SUPREME COURT DISPOSES OF THE DOLL CASE

SUIT WAS ABOUT CONTRACT TO FURNISH "MOVING EYES" AND "REAL CURLS"

Santa Fe, N. M., Jan. 25.—The famous case involving a trio of baby dolls which were to have had "moving eyes," natural curls and statures varying from 24 to 36 inches, was disposed of in the New Mexico supreme court yesterday, and it fell to the lot of Chief Justice William H. Pope to ponder over the legal entanglements that were caused by the aspects of the case. This case had only $200 involved, but had been in the supreme court twice, having been remanded for further proceedings to the district court of Albuquerque, the first time. The decision of the court, yesterday, however, is in favor of the Puritan Manufacturing Co., which had sued Toti and Gradi of Albuquerque for the $200, alleged due on the sale of a bill of goods. The contract made by the Puritan Manufacturing company provided for the shipment of certain jewelry amounting to $200, delivered f. o. b., transportation companies, and by way of special inducement there was contracted to be shipped with the jewelry three dolls, alleged to be "celebrated," and to be possessed of moving eyes, natural curls and statures varying from 24 to 36 inches.

It seems that Toti and Gradi refused payment, apparently not satisfied with the dolls that had vocal, moving eyes, and especially after they had to pay $3.55 express charges on these celebrated dolls.

A letter to the appellees in testimony in the lower court, according to the transcript, as written by one of the clerks of Toti and Gradi was as follows:

"I will tell you, that we received the box with the 'dolls' and the box of jewelry. We have paid for the jewelry box express charges $2.35 and for the dolls we paid $3.55 which makes $5.90. Please send me this amount by return mail and we will return your goods. This will be best for you. After this will charge you 20 cents per day for storage. Our time is expensive and we cannot afford to be responsible for idiots that you send out here."

The dolls with the moving eyes case moved back to the supreme court, therefore, and was heard by Chief Justice Pope and Associate Justices McFie, Parker, Mechem, Wright and Roberts. Judge Abbott took no part in the decision as he had heard the case in the lower court. United States Attorney David J. Leahy, Deputy United States Marshal I. L. Chaves, representing Marshal Forker, and Supreme Court Clerk Jose

THAT AWFUL BACKACHE

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have the backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Nothing we know of will do this so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for special advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and the advice free.

D. Sena were also in attendance when the final opinion was handed down yesterday morning.

The case is known as Case No. 1361. The Puritan Manufacturing Company, appellee, vs. Toti and Gradi, appellant; appeal from district court, Bernalillo county. Motion to affirm decision sustained by the court and opinion handed down. The opinion is written by Chief Justice Pope and concurred in by Associate Justices Parker, McFie, Wright, Mechem and Roberts.

The syllabus says: 1. A motion by appellee to docket and affirm will be granted when appellant has failed to file his transcript at least ten days before the return day or has failed to file assignments of errors on or before the return day unless "good cause" be shown excusing the default.

2. The trial judge is not authorized to settle a bill of exceptions tendered less than ten days before the return day and his failure so to do does not constitute good cause for appellant's failure to file transcript and assignment of errors within the statutory period.

From all which one not posted would have guessed all the romance at the bottom of this case. Case No. 1366, Milbert F. Price and Louis E. Pycn, partners doing business under the firm name and style of Puritan Manufacturing company, appellee, vs. A. Toti and L. Gradi partners doing business under the firm name and style of Toti & Gradi, appellant; appeal from the district court, Bernalillo county. Motion to affirm sustained by the court and opinion handed down.

Case No. 1348, United States of America, appellee, vs. John Martin, appellant, appeal from Sixth judicial district court. Motion of the United States to affirm judgment for failure of applicant to enter appearance and file briefs was granted and judgment of court below was affirmed.

Case No. 1352, City of Roswell, appellant vs. Mrs. Mary Bell Perkins, appellant, appeal from district court of Chaves county. Argued and submitted.

The court will likely finish the docket work this week and devote next week to opinions and then adjourn. A session may be held late in February.

SOME RAILROAD THRILLERS IN THE WEST

ROCKY MOUNTAIN ENGINEERING THAT MAKES ONE'S HAIR STAND ON END

Those enterprising individuals who have devised so many mechanical devices whereby the public is given thrills at summer amusement parks seem to have been outdone by western railroad men, says a writer in the Los Angeles Times.

Recognizing the appeal of daring engineering feats to the average mind, these railroad men are taking advantage of the natural opportunities afforded by the Rocky Mountains and are endeavoring to outdo each other in the construction of railroads and trains that will give the tourist a mingled sensation of wonder and fear.

The modern engineer who is constructing a "thriller" in the mountains lays rails where only the lonely prospector has been with his burro, or where the mountain sheep has leaped from crag to crag. Or perhaps he swings a cable across a mighty abyss and the thrill seeker is swung back and forth across a yawning gulch and has the delightful sensation that comes from speculating on the possibilities if the steel wire that holds him in his bucket should part.

Amusement purveyors of this sort even have their eyes fixed gloatingly on the far famed Royal Gorge in the canyon of the Arkansas. A trolley line from Canon City, Colo., to the top of this gorge is planned. A bridge will span this cleft in the rocks, which is almost as narrow at the top as at the bottom, where the Denver & Rio Grande railroad could not find room to build its track on solid footing and had to suspend a bridge between the granite walls. When the trolley cars spin across the chasm and the tourist looks down on the trans-continental trains crawling hundreds of feet below, a new sensation will be provided for the tireless American thrill hunter.

The man who started the work of turning the Rocky Mountains into a sort of Coney Island is the Rev. E. J. Wilcox, who stepped from the ministry to mine promoting, and from mining to a new form of railroading. Mr. Wilcox was interested in a mine not far from Silver Plume, Colo. A tiny narrow gauge railroad had been built from Silver Plume to the mine. Mr. Wilcox was enchanted with the view unfolded on his first trip over the line, which was used solely for the transportation of ore.

The railroad to the mine ended before timber line was reached, however, and Mr. Wilcox realized at once the advantage of extending the rails on to the very crest of Mount McClellan, which is a shoulder of Gray's Peak, and which is only two hundred or three hundred feet lower than that mighty mountain. Railroad experts shook their heads, but the enthusiastic promoter raised the money for extending the line, in a series of switchbacks, to the altitude of fourteen thousand feet. Today the line ends on the very summit of Mt. McClellan.

It is the highest regularly equipped and operated railroad in the world. There is a higher line in South America, which is not used for passenger service, and which is not operated regularly, but this Colorado line to the top of a mountain peak is used for mail as well as passenger service, and is in every respect a genuine railroad. The engines used in negotiating the tremendous grades to the top of Mount McClellan are of the Shay mountain climbing type, but are not equipped with cogs. The steeper portions of the climb are negotiated by switchbacks, which rise not unlike a series of steps in a gigantic ladder. By alternately backing and going ahead on these switchbacks the final altitude of fourteen thousand feet is reached.

It is intended to pile one thrill on another, however, by extending this line still farther. From Mount McClellan it is intended to extend the line along the rock ridge extending to Gray's Peak itself. Gray's Peak is one of the highest mountains in the Rocky Mountain range, and, years ago, was used as a weather station by the United States government. The peak is considerably higher than Pike's Peak.

It is believed that trains can be run to the very base of the final pinnacle of Gray's Peak, and that the last 200 feet can be negotiated by means of an elevator. A hotel and observatory will be built on top of the peak and astronomical observations will be taken in the remarkably clear atmosphere.

The utilization of the mine railroad for passenger traffic suggested an idea to other mine owners on Mount McClellan who transported their ore in trams. One of these concerns, whose steel cable stretched a mile or more up the steep side of Mount McClellan, began carrying passengers up in the ore buckets. Here was a new thrill with a vengeance, and the mine owner soon began reaping more profits from human freight than from his ore. Now he does a big business all summer long, swinging people up and down the mountainside, in huge, heavy ore buckets.

John Brisben Walker, who is never content unless he is mapping out some startling enterprise, is responsible for a mile long railroad near Denver that has more thrills per foot than any other line in the world. Mr. Walker conceived the idea of hauling passengers to the top of the front range of the Rocky Mountains, overlooking the plains that stretch eastward toward the Missouri. He installed a power plant on the summit of Mount Morrison, that towers over the foothills west of Denver. By means of steel cables two heavy cars are hauled to the top of this mountain, and are lowered again with their human freight. The ascent is made from the famous Red Rocks—strange formations not unlike those that have given the Garden of the Gods its fame. Mr. Walker has created a park among these rocks, and has found a natural amphitheater, nestled among the largest formations, where open air concerts are given to vast throngs of people. Mount Morrison rises high above the park and amphitheater, and only a man of Mr. Walker's daring would have thought of building a railroad up so steep an ascent.

It is thought by engineers that the Mount Morrison railway illustrates the ultimate in cable construction. To construct a line with a longer cable haul is an impossibility, yet this line is considered so safe that Mr. Walker carries no insurance whatever, as he considers an accident an impossibility.

Such scenic roads demonstrate how the engineer's skill is tested to meet the public's constant demand for something startling. How far such devices will be carried can only be guessed, but with the Rocky Mountains as a field for exploitation, there is going to be no lack of room for tourist "thrillers."

A NEW PLAN FOR NOMINATING OF PRESIDENTS

PROGRESSIVES PROPOSE TAKING THAT TASK OUT OF HANDS OF MACHINE POLITICIANS

Washington, Jan. 25.—An organization has been started with the avowed purpose of controlling both state and national conventions of the republican and democratic parties in 1912 to the end that progressive candidates for president will be nominated by both the great parties. Behind the movement are reformers and magazine publishers and writers of the class described by politicians as muckrakers and highbrows. The organization is styled "The Progressive Federation," and national headquarters have been opened in the Bliss building in this city, with George H. Shibley, president of the People's Rule League of America, in charge.

The purposes and plans of the movement have been set forth in an address to the public that is being widely circulated. This address calls on all citizens, irrespective of party affiliations, who believe in progressive policies of government, to send in a statement of their first, second and third choices for the presidential nomination in 1912 and to sign the following pledge:

"I pledge that for the coming two years I will attend the elections with in my party, unless unavoidably prevented, and that in 1912 I will vote only for pledged progressive delegates who have declared for a first choice, a second choice and a third choice for presidential nominee."

The originators of the idea say that the progressive voters comprise a decided majority of the electorate of the country and that these progressives can control both the republican and democratic national conventions and force the nomination of progressive candidates by both parties if they work together systematically and faithfully. This is to be accomplished by the preliminary postal vote, as indicated, and the pledging of some millions of voters to do active work in caucuses, primaries and conventions.

Practical politicians who have been looking into the matter do not hesitate to declare that the real purpose of the organization is to bring about the nomination for president on the democratic ticket of Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey. These men say that it is patent to everybody of any political sagacity that President Taft will be renominated by the republicans, and that any movement to control the next republican national convention for a progressive candidate is absurd on its face, but with respect to the democratic nomination the situation is different. Governor Wilson, who is generally hailed as the Moses of the progressives, might be nominated, and it is predicted that he will be if the organizers of the progressive federation can realize on 50 per cent of their expectations.

The federation is making a plea for financial contributions in sums ranging from $1 up, in addition to asking for postal votes and pledges, and it is stated that an enormous campaign fund is to be raised to extend the organization into every state in the union.

If such an organization, generally financed, is swung to the support of Wilson, the New Jersey governor will become at once a most formidable candidate. Whether it will be done is another question, but the possibility is one that is chasing cold chills up and down the backbone of numerous democratic statesmen who have presidential dreams of their own, or who have friends who have, or who, at least, do not want to see their party captured, bag and baggage, by the progressive element.

In the address to the public the federation plan is detailed as follows:

"Only by voting for pledged progressive delegates, naming first choice second choice and third choice, can the people win. If the delegates are not pledged then the voters' enemies, the monopolists, and the other holders of special privileges, will control the delegates. This is a self-evident proposition.

"But if the voters of 1912 do elect pledged delegates and they are trustworthy, the people will win everything. The delegates to the county conventions will vote only for pledged progressive delegates to the state convention and congressional conventions, and in the conventions the delegates will vote only for pledged progressive delegates to the national conventions. It is clear that there is a method whereby we, the progressives in the United States, who possess nine-tenths of the votes, can control the state and national conventions of both the great parties. In 1908 the members of the democratic party in more than two-thirds of the states actually did control the state conventions and the national convention. The progressive democrats accomplished this merely by pledging themselves in advance to attend the election within their party and vote only for pledged progressive delegates."

It is this special reference to what can be done within the democratic party that has focused the attention of the politicians on the new federation, and that has led to the belief that, while avowedly a non-partisan movement, it is in reality a big game to name a progressive, Wilson of New Jersey, as the democratic standard bearer in 1912.

"The system of evasion and repudiation, known as machine rule," continues the address, "originated shortly after the establishment of the state and national party convention. In these conventions the power to promise legislation and to nominate candidates was lodged in delegates, who were chosen by delegates, and these delegates were chosen by delegates, the details of the entire system being such that the final delegates did not really represent the people. The machine rule system came into being without an act of legislature or of congress and it can be abolished without one.

"Think of the prospect! The complete thwarting of evasion of issues in the campaign preceding the primary election of 1912 and the nomination of real representatives in both parties. The long-looked for era of peaceful people's rule will then have been reached. Everyone will be benefited, for all will live amid the improved surroundings.

"The monopolists with their billions of wealth are in control merely because the machinery of government is such that the people have not been able to make their will effective. That can be changed during 1911 and 1912. The preliminary postal vote, nation wide, will point out the really progressive presidential candidates, and the people will do the rest. Self-interest will cause them to vote right."

This address is signed by George H. Shibley as chairman of the invitations committee of the federation, and by eighteen magazine publishers and writers.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has endorsed the movement.

WILL DISCOURAGE BUCKET SHOP GAMBLING

NEW PRESIDENT OF CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE ADOPTS NEEDED REFORMS

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Speculation by small dealers on the Board of Trade of Chicago will be discouraged by the new administration, also "corners," judging by the inaugural declaration of the new president, J. C. F. Merrill. He came out boldly as opposed to practices which throw discredit upon the institution which furnishes a ready market for grain and provisions regardless of the size of the crop. The practices which President Merrill particularly inveighed against were those of issuing alluring "market letters" in the effort to increase speculation on the Board of Trade, of running private Board of Trade wires into the smaller towns and cities of the country, and of soliciting speculative business. "I am not an alarmist," he said, "but my strong desire is to impress upon you the importance of seeing danger signals when so plainly placed before us and of directing thereby our business conduct. I shall favor a wider censorship by the officials of the board of the literature emanating from our members. The complaint against speculation which wire offices in small, obscure towns comes not alone from the traders themselves. It comes from the leading bankers and business men in all those small communities, who realize the disastrous effects upon their own business of that sort of speculation and observe around them the public disgrace and financial ruin which often attend the speculative efforts of those who trade. The chief support of the 'anti-future' legislation in congress comes from those sections of the country in which private wire offices have heretofore operated. It is my position now and it has been for years that it should be beneath the dignity of any member here to solicit or accept speculative business from bankers and others in a fiduciary capacity and from employes or fellow members, except under stringent regulation."

Wholesale Prices Take a Slump
The sudden slump of wholesale prices for butter and eggs in Chicago which the retailers finally allowed to cut the consumers' cost of living, was laid to the cold storage houses by some commission men. But responsibility now for a reduction of the costs of living or for an advance a year ago are not borne out by government statistics. Only a year ago commission houses, then pointing to cold storage houses as the cause of conditions quite the reverse, were confronted by the government figures which show that the annual crop of eggs is almost 60,000,000 cases of which less than 3 per cent is stored and that the balance, over 92 per cent, goes direct to the consumer. In the city of Chicago, in 1909, there were stored approximately 1,000,000 cases of eggs, and a careful canvass of the leading houses showed that these eggs were owned by 619 persons or firms. Another South Water street merchant offered an amusing explanation of the present butter and egg situation. "It is all due to the farmers eating oleomargarine," he declared. "The farmers nowadays, and I mean nearly 85 per cent of them, take their milk and butter to the market and carry home oleomargarine for their own tables. It is cheaper and by doing this they decrease the consumption of butter and throw so great an amount into the city market that the storage people have to fill their houses with it. Then at a time like this it is suddenly unloaded and you see the result. However, the cold storage is not entitled to credit now for the glut and low prices of butter nor to blame for high prices of a year ago. The government reports show that of all the butter produced in the country, not over 6 per cent is put away into storage, while 94 per cent goes into immediate use, and a small proportion of the crop could not control the market. The top price for storage butter this season was 32 1-2 cents per pound, while finest fresh butter during the period of storms and unusually cold weather, did not go above 36 cents, yet, in 1882, before modern cold storage was known, the price of butter at Elgin for the week of February 20th, was 48 to 50 cents, and the average price for the month was 45 3-4 cents. Of fresh meat less than 3 per cent is placed in storage.

Many Believe Brandeis Dreams
The problem of efficiency and conservation which efficiency implies, raised by Louis Brandeis with regard to the railroads, the merits of the case in the federal courts. The economies of meat packing in which by-products produce the profits, have been given standing as real conservation. "There is no industry in which the selling price follows the cost more closely," Louis F. Swift said in his report as president of Swift and company at the recent annual meeting of that company. "Swift and company's result sheets show less than 3 per cent profit on sales during 1910. A profit is made on by-products, which were wasted before we had learned how to utilize them by the aid of modern machinery and scientific handling." That high prices penalized the packers was the aspect put upon the cost of living by his explanation for the increase of capital from $60,000,000 to $75,000,000 by Mr. Swift, who said: "We are obliged to pay higher prices for raw material than formerly, and it takes more money to do business now than in times past. It also takes more capital for construction of plants and buildings and the operation of facilities necessary to handle and keep our various products up to the high standard demanded by our customers and government requirements. During periods of plentiful supply and lower prices for livestock and of finished product, the producer may be dissatisfied, and criticize the packer. During periods of short supply, and consequently higher prices for livestock and finished product, the consumer may be dissatisfied and criticize the packer. Thus it is seen that the packer is indeed a 'middle-man,' but the fact is lost sight of that with the varying costs and varying selling prices the packer receives a uniformly small margin of profit on sales." In the controversy over efficiency of railroad operations the rule was conceded that of all possible causes of high prices waste is the most potent; that scientific management has disclosed wastes reaching an enormous aggregate, even now little realized; and that scientific management has presented the only workable means yet devised for avoiding the greater part of this waste.

The Need of Automatic Signals
The need of automatically stopping trains when stop signals are disregarded or not seen by engineers has been given renewed attention by Chicago railway officials as a result of two disasters recently on eastern roads equipped with automatic block signals. In the wreck at Bantava, N. Y., on the New York Central system, due to a fog which obscured the cautionary signal 4,000 feet from the station, the engineer saw no warning until the tall lights of the wrecked train were only a few hundred feet away. Six dead and a score seriously injured were the victims in that case. Near Nevada, O., on the Pennsylvania railroad, a wreck in which six died and many were seriously injured was officially ascribed to the disregarding of visual signals by one engineer who passed three sets of block signals without obeying them. During a general powwow in Chicago of officials of the Pennsylvania system, A. M. Schoyer, general superintendent west of Pittsburg, was appointed a committee to secure from the league for public safety information concerning automatic stop equipment which in service tests was discovered to avoid the dangerous "emergency" stop which has condemned stop devices with operating railroad men. Distance, fog, snow, low burning of the lamp, all make the reading of visual signals at night one of extreme difficulty for the engineer, but the block signal and train control board of the Interstate Commerce Commission in its search for a potent and practical stop has made little progress owing to the great number of impractical ideas which it has had to consider. The use of colors for night signals recently was condemned by Professor George M. Stratton, of John Hopkins University, who suggested the use of lines of light, the position of which instead of the color, would serve as signal indication. "White," says Professor Stratton, "in houses, shining through windows, and hanging lanterns on gates at street crossings, are often mistaken for 'safety' signals, with disastrous consequences. 'Green' is no more trustworthy. Smoke has a serious effect on this color. 'Red' is also objectionable. The ruby glass by permitting none but the passage of reddish rays greatly reduces the brightness of the signals."

Where Civic Pride is a Success
Argentina has the United States far outdone in civic pride, public works, and municipal improvements, according to Charles H. Sherrill, United States minister to Argentina, during a banquet in Chicago. He is making a tour of twenty-eight cities to urge the possibilities of South American trade and gave the members of the Association of Commerce something to think about. "Talk about Chicago energy," he said. "I don't depreciate it a bit, but here is what Buenos Ayres did when the people demanded green places in the heart of the city. Eight whole city blocks and five and six story buildings were torn down and planted with trees, shrubbery and green grass. It was all done in five weeks. During the recent Centennial the people of Buenos Ayres spent something like $3,000,000 for the festivities, which continued only three weeks. In that city there are more beautiful buildings, there is better municipal life and there are better living conveniences than in any city of North America. Living expenses are about twice as high but wages are much higher. Woman servants are paid $15 and $20 a week, and bank clerks $150 to $300 a month. In my opinion there is no market in the world which affords better opportunity for exploitation than South America, but the United States knows little about it. While Great Britain last year took $250,000,000 in dividends from Argentina alone, that country is richer than the United States, it has a population of about 7,000,000, of which 1,500,000 are in the capital city, and the foreign trade last year was $700,000,000."

Foley's Kidney Remedy—An Appreciation

L. McConnell Catherine, St. Elmir, N. Y., writes: "I wish to express my appreciation of the great good I derived from Foley's Kidney Remedy, which I used for a bad case of kidney trouble. Five bottles did the work most effectively and proved to me beyond doubt it is the most reliable kidney medicine I have ever taken." O. G. Schaefer and Red Cross Drug Co.

LAS VEGAS

THIS VICINITY has a climate of unsurpassed healthfulness without extremes of heat or cold, having nearly 300 days of sunshine in the year.

The water supply is abundant and pure, furnished by mountain streams or from wells of no great depth.

The annual rainfall amounts to nearly nineteen inches, average, occurring principally in July and August.

The soil is highly fertile and easy of working, being generally sandy loam especially retentive of moisture.

Lands here are lower in price than we know of anywhere else where conditions are equally good.

Crops are principally alfalfa, oats, wheat, potatoes, corn and forage. Sugar beets promise to be profitable.

"Dry Farming," practiced scientifically, is proving to be successful here, a large area being under cultivation.

An irrigation system to cover many thousand acres surrounding the city is now being constructed.

Mining developments in the adjacent mountains are showing up very promising values. Building stone of superior quality is quarried nearby.

The Pecos National Forest, which is near, affords excellent grazing for large numbers of cattle and horses at a nominal cost. Stock raising is a profitable business.

A great natural pleasure ground abounds in this National Forest, with its grand scenery, its trout streams and big game.

Beautiful mountain resorts within easy access of the city are open all the year for health or pleasure seekers.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 25, 1911.
NEW MEXICO'S TIME TO LAUGH

The constitution proposed for New Mexico was ratified by the people of that territory on Saturday by an immense majority, editorially remarks the Arizona Republican, published at Phoenix. Ratification was confidently expected by all observers of the campaign, although the size of the majority may be somewhat surprising in view of the strong organized opposition by the prohibitionists and a majority of the democratic party. For quite different reasons the democrats and the prohibitionists opposed ratification, but their combined opposition did not muster more than one-third of the total vote.

It would have been astonishing, indeed, if the constitution had failed of ratification. In the later history of the United States there is not an instance of popular rejection of a proposed constitution. The people of a territory are generally so anxious for statehood that they are willing to accept any sort of a constitution which will take them into the union of states. Congress evidently failed to give sufficient weight to this fact when the enabling acts of the two territories were passed. It was quite useless to provide, as congress did, that the people of either territory might reject the first constitution proposed and still gain statehood by framing another constitution and ratifying it. The popular impulse is to accept the first chance offered. And no doubt the situation in both territories has been complicated to some extent by the failure of many people to understand that rejection of the first constitution proposed would not imperil statehood in any way—that the delegates of the first convention would be compelled to reassemble, frame another set of ordinances and submit their work again to the electors.

At any rate, New Mexico promptly jumped at the first opportunity to ratify a constitution, just as Arizona will doubtless do on the 9th of next month.

There is this difference in the status of the two territories just now, however. New Mexico has adopted a constitution which assuredly will be promptly approved at Washington; Arizona is likely to approve a constitution which in all probability will be promptly rejected at Washington.

There is humor in the situation for New Mexico. Arizona had the laugh on her sister territory when, a few years ago, we voted down an offer of congress to admit us with New Mexico as one state. The joke was on New Mexico, because the people of Arizona had turned up their noses at the New Mexicans as undesirable associates in the government of a state. In a somewhat chesty manner we invited the world to witness our self-sacrificing spirit—our preference to "remain a territory forever rather than go into the union hooked up with New Mexico." All mankind was invited to consider the fact that the people of Arizona were eminently superior to the common run of New Mexicans, and that in token of our knowledge of this superiority we had voluntarily chosen to remain a territory. Arizona got some fine advertising out of the deal.

But "poor old New Mexico" bided her time. It soon will be her time to laugh, and her time to get some advertising that is worth while. She will find the door at Washington swinging invitingly open for her, and will indulge in some jeering, we expect, when the same door is shut against the admission of Arizona. New Mexico will be quick to invite public attention to the fact that she has been admitted as a desirable partner by the states, while Arizona—the much de-praised Arizona of a few years ago—has failed, in the judgment of Washington, to show those qualities of conservatism and those capabilities of self-government of which we boasted so much.

However, we have shown the world that we are "for the recall," which possibly will offset the disadvantages of defeat at Washington. It is worth something—maybe—to advertise to the world that we have so little confidence in our ability to elect honest men to office—particularly to the bench—that we wouldn't give up the recall, even for statehood.

NOVEL MODERN ENDOWMENTS

Mr. Carnegie saw the old year out by giving $10,000,000 to promote the cause of peace and international arbitration, and begins a new year by bestowing $10,000,000 more on the Carnegie Institute of Washington, which was founded nine years ago, and two years later, by act of congress was placed under control of a board of twenty-four trustees, with the administration building located in that city. The several gifts by Mr. Carnegie make an endowment of $25,000,000 in registered 5 per cent bonds, yielding an annual income of $1,250,000 for an institution to co-operate with others devoted to science, and "in the broadest and most liberal manner encourages investigations, research and discovery, show the application of knowledge, and provide such buildings, laboratories, books and apparatus as may be needed." It is too soon to attempt to define results, for the foundation has just been laid. But in addition to its publications the institution is engaged, among other things, in constructing a telescope much larger than any yet undertaken, in correcting marine charts by magnetic observations in a vessel of bronze free from deflections of the needle, and in perfecting a method of manufacturing Portland cement anywhere from the commonest materials. The practical side of things is evidently kept in mind by the trustees.

Public libraries having been founded to an extent that meets present requirements, Mr. Carnegie has proceeded to give away millions along original lines. It is not known how an income of $500,000 can be spent on plans to banish war from the world, but the problem is expected to clear by degrees. At all events the money will be used to convince the nations that a regulated policy of disarmament would be a good thing. The Carnegie Hero Fund of $5,000,000, founded in 1904, for the benefit of the dependents of those losing their lives in efforts to save others, and for persons injured in self-sacrificing endeavors, has been in steady operation, and Mr. Carnegie recently made a similar gift to Germany. Pensions for college professors is another system that has been placed in active motion by a Carnegie benefaction. More than any other philanthropist the ironmaster, who made his way up from poverty to a colossal fortune that he prizes chiefly because he can give to what he conceives to be the betterment of mankind, has thought out for himself the objects best worth striving for, and much still remains for him to do if he is to escape the necessity of dying rich.

A nation in which the large benefactions amount to from $150,000,000 to $200,000,000 a year, chiefly for education yet for numerous unusual objects also, is certain to be much discussed in other countries as a land of promise and advanced opportunity. The American scale of giving for public purposes is one of the attractions for the immigration that for a decade has been averaging 800,000 a year. Europe's most notable endowment, the $9,000,000 given by Nobel, the Swedish inventor, has afforded an annual distribution of prizes since 1896 for members of any race who best contribute to "the good of humanity." Men of science are thus honored, but one is included every year, who is decided to have accomplished the most for the fraternization of nations, the abolition or reduction of standing armies and the strengthening of peace congresses. Carnegie, maker of steel for cannon and armored ships, and Nobel, inventor of dynamite, have drawn the line between what is practical today and the ideals for tomorrow according to a liberal judgment.

The election returns thus far received indicate that the Imperial county of San Miguel favors the adoption of the proposed constitution by the tremendous majority of 1,500. Several causes working together contributed to bring about this result. Our county is naturally a republican county and inasmuch as it elected a

SEEK THE RAINBOW'S END

Since Captain Burns of Glasgow began his investigations of the treasure ship of the Spanish armada in Tobermory harbor in 1903, more money has been spent for the recovery of a few misshapen "pieces of eight" than the entire treasure of the armada could have amounted to, remarks the Chicago Tribune. Let no one suppose, however, that this will stop any treasure seeker from continuing his researches, for treasure seeking is a disease, a mania.

So far as is known, no pirate chief has murdered his crew to conceal the location of the treasure at the bottom of Tobermory harbor, its location was always too well known to occasion any attempts at monopoly. The first attempt to recover the fortune was made in 1665, and from that time one fortune hunter or another has moved over the harbor in a fruitless effort to bring some of the Spaniards' wealth to the surface. Now they have suction pumps to lift the sand and mud, and filters to separate crabs from pesos, all at a great expense, and occasionally they do get a handful of pesos, but the expense of operating has far outweighed the possible returns from the ship—still it is treasure hunting and must be persisted in, like the solution of an eternal problem.

Here are a few of the great treasures, lost to the world, which have cost lives, expeditions, disappointments and many sacrifices: The treasurer of Lake Guatavite, the lake of golden sacrifices where billions of South American gold lie in the shadow of the Colombian hills; the hoard in the cave in which Attila, the Hun, stored the reappings from a long career of conquests in the richest provinces of Europe; the municipal treasures which Henry Morgan, the pirate, lost in Nuevitas and Puerto Bello, Cuba, and in Panama; the papal fortunes, estimated at something like $20,000,000, buried somewhere about the old castle of Avignon; the amassed treasures of the Island of Cocos, about $19,000,000. There is also the lost city of Caracorum in Tartary, where millions are fabled to be hidden under stairways; the wealth left by the retreating Romans in various parts of England partially recovered by King John and again lost; the wealth of Genserich the Vandal; the vessels from the temple in Jerusalem that lie at the bottom of the Tiber; the ships full of treasure that Sir Francis Drake sank in the harbor of San Michael's, Azores, and the Brousel hoard in the ruined abbey of St. Bavon at Gand.

None of these has ever been touched. But on every one many thousands of dollars have been spent for expeditions that ended where they began—in dreams—and reported only one thing—failure.

Every one of the treasures named has been sought from one hundred to a thousand times. An expedition which goes after sea treasures isn't a cheap affair. There is a ship to be chartered, a crew to be paid, suction pumps to be bought and divers to be paid. The chance of the recovery of a buried treasure is one in a million. However, that makes no difference to those upon whom the mania of the treasure trove has become fastened, for everyone knows, everyone of these deluded persons who starts on the mission that can end only in failure, is sure that he is the one destined to discover the treasure of another century, the one who, out of all the others, will be fortunate in the quest for riches.

republican delegation to the constitutional convention, the work in which those delegates participated so largely, was accepted. It should not be forgotten, however, that much credit and praise are due to the republican organization of the county and to the men who contributed their time and talents to the important work of seeing that the voters were made to realize the importance of going to the polls last Saturday.

Vermillion county, Illinois, is but a step behind Adams county, Ohio. The city of Danville alone, Speaker Cannon's home town, is supposed to have 2,500 purchasable votes. In the Speaker's own precinct there are seventy-five purchasable votes and one of them is said to be a minister of the gospel. It is also said that the "Soldiers' Home is the first place a candidate heads for." Can this be blamed on the vested interests?

In the same breath the social democrats of the Wisconsin legislature have resolved that the state should own all milk and produce business and that the United States senate should be abolished. Their sense of proportion is so alarmingly acute that they may be expected next to resolve that the price of coal should be ten cents per ton and that the office of president should be filled by a woman.

The blight of poverty has surely struck our fair land. The new president of the Equitable Assurance Society is to receive a paltry $50,000 per year instead of $80,000 and the salary of the incoming head of the Steel Trust is to be cut a few thousand. It is to be hoped that some deserving persons can be found to take the jobs, even at such reduced wages.

Douglas, Ariz., Jan. 25.—Alamos, a town between Montezuma and Hermosillo is now in the hands of Col. Talamantes, a former government commander, who is said to have turned insurrecto rather than arrest his three sons for treason, according to an unofficial report received here. Talamantes took with him into the rebel ranks a detachment of 100 federal troops and with them joined a force of 300 citizens who declared for Madero and against Diaz.

THE FARM MOVEMENT IS ALL WRONG, PROFESSOR BAILEY DECLARES

New York, Jan. 25.—The back-to-the-farm movement is socially, economically, scientifically and politically unsound, in the opinion of Prof. L. H. Bailey, director of the College of Agriculture at Cornell University. "The real solution of present day living problems, Professor Bailey believes, is to get the people back to the villages. Manufacturing establishments should be kept away from the large cities and built in small towns where land is cheap and where every workman can have his own family garden to supply his table with vegetables, his own fruit trees, his own cow and unlimited quantities of pure air.

The country, Professor Bailey told an audience at the Peoples' Forum a few days ago, has enough farmers. It is a great mistake to induce men not equipped by experience or expert training to attempt to run a farm. Such a movement, he said, would only temporarily relieve the congestion of large cities, while the distribution of population among the thousands of villages would absorb the excess at a vastly greater rate.

There has been a general decline of the rural population since 1790, he said, when nine-tenths of the people were on farms. The present census showed that not more than one-fourth lived on the farms, and he believed that in 1920 not more than one-fifth would be on the farms, and that would be enough.

Dr. W. T. Brown and Mrs. Brown drove to Las Vegas today from the Valmore sanitarium in their auto. They spent the day shopping and looking after business affairs.

Mrs. I. F. Taylor of Chicago, a sister of George A. Fleming, has gone to the Valmore sanitarium, where she will remain for several weeks in the hope of improving her health. Miss Woods, who accompanied Mrs. Taylor to Valmore, has returned to Las Vegas.

Vice-President Hodges of the Santa Fe was a visitor in Las Vegas a short time yesterday, while en route in his private car from his home in Chicago to Los Angeles. He was accompanied by his secretary and several other men. Rev. Father Naughton, who is a personal friend of Mr. Hodges, gave a dinner for the party at the Castaneda.

A. M. Blackwell of St. Louis, formerly of the Gross Kelly company, left this afternoon for Albuquerque, where he will visit a few days before returning to his home. Yesterday W. E. Gortner took Mr. Blackwell to the site of the Agua Pura dam and D. T. Hoskins showed him the dry farming district on the mesa. Mr. Blackwell was greatly pleased with what he saw. He still is the holder of considerable property in New Mexico.

NEW SEER FILLS VOID LEFT BY PROF. LEROY

PRINCE TATEM WILLING TO ADVISE YOU ABOUT EVERYTHING AT SO MUCH PER

Information and advice on any old subject, ranging from how to locate a gold mine to the method you must employ to make Her love you or what you must do to make Him kowtow to your superior graces, is again available in Las Vegas at so much per. "Prince Tatem," clairvoyant, astral dead trance medium and ordained minister, is in our midst, supplying the horrible vacancy left in the affections of the city by the departure of the lamented "Professor Leroy" a couple of weeks ago.

"Prince Tatem" is quite modest in his assertions. He is only able to do a few things but he does 'em right, according to his literature which has been freely distributed about the city. Here is his list of accomplishments. If he gets 'em all to working there evidently will be no more business for the divorce courts, disappointments in love will be unheard of and everybody will be rich. In addition Las Vegas will soon become the largest city in the United States because of its reputation as a Utopia.

"Prince Tatem" is a great expounder of the truth. He says he can accomplish the following stunts, so we are compelled to believe him:

Prince Tatem positively can help anyone that needs help.

Prince Tatem makes business go better.

Prince Tatem gains for you the one of your choice for marriage.

Prince Tatem helps and advises in law and legal matters.

Prince Tatem converts your bitter enemies into friends.

Prince Tatem removes family difficulties.

Prince Tatem makes you lucky and successful.

Prince Tatem develops mediums.

Prince Tatem reunites the separated.

Prince Tatem locates hidden treasures.

Prince Tatem removes evil influences.

Prince Tatem settles lover's quarrels.

Prince Tatem points out a way to riches.

Prince Tatem teaches his profession to others.

"Prince Tatem" doubtless is strictly honest in his profession. He may believe in his ability as a seer; and it is not unlikely he has made a careful study of the occult sciences of India, the land in which he claims he was born. But—every one will admit that there are many seers; clairvoyants and mediums who are frauds. Las Vegas had a shining example of that a few days ago when "Professor Leroy" buccaned a citizen of this city out of $117 by a clever ruse. For this reason the city authorities should protect the citizens by refusing to license mediums and clairvoyants.

As was said before "Prince Tatem" may be on the square. Even if he is possessed of all the power he claims, however, Las Vegas doesn't need him. The financial affairs, the general health, the love affairs and the marriages of the past have been uniformly successful and happy. What more do we want? Adios, Prince! Las Vegas, poor, ignorant, unsophisticated Las Vegas, does not appreciate you.

Not Boscley's Style. Lush—That man Boscley is a regular sponge. Nipton—You're unjust to the sponge, old man. Lush—How's that? Nipton—When a sponge gets soaked it loosens up.

The Habit of Complaint. "I suppose you were thankful for the heavy rain." "Oh, yes," replied Farmer Cornosel; "though I don't see why them weather folks couldn't perride to keep it in the fields instead of lettin' it stray around, muddin' up the roads."

Off the List. "What are the ladies of your suffrage club going to do with that member who offended you?" "I don't know," replied Mrs. Votesty Gumm. "But I'm sure it will not be the silence protest."

A Change. Wiggles—She is the belle of the ball. Wiggles—Yes, and the last time I saw her she was a baby. Even now I remember the bawl of the belle.

COUNCIL MAY TAKE UP SEWER QUESTION

ADJOURNED SESSION THIS EVENING OF THAT BODY PROMISES TO BE INTERESTING

It is highly likely that the proposed sewer system for Las Vegas will be discussed at considerable length by the city council at an adjourned session to be held this evening. It was proposed to have the special committee of citizens, which was appointed some time ago by Mayor Goodall to make investigations concerning sewer construction, make a report tonight. However, some of the members of the committee are out of town and others have been immersed in private business for several weeks. For this reason the report may not be heard. The mayor and several councilmen have been acquiring considerable information concerning sewer construction by correspondence with officials of other cities. It is likely they will bring up the matter tonight as it is desired, if it is decided that the sewer will be constructed this year, to have arrangements made for the beginning of work as early as possible.

CHURCH BISHOP ADDRESSES TAFT

Washington, Jan. 25.—Humanitarian and philanthropic efforts of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America were outlined by Bishop E. R. Hendrix, of Kansas City, Mo., president of the council in a speech before President Taft at the White House today. Bishop Hendrix presented the greetings of the council on the occasion of the annual meeting of its executive committee. He said: "Our fathers in the very first amendment to the constitution forbade congress to make any law respecting the establishment of religion, wisely deeming it the duty of the church to establish the state and not the duty of the state to establish the church. Thus from the beginning in the free exercise of their religious views, the various churches have expressed their devotion to the best interests of our common country, notably to Washington and Lincoln, when our national government began and when it was in greatest peril. The memorable responses to these greetings showed how grateful they were to the highest executives in our land in the two preceding centuries. Representing more than 100,000 ministers of the gospel and some 17,000,000,000 communicants, or nine tenths of the Protestants of our country, federated in a permanent organization known as 'The Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America,' we bring Christian greetings to the chief ruler of the greatest nation in history standing for self-government.

notable and permanent federation, not of individual Christians but of churches, and that by the authority and the unanimous action of the highest ecclesiastical assemblies of the land. "Believing with Webster that what makes good Christians makes good citizens, we are glad to state that in addition to the distinctively religious work which is sought to be done by all the churches as never before, such as home and foreign missions and the vital work of evangelism, the federal council of churches is doing in unison humanitarian and philanthropic work calculated at once to bless and to strengthen the nation. Thus through our large standing committees of some two hundred leading ministers and laymen, careful study is being given to the advancement of such great interests as Sunday observance, temperance, the sanctity of the home, the church and social service, and literature and education. "Happy results have attended these efforts in checking race-track gambling, in annulling loose divorce laws, in stopping twelve-hours-a-day labor and that for seven days in the week in certain industries, in bringing about kinder relations between the church and laboring men, in safeguarding the physical and moral well-being of women and children who are bread-winners and in promoting wholesome literature and the better intellectual development of our youth. "In all this we are unitedly seeking the highest welfare of our great nation, whose chief magistrate has our daily prayers and our loyal aid. We rejoice to recognize as president one who is exceptionally acquainted with our great and varied national interests, and who fully commands our confidence so that we are content to see through his eyes a completed Panama canal and the conservation of the best possible good for the Philippines whose little brown men he delights to call brothers."

TOO MANY CHURCHES IN ONE COMMUNITY

SECRETARY OF PRESBYTERIAN BOARD OF FOREIGN MISSIONS POINTS OUT WASTE

Washington, Jan. 25.—Too many churches in one city with the consequent heavy financial drain on communities was the theme of the address last night of the Rev. Dr. Chas. L. Thompson, secretary of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions, at the opening session of the annual meeting of the executive committee of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

Dr. Thompson cited New York as a conspicuous example of the waste of funds on churches. He declared that the platform of the council was sustained by its economy value, its apologetic value and its spiritual power. He said:

"Tourists looking out of car windows on a small town having two churches inquire, why is this waste of the ointment? It is a pity to waste ointment, but for every case of wasteful overlapping out west I will give you a half dozen of far more wasteful overlapping down east.

"It is a pity there should be two little churches in a town of three hundred each drawing a few hundred dollars a year from home mission treasuries. But what about churches crowding each other in the great cities at an outlay of a hundred thousand dollars a year—crowding till they gradually crowd each other off the field and then leave it churchless and hopeless.

"There stands New York in the bad eminence of waste of money beyond any other home mission field I know of. Let no man talk of western overlapping so long as the ecclesiastical history of New York and other capitals is remembered.

"Now for the practical question: What can federation do for home missions? It and it alone can fully standardize home missions. It is for federation to climb to the top of the world, to see and interpret the interplay of moral and spiritual forces. It ought to be a spiritual clearing-house whence values are distributed, and standards are erected.

"As to home missions, federation should be able to say how it is related to the city, to kindred reforms, to world problems and to international policies. In a word what part does it play in God's program for this world?"

"And then what can home missions do for this world? Tensely home missions must accept to the full the responsibility imposed by the larger view and the wider connections. It must live up to its standard value and its responsibility must be local as well as large. Home mission fields must take local responsibility for federation ideals. Federation at the top is a Utopian dream without federation at the bottom."

CATARRH A SPECIFIC BLOOD IMPURITY

Catarrh is a deep-seated blood disease, one which no amount of local treatment will ever permanently cure. The beneficial effects of washes, sprays, inhalations, etc., are only temporary, and when left off the old condition returns, because the blood is infected with catarrhal matter and impurities. This impure condition of the circulation irritates and inflames the delicate mucous membranes and tissues and produces the well known symptoms of ringing noises in the head and ears, mucus in the throat, headaches, watery eyes, partial deafness, sore throat, general impairment of health, etc. This condition will remain, growing worse as long as the catarrhal matter is allowed to remain in the blood. Being a specific blood impurity, there is only one way to cure Catarrh, and that is to purify the blood. Nothing equals S. S. S. for this purpose. It attacks the disease at its head—in the circulation—and by thoroughly renovating the blood and cleansing it of all impure matter, makes a permanent and lasting cure of the disease. For forty years S. S. S. has been recognized as the best blood purifier, and the thousands of cases of Catarrh it has cured is proof that it is the very medicine needed by those who suffer with this trouble. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice free.

DAVIS ELKINS NOT WORRYING ABOUT IT

THE WEST VIRGINIA DEADLOCK MAY LAST AS LONG AS IT PLEASES

Washington, Jan. 25.—There is at least one senator who is in no hurry to see the tangle in the West Virginia legislature by reason of which the titles of the two newly elected senators are in doubt, straightened out. That is Senator Davis Elkins, son of the late Senator Stephen B. Elkins, who was appointed to succeed his father until the legislature should elect. Senator Elkins has found service in the senate very agreeable. His father was well liked there and exerted a large influence and senators on both sides of the chamber have showed marked attention to his son, who has not been made to feel quite so lonesome as the ordinary newcomer.

As a business man of large experience who has learned the value of time, system and concentration, it would be difficult to guess that Mr. Elkins has his own private opinion about the way things are done in the senate, but it is an equally easy guess that he won't express those opinions in his brief stay there.

New senators fall readily into the senate's ways. They start in all fire and enthusiasm, are first at their desks in the morning and pay the closest attention to the proceedings. In a short time, however, they come to see that the danger that the senate will do something in their absence is not very great. They soon realize that the real work of a senator is elsewhere than in the senate and that the principal use of the chamber is as comfortable a place to sit when there isn't anything else to do.

STRENUOUS WORK FOR ATLANTIC FLEET

CUBAN WATERS THE SCENE OF SEVERE DRILL FOR THE BIG BATTLESHIPS

Washington, Jan. 25.—The Atlantic fleet, which has inaugurated winter drills in Cuban waters, was put through lessons in the art of war on a minor scale last week. Rear Admiral Seaton Schroeder, commander-in-chief of the fleet, in a telegram to the navy department from Calmanera, Cuba, reported the results of the week's work.

Armored cruisers and scouts spent the week principally in preparing for the steaming trials which will be held during the current week. On last Wednesday, the fourth division of the fleet landed a regiment commanded by Captain Hood for encampment and practice with small arms. Several ships of the fleet exercised with boats, boat guns and field pieces, as well as carrying out anchors and swimming. The scouts conducted torpedo exercises at Samana bay, while the Dixie and the torpedo flotilla began the "battle practice" at Cape Cruz. The battleships successfully completed their four hour full power trials and at the time Admiral Schroeder's dispatch was sent were engaged in twenty-hour endurance trials.

B. F. KEITH IS 65

New York, Jan. 25.—Benjamin F. Keith, the well-known theatrical manager, celebrated his 65th birthday anniversary today. Mr. Keith is a product of New England. He began his career as a candy "butcher" with a small traveling circus and subsequently opened a dime museum in Boston. He was one of the pioneers in the vaudeville field and is now the proprietor of a chain of successful theaters extending from Boston to the middle west.

ROOSEVELT'S NEXT HUNT

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 25.—Colonel Roosevelt probably will visit British Columbia soon in quest of big game. Game Warden Abraham Williams of this province said yesterday that he had written a letter to Roosevelt asking to come. When Roosevelt was in England on his return from Africa he saw the big game that had been shot here by Mr. Graham of Sussex and expressed a desire to hunt in British Columbia.

Many persons find themselves affected with a persistent cough after an attack of influenza. As this cough can be promptly cured by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, it should not be allowed to run on until it becomes troublesome. Sold by all druggists.

MRS. KNOX ONE OF BEST DRESSED WOMEN

COSTUMES OF THE SECRETARY'S WIFE ATTRACT ATTENTION IN WASHINGTON

Washington, Jan. 25.—Mrs. Knox, wife of the secretary of state, who is again the central figure in many of official companies, is one of the notably well-dressed women of the capital, with a wardrobe built with due regard for the requirements of her position and suited to the styles and personality of the wearer, which, according to the highest authority, is the secret of good dressing. In the language of David Belasco, Mrs. Knox dresses the part, the result being quite as happy in a drawing room as on the stage.

At dinner a few evenings ago she wore a wonderful gown of panne velvet of the new iridescent effect, changing from pink to mauve, which was made with the short square train in vogue for the narrow skirts and a charmingly arranged panel front of tulle.

The latter is wide at the waist line, but comes to a narrow point at the knees, where the velvet is drawn into a long looped knot with the ends to fall over a close velvet underskirt, trimmed in a four-inch band of silver embroidery. The tulle panel, if so it may be called, is also embroidered in silver and given the same changeable effect as the velvet by an interlining of mauve tulle, while the low bodice is of silver tissue draped in the two tones of tulle.

There is a distinct and altogether normal waist line shown on this gown, a broad band of velvet being folded across the back, but allowed to fall open in front, each end being tipped by a silver tassel. The intervening space of possibly two inches is covered by a narrow belt of the silver tissue. The top of the corsage and the short kimono sleeves are of the silver embroidered pink tulle.

RETURNS TO SECRETARY

Santa Fe, N. M., Jan. 25.—The official returns are not being received as rapidly by Territory Secretary Nathan Jaffa as they should be. It seems that in some instances, county as well as election officials disregarded the instruction to send the pollbooks direct to the territorial secretary and have made the returns to the county clerk. The returns should be sent at once to the territorial secretary at Santa Fe so that the vote can be canvassed on February 6th.

LAWYERS IN SESSION

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 25.—Many prominent jurists and lawyers are in Columbia attending the twelfth annual meeting of the South Carolina Bar association, which began today and will continue over tomorrow. The presiding officer is Gen. M. L. Benham of Anderson. His presidential address and the annual address to be delivered by Congressman E. W. Saunders of Virginia, are among the leading features of the program.

CANADIAN CLUB BANQUET

Boston, Jan. 25.—The proposed joint celebration of a century of amity between Canada and the United States will be discussed at the banquet tomorrow night of the Canadian club of Boston. The guest of honor and chief speaker will be Dr. Michael Clark, of the Province of Alberta, who will speak on "The New West, Immigration and Free Trade."

Catarrh Goes

SO DOES SORE THROAT, BRONCHITIS, CROUP AND ASTHMA

You can easily tell by reading the symptoms below, whether you have catarrh or not:

Offensive breath, frequent sneezing, discharge from the nose, stoppage of the nose, huskiness of the voice, tickling in throat, droppings in throat, a cough, pain in chest, loss of strength, variable appetite, spasms of coughing, low spirited at times, raising of mucus, difficulty in breathing, loss of vital force.

E. G. Murphy has a sensible remedy (money back if it fails) for catarrh, called HYOMEI (pronounced High-ome) which is a vaporized air, so antiseptic, that when it is breathed over the inflamed and germ-infested membrane, it kills all germ life, gives relief in two minutes, and cures catarrh.

The price, including hard rubber pocket inhaler, is only $1.00. The inhaler will last a lifetime, so that should you need a second bottle of HYOMEI, you can get it for 50 cents. Ask E. G. Murphy.

ENGLISH MEALS SHORTENED

Tendency Now is Toward Decrease of Number of Dishes and Increase in Speed of Service.

When George Ticknor was in England more than seventy years ago he was often amazed at the length of time spent over the two formal meals of the day, breakfast and dinner. It was nothing unusual for the former to last for a couple of hours, while a dinner might start at 8:30 and be protracted till midnight! And the courses were as many and substantial as the meals were lengthy. But times have changed. With regard to dinners recent years have witnessed, says a qualified observer, considerable alteration as to the number of dishes. Formerly a constant subject of complaint with regard to dinner parties was that there were too many courses, but if things go on as they have been going of late, guests will soon begin to complain that they have had no dinner at all, the fashionable modern tendency being to give a very light entrée in place of the joint. This and another entrée, soup, a little fish, and a very light sweet seem to be considered sufficient dinner for even a large party; and those guests who do not care for the entrees get practically no dinner at all. In addition to this, everything is served at such lightning speed that it is as much as one can do to swallow the few mouthfuls called dinner before one's plate is snatched away.

The peculiar properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy have been thoroughly tested during epidemics of influenza, and when it was taken in time we have not heard of a single case of pneumonia. Sold by all druggists.

A MEASURE OF MERIT

East Las Vegas Citizens Weigh Well This Evidence

Proof of merit lies in the evidence. Convincing evidence in East Las Vegas. Is not the testimony of strangers, but the endorsement of East Las Vegas people. That's the kind of proof given here—

The statement of an East Las Vegas citizen. Mrs. L. J. Meyer, 325 Railroad Ave., East Las Vegas, N. M., says: "In 1902 a member of our household gave a public statement in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills and confirmed it in January, 1907. This person thinks as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills now as he did then. This remedy brought complete relief from kidney trouble, which was evidenced by pains in the back and other annoying difficulties. We have procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the Center Block Pharmacy and have been so greatly benefited by them that we can speak highly in their favor."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Baseball or track; either or both? is the question that soon will have to be decided by the athletic boards of the Normal University and the High school. Both schools are favorable to going in strong for both these branches of athletics, but the faculty authorities have not yet decided as to whether it is advisable to attempt to organize both track and baseball teams. The Normal University has had challenges from the University of New Mexico and other schools for baseball games. It is the Normal, however, that first began the agitation for the adoption of track athletics in the territory. The Normal boys say they have the material from which may be organized excellent teams for both baseball and track.

The Business Men's basketball team and the Normal five will clash Saturday evening on the Y. M. C. A. court in the third game of the association series, unless the stock market and other business affairs detract the Business Men's attention from the game. The business men have two teams. One is made up of fat men and the other of lean men. They are undecided as to whether to pit the shinies or the heavyweights against the Normal or pick a "bacon" aggregation, half lean and half fat. At all events there will be much doing when the game begins.

The Normal faculty was pleasantly surprised yesterday upon opening an express package from Santa Fe to find within a new set of thermometers for the weather observation station. The weather apparatus is being mounted on a frame standard erected on the campus. This is solidly built and will not yield to any sort of a wind of less magnitude than a cyclone.

NEGRO TOUCHED IN RAILROAD AVE. DIVE

"SUGAR FOOT" CHARLEY WILSON NOT ONLY LOSES ROLL BUT IS FINED FOR FIGHTING

"Sugar Foot" Charley Wilson, colored, inserted his saccharine pedal into considerable trouble when he got into a wrangle with Lucinda Nance, also colored, last night. This morning Wilson was brought into the court of Justice D. R. Murray and was assessed $15 and costs after a hearing of the evidence in the case.

Wilson, who is employed by J. D. Hand as a cook at his ranch at Los Alamos, allowed his sweetened foot to bring him to town yesterday. He had a comfortable little roll in his pocket and started out to convert it into a good time. It is said he purchased a few drinks of that good old "mule" as a preliminary. Then he hunted up some of his lady friends, arriving early in the evening at the resort on the corner of Railroad avenue and Tilden street. Wilson pried loose a few greenbacks off his roll and lots of fun reigned.

The Nance woman, it is said, became affectionate and clasped Wilson about the neck and told him he was a Lulu-bird and other nice things. Upon reaching into his pocket a short time later Wilson asserts he found, in place of his money, a package of cigarette papers and a ten cent piece.

He jumped to the conclusion that the Nance woman had touched him and started to demand a search when he was informed by another fast black gentleman the police were after him and he had better beat it. Wilson left, going to the Cabinet saloon on Railroad avenue. A short time later hangers on of that place heard a scuffle at the back door. They ran to investigate and found Wilson and the Nance woman engaged in a lively scuffle. The woman had come to the saloon to purchase a pair of beer and Wilson had intercepted her can-rushing excursion. He was arrested.

The resort in which Wilson claims he was touched is a low dive. It is the place in which two women were arrested a few days ago. The police are determined to wipe the place off the map and are intending to make an investigation of the disappearance of Wilson's money. The neighborhood is incensed at the carousals held in the resort. The police are disappointed at the legal turn which prevented the sever punishment of the people arrested last week, but intend to secure evidence which will be so conclusive as to give the inmates of the place such a punishment they will be glad to get out of town.

New York, Jan. 25.—Two thousand persons of the Paulist Father church, the home of a wealthy uptown Roman Catholic congregation, last night saw a man run up the center aisle of the church with a bottle filled with some dark colored liquid, which he

NO MORE FLIGHTS BY GLENN CURTISS

A $10,000 INSURANCE POLICY WILL HELP TO KEEP THE AVIATOR DOWN

New York, Jan. 25.—Glenn H. Curtiss, winner of the international cup at Rheims in 1909, has just taken out a $10,000 life insurance policy, in which he agrees to abandon aeroplane flights. If Curtiss makes another flight he will forfeit the $10,000 policy. When Curtiss applied for the policy some time ago he was told that the company declined to accept aviators.

"Will any good company accept me?" Curtiss asked.

"Not unless you promise not to go up in an airship after the policy has been issued," was the reply. "Aviators are considered poor risks—in fact, we won't have anything to do with them."

Curtiss, his friends say, will devote his time to building aeroplanes and trying further to perfect them. They added that his wife was largely responsible for his decision to cease flying. Curtiss is 33 years old. He was born at Hammondsport, N. Y. While constructing a motor for a dirigible balloon he became interested in aviation and finally developed his own type of biplane, with which he flew from Albany to New York in 2 hours and 33 minutes for a prize of $10,000.

He is the first republican governor elected since 1881. Governor Hooper opened his inaugural address with a plea that in the future the people of Tennessee "settle their political difficulties within legal and constitutional limitations."

PARRICIDE CONFESSES

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 25.—John Drost, the 22-year-old farm hand, who shot and killed his father, Peter Drost, at their dairy near North Bend yesterday, admits that the crime was not committed in the heat of anger, but that he had planned it for two days and had experimented with an automatic pistol and rifle, finally deciding on a shotgun as the most effective. He shot his father through the neck, but the old man lingered two hours.

POLITICS BEHIND THE DANVILLE INQUIRY

THIS FACT MAY DEFEAT PUR- POSE OF INVESTIGATION OF ALLEGED VOTE BUYING

NOTHING DOING THERE TODAY

INABILITY OF SHERIFF SHEPARD TO SERVE SUBPOENAS GIVEN AS CAUSE

PEOPLE ARE NOT INTERESTED

FORGET CIVIC FEATURE BE- CAUSE OF OVERSHADOWING POLITICAL SIDE

Danville, Ill., Jan. 25.—The inability of Sheriff Shepard to serve subpoenas in the grand jury investigation of the alleged traffic in votes in Vermillion county, forecasted a quiet day today. Few politicians familiar with the situation believe the grand jury will achieve the result it seeks. The general view was expressed today by one of the politicians mentioned in the vote scandal, who said: "Politics stands at every angle of this thing and the people are forgetting the civic feature of it in watching the political angle."

LABOR LEADERS CONVICTED

STATEHOOD SPECIAL LOOKS LIKE A GO

GOVERNOR MILLS ENDORSES THE PROPOSITION—SANTA FE WILL MAKE SPECIAL RATE

Santa Fe, N. M., Jan. 25.—"Of course you can count me in on the statehood special, provided I can arrange for the leave of absence from the territory," said Governor W. J. Mills when questioned as to his going to Washington to take the election returns to the president on a special train. "It is a splendid idea and I hope that every man who can will arrange to be one of the party."

The proposition to run a statehood special train to Washington, after the statehood election returns have been canvassed, has made an instantaneous hit with the people of the territory and there is no longer any doubt that it will be an easy matter to find enough men to fill the special train. The latter, it was learned yesterday, will be furnished by the Santa Fe company, which will make the rate approximately $162 for the round trip, including Pullman accommodations, provided approximately one hundred men are secured to make the trip. Passengers on the special will have the privilege of stopping over in the national capital for any reasonable length of time and the return trip may be made over any reasonably direct route.

FIGHT FOR PANAMA EXPOSITION IN 1915 TO BE SETTLED NEXT WEEK

CONTEST HAS GROWN BITTER

MEMBERS TO GO ON RECORD

ROLL WILL BE CALLED AND CITY EACH FAVORS IS TO BE THE ANSWER GIVEN

Washington, Jan. 25.—It will be left to the full membership of the house of representatives to determine whether San Francisco or New Orleans shall have the right of way in the Panama exposition fight now raging before congress. The house committee on rules, after hearing a sharp tilt between the rival interests and pending an executive consideration of the calling of the roll of the house members next Tuesday. Every member who favors the Pacific coast city for the exposition will answer "San Francisco," while those who are in favor of the gulf metropolis, will answer "New Orleans." Whichever city wins in the roll call will have the right to call up its legislation for immediate consideration. Measures favoring both San Francisco and New Orleans are pending in the house and the action of the rules committee today shifts to the full membership of the house the burden of deciding which city shall be given the preference.

NEAR TRAGEDY IN CAPITAL CITY HOTEL

FATHER ALL BUT MURDERS BRUTE WHO ATTEMPTED TO ASSAULT HIS DAUGHTER

According to reports from Santa Fe, a big scandal broke out in that city a few days ago but is being suppressed on account of the prominence and influence of some of the people concerned. It is said one of the largest and most popular hotels in the Ancient City was the scene of a bloody battle between an irate father and a man from the southern part of the territory. The latter was so badly beaten up he could scarcely stand and was placed in a carriage and driven to Lamy in order that he might be taken out of town before his assailant came back and killed him. Killing would have been too good for the man if he had accomplished what he attempted but he was frustrated in the attempt.

CORPORATION IS PLANNED

It is now proposed by the baseball association and prominent men of Las Vegas to incorporate a company for the control of Amusement park. This it is believed, will afford the most satisfactory means of managing the property and keeping it in good condition for baseball, races and other outdoor events. A stock company, it is thought, could make sufficient money to keep the park in repair and pay some dividends on the stock.

The track at the park is now in fair condition, due to the large amount of work that has been done on it recently. It will be further improved in the near future. The high wind of a few days ago blew down a section of the fence. This will be repaired at once. The park represents an outlay of considerable money and its proper protection is a necessity.

MRS. SCHENK BREAKS DOWN

Wheeling, W. Va., Jan. 25.—Apparently unmoved by the bitter invective from Assistant Prosecutor Fred L. Maury, in his opening argument, late yesterday, before the grand jury, that is trying the case against Laura Farnsworth Schenk, charged with administering poison to her husband, the prisoner today broke down and sobbed almost continuously while her own attorneys—three of them—presented their side to the jury. ## COLONEL ROOSEVELT TO VISIT TERRITORY

EX-PRESIDENT, ROUGH RIDER AND EDITOR WILL BE IN AL- BUQUERQUE FEB. 15

Albuquerque, N. M., Jan. 25.—Dee-lighted! Welcome to our fair city and back to the woods for all malefactors of much lucre, fakirs of the natural, frequenters of the resort dedicated to Annals, undesirable citizens and untruthful liars, for—Colonel T. Roosevelt is coming to town!

The colonel is coming, as he usually does, like a bolt from the blue and that all Albuquerque will turn out to see him goes without saying; for the more this strenuous citizen is liked, the fresher he returns to the fray, and the more we are reminded that he is immensely popular in spite of himself.

It all comes off on the 15th of February next. Ex-Governor George Curry telephoned the news in some excitement from Santa Fe last night and that there will be a hurried mobilization of the Rough Riders in New Mexico needs no repetition.

Colonel Roosevelt is going to Arizona to confer with some of his friends down in that balliwic and will stop off here between trains to shake the hands of his old comrades and tell us how sorry he is that he couldn't sign our statehood bill.

GOVERNMENT MAY PROSECUTE SEE

FOUNDER OF DISGUSTING ABSO- LUTE CULT REGARDED AS A WHITE SLAVER

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Evelyn Arthur See, founder of the Absolute Lift Cult, now under arrest on police charges, has received the attention of state and United States officials. Simultaneous investigations were begun which, it is said, may result in See being diverted from city prosecution which carries only a jail sentence, to government prosecution which carries a penitentiary sentence.

Charles F. Dewoody, of the federal department of justice is investigating a charge that See brought Hazel Dranner to this city from Indiana. If the girl is found, prosecution under the white slave act is likely to follow.

State's Attorney Wyman spent a large part of yesterday with Mona Reese and Mildred Bridges, disciples of the cult, who were arrested with See when the home in which all three were living was raided. The cases against the girls were dropped in order that they might testify against See before the grand jury.

HOWEVER, IT IS ATTRIBUTED TO IGNITION OF EITHER POWDER OR GAS

DAM NEARS COMPLETION

Within three weeks the Agua Fura company's new dam in the Peterson canyon will have been completed, according to the estimate of those engaged in its construction. Work on the dam has been rushed ever since its beginning last fall. Night shifts have been used for some time. The reservoir will hold a large amount of water and will enable the Agua Fura company to handle its increasing business with complete satisfaction to its patrons. Increased storage facilities will do away with the murky water troubles of some of the recent summers. The Agua Fura company is always on the alert to provide the best possible service.

BRIDGES FOR RIO GRANDE

Washington, Jan. 25.—Two bridges across the Rio Grande in New Mexico, one at the pueblo of San Felipe and one at the pueblo of Ileta, will be constructed at a cost of $55,000, chiefly by Indian labor, as the result of an amendment by Delegate Andrews incorporated in the Indian appropriation bill, which passed the senate yesterday. ### TWELVE BUILDINGS, INCLUDING A BANK, DESTROYED AT WINKLEMAN

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 25.—Word was received from Winkelman early today that a fire had destroyed twelve buildings, among them the Bank of Winkelman. As the town is small the buildings burned are believed here to embrace a large part of the business section.
