"LONG LIVE SPAIN"

The Words Used By the Murderer of Minister Canovas, Occurring Yesterday.

SCIENTISTS IN SESSION

The Klondyke Fever Is Still Raging Throughout the Effete East.

AMERICAN MINERS WARNED

MADRID, August 9.—Senor Canovas del Castillo, prime minister of Spain, was assassinated yesterday by an anarchist. The murderer fired three shots at Canovas stepped into the pool, two of which struck the premier in the head, the third in the chest. The wounded man lingered almost unconscious for two hours and died at 9 o'clock. He was in agony for an hour before he passed away, constantly crying, "Long Live Spain." The murderer took place at Santa Agueda, a noted watering place, famous for baths, and the summer residence of the Spanish court. The premier was taking a three weeks' course of treatment. It is believed that the deed is the outcome of a vast anarchist conspiracy, as the murder was well planned.

MADRID, August 10.—The queen regent has appointed Gen. Aecarria, minister of war and provisional premier, in the place of Senor Canovas, who was assassinated at the Sulphur baths of Santa Agueda, yesterday, by an Italian anarchist. The true name of the assassin is Miguel Goki. The belief is general in Madrid that Senor Sagasta and a liberal cabinet will shortly take office. Gen. Campos has been summoned to Madrid by the queen, and will arrive tomorrow. The official report of the murder, made public today, gives interesting details of the sad event.

Senor Canova's wife was among the first to reach the scene. She turned to Goki and cried "murderer." The assassin, who still held the smoking pistol, answered the grief-stricken woman, "I respect you, because you are an honest lady. I have fulfilled my duty and am satisfied, having avenged my brothers of Mont Jubah." The body of Canovas will lie in state at Madrid and the public will be admitted to view the body. State funerals have been decreed in all the towns, and United States Minister Taylor was the first foreign minister to send condolences to the queen regent and bereaved family.

The murderer of Canovas is in prison. He is a printer, and his right name is Michael Angliko.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 9.—The state department this morning prepared an official message of condolence to Spain. Secretary Sherman will sign it for the president as soon as authority to do so is received.

Secretary Sherman believes that the death of Canovas will have a marked effect on the Cuban situation. In government circles generally, here, it is practically conceded that the liberal party in Spain, under the leadership of Sagasta, will form a new cabinet and one of its first acts will be the probable recall of Weyler, with the prospect that he will be succeeded there by General Campos. It is well known here that Minister Woodford had very important instructions, and the belief is that they were of such a nature that will now compel the McKinley administration either to issue entirely new instructions or modify those now in the hands of the envoy at Madrid. It is learned also that Secretary Sherman had all the papers and correspondence relating to Spanish and Cuban affairs inspected carefully. There is much speculation in official circles as to the course the administration will now pursue regarding the Cuban question. It has been confidently expected, for two months or more, that in the near future McKinley, in conjunction with the secretary of state, would soon formulate and declare a Cuban policy acceptable to the American public.

Sherman, this afternoon cabled confidentially to Spain.

TORONTO, N. Y., August 9.—Eduardo Palma, of the Cuban junta, says: "I have no sympathy with the assassin, but I can't help but feel that the act was one of retribution. Canovas more than Weyler was responsible for the cruelties practiced by the Spanish soldiers in Cuba."

American Miners Warned. MONTREAL, Canada, August 9.—American miners who go into the Canadian section of the Yukon gold fields will be confronted by two British Mexican guns in the hands of mounted police. This is the decision of the dominion government, and the two guns will leave Victoria on Saturday next. The case is that the government is determined to leave nothing undone to maintain law and order, and enforce regulations.

SEATTLE, Washington, August 9.—The railroads are running all trains in here in sections, to accommodate the tremendous increase of travel on account of the Klondyke rush. The "Empire," "Williamette," sailed for St. Michaels this morning with an average of 100 passengers. The "Empire,"

HIGH SCIENCE.

The World's Greatest Dreamers Compare Notes About the World's Wonders.

DETROIT, Michigan, August 9.—The world's leaders in science, fully one thousand in number, are gathered here today under the auspices of the American association for the advancement of science. It is the forty-sixth annual conference of this notable organization and a quarter of a century has elapsed since it last assembled in the City of the Straits. The arrangements for the gathering, which will continue for a week, have been in the hands of a committee of influential Michiganians, including Governor Pingree, George V. N. Eshrop, ex-minister to Russia; Thomas W. Palmer, ex-minister to Spain; Edward F. Hall, ex-ambassador to Germany; James G. Parkhurst, ex-minister to Belgium; William E. Quinn, ex-minister to The Hague; Dr. James B. Angell, minister to Turkey; ex-Postmaster General Don M. Dickinson, and Justice Henry B. Brown, of the supreme court of the United States. A feature of the gathering is that the association does not meet as a collective body but, after the opening session, in separate conventions known as "sections," and its business consists exclusively in the reading and discussion of papers relating to scientific matters. It is a gathering of the elite of the scientific world, of the learned savants of the educational institutions of this country and Europe and of thoughtful men in all branches of natural history, philosophy and the various arts. A transcript of the names registered at headquarters with the institutions or localities represented by the visitors fills four columns of newspaper type and the immensity of the combination of gatherings can therefore be imagined. The unusually large attendance is due to the fact that the British or international association for the advancement of science meets in Toronto, next week, and is to be participated in by most of the visitors to the present gathering. The American chemical society and the American mathematical society, both of which bodies hold their annual meetings here, this week, having also added to the large total of visitors.

The large auditorium of the new Central High School building was filled to overflowing at 10 o'clock, this morning, on the occasion of the joint opening exercises of the conference. Owing to the death, last April, of Prof. Edward E. Cope, of Philadelphia, president of the association, Professor Theodore Gill, of Washington, called the meeting to order and introduced the president-elect, Professor Wolcott Gibbs, of Newport. Addresses of welcome were delivered by Mayor William C. Maybury and Hon. Thomas W. Palmer, chairman of the executive committee of Citizens of Michigan. An appropriate reply was made by President Gibbs and the exercises closed.

The section on mathematics and astronomy organized this afternoon. Prof. W. W. Beman, of the University of Michigan, who was chosen as chairman, devoted his annual address to "A Chapter in the History of Mathematics."

The department of physics was presided over by Dr. Karl Rany, of Brown University, Providence, and who delivered an address upon "Long Range Temperature and Pressure Variability in Physics."

The section on Mechanical Science and Engineering was jointly presided over by Prof. John Gilbraith, of Toronto, and Prof. John J. Frazer, of Purdue University, Lafayette. Prof. Gilbraith's opening address was devoted to the ground work of dynamics.

Prof. I. C. White, of the University of West Virginia, presided over the section devoted to geology and geography and spoke at length on the Pittsburgh coal bed.

Prof. L. O. Howard, of the Department of Agricultural at Washington, was selected as chairman of the section on zoology, and delivered an interesting address on the spread of species by the agency of man with special reference to insects.

Prof. Geo. E. A. Kinson, of Cornell University, was the presiding officer of the section of Botany. His address was devoted to "Experimental Morphology."

Prof. W. J. McGee, of the Bureau of American Ethnology at Washington, was chairman of the Anthropological Section. In his opening address he considered "The Science of Humanity."

The section on sociology and economic science, was presided over by Prof. R. T. Coburn, of Elizabeth, N. J. His inaugural address was devoted to the subject of "Improvement Civilization."

To-night the delegates will be entertained at a reception and a round of trolley and river rides have been arranged for every evening this week.

Textile Workers in Session. PARIS, France, August 9.—The International congress of textile workers opened here, today. England and the continental countries are represented, while some of the French delegates hold American proxies. The convention is of socialist tendencies and will discuss the eight-hour day, the political emancipation of the workers and kindred advanced subjects.

Drowned Her Son. QUINCY, Ga., August 9.—Mabel Powell Backs, wife of a wealthy cotton planter, is the county jail, charged with murdering her son, Albert. She confessed and said she wanted to be hanged as soon as possible; said the boy was ugly and lacking intelligence. This was one of the most important battles in the west during the war. The coroner will continue tomorrow.

Veterans Celebrating. WILSON'S CREEK, Missouri, Aug 9.—Veterans from Iowa, Kansas, Texas, Missouri and Arkansas are gathered here, to celebrate the anniversary of the battle of Wilson's Creek, and at which the troops from these states particularly distinguished themselves. This was one of the most important battles in the west during the war. The coroner will continue tomorrow.

AN AMERICAN IN PRISON

CHICAGO, Ill., August 9.—The criminal court building and its approaches were packed this morning, with people of morbid tendencies in anticipation of the trial of Adolph Leutgert, the millionaire sausage manufacturer, and who is charged with murdering his wife and disposing of the body in a cauldron of acid. It will be one of the most sensational murder trials that has ever taken place in this country and additional interest will attach to the developments from the fact that the case of the state is purely circumstantial. In a nutshell the case of the commonwealth is that Leutgert and his wife were on bad terms, that he lured her into his factory, either murdered her first and placed the body in the vat or threw her bodily, while alive, and that owing to the nature of the contents of the vat he told the tale save a few fragments of corroded metal, that according to the prosecution, were once buttons or jewelry worn by the alleged victim. The case for the commonwealth will mainly rest on scientific evidence, while for the defense will rest on the fact that the woman whose date of her alleged death, in fact many who know her believe that she will furnish a dramatic ending of the trial by appearing in person in the court room. State's Attorney Censen said, today, that the hearing would last fully six weeks. The state has sixty witnesses and it has taken half a dozen draftsmen to prepare the maps and charts needed to elucidate their evidence. William A. Vincent, ex-chief justice of New Mexico, is the leading counsel for the accused man. The testimony of Professors Desfontaine and Haines will add a new chapter to scientific investigation as their experiments have demonstrated that an alkali solution such as used in Leutgert's factory will decompose fish rapidly and so disintegrate the bone that it will crumble at the slightest touch.

The case for the commonwealth will mainly rest on scientific evidence, while for the defense will rest on the fact that the woman whose date of her alleged death, in fact many who know her believe that she will furnish a dramatic ending of the trial by appearing in person in the court room. State's Attorney Censen said, today, that the hearing would last fully six weeks. The state has sixty witnesses and it has taken half a dozen draftsmen to prepare the maps and charts needed to elucidate their evidence. William A. Vincent, ex-chief justice of New Mexico, is the leading counsel for the accused man. The testimony of Professors Desfontaine and Haines will add a new chapter to scientific investigation as their experiments have demonstrated that an alkali solution such as used in Leutgert's factory will decompose fish rapidly and so disintegrate the bone that it will crumble at the slightest touch.

CHICAGO, Ill., August 9.—The criminal court building and its approaches were packed this morning, with people of morbid tendencies in anticipation of the trial of Adolph Leutgert, the millionaire sausage manufacturer, and who is charged with murdering his wife and disposing of the body in a cauldron of acid. It will be one of the most sensational murder trials that has ever taken place in this country and additional interest will attach to the developments from the fact that the case of the state is purely circumstantial. In a nutshell the case of the commonwealth is that Leutgert and his wife were on bad terms, that he lured her into his factory, either murdered her first and placed the body in the vat or threw her bodily, while alive, and that owing to the nature of the contents of the vat he told the tale save a few fragments of corroded metal, that according to the prosecution, were once buttons or jewelry worn by the alleged victim. The doctor may be a good old man, but even so, medical examinations and the local application of treatment are abundant to every modest woman. They are undoubtedly often needless. They should not be resorted to until every thing else has been tried. There is no reason for them. In nine cases out of ten, the doctor in general practice is not competent to treat female ailments. They treat a branch of medicine by themselves. They are distinct from other ailments. They can be properly treated. Dr. K. V. IMPORTANT DECISION.

The Supreme Court decides the "White Ash" Mine Case—R. E. Twitchell Complimented.

From the Santa Fe New Mexican. The Territorial supreme court on yesterday handed down a decision in case No. 664 the Cerillos Coal Railroad company, plaintiff in error, vs. Josephina Meserant, administratrix, defendant in error, the decision having been given by Justice N. C. Collier and pronounced by Justice Twitchell.

The case was heard in the court of the first judicial district, Judge N. B. Laughlin presiding, and the verdict was against the railroad company. The case is one of several filed in the district court for this county and known as the White Ash mine cases. It will be remembered that early last year an explosion occurred in the White Ash coal mine at Madrid, operated by the Cerillos coal railroad company, and several miners were killed and others seriously injured. About a dozen cases claiming heavy damages from the railroad company were the result, and these are the first tried and in which verdicts in large sums of money were awarded against the defendant company. The latter appeared in person before the Territorial supreme court, but was not represented by counsel.

The defendant company was represented by the officers of the law department of the A. T. & S. F. railroad company in New Mexico, Judge Henry L. Waid and R. E. Twitchell, the latter having the sole management in the cases in the trial court and before the supreme court. The plaintiffs were presented by Frank W. Clancy and N. B. Field, attorneys of Albuquerque.

The opinion is very elaborate, and it is not possible to review it at length in this paper. Suffice it to say, however, every contention of consequence claimed by the defendant railroad company operating the mines seems to have been decided in favor of the company.

The great importance of these cases and the governing precedents established by the court in its decision will attract wide spread attention in New Mexico, not only from members of the bar but from owners and operators of coal mines and their employees.

It will be remembered that when these cases were tried in the district court of this county, Hon. R. E. Twitchell, assistant attorney of the A. T. & S. F. railway company, conducted the defense, and the opinion of the supreme court is most complimentary to him, inasmuch as it appears that his views of the law governing the cases and the principles involved were correct.

At the last term of the supreme court, Mr. Twitchell made a most masterly presentation of the cases, being cross-examined by bench and bar alike. His victory is certainly one of which he may feel proud and is in line with his record and reputation as a successful and brilliant corporation lawyer.

It is especially pleasing and reassuring to those whose blood is impure and unfit properly to tone, sustain, and renew the system of nerve, muscular tissue. It is more because of the condition of the blood that women are run down.

Henry Gerpheide, a poultry fancier of Albuquerque, recently bought a dozen eggs, supposed to have been made to order by a pedigreed hen, and paid $25 for them. After a manly old chicken had spent the best part of the summer trying to hatch them out, Mr. Gerpheide discovered that they were "composition" eggs, and he never saw a hen nor heard of a rooster until coming to New Mexico.

Resources of New Mexico.

FRUIT. In the metropolitan markets of the western states New Mexico's horticultural products command from 5 to 15 per cent. greater price than the California products, owing to their rich, vibrant color and peculiarly delicate flavor. In grapes, for which the Rio Grande Valley is famous, the Flame, Tokay, the Muscats, the Black Hambroge and similar choice varieties are grown to perfection. In every quarter of the Territory are profitable orchards of apples, pears, peaches, cherries, plums, nectarines and all the small fruits indigenous to the temperate and semi-tropical zone.

SUGAR BEETS. Experiments covering a period of three years demonstrate that New Mexico excels any other country or section in the world in the quantity and quality of sugar beets. In 1895, in the Pecos Valley, some 1,400 acres of beets were harvested. The average yield per acre was a little over 10 tons, and the average percentage of saccharine matter was over 16, the highest record ever made. The gross returns to the farmer averaged $67.00 per acre, and the cost of raising the crop a little less than $22.00 per acre. The most perpetual sunshine during the growing season is the cause of the extra percentage of sugar in the beets, and the richness and adaptability of the soil accounts for the heavy yield.

CEREALS AND VEGETABLES. Of innumerable varieties are profitably produced in New Mexico. The latter are suitable for size and flavor, as well as their keeping qualities. Rio Grande Valley oats took the second prize at the World's Fair. Every field crop and all classes of vegetables can be and are grown with success and profit.

MINERALS. It is no exaggeration to affirm that, in point of natural resources, none of the peopled Rocky Mountain states exceed New Mexico. Gold, silver, copper, zinc, lead, coal (anthracite and bituminous), fire clay, sulphur, salt, gypsum, etc., are found in paying quantities in almost every county in the Territory. In many localities are valuable deposits of onyx and marble, while the turquoise supply of the world is furnished here.

TIMBER AND COAL. These essentials to the home-maker are plentiful and cheap in New Mexico. Tracts of virgin forest, large or small, may be purchased now at astonishingly low figures, since the U. S. courts has rendered such timely service in settling titles to the land grants.

MISERAL SPRINGS. The attention of the tourist and health-seeker is especially invited to the number and varied character of the mineral waters in New Mexico. These are all accessible by rail and offer every reasonable accommodation to the visitor. Among such resorts are the Los Vegas Hot Springs; the Jerome Hot Springs; the Sulphur Hot Springs; and the Mackay and Taylor mineral water wells and Coyote Springs.

DESIRABLE LANDS. Thousands of acres of wild lands are to be had by compliance with the U. S. land laws, much of which is contiguous to water and desirable for colonization purposes when ditches and water storage reservoirs are provided. The land grant question is no longer a bug-a-bay in New Mexico and through the action of the land court, titles to vast tracts have been cleared up and settled. Some millions of acres have been confirmed by the courts to private ownership, while on the other hand an equal acreage has been returned so far as the grant claimants are concerned and the land added to the public domain and is subject to entry under the government land laws.

NOTES. New Mexico boasts the finest all-the-year round climate on the continent. Churches and great public and private schools are maintained in every community. Sheep and cattle raising are among the leading industries of the Territory. Under legislative enactment, all best sugar factories, woolen mill, smelters, refineries and great public works, including 100 acres of immunity from taxation for a period of five years if erected prior to January 1, 1898.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Relief Society will be held at the Home, Tuesday afternoon, August 10, at 3 o'clock. Frank Forsythe is now serving an elegant merchant's lunch in his Sixth street dining room, which has recently been fixed up.

As we go to press a special telegram from Santa Fe states that the hearing in the city water case has been postponed until the 21st inst. Sol. Meyer, living up in Colfax county, has obtained judgment in the district court of that county against John C. Miller, for the sum of $425.23.

Call for "La Libertad" cigar. Manufactured by the American cigar company. A. W. FOOTE, Manager. The First National Bank of Eaton has obtained judgment in the sum of $230 against Dionicio Gallegos, living up in the county of Colfax, on a promissory note.

Two extra men went to work in the American cigar factory this morning, to facilitate the filling of the orders of the steadily increasing trade of that institution. Frank Jones and Albert Black, who rode out to Watrous yesterday on their wheels, are maddened up there, but if nothing happens will be down on the evening train.

Bowel complaint seems to be quite prevalent of late in the city. Can it be that the cholera epidemic of the southern country is trying to get a foothold in our beautiful city? Governor and Mrs. Otero and son and Judge Emmett, father of Mrs. Otero, are domiciled at the Palace hotel, in Santa Fe, and will remain there until they move into commanding officer's building, which will be in about ten days.

A good sight was witnessed, last night, by a novel many citizens who had the good fortune to be on the streets at 11:45 o'clock. It was a perfect rainbow. The moon was shining brightly, in the west, and it was raining. Those who witnessed it say it was the first they ever saw.

On Saturday night last, some miscreant, without the fear of the Lord in his thrummed soul, entered the west side Presbyterian mission church through a side window and percolated therefrom a large nickel-plated lamp. The thief left the fixtures of the lamp and other valuable things which were in the room.

Complimentary notice in the Santa Fe New Mexican: "The by-laws of the Otago guards, company I, first regiment of infantry, have been submitted to Governor Otero and approved by him. They are gotten up in first-class shape and are the best that have been submitted to the commander-in-chief, for approval."

She Has Gone. Mr. E. Leslie, the "Mining Queen" of Red River, has departed and many mourn her departure. She was supposed to possess a large amount of cash and was developing mining properties in Red River. It is alleged that she secured a team from E. V. Biel and drove to Trinidad, and took the train, so she said, for Pueblo.

A telegram from Sheriff Finch to that city discloses that he did not arrive there. Mrs. Leslie is credited with having made a great deal of money since she went to Red River.

Support the Home Paper. Why? Because, if for no other reason, the home paper supports you. You work on one in a while, perhaps, and forsaking your private business in which for years you have been immersed, you turn out and spend a day or so on the public good—at the polls fighting against the reelection of a boodler, at a public meeting fighting for electric light or some new enterprise—then you return to your current, leaving the newspaper to slouch the victory or protect the retreat, as the case may be.
