New York .-- One small dog held up several hundred business folk for 20 minutes and made them that much late at their offices. Fortunately they were the kind of business people who don't have to arrive before ten o'clock, and a matter of 20 minutes or so doesn't make much difference.

The dog, a yellow mongrel, ascended to the tracks of the Brighton Beach railroad at Kings Highway, where the tracks run on an elevated ridge. It was about 9:30 o'clock, and a Manhattan-bound train had halted in the station for more cars to be attached.

The little dog was hot and panting and the shade beneath the cars at-

Former United States Senator T. N. Patterson, resuming his testimony today, declared that "some 400 mine guards have been recruited in the reorganized state militia since the federal troops entered the Colorado strike field."

He expressed the opinion that should the federal troops he recalled and the militia re-enter the field "it would be a great blot on the state." Mr. Patterson declared that "Mr. Os good, of the Victor American Fuel company, would block any attempt at federal mediation."

"Would the United States then be justified in taking over the property?" asked Commissioner Weinstock.

"It was the practice of the sheriffs of Las Animas and Huerfano counties to give the others commissions signed in blank to be filled by the operators with the names of mine guards." He declared that during the year before the strike close to 1,000 mine guards were so deputized from time to time.

"This number includes the gunmen," he said.

He told of union men being beaten by mine guards and driven out of the state.

"One of the superintendent of the C. F. and I. made a practice of holding up men with a gun and searching them for union cards," he said, He told of a fraternal society meeting of Montenegrin miners being broken up by mine guards armed with guns on the suspicion of anion tendencies and how the members of the society were later discharged.
