The National Republican Ticket Elected by a Landslide--Republican Majority in Congress Increased to 50.

BERNARD S. RODEY CARRIES NEW MEXICO.

New Mexico Legislature Safely Republican. Socorro County Elects a Mixed Ticket. Summary of This Morning's Despatches.

NATIONAL.
 The republican national ticket is elected by a far greater majority than the 600,000 of four years ago. In most cases republican states increased their majorities. Nearly every doubtful state went republican. Democratic states show reduced majorities. This means an enthusiastic endorsement of the administration's policies of protection, sound money, and expansion. It also insures a continuance of the present period of unprecedented prosperity. Following is a summary of the latest returns by states:

States.	Pluralities.
California.....	40,000
Connecticut.....	40,000
Delaware.....	3,000
Illinois.....	100,000
Indiana.....	27,000

 Texas..... 175,000
 Virginia..... 30,000

The vote is so close in Kentucky that an official count will be necessary, and Nebraska is claimed by both parties. Arizona elects M. A. Smith, democrat, delegate to congress by a majority of about 1,000. In Oklahoma, a fusionist ticket is elected. The republicans will have a majority of about 50 in the 57th congress.

TERRITORIAL.
 Hon. Bernard S. Rodey is elected delegate to the 57th congress from New Mexico by a majority of about 4,500. The vote was an unusually large one and the result cannot be construed otherwise than as an endorsement of the national and territorial administrations. The latest returns indicate that the legislative council will consist of 9 republicans and 3 democrats, and that the republicans have elected 20 out of the 24 members of the lower house. The latest returns from Santa Fe county indicate the election of C. F. Easley, democrat, to the council over Hon. T. B. Catron

DR. PRICE'S cream BAKING POWDER

THE renown of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is world-wide. Its unequalled qualities are known and appreciated everywhere.

For a third of a century American housewives have found its use invariably a guarantee of light, sweet, pure and wholesome food.

Always makes the perfect biscuit, cake and bread.

PRICE BAKING POWDER CO., CHICAGO.

NOTE.—Baking powders made from alum and other harsh, caustic acids are lower in price, but inferior in work and injurious to the stomach.

Air Ship.
 There has been a third trial of Zeppelin's airship, which took place on October 21. It ascended at five o'clock in the afternoon, and after rising 900 feet it described a circle and then moved to the eastward and performed various evolutions to show that it was under full control. It then turned and went three miles to the south and afterward returned and descended. There was not the slightest hitch during the trial.—Scientific American.

Episcopal Sunday School.
 At 10 o'clock on Sunday morning there will be a meeting in the Episcopal church to organize a Sunday school. All parents interested are requested to send their children, and those who have kindly consented to teach are invited to come. A Bible class will also be formed if senior students attend.

Hon. Silas Alexander, district attorney for the counties of Lincoln and Socorro, left for his home at the latter place Monday. Mr. Alexander is one of the New Mexico's candidates for the position made vacant by the resignation of Judge Leland, and stands probably the best show for the office, if the appointment is given to a New Mexico man.—El Capitán.

Nathan Price has accepted a desirable position with Keith Brothers, hatters, of Chicago and will travel in the interest of the firm over New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, and California. He has been with the firm of Price Bros. & Co. of this city for 14 years and has proved himself to be an excellent salesman. He said good bye to his friends Thursday and left the next morning for his new field of operations.

GLORY!
 Glory to Old Glory and the land of freedom's birth!
 May the glory of our triumph resound throughout the earth.
 Even the gentle winds are wafting o'er the mountains and the plain
 The glorious news that Bryan has met defeat again.
 UNCLE SAM.

Wanted.
 A saw-mill, capacity 3,000 to 5,000 feet of lumber per day. Must be in good repair and cheap for cash. C. H. ELMENDORF, for American Valley Company, Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Taffies of all kinds at Katzenstein's. Next door to the post-office.

The little son of Abran Abeyta has been very sick for the last two or three days.

Major F. G. Bartlett returned today from a trip of two or three days to Magdalena.

Come and see our fresh line of candies next door to the post-office. Katzenstein's.

J. N. Purdom returned Tuesday from a sojourn of several days in the Magdalenas.

Doctor Kittrell returned to San Marcial yesterday morning for a professional visit of a few days.

R. C. Montoya and A. H. Hilton, two prominent citizens of San Antonio, are in the city today.

Mr. and Mrs. Juan Garcia came down from their home in Magdalena yesterday to visit friends in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Baldwin of Datil are among the well and favorably known visitors in town today from the west.

A dog show visited the city Thursday and gathered in numerous shekels from the fun loving element of our population.

Two or three candidates for county offices are in a very uncomfortable frame of mind awaiting the final election returns.

Capt. J. F. Cook was quite severely kicked by a fractious horse the first of the week but luckily no bones were broken.

Professor C. L. Herrick of the territorial university is registered at the Windsor. Professor Herrick's health is improving somewhat.

Captain William French, a wealthy and well known stock owner of the western part of Socorro county, was recently married in Chicago.

District Clerk John E. Griffith left Sunday morning for his former home in Ohio in the interest of local politics. He will probably return tomorrow morning.

Honorables H. O. Bursum and W. E. Martin spent the last few days of the campaign in Socorro county doing excellent work for republican ticket.

Married, at the home of the bride in this city, Monday, November 5, Miss Maggie McCuiston and Mr. William McCamton of Grafton, N. M.

J. A. Jones, brother of Professor F. A. Jones of this city, left yesterday morning for Cripple Creek, expecting to stop off at several towns on the way.

F. Katzenstein, father of A. F. Katzenstein of this city, left Thursday morning for Las Cruces where he will visit his daughter, Mrs. Carrera, for some time.

Price Bros. & Co. have this week received a car load of the best Greeley potatoes, the finest in the country; also a lot of new California dried fruits and new nuts.

Max Cohn of El Paso has accepted the position at Price Bros. & Co. formerly occupied by Nathan Price. Mr. Cohn is reputed to be an excellent salesman.

G. L. Hood of the firm of Hood Brothers & Hudson, Frisco, and W. J. Jones arrived in the city today on the Magdalena train. They brought in the returns from their precincts.

Mrs. C. T. Brown is taking some fine views in Socorro and vicinity with her new Eastman extension kodak. It is rarely that an amateur's first efforts are so successful.

Lorenzo P. Garcia of Magdalena arrived in town yesterday to visit at the home of his father-in-law, Abran Abeyta. Mrs. Garcia has been visiting her parents for several days.

THE CHIEFTAIN gives on the fourth page the tabulated returns of the county election up to noon today. The table will be published next week with all additional returns then received.

Misses Essie and Lena Price, the twin daughters of Joseph Price of this city, are in Albuquerque visiting their sister, Mrs. Leon Stern, and their cousin, Mrs. Simon Stern, and families.

The Terry brothers left yesterday morning to spend a month at work on their mining prospects in the Grafton camp. They have properties in that camp that they feel much pleased with.

C. T. Brown has recently bought the steam hoist that has been lying idle so long at the Torrence mine at the foot of Socorro mountain. It is a 50-horse power, double cylinder, reversible geared machine.

Probate Clerk H. G. Baca received a dispatch this morning from A. Schey, president of the board of county commissioners, stating that the board would meet in this city next Monday to canvass the county vote.

Jas. G. Fitch returned Thursday morning from a week's campaigning tour in the western part of the county. The returns from the west show that some effective influence operated in favor of the democratic ticket.

The following cases have been filed in the office of the clerk of the district court this week: Sadie E. George vs. Walter George, divorce; John E. Coffey vs. Dennis E. Bearup and Maude Bearup, ejectment and damages.

Adolph A. Meyers of the firm of Meyers & Son, a brewer's supply company, of St. Louis was in the city yesterday. Mr. Meyers was originally from Lebanon, Ill., and was a fellow townsman of W. G. Hammel and A. Mayer of this city.

The southbound passenger train, No. 21, now leaves Socorro at 12:36 a. m. This is a considerable improvement over the former time of arrival and departure of this train, as far as the convenience of citizens of Socorro is concerned.

Rev. Joseph McConnell went south yesterday morning after a visit of several days in this city. Mr. McConnell will hereafter conduct services once a month in Epiphany church. He proves to be a very pleasant gentleman and made many friends during his short stay in Socorro.

Attorney James G. Fitch of Socorro, one of the most prominent democrats in the territory, came in on Thursday's train and went out on the Mogollon section Friday morning, where he will remain until after election looking after the interests of the democratic ticket.—Silver City Independent.

It is reported that Judge McMillan of New York has been offered the judgeship of this district to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Hon. Chas. A. Leland and that that gentleman will arrive in Socorro tomorrow morning to look the situation over before accepting the appointment.

Henry Graham's 3-year-old boy wandered into the stable yard Monday and undertook to amuse himself by whipping the legs of a colt with a strap. The colt kicked the boy on the head tearing loose a large portion of the scalp. It took several stitches to put the youngster in statu quo, but he is now as frisky as ever, but a little shy of colts.

'RAH! RODEY! 'RAH!

An unmistakable triumph for the republican party of Socorro county.

It was a hard fight but a perfectly orderly one. Not even a single "drunk" was reported.

THE CHIEFTAIN'S rooster is in danger of rupturing his jugular vein with crowing, but to suppress him would break his heart.

ELECTION is over. Pay your bets, apologize to your neighbor for the hard things you have said of him, and settle down to business.

EVEN grand old Missouri seems ready to join the triumphal procession and sing a new song, "I've been redeemed, I've been redeemed."

THE election of Hon. Bernard S. Rodey has done more toward securing statehood for New Mexico than any other possible event could have done.

At this writing it appears that Socorro county is safe in presenting her compliments with a majority of over three hundred to Hon. Bernard S. Rodey.

THE CHIEFTAIN has neither retractions nor apologies to make. All that was said in these columns during the campaign was said with the intention of doing injustice to nobody.

THE triumph of the republican national ticket insures four more years of prosperity and expansion. Investments will be safe. Industries will develop. The national honor will be maintained.

NEW MEXICO is now in line for statehood, for the building of railroads, for the development of her vast resources, and for an era of general prosperity such as she has never experienced before.

THE CHIEFTAIN presents its sincere compliments to the democrats of Socorro county. Gentlemen, you fought a good fight and made the republicans hustle themselves as they never hustled themselves before. There is no dishonor in such a defeat.

Nobody ever saw harder work done in Socorro on election day than was done last Tuesday. The democrats did very good work but the republicans seemed to be altogether better organized. The results in the two precincts of the city speak for themselves.

THERE was evidence of a large amount of buying and selling by both parties. The price of a vote seemed to range from a drink of whiskey to a sheep and even higher. It was actually reported that several married women informed certain candidates that they controlled the votes of their husbands and sons and that five dollars must be forthcoming or those candidates would suffer when the hour of reckoning came.

Deplorable.

ONCE in four years the affairs of this great country of ours suffer a serious and senseless disturbance. The merchant is in despair. The professional man waits in vain for clients. The artisan finds employment less plentiful. The day laborer is out of a job. All business, all industry is interrupted for the time being with grievous loss to employer and employed. All this because a national election is at hand.

But there is a still greater evil in the effects of a national campaign upon the morals of citizenship. The paragrapher and the cartoonist vie with each other in their reckless efforts to vilify and malign political leaders, to distort their characters, their words, and their motives into the slightest possible resemblance to the reality, and their efforts are generously rewarded. Political immorality is condoned and public and private morality are debauched. Sober minded men allow their partisanship to get the better of their judgment and the heat of political discussion arouses antagonisms which are carried into every relation of life. This spirit of evil is strong and far reaching in the politics of the land, especially during a national campaign.

The first of these evils may be at least partly remedied by a less ready response to the demagogue and the professional politician. The second evil may find a large measure of correction in a more active participation in politics on part of men to whom the usual political temptations do not appeal. In other words, let the same judgment be exercised and the same standard of morality be established in politics as elsewhere and two of the greatest evils of politics will be reduced to a minimum.

PORTO RICANS NOT CITIZENS.

Congress Must Determine Their Political Status and Civil Rights.

New York, October 30.—The application of Frank Juarbe, a Porto Rican, for a peremptory writ of mandamus directing the board of registry to register him as a voter on the ground that he has become an American citizen by virtue of the cession of Porto Rico by Spain to the United States has been denied by Justice Friedman, who says that the treaties taking over Porto Rico did not make the inhabitants of the territory citizens of the United States, but left the determination of their civil rights and their political status to future action of congress.

Mr. Johnson and His Tip.

Mr. Tom L. Johnson, the famous street car magnate and single taxer, is well known by his friends to be a generous man, but he admits that he could never become reconciled to the "tipping" habit so prevalent in Europe; and he tells this story on himself.

In front of the hotel where he stayed in London, on a recent visit, there was always standing a man who had the annoying habit of darting out to the carriage and swinging open the door before Mr. Johnson could reach it, and then he would stand expectantly to receive a tip.

"Now," says Mr. Johnson, "I shouldn't have cared if the man had come to me and said he needed assistance, but I really didn't need him to open the carriage door. The driver and myself could have managed it between us, I'm sure.

"Well, it began to be a point of honor with both of us. I would try to dash out so quickly that the man couldn't possibly beat me, but he must have had gimlet eyes and rubber legs, because he could always see me before I came in sight and could spring to the carriage door in half a second.

"But one day—how it happened I never could tell—I reached the carriage door first, and swung it open, panting but triumphant. The man was right after me—almost on top of me—and a look of keenest chagrin came over his face as his eyes met my triumphant glance. But his confusion was only momentary for in an instant he recovered himself, and with a look of serene impudence, saluted and then held out his hand for a tip, saying: "I saw you get in, sir!"—Philadelphia Post.

Withdrawing a Juror.

One particularly amusing incident characterized Congressman Burton's early experience at the bar. For some reason it became necessary to request a continuance in a case in which he was counsel. After Mr. Burton had explained why there should be a continuance the court told him simply to withdraw a juror and the case would be marked continued. For the moment the young attorney was nonplused, but after glancing at the court to satisfy himself that the judge was in earnest he walked over to the jury box, eyed the jurors for an instant and then firmly seized a large, portly German and endeavored with no little effort to drag him out of the jury box. In the midst of the general laugh which followed, the court came to the rescue of the discomfited young barrister by explaining that the term was simply technical and need only be written on the docket.—Saturday Evening Post.

His View of It.

A somewhat cantankerous old farmer, who lived in a small village in Shropshire, took to himself a young wife, says Spare Moments. After the union, however, the parties did not seem to agree as well as might have been expected.

One day after an altercation in which the wife had the worst of it, the vicar of the parish, happening to meet the old man, rebuked him for harshness, reminding him that the wife was "the weaker vessel."

"Well, sir," was the dogged rejoinder, "if she be the weaker vessel she didn't ought ter carry so much sail."

Effect of Paternal Example.

Mr. Tucker, who sometimes goes gunning, was trying to teach Tommy the meaning of the word "brace" as applied to game. "Now, Tommy," he said, "if you should go hunting and kill 20 pheasants, for instance, how many would you say you had bagged?" "Fifty," replied Tommy.—Chicago Tribune.

Taoism.

We see in Taoism a system of philosophy and religion, sometimes the one, sometimes the other, which has sprung up on purely Chinese soil, though at a later time it was evidently far more influenced than Confucianism by the newly introduced system of Buddhism. Taoism and Confucianism both point back to an immeasurable antiquity, and they certainly made no secret of having taken anything that seemed useful from the treasures—or from the rubbish of ancient folk-lore that had accumulated in times long before the days of Lao-tze and Confucius. Those who have known the present class of Tao priests and who have witnessed their religious services form a very low opinion of a religion which has lasted for twenty-four centuries, and though formerly professed by much larger numbers in China, is even now, while the number of its adherents is considerably reduced, a powerful element for evil as well as for good in China. As a historical phenomenon it deserves the careful study of the historian, if only to teach us how even a religion supported by the state may do its work by the side of other religions without the constant shouts of anathema to which we are accustomed in other countries. No one seems a heretic in the eyes of the Chinese Government—excepting always the hated foreigner, and while one Taoist may grovel in the meanest religious practices and another soar high into regions which even the best disciplined of Christian philosophers hesitates to venture into, the two will not curse each other as infidels, but try to carry out the highest Christian principle of loving our enemies, or at least of doing justice to them.—Max Muller in the Nineteenth Century.

The Whistling Yankee Boy.

We like the whistling boy. We like to fall in behind him as we go down the street. He has as many tunes as the mocking bird. If it is Monday morning, the Sunday school tunes follow him. It is the young folks who set the standard in music. The great composer may sigh in vain for recognition until come the whistling boy and girl at the piano; then his success is assured. If whistling is any index, American boys are full of music. Alone as he drives the cows to pasture or rides the horses to water or goes on errands the boy takes up the burden of the latest air and makes his ways melodious. It is not to keep his courage up, as the old proverb implies; it is to communicate his superabundant life to others, it is to bubble over as does the fountain. And these airs go about as by some vocal infection until every other boy has added them to his catalogue of accomplishment.—Christian Herald.

Addressed the Jury.

A man who had never seen the inside of a court room until he was introduced as a witness in a case pending in one of the Scottish courts, on being sworn, took a position with his back to the jury and began telling the story to the Judge.

The Judge, in a bland and courteous manner, said: "Address yourself to the jury, sir."

The man made a short pause, but, notwithstanding what had been said to him, continued his narrative.

The Judge was then more explicit, and said to him: "Speak to the jury, sir; the men sitting behind you on the benches."

The witness at once turned around and, making an awkward bow, said, with perfect gravity: "Good morning, gentlemen."—Buffalo Courier.

For Rent.

A six room residence in good repair in the American part of the city. Call on C. T. Brown.

Grandpa

Everybody's proud of this sort of Grandpa, and he's proud of himself; proud of his clear brain and active body. There are other kinds of grandpas that we can't be proud of. Weak of body and feeble of mind, we can only pity them. They no more live; they only exist. What makes the difference between these two classes of old men? A sound stomach and a plentiful supply of pure, rich blood. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens the stomach, purifies the blood, and increases the activity of the blood-making glands. It won't make old men young, but it will enable old men to assimilate the food they eat, and so strengthen them for a life of reasonable exertion.

Old people often need a laxative medicine. The best for them is Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

A Darling Child.

The landlady has a daughter, a sweet, prattling little angel of 5, or thereabout, and there is not a soul in all the big Vermont avenue boarding house who would not be able to bear up with amazing fortitude if that darling child were called away from this world of sorrow. She sits at a little table all her own at meal time, and it is the custom of the boarders to propitiate her by gifts and guileful words as they enter the dining-room. Everybody was at dinner one evening a few nights ago, when young Mr. Smash came in rather late. He had a box of candy for the landlady's daughter. She received it coldly. In the first pause in the dinner conversation she piped up: "Mr. Smash is a naughty man," she said. "O, my precious darling!" exclaimed the landlady. "You mustn't say that." "He is a naughty man," declared the child. "He bit Miss Crash." "He didn't do anything of the kind," cried Miss Crash, turning the color of a golf coat. "He did too," persisted the child. "He bit you on the cheek, and I saw him—I won't hush—I did see him, and you didn't like it, 'cause you said 'Stop.'" And nobody said a word till the widow had presence of mind enough to remark that the weather was unusually warm for his time of the year.—Washington Post.

Questions for Women

Are you nervous? Are you completely exhausted? Do you suffer every month? If you answer "yes" to any of these questions, you have the which Wine of Cardui cures. Do you appreciate what perfect health would be to you? After taking Wine of Cardui, thousands like you have realized it. Nervous strain, loss of sleep, cold or indigestion, start menstrual disorders that are not noticeable at first, but day by day steadily grow into irremediable complications. Wine of Cardui, used just before the menstrual period, will keep the female system in perfect condition. This medicine is taken quietly at home. There is nothing like it to help women enjoy good health. It costs only $1 to test this remedy, which is endorsed by 1,000,000 cured women.

Mrs. Lena Y. Frisberg, East St. Louis, Ill., says: "I am physically a new woman, by reason of my use of Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Black Draught."

In cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advertiser Dispensary," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Lions on the Beira Railway.
Lions infest the whole of the Beira route to this day. Ten years ago, when the line was being surveyed for, they crawled everywhere. The usual idea of these canivora is that they are the kings of beasts; that lions prance and lash their tails, after a lordly fashion, and are both noble looking and noble in their habits. Never was there a greater mistake. Those who have made their close acquaintance—and they are those who pioneered for this railway—say that a lion far more often creeps on his stomach like a stalking cat than goes on his hind legs like his heraldic counterfeit. Until one jumps at you he looks quite insignificant. But when he has made a spring to within a few yards of your shoulder, he seems to fill the heavens above and the earth beneath. Again, the roar of a lion is at first (for he is a most deceptive animal) altogether unlike the sound heard in the London Zoological Gardens at feeding time. It is something between a cough and a cow's moo. It begins by sounding soft and close beside you; then, as you listen, it swells on the air. Quite inarticulate, it yet comes from everywhere at once, and it is impossible to locate it. It travels for miles, and is acry like nothing else "in this wide arthly world," as an Irishman put it.

The smell of a lion is also "footie." It is not a nobly overpowering odor; it is as the smell of hot, dirty mice. It is a scent once met with never forgotten.

Lions such as I have described prowled around the pioneer camp whenever it halted. Once, when the pioneers had lit a fire, some fat slices of game were laid across it on a piece of galvanized iron. A loud "hoosh" from a Kaffir roused one of the Englishmen from sleep in time to see one of these large cats quietly licking up the grease left in the improvised frying pan. The Kaffir was frightened; the lion was much more so. At the human uproar he slunk away with his tail between his legs, just as any domestic pussy would have done if found marauding.—Contemporary Review.

A VILLAGE BLACKSMITH SAVED HIS LITTLE SON'S LIFE.

Mr. H. H. Black, the well-known village blacksmith at Grahamsville, Sullivan Co., N. Y., says: "Our little son, five year's old, has always been subject to croup, and so bad have the attacks been that we have feared many times that he would die. We have had the doctor and used many medicines, but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is now our sole reliance. It seems to dissolve the tough mucus and by giving frequent doses when the croupy symptoms appear we have found that the dreaded croup is cured before it gets settled." There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains no opium or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult. For sale by A. E. Howell, Socorro; W. W. Borrowdale, Magdalena.

Spontaneous Combustion of Hay.

The question of the spontaneous combustion of hay has recently been investigated by one of the officials of the Weather Bureau, who states that fermentation within moist hay may raise the temperature to 374 F., at which temperature clover hay will ignite. The best preventive to spontaneous combustion is a rapid and complete ventilation by which the oxidization and fermenting substances are kept cooled down below the point of ignition.—Scientific American.

How Animals Sleep.

A study of interest is the sleeping habits of the animals at the Zoo. The monkey picks out his resting place in the highest perch he can find in the cage, so that when all the monkeys are wrapt in slumber, they are up in the air, as it were. When the only home of the monkey was the forest he lived always in deadly fear of the lion, and the king of beasts dearly loves a meal of live monkey. Though the lions of the Zoo are securely caged, the fear of the monkey is born in them, hence their ascent to the highest perch to sleep, on to which they hang for dear life. Gorillas and chimpanzees sleep with their hands over their heads. Bears, which seem to have no fear, slumber in any position that is comfortable. The same is true of the Russian wolves. These animals are noted for strength and daring and rest easy. But the animals of cunning or cowardly natures are constantly on the alert, even while asleep. The tiger, wild cat and fox sleep with one eye open. The fox never tucks his head under him, but keeps it out above the surface. A seal is much like a human being in sleeping. It usually stretches out at full length, and enters dreamland lying on its back, stomach or side. Once in a while a seal will sit up with its head bent down on its chest, fast asleep, like an old man. The hippopotamus sleeps in the water, with his ears under, so as is his custom in his native state, that he may hear the approach of an enemy; sound traveling with great distinctness under water.—Philadelphia Record.

The Youth's Companion in 1901.

The ends of the earth will be laid under tribute for the 1901 volume of The Youth's Companion. Statesmen, Diplomats, Travellers, Trappers, Indian Fighters, Cow-Punchers and Self-Made Men and Women of Many Vocations will contribute to the entertainment of young and old in Companion homes. Theodore Roosevelt will write upon "The Essence of Heroism." The Secretary of the Treasury will answer the question, "What is Money?" Frank T. Bullen, the old sailor who spins fascinating yarns of life at sea, will contribute a story. W. D. Howells will describe the relations between "Young Contributors and Editors." Paul Leicester Ford will write about "The Man of the Dictionary"—Noah Webster. There is not space here to begin to tell of the good things already provided for readers of the new volume of The Youth's Companion—interesting, instructive, inspiring—from the pens of famous men and women.

Illustrated Announcement of the 1901 volume and sample copies of the paper sent free to any address.

All new subscribers who send in their subscriptions now will receive not only the 52 issues of The Companion for 1901, but also all the issues for the remaining weeks of 1900 free from the time of subscription, besides the beautiful "Puritan Girl" Calendar for 1901, lithographed in 12 colors and gold.

SCROFULA The Blighting Disease of Heredity.

In many respects Scrofula and Consumption are alike; they develop from the same general causes, both are hereditary and dependent upon an impure and impoverished blood supply. In consumption the disease fastens itself upon the lungs; in Scrofula the glands of the neck and throat swell and suppurate, causing ugly running sores; the eyes are inflamed and weak; there is an almost continual discharge from the ears, the limbs swell, bones ache, and white swelling is frequently a result, causing the diseased bones to work out through the skin, producing indescribable pain and suffering. Cutting away a sore or diseased gland does no good; the blood is poisoned. The old scrofulous taint which has probably come down through several generations has polluted every drop of blood.

Scrofula requires vigorous, persistent treatment. The blood must be brought back to a healthy condition before the terrible disease can be stopped in its work of destruction. Mercury, potash and other poisonous minerals usually given in such cases do more harm than good; they ruin the digestion and leave the system in a worse condition than before.

S. S. S. is the only medicine that can reach deep-seated blood troubles like Scrofula. It goes down to the very roots of the disease and forces every vestige of poison out of the blood. S. S. S. is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known. The roots and herbs from which it is made contain wonderful blood purifying properties, which no poison, however powerful, can long resist. S. S. S. stimulates and restores health and strength in the appetite, aids the digestion and restores health and strength in the enfeebled body. If you have reason to think you have Scrofula, or your child has inherited any blood taint, don't wait for it to develop, but begin at once the use of S. S. S. It is a fine tonic and the best blood purifier and blood builder known, as it contains no poisonous minerals. S. S. S. is pre-eminently a remedy for

When my daughter was an infant she had a severe case of Scrofula, for which she was under the constant care of physicians for more than two years. She was worse at the end of that time, however, and we almost despaired of her life. A few bottles of Swift's Specific cured her completely, as it seemed to go direct to the cause of the trouble. I do not believe it has an equal for stubborn cases of blood diseases which are beyond the power of other so-called blood remedies.

Our medical department is in charge of experienced physicians who have made Scrofula and other blood diseases a life study. Write them about your case, or any one you are interested in. Your letter will receive prompt and careful attention. We make no charge whatever for this.

THANKSGIVING.
McKinley Issues Annual Proclamation.

Washington, Oct. 29.—The state department today issued the following:
By the president of the United States of America:

PROCLAMATION

It has pleased the Almighty God to bring our nation in safety and honor through another year. The works of religion and charity have everywhere been manifested. Our country through all its extent has been blessed with abundant harvests, labor and great industries, and people prospered beyond all precedent. Our commerce spread over the world. Our power and influence cause freedom and enlightenment to be extended over distant seas and lands. The lives of our official representatives and many of our people in China have been marvelously preserved. We have been generally exempt from pestilence and other great calamities, and even the tragic visitation which overwhelmed the city of Galveston made evident sentiments of sympathy and Christian charity by virtue of which we are one united people.

Now, therefore, I, William McKinley, president of the United States, do hereby appoint and set apart Thursday, the 29th day of November, next, to be observed by all the people in the United States, at home or abroad, as the day of thanksgiving and praise to Him who holds the nation in the hollow of His hand. I recommend that they gather in their several places of worship, doubly give Him thanks for the prosperity wherewith he has endowed us, for seedtime and harvest, for the valor, devotion and humanity of our armies and navies, and for all His benefits to us as individuals and as a nation; and that they humbly pray for a continuance of His divine favor, for concord and amity with other nations, and for righteousness and peace in all our ways.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.
(Signed) WILLIAM MCKINLEY.

An English Election Story.

The following story is told about Northampton and Mr. Labouchere:

"One of my mates has a little invalid girl that's very thoughtful, and the questions she asks are most surprising. She'd often heard Bill talking to the missis about the war and who was to blame for it, and one night she says:

"Daddy, did God make Labby?"

"And Bill he thought a bit and says:

"Yes, love—I suppose so, he says.

"So she thought a bit more, and she says!

"What for, daddy?"

"Bill was never so staggered. He put his considering cap on, but it was no good. 'It's surprising what hard questions children can ask.'"—Birmingham Gazette.

A Boy Bishop.

Any one who has walked through Salisbury Cathedral can partly realize to what lengths the church permitted, and even encouraged, the people to carry amusements which seems to modern thought to involve all but the last possible degree of irreverence, says Harper's Weekly. For there is a little tomb, bearing the effigy of a child, scarcely more than a baby, dressed in the robes and the miter of a Bishop. He was one of the boy Bishops of Salisbury. Every year, for a few days at Christmas, the boy Bishop held his state. He had his train of children, representing priests, attendants and servants. The real Bishop stepped aside and gave him all but absolute authority like his own. He performed an imitation of the mass and travestied other ceremonies of the church. If, while his little term of office lasted, there was a vacancy among the subordinates of the real Bishop, he might fill it, and there is at least one recorded case in which he did. And this particular little boy died before his term ended, so he was buried as any other Bishop would have been, and there he lies in the nave of Salisbury Cathedral, with his image in stone above him—a Bishop forever. In the plays God himself was sometimes represented with face gilded and wearing a gilt wig. Peter was usually a comic person, as well as Judas. In the favorite scene of the harrowing of hell, in which the Christ came and led out the good man of the Old Testament, a dishonest alewife made much coarse fun. Yet the people were not shocked at these things, and the priests saw no reason why they should be.

AN OLD TIMER DEAD.

James Hill Answers Death's Summons at La Luz.

James Hill, said to be the oldest settler from the states in New Mexico, died at La Luz last week. He was born in Estes county, Kentucky, in 1810, and came to Santa Fe in 1833.

In 1832 he cast his first vote for Andrew Jackson, and during his career in Kentucky he posed as one of the warmest friends of Henry Clay, his wife being a cousin of the great statesman.

During the Mexican war he owned a large hacienda near Chihuahua, Mexico, where he furnished provisions and forage for the American troops camped on the ground. For his loyalty to his country President Juarez imprisoned him and confiscated his estate.

President Lincoln brought pressure to bear which procured his liberation, after which he again took up his home in the United States.
