(From The Country Gentleman)

There is an old saying that a man without a plan is like a ship without a rudder. It is so with a gardener. CHOOSING THE VARIETIES OF FRUIT TREES ADAPTED TO CERTAIN SOILS

Prof. T. R. Day Gives Sound Advice as to Methods of Planting, Care, Pruning, and Irrigation. Much Harm Done by Incorrect Tillage.

In the selection of a suitable plot for an orchard, the kind or kinds of fruits to be grown, should be considered. For peaches, apricots, plums, cherries, the lighter sandy or mixed soils underlaid with a clay or pervious subsoil will give the best results.

Another Editor

Having selected your location, the next thing in order is the preliminary preparation. If the plot has been under cultivation for a season or longer, and has had one or more plowings, and is clean of stubbles, about the only thing necessary is to put on a thorough mulch by using a disc harrow, followed with a drag, or Aeneas harrow.

EASY MEND

(Greatest Little Invention Of Age)

EASY-MEND RIVETS are the invention of a practical tinsmith and hardware man of 28 years in the business. These Rivets are the result of much study and experimenting on his part. To get something that would MEND GRANITE, AGATE, TIN, ENAMEL and KITCHEN WARE, ALUMINUM, COPPER and SHEET IRON, and yet be so simple that any one could see at a glance its usefulness, simplicity and inexpensiveness. "Easy Rivets" are composed of a blending of metals. They are made into rivet form as convenient mender. Useful and handy for the well to do, and within reach of the poorest, and neither of the above would be without Easy Mends for five times what we ask for, after seeing them demonstrated. "Easy Mend" Rivets are just what you have been looking for. Thousands of pieces of granite ware have been thrown away with holes in them, for you did not know they could be fixed. Simple. Just put a Rivet in the hole and hammer it down. Any child can use "Easy Mends."

NO HEATING REQUIRED. A perfect little mender at practically one (1c.) cent a mend. WILL NOT MELT OUT. IMPERVIOUS TO FOOD ACIDS. J. P. Morgan said "Only the poor disdain the small economics." He saved half sheets of letter paper, though he was worth millions. Show your thrift by using Ready-Mends. By a special contract with the inventor of Easy-Mends THE GRAPHIC HAS PURCHASED A LARGE SUPPLY AT A VERY LOW FIGURE in order to introduce them in this section.

THE DEMING GRAPHIC

SOLVING THE QUESTION OF MARKETING

The many difficult and complex problems that must be solved before present waste and loss in getting food from the producer to the consumer can be avoided were discussed in detail recently by representatives of the Department of Agriculture.

David F. Houston, Secretary of Agriculture, opened the discussion by pointing out that it is difficult to decide whether the problems of production or of distribution are the more difficult, although in his opinion those of distribution are at the present time the most urgent. In many communities, further production, he stated, is discouraged by reason of the fact that the product can not easily be marketed or because they are marketed at a loss. Farmers send commodities by consignment to certain central markets and instead of securing a profit on the shipment find they are compelled to send checks to cover the expense. In many cases, Secretary Houston stated, products are sent out rather blindly to great distributing centers and then not infrequently are sent back over the same route to markets which need them. One of the great problems, he stated, was to assist groups of producers to find the best nearby local markets. This among other things would greatly relieve transportation agencies which undoubtedly are now unnecessarily taxed by haphazard and chaotic methods of marketing.

Continuing, Secretary Houston said: "There is so much interest so much excitement—that it will be very easy to do things hastily and to go in a wrong direction. Wrong steps will be fatal. They will create lack of confidence and hamper us in attempting to solve our problems.

Unquestionably, we are confronted with great difficulties, but we must overcome them. The farmers must be induced in particular communities to develop staple products, to standardize them, to prepare them properly for market, to study what market to reach at a given time, and the best and most economical method of shipping the product. Nothing less than concerted action will suffice. The individual farmer can not solve the problem. He can not sufficiently control the problem of production or of machinery for marketing or the transportation facilities.

Of course, I am not speaking of concerted action which shall have for its object the establishment of a closed market or the fixing of prices.

I imagine we shall not accept such a principle in agriculture any more than we would in manufacturing. It is as unnecessary as it would be undesirable. I am simply suggesting the introduction of business into farming for pure economic efficiency. The results of this will be beneficial to the producer as well as to the consumer.

We shall act as speedily as possible. We shall zealously undertake to discover all the essential facts. At the earliest possible moment we shall disseminate what information we have, and when the proper time comes shall undertake to make an educational demonstration. In this work, as in other directions, we hope to cooperate with every useful public agency. We are now preparing to undertake cooperation in an experimental way with the Post Office Department. We shall work in as close harmony with the State colleges as possible and shall avail ourselves of all assistance from college departments of marketing and from State marketing bureaus.

SHIPPING IN CARLOAD LOTS. Charles J. Brand, Chief of the Office of Markets, then took up the discussion. "Under the heading of 'Cooperative production and marketing' he said:

There seems to be no question that efficiency in marketing and distribution can be secured only by a method of getting producers together so that they can handle their products in other than fractional lots. They must ship in car lots, practically, to get the advantage of large markets, lower railroad rates, and similar advantages. There is not a great deal of information available at present for groups of producers who wish to get together. For that reason it is necessary to make a study of cooperation as it exists in the United States today, to collect constitution, by-laws, a knowledge of the necessary machinery, and to prepare bulletins which will show producers how they can get together. At present they do not know what they may do and do not know what others have done and are doing. There is a great deal of cooperation in this country but it is scattering. The department therefore, must collect this information and make it available. This must include a study of the methods of accounting and auditing used by organizations which have made the greatest success. The department will go so far as to work out actual forms to be used by these associations. In addition the department is assisting universities and colleges in outlining courses on cooperation and marketing.

Telephone Line Finished

The telephone line between Deming and Columbus has been finished and is in operation under the management of Hugh Ramsey, who was one of the principal promoters. Connections are being made with most of the farmers in the valley between Deming and Columbus and arrangements are being planned to connect with the Mountain States Telephone company which will give subscribers along the line long distance service to El Paso, Santa Fe, Albuquerque, Douglas, and other New Mexico and Arizona points.

WILLIAM BANSEMER BUYS BIG FARM NEAR MIESSE

W. G. Bansemmer of El Paso, representing Sprague-Warner & Co., arrived in the city Saturday. He is proudly showing a letter that he received informing him of his firm making the poor people of Chicago a present, during the recent cold weather, of 36,000 cans of provisions.

Mr. Bansemmer is now one of the leading citizens of the Paso City and was at one time a resident of New Mexico for several years, before he went to Torreon, Mexico, where he was a leading merchant previous to the last revolution. He with Dr. W. R. Jamieson, now residing in El Paso, and Richard Pfeiffer, at present a merchant of Nogales, Ariz., were presented with medals and letters of commendation by the Chinese emperor, for their heroism in saving a large number of Chinese residents from the fury of the mob that sacked the city at the time of the overthrow of Diaz.

Although Mr. Bansemmer is a resident of El Paso, he is well known in Deming and this section of the country and has a 440-acre farm east of the city adjoining the famous Miesse tract, which is being so thoroughly developed. He is also a member of the Deming Chamber of Commerce and a thorough Deming booster.

SOUTHWESTERN DOES GOOD BUSINESS IN NEW MEXICO

Santa Fe.—The El Paso & Southwestern Railroad system, even though it is not a transcontinental line, has been doing a very profitable business in New Mexico, as is apparent from the figures just compiled by the state corporation commission. Next to the Santa Fe it has the greatest mileage in New Mexico, a total of 694.55 miles. Yard and track siding make 124 miles of additional track. The freight revenue last year amounted to $5,174,840.51. The passenger revenue was $1,800,673.06, making a total income of $6,243,739.39. The operating expenses for the same period were only a little more than one-half of that amount, or a total of $3,397,859.52. The taxes paid in New Mexico exceeded one-fourth of a million dollars or a total of $250,012.19. The passengers carried were 201,539, or 26,292,979 carried one mile. The freight carried was 2,779,012 tons, or 609,240,222 tons for one mile. — El Paso Times.

country in following the eastern methods often do more harm than good by ploughing their lands late in the season and failing to follow immediately with a thorough harrowing, conserving the moisture. Our native soils are so fertile that heavy crops may be produced with very little cultivation, if only due consideration is taken to conserve the moisture. But the subject of correct ploughing is of such great importance, if desired, I may contribute a special article on this later.

"In setting an orchard, we should not forget that it is to be a permanent improvement like building a house, and, therefore, it should be well considered and laid out. A well planted orchard is a thing of beauty and should be the pride of its owner and the admiration of all who see it. Line your plot and place stakes at the places for the trees. Unless it is found necessary to blast the holes, they should not be made until ready to set the trees, let the digging and setting go on together. If the holes are made too long beforehand, much moisture will be lost. In well adapted soil, it will not be necessary to make the holes any larger or deeper than necessary to accommodate the trees, after a thorough pruning of the roots usually about eighteen inches in diameter and deep enough only to let the tree into the ground about four inches deeper than it stood in the nursery. There is practically no advantage in larger holes, and when made, the loose earth is thoroughly packed back on to the roots, heavy losses may result from drying out.

"Upon receiving your trees, heel them out as quickly as possible, and take them up only as you set them. Be careful to prevent the drying out of the roots. Many trees are lost by neglect in this particular. When the hole is ready, take the tree, investing some, and cut the principal roots from the underside to about five to six inches. Cut out all the small or hairlike roots. Put in a shovel of moist top soil and place the tree, fill about half water and best soil, packing around the roots thoroughly with the hands. If it is a good season, no water will be needed, but if the soil is dry, put in sufficient water to settle the dirt. Now fill with good top soil, and pack well to the top, leaving a good, dry mulch over the top. The ordinary soil is sufficient for trees. Never use barnyard manure, or other fertilizers on young trees, and raw manures never, except thrown upon the surface, in limited quantities, as a mulch. I have seen many young orchards killed by the use of raw manures.

"After setting a row, or you may wait until the setting is all done, cut the trees to a uniform height of not over eighteen inches for apples, and pears, peaches, and plums, may be cut lower. Standing by the tree, and lean it a little to the southwest, or the direction of the prevailing wind, or the direction of the prevailing. Very little of pruning should be done during the first season's growth. The young tree will do best, if all its limbs and leaves are left for the first year. Careful attention and thorough cultivation will be all that is required until the beginning of the second year.

"The number of trees to be used to the acre depends upon the kinds, and the conditions. Apples require the most room, and pears, peaches, plums, and etc., the least room. Apples, if planted alone, should be placed from twenty-four to thirty feet apart, but a better way is to plant them twenty-five to thirty feet, using an equal number of peaches, and plums as fillers. The tillers will pay for the cost of the entire orchard before the apples come into bearing. By this method, about 140 trees will be needed to the acre. With pears, dwarfs, may be used in the same manner as fillers, or placed in the rows, and require 200, 100 of each to the acre. Good yearling, or medium size two-year-old trees should be used. Examine your stock before receiving it to see that your trees are in good condition and free from all diseases."

Editor's Note. The next interview will deal with the subject of pruning and suitable crops for the orchard.

Control of the Woolly Apple-Aphis

The Woolly Aphis is recognized by the white, mold-like covering of its body. Above ground these insects damage young twigs and water sprouts principally. Below ground they puncture the roots and cause swelling to appear. The root form is active nearly all the year and so does the most damage; the aerial form is injurious only in summer. The young are born alive, so reproduction is very rapid.

Control:—From the roots of all trees to be planted dislodge the soil and examine for the aphides. Do not plant trees heavily infested. Otherwise dip the infested roots in hot water (130 degrees to 150 degrees F.), or in equally hot, strong soap suds.

The aerial form may be killed by a thorough wetting spray of about seven per cent kerosene emulsion, whale oil soap (one pound to six gallons), or commercial tobacco extracts. Lime-sulphur as used for a winter spray will kill the overwintering forms above ground. On trees with roots known to be infested, banding the trunks with tanglefoot will lessen considerably the root to top migration for it is only the wingless form that comes up from the root.

To control the root form remove the soil from about the roots to a depth of six to ten inches in a circle four to eight feet in diameter about the trunk. Apply ten per cent kerosene emulsion, tobacco extract (commercial or homemade), thoroughly wetting the soil, or a liberal amount of tobacco leaves or dust. Replace the removed soil.

A vigorous tree is more apt to resist the attack of the aphid. Young trees and trees poorly cared for are most subject to attack. Keep the tree thrifty. Since the aphides migrate from the roots through cracks in the soil and spread along roots along cracks, thorough cultivation of the soil about the tree will close the cracks and check the spread. Again, the surface roots are the ones worst affected. The cultivation will tear up the non-desirable surface roots and take the aphides with them, at the same time making the tree root deeper.

The infestation seems to be less severe in sandy soil. Replacing the heavier soil with sand for a short distance about the trunk would provide a non-ravelling cover over the root—most readily affected and less on the root to trunk migration.

Northern Spy roots are held to be resistant to the aphid and may be used with success in the control of this pest.

DEMING, NEW MEXICO, FEBRUARY 20, 1914

COMMERCIAL DEVELOPMENT

Deming is about to enter upon an era of unparalleled commercial development. This aside from the wonderful agricultural activity which goes on at an ever accelerated pace. Deming has all the advantages which tradesmen, manufacturers, and distributors seek. The railroads have marked Deming as the greatest rail center of New Mexico, and blessed it with a trade territory in Luna, Grant, and Sierra counties containing mining properties entirely dependent on what is brought in by the railroads radiating from Deming.

Distant centers have been able to enter this field in the past to the exclusion of local enterprise, owing to discriminatory freight rates, but with the advent of statehood has come the sovereign right of New Mexico citizens to demand and get a "square deal." Freight rates will be adjusted, whether higher or lower makes little difference so that points outside New Mexico are deprived of the preference in this territory they now enjoy. The matter is now in the hands of the inter-state commerce commission and a readjustment must come.

With the obtaining of a "common point" will grow up great distributing houses which will levy tribute on the vast mining and cattle districts which surrounds the oasis called the Mimbres Valley. With the increase of trade will come financial supremacy, and a fourth bank is now being organized here to take advantage of an enlarged field of activity.

At the present time there are half a dozen enterprises on the verge of entering this field, some in fact have decided definitely to do so, and others will materialize as the territory develops. The building of a $20,000 bank building and a $100,000 hotel, both by local capital, shows that Deming citizens are alive to the possibilities and are not going to allow outsiders to gain all the advantages. The construction of another ice plant and cold storage warehouse fills the need of Mimbres Valley farmers who have had no adequate facilities for handling their perishable crops.

When the Phelps-Dodge interests extended the El Paso and Southwestern lines to Leopold from Whitewater, the Mogollon region was opened up and made tributary to Deming, instead of to Silver City as heretofore. For years the same interests have had a route surveyed into the great coal fields to the north from the Burro mountains. This will be a very expensive line to build, but after expending $6,000,000 taking over the copper claims of the Burro district, it is not likely that they will long delay. When the copper camp has been fully developed, the company will use cheap fuel. The great and virgin coal fields await the railroad. This will mean that the property owned by the company near Deming, will become the site for a smelter, general offices, as well as a division point for the El Paso and Southwestern railroad.

Deming is now a freight terminal for the Southern Pacific railroad, and will be made a passenger division just as soon as the northern route in Arizona is completed. This will be soon judging from the appropriations made recently for extension by the company.

The greatest cattle industry of the state is in Grant, Luna, and Sierra counties, and the cattlemen make Deming their center. The mining industry of this region is the most productive of the state. Then there is the farms of Deming, located in the center of this vast and rich territory. They are the only farms in this region and their owners have the opportunity of supplying the non-producers engaged in other lines of activity.

With the coming of the New Year there has been renewed interest in this section as to credit conditions. A new and rapidly developing community needs capital and the restriction of credit, which has held the past year, has caused some hardships. Then there has been so many fake irrigation schemes that eastern investors are afraid to put their money into irrigation securities. The large irrigation companies of the Mimbres Valley have little need of additional capital. The Miesse projects are fully financed and the Spalding development is backed by the unlimited means of the sporting goods man. Both projects are too far along to be much affected by the contraction of credit. The individual developer will get the credit only after placing his farm on a paying basis when, indeed, he has little need of it.

That credit is becoming easier in the East, is the news brought by those who have investigated banking conditions there recently. The larger banking institutions are taking to the new currency law, and are recovering, to some extent, from the freight induced by the low tariff adjustment. There is plenty of money on hand and no seeming possibility of a panic. A complete and satisfying resumption of business is optimistically looked forward to by everyone.

The release of credit will mean a more rapid agricultural development here. The cheap land, ideal climate, pure water, All-American citizenship, superior markets, railroad facilities, are bringing large numbers of home-seekers every day. They must come here because there is little opportunity for cheap lands in other sections of the United States. The era of prosperity is dawning.

"LOOKS LIKE A 'FRAME UP'"

Thomas P. Gore, the blind senator of Oklahoma is the defendant in a suit at Oklahoma City for $50,000 damages brought by Mrs. Minnie F. Bond for alleged assault in a Washington hotel. The Senator claims it is all a "frame up" on the part of disappointed office seekers. The reputation of the Senator and the facts so far brought to light would point to blackmail as the motive for the suit. It is highly improbable that a woman could be placed in danger by a blind man, as alleged, except that she created the situation of which she complains. It may not be much trouble for Senator Gore to clear himself of the charge, but the circumstance will never be forgotten by his political enemies.

The proposal to build a $100,000 hotel in Deming will no doubt meet with the hearty approval of the citizens. There is not at the present time adequate or comfortable hotel accommodations in the city. A group of small rooming houses is growing up and the number will increase, making the launching of a larger enterprise difficult. These rooming houses can never, of course, supply the service demanded by the traveling public. A considerable sum toward the new project has already been subscribed, and it seems likely that small investors here will welcome the opportunity to place their money in what is sure to be a good paying proposition. There are several sites open, but it seems likely that the choice of location will fall on the lots at the northwest corner of Pine street and Gold avenue.

The failure of the Bank of San Marcial at San Marcial last week will not involve depositors in loss, according to a report made to the traveling auditor's office.

The Albuquerque Evening Herald has passed into the ownership of George S. Valliant, formerly a publisher of Texarkana, Ark.

Funeral services over the body of Senator Bacon of Georgia were held Wednesday in the Senate chamber.

While attempting to arrest Joe McKinley and Han Holliday Tuesday at a saw mill near Tajuque, sixteen miles west of Estancia, Pe Sedillo and Hurelano Chaves were shot and killed.

An attempt to escape will cost Jose Inez Salazar, the Federal Mexican general confined at Fort Bliss, his life, says General Scott who has ordered the guards to shoot if necessary.

There is a rumor current that Charles Becker, former police lieutenant of New York City and convicted of the Rosenthal murder, is to get a new trial.

Vice-president W. L. Mapother, of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, ejected the investigators of the interstate commerce commission from his office when they attempted to go through the books of the corporation. Then the railroads wonder why the people are "agin" 'em.

President Wilson will veto the Barnett immigration bill if it passes Congress carrying the literacy test. The President does not consider literacy a fair measure of those who seek a home in the United States from places where educational advantages are almost unknown.

The bill to create six vice-admirals has passed the senate and probably will pass the house. The law will come as a fairly reward to those good sea fighters who have upheld the honor of the United States at home and in the ports of the seven seas. The most deserving of the honors have passed to where earthly rewards are little esteemed.

Saturday the rebels cut off the oil supply of Mexico City from Tampico by blowing up a train with the killing of fifty guards and many passengers.

It is reported that the situation at Mexico City is growing hourly more strained, and that the relations between Charge O'Shaughnessy and Huerta are becoming quite unfriendly.

A plot to kill General Villa at Juarez was discovered Tuesday morning. Two men were it is alleged, to receive $50,000 for the job to be done with a high power, contact bomb. The jail is full of suspects as a result, and there will be blood letting as a consequence.

The new militia bill, if passed, will make available almost a quarter of a million men of the National Guard in time of war. There is no reason why the reserve forces of the nation should not be under the absolute control of the War Department. Every able bodied man is a part of the national defense and is subject to military service upon call. Why the National Guard, with its trained and well equipped forces should not yield to the same authority, is hard to see.

Thomas F. Rinkert, acting secretary of the New Mexico Dairyman's Association, has issued a warning to the dairymen of the state. He declares that cows which show reaction from the tuberculin test and that do not show sufficient production in butter fat, are being culled from eastern herds and sold as first-class stock to western purchasers.

Eighteen cavalry horses belonging to Troop F Thirtieth cavalry were stolen from the camp stables at Hermanas Sunday night. It is supposed that a part of the bandit Castillo's band turned the trick and took the mounts back across the line. Lieutenant Chaud Hunt was in command of the detachment. He was stationed here a year ago. A machine gun was stolen last year from the Thirtieth cavalry by Jose Inez Salazar's band at the same place. Somebody probably is due for punishment.

The Mexican bandit Maximo Castillo, who is accused of causing the Cumbre tunnel disaster which cost ten Americans and forty other persons their lives, was taken by United States cavalrymen thirty-eight miles south of Hachita, Thursday. Six of the bandit's followers were also captured and all surrendered without resistance. The prisoners are now at Hachita but will be taken to Fort Bliss. Whether they will be turned over to General Villa or kept prisoners until the end of the war to be turned over to civil authorities of Mexico, remains to be seen. Villa has promised them a public execution at Juarez if turned over to him. It is probable that the bandits placed themselves on American soil to avoid capture by the Constitutionals. The bandit chief seems much disheartened. Having committed no crime in the United States, he has nothing to fear from the American authorities.

"Do It Electrically."

Finger Tip Convenience

ELECTRICITY is the most convenient thing in the world.

JUST THINK!!! With your finger tips you control light, heat and power, and all of their combinations.

Magic it would seem to our forefathers of a hundred years ago. Today 65 per cent. of the population of this country uses it in some form or other every day of their lives.

Manufactured in a generating station probably far from your home or factory, it is brought to your very door on wires, carried here, carried there, carried everywhere, in your home, until today the ELECTRICITY you use is a mere incident in your modern life.

YET, TODAY, THE GREATEST BLESSING WE HAVE AS A NATION IS ELECTRICITY.

By its power we cross miles and miles of country, up hill and down dale, run our mills, factories; vehicles, household machinery, cool heated atmospheres, and operate office appliances.

By its radiation we heat our street cars, our homes and our buildings, cook our foods, weld our metals, melt our waxes and solids, purify our air and water, and use this marvelous current in a thousand one ways.

Its light also gives us the light which makes our night almost day in our homes, our places of business and even our streets. Its light protects us from thieves and thugs and makes our streets safer.

Powerful, silent, imperceptible, this fluid strength exerts its influence as we direct and with unerring accuracy.

LET ITS HANDLING IS SO SIMPLE AND SAFE THAT WE MAY ENTRUST IT WITH OUR CHILDREN.

It is so wonderful we scarce can realize our dependence. It seems so real in its reality. It takes nothing from the air, gives off neither poison or potion; yet it SURPASSES IN EFFICIENCY EVERY KNOWN FUEL, POWER OR SOURCE OF LIGHT.

A woman in her home may toast bread, bake, cook, percolate coffee, operate her sewing machine, the vacuum cleaner, the washing machine, heat or cool her room at any time, curl her hair, dry her hair, heat the water for her bath--these and dozens of other things she can do simply by pressing a button or "twitching a switch."

What a marvelous finger tip convenience electricity is, though everyone does not realize it until brought face to face with facts.

AND THIS GREAT SERVICE IS FURNISHED BY YOUR ELECTRIC LIGHT COMPANY AT A PRICE WITHIN THE RANGE OF EVERY POCKETBOOK--IT IS THE CHEAPEST CONVENIENCE KNOWN TO MAN OR WOMAN. HOW CAN YOU BE WITHOUT IT IN YOUR HOME?

If your house is not wired for electricity consult with any electrical contractor, or with a representative of the Electric Light Company, and reasonable estimates of the cost of installation will be quickly furnished you. You'll be surprised at the low cost.

FOR COMFORT'S SAKE DO IT NOW.

spot we have by proper fertilization and preparation. Eggs, cows, chickens, rabbits and the like are out of place in the garden, and where these are near and numerous enough to cause trouble, a rabbit tight fence surrounding the plot is almost indispensable.

A great help, if not a necessity, in intelligent planning is the drawing of a map or diagram, to scale, of the garden to be. The suburbanite's diagram had better show not only the plot allowed for the vegetable garden but all the rest of his place as well. To realize completely the amount of space he has at his disposal he should locate and draw with accuracy the outlines of the areas occupied by all the permanent features of his domain--the house, lawn, walks, outbuildings and trees--labeling each. The farmer will, of course, show only the garden area.

With the extent and boundaries of the garden determined, the planning of the rows may begin. Show each row on the diagram in the middle of the space which is allotted to it, and if you letter well it is sometimes helpful to print in the names of the crops and the dates of planting.

THREE CROPS A SEASON

A mechanical draftsman's drawing board, T square, triangle and compasses are ideal to work with, but in a pinch we can, by working carefully, get along very nicely with more simple and common tools. The absolute necessities are: A ruler marked to sixteenths of an inch, a large sheet of paper, a hard lead-pencil, an eraser and a smooth, flat surface on which to work. In drawing to scale allow a certain length on the ruler to represent one linear foot in the garden. Say you let one-eighth of an inch represent one foot. Then forty feet would be represented by forty "eighths" or five inches, and half a foot would be represented by a sixteenth of an inch.

No matter what the size of the garden, it is desirable to make the soil produce just as much as possible. There are several practical schemes for securing the proverbial "hundredfold," the most important of which is known as successional cropping. Two and, under certain conditions, three crops may be grown on the same spot in one season. As soon as one crop has matured the next may be planted. Very early radishes, green onions or peas may be followed by beans, sweet corn, peppers or tomatoes. Early potatoes may be succeeded by late cabbage or celery. One need only pay careful attention to dates of sowing and the amount of time required to bring the different crops to maturity to keep the soil occupied at all times.

Two other schemes are known as intercropping and companion cropping. The idea is that of planting quick-maturing vegetables among the slower growers and harvesting them before the space they occupy is needed. Plant radishes, lettuce or onion sets between the rows of muskmelons, tomatoes or any of the slower-growing and wider-spaced crops and you are intercropping. Sow radish seeds among those of the carrot or set cabbage plants among the green onions and you are companion-cropping. The quick growers are soon out of the way and no harm is done to the other crops.

All these schemes lend themselves very readily to the keeping of a continuous supply of certain kinds of vegetables on the table throughout the season. We do not want all our peas or radishes coming on at the same time. We want only enough to mature from day to day and week to week to supply our needs. This state of affairs is arrived at only through repeated plantings of the right plantings of the right varieties at such times as will bring them to the harvesting stage on the proper dates.

Now for a few ideas about grouping and arrangement. These are not hard-and-fast rules, but are offered merely as suggestions, which common sense will adapt to individual conditions. Hotbeds, coldframes, seedbeds and the few perennial vegetables we have, such as rhubarb, asparagus and herbs, should be planted at one end or along one side of the garden where they will not interfere with plowing and working the soil. Crops planted and maturing about the same time should adjoin each other to make planting and cultivation easier. Two or more kinds of vegetables of like requirements may comprise now. Where it is convenient the taller-growing plants should be grouped together, preferably to the north or west of the shorter kinds so they will not shade them. Rotate the crops each year as you would corn or oats.

GARDEN FOR A FAMILY OF FIVE Most gardens are rectangular in shape and it is good policy to run the rows the full length of the garden to save time and bother in frequent turnings at the ends. If the garden is to be large enough for horse cultivation the rows should be further apart than those to be cultivated by hand--not less than thirty or thirty-six inches. Rows running north and south are said to do better because they receive sunlight on both sides of the row. When convenient this is a very good plan.

If there is some variation in the composition of the soil in different parts of the garden the adaptability of the different vegetables to certain kinds of soil will need to be studied. Such crops as celery, onions or late cabbages do well on low, moist soil. Peas like a cold soil. High, dry and warm soil should be planted to the extremely early crops.

Many factors influence the size of garden and the amounts of the different vegetables grown. The space available, the size of the family, the appetites and tastes of the different members, the fertility of the soil, the intensiveness of the gardening scheme and numerous other things enter in. By keeping a record of the garden from year to year one can better arrange and plan as to size and proportion. The farmer with horse cultivation will probably want as much as half an acre fenced in, and will want to grow a main crop of potatoes as well as fruits, and flowers in the inclosure. The suburbanite will, on the other hand, with hand cultivation and the observance of office hours, find a much smaller plot sufficient.

A garden 60 by 100 feet can with intensive culture be made to produce an abundance of vegetables for the average family of five. The following plant scheme for a garden of this size is suggested. The amounts and proportion of the different vegetables may be changed to suit individual tastes, preferences and conditions. The table given will assist in making such changes. Eighteen rows run full length. The spaces allowed for each 100-foot row from 1 to 18 are: 36, 36, 36, 12, 18, 18, 24, 48, 36, 42, 30, 30, 72, 72 and 96 inches respectively.

The rows are planted as follows: Row 1. Twenty-five feet each of asparagus and rhubarb on April 1; 25 feet of lettuce and 25 feet of spinach on March 15, followed on July 1 by 50 feet of late celery. Row 2. One hundred feet early potatoes on March 15, followed by 100 feet of late cabbage on July 15. Row 3. Forty feet of early cabbage, 50 feet of peas and 10 feet of beets on March 15, the peas followed on June 1 by 25 feet of string beans and 25 feet of late carrot and radish seed mixed. Row 4. Fifty feet of cauliflower and 50 feet of early celery on April 1. Row 5. One hundred feet of onion seed on April 15. Row 6. Fifty feet of parsnips and 50 feet of salsify on April 15. Row 7. Forty feet of beets and 25 feet of early carrots on April 1 and 20 feet of kohlrabi and 15 feet of spinach on April 15. The beets and carrots are followed on July 1 by 50 feet of corn; and the carrots, kohlrabi and spinach are followed by 50 feet of peas on April 15, followed by 50 feet of peas, 20 feet of radishes and 30 feet of spinach on September 1.

Row 9. One hundred feet of tomatoes on May 1. Row 10. Fifty feet of peppers, 40 feet of eggplants and 10 feet of Brussels sprouts on May 1. Row 11. One hundred feet of sweet potatoes on May 1. Row 12. Twenty-five feet of string beans, 50 feet of corn and 25 feet of summer squash on May 1, followed by 100 feet of turnips on September 1. Row 13. Twenty-five feet of pole beans, 25 feet of bush lima beans and 50 feet of okra on May 15. Row 14. Fifty feet of corn and 50 feet of June 1. Row 15. Fifty feet of corn and 50 feet of peas on June 15. Row 16. One hundred feet of muskmelons on May 1. Row 17. Forty feet of watermelons and 60 feet of squash on May 15. Rows 2 and 3 plant on March 15 20 feet of lettuce, on April 1 10 feet of lettuce and 20 feet of radishes, and on April 15 20 feet of radishes. Between Rows 15 and 16 plant 50 feet of peas on May 1 and 50 feet of peas on May 15. Between Rows 16 and 17 plant 50 feet of corn on May 15. Between Rows 9 and 10 plant 20 feet of radishes on May 1 and 10 feet of spinach, 20 feet of radishes, 10 feet of lettuce and 25 feet of onion sets and 20 feet of radishes on June 1.

When the garden proper has been diagrammed and schemed to satisfaction we may turn our attention to some other things of close relation. A garden record is a decided advantage. In it an account may be kept of the yields, experiences and mistakes of the season, and when the time comes for the beginning of the next year's cycle the observations of the past are present in black and white to help us plan for future.

A good garden record consists of a blank book of about 100 pages in which the date of planting and all other garden operations may be entered according to the calendar. Such a book should be large enough to hold the record of several seasons, and if each page gives the date of the month a comparative record of garden produce will be available after a year or two which is very suggestive in handling future plantings. All notes concerning varieties planted, amount of seed used, fertilizers, etc., should be carefully recorded. The facts are simple enough to be remembered, but the chances are that by the time the year is past you will need a detailed record to refresh your memory.

Map out a scheme for the hotbed operations and plan to have sturdy plants ready when they are needed. Go over your equipment, making repairs and providing for future needs. The labels, tools, garden lines, flats, hotbed sash, mates and shutters, and numerous other accessories should be put in first-class condition before the rush comes in. Sharpen the lawn-mower, the hoes, the hatchet, the saw and the pruning knives and shears. Be prepared!

Discover Ancient Relics

Mr. Pryor, owner of the NAN outfit, Mr. Green of Santa Rita, and Ray Grayson came over from across the Black Range last Saturday. Not long since Pryor and Ray explored an ancient grave, on the Mimbres, and unearthed many interesting relics. They found between 2,000 and 3,000 beads of various colors, some were made of white ivory, some of black stones, and others from sea shells; they also found some teeth and tusks of prehistoric animals, also human skeletons. They found ancient pottery in abundance among which was an olla and a dipper in excellent state of preservation; the dipper is modeled very closely like many dippers now in use and has a hole through the end of the handle so that it may be hung on the handle so that it may be hung on a peg. Among the skeletons was found the skeleton of a child; on one of the finger bones of this skeleton was found a ring made of various colored beads.--Sierra County Advocate.

FAREWELL PARTY GIVEN TO POPULAR COLUMBUS MAN

Fred H. Pennington, who has been for the past three years, in charge of the Columbus branch of the Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber company, has been transferred to the yard at Deming, and will leave for his new assignment in a few days. While the Columbus people are pleased at Mr. Pennington's promotion, they greatly regret the loss to their community of him and his estimable wife, and as an evidence of their friendship and appreciation of the young couple, on Thursday evening, arranged for a reception and ball in the assembly room of the Bank Building. The affair was under the direct management of a committee composed of Captain Herringshaw, of the 14th Cavalry, Mrs. Hensley, Mrs. Burridge, and Mrs. Pench, and was one of the most successful and enjoyable affairs ever given in the lively little town of southern Luna county. About seventy-five guests were present; the beautiful gowns of the women, many of them made expressly for the occasion, the uniforms of the cavalry officers, and the evening clothes of the civilians were in evidence. Music was furnished by the Thirtieth Cavalry Band, one of the best bands in the army. Delicious refreshments were provided by the committee, and in every detail the affair was perfect. Deming was represented by H. G. Bush, L. J. Pritchett of the Harvey House, R. H. Hughes, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pennington. "Just a Little Farewell Party for Our Good Friends the Fred Penningtons," was the title for the program, and its inception and success was a joy to the guests and a credit to the management.

R. C. Mackley, president of the People's Bank and Trust company of Silver City, stopped over here Monday on his way home from El Paso.

G. A. Gibson of Iola, was a visitor to the city Monday.

Mrs. Agnes Snider and son, Bert, who was called to Silver City to attend the funeral of Mrs. Snider's father, J. C. Meader, stopped over in Deming on her way back to her home in San Diego, California.

Albert E. Beck, business manager of the George Kleine attractions company, was in the city Saturday on a short business visit.

Fred S. Ryan and Clarence Rand passed through here Monday in their Hupmobile on their way to Santa Monica, California, where they will spend a month taking in the coast cities and witnessing the Vanderbilt cup races.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Bresler, formerly of Tusculum, Ala., but now residents of Detroit, Mich., stopped over a short time on their way from Los Angeles to visit their cousin, Sol. Bresler, of Deming.

PROMINENT MINING MAN PAYS RESPECTS TO DEMING

William A. Moses, a capitalist of Los Angeles, Calif., and formerly a leading politician of Colorado, having been sheriff of Pueblo county in that state, arrived in this city Saturday morning. Mr. Moses spent the day looking over Deming and expressed himself as greatly impressed with the city.

He is vice president of the El Tigre Mining company, whose workings are located about fifty miles south and thirty-two miles east of Douglas, Arizona. This company was organized about eight years ago by Mr. Moses and associates and has since proven to be one of the bonanzas of Northern Mexico. The company reports that it has just recently struck a big vein of silver ore.

Mr. Moses was for many years engaged in the wholesale grocery business at Pueblo, Colo., after which he and his brothers were in the grain business at Kansas City, Mo., and Great Bend, Kan., where they have several flour mills.

"I consider New Mexico and Arizona, two of the greatest states in the Union for future developments and offer great inducements in mining and agriculture," said Mr. Moses. "I think Deming affords an excellent field for the establishment of one or two wholesale grocery houses and I intend to acquaint several friends in the East of the advantages offered here."

Mr. Moses left for Colorado Saturday night where he will visit several places and then will go to Kansas City to visit his brothers.

C. H. Lester Goes to Coast

C. H. Lester, familiarly known as the "daddy of the Borderland Automobile Route," left here Sunday afternoon, with his son Roy in his automobile, for Santa Monica, Cal., where he will attend the Vanderbilt cup races there next week.

News of the Mines

The Socorro Mining and Milling company produced eighteen bars of gold and silver bullion during the last fifteen days of January, being valued at about $30,000, and several tons of concentrates valued at fifty cents a pound, were shipped to the smelter.

Equipment consisting of a 25-hp. gasoline engine, a compressor, and machine drills have been bought by the Lincoln Mining and Development company, and have been installed at the company's plant. After the unwatering of the shaft, which is now being done sinking, will be resumed.

A fine body of milling ore has been drilled into by the Precious Metals Mining company, after a year's work being done. An extra crew of fifteen men has been added to the regular working force, who will be put to work putting in winzes and raises as the heading advances.

Extensive development work is being planned by the Alberta Development company as the work already done, has demonstrated the lode to be a valuable one, as there is good mill ore exposed in numerous places.

Work has recently started driving tunnel "A" of the East End Tunnel group, by the Oaks company. A fine body of mill ore has been discovered assaying up to $25 a ton.

The Luna County Medical society met in the office of its president, Dr. P. D. Vickers, last Tuesday night and a most interesting and instructive paper was read by Dr. E. A. Montenyohll, city and county physician. Dr. Montenyohll took for his subject the practice of shockless operations, which is a recent discovery of Dr. George W. Crile, a famous surgeon of Cleveland, Ohio. Dr. Montenyohll recently visited the Crile clinic for the purpose of studying his methods, which are considered a great advance in medical science.

Columbus Couple Wed

The friends of the bride and groom became very suspicious when it became known that Miss Susie Green and Garnet E. Parks departed from Columbus in Mr. Evans' automobile with Deming as their destination. It has since been proven and is not now denied that after a visit to the clerk's office they went to the Methodist parsonage where they were united in marriage by Rev. Morgan. Both the bride and groom are well and favorably known in this community and we believe that all will agree with us in saying "it is well." May they live long, be happy and prosper.—Columbus Courier.

Edward Flynn of the Chino Copper company with his wife, came down from Santa Rita Saturday to spend a few days with friends in Deming.

ALMOST AS MUCH SNOW IN MOUNTAINS AS LAST YEAR

Although the Mimbres Valley has received no snow fall this year the precipitation in the mountains has been well up to the average, which means that there will be plenty of water in the streams for irrigation.

The following is the report of the U. S. Weather Station at Santa Fe for January:

January was a warm month with light precipitation. A large excess in temperature and a correspondingly large deficiency in precipitation occurred. The mountain areas, however, were fairly well favored with snowfall. This was especially the case in Taos, Rio Arriba and San Juan counties, where heavy snow occurred in the higher districts. For the state, as a whole, the average fall was a little less than two inches, although a large part of it, in fact, received little or no snowfall. Such was largely the case over the plains districts, the Pecos and Rio Grande valleys, the central and western plateau. The average snowfall for the state, thus far this winter, is 19.9 inches, an amount which is 5 inches in excess of the normal.

The snow had practically disappeared from the lower levels of the state at the close of the month, and a considerable decrease in the stored depth in the higher mountains was reported from the Canadian, the lower Pecos and Sacramento, the Gila, San Francisco and Mimbres, while a substantial increase was reported from the upper Rio Grande, the San Juan and the Zuni.

The depth at the headwaters of the Canadian showed an average of about 19 inches; the Upper Pecos, 17 inches; Lower Pecos and Sacramento, 10 inches; the Rio Grande, 35 inches; the San Francisco, Gila and Mimbres, 8 inches; the San Juan 44 inches, and the Zuni, 24 inches; indicating thus far rather a large flow in the San Juan, Zuni and Rio Grande moderate flow in the Canadian and Pecos, and rather a light flow in the San Francisco, Gila and Mimbres. No snow remains near here, according to one of the Mimbres Valley farmers. Aragon, J. R. Milligan: 12 inches of snow remain at 10,000 feet, fully 4 inches more than at like date last year. Quemada, A. Baca: No snow remains in this vicinity. Pinos Altos, J. B. Case: Fully 9 inches remain at 8,000 feet. Santa Rita: All south slopes are at 7,000 feet, but about three inches remain on north slopes; about the same condition as last year. Duncan, Ariz., J. L. T. Watters: The snowfall of January was insufficient to cover the ground.

BOOK ON NEW MEXICO ISSUED BY THE BOARD

Santa Fe.—The New Mexico Board of Exposition Managers has just completed arrangements for the publication of a book on New Mexico with D. R. Lane, a well known newspaper man of Albuquerque, and E. A. Koehler, Jr., of Los Angeles, who has had much experience in the compilation of works of this kind. As the book is to be compiled and printed without expense to the state, the Board of Managers is very much pleased to have completed this arrangement. The book will be extensively and beautifully illustrated and twenty-five thousand copies will be at the disposal of the Exposition Board.

It will be remembered that in 1904 a similar volume was issued by the Bureau of Immigration and did a large amount of good in attracting homeseekers and investors. The volume for the Panama-California Exposition at San Diego will cover the resources, attractions and advantages of each county in detail and in consecutive order. The statistics will be official and accurate and will be read by the Board before final approval. The chapters on each county are to be bound separately for distribution and the publishers will place themselves in touch with the authorities of each section, chambers of commerce and other civic organizations and will make personal trips to every county, and town in the state. It is certain the volume will be the most comprehensive and accurate review of New Mexico's industries and development thus far issued and will prove an invaluable means of advertising the State. Work on the book will be begun immediately as the twenty-five thousand copies for the Board are to be delivered before January 1, 1915.

S. E. Olsen and George Dunn of Ishpeming, Mich. stopped over here Monday on their way to Fierro, N. M.

The store has a complete and very large stock of the products and the luncheons will, without doubt, be very dainty and toothsome.

The Beech Nut products are varied and very well known here since they are the favorites of almost all Deming housewives. The expert demonstrators will be able to give many valuable household hints to those who care to know more of the art of serving luncheons.

Among the better known varieties of Beech Nut products are: peanut butter, jellies, jams, preserves, ketchup, olive oil, baked beans, and bacon. Don't fail to be on hand.
