the idleness of thousands of workmen east and west.

Toward reduction of the country's waste of life and limb in railway and industrial operations, which the League for Public Safety in Chicago declares to be possible, more active attention by state railroad commissions is being given this winter than ever before, according to bulletins of the League. The recent report of the Interstate Commerce Commission for the last year showing an increase of deaths of passengers in train accidents from 131 in 1909 to 227 in 1910 and of the total number of deaths on the railroads (passengers and employes) from 2791 to 3268 showed how imperative is the need for action. In New York state the upstate public service commission has called a conference January 19 of interurban railway officials to discuss measures of safety in operation. In Indiana for two years the railroad commission has given unusually earnest attention to the matter of safety, recent disasters being attributed to disobedience of orders and the lack of safety signals and appliances. In Illinois the commission has investigated safety devices quite exhaustively. The law creating the Illinois commission was enacted years before electric roads were dreamed of and legislation was urged during the next legislative session to give the commission more authority to protect the public by compelling roads to properly equip themselves. For years the electric roads and the signal companies have dictated what should be done in the way of safeguarding travel and both were disposed to ignore any considerations other than their own wishes. The signal companies have been especially arrogant.

BRILLIANT WEDDING AT ST. JOHN'S M. E. CHURCH.
Miss Harrison and Attorney Dunlavy Were Married By the Rev. E. C. Anderson This Afternoon.
A brilliant wedding ceremony took place at 4 o'clock this afternoon when Miss Genevieve Bernice Harrison, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. O. Harrison, was married to Attorney Melvin T. Dunlavy of this city. Both are well known and popular in Santa Fe society and the wedding excited unusual interest. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. C. Anderson of Las Vegas, formerly of this city, assisted by the Rev. E. F. Summers of this city, at St. John's Methodist Episcopal church.
The bride was attired in a princess gown of white messaline over white taffeta, and wore a white veil fastened with a wreath of white roses and lillies of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lillies of the valley. The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Nellie Harrison, who recently attracted much attention by winning the interscholastic oratorical medal. She was dressed in a gown of yellow crepe de chine and wore hat and gloves to match. She carried a shower bouquet of yellow roses.
Harry Dowman, law partner of the bridegroom, was the best man. The ushers were Clarence Pierce, Donald Vickroy, Frank Butt and Vere Boyle. The ring bearer was Miss Imogene Miller, who looked very graceful and pretty.
During the wedding ceremony, a suitable musical program was rendered by Miss Maud Hancock, organist, and Mrs. V. L. Dean, violinist.
Following the wedding a reception was tendered the bridal party at the home of the bride's parents on East Palace avenue. The dining room was attractively decorated a huge floral bell to which yellow ribbons were run from the corners of the table, lending the "merry as a wedding bell" touch to the scene. The color scheme of the decorations was yellow and white.
Mr. and Mrs. Dunlavy will leave this evening on a wedding journey to Denver, and on their return here they will reside at their new home on New York avenue.
Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Wilbur Dunlavy of Willard; Mr. and Mrs. Preston Dunlavy of Mountainair and Harry Bowman of Clovis.
