BIG FINANCIAL LOSS.

The Yellow Peyer Plague Means a Loss of Millions to C mmerce.

NEW ORLEANS, La , October 4 .- I s generally admitted in New Orleans that the yellow fever is spreading and the disease will have a very depressing effect on commerce. Dr. Joseph Ho 1, former president of the board of hearth and originator of the prevailing system of maritime quarantine, a gentlema every way competent to judge, say that in his opinion, the yellow fever here, and the consequent source and general quarantine which has been d clared against New Orleans, means a loss of $25,000,000 to this city. Mobile, Ala., is the only other city of prominence affected and will lose, Dr Holt thinks, $3,000,000, which with other losses in his judgment, may make the total about $58,000,000. This aggregate loss account will be quite gen-erally distributed, the merchants and railroads being the chief sufferers.

[Written for THE OPTIC.] ligious celebrity, and of great rejoicing and enjoyment to their benored guests. The crowds from the surrounding country invaded the little town since the eve of the great fiests, and the religious ceremonies opened with solemn vespers, the celebrant being Rev M. A. D. Rivers, assisted by Revs. Maurice Olier and Adrian Rabeyrolle. The usual chants customary in the Catholic church were sung. To this, the meody of the organ and the sweet voices of the good, Sisters added much solemnity and inspiring devotion.

On the next day, the feast of the Great Archangel was properly celebrated with grand high mass, the officiating priest being the Very Rev J. H. Defourl, assisted by Revs. Maurice Olier and Adrian Rabeyrolle, as deacon and sub-deacon, and Rev. T. P. O'Keefe acting as master of ceremonies.

The long contest over the ownership of the 'Washington' mine, a: Cochult, was decided in favor of Henry Lockhart, of A'buquerque, the case being reversed and remended. Lockhart had grub-steked the original locators, and this decision is of far-reaching effect, as regards the rights of those who gtub-stake micing prospectors.

In the matter of the absorption of the Santa Fe electric company, on which George C. Hitchcock, of Boston, had a $20,000 mortgage, by the Santa Fe gas and electric company, the decree of the lower court was so modified as to require the two corporations and the sureties on the appeal bond to pay any deficiency arising after the sale of the property.

The sermon of the day was ably de-livered by Rev. J B, Ralliere, of Tome. His sermon was both pathetic and instructive, in as much as he eloquently referred to the early times of the church in New Mexico. In his sermon, the orator took the audience forty years back, when he, with his good friend, the worthy pastor of San Mi-gnel, left La Belle, France, crossed the plains, endangering their lives for the sake of those who in their holy mission had been entrusted to them.

The altar was most beautifully decorated with palms, vines and lilies. This church is particularly noted for its fine statuary, being brought to this country by its worthy pastor, Rev. J. B. Fayet, and be it said to the great honor of this good man, that all the success acquired, not only on this great occasion, but for the educational institution of which the little town of San Miguel can well be proud of, Senora enetta, the superior of this institution of learning, is a zealous missionary and thoroughly fitted for the high position. Her efforts and amisbility have greatly contributed toward making a success of this just at present one of the most noted schools of which New Mexico can boast.

PLATONIC LOVE!

A Las Vegas Young Man Wants to Know About It, You Know. To the Editor of the Opti.

LAS VEGAS, N. M., October 4th, In by gone years, the belief in Platonic love was very strong. But in this age of energy and common sense, we seem to have left it far behind, like an oldhalf-forgotten tradition-in; fact, it is proven at the present time that such a thing never did nor never could exist. But there are many similar cases of this seeming malady around Las Vegas. Some wives are gazing on Piatonic firtations seemingly unmoved, and many husbands, whose wives are enjoying this same Platonic affection from others, seem to accept this state of affairsis inevitable, because society seems to be growing so lax in its morals. Society must ever be in this state so long as its better cines of women and men encourage and shut their eyes to these existing cir camstances Whenever the time comes that they will censure bad as bad, and praise good as good, then just so soon will a change come for the better in our social affairs Whenever we discountenance the positions held in society by some of our people, these positions that have been secured through influence or money, and learn that a good, noble wife and mother and a sweet, pure. young girl are the only queens before the whole world must bow, then and not until then will come the change that every good man or woman mos-
