THREATS MADE TO THE AMERICAN AMBASSADOR

REPRESENTATIVE OF THIS COUNTRY IN MEXICO GETS ANONYMOUS LETTER

NEWSPAPERS STIR STRIFE

ASSERT IT IS TIME FOR MEXICANS TO PREPARE TO FIGHT UNITED STATES

A FERVOR OF PATRIOTISM

WAVE OF WARLIKE SENTIMENT IS SPREADING ALL OVER THE SISTER NATION

Mexico City, July 12.—An anonymous letter containing threats to blow up the United States embassy was received by Ambassador H. L. Wilson today and immediately referred to the Mexican foreign office for investigation.

Mexico City, July 12.—An anonymous letter was received by Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson today and was immediately referred to the Mexican foreign office for investigation.

As an indication of the fervor of patriotism that has been aroused in Mexico, the department of the interior announced today that 30,000 workmen had appealed to the government for military instructions in order that they might be ready to fight for the national existence.

The newspaper El Pais says it has been visited by a committee of women school teachers who offered to enter the ranks of the army and fight in case of an international conflict.

Although the organizers have cautioned those who will participate to keep order, there is grave fear on the part of conservative Mexicans and also among the American colony, that the demonstration will provoke serious trouble.

In spite of the protests of Ambassador Wilson in regard to the attitude of the newspapers, especially of El Pais, that journal devotes its first page to the anti-American movement, its articles being highly sensational.

Attack on Juarez Postponed

El Paso, Tex., July 12.—Juan Sanchez Azcona, private secretary of Francisco Madero at the time Madero was deposed and killed, accompanied by Jose Maria Maytorena governor of Sonora at the same time, reached here today returning from a conference with Venustiano Carranza, in Coahuila, and announced that all rebels in northern Mexico are in perfect accord.

Ascuna and Maytorena refused affirming bringing such a message from Carranza. Juarez officials received a message from Chihuahua today, stating that the relief column of Pascual Orozco, advancing from the south and repairing the railroad into Chihuahua, had repulsed the rebels at Mapula, near Chihuahua, killing 170.

Guadaluajara, Mexico, July 12.—Rebels today looted and burned the camps of the Boca Ancha Mining company, a Chicago concern, and of the Gold Standard Mining company, a Philadelphia concern, in the Pampaso district of the state of Jalisco.

H. C. Johnson, the English owner of the Achihuatal hacienda in the Abasco district of Jalisco, was driven off the place by the rebels and is hiding with his wife in the mountains.

Rebels cut off the fingers of the Mexican owner of an adjoining ranch with a chisel because he was unable to produce $2,000 which they demanded.

Federals Hold Up a Train Eagle Pass, Tex., July 12.—A wild ride down grade saved most of a constitutionalist troop train which federalists ambushed at Castano yesterday, according to reports reaching here.

American Consul Luther Ellsworth at Piedras Negras today received instructions to demand the release of L. L. Davis and John Rives, American prisoners of constitutionalists near Monterey. Their place of residence is not known.

He arrived from Santa Fe this afternoon.

FORNOFF MEETS A YOUNG LION CUB

AND THE HEAD OF THE MOUNTED
POLICE WISHES HE HAD LEFT THE BEAST ALONE

Santa Fe, July 12.—Captain Fred Fornoff is not going to make any more wishes while stroking young lion cubs as he did last night. At 10 p. m. he performed this unique act at the annual show and less than three hours later he lit on his head within 30 feet of the brink of La Baha hill, and had the machine in which he and party were traveling met with this accident 30 feet further on, the machine, the captain and his friends would be rolling yet. As it was a big $70 lamp from the Pierce Arrow of George Brown went over the brink and the party heard it rolling and bumping and scattering broken glass half way down the hill.

It all happened this way. Sam Stevens, manager of the Sturgis hotel at Albuquerque, telephoned Jake Levy last evening that he was leaving Albuquerque at 5 p. m. for Santa Fe accompanied by his wife for the upper Pecos for a week's fishing. Later messages verified the fact that the Stevens party had started, but when 10, 11 and 12 o'clock passed and the party did not arrive, Mr. Levy was worried. So he hid Brown's big car and with Alex Read, Captain Fornoff and Hugh Williams left here at 12:30 for a spin down the Albuquerque road to hunt up Stevens. Right by the big sign at the top of the hill, something happened. Brown, the colored chauffeur, thinks a rock thrown by the three in some way became stuck in the clutch. At any rate they were within 30 feet of the brink of the hill, traveling pretty lively, when the clutch would not work. It was either go over the brink or run the machine into the hills. Brown took the hillsides for his and the sudden stop, together with the very ardent desire to get out of the car before it went over the brink landed Captain Fornoff and Jake Levy in a heap beside the road. Alex Read and Hugh Williams and the chauffeur, stayed in the car. The captain was badly shaken up and cut about the head, and Mr. Levy sustained a badly lacerated back.

At the time the party had taken a look of their injuries, they saw light moving across the plains this side of Domingo and in about 20 minutes the Stevens party showed up. They had been delayed by engine trouble.

With the help of some baling wire, that standard standby of the south-west, the wrecked car was patched up so it would hold together and run at the same time, and the party made a very slow return to Santa Fe arriving about 3:30 a. m.

Both the captain and Levy are in bed today, but it is said their injuries are not serious.

NEWS FROM THE CAPITAL

Garcia vs. Garcia Nearing End
The case of Garcia vs. Garcia in the federal court will probably go to the jury this evening. This case has been on trial for the past two weeks, and concerns the estate left by the late E. G. Garcia, of Albuquerque. The taking of testimony was ended yesterday noon and yesterday afternoon O. N. Marston, of the counsel for the plaintiff, spoke for about two hours and a half. This morning Judge E. A. Mann, of the defense, made his argument. This occupied the entire morning session. Attorney Venable, for the defense, and the closing argument by F. E. Wood, for the plaintiff will probably end before 6 o'clock this evening.

Notaries Public Commissioned
Yesterday were: Ew F. Saxon, Tucuman, Quay county; Royal W. Lackey, Hanz, Quay county; John D. Thomason, Captain, Lincoln county.

Book Cases for Supreme Court
Almost a carload of new sectional book cases of the latest pattern has been received by the supreme court to replace the open front book shelves with which the court had to be content for years.

Goats Recovered
Mounted Policeman John A. Beal, of the southern part of the state, writes from Engle that he has succeeded in recovering and delivering to their owner, 500 head of goats which had been stolen from Bob Worthen. Nothing is said about any arrests in the case.

Alleged Murderer Captured
Justino Moyas, who killed a woman named Marcelina Villa Nieves, at Progresso, Torrance county, July 4, has been captured at Yavapai, N. M., and is now in the Estancia jail, according to a report received at the office of the mounted police.

Preparing for Equipment
The camp material for the state militia encampment at Las Vegas, commencing July 16th is being shipped from this city to the camp today. Captain W. P. Thompson of Roswell, regimental quartermaster, is here from Roswell, overseeing these preparations.

Wilson a Delegate
F. C. Wilson, of this city, has been appointed by Governor McDonald a delegate to the meeting of the commission on uniform laws to be held at Montreal, August 24 to 30, vice Judge A. A. Freeman, of Carlsbad, who resigned because of having to leave the state.

Good Roads Delegates Named
Governor McDonald has named the following delegates to the United States Good Roads convention at St. Louis, November 10 to 15: Jock Becker, Jr., of Belen; Francis E. Lester, of Las Cruces; D. Baldwin, of Raton; Fred W. James, of Clovis; Thomas S. Snyder, of Clayton; Robert Eriksen, of the state land office, and Margarito Romero, of San Miguel county.

Boundary Suit
The attorney general, F. W. Clancy, announces that in his opinion, the taking of testimony in the boundary suit between Texas and New Mexico in the lower Rio Grande valley between Anthony and El Paso, will be begun within the next two months. He expects to leave for El Paso next week to consult with counsel for the state of Texas who reside there, regarding the final details for the taking of testimony. This suit affects thousands of acres in the rich valley of the Rio Grande title to which can never be perfected until this suit is settled.

Tax Hearing Advanced
Because word has been received from some of the counties that they will be unable to get their tax rolls in before August first, the date of the hearing printed yesterday to take place before the board of equalization has been advanced two weeks. The railroad hearings set for July 21 and 22 have been advanced just two weeks to August 4 and 5, and each other hearing will be heard just two weeks later than the date in the list printed yesterday.

Diagraming Rate Case
To assist the state corporation commission in presenting its suit covering 50,000 New Mexico rates before the interstate commerce commission some time this fall, a series of diagrams are being prepared which show graphically the discrimination worked against all New Mexico points as compared with Trinidad, El Paso and even more distant points in Wyoming and Montana. It is an axiom almost, that the eye can not gain so clear an impression of a matter by glancing at two columns of figures showing the contrasting items as when the matter is diagramed. Working on this theory, the commission is having prepared maps, ruled into inch squares, each inch horizontally representing 100 miles of travel, and each perpendicularly representing 25 cents in rates. Diagramed rates to New Mexico from Chicago or St. Louis show a gradual and uniform rise to the New Mexico state line, and then in a few miles, the increase is so sudden that the diagram jumps almost perpendicularly some little distance, continues to increase as New Mexico is penetrated, and then drops back to about the Trinidad level when you leave New Mexico and enter El Paso. The illustration is a most graphic one, as now prepared, and seems very convincing that unjust discriminations are practiced against this state.

Causes of Stomach Troubles

ORANGEMEN CELEBRATE
Belfast, July 12.—The societies of Orangemen in Belfast and vicinity today indulged in their customary big celebration of the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne in 1690, in which the forces of James II were defeated by the Protestant army. Because of the high fever existing in Ulster just now over the home rule bill the authorities took extraordinary precautions today to prevent any disorderly demonstrations or street riots such as frequently marked the celebration of Orangemen's day in former years.

FOREIGN NEWS NOTES

Foreigners Badly Treated

Mexico City, July 12.—With the gradual spreading of revolutionary activity to parts of the republic hitherto more or less unaffected, tales of atrocities and indignities to foreigners filter into the capital in increasing number. Early in July these had become so common, by reason of their frequency, that whereas a year ago they would have caused great indignation and possibly prompt representations by foreign governments, it is doubtful if they receive now more than inclusion in a possible general claim for damages, in due time, upon the Mexican government.

An experience related by passengers on a train proceeding northward from Torreon appears to place a certain contingent of the northern rebels in a class with the followers of Zapata of the south on the score of barbarous treatment of their victims. The train was stopped near Bermejillo by a burned bridge. A band of intoxicated rebels or bandits swooped down upon the passengers, robbed them of everything, including clothing, not sparing even the women victims, of whom there were a half dozen, Americans and English. An American man, detected trying to hide a revolver, was taken out and shot. He fell badly wounded. An Englishman, of whom was demanded a diamond ring he wore, and which he had difficulty in removing, was assisted by means of a knife. The finger was chopped away so that the ring could be secured. The passengers eventually were allowed to go, and walked miles into Torreon.

Another experience growing out of an effort to escape a worse fate, was that of a group of Americans, refugees from a mining camp near Topolobampo, Sinaloa. There were three women in the party, which made its way to the coast town. To catch a coasting steamer due to an uncertain date, the refugees had to put out on an island sun-scorched and without a house or tree. Its only inhabitants were shark fishers and the stench of decaying shark flesh was next to unbearable. For two days the refugees endured great hardship and discomfort, then an American gunboat appeared. A boat was sent off, but the officer in charge had orders to take only employees of a certain mining company. Nine were accordingly taken aboard and the rest, including the three women, waited two days longer, when, almost in despair, they were picked up by the coasting steamer, described as a filthy affair, already overloaded, which landed them in Mazatlan.

President Huerta has great confidence in the ability of his new cabinet to aid him in his work of pacification, but he expects them to devote their attention to the work of their respective departments and not let their covetous eye dwell upon his seat. This he made quite clear to them at the first formal gathering of the new administrators. To them Huerta said, after the usual felicitation, that he expected each minister to be supreme in his own post, so far as possible, and that they would experience little interference from him. But on the other hand, he warned them to "enfermar con la pintura," a legend often seen on new edifices in Mexico, meaning "watch out for paint." To his puzzled ministers, who asked him to explain the president said, patting the back of the chair he customarily occupies at his cabinet meetings: "I mean that this old chair suits me very well."

and for the present you should not try to improve it. Pay attention strictly to the duties of your offices, and I shall manage to look after mine."

Fought for his Life
"Valerito," a Spanish bull fighter, recently put up an exhibition which will doubtless long impress him as "the fight of his life." There was no flannel and no trimmings, but the reward offered and won by "Valerito" made up to him for the lack of applause from the benches.

"Valerito," who was christened Manuel Valero, was overtaken on the road to Monterey while in charge of six fighting bulls intended for the ring there, by a group of Carranza's soldiers. Taking advantage of the circumstances, the revolutionists promised the bull fighter his life and liberty if he could kill the six bulls single-handed.

A ring was constructed on the spot. "Valerito," armed with a cavalry saber and carrying a colored blanket for a "cape" or cape, an essential part of the bull fighter's equipment, proceeded to tire the animals down and dispatch them one after another.

In spite of his heroic efforts his captors subjected the bull fighter to the greatest indignity possible to his kind, the amputation of his queue, before releasing him.

Manchus Still on Deck
Peking, July 12.—Contrary to declarations made at the time the throne abdicated in favor of the republic, 16 months ago, the court of the old Manchu rulers of the Chinese empire still remains at Peking.

The terms of the final agreement with the representatives of the new republican government provided that the Manchu nobles, including all the members of the reigning family, should retain their hereditary titles and be literally pensioned, and that the young emperor, after his abdication, should be accorded in China the honors given a visiting foreign sovereign. These stipulations have been carried out. At the same time it was declared the court would eventually move away from the Forbidden City, but no steps in this direction yet have been taken. There has not even been an exodus to the summer palace or to the ancient palaces at Jehol, which were mentioned at the time of abdication as places of possible retirement. Some minor Manchu princes and officials have deserted their residences in Peking and moved away, generally to the foreign settlements at Tientsin, or to Manchuria, where they can obtain Japanese or Russian protection if occasion arises. But the ex-prince regent and Pa-Yi, the boy emperor, now 7 years old, still reside in the palaces occupied by the reigning family for 268 years, and imperial guards still forbid entrance to their palace compounds.

The Manchu troops continue in arms and obey the instructions of President Yuan Shih-kai in all matters that do not affect the safety of the court. Should there be a conflict of authority between the president and the court it is believed they would stand by the Manchus; but the interests of the republican president and those of the Forbidden City have not conflicted. Indeed, it is believed in the legation quarter that they are closely allied. It is thought among foreign observers that the court depends on Yuan Shih-kai for a regular payment of its pension from the republic, and, on the other hand, that Yuan may be compelled at any moment to re-establish the dynasty and proclaim himself regent in order to give his orders the weight of imperial authority. At present, with a hostile parliament, presidential orders which are essential to the maintenance of the government, do not receive the sanction of any organized body of lawmakers.

A question interesting to old observers who knew China under the dynasty is whether the Empress Dowager, who recently died, will be the last empress of China. If the republic succeeds there will probably be no other.

Two striking changes have taken place in the appearance of Peking as a result of the revolution. One is considered a disfigurement; the other an improvement, and a great advantage. The disfigurement is the disappearance of the Manchu cart, which an American lady of literary gifts once characterized as "Zortia's Casket on Wheels." The brilliantly colored Sedan chair, borne high on the shoulders of four or eight coolies, disappeared to a large extent after the Boxer rising of 1900, and has since been used only at funerals and weddings, and by a few ultra-antiquarian foreign legation ladies, who adopted the old when the Chinese began adopting the new.

Now the Peking cart is being rapidly displaced by the European carriage.

What better proof can be had? Mrs. Anna Pearce, 509 Eighth St., East Las Vegas, N. M., says: "I was troubled for about a year with weakness of the kidneys. This ailment was removed by one box of Doan's Kidney Pills and since then I have been practically free from the trouble. Since my first trial of Doan's Kidney Pills, I have never used more than a few doses of them, whenever I have needed a kidney medicine. They have always relieved me quickly. Last fall I made a trip to Missouri and while I was there, I had an attack of kidney trouble. I immediately got a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills and two boxes took away the pain in my back and made my kidneys normal." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Surprising Cure for Stomach Trouble
When you have trouble with your stomach or chronic constipation, don't imagine that your case is beyond help just because your doctor fails to give you relief. Mrs. G. Stenge, Plainfield, N. J., writes, "For over a month past I have been troubled with my stomach. Everything I ate upset it terribly. One of Chamberlain's advertising booklets came to me. After reading a few of the letters from people who had been cured by Chamberlain's Tablets, I decided to try them. I have taken nearly three-fourths of a pack of them and can now eat almost everything that I want." For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

MONUMENT TO A PIG
Berlin, July 12.—Lunenburg, in Hannover, boasts of having what is probably the most unique monument ever erected to an animal. In the ancient town hall in Lunenburg there is a mausoleum containing a costly glass structure. This contains a ham, and is a monument to a pig. There is an inscription engraved upon a marble slab, as follows: "Passers-by! Contemplate herein the mortal remains of the pig which won for itself imperishable glory by the discovery of the salt springs of Lunenburg."

When you feel lazy, out of sorts and yawn a good deal in the daytime, you can charge it to a torpid liver which has allowed the system to get full of impurities. HERBINE cures all disorders produced by an inactive liver. It strengthens that organ, cleanses the bowels and puts the system in good healthy condition. Price 50c. Sold by Central Drug Co.—Adv.

A Good Investment
W. D. Magli, a well known merchant of Whitewood, Wis., bought a stock of Chamberlain's medicine so as to be able to supply them to his customers. After receiving them he was himself taken sick and says that one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was worth more to him than the cost of his entire stock of these medicines. For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

TO REPRODUCE TOURNAY
Brussels, July 12.—The present craze for outdoor pageants, which seems to have spread over all Europe and America as well, promises to reach its zenith in the great affair to be given at Tournai the coming week. It will be a celebration of the four hundredth anniversary of the famous tournament held in Tournai by King Henry VIII, and the Emperor Maximilian, and will consist of a faithful reproduction of the martial sports of the ancient cavaliers.

The tournament of 1613 was one of the most famous in history. It was attended by Margaret of Austria, then governing the Netherlands, and her young nephew, the future Charles V. The jousts continued for more than a week. Henry VIII and a large number of the great English nobles died in skill with representatives of high nobility of Flanders.

RHEUMATISM AND THE HEART
Don't overlook the grave fact that rheumatism easily "settles in the heart," and disturbs the valvular action. The cure consists in removing the cause. Foley Kidney Pills so tone up and strengthen the kidneys that they keep the blood free of poisons and uric acid crystals, that cause rheumatism, swollen joints, backache, urinary irregularities and disturbed heart action. Try them. O. G. Schaefer and Red Cross Drug Store.—Adv.

A CONFESSION

Hopes Her Statement, Made Public, will Help Other Women.

Hines, Ala.—"I must confess," says Mrs. Eula Mae Reid, of this place, "that Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done me a great deal of good. Before I commenced using Cardui, I would spit up everything I ate. I had a tired, sleepy feeling all the time, and was irregular. I could hardly drag around, and would have severe headaches continually. Since taking Cardui, I have entirely quit spitting up what I eat. Everything seems to digest all right, and I have gained 10 pounds in weight. If you are a victim of any of the numerous ills so common to your sex, it is wrong to suffer.

For half a century, Cardui has been relieving just such ills, as is proven by the thousands of letters, similar to the above, which pour into our office, year by year. Cardui is successful because it is composed of ingredients which act specifically on the womanly constitution and helps build the weakened organs back to health and strength. Cardui has helped others, and will help you, too. Get a bottle today. You won't regret it. Your druggist sells it.

PARCEL POST IN GERMANY IS BEST

INCONSISTENCIES OF UNITED STATES SERVICE REVEALED BY COMPARISON

Washington, July 12.—One of the many remarkable inconsistencies of the United States parcel post system, exhibited most conspicuously in its relations and contrasts with the systems of other countries, appears in the experience of a large dry-goods house of New York city, which has establishments both in this country and in Germany. It appears to be a fact that that house in New York could receive an order from San Francisco, and have it filled by the branch in Germany, whence the goods could be sent to San Francisco by parcel post fully 50 per cent cheaper than if it were sent from New York to San Francisco. This, of course, leaves out any allowance for import duties.

The New York house could send an eleven pound parcel from Germany to any of the countries named below by parcel post for $1.32. But the German house could send the same package for less than a dollar and in some instances for fifty cents, the rates being from Germany:

To Colombia . . . 3.60 marks, or 93 cents.
To Costa Rica 2.20 marks, or 55 cents.
To Cuba . . . 2.00 marks, or 50 cents.
To Mexico . . . 2.20 marks, or 55 cents.
To Nicaragua 3.40 marks, or 85 cents.
To Panama . . . 2.40 marks, or 60 cents.
To Uruguay . . . 3.40 marks, or 85 cents.

Far Behind in Parcel Export
The average German parcel brought by post to this country in 1912 weighed about six pounds; our average return parcel about two and one-half pounds. Our parcel export business for 1912 amounted to less than 719,000 parcels; but in 1911 Great Britain exported more than 3,400,000 parcels valued at about $3,400,000. Our parcel post export business is less, in fact, than that of some of the smallest countries of Europe.

Reference to the "dollar diplomacy" of the United States always amuses the well informed foreigner. He knows that in practical operation there is hardly another country calling itself civilized that does not take better care of its commercial interests abroad than the United States; in terms of mere provision for the convenience of those who have goods to export. The exporter gets little relief through government intervention from the extortion of transportation companies. To the onlooker it seems that we have taken particular pains to make the export of the smaller merchandise as difficult as possible.

The common export postal rate of the United States is 12 cents per pound. Great Britain has more than 200 foreign post conventions; Germany has more than 120. The United States has 47.

MELANCHOLY WOMEN

Should Profit by Mrs. Hurley's Experience—Her Own Story Here Told.

Eldon, Mo.—"I was troubled with displacement, organic inflammation and female weakness. For two years I could not stand on my feet long at a time and I could not walk two blocks without enduring cutting and drawing pains down my right side which increased once a month. I have been at that time purple in the face and would walk the floor. I could not lie down or sit still sometimes for a day and a night at a time. I was nervous, had very little appetite, no ambition, melancholy, and often felt as though I had not a friend in the world.

"After I had tried most every female remedy first, without success, my mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and gained in strength every day. I have now no trouble in any way and highly praise your medicine. It advertises itself."—Mrs. S. T. HUNLEY, Eldon, Missouri.

Wilson and Burleson Could Remedy
Section 398 of the Revised Statutes of the United States shows that it lies within the power of President Wilson and Postmaster-General Burleson to abolish this condition of things with the stroke of a pen:

"For the purpose of making better postal arrangements with foreign countries, or to counteract their adverse measures affecting our intercourse with them, the postmaster-general, by and with the advice of the president, may negotiate and conclude treaties and conventions, and may reduce or increase the rates on mail matter between the United States and foreign countries."

It thus lies within the power of these two officers to extend our entire domestic postal service, or any part thereof, to any country, or to the whole world, either by treaty, as in the case of our general postal conventions with Mexico and Canada, and of our special parcel post conventions with Germany, New Zealand, etc., or by executive decree, as in the extension in 1903 of our domestic postal rates to Shanghai.

Under the rules of the Universal Postal Union, every nation keeps for itself its postal receipts upon export mail. The foreign rate is, therefore, immaterial to any other nation, and as the free delivery in each country of the incoming mail from the other implies a reciprocal courtesy, all nations gain, potentially at least, whenever the system is liberalized.

But this country has been singularly blind and slow in responding to overtures of this kind. New Zealand opened the twentieth century by declaring a two-cent, half-ounce letter rate to all the world, and we joined with several other nations in delivering New Zealand's two-cent letters free. But we still charge five cents notwithstanding the contention of Mr. Hitchcock that we have abolished our postal deficit, and the declaration of Mr. Burleson that, even though the deficit still exists, efficiency and public service are the first desiderata.

It would not be a bad idea now for Mr. Burleson and his aids to lay aside for the moment the consideration of the claims of peace-hunters, to which they have been giving so large a share of their attention, and put their minds upon the subject of the lamentable tardiness of the United States in keeping up with the rest of the world in this highly important branch of governmental duty.

Ironton, O., July 12.—Berkley Flemmings, the 29-year old farmer who according to his confession deliberately murdered his mother and his step brother, is to be placed on trial here Monday, which will be third anniversary of the step brother's murder. He is to be tried first for the murder of his mother. Notwithstanding that Flemmings made a detailed confession of the two murders after his arrest and led the officers to the places where he had buried his victims, he has entered a plea of not guilty and a strong fight will be made to save him from the electric chair.

London, July 12.—Prince John, the youngest son of the king and queen, had a birthday anniversary today. Though the Prince is but eight years old and stands sixth in the line of succession to the throne, his birthday anniversary is accorded the same official honors as in the case of the older members of the royal family. This morning the bells of the Curfew Tower and of Windsor Parish church were rung and at noon a salute of 21 guns was fired in the Long Walk.

HOBSON ANXIOUS FOR SENATE SEAT

BEGINS CAMPAIGN TO DEFEAT JOHNSTON FOR ALABAMA'S TOGA IN 1915

Montgomery, Ala., July 12.—Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson, congressman from the Sixth Alabama district, is confident that he will be elected to succeed Joseph F. Johnston in the United States senate. Senator Johnston's term will not expire until March 1915, but the primary to select his successor will be held next year, so the campaign for the toga is already on. The indications are that it will be a straight-on fight between Johnston and Hobson.

Captain Hobson already has stumped a large part of the state and he plans to continue an active and aggressive campaign until the date of the primary election. In making formal announcement of his candidacy for the senate he outlined his policies as follows: The upbuilding of the navy, improvement in the education of the masses, a vigorous policy of developing the state's resources, and, in general, the restoration of the government to the hands of the people and purging the government of men who serve special interests, especially those who do the bidding of sinister liquor interests and depend for their success upon the debauching of the morals of the people and the corruption of the electorate.

In his fight for re-election Senator Johnston is standing on a platform constructed of his military record and public service.

He is a defender of corporate interests against radical legislation, does not readily fall in with pyrotechnic reform movements, and advocates local option as a safe method of handling the aggravating liquor problems in Alabama.

At first glance it would seem that Hobson stands little show of success against the veteran Johnston. The latter has the prestige that is naturally attached to a brilliant record in the confederate army. He served from the beginning to the end of the four years' conflict, was four times wounded in battle and rose from a private in the ranks to the grade of captain. As a business man and financier he has been conspicuously successful, while his record in the public service embraces two terms as governor of Alabama in addition to six years in the United States senate.

On the other hand, it is not to be forgotten that Hobson won his seat in congress by defeating John H. Bankhead, who admittedly outclasses Johnston as a veteran campaigner and astute politician. In his contest with Hobson Bankhead possessed the advantages of a confederate record, a public career covering 40 years or more, and strong political connections and powerful family influences. Despite these advantages, young Hobson in what was virtually his first whirl at practical politics, won the nomination and election.

Hobson's chief asset is his ability as a stump speaker. While far from possessing any power of oratory he seldom fails to make a favorable impression on his audience, not so much by force of argument as by his apparent earnestness and undoubted enthusiasm. His policy of "progress" as opposed to the conservatism of Johnston, is also reckoned as a point in his favor, in view of the present trend in Alabama politics.

FADS AND FASHIONS

New York, July 12.—The largest volume of commerce recorded in one year during the entire history of the country passed through the port of New York during the twelve months of the fiscal year ending on June 30. Figures just compiled at the custom house show that the imports of merchandise from foreign countries during this period were valued at a little over $1,000,000,000 while the exports aggregated over $800,000,000. This was a gain of more than $200,000,000 over the amount of trade handled during the preceding year. As 58 per cent of the imports of the country and 37 per cent of the exports pass through New York these figures indicate that the foreign commerce of the nation for the year just completed will total about $4,350,000,000, or about half a billion dollars more than the highest total ever before recorded. Of this increase about $350,000,000 has been made up of exports and $150,000,000 of imports. This great excess of exports over imports, establishing a favorable trade balance for the United States abroad, is usually regarded by trade experts as an index of prosperous conditions and they are now attempting to reconcile these figures with the general slowing down of trade that is now admitted to have taken place in the past few months and with the quieting fact that commercial failures in the United States during the first half of 1913 have also reached a new high record for any but a panic year. About the only light they have been able to throw on this apparent contradiction is that the highest totals, both in exports and imports, were recorded last autumn and that the monthly figures on both sides of the ledger have decreased since that time. Incidentally the federal treasury has profited by the expansion in imports, Uncle Sam having collected over $200,000,000 in duties at this port during the year.

While the imposition or removal of any tariff duty usually arouses opposition in some quarters, it is seldom that what is regarded as a minor feature of the tariff bill stirs up such widespread protest as has followed the action of the senate finance committee in placing a tax on bananas. On just what ground this duty was proposed, or whether the distinguished senators regard bananas as a luxury does not clearly appear, but their action has aroused the embattled hosts of New York's east side, where the yellow skinned fruit of the tropics is about the only one within the reach of the ordinary citizen's pocket book and a mass meeting was held this week in historic Cooper union to protest against the proposed duty, which, it was claimed, would be paid almost entirely by the poor. The dignified and democratic reform club which has labored unceasingly for the reduction of tariff duties has added its protest, arguing that it is unjust and undemocratic to place a tax on this food product, which has always been free, just at the time when most other articles of food are being placed on the free list. The proposed tax has even become an international question for a delegation from Jamaica arrived here this week on its way to Washington to oppose the banana tax on the ground that it would bar the fruit grown in that island from the American market.

wide but 100 feet long, a chain to breathing room has finally been set- tled among members of New York's "Four Hundred." The purchaser of this odd-shaped piece of land was Mrs. James A. Burden, whose home it adjoins, and the seller is believed to be Andrew Carnegie. Mrs. Burden bought the site of her home in 1902 from Mr. Carnegie. He promised then to protect with an air space the dwelling she was to erect. Mr. Carnegie apparently forgot his promise, for several years later he agreed to sell to General Lloyd S. Bryce the two lots adjoining Mrs. Burden's house. General Bryce never took title to the property, for Mrs. Burden filed a lis pendens against the lots, which prevented the steel master from giving a clear title to the land. General Bryce abandoned the plot and bought a home site elsewhere. When the lis pendens was brought to Mr. Carnegie's attention he showed willingness to make amends for the oversight. Recently he sold the corner to a buyer who is said to be Otto H. Kuhn of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. The property was recently transferred to a realty company which transferred the promised air space to Mrs. Burden. As a result of the sale of this odd shaped piece of property, now rendered useless for building purposes, at least two members of the city's elect can literally breathe easily.

Marriage is again becoming fashionable in that part of society that is referred to with a capital S. That at least is the conclusion drawn from an examination of statistics furnished by the blue book of the fashionable elect. This shows that during the past year the number of weddings among people of social prominence have increased about 20 per cent, while the number of births has advanced in about the same ratio. If this tendency continues the time may come within a few seasons when social leaders will not be ashamed to be seen driving on Fifth avenue accompanied by their children instead of by various kinds of fuzzy dogs, and when the possession of a large family will not bar to membership in the Four Hundred. In this matter as in other less sensible ways the people outside the charmed circle apparently are showing themselves imitative of those within it for the number of marriage licenses issued in New York during June eclipsed all previous records.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING

How the vocational guidance survey of New York city voluntarily became the vocational education survey, because those in charge believed that the really needful thing was to train children to be efficient rather than to find jobs for them for which they were not trained, is told in a document just issued for free distribution by the United States bureau of education.

"What the children really want," says Miss Alice B. Barrow in the bureau report, "is vocational training. The kernel of truth in this popular movement for vocational guidance is the need of vocational training for children. Vocational guidance should mean guidance for training, not guidance for jobs. Hence, under present conditions, the interest of public school children can best be served, not by the establishment of a vocational bureau, but by the development of vocational training."

The survey was undertaken by a joint committee of the Junior League and the Public Education association. It was organized for the purpose of studying a group of New York children leaving school to go to work, in the hope of determining what vocational guidance should mean to the public schools of the city. Like all careful investigations of recent times, this survey demonstrated that "economic pressure" accounts for only a small proportion of the children who leave school to go to work.

Investigation of the children at work showed that what they wanted more than anything else was "a job where you can learn." In most instances they were not getting it. For the most part their work meant nothing to them; they were rapidly developing a feeling of protest against the lack of individual attention and training; against the military discipline and inexplicable tasks.

On one point the New York report is unusually explicit. "There are no jobs for children under 15 which they ought to take," it declares. Furthermore, it emphasizes the need for more information about industrial conditions before attempting to steer boys and girls into positions. "Neither the vocational education survey nor any other organization has adequate information at present about the demand for workers or the opportunities and conditions of work and training in the 20 largest industries, not to mention the legion of smaller ones."

Thill more exact information is at hand the vocational guidance movement, says the report, will remain "little more than a body of good intentions without any clarified plan."

The Alberta Federation of Labor will meet at Medicine Hat on July 11.

CARE OF TEETH A NECESSARY THING

MORE NEEDFUL FOR CHILDREN THAN DUMBBELLS OR INDIAN CLUBS

Kansas City, July 12.—The toothbrush is of more value to the health of a child than dumbbells or Indian clubs.

Pure air in a schoolroom is impossible as long as the mouths of the children are allowed to be in an insanitary state.

In economic value to the community oral hygiene is second to none.

Sixty per cent of the absentees from school can be traced directly to defective teeth.

Healthy teeth mean a healthy body. The mouth is the gateway to the body; follow the methods of every good housewife. Keep the gateway clean.

Ten cents invested in a toothbrush may mean $10 saved on a doctor bill. These were some of the points that dentists of national reputation made in the New Casino Hall last night. A public meeting was held under the auspices of the National Mouth Hygiene association. It was well attended and largely by laymen.

Jacob Billikopf, a member of the board of public welfare, who presided, told something of the needs in Kansas City along oral hygiene lines. A free dental dispensary has been established at the Jewish Educational Institute, Mr. Billikopf said. At first it was open two days a week, but now the demand is so great that it is necessary to treat patients every day in the week.

One of the most impressive addresses was delivered, not by a dentist, but by Miss Irma Matthews, superintendent of the Women's institute of Oklahoma. Miss Matthews made a canvass of 48 rural schools in her state and found that only eight pupils in each school possessed toothbrushes and these seldom used them.

She brought this condition to the attention of the proper authorities with the result that ten counties in Oklahoma are to have dental inspection. On the grade cards of half a million pupils during the coming year 5 per cent will count on personal hygiene, 3 per cent of this for oral hygiene. In addition to this the school that shows the highest record for good teeth will be awarded a prize of $25. Another prize of $25 will be given to the school whose pupils show the greatest improvement in oral hygiene at the close of the school year.

Dr. J. P. Buckley of Chicago stated that in 1911 eight thousand school children in Chicago failed to make their grades. "Only 50 per cent of the school education in the prescribed seven years," Doctor Buckley said. "As it costs approximately $34.00 a year to educate a child, it is costing the city about $300,000 a year to put the delinquent children through the same grade again. Nearly all the delinquency is caused directly or indirectly by illness and 90 per cent of all diseases are contracted through the mouth."

"It is cheaper for the taxpayer to place a child in proper physical condition than to take care of him afterwards in hospitals and asylums," said Dr. C. A. Martin of Winfield, Kan.

"We found that the first thing we had to do was to educate the state officials in the matter of oral hygiene before we could hope for relief for the public," said Dr. W. A. White, a member of the New York state department of health. "Now, through the influence of Governor Sulzer we have been given $150,000 a year with which to carry on the work on oral hygiene in the state. In the future all public school teachers will have to take courses in oral hygiene."

Bookbinders in Wilmington, N. C., have organized and have received a charter from the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders.

Eight thousand raincoat makers in New York have formed a union and are preparing a demand for higher wages and an eight hour workday.

Seattle trades unions are making elaborate preparations to entertain the delegates to the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor which is to meet in that city in November.

The latest reports show that in the state of Maine there are 79,985 wage earners employed in 3,846 factories.

The International Photo-Engravers union will hold its annual convention in Cleveland next month.

Tourists Coming in Increased Numbers.

The cool, comfortable climate of Las Vegas this year has brought a larger number of visitors to the city than has been known for a number of years. Citizens of the eastern cities, after sweetering for several weeks and hearing of the cool climate of Las Vegas, have packed their grips and started for the Meadow City, where they can enjoy real life. The nearby resorts have been well patronized this summer and orders for accommodations are coming in every day.

People who have traveled from one end of the United States to the other, after trying all the climates, have selected Las Vegas as the ideal summer vacation place. California has proven to be a big vacation camping ground but the damp atmosphere that covers the Pacific coast does not appeal to the average American citizen who seeks a restful vacation and yet one with good times connected. The famous resorts in Wisconsin, the many mountain resorts in the east and middle west and other over-advertised places are in summer too warm in the best part of the day for the average American to enjoy, but in Las Vegas and the surrounding country conditions are ideal. The days are delightful, not warm or cold but even and pleasant with cool nights. There are people visiting in Las Vegas this summer who, during the course of the past ten years, have frequently spent their vacations here. Las Vegas is receiving her share of the summer vacationists.

Mayor's Wedding Was a Surprise. Sunday afternoon at Colorado Springs Miss Ida Laird and Mayor R. J. Taupert were united in matrimony with a simple and quiet ceremony. The wedding was looked forward to by their friends here, but the unexpected earliness of the date and the secret that was made of it made the affair a huge surprise to all Las Vegas society. Mr. and Mrs. Taupert's engagement was announced several months ago in these columns but it was thought at that time that the wedding would not occur until the early fall.

Mrs. Taupert is popular in Las Vegas and is well known, having resided here for a number of years. As a business woman Mrs. Taupert was a valuable assistant in the firm where she was employed and it was there that she, as head of the music department, made a large number of friends, who wish her happiness in her wedded life. Mr. Taupert has resided in Las Vegas for a number of years and has been engaged in the jewelry business during that time. He is well known as a capable business man and as mayor of the city has shown great interest in municipal affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Taupert left Colorado Springs, following the wedding ceremony, for various parts of Colorado, where they will spend their honeymoon. They will return to Las Vegas in the course of two weeks, when they will be at home to their many friends.

Soldiers to Be Shown a Great Time.

From present plans Las Vegas will entertain the state militia in a royal manner this year and thus display to these people the Vegas brand of hospitality, as has been done on all occasions when the opportunity presented itself. There will be several dances given not only for the officers but for the enlisted men, and other pleasing entertainments probably will be given, if the plans of one progressive citizen are followed. The entertainment of the militia in a commendable manner this year will show Las Vegas is a live town and will also be a big factor towards making this city remain the permanent headquarters of the militia encampment. The Commercial club probably will entertain and the Optic's usual big dance will also be on the program unless changes are made in present plans. This dance, which is given at each meeting of the militia in Las Vegas, has grown to be one of the biggest affairs, in the opinion of the members of the guard that are given during their stay here.

Too Much Doing To Permit of Dancing.

The Buen Tiempo club had planned to give a dance during the week but numerous affairs prevented. A dance probably will be given during the coming two weeks.

Spring Chickens To Go It Alone.

The Spring Chicken club, which disbanded last year to join the Buen Tiempo club, is now making arrangements to reorganize. This action is not being taken, however, with any malice towards the Buen Tiempo club, but for the reason that a number of the younger set have decided to have dances independently of the older crowd. As a number of the members will be representatives of the old Spring Chicken crowd, the club will maintain that name. Those who are working on the plan say that the first dance probably will be given within the next three weeks. This club formerly was one of the most successful dancing clubs that has ever existed in Las Vegas, and those who attended the dances given by the organization had many pleasant times. Those who are planning to reorganize the club say that the same plan will be followed this year and it is hoped that the club will prove to be as big a success as it has been in the past.

Hay Ride Planned By Buen Tiempos.

The members of the Buen Tiempo club have made arrangements for a hay ride to be given on next Monday night. The party will start from Hillside park and will stop at the Romeroville canyon for lunch. It is planned to take about three racks and with the delightful evenings that are now the favor of this section of the state, and the bright moonlight, this ride should be the most enjoyable affair of its kind that has been given here for several years. The party will start at 7 o'clock and return late in the evening or early in the morning.

Sewing Club Meets With Miss Van Petten.

The Sewing club met this afternoon with Miss Chella Van Petten. An unusually delightful afternoon was spent by the members and guests present. Those present were Miss Carrie Greenberger, Miss Louise Frank, Miss Hanna Frank, Miss Ruth Winters, Miss Phebe Hart, Miss Frances Myers, Miss Regina Stern, Miss Lucy Clement, Miss Marie Clement, Miss Henrietta Rothchild, Miss Alice Coors and Miss Chella Van Petten.

Pretty Party At the Appel Home.

Tuesday afternoon, at her home, Mrs. Isaac Appel entertained a number of her friends in honor of Mrs. Benhelm who is visiting in the city for a few weeks, and Mrs. Wolfe Morants. A pleasant afternoon was spent by those present followed by the serving of dainty refreshments. Those present were Mrs. Benhelm, Mrs. Wolfe Morants, Mrs. D. J. Leahy, Mrs. David Winternitz, Mrs. Cecilio Rosenwald, Mrs. E. R. Russell and Mrs. C. Helmenan.

Mrs. Davis Hostess to Her Card Club.

Mrs. S. B. Davis, Jr., entertained the Thursday Afternoon Whist club last Thursday afternoon. An enjoyable afternoon was spent, closed by the serving of delicious refreshments by the hostess. Those present were: Mrs. Keizer, Mrs. William Curtis Bailey, Mrs. H. M. Smith, Mrs. Hallett Reynolds, Mrs. Erle Hoke, Mrs. Herbert Clark and Mrs. S. B. Davis, Jr.

Elks Give an Enjoyable Dance.

The dance given at the Elks' club house Thursday evening proved to be an enjoyable affair. The dance was well attended by all the local and visiting Elks. Despite the fact that the evening was rather warm the crowd that attended thoroughly enjoyed the affair. The next dance probably will be given within two weeks, as has been the rule since the dances started.

Bridge Club Meets With Mrs. Lyon.

The Tuesday Afternoon Bridge club met this week at the home of Mrs. F. M. Lyon on National avenue. Delicious refreshments were served during the afternoon. Those present were Mrs. Marshall Turner, Mrs. H. S. Van Petten, Mrs. B. T. Mills, Mrs. H. Van Petten, Miss Kinderdine, Mrs. M. Bearinger, Mrs. E. R. Russell and Mrs. Bally.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

New York, July 12.—The stock market closed firm. Partial retreat of the short interest today was attributed to the peaceful tenor of foreign political news, satisfactory trade reports and improved crops prospects. London was something of a factor in the torpid half-day session, buying Canadian Pacific and other railroad stocks. Few bonds were steady, but government and municipal issues continued heavy. Delicious Coffee

Good coffee helps a whole lot in starting the day right. Why not send your husband off smiling to withstand the fret and fatigue of a hot day at the office? The best assurance of delicious coffee is to make it in ideal fashion—in an Electric Percolator. An Electric Percolator is the most convenient way, too, because you can use it right at the breakfast table. If your home is wired for Electric Light and you have not an Electric Percolator, you are overlooking a decided convenience that you and your family are bound to appreciate.

An Electric Percolator is Quick and Economical

The operation of an Electric Percolator is very simple. All you have to do is to put water into the pot, the coffee into the container, and turn on the current. Percolation commences in less than one minute and the coffee is made without boiling—hence, delicious coffee without injurious elements. Its simplicity of construction and rapid heating qualities make it especially desirable.

MRS. M'FARLANE'S LAST LECTURE PLEASES

"IRISH LITERATURE" OPENS UP A NEW FIELD FOR READING THAT IS WORTH WHILE

"Irish Literature" was the subject of the final lecture of the series given at the summer school of the New Mexico Normal University by Mrs. Ida Kruse McFarlane. The auditorium of the big state educational institution was crowded last night, and those who heard the lecture were greatly pleased with it.

Mrs. McFarlane declared that Irish literature, after a slumber of many centuries, has at last begun to awaken. She said the Irish writers of the present day are endowed with a wonderful poetic imagination, which they are employing successfully in depicting faithfully and bringing before the people of their country the problems that now are in the process of solution by their native land. There is a spirit of patriotism and love for country among the Irish writers, declared Mrs. McFarlane, which is unique and admirable.

Mrs. McFarlane compared Irish fables with those of Persia and Russia, showing the imaginative yet almost religious spirit persisting in the fables of Erin's Isle. She discussed at some length the plays of Synge, a modern Irish writer of considerable fame. The production "The Playboy of the Western World," she explained, had been staged first as a farce and later as a serious play. As a farce it merely caused a laugh, but when produced seriously it was seen to depict conditions characteristic of Ireland, questions which must be successfully answered if the little country's people are to be happy and its future assured. This ability to bring up serious thought through the vehicle of what is apparently only amusing tales, the speaker said, is a trait which Irish authors possess to a remarkable degree. Mrs. McFarlane also discussed Synge's "Riders of the Sea," declaring that it contained the real essence of tragedy. Mrs. McFarlane told briefly and entertainingly the stories of these plays.

The speaker dealt also with the plays of Murray, especially "Birthright" and "Maurice Hart," These productions, she declared, were models of realistic writing. Yeats, the Irish poet, Mrs. McFarlane said, is a writer who possesses a great patriotic spirit. The general trend of all Irish literature, she said, is to dip into the real things of life, and indications are that it is to take a most prominent place among modern writings.

Mrs. McFarlane, always a favorite in Las Vegas, increased her popularity here during her present visit. She is a woman of remarkable imagination and insight into literature. Under her guidance one can find new and strangely beautiful things in literature formerly regarded as merely entertaining. Accompanied by her mother, Mrs. McFarlane left this afternoon for her home in Denver.

The musical features of the program, under the direction of Miss Marguerite Cluxton, were interesting. The violin trio by Miss Maureen Harper, Edward Johnson and Miss Cluxton, "Humoresque," was especially enjoyed. The sextette singing of Misses Sadie Tocker, Rachel Livingston, Maureen Harper, Lucy Clement, Edna Gerard and Marie Clement was beautiful. They sang "In Our Boat." Other numbers were a violin quartette, "Clondereina," by Misses Cluxton and Harper and Messrs. Edward Johnson and Everette Tipton; violin quartette, "Irish Airs," by Misses Cluxton and Harper and Messrs. Tipton and Johnson.

Dr. Frank H. Roberts, president of the school, announced that on July 24 it is planned to observe regent's day at the Normal. On this occasion all present and past regents of the school will be guests of honor. Frank Springer, a former regent, has been asked to deliver an address upon "The History of the Normal." Antonio Lucero, secretary of state, also has been invited to be present and make an address. On this occasion it is contemplated to dedicate the handsome frieze donated to the school by Regent Charles Hild. The frieze is expected to arrive within the next few days. Should it be delayed the observance of regent's day likely will be postponed a few days. The frieze is to be hung in the auditorium of the school, which recently has been beautified by the addition of many pictures and other ornaments, together with paint kalsomine and new electric fixtures.

MULHALL RELATES STORY OF FIGHT ON LABOR

who voted in Hughes' district, a deputy collector of internal revenue, was on his payroll in the campaign against Hughes.

"You bribed these men to vote against Hughes?" asked Senator Cummings.

"I don't know whether you call it bribery or not—they were paid a weekly salary. That money was spent in legitimate work—that is what they called it. It has been done by both parties for years. Ryan was on my list for about 15 weeks altogether, first at $40 and then $60 a week," said Mulhall.

He added that Ryan was "on the list" to do general political work in labor ranks engaged in helping to beat Hughes.

Senator Reed asked if the National Association of Manufacturers "went generally into politics" and supported the republican organization or whether it singled out individual men throughout the country whom it supported.

Mulhall said it generally supported the republican ticket and particularly opposed democrats who were too actively opposed to its position on labor questions.

Efforts to control Senator McComas on labor legislation were further shown by another letter, December 13, 1904, apparently to Mulhall and which he said was written by Cushing. It urged Mulhall to deal with McComas on the supposition that the latter wanted a federal judgeship in prospect.

"He (McComas) needs to understand," the letter added, "that the industrial needs of the country are more thoroughly organized than ever before and that they will have none of him or his 8-hour act. All the same they are not vindictive and if he honestly means to let up, you, of course, can promise to do anything that you can to remove any of the obstacles that you can from the path of his ambitions."

Other letters from Cushing to Mulhall developed the extent to which Mulhall was working with various political factions in Maryland, either trying to "select a winner" or abate McComas' activity in support of his eight hour bill. Many of the men he mentioned in his letters as opposed to the eight hour bill in the association's campaign against that measure were "strictly honest in that position," he thought.

"Others pretended to be honestly opposed to it because you paid them," suggested Senator Walsh.

"Yes, that's it."

In a report February 5, 1905, to Cushing upon political questions, on the support the labor forces were giving McComas and the fight they were making for anti-injunction and eight hour legislation, Cushing had instructed him to "keep in touch with Squires to find out what the American Federation of Labor was doing."

"Was Spires acting in good faith or was he a spy in the union headquarters employed by the National Association of Manufacturers?" asked Senator Cummings.

"Not at that time, but later on he was acting as a spy for Cushing in the American Federation of Labor."

The campaign in support of Representative Charles B. Littlefield in Maine was taken up in other letters.

A Cushing letter to Mulhall, June 3, 1905, said:

"I guess it is better for you to stay out of the Central Labor union."

"A number of labor union workers were engaged in the fight for election in the union," explained Mulhall, "and I was taking an active part in seeing that we got officers elected who were on our side politically. The work was all done from the outside."

The Cushing letter added:

"You want to manage it somehow that while Stone (former republican collector of the port of Baltimore) may think you are warming up to him that it will be fact really that he is warming up to you."

Several letters related to the activity of Marshall and Cushing in the political situation in Maryland during 1905. In one it was set forth that Carl C. Downs desired to reorganize the republican party in Maryland with the aid of "Williams, General Cary, Bonaparte and Clarkson," all Maryland republicans, "in an effort to show the manufacturers and others that the republicans of Maryland are united enough to win."

The association got after Representative Frank C. Wachter of Maryland, Mulhall said.

"Wachter was not up to the mark

In Washington. He dodged too many votes on labor bills," said Mulhall.

The inquiry shifted to Albany, N. Y., with the introduction of a bill in the New York legislature by Senator Page which would have placed the burden of proof upon the defendant in cases of injury from negligence.

"Cushing sent me to oppose the bill as something that ought not to pass at that time," said Mulhall.

Senator Cummings asked who Mulhall saw in Albany when he worked against the bill.

"You did not have to see many people in Albany at that time to stop a bill of that kind?"

"I saw Boss Barnes."

"Through him you defeated the bill?"

"I believe I did. I knew him for many years."

"You told him you were working for the National Association of Manufacturers?"

"Yes, sir."

When Senator Reed came to letters about a strike in Philadelphia, Mulhall thought Attorneys McCarter and Emery were whispering about his testimony and "over the shoulders of senators."

"I see gentlemen sitting behind you," he said to the committee, "interested in strikes and I would like to be cross-examined now about these letters. This is a fight to the finish and all I want to be is a square fight. It is no laughing matter. This fight has only begun."

The strike Mulhall referred to occurred in 1906. He swore Secretary Cushing had instructed him to go to Philadelphia and take a part in trying to break it.

To cover up his real activity, he said, Cushing gave him a letter appointing him to an arbitration board.

"I had Collins and Price and several others to whom I paid money weekly," said Mulhall.

Mulhall testified his activities were directed toward preventing sympathetic strikes in Philadelphia, keeping track of what the unions were doing and to control the Central Labor union of Philadelphia, through men in that union.

Before the committee took a recess, Jackson H. Ralston, an attorney, appeared for the American Federation of Labor. He said the federation would aid the committee and produce all books and information in its possession bearing on the inquiry. His request for appearance was taken under advisement with that of McCarter.

The senate committee reassembled at 2:30 p. m. and adjourned to 10 a. m. Monday. Mulhall, it was announced, had gone to New York. He will return Monday.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c—Adv.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney and Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

ADVICE FOR THE HOME MILLINER

FOR the mother or big sister who is anxious to do millinery work at home there are models which may be attempted with every chance of success, especially in hats for children's wear. Shapes, as a rule, are becoming to start with. If the home milliner will be satisfied to copy the work of professional milliners at first, and not attempt original designing until copying has trained her taste, she will be able to make certain kinds of hats that will pass muster anywhere.

Here are three pretty hennip hats. They are the work of special designers of headwear for children. They look quite simple but they are the result of trained knowledge and expert skill in the making of this particular kind of millinery. Any one can copy them successfully, but everyone cannot originate hats equally good.

Select a shape that is becoming to the little miss whose needs are to be filled, and be careful to get a hat that fits. This is half the battle. Choose an attractive color—they are rather gay this season—or select a white or natural straw color. Any one of the methods of trimming shown here will add to the becomingness of the hat, since none of them interfere with its outlines.

The simplest trim consists of a band of soft wide ribbon—Alice blue, perhaps. At the front a flat bow of four loops is centered with a buckle made of tiny June roses. Sew this trimming to place and avoid that fault which amateurs most often fall into—don't sew it too flat to the shape.

A childish and fascinating method of trimming is shown in the hat adorned with a wreath of large ox-eyed daisies and three upstanding bows of messaline ribbon. These bows consist of two loops each, one loop about half as long as the other. The heart of the bow is finished with two small puffs of ribbon. Tack the bows to the shape with the taller loops standing up and the shorter extending to the upturn of the brim. It will not be necessary to wire the loops because they are supported by the crown to which they are fastened with a few stitches.

The most original of the three designs is shown with a plaited ribbon and fancy cord used to form the band and "stick up." A silk cord is braided in three strands and applied to the accordion-plaited ribbon which surrounds the crown. A fan or wing at the side is made by sewing three rows of the plaited ribbon to a small piece of rice net cut into the proper shape and wired at the edge. The plaited cord is sewed to this, following its outlines. When this is done a short length of cord is left free to form the knot which finishes the trimming.

FOR SEA BATHING OR MOTOR

Here is Combination Headwear That is Pretty and Has Additional Merit of Cheapness.

If you love to sea bathe and also to motor and cannot afford to buy distinctive caps for each sport, there is a new combination in headwear perfectly suited to your purse. It is an affair in white rubber having a gored crown and the three-inch brim finished with rows of machine stitching which distinguishes the regulation beach or steamer cap, and, like that familiar article, is trimmed with a band and a bow, also in rubber. The lining of the crown forms an inside cap of rubber which, instead of being pushed upward, is drawn downward, fits closely about the head and protects the hair from the water, while the brim protects the eyes from the sun's glare. Without the hat, the cap may be used for motoring in fine weather as it is light and sheds the dust, but when traveling during a high wind, it is better to use the tight-fitting cap without the upper section.

Chin Ribbons on Hats.
Satin chin ribbons are fastened to some of the white straw hats for little girls. The ribbon, in pale pink or blue, is attached to the inside of the hat brim, close to one ear, with a small rosette. It is looped in a permanent bow under the chin and fastens under a rosette at the other side of the hat brim. These soft chin ribbons are especially becoming to the dainty, pretty type of face.

Gifts for Bridesmaids.
One little bride, with more ingenuity than money, made photograph frames from material like her wedding dress, placed therein her portrait and that of her fiance, then had the whole thing mounted under glass with a small gilt rim of picture frame molding. Her maids were delighted with the gifts.

Hairpin Holder.
A hairpin holder for the handbag or the traveling bag is made of suede and holds a full package of hairpins of medium length or large size. It is the shape and length of the package of hairpins and the top clasps down much like a case of scissors.

Ribbon Flowers on Parasols.
Small bunches of black and white satin roses appear on the edge of one of the ribs and upon the handle of smart parasols. Medium large pink ribbon roses and foliage are arranged in wreath form around some parasols.

PRETTY SUMMER DRESS

Model of hand-embroidered lingerie, with broad belt of pleated light blue taffeta.

Cutting Beneath Lace.
In cutting away the good broad lace insertion one is very likely to cut the lace itself. This can be avoided, however, if a narrow cardboard, pointed at one end, is slipped between the lace and goods while cutting.

Flowers.
In selecting flowers for wedding decorations the white English stock should not be forgotten. This, because of its close-growing blossoms, gives the very white effects so desirable in either church or home weddings.

ANOTHER BUNKO GAME

Mrs. De Farm—I notice since them city boarders arrived old Hiram Hill-top has taken down his scarecrow.
Mr. De Farm—Yeou bet! He is catching all the crows he can and palming them off on the green city folks as "dark spring chicken."

PUT HIM WISE

Her Father—I've no objection to your marrying my daughter, but I hope you've got a good digestion.
Her suitor—Why?
Her Father—Well, she's been going to a cooking school for the last two months.

HIS GETTING OUT PLACE

Mrs. Kinder—it seems to me for a man who claims to deserve charity you have a very red nose.
Beggars—Well, mum, the cheap soap I use is very hard on my complexion, mum.

VERY ODD

Police-man—Why did that man strike you in the face?
Smith—He said he was an "Odd Fellow," and I told him he looked the part.

NATURAL ADVANTAGES

Quiz—So you like the experience you have of keeping bees?
Whis—Yes; you see, no matter how the market is depressed in other things, it is a business which keeps on humming.

LIVERYMEN ENJOY INCREASE IN BUSINESS BECAUSE OF VACATIONISTS

A large number of Las Vegas are planning to make the trip to the Y. M. C. A. camp tomorrow and as the weather conditions have been ideal for the past week no doubt a large number of people will venture forth. The camp is running full blast now and the management no doubt will be able to accommodate all those who will make the trip, but as this is not always the case, it has been requested that every person who intends to visit the camp inform either the local Y. M. C. A. or telephone El Porvenir and there leave word for reservations. The attendance at the camp has been increased by the coming of over a dozen more boys, and every lad is enjoying his outing. The many attractions in the mountains have made business excellent for the different livery houses and at noon today every horse obtainable had been hired for use tomorrow, it was stated.

At a meeting of the fair committee of the Commercial club that was held last night a number of committee were appointed to make some necessary arrangements. The entire committee will meet again next week to make all final arrangements for the fair.

MRS. BLANCHARD FREED

Trinidad, Col., July 12.—Judge A. W. McHendrie of the district court has returned from La Junta, where this week he has been holding shirt sleeve sessions as substitute for the presiding judge, hearing the notorious case in which Mrs. Eva Blagbard and Frank Caldwell were charged with the murder of Clyde Blanchard, the husband of the former, who was alleged to have come to his death by means of poison administered. A verdict of not guilty was returned, the case closing yesterday without the defense offering any testimony.

Judge McHendrie endured the most torrid weather while sojourning in La Junta. The thermometer reached the 105 mark one day and there was no relief at night. It was one continuous perspiring session with old Sol, and the judge was mighty glad to get back to Trinidad where a cool breeze blows at least after dark. Some of McHendrie's unique schemes to keep cool might be boiled down into recipes and sent out to the suffering dwellers of the sweltering east.

MANY STRANGERS COME TO LAS VEGAS

THEY ARE OF VARIOUS COLORS AND REFUSE TO TELL THEIR NAMES

Las Vegas was literally "buggy" last night. There were bugs everywhere—big bugs, little bugs, spotted bugs, brown bugs, in fact it seemed as if every bug known to science was in town. They gathered around the street lights and flew into every open window. At the Normal they were a bother. They were continually crawling over the people in the audience, causing a great deal of uneasiness.
