Dr. Campbell, who for the past six years has been making a special study of yellow fever and smallpox, now for the first time makes public the results of his researches regarding the variola vera, that much dreaded disease-true smallpox. According to Dr. Campbell, smallpox is not contagious nor infectious in the original sense of these terms, for he says that it can only be communicated from the smallpox victim to another person by means of inoculation with the blood of the smallpox patient, by artificial him with such marvelous success, and as soon as he completes this he will inge, or by the inoculation caused by give it freely to the public in hopes the healthy subject being bitten by that the cause and cure of smallpox the cimexietularius, the common bed- may be published all over the world, bug, which has previously bitten the so that by concerted action in extersmallpox patient. In yellow fever, as has now been conclusively demonstrated, the disease is communicated by means of the stegomia fasciata mosquitoes biting the yellow fever victim, and then biting the healthy subject, and in so doing the healthy subject is inoculated with the germs of yellow fever; while the bedbug, in nearly the same manner, inoculates the subject with the infection, believed to be a protozoa or haemamebae. Having engorged itself with the infected blood of a smallpox victim, the bedbug has only to bite the healthy subject to communicate to

Dr. Campbell asserts that if this cachexia be eliminated by the prompt administration of proper remedies a cure will inevitably follow and the pitting either entirely prevented or it will be reduced to a minimum; but in nearly all cases it can be entirely prevented, as many persons living in this city can attest.

If the commissioners had gone a little farther and made the salary of the supervisors as purely chimerical as us" and there are enough of them.are their duties, the result would have been entirely satisfactory to the taxpayers. However, we may be gratified that reform is being effected gradually.

And it is safe to assume that the taxpayers will soon demand that these fifty supervisors at $10 per year be displaced by one or possibly several men who are actually qualified to hold such an office and who will give the public efficient service.

It is a notorious fact the territory over that under our old law the road overseers never did do any valuable graves: work. They are supposed to give bond for the faithful performance of their duties. They are also supposed to collect three dollars from every man who does not work out his road tax. They are supposed to report all such collections and account for it by work done on the roads. As a matter of fact the cases where the taxes are paid are probably as rare as those in which the road tax is fully worked out.

If our county should be considered a single road district, if an honest, competent man should be paid a reasonable salary for actually supervising the road work of the county, if the tax should be generally collected or worked out, then we might reasonably expect to have the county roads put in such a condition that they would be a boon to the merchant, the teamster and those traveling them for pleasure.

The half mill tax, levied for this purpose, affords sufficient money not only to pay a capable road commissioner but also to supply him with materials and tools while the three days' work or its equivalent from each man would supply the labor. This is something to look forward to and to work for.

ers took an important step in the right direction by reducing the salary of the overseers from $50 a year to $10 a year. This will save the county in the neighborhood of $2,000 per year. How long would it take a young man to become successful who puts himself into an atmosphere of failure and remains in it until he is soaked to saturation with the idea? How long would it take a man who depreciates himself. talks of failure, thinks of failure, walks like a failure and dresses like a failure. who is always complaining of the insurmountable difficulties in his way, and whose every step is on the road to failure-how long would it take him to arrive at the success goal? Would any one believe in him or expect him to win?

The majority of failures began to deteriorate by doubting or depreciating themselves, or by losing confidence in their own ability. The moment you harbor doubt and begin to lose faith in yourself you capitulate to the enemy. Every time you acknowledge weakness, inefficiency or lack of ability you weaken your self confidence, and that is to undermine the very foundation of all achievements.

So long as you carry around a failure atmosphere and radiate doubt and discouragement you will be a failure. Turn about face, cut off all the currents of failure thoughts, of discouraged thoughts. Boldly face your goal with a stout heart and a determined endeavor and you will find that things will change for you; but you must see a new world before you can live in it. It is to what you see, to what you believe, to what you struggle incessantly to attain that you will approximate .-- Orison Swett Marden in Suc-

A Watter's Walk.

Some interesting particulars are given as to the ground covered by a waiter in dancing attendance upon the guests in a restaurant in Christiania. The waiter had provided himself with a pedometer before starting his work. According to his calculations, he took rather under 100,000 steps, covering some thirty-seven miles, between 8 a. m. and 12:30 a. m. Working (and walking) four days a week, he calculated that he covered more than 7,000 miles in a year, which would seem to show that Swedish waiters take their work very seriously, unless, indeed, the pedometer was "fast." -- Westminster Gazette.

The coach music from this harp on a windy day was on its way over a lonely road and is most pleasing, the notes from the carried among its passengers a lady going to join her husband and a man unapproached by any other instrutraveling by himself.

"I have $1,000 in my pocketbook," confided the lone traveler to the lady, "and I feel very uneasy. Would you mind concealing it in your dress? If we are held up they are less likely to search you."

The lady consented and hid the roll 4 of bills. Toward evening the shout of "Throw up your hands!" brought the coach to a standstill, and four men. masked and on horseback, demanded at the point of the pistol that all money should be immediately given up. The lone traveler passed over all his remaining cash, consisting of a few dollars, and was congratulating himself on his escape when, to his horror, he heard the lady say:

"I have a thousand dollars here, but
