PROGRAM OF LIBERTY BELL DAY IS ISSUED

Big Military and Civil Parade Feature of Big Celebration in Deming to Honor the Old Bell

SPECIAL TRAINS ARE PREPARED

Word Received Here Indicates That Largest Crowd in History of City Will be in Deming That Day

On November 16, Deming will be a rallying point for the lovers of the Liberty Bell and its associations. Our city government, with commendable civic pride, has taken the affair in hand and is sparing neither effort or expense to give the old relic a reception deserving of its history, and the hearty cooperation of the officers and soldiers of the Thirteenth Cavalry with our citizens assures a day of celebration and rejoicing not heretofore known in this section.

The Cavalry and battery will arrive in Deming on the afternoon of Monday the 15th. Promptly at 11 a. m. on the 16th the grand parade of U. S. troops, National Guard and school children, led by the band, will start from the grammar school building, pass through the main streets on the way to the railway station, where the bell will be welcomed with appropriate ceremonies, in which the school children will have a prominent part.

After the departure of the bell the festivities will begin, and be carried through about as follows:

- Musical Drill—2 to 2:30 p. m. Machine Gun Drill—2:30 to 3 p. m. At 3 p. m. until finished, on Silver avenue:

Mounted potato race—By troops, 3 entries, 4 races; prizes $1 for each troop; total $12.

Mounted potato race—Finals; winners of each event, prizes, 1st, $5; 2d, $3; 3d, $2; 4th $1.

Rescue race—By troops, 3 entries, 4 races; prizes, $1 for each troop.

Rescue race—Finals, winners in each troop event, prizes, 1st, $5; 2d, $3; 3d, $2; 4th, $1.

Roman race—One team from each troop, 4 entries; prizes, 1st, $7; 2d, $4; 3d, $2; 4th, $1.

Two polo games for a silver cup, base ball and foot ball games between soldiers and civilians, for prizes; and other events to be announced in the detailed program later.

Throughout the day the band of the Thirteenth Cavalry under the direction of Band Master Lentke, and acknowledged one of the best in the service—will furnish music.

In the evening there will be a ball at the Crystal theater with music by the Thirteenth Cavalry orchestra, and another at the Comet theater with music by the Williams orchestra.

Two fine moving picture shows with films especially fitting for the occasion will delight those who do not care to dance.

Information received from the entire surrounding country gives assurance that Liberty Bell Day will be record event in Deming. As this is the only town in New Mexico at which the Bell will make a stop, the honor of the state will be here, accompanied by many citizens from the northwestern counties; at many of the adjacent towns and villages excursion trains are being arranged for, and the low railroad rates given for all the lines running into Deming will accommodate those not in the reach of excursions. All the attractions promised will take place if it takes another day to do it. We look for the crowd and the most enjoyable day ever seen in this section.

The Liberty Bell, which will be on exhibition in Deming, Tuesday, November 16, is 163 years old, and has sounded to call the people together for the most important events in the history of the United States. From 1753 to the close of the Revolutionary war, it sounded the protests of the colonists against arbitrary and oppressive acts imposed by England, tolled the sorrow of the patriots at every disaster, wailed its deep tone in celebrating the victories. No wonder the hearts of Americans throb at the sight of it, and the head of every true American bows in reverence as it passes by. Seven times since the founding of our government it has journeyed from its home in Philadelphia to gladden the hearts of its worshippers, and now is returning home to its final rest in the place from which its peals were first sounded, and which has been its home ever since its first tone was sounded.

MRS. DANSE DECLARES TOMATO IS KING IN HONDALE COUNTRY

Farmers Actually Sold as High as Nine Tons to Acre, not Counting Seconds and That Part of Crop Caught by the Very Early Frost.

Now that the canning season is about over, every one is on the "qui soil" has much influence on tomatoes, satisfactory or not. If you will read that the crop at best would be called early reports were to the effect that conditions were not favorable late. Some farmers put emphasis on that fact that location (quality of soil) has much influence on tomatoes bearing this in mind, I interviewed two gentlemen whose tomatoes were raised 8 miles apart. This distance should be sufficient to allow for some reason of difference in soil.

Mr. Osterhaus, two miles south of Hondale, planted five acres of tomatoes. He sold 45 tons at $15 per ton. Mr. Yates, farming the Gaskill place, six miles northeast of Hondale had two acres, from which he sold 18 tons (note the percentage of tonnage per acre).

Now, I want to emphasize that the gentlemen mentioned, who are painstaking and thoughtful farmers, realized that the demand for the product caused by Messrs. Osborn and Bowen, would influence the future demand for the products of their own farms, so they brought only the very best from their fields, leaving tons of tomatoes which they considered second class. Then the frost came much too early to suit any of us, and unkindly nipped many tons. Had the season been earlier the sales would have been at least one-third greater.

Of course there were many others that raised tomatoes. Some had greater some less acreage. Their reports will not differ greatly from the above, if the relative amount of care and attention given their crops is considered.

As most farmers smile when they hear the word "tomatoes" it is safe to say that they are satisfied with the results.

If we may hope that Messrs. Osborn and Bowen are so well satisfied we may have good prospects for the enlargement of the canning factory at Hondale and resultant of the sales for the coming year.

PLAN REORGANIZATION OF MIESSE COMPANY

Eastern Capitalists Have Decided to Take Over the Tract and Put it On Sound Financial Basis

SCORE OF PUMPING FACILITIES

Farmers That Staid on the Land are Making Good, and it is Certain Project Will be a Success

Eastern capitalists have practically decided to take over the 5,000-acre tract of land east of the city owned by the Mimbres Valley Alfalfa Farms company, but which is commonly known as the Miesse tract. The purchasers are men of large means and have been here going over the property with a view of overhauling the present pumping machinery and increasing the capacity. Stockholders in the company have requested that the names of the men be not made public at this time.

When Mr. Miesse died development work on the tract was practically suspended. The work had been in a large manner mismanaged and much of the equipment had been installed in such a way that it was necessary to have it replaced. This work was being done when Mr. Miesse's death intervened. Many of the farmers had been sold land on the tract at a very high price and without adequate knowledge of the conditions to be met. For this reason many contracts went back. The farmers that actually went on the land and farmed it in a business-like way and had capital enough to do the pioneering are making good.

It was because the capitalists saw the real worth of the project that they decided to invest. Of course the "water" will all be squeezed out of the organization, and the farmers that have stood by their guns are to receive relief from the heavy burden which was imposed in the beginning.

With all the wasteful methods, the tract this fall presents a pleasing view to the real farmer. Among the streaks of alfalfa fields, improperly prepared for seeding and not well located as to relation to pumping plants, are hundreds of well-filled acres actually producing net returns of $15 to $25 an acre in milo maize and beans. Maize being threshed now is yielding from fifty to sixty bushels to the acre and pink beans as high as 1,300 pounds to the acre. These results have been obtained by farmers tilling their own soil.

There are nearly a thousand hogs on the tract now, and several bunches of cows will be fed there this winter. Ground is being prepared for winter crops—rye, winter wheat, and oats being planted.

Men competent to know, declare that the Miesse tract is one of the few projects, either under private or government ownership, that will succeed. The financial depression, together with the cessation of immigration has caused ninety per cent of the irrigation projects in the west to go on the financial rocks, and this is not overdrawn.

The reinvigoration of the Miesse property will mean a very great deal to Deming. Not in actual money, perhaps, but in a moral sense. Confidence in this district, never lacking locally, will be revived in the money centers on which the Mimbres Valley must depend for early development.

RUSSIANS ARE COMING BACK AT THE GERMANS AND AUSTRIANS

It is Reported That von Hindenburg Withdrew and Muscovites Have Assumed Offensive Along Entire Line; Teutons Captured Trenches.

There has been hard fighting in the Serbian, Russian and Austrian trenches and at least one attack of note in the Champagne region in France.

In Serbia the Austrians and Germans continue to make progress everywhere, but the Bulgars have had to give away before superior forces in the Nisava valley.

The Russians on the eastern front are delivering attacks against the Teutons at various points or are successfully counter attacks at others.

Berlin admits that between Sweden and Ilsen lakes, the region of Dvinsk, the Germans under field Marshal von Hindenburg were forced to withdraw their lines and that the Russians occupied the villages of Kulisehki, and Platonoska, taking numerous prisoners and several machine guns.

Near Novo Alexinzo the Austrians were driven from their trenches according to Petrograd, while in the fighting for the possession of Semipolitz in Galicia, 5,000 Austrians were captured.

In the region of Messines in the Champagne district, the Germans penetrated some of the advanced French trenches in an attack which was preceded by a heavy bombardment. Paris says, however, that elsewhere the Germans were repulsed, suffering material losses. Artillery and mining operations have been engaged in on other points of the French and Belgian fronts.

The Italians are still bombarding the Gerori section of the Austrian sector of the front and at several points have made infantry attacks. The attacks have all been repulsed according to Vienna which says that several Italian regiments lost half of their effectives.

News agency dispatches say that Beheme, in Asia minor, southwest of Smyrna, has been bombarded by four Argentine ally torpedo boat destroyers, which leveled the forts and other barracks and a large part of the Turkish quarter.

The Persian government has been notified by Russia that if Persia has concluded a special agreement with Germany and Turkey the Anglo-Russian treaty for the maintenance of Persia's integrity would be allowed to lapse.

W. L. Humphries, advertising and publicity man of Las Vegas, and Mrs. Humphries stopped over in Deming Wednesday.

PLAN TO ORGANIZE HOG BREEDERS BEING DISCUSSED BY FARMERS

Profits Made This Year by Those That Entered Hog Raising Branch of Farming has led to Plans for the Development of the Industry.

Hog raising is becoming such an industry in Luna county that the breeders are talking of forming a Luna county association to aid its members in a cooperative way. The firm of Bailey and Hollenbeck has now 250 hogs on its land on the Miesse tract which are being fattened for the market on milo maize meal. The Cooper Hog company of which J. G. Cooper, Clarence Hon and C. E. Bailey are members, has 450 hogs that are also being fattened. The latter company figures that its loss in the first venture has amounted to one-tenth of one per cent. The Carr Hog company will ship 500 brood sows on the Miesse tract this winter. Altogether it is estimated that 3,000 hogs will be raised on the tract next season.

Of course, there are farmers all over the valley who have raised hogs and have found them profitable. Among these is Paul Case, who finished a car this fall and sold at a handsome profit in El Paso. He shipped in pure bred sows from Iowa recently and will raise the best stock only from now on.

Bleaching Celery

In answer to an inquiry from the eastern part of the state, the following was recently sent by Mr. E. H. Divelbiss, Assistant Horticulturist of the New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts:

"I do not believe you can bleach Giant Pascal celery by wrapping. The green stalks of this variety cannot be bleached after they have once reached maturity. It is the new growth from the center of the plant which forms the white part of the plant when it is protected during its growth. For this reason, I would advise that you attempt no method of bleaching other than pitting.

To pit celery, dig a trench the width of the thespian and the depth of the plant you wish to pit in it. Dig the celery, leaving as much of the root as possible. It is not necessary to leave dirt on the root. Pack the plants upright firmly in the trenches. In this manner the celery can be kept easily during the winter months. In freezing weather it should be protected by straw thrown over the top and if the weather becomes too severe, a small amount of dirt should be thrown on the straw. Often it is better to place sticks at intervals across the ditch to keep this straw from bearing too heavily on the plants. About 3 weeks before you wish to put the celery on the market, cover the trench more deeply, so as to increase the heat and start the growth from the inner part of the plant. When this has reached the height of the plant the outer stalks will have at least partially decayed. Remove all of these in putting your celery on the market. In trenching, an extra precaution is to be sure that the bottom of the trench is moist when the celery is put in, as if the ground is dry it will wilt the plants."

Alone at Last

They sat beneath a painted tree,
Beneath a painted moon;
The villain foiled, 'twas sweet to see
The lovers meet so soon.

They held the center of the stage:
The orchestra's soft drone
Enthralled those of romantic age—
The lovers were alone.

"Alone, at last!" he hissed, his arm
Enfolded her dear waist;
He would protect her from all harm,
As lithe the spot-light faded.

Through three long acts they'd tried
In vain
To talk of love; to kiss;
But somehow, time and time again,
The villain marred their bliss.

At last the curtain rustled down;
Did he love his queen?
Ah, no! He asked her with a frown:
"What made you crab my scene?"

Two Dogs

One wears a dainty collar
And a fine engraved crest
And cuddles in milady's lap
In uninterrupted rest

The thir's life is quite apart—
That's Tommy's little cur—
He struts it with the kiddies' gang
A gay philosopher.

Of course I've never been a dog
And can't tell which is best
But if I were a dog, you bet,
I'd never wear a crest.

I'd rather rough it with the gang
And have a lot of fun
No woman's lap would I prefer
When Tommy gets his gun.

The Boy's Vacation

I took him to a baseball game
And let him shout and yell,
He seemed to have a bully time,
And I liked it pretty well.

I took him to a football game
He got out on the line
And rooted for the home team
While I—I thought 'twas fine.

I took him to the movie show
I applauded it like wild,
But when he got excited,
I said,—"Be calm, my child!"

I took him to a circus,
My little boy, and My!
That kid seemed to enjoy it
Almost as much as I.

Training Outweighs Long Service

There is no better proof of this than the every-day scenes of long service, untrained employees at the beck and call of younger men who occupy the big positions because of their training. It's a case of Training vs. Long Service—with the odds in favor of the trained man. Get out of the untrained rut. Mark and mail the attached coupon and let the I. C. S., of Scranton, tell how you can qualify for a better position. How you can protect yourself against servitude in your old age. How you can become an expert at your chosen line of work.

That the business of the I. C. S. is to Raise Salaries is shown by the monthly average of 400 letters voluntarily written by students reporting salaries raised and advancement won through I. C. Transcontinental Terminals

AMONG the many wonderful things worth seeing at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, which President Hadley of Yale has described as "the most beautiful and inspiring exposition the world has ever seen," the Transcontinental demonstration of the Bell System has won distinction and has been awarded the Grand Prize of Electrical Methods of Communication.

For the first time, perhaps, thousands who have visited the Bell Telephone Exhibit have realized what the wonderful long distance development of the Bell System means to them personally; how it links them to their home interests no matter where they are, and increases the range of their social and business activities.

One of the practical results of this striking demonstration of long distance development will be a larger use of the Bell long distance and toll line which unite 9,000,000 telephones covering the whole country.

LAYING OUT A FARM UNDER THE LATEST IRRIGATION PLAN

In laying out a farm under the ditch one must study carefully the relation which the ditch will bear to the farm as a whole: its relation to the various sub-divisions of the farm and its relation to the farm buildings. It must be kept in mind that upon the economical distribution of water depends the character and amounts of crops produced. Economical distribution of water must be the rule upon which the development of the farm is to be based. With this in view it is advisable to make, or have made, a topographical survey of the entire tract to determine the location of the main laterals and distributaries. This will control the location and size of each field into which the farm is divided, and will aid in the selection of crops best adapted to the several fields. The manner of irrigating will also be determined by the kind of crops, character of soil, and slope of the land.

The plan of the irrigating system should cover the entire area even though it is not the intention to develop the whole farm at once. The ultimate result will be a development of uniform distribution system which will supply the water economically as regards time required to irrigate and amount of water used. If this plan is not followed out one will have a patchy up system which not only covers a large area of valuable space on which crops might be grown to advantage but serves the land inadequately.

The main farm lateral, or supply ditch form the pumping plant should be so located as to command the maximum of land lying below it, with headgates along its length to permit the taking out of water to the various subdivisions of the farm. This lateral should be placed in soil which holds water fairly well if possible to do so or else some provision should be made, such as puddling with impervious material or by using cement linings. Leaky ditches cause a direct waste of water and endanger nearby soils because the condition means water-logged soil and improper aeration.

The length of the main lateral should be as short as possible in order to eliminate losses by seepage and struction will also be less and the evaporation. The first cost of construction will be reduced to a minimum. After the topographical survey has been completed it may be necessary to construct more than one main lateral, owing to diverging slopes from the pumping plant. The location of all laterals can be readily accomplished by consulting the topographical map, which should be made before the well is put down.

DEMING, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1915

Taxation in New Mexico will continue to merit the earnest attention of the citizens of the state for some time. The recent additions to the tax commission shows how unjust our taxation system is. It is just as good, however, as our citizens deserve. At the present time a large number of our citizens are more interested in escaping taxes than in organizing to come an even distribution of the burdens. Such being the case, some must lose.

IN GOOD OLD U. S. A.

Women and children cowering in the dust behind adobe walls; shrapnel shells screaming overhead; bullets falling like rain on roofs; men wounded or slain at their work. No, this is not in unfortunate Belgium or yet in hard-pressed Serbia; but right here in Douglas, U. S. A., "defended" by a brigade of soldiers entrenched on the border and led by "Fighting" Fred Funston.

QUIEN SABE

The revolution in Mexico is about over, the wise ones are saying. Villa is licked and Carranza has the field to himself. But will it work out that way? It has been on the verge of being settled now for about four years, but every time a leader seems to have the opposition on the run, the thing has "busted" out again right in the victor's own camp and the whole thing has to be done over again.

Of course, the poor peons that have been fighting for liberty under this or that bandit chief will be glad to go back to work for two bits a day, adobe money, with twelve hours as the union minimum. How sweet it will be to labor in the fields, mines, and factories for a foreign money king or a native prince who will provide plenty to do and see to it that it is done. The sudden peon will like to give up his horse and his rifle, his freedom to roam and loot, the mule that cooks his frijoles and shares his serape, to go together with all the other exactions and hardships which a life in the camp impose and which are so distasteful to a half-breed Indian. Yes, they will gladly lay down their arms and troop gleefully back to the rancho to live ever on half rations, untroubled with worldly wealth, and with the exquisite privilege of serving another always.

LIBERTY BELL WILL BE HONORED IN FITTING MANNER

The Liberty Bell will be honored in Deming December 16. Reports from many points indicate that the venerable relic will be greeted by one of the largest crowds that has ever assembled in Deming.

The old bell is perhaps the most precious relic of the days of the American Revolution, and it is inspiring to note how greatly the American people revere the mute reminder of the early struggles of the Republic. On this, the seventh journey from its shrine in the old state house (Independence Hall) in Philadelphia, eager thousands travel long distances over the plains to pay it homage. It has never been shown in any section of the country that it has not awakened enthusiastic patriotism.

The silent bell stands for the common American heritage of liberty. Since the days when the colonies defied the might of Great Britain the country has grown in size and diverse interests and away from the conditions that united it in the beginning. A great civil war intervened to crush the unity of which the Liberty Bell is an indestructible pledge, and sectional heroes and shrines bid for public favor. But the bell, having proclaimed justice and equality in the beginning, can proclaim nothing less or more. Its presence is a claim on the attention of every patriotic citizen, recalling to mind and heart the common history and traditions of all Americans; the thousands of heroes that fought on bloody fields and whose blood is ever warm on the altars of liberty no matter where they are set up.

Deming has been particularly honored, in that the longest stop in New Mexico and Arizona is to be made in Deming. Deming appreciates this distinction and feels itself marked as the outpost of American civilization in the new empire of the Southwest. Nowhere in the nation will the Liberty Bell receive more worship than in Deming.

THE SPIRIT OF CARL SCHURZ IS INVOKED

A news dispatch from Chicago states that at a gathering of American citizens of German origin in Turner hall the promoters of a new society formally renounced the hyphen which had connected them with the fatherland in name. There is an example that could well be followed by other Americans of foreign birth or connection.

The new society will be known as the Carl Schurz Cooperative Society. Those that took part in the meeting honored themselves, their country, and the land of their birth. Carl Schurz stands for the best in American citizenship as he stood and fought for the best in German traditions. There was no room in Germany under its present philosophy of government for Schurz and his followers. Like the pilgrims they sought freedom in a land dedicated to it. Such make good Americans no matter from whence they come. But the followers of Carl Schurz now as then can not believe in the justice of the motives that have motivated imperial Germany since 1870. Schurz, and many like him, came to the United States because he dared oppose the factors that are now recognized as being responsible for the present horrible condition of society in Europe. Americans like to think of their fellow citizens of German descent as akin to Schurz, who was indeed a great American. The country honored him with a seat in the senate, a secretaryship, and a high place in the councils of war. Schurz never disappointed his countrymen and it is largely because of the great affection for the memory of Carl Schurz that German-Americans who have come since his time have been received in his name.

RETURNS FROM RECENT STATE ELECTIONS

Republican gains, rejection of woman's suffrage, and a victory for prohibition were the outstanding features of the elections held Tuesday in Mississippi, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Kentucky, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, Ohio, and Illinois. Republicans added a governor in Massachusetts, made general gains in New Jersey and Kentucky, and won additional congressmen in New York. Democrats won a governor in Maryland and Mississippi. Kentucky is claimed by both with the supposition that the democrats have the best of it. Suffrage in New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania lost by heavy votes. Virginia will go "dry" in 1916, but Ohio elected to remain with the "wet." Illinois "wet" towns voted to remain so. Heavy votes indicated a lively interest in the elections.

With little official information at hand it is hardly profitable to try to determine what the returns really indicate. A return to more conservative men and measures is, however, very clearly indicated. That the conservative sentiment is widespread and growing, cannot be doubted. The heavy votes of the past three years indicate a determination, which the weatherwise politicians will do well to heed. Unsettled business conditions are no, doubt, partly responsible for the interest shown. Democracy, it is plainly evident, must face a united Republican party in next year's general election, as the progressive vote has proved to be dwindling and negligible.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES

Toutonic forces engaged in the Serbian invasion are pressing rapidly southward. The occupation of Carack, an important junction point on the railroad running from northwestern Serbia south of Kraguyevatz to Nish, is reported by the Berlin war office.

A further advance on Riga along the railroad from Tukum to the west of the city by field marshal von Hindenburg's army is announced. Hard fighting has been in progress near Dvinsk, with the Russians on the offensive. A Russian attack was beaten back with heavy losses to the attacking troops, it is asserted.

Nearly 1,000,000 men now are under the command of Sir John French on the Franco-Belgian front, premier Asquith announced today.

The great Italian offensive launched a fortnight ago, has broken down, the Austrian war office declares in a statement today, after a loss of 150,000 men by the attacking forces.

The Vienna statement asserts that the Austrian lines on the Isonzo front are the same as since the beginning of the war.

British and French transports with troops aboard have appeared off Kavala, Greece, a Berlin newspaper announces, apparently suggesting the landing of a new allied expeditionary force for operations in the Balkans.

Dispatches from Athens declare that the attitude toward the entente allies is becoming more favorable.

The Montenegro war office declares that the Montenegrin troops are successfully holding the Austrians south of Vihograd in Bosnia.

Paris announces a calm after the prevalence of furious fighting on the western front.

Constantinople reports violent artillery duels on the Dardanelles front. The Turks claim to have dispersed by artillery fire, masses of allied troops sighted by their scouts.

Chicago—American citizens who were born in Germany or of a German descent cut out the hyphen and stood up in the North side Turner Hall as Americans.

There were more than 200 of them at the meeting which is preliminary to the organization of the Carl Schurz Cooperative Society. The name Schurz is to convey the toutonic nature of the society, supplanting the name of the fatherland, which at any other time might have been used.

It was reported that a man reported to have close relations with the government in Berlin went to Turner hall, but was stopped at the door. He was informed that the purpose of the society was to keep itself above suspicion that it had anything to do with German agents he went away.

The advance guard of Gen. Obregon has reached the suburbs of Chihuahua city, and the forces of Gen. Villa are evacuating. The information obtained yesterday by United States army officers from Americans who have reached the border from the south. The Obregon advance guard was expected to enter the city last night, but all communication between the capital and them has been destroyed and whether there has been a fight between the two forces or not has not yet been found out.

Washington—Practically doubled appropriations for the state militia and the continental army being opened to any individual or organization desiring to enter and free to do so, are contemplated in the army side of the administration's national defense program.

Business conditions throughout the entire country improved considerably in the month of September according to reports from the federal reserve agents, and made public Monday night at the meeting of the federal reserve board. As a whole the picture of conditions is regarded by officials as them out favorable received by the board in many months.

Clifton, Ariz.—Clifton became more apparant among the miners here on Monday since September 11, with the arrival of Guy Miller, member of the executive board of the Western Federation of Miners, and the issuance of notice to move several upon a representative of an El Paso paper which the miners alleged printed an unfriendly story recently.

Miller was escorted from the railroad station by hundreds of miners. It was said that other union officials would return here soon.

A further indication of impending trouble was the news that Adl. Gen. Harris of the Arizona National Guard, would leave Phoenix tonight to take charge of the troops here.

Douglas, Ariz.—Gen. Villa began moving his troops into position Saturday night for an attack on Agua Prieta opposite here, regardless he personally declared, of any consequences or efforts from the United States.

If necessary, I will fight the United States army assembled along the border," he asserted after hearing this afternoon for the first time that the American government had given permission for Carranza to move his troops from Laredo and Eagle Pass to reinforce the garrison at Agua Prieta.

Sullivan, Ind.—Charging a conspiracy to commit a felony in the "wet" and "dry" sections here last May, thirty men, including high officers of brewing companies and a justice of the peace, were indicted by the Sullivan county grand jury here Saturday. Separate indictments were returned against the Terre Haute Brewing Company of Terre Haute; the J. W. Cook Brewing Company of Evansville and the Ashburner Branch Brewing Association of St. Louis, charged with conspiracy in connection with the election.

Washington, D. C.—The United States has declined to express an opinion as to whether it approves the proposed change from a republic to a monarchy in China. It became known Friday that some of the interested powers in seeking to sound out the Washington government informally, had learned that the latter would take no step that might be construed as an interference in the political concerns of another sovereign state.

Washington, D. C.—Representations have been made to General Carranza by the United States asking for positive orders to military authorities in the vicinity of Matamoros to pursue and arrest Mexicans raiding into American territory. It is understood that such orders already have been issued.

Pendley, Mass.—Twenty children, most of them girls ranging in age from 7 to 17 years, lost their lives Friday last in a fire that destroyed St. John's parochial school. Another girl has injuries that are regarded as fatal, while others were less seriously injured.

El Paso, Texas—Charles Boone of Bodley, N. M., was killed Friday by a Villa officer at Guzman, seventy-five miles from El Paso, according to a report that reached here, brought by Boone's partner, James Welch, who escaped from Guzman on a locomotive. Welch was rounding up cattle in the Guzman district.

"I am informed that the Liberty Bell will pass through New Mexico from California on November 16. It will reach Deming at 11:35 o'clock in the morning and remain there until 12, which is the longest stop that will be made in New Mexico.

"Parties from the north can reach Deming the morning of the 16th, over the Santa Fe before the bell gets there.

"It seems to me a great opportunity for all patriotic, liberty-loving citizens to join with the people of Deming in celebrating the presence of the bell that rang in the freedom of our country."

LYCEUM ATTRACTIONS

An annual Lyceum entertainment course is now regarded as practically indispensable in nearly 15,000 American communities, and the number is increasing with each year.

Some one has truly said that a Lyceum attraction, even though it failed to raise a higher standard in the community, at least never lowered an existing standard or in any way left a deleterious effect. This cannot be said of many other kinds of amusement and entertainment.

What the winter's entertainments and lectures are to be in each community is usually looked for at this time of the year. The course here this year will be made up of the following attractions:

LAURANT'S BIG MUSICAL MAGICAL FANTASIA.

This season is to mark a real epoch in the career of Eugene Laurant, "The Man of Many Mysteries." His Lyceum program will be made up of latest wonders in magic, large illusions, impersonations and musical numbers, the whole staged and costumed in a very elaborate manner.

During the intermissions musical numbers will be presented by the Laurant Instrumental Trio.

In Laurant's new program five phantoms are seen suddenly to appear in mid-air and are deftly caught by the magician. Next a human skull, after being freely shown for careful examination, is placed upon a sheet of glass. Soon it seems endowed with life, answering questions in a most wonderful way.

LAURANT OPENING HIS ACT.

In the illusion "The Phantom Bride" a beautiful young maiden, in bridal attire, is placed by the magician in a hypnotic sleep. At his command she slowly rises into the air as if to meet in mid-air. Then while floating in space she is suddenly made to vanish, leaving behind only a bridal veil.

All that are interested should turn on and help the Deming High School Athletic Association win and defray the heavy expenses.

Pine Mill Blocks makes the best kindling. Call 263, Watkins Fuel and Transfer Co.

Football Game Tomorrow Afternoon

The El Paso high school football team will be in Deming tomorrow for a return game with Deming. The local team made the trip to El Paso early in the season. Permission of the visiting team was given to place members of last year's team on the line to take the places of fighter boys. The game will be a good one and will be played cleanly and fairly.

Mrs. John Williams will give a reception next Monday afternoon from 2:30 until 5:30 at her home on Pine street in honor of Mrs. Foxworth of El Paso and Miss Leonard of Gainesville, Texas.

Mrs. Ethel Elzy of Myndus was a Deming visitor Sunday.

FRED BROWNING DIES IN SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA

Mrs. Alice Browning received a wire sudden death of her son, Fred Browning, at San Diego, Calif. She has not yet received the full particulars, but it is supposed that death was due to heart failure.

Fred Browning was a Deming boy, having been born here in 1890. He was graduated at the Deming High School, after which he attended the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque. He finished his studies at the University in a creditable manner. After this he went to Los Angeles, where he attended a school of pharmacy.

At the time of his death, Mr. Browning was manager of the Owl drug store in San Diego, Cal., holding a most responsible position. Just two weeks before his death he returned from a trip to the exposition at San Francisco.

Mr. Browning was very popular in California, as he was in his home town.

The body was received in Deming yesterday and funeral services were held at the home, the Rev. W. E. Foulkes officiating. Burial was in the local cemetery.

Besides his young son, he leaves a mother and two sisters.

Ghost Party

Miss Emogene Kaiser gave a "ghost party" in her room, Friday, October 29. At 7:30 in the evening thirty-five weird and gruesome little ghosts and witches appeared at her door, surrounded by jack-o'-lanterns, seeking admission. This was the beginning of the party, and a jolly hallo-wen entertainment followed. Miss Madelene Page added greatly to the merriment of the ghosts during the evening.

Hallowen goodies were daintily served later in the evening.

Social Circle

The social given by Mrs. Holstein's section of the Social Circle of the Christian church at the Ed Godden home Monday night was a great success from every point of view. About a hundred persons were present; old, young, and middle aged folks were there. Most everyone wore a mask and "tacky" costumes.

Songs and readings, and instrumental music were part of the evening's entertainment. Coffee, cocoa, cakes, and apples helped to make the party a success. Everyone had a good time.

The Social Circle wishes to thank everyone for his patronage and help in the work.

Reception

Mrs. John Williams will give a reception next Monday afternoon from 2:30 until 5:30 at her home on Pine street in honor of Mrs. Foxworth of El Paso and Miss Leonard of Gainesville, Texas.

JOURNEYS OF THE FAMOUS OLD RELIC: LIBERTY BELL

Since the historic day in 1776, when its defiant clangor proclaimed to the budding nation the Declaration of Independence, the Liberty Bell has been the most precious relic of our country. With the original copy of the Declaration of Independence, it is inseparably linked in the hearts of a free people.

Silent for more than a century, its very muteness adds dignity to the prophetic inscription graven on its side, and one's patriotism is kindled afresh with the thoughts of the part it took in the great struggle with the government of Great Britain. Its warning to that government, and its appeal to the people of the colonies to stand firm for liberty endeared it to every man, woman, and child in the United States forever.

Taken from its shrine in Independence Hall in 1884 to become a part of the display of human intelligence and progress set forth in the various expositions since the New Orleans World's Exposition, the historic relic, has proved to be of such intense interest to the citizens of the United States east of the Mississippi river, that it is felt that those residing on the plains, amongst the Rocky Mountains and on the Pacific Coast have an equal right to see and rever the symbol of human liberty. Hence its journey to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco.

Upon its six successful journeys hitherto, carried out under the care and protection of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, it received ovations which can be compared only to the triumphal progress of a nation's hero; and the safeguarding of the precious relic, both upon its journey and during the stay at the point where it was taken, has minimized the opposition to its removal from Philadelphia from the minds of those that feared for its safety.

It was with almost a feeling of religious devotion that the people greeted the silent tongued bell when it traversed the great south on its journey to and from the World's Industrial Cotton Exposition at New Orleans in 1884 and 1885.

Millions paid silent homage to it as it stood, guarded by four sturdy policemen, in the rotunda of the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago in 1893 and at the towns where it stopped in the Middle West on its trip to and from Chicago.

The enthusiasm of the loyal southerners, displayed upon the New Orleans trip, was doubled when the bell was taken to Atlanta in 1895, to become part of the Cotton States and International Exposition held there, and thousands stood silent in admiration of the symbol of that liberty for which the South helped so largely to achieve in the dark days of 1776-80.

The enthusiasm of New Orleans and Atlanta was repeated on the visit of the bell to the Charleston Exposition in 1902, when residents of the seaboard states were given an opportunity to see the relic both enroute and at the exposition.

The following year when the bell made its fifth successful journey, that to Boston, whether it was taken to become a part of the celebration of the one hundred and twenty-eighth anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill, thousands of residents not only of the "Cradle of American Liberty," but the state wherein so large a part of the battle for American freedom was fought, paid their tribute of loyalty to the emblem of liberty.

The sixth journey, that to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis, in 1904 was through a section of the country that had not yet seen the venerable relic. When its bronze tone sounded the knell of British supremacy in the colonies the states through which the bell was taken to St. Louis were trackless wastes. The patriotic citizens who so thickly populate what was once the roaming ground of Indians, gave the bell a very hearty welcome.

On its seventh trip, to San Francisco, the bell was shown to countless thousands among the great farming lands of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, Iowa, and Nebraska; in the newer cities and towns of the plains and the Rockies, and to the citizens of the North Pacific Coast.

Now, after almost five months at Exposition, it is returning by way of the Panama-California Exposition at San Diego and the southern tier of states to the Mississippi valley, then home through another section of the Middle West, New York State, and New Jersey, when thousands of patriotic souls will be stirred by the sight of —That bell, now hanging speechless, dead,

Which rung for freedom, broke,
and rung no more;
—Broke with the welcome tidings on its tongue;

Broke, like a heart, with joy's excessive note,
—'Tis well no cause less glorious e'er
luth rung
In silver music from its hallowed throat."
Thomas R. Reed

It is estimated that the gross value of the Houdale cannery for the season just closed is about $300,000. Approximately 250,000 cans of tomatoes were put up, the White Grant Company contract alone calling for 10,000 cases. Car loads were sent to Lordsburg, Silver City, Santa Rita, and other points including Deming, E. D. Osborne and Dr. Bowen contract for the farmers that supplied the tomatoes, for which they received $16 a ton. The employees in the factory, largely drawn from the families of the growers, also cleared a nice little sum from the season's work.

The cannery closed its doors Monday for the season. Saturday a splendid chicken dinner was served to the employees, as well as all those interested in the work, which means practically all those living in the Houdale community.

The citizens in this way expressed their appreciation of the work which has brought considerable money into the community. There is a general belief that the enterprise has proven so successful that the experience will be repeated next season.

Mrs. L. E. McPherson and C. R. Rempos of Denver, Colo., arrived in Deming Tuesday. Mrs. McPherson is an aunt of Mrs. H. C. Prentiss. Mr. Rempos is also a relative. They will visit with Mrs. Prentiss for several days.

Milking the Dairy Cow

Now that dairying has the chief attention of many sections of the state, articles on dairy herd management should be of general interest. Many are contemplating buying some dairy cows for the first time, and one of the first lessons they must learn is that milk cows cannot be handled like range cattle. Rough treatment and roping have no place in the handling of dairy cows. The next important factor, and one that is likely to be neglected, is regularity of feeding and milking. If a person does not intend to run his dairy on a regular time card, every day in the year, he had best not buy dairy cows. Any change in the feeding should be made gradually, and regularity of milking cannot be too strongly emphasized. Irregularity of time of milking will spoil any cow. The intervals between milkings, morning and evening, should be as nearly equal as is possible. The cows should be milked in the same order each time by the same milker. Never excite a cow, but be quiet and gentle with her. Milk rapidly with full hands, and never moisten the hands. If the cow has a sore teat, it may help to put a little vaseline on it. The quicker the milking, the richer the milk, if the work is done well and completely. It is better to milk the front quarters first, if they are less developed than the hind quarters, as this will tend to enlarge the fore quarters and make the udder more symmetrical. Some persons are just naturally good milkers, and some cannot become expert at the work at all. All the milk that comes down into the teat should be forced out at one time. The udder should not be swayed or pulled by the motion of milking, but should be kept perfectly steady. Completeness of milking is very important. The last streams are the richest milk, usually testing twelve to fifteen per cent fat, and if left in the udder this will tend to diminish future secretion of milk, so that there is double loss if the cows are not milked clean.—R. W. Latta.
