QUAIL PLENTIFUL FOR TRIALS Grand Junction, Tenn., Jan. 5 .--With weeks of field trials in prospect, dog owners and handlers with their strings of houor winners have assembled here from various parts of the United States and Canada to compete for purses and trophies offered by the American and United States Field Trial clubs. The trials to be run over the local fields will mark the official ending of the season's sport. The United States trials began today and will continue through the week. Purses of $1,000 have been provided for each stake and medals also will be awarded to the winners of the Derby and all-age stakes. The United States trials will be followed by the national championship. Quail are reported plentiful and with favorable weather conditions the trials should be among the most successful ever conducted by the clubs.

-the pure food-drink that meets the desire of young and old for a palatable table beverage which is wholesome and satisfying.

Postum is made only of clean, hard wheat and a small per cent of New Orleans molasses, It tastes much like the higher grades of Java, but is absolutely free from caffeine, the drug in coffee, which causes so much headache, sleeplessness, indigestion, nervousness and heart trouble.

Coffee drinkers can learn something of value by a 10 days' change to Postum.

Then, as the coffee poison is eliminated from the system, the brain works clear, nerves become steady, and the gradual return of peace and comfort will show plainly

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM

Postum now comes in two forms:

Regular Postum-must be boiled 15 to 20 minutes.

Instant Postum-is a soluble powder. A scant teaspoonful stirred in a cup of hot water dissolves instantly.

The convenience of Instant Postum is apparent. But, when prepared according to"directions, both kinds are exactly the same. The cost per cup is about equal.

-Grocers everywhere sell both kinds.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I-Francols Beaupre, a pessant babe of three years, after an annualing incident in which Marshai Ney figures, is made a Chevalier of France by the Emperor Napoleon, in the home of the lad's parents in the village of Vic-ques, France, where the superor had brier-ity stopped to hold a council of war. Na-poleon prophesied that the boy might one day be a marshai of France under another Bonaparte.

CHAPTER II-At the age of ten Fran coln meets a stranger who is astonished when the boy fells him he may one day be a 'marshal of France under another Napoleon."

CHAPTER III-Francois demonstrates into merve by climbing a lofty church steeple. This deed is witnessed by the stranger who marvels at the boy's game-ness and asks him to visit him at the Chateau.

CHAPTER IV-Francols visits General the Baron Gaspard Gourgaud, who with Alixe, his seven-year-old daughter, lives at the Chateau. A soldler of the Empire under Napoleon be fires the boy's imag-ination with stories of his campaigns with the emperor.

CHAPTER V-Francois' father loses bis possessions in a game of chance.

CHAPTER VI-The general offers Francois a home at the Chateau. The boy refuses to leave his parents, but in the end becomes copyint for the general and learns of the friendship between the general and Marquis Zappi, who cam-paigned with the General under Napol-

"I agree with you," the general said, and sorted the papers over and laid some away. Selecting a sheet or two, he began to read again.

"Over the frozen roads the worn army still trudged; every form of misery trudged with them. Hunger was there, and cold, and suffering of wounds, and suffering of lack of clothing; more than this, there was the constant drend of attack from flying bands of Cossacks. From time to time trightful explosions made one turn one's head-it was the calssons exploded by order of the Emperor that they might no longer encumber us. The snow fell. The Emperor marched
