Personal Mention

The box supper at the Christian Church Monday night earned over $150.00 which will finance the Christmas activities very nicely and make some needed improvements.

Miss Inez Cate leaves this week for Athens, Tennessee, her former home, for an extended visit. She will return next year in time for wheat harvest.

Peter Hall, pioneer homesteader of Solano, who has been farming on the French Tract, has returned and will live on the Bradley farm this winter while the Bradleys spent the cold months in California.

The School Census of Roy district, canvassed by R. Lopez and Wm. G. Johnson, shows 352 pupils of School age and is very accurate.

At a special meeting of the Roy School Board Tuesday evening, R. Lopez was unanimously chosen Director as well as Clerk, to succeed Mr. Swain, resigned. A very satisfactory choice. It was also decided to have a two weeks holiday vacation to allow the teachers time to visit distant homes, one week to be made up at the end of the term. Receipt of a large "apportionment" of 1918 money has reduced the deficit to about $300.00.

The hotel at Solano has been purchased by Oscar Aspgren, of Mosquero, who will repair it and lease it to Henry Garms, manager of the new mill, who will run it to house the mill builders and other crews on the new elevator and other work caused by the boom that is starting.

The I.O.O.F. lodge will meet on Tuesday evening next week to confer degrees and have a "feed" and avoid Christmas eve. All Odd Fellows be present.

J. N. Nutter called Tuesday to pay subscription accounts for himself and son, T. C. Nutter, of Price, Utah. Mrs. T. C. and little son, Jasper, have been visiting here for some time. And Miss Shirley is here from Albuquerque for the holidays.

Frank Seidel has purchased the residence they have occupied on the east side and will live in his own home in future. The price was $300.00 cash.

Robert Streit, of Couplin, Texas, a friend of Fred Fluhmann's has purchased the Smith and Holder farms from F. S. Brown and will be back next spring to take charge.

Mr. Fluhman recommends him as one of the best farmers he knows. A good farm and a good farmer are the finest combination we can have.

M. Conner and wife went to their farm near Solano, Thursday and are glad to be home again after over a year of gypsying.

O. A. Million, of Solano, suffered a stroke Monday, paralyzing his left side. His advanced age makes his recovery doubtful.

Walter Ross came from Colmor Tuesday to help care for him.

Christmas Treat

All Children of Roy will please call at the Red Cross Room next Wednesday in the afternoon for your Christmas Treat provided by the Municipal generosity and the Red Cross.

Mrs. Irvin Ogden, Chm.

The Home-Service Secretary at the Red Cross Rooms has found occasion to be Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. K. C. Welfare and other war helps to the soldiers who are availing themselves freely of the Home Service. It is suggested that she make "Doughnuts for the Dough-Boys" and thus supply all the comforts of the trenches. The latter suggestion is still under advisement.

The big sale of Holstein Cows by the Wilson Co. at Mills was on and still going strong Thursday noon and nearly all the "bossies" have found good homes on the mesa.

Mrs. Frank Banks and pupils gave a pie-supper last week and netted $71.25 for equipment. A 12 quart coffee pot and 2 dozen cups compose their "Chocolate Set" from which they enjoy hot cocoa with their noon lunch.

We are told about the winning of the prize "Beauty" at the box-supper Monday night. It cost Kelley $10. to eat with "him" but he sure wore his skirts gracefully and was some looker.

We are a day late this week on account of delay in getting our type from the machine at Tucumcari. When our new shop is up it is going to have a machine to set our own type if it takes all of our next year's wheat crop to do it.

Hon. Severine Martinez, of the Black Lakes country of Colfax county, has been visiting his son D. M. Martinez at Carrizo the past week. He returned home Thursday.

Mrs. Dr. Plumlee was called back to Missouri Friday by a telegram saying her mother, whom she left in good health only last week, is seriously ill with Pneumonia.

W. C. Yarbrough and wife were in from their ranch Monday and remembered the S-A with another year's dues. Things are coming their way and they are prospering at ranching out on the breaks of the Tequezquite.

Dr. T. F. Self returned Monday from Kansas City and will be at home until after the holidays.

Dr. M. D. Gibbs returned Sunday from El Paso. He is still wondering at the cleaning up the store got during his absence.

Rev. O. W. Hearn gave a report of the doings of the recent Inter-Church movement Convention, which he attended at Albuquerque recently Sunday morning. The gist of it is covered by the statement "We are seeking not an organic but a 'dynamic' union of the churches." In other words they want to hitch all their tractors to one side of the load and all pull together instead of trading them all for one big tractor—the idea being that a thousand 10-horse engines all pulling together will accomplish more than one 10,000-horse power engine could do in the same field. It looks practical, economical, and efficient and we see where they will accomplish far more than by the wrangling methods of the past.

Albert Bacharach went to Rator Monday on a business mission.

School News

At the regular meeting of the Roy School Board last week, Remigio Lopez was unanimously elected clerk of the board to fill a vacancy, and has taken up the duties of that office. Mr. Lopez hesitated about accepting the appointment for several reasons, one of which was his full understanding of the difficulties and unpleasant duties it carries, but he yielded to popular demand for his services in the position where he is better qualified to render the service our school interests demand than any other citizens of the district.

Mr. Lopez has served long and faithfully as school director and clerk here and will be able to extricate the district from the jumble caused by neglect of some of the most important functions of the office. He has made the census for the district and secured its acceptance by the County Superintendent so that we may get our State apportionment, and will take up the matter of a special levy with the County Commissioners to meet the deficit caused by the change from a rural to an independent district and the working of the new law preventing payment of bills of former years for this year's taxes. The two combined have set this district about $5,000.00 behind and a special levy will be necessary to meet it. In the mean time loyal citizens are taking care of the deficit and depending on the School Board aided by Mr. Lopez to take care of the financial problem.

It is earnestly hoped that this and other minor difficulties encountered by the schools this winter will all be adjusted and that the rest of the school year may be more pleasant as well as more profitable. Conditions are hopeful. If no one was interested enough to work for better conditions it would be indeed a serious matter.

Mr. and Mrs. Pablo Branch received a postcard from their son, Albert, mailed from Nagasaki, China, Nov. 18th saying: "Can't be home for Christmas but I'm on the way." They are about the happiest people in town over this news and many more of us are glad to know that Albert will not have to spend another winter in Siberian exile and will soon be home again.

The Southwest Plainsman, of Amarillo, Texas, reproduces a threshing scene from the S-A, near Roy, and entitles it: "One of 17 rigs at work on John Shamblin's 300 acres of wheat."

We tell it for all its worth but we never stretched a story like that. It was one of over 20 threshing outfits on the mesa, and they won't all be done threshing this year, but whenever had 17 machines threshing in one field besides this was Frank Roy's wheat on Mrs. Foster's farm, but its a fine picture anyway.

R. H. McLaughlin, of Pittsburgh, Penn., sends for the S-A another year and compliments us on our news service and especially the "Harvest Special." He is interested in the flour mill enterprise and is sure it means much to the town which gets it in the way of trade.

E. M. Bagwell, driller at the Roy well, has had his drill hung up at the bottom of the 800-foot hole, and has been working since last week trying to get loose. It is a mean hole to drill alternate hard and soft streaks that cave and cause no end of trouble.

The Lodges

Acacia Lodge, A. F. and A. M. will be honored by a visit from Grand Master Alex D. Goldenberg, of Tucumcari, Saturday night, Dec. 20, at which time as nearly a full attendance of members is expected as can be present. It will be an interesting and a profitable session and plans have been made to do honor to the distinguished guest.

The first annual election of officers was held last Saturday night and the following officers were elected and will be installed on Saturday night, Dec. 27th, St. John's Day.
F. S. Brown, P. M.
T. E. Mitchell, W. M.
M. D. Gibbs, S. W.
J. E. Wildman, J. W.
Fred S. Campbell, Treas.
Irvin Ogden, Sr., Sec'y.
Albert Bacharach, Tyler.
All Mason, whether member or not are invited to meet the G. M. Saturday night.

The Odd Fellows elected officers for the coming term last Wednesday evening. Those chosen to rule the lodge are:

Alfred Davenport, N. G.
George Lewis, V. G.
Irvin Ogden, Treas.
Wm. G. Johnson, Sec'y.
V. V. Carus, Trustee.

Installation will be January 7. The lodge is in fine shape financially and has the largest membership of any order in Roy.

Mr. Wood, of Ohio, is visiting here with his cousin, Waldo Morris.

Mrs. Henry Stone is in a hospital at Dawson with a broken arm from an accident two weeks ago. Her daughter, Mrs. Kilmurray, cares for her at the ranch for a time and went to Dawson with her, returning home on Saturday. Mrs. Stone is improving slowly from her injuries.

Miss Thelma Carus is the new clerk at the Roy Postoffice. She is working out of school hours and Saturdays at present.

Mrs. Morris and son, J. Floyd Morris, left Tuesday for Iowa where they will visit for sometime with relatives and at their old home at Coal Creek. They will meet many old friends of the editor and we have saved postage by sending our Christmas greetings with them.

Ed Neill left Tuesday for Tucumcari where he will seek congenial employment for awhile. His ambition is to get a job at some ore mines or the Smelter works.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lusk drove to Maxwell Tuesday, called there by the serious illness of their little grandson at the Joe Gilstrap home. They went in their new Chevrolet.

County Supt. of Schools, Alfredo Lucero, was here last week on School business. He is displeased with the manner in which the school census and some other matters were neglected here, but willing to get matters fixed up so the Apportionment could be made to this district.

P. A. Barnett left Tuesday for his old home at Tar River, Oklahoma, from the winter. He will be back next spring.

At the meeting of the Executive Board of the Roy Chapter, A. R. C., Monday evening, Mrs. Nelly Wilcox was unanimously elected chairman for another year. It appeared to all that no one else could be found who could and would attend to the duties as faithfully and well and she yielded to the will of the other workers.

Mrs. F. S. Brown was elected as Secretary, relieving Mrs. Ogden, who was chosen sometime since as Secretary of the Home Service Section after three years service as Secretary of the Chapter. Mr. C. L. Justice was re-elected treasurer, and Mrs. Chas. Weatherill chairman Home Service Section.

Active work of the Red Cross has been reduced to the Home Service Department and a surprising amount of work has developed in helping many ex-soldiers to get their affairs adjusted with the Department, Civilian Relief activities also present a wide range of opportunity to apply "Practical Christianity."

Mayor F. S. Brown called attention to a deposit of about $40 in the bank from last year, the money left over from the Municipal-Red Cross Christmas treat last year and J. Floorsheim was appointed to solicit more funds to put with it and has collected over $100 more the Red Cross Ladies will attend to the distribution of Christmas cheer to all those who have not been provided for by organizations. It is the intent that no child in Roy shall miss a Christmas treat and especially those to whom it will mean most.

Wheat and beans still continue to come to Roy at the rate of a hundred and more loads a day. Threshing is not near finished and corn-husking is crowding in on the threshing. No one who can work at either is necessarily idle these days. Corn huskers are getting 10 cents per bushel with eam and board furnished and 15 where they furnish themselves and its a poor shucker he can't crib his 50 bushels a day.

The American Legion will have full charge of the big New Year's Ball at the Roy Theater and are planning to make it a real event.

E. F. Henry, the cement man, is back in Roy again to finish up some work not ready when he was here last. There is more work ahead for him than ever before and Roy will see a real building boom in the spring. In the meantime all the builders will be busy this winter getting some of the preliminary work done.

The Box supper to raise funds for the Union Sunday school was held at the church Monday evening and was a social and financial success netting a good time and $ for the Christmas treat.

Lieutenant Bowen, has been taking an enforced vacation from the Roy Trading Co. Market due to having seriously cut his hand with a butcher-knife.

Les Alldredge was down from the town of Springer Sunday meeting his friends and seeing Roy's boom starting with the pleasure begotten of loyalty to his old home town.

Granville Kitchell is piling up rock and sand preparatory to erecting another building on his G. K. Block.

U. S. Commissioner W. H. Wilcox and wife will leave in a few days to spend the coldest part of the winter down at El Paso, where the climate is milder. Mrs. Wilcox's health demands this concession to the climate.

Corn shuckers, shredders and shellers are crowding out the threshers now-a-days and the busy times which started with harvest are busier than ever.

Dr. G. F. Bartholomew, formerly of Mills but now of Newport, Nebraska, was greeting friends here Monday between trains. He was at Mills on business and returning home.

Miss Louise Kennedy is the new saleslady at the Floorsheim store. She is getting training at the holiday rush in the toy and drygoods departments. Dr. Gibbs attended the Southwest Medical Association meeting at El Paso last week.

The Floorsheim Mercantile Co. is building a big warehouse and store room on the street between the windmill and lumber shed. John Hornbaker and his crew are doing the work. It is a frame building covered with corrugated iron and the lumber is from the old warehouse they are tearing down near the R. H. warehouse. It will add considerable to the appearance of the street and be a fine wind-break for the sidewalk, besides adding a lot of storage room to the big plant.

A meeting of farmers to perfect an organization of Farmers Alliance was held in town Saturday and another on Sunday. They are planning co-operation and mutual helpfulness in a number of lines which have not yet been made public, but it is all for the general welfare of the community.

A Better Way

Closing schools as a means of controlling epidemics of measles, whooping cough, scarlet fever, diphtheria, smallpox, and poliomyelitis should be considered as a last resort, to be used only when thorough and systematic application of other measures fails to effect control. As a method it is clumsy, unscientific, and very unsatisfactory, for it fails to control and results in the loss of school, time and money. The modern method of careful daily inspection of infected schools, isolation of sick children, and quarantine of contacts, is both more effective and economical.

Such is the summary of report made by the American Public Health Association.

The successful control of epidemic disease among school children requires—

1. Keeping the schools open.
2. Careful inspection of schools.
3. Careful provision for exclusion of cases and contacts, emphasis being placed on clinical date rather than upon fixed periods of exclusion.
4. Systematic home visitation.
5. Reliance upon natural and physical cleansing rather than upon chemical disinfectants, or fumigation.

Henry Garms, manager of the Solano Co-Operative Mill Co., was up from Mosquero Monday on business. He says they will soon be ready to start building when the lumber arrives, and hope to be making flour before spring. The company has ample finance to back the enterprise and it is one of the best things undertaken for the whole mesa. Developing the wheat industry of the mesa is far safer and more important than dabbling in oil stocks or other enterprises that help other states and cities at our expense.

Mary Vail Andrees, Only Woman to Receive Distinguished Service Medal, Heads Party.

Dissatisfied with uneventful civilian life, after two years' vivid experiences as workers abroad in the world war, a party of young women, led by Miss Mary Vail Andrees, of New York City, have just gone to the Near East.

MISS MARY VAIL ANDREES, Distinguished Service Heroine, Who Now Goes to Near East.

where nearly a million people are suffering from disease and starvation.

Miss Andrees had returned to this country after serving for the Red Cross, but when she read of the sad plight of the Armenians, she at once offered her services to Near East Relief, the former American Committee on Armenian and Syrian Relief, which already has saved thousands of lives in Western Asia. Miss Andrees is the only American woman war worker who was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal by Congress. Most of the other members of her party likewise served with honor for the Red Cross and other war service organizations.

Among the other members of the group are the Misses Frances and Betty Anderson of New Canaan, Conn., who were decorated with the Croix de Guerre by the French Government; Miss Margaret Milne of Washington, D. C., who was a member of the Hoover Relief Commission for Armenia, and Miss Alex Sidney, an English woman who served for three years with the British Relief Commission in Serbia. Miss Doris Nevin, another member of the party, is a daughter of the late Ethelbert Nevin, the composer.

Col. William N. Haskell, commissioner to the Near East for the Paris Peace Commission and official representative of the Near East Relief, has cabled that the relief workers now in the field are overwhelmed by the magnitude of their task. Col. Haskell says 800,000 Armenians will starve before the next harvest unless they are given aid and 120,000 orphan children face death from hunger and exposure.

Thousands of refugees are daily being brought to the relief centers from the deserts.

Tuberculosis Kills 150,000 AMERICANS every year.

And yet, Tuberculosis is Preventable and Curable.

The National Tuberculosis Association is conducting a sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals, beginning December 1.

The proceeds of this sale will be used to combat Humanity's most deadly enemy—The White Plague—in every community in the United States.

Approximately 92 per cent of the money raised in your state will be spent there.

This Campaign to save AMERICAN lives will succeed if you do your part.

ANDREA AND WHITE MAN GO ON HUNTING TRIP.

Andrea Pellor, handsome daughter of Lord Pellor, impecunious aristocrat, is doomed to marry an illiterate but wealthy middle-aged diamond mine owner.

Andrea reached for a fresh cigarette. "Don't be absurd," she said. "I'm not going to bed for hours."

"No," said the man, "until you've wolfed a whole meal and grabbed chicken with your fingers, you don't really know what bodily health means."

"Oh!" cried the girl. A sea of sudden color swirled about her neck, up into her face and down over one-half the length of her bare arms.

Andrea enjoyed the bath and learned in ten minutes the soundness of the tropical rule that it had taken some old-timer ten years to evolve.

lurked in the corner of her eye, accused her of dallying and almost said aloud, "Eventually! why not now?"

"Bath ready, Missis! Bath ready, Missis!" he was chanting monotonously. She arose, put on her cloak, opened the door and rubbed her eyes at the shock of a noonday glare.

"Cold water plenty no good for white Missis," reaffirmed Bathub and withdrew, carefully closing the door behind him.

Neither white man nor black was in evidence, but even so the day passed swiftly, so many were the new features of the craal's changing scene.

It was two hours later when the incident was repeated in every detail save that the shots came from still farther away; and about three hours after, once more the thing happened.

Andrea was vaguely interested until she was asked to those eighteen shots which she had heard from the door behind her.

Scarcely had the hullohaloo of their passing died into the distance when a new contingent arrived. "M'sungo, M'sungo," the one word she knew, cropped out from their jabber with the steady recurrence of a haunting fugue.

"Oh, White Man," gasped Andrea, covering her eyes, "oh, M'sungo!" And then it came again, four loads this time, but every one as big as a horse.

Suddenly her strength came back to her. She sprang up and rushed to cut him off. "You are a murderer," she gasped as she faced him.

"Murderer," she repeated tensely. The man glanced at his but and turned his back on it with a sigh. "Come with me," he said.

"I shall never go anywhere with you," replied Andrea. The man faced her quickly. "You will come with me or be carried. Take your choice."

At last the division of the sanguinary spoil was completed. The well-armed army lined up, each and every man accompanied by woman or child as beast for the small burden.

Through it all the white man had stood grimly by, uttering not a word and leaving her to the assistance of her own intelligence.

During the meal, the white man talked, giving her listlessly certain explanatory information. "Eight months ago," he said, "I struck this country."

Andrea could not keep her eyes from glancing toward the airplane. It was as though she had followed his hidden thought. He flushed slightly, changed his sentence and finished, "And for another purpose, but almost on the day of arrival I made a discovery in the forest. Out of it has grown an industry that employs hundreds of natives and never refuses a new recruit. I am working absolutely without title and should you return to civilization, my ruin would be quite within your grasp."

"And that is why I must stay," said Andrea. "No," said the man reading her face. "If I could drop you back tomorrow there on the beach where I found you, I would do it."

She felt a definite surge of pleasure, out of all proportion to the occasion. "Thank you," she whispered, and then flushed at a sudden wonder as to the exact nature of a feeling of gladness over the fact that she was not called upon then and there to decide whether in her heart she wished to go or stay.

"I can't leave my people or my work for two weeks; I dare not trust you to a native escort." He drew away from the table that he might cross his knees, took a cigar and lit it.

She opened it now and disclosed one of those adorable filmy hybrid frocks, a double cross between afternoon, evening and elf-land wear.

She looked at the lax figure, benevolent, plunged miles deep in slumber, but even from those depths exuding a sense of compelling latent power, and hesitated. Getting up her courage she coughed twice quite loudly, but ineffectually, and then, feeling almost relieved that nothing happened, stole away on tiptoe.

The seven days that followed were much as the first; when the white man was not shooting for the pot he was away overseeing his army of laborers.

There was nothing in the dawn of the eighth morning to indicate that it was ushering in a day of days, nor did Andrea more than turn her head when shortly after noon two bearers staggered into camp with a steamer trunk slung on a pole between them.

The new-comer dismissed the two bearers, making them take the pole and its lashings with them. They departed after one long, disconsolate look. He then seated himself beside the trunk and never moved until, late in the afternoon, the white man appeared, when he arose, saluted and then made a solemn gesture toward the load others had carried.

She watched to see his face fall, but it didn't. From his pocket he took a bunch of keys, quickly slipped one from the ring and handed it to her. "Please open the trunk. It's certainly yours, as is all that it contains."

Half an hour later, when every last thing the trunk had contained was piled upon her cot, she went to the door and closed it softly; then returned to drop on her knees, throw her arms wide across the accumulation, bury her hot face against one article after another and kiss each in turn!

There is every reason to enumerate that pile of dry goods if only to put on record for the benefit of the sporting world in general a list that it took many years to compile; two to decide what was necessary; eight to determine what of that wasn't.

There were also a few assorted packages, one or two of which even this frank chronicler refuses to open, but no harm can attach to the mention of a well-stocked housewife, an equally complete toilet case, a bathrobe, a pair of bedroom slippers, and a long, flat cardboard box that had been at the bottom of the trunk, and which Andrea had as yet refrained from exploring.

She opened it now and disclosed one of those adorable filmy hybrid frocks, a double cross between afternoon, evening and elf-land wear; one set of crepe de chine lovelies; two pairs of silk stockings, one pair of satin slippers. "And he said he's going to wear khaki tonight," she moaned.

It is necessary to state that she presently got up off her knees and beginning at the head of the bed, started to try on every last thing? She did and she was only half through when Bathub knocked on the door and announced, "Scoff ready." No invitation this time—an order.

"Oh, dear!" she sighed and rushed for the utterly inadequate mirror. Five minutes later her door opened and she stepped out, slowly, like some shy thing of the forest. Flushed of cheek, brilliant of eye, she walked toward the man. Oh, big black bow! Oh, hair starting one way and going another, leaping a squared shoulder to come to rest and rise and fall against the rounded face of a firm young breast! Oh, vision! Oh, youth! Oh, day and hour of the gay heart! The man looked and saw that her knees were round, her legs straight. "Thank God," he murmured.

Common sense tells us that the boy "with the schooling" develops into a far more competent journeyman than the youth who did not go through the grammar grades. Therefore, the parents who would fit their children to face life, and at living wages, will strain many points—in fact, will gladly make "he sacrifices—in order to keep their children at school, and thus give them something better than a mere fighting chance.—New York Evening Telegram.

She Sprang Up and Rushed to Cut Him Off.

Andrea worries about her wardrobe.

Man's Actions. The actions of men are effects; their sentiments, their passions, and their affections are the causes of those effects; and we may in many cases form a judgment of the cause from the effect.

Give Them a Chance. Common sense tells us that the boy "with the schooling" develops into a far more competent journeyman than the youth who did not go through the grammar grades.

BOSCHEE'S SYRUP.

A cold is probably the most common of all disorders and when neglected is apt to be most dangerous. Statistics show that more than three times as many people died from influenza last year, as were killed in the greatest war the world has ever known.

The man who attends to his own affairs has no time to laugh at the mistakes of others.

THE GREY WOLVES' CHORUS
Hurrah!

We have killed the League of Nations!
Ha, Ha! Ho, Ho! Comp! hither, jackals, wolves, hyenas!
The lions have finished. We begin.
The lions fought at the Marne, at Chateau Thierry, Argonne Wood, Passifala, pure fools, they died for the Ideal.

They thought they would end war.
That when they had smashed the Hun they would end the Old Order.

The Old Order of mad National Vanities.

Of vast armies and navies, crushing impoverishing the workers, draining
the State, wasting the fruits of labor.
The Old Order—Militarism, enveloping, strangling every Nation as a shirt of Nessus.

We have undone all that. We have shattered the Unity of the Allies they achieved.

We have hurled insult to France,
Italy, England, our late companions in arms.

We have smashed the President, with his proud Idealism, stained his plume with blood, his shield with the grime.

We have butchered the Hope of the World with the knife of Party Politics.

We have published abroad that the Americans are good quitters and bad sports.

That we will fight for our own safety, but will do nothing to save the world.

Let the Armenian starve, and the Turk raven, and the Poles perish, and all the world burn up.

What do we care? What do the jackals care for the visions in the brain they munch?

Come boys! Circle and dance! Join hands and sing!

Bark, Sherman! Caper, Reed, Boast
Borah! Laugh, Lodge!

Up with a Nationalism that means selfishness, shame, truculence, and another war!

Down with an Americanism that means Co-operation, Faith, Brotherhood and similar twaddle!

Berlin rejoices. The Bolsheviks all chortle! Monarchists and reactionaries all over the world smile and say:
"I told you so!"

War is not dead. War lives. We have saved it.

Build greater navies! Increase your armies! Expand your cannon factories and powder mills.

Get ready for the next war.
Save your little boys, O mothers.
Be careful of them. We'll need them soon.

We have killed the League.
We have enacted the greatest Crueltification since our forefathers nailed the dreamer Christ to the cross.

We have killed the League.
Let there be a holiday in Hell.

Did the following get a big headline in any New Mexico Republican papers?

It did not:
The New Mexico statute authorizing expenditure of funds derived from the sale of public lands for advertising the state's resources, was declared unconstitutional today by the supreme court. Appeals came from injunctions granted the federal government retraining such use of its funds.

Another political graft gone glimmering.

Speaking before an audience in the Chicago City Club, on the effort to block the treaty of peace, Prof. Andrew McLaughlin said: "My boy did-not die over there in France to help the republican party win in 1920. He died to crush autocracy, and to open the way for democratic co-operation and fair play. And everything he fought for and died for is being endangered by the men who are trying to defeat the league of nations by undermining American ideals."

With the help of Senator Newberry's vote the Republican Senators of the Sixty-sixth Congress organized the senate, controlled and directed the course of legislation and forced the rejection of the treaty of peace and the League of Nations.

The methods by which Senator Newberry was chosen a senator from Michigan and a member of the Senate's Republican majority are to be determined by criminal prosecutions which have already been initiated by the indictment of 134 persons—including Senator Newberry himself. In support of these indictments there has been submitted evidence of fraud, conspiracy, corruption and debauchery without precedent in American history. It is alleged that $1,000,000 was paid for this crime against the ballot.

The fact that the powers of good have been gradually overcoming the powers of evil from the earliest dawn of civilization, proves that the victory must come gradually but is surely coming. The outlook was never so hopeful as now, the trouble is, we want to go too fast.

Thank God for a vivid and accurate recollection of the many events of the past. Were it not for this we would allow the wrongs of the present to unduly influence us. Everything is all right in spite of all the things that worry and vex us.

We wish all our friends a Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

We thank them for the business they have given us. We are prepared to give you better service and will appreciate your trade the coming year. We will prove it if given a chance.

LIBERTY ITEMS

The pie supper on Saturday evening, Dec. 6th, was a decided success.
The net proceeds were $147.15. Pies sold as high as $11.25. A pleasant evening was spent, and the Liberty
S. S. people are very grateful to the public for their generosity.

A number of the young people from Pleasant View attended the pie supper. They were chaperoned by Mr.
and Mrs. Claud Haskins.

Homer Holmes of Roy was the week end visitor of his brother, Robert.

The Messrs. Hatfields of Colorado, are visiting their sister, Mrs. Ocio Canon.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. James Christ-man, December 4, a son. All are doing fine.

The Maib-Hall thresher has about completed their work in this community.

The Brand school will have a pie supper following their literary on December 13th, the funds to be used for a Christmas tree.

The navy department, after maintaining the secret all during the war, recently announced the name of the American inventor who conceived the depth bomb which was the most effective weapon against the German submarines. The man is Chester T.
Minkler of Newport, R. I. He is only thirty-six. He also is responsible for the type of mine planted in the North Sea to hem in the German fleet. Both inventions were turned over to the government without cost.

The time is not far off when those who would now jeopardize the peace of the world to force the U. S. into conquering Mexico by force of arms, will be looked upon and scorned as traitors.

Here is how it looks to most women and a great many men: Miss Mabel Choate, daughter of Joseph H. Choate former Republican Ambassador to England, when asked to accept a desirable position with the Republican National Committee replied: "I am not willing to identify myself at the present moment with the Republican Party which has taken the grave responsibility of killing the Peace Treasury under the ignoble leadership of Mr.
Lodge. The League of Nations is the one great moral result of the war, and I do not believe the United States will stand for its defeat."

The man who makes two blades of grass grow where only one grew before is a benefactor but he looks like 30 cents when compared to the man who makes two school houses grow where only one grew before.—G. Whiz, in the Springer Stockman.

And the latter is a back number compared to the man who commodifies several rural schools into modern graded community schools with all the modern things that go with 'em.
And, by the way, how does that two blades of grass man compare with the farmer who produces $80 worth of turkey red wheat where five cents worth of grass was the yearly crop heretofore?

The congressional investigation into the building of Camp Grant offers two views for the reader. The first is that it is a political move by which to secure campaign material for 1920 and show that, while the war was on,
the cost was too great.

The other view is that gross frauds were committed, that the knowledge of such frauds is a challenge to the integrity of the government; and tend to degrade both the morale of the army and the people.

Whether the right method was followed will always be problematical, as it is difficult now to sit down and garage another situation by the particularly urgent needs of that time.
All things being equal another plan might have served better. The investigators may be able to convince the army that the cost-plus plan can be succeeded by something more practical and economical.

Furthermore, they may run on to some specific of thievery which can be punished under the criminal law.
If so, more power to them.

Turning again to the political power-making features of the investigation, it is interesting to note that Camp Grant was built and turned over to the army in less time than it has taken the senate to ratify the peace treaty after the war was won.

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the Catholic church in Charles City, Iowa. The loss of the edifice, which includes costly interior decorations, is estimated at $75,000.

Burned to death, presumably through an explosion of gasoline, the bodies of Fidel Ambrosini and Antonia Gay, wood haulers, were found in the cab of their motor truck near Tonopah, Nev.

A hundred dollar bonus is paid by Samuel Phillipson & Co. of Chicago to any employe who can show proof of the birth of a new baby in his family. The idea is to encourage marriages.

Coal production in McKinley and Colfax counties, the principal coal producing localities in New Mexico, is within 10 per cent of normal, department of justice officials have announced.

An airplane mail service between San Diego and the port of Los Angeles for men of the Pacific fleet stationed at those points has been inaugurated. The flights will be made by navy airplanes.

Eleven hundred American soldiers arrived from Siberia on the transport Sheridan. A sign on the ship's side read: "Bolshevists, beware! We are coming home to join the American Legion."

A man identified by the police as Leonard W. Zierick of Seattle escaped from a jewelry store at Los Angeles with diamonds valued at more than $15,000, after he had held up the manager and a clerk with a revolver. The man was caught later.

Mexican immigration officials have been ordered to watch closely the borders of that country to prevent entry or departure of radicals, by Aguirre Berlanga, secretary of the interior, according to advices received at El Paso by Andres G. Garcia, consul general for Mexico.

S. W. Forester, a wealthy resident of Wichita, Kan., has bought a 100,000 acre ranch at Gregory, Tex., and proposes to raise deer for market consumption. He will build wire fences twelve feet high around the entire property. He expects to send 10,000 deer to the slaughter house each year to aid in combating the high cost of living.

WASHINGTON

Five American aces, credited with having brought down more than fifty German airplanes, advocated before a House subcommittee the creation of an aeronautical department of the government to co-ordinate all aerial activities.

Prices charged by coal operators since government control was restored because of the strike are being scrutinized closely by officials of the railroad administration and probably will be submitted to the Department of Justice.

An official investigation will be ordered by the War Department into statements attributed to Lieut. Belvin W. Maynard of the army air service that the secret of the failure of some of the pilots in the recent transcontinental army air race "can be attributed to too much booze."

The total value of the country's important farm crops this year aggregates $14,062,740,000, the Department of Agriculture estimated in its final report. That compares with $12,000,526,000, the aggregate value of last year's crops as finally revised. The total area planted in these principal crops is placed at 359,124,473 acres, compared with 356,497,162 last year.

Omissions in submitted estimates for the coming fiscal year bring one proposed expenditure of the government up to $5,249,470,031 instead of $4,865,400,000, Representative Good, Republican, Iowa, chairman of the appropriations committee, told the House. Items omitted from the estimates, Mr. Good said, included $78,000,000 for road construction, already authorized; $150,300,000 for redemption of War Savings certificates; reserve notes and miscellaneous public debts, proposed by Secretary Glass in his report; $30,700,000 to continue the $240 annual bonus to government workers; $40,000,000 for salary increases of postoffice employes; $35,000,000 for supplemental estimates and $50,000,000 for deficiencies.

A peace-time regular army of 300,000 men and 18,000 officers has been decided on by the House Military Subcommittee, headed by Representative Anthony, Republican, Kansas, framing the army reorganization bill. The number of combat troops was fixed at 250,000.

Julius H. Barnes, Federal Wheat Director has announced the purchase of the Washington Herald by Herbert Hoover, Charles R. Crane of Chicago, and himself. The paper will be under the management of Walter S. Rogers and Herman Sutter.

FOREIGN

The former German crown prince has renewed the lease of his house at Wieringen until next spring.

The French military class of 1920 will be called to the colors late in February and the class of 1918 will be liberated the second fortnight in April, according to newspapers at Paris.

The first Polish profiteer to be executed is M. Brothelm, who, found guilty of having stolen three truckloads of food intended for the Polish army, was shot dead by a firing squad. Premier Paderewski has announced a pitiless campaign against all profiteers.

Milk and cream have been barred from Paris bars and restaurants and now the authorities are going after eggs as well. They have decided to prohibit the concoction of any egg drink, in order to conserve the supplies of eggs for children, the aged and the sick.

The United States government has notified Japan that America has adopted the "hands off" policy in Siberia and will send no further assistance to the Kolchak forces, according to a Tokio cable published by the Nippu Jiji, a Honolulu Japanese newspaper.

Federal District Judge Hamilton issued a temporary restraining order against Santiago Iglesias, representative of the American Federation of Labor, and forty-two laborers and employes of the American railroad of Porto Rico enjoining them from carrying out an alleged conspiracy whereby it is charged the employes of the railroad were made to strike Dec. 3.

Capt. Ross Smith, Australian aviator, arrived at Port Darwin, Australia from England, thus winning a prize of £10,000 sterling offered for the first aviator to make the voyage. Under the conditions laid down by the Australian government when it offered a prize for making a flight from England to Australia the distance of 11,500 miles had to be covered within thirty days.

Evan E. Young of the United States consular service has been ordered to Odessa, South Russia, to open a consulate general. An adequate staff will go with him, the state department announced, and it is possible that two or three consuls will soon be placed under his jurisdiction at important points on the Black sea and in South Russia industrial and agricultural centers. Mr. Young was consul general at Halifax for some years, and is rated as one of the ablest men in the service.

The Canadian government is shipping $10,000,000 in gold to New York for the purpose of meeting obligations and also to check the depreciation in Montreal exchange.

H. S. Wilkinson of Pittsburgh has been elected president of the Crucible Steel Company of America and chairman of the board, taking the place of C. H. Wharton, who declined re-election.

City officials stopped twenty-five tons of sand and gravel from being sold at 30 cents a pound in New York. The real estate was in the crops of 50,000 chickens bound for the New York market.

The Republican National Committee has selected Chicago, and Tuesday, June 8th, as the place and time for the national convention at which the party's 1920 candidate for President will be nominated.

Furs valued at more than $100,000 were stolen from a fur dressing establishment in Brooklyn, according to an announcement made by Starobin & Rubin, the owners. Ten thousand skins were hauled away by thieves in trucks, it was said.

Vincent Eisel, a barber in New York City, while shaving Harry Dresher, was taken with vertigo and falling, gashed Dresher's throat with the razor. Dresher is in a hospital and not expected to live. Detectives arrested Eisel on the charge of felonious assault.

Recommendations of the navy general board for the building program of 1921, include two battleships, one battle cruiser, ten scout cruisers, five destroyer flotilla leaders and six submarines. "The navy of the United States should ultimately be equal to the most powerful maintained by any other nation of the world," not later than 1925, the report adds.

Chicago ranks second in point of negro population in northern cities, the report of the Urban league shows. "New York is the only city in the North surpassing Chicago in point of colored residents," said T. A. Hill, secretary. "Since 1915 Chicago has added 75,000 to its negro population. Detroit and Newark have had 400 per cent increases in the last four years."

Flat refusal to give the names of the executive committee of the Russian soviet federation described by Dr. Michael Misleg, its treasurer, as a nationwide body actively engaged in teaching Bolshevism to the American masses, met the joint legislative committee's investigation into radicalism in New York. Despite instruction to answer on pain of being in contempt, Misleg on the witness stand declined to reply.

The main body of the Atlantic fleet will leave Eastern seaports for Guantanamo, Cuba, Jan. 8th, Secretary Daniels announced in Washington. The flagship Pennsylvania, flying the four-starred flag of Admiral Wilson, will lead the force. Particular attention will be paid to main battery target practice on the winter drill grounds this year, Secretary Daniels said.

John D. Rockefeller, Sr., has "sworn off" his personal tax assessment in New York City from $5,000,000 to $1,000,000. At the present rate this will cost the city about $78,000 next year.

COMING EVENTS. The Red Cross Christmas Seal sale will take place all over the United States from December 1 to 10, 1919.

There are quite a number of dwelling houses going up in Tempe, Arizona, and many others are contemplated.

There has been a gradual, though not a marked decline in opportunities for employment in Arizona within the last year, according to figures given out at the United States employment service at Phoenix. This has been more marked than ever during the last month, due to weather conditions.

Enforcement of national prohibition in the state of New Mexico will be under the supervision of J. H. Fleming, formerly narcotic inspector for the bureau of international revenue with title of prohibition commissioner, according to Thomas H. Mays, who has succeeded Mr. Fleming as narcotic inspector.

Arizona's school census shows a total of 77,777 pupils, it was announced by C. O. Case, state superintendent of public instruction. He also announced that schools of the state will have available $724,003.87 for the coming year after deducting for text-books and other "central" items from the total fund of $850,000.

Regulations recommending to the secretary of the interior that dry lands granted water rights by a recent decision of the superior court of Maricopa county be granted permanent water rights were adopted at a meeting of the board of governors of the Salt River Valley Water Users' Association at Phoenix.

Half a million dollars in improvements in the Grand Canyon which will make the great resort a more popular place for people of ordinary means are planned by the Santa Fe road, according to Herman Schweizer, who is in charge of the news and curio business for Fred Harvey in the territory west of Colorado.

State Game Warden Joe Prochaska has issued a warning that hunting in preferred places in Arizona would be ended unless hunters were careful not to leave fires or shoot cows or other domestic animals. The game warden said such occurrences had especially aroused the Indian tribes and officials in charge of reservations.

The Indian hospital which was started at Shiprock, N. Mex., several years ago has at last been opened and equipped and will from now on serve all the Indians on the reservation. This will do away with the old school hospital which has been used for some time in the past. The new building is equipped with 100 beds and has every modern convenience for the handling of patients.

Grover Johnson, who was sentenced in the District Court from Union county, New Mexico more than two years ago to serve from twelve to fifteen years in the penitentiary for murder in the second degree, has been given a full pardon by Governor Larrazola. His sentence was commuted by Governor Washington E. Lindsey and the minimum sentence had expired under the commutation.

According to the reports of the three national banks of Carlsbad, N. Mex., there has been a marked increase in the deposits since the September report. The figures show the increase to be nearly $275,000 which shows the healthy business now being enjoyed by the people living in the Carlsbad project. Much of this increase is thought to be due to the cotton crop which has been the best known in the history of the industry in this section of the state.

Three more oil wells are to be started near Tucumcari, N. Mex., during the present month, which will bring the total up to five in Quay county. The McGee well in which the gas pocket was struck some time ago is now down to a depth of nearly three thousand feet and it is expected that oil sand will be reached soon. Another well is to be started near this site by this company. The bringing in of several good wells across the line in Texas in the last few months has caused considerable excitement in this county.

A strange epidemic has been causing much sickness among the horses in the Pecos valley, New Mexico, and many have died from the trouble. Many of the farmers in the vicinity of Lake Arthur have lost horses and it is said the disease has been found as far north as Fort Sumner. It was first thought by the veterinarians that it was caused by the horses being turned in to orchards but it was found that horses have been afflicted which have not been allowed to eat any apples. Many of the veterinarians believe the trouble to be contagious and are doing everything possible to prevent the spread of the disease over the state.

Guy Bassett, a rancher of San Miguel, N. Mex., who stole hay only to save his cattle from perishing, has been pardoned by Governor Larrazola. He was sentenced by the District Court for Miguel county on June 24, 1919, to serve from seven to nine months for larceny.

The most potentially important consolidation of business in Tucson, Arizona, in recent years was the merger of the J. Knox Corbett Lumber Company and the W. J. Corbett Hardware Company, with a capitalization of $300,000.

ITALY TO ANNEX FIUME

D'ANNUNZIO WILL HAND OVER FIUME TO FORMER MINISTER.

CONFERENCE FINISHED

MEETING IN LONDON OF THREE BIG POWERS IS OVER.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Fiume, Dec. 15.—Gabirole d'Annunzio will hand over command of the city of Fiume to regular troops under General Cavaglia, former minister of war.

According to a statement given out by Pedrazzi, Italy is to have complete sovereignty over Fiume, while all the provisions of the pact of London will be carried out.

The agreement between D'Annunzio and the government solving the Fiume situation was signed by Premier Nitti and D'Annunzio, France, Great Britain and Italy, according to Pedrazzi, agreed to the annexation of Fiume.

Paris.—Before the official statements have been issued regarding the London conferences it is possible to give some idea of certain agreements that were reached. A French loan of five or six billion francs placed in England, it is understood, would be accepted. An interallied military organization, assuring execution of the treaty and having under consideration measures which Germany's possible attitude in the future might compel, will be maintained with Marshal Foch in control.

Absolute reserve is maintained on the situation created by delay in American ratification of the treaty.

The accord between London and Paris, it is declared, remains absolute. Le Matin says: "The Syrian question is said to be settled according to the legitimate aspirations of France. Publication of a communication determining the Russian policy of the allies is expected shortly."

London, Dec. 14.—A London paper says: "We understood that one result of the conference at No. 10 Downing street will probably be a decision to form a council consisting of the prime ministers of Great Britain, France and Italy, together with a representative of the United States, who must, however, have full power to act without referring every matter to Washington."

"This council will meet from time to time as may be required and as the parliamentary situation in the various countries may permit. The first meeting is likely to take place in Paris during the Christmas recess. In the meantime the supreme council in Paris will continue to exercise its present functions, though its exact composition may undergo certain alterations."

Vote to Continue Steel Strike.

Washington.—Continuation of the nation-wide steel workers' strike was voted by the conference here of the twenty-four presidents of unions connected with the steel industry, most of the union leaders maintaining that victory in the controversy was in sight. When informed of the action taken at Washington by the twenty-four union presidents who voted to continue the nation-wide steel strike, representatives of Pittsburgh district steel companies declared that as far as they were concerned the strike was a "dead issue." In a large majority of the plants, they said, operations were only a few points below normal.

Denounce Governor's Action.

Wichita, Kan.—Representatives of the Wichita Trade and Labor Council, embracing all the unions of the city, passed resolutions denouncing the stand of Gov. Henry J. Allen on the coal strike and declining to be further bound by the official acts of John H. Crawford of Wichita, state labor commissioner. The action of the governor in sending volunteers to the mines was an expense utterly unwarranted by the relief it brought to the people.

Get Radicals in Raid.

Jackson, Mich.—Sixty-five alleged radicals were taken into custody by Department of Justice agents in raids on workmen's hotels. All were foreigners. A score or more were held after examination for possible action by the immigration officials.

Estimates of $8,000,000,000 as the yield of the present revenue law for the first twelve months of its operation will be closely appropriated if not fully realized, Internal Revenue Commissioner Roper said in his annual report.

Clemenceau Breaks Rib.

Paris.—It developed with Premier Clemenceau's return from the conference in London that he had suffered a fracture of the rib on his trip to England through a fall on board the destroyer on which he crossed the channel on the northward journey. He alighted from the train at the station here with some difficulty because of this injury and after having been enthusiastically received by the crowd gathered at the station he called for Dr. Tuffier, his physician.

DECLARE SIZE A HANDICAP

Women of Generous Proportions Say Their Fragile Sisters Are Preferred by the Men.

Suzanne looked tearful, and tears do not suit Suzanne. You see, she stands six feet in her silk stockings, wears a seven shoe and a seven glove, and isn't a bit proud of the fact.

My Amazon had had a big disappointment, says a writer in London Answers. Put in plain words, she had allowed just a little more of her interest than was wise to center round a big Dick Harbury, and Suzanne had dreamed dreams. Now had come the news that little fluff Maise, a doll-like girl of barely five feet, was wearing Dick's ring.

Said Suzanne: "We big women haven't a chance. A man always falls before the tiny woman. Why do men prefer little women?"

That query set me thinking. Do men prefer little women to girls of the Amazon type? Has size any power when it comes to a question of falling in love?

Undoubtedly women like big men. A giant catches admiration from the eye of any and every woman in his vicinity. Women love power in their men, and they imagine that the big man possesses it. It's a natural supposition, after all, isn't it? Big men impress, although they do not always live up to these first impressions.

But turn the subject round, and you'll find that there's a grain of truth in Suzanne's wail.

Little bits of fluff do appeal to the masculine sex. The wee woman gets there all the time. A man likes to feel that he could pick up his girl in his arms if necessary, carry her miles without straining his heart, and have the nice feeling that she needs his protection.

So you will find the big men carrying off the little women—bits of femininity who reach up to their hearts—and what happens to the Amazons? Nature being contrary—at least, human nature—the little man aspires to the big woman, and marries her.

"Like repels, unlike attracts" all along the line, you see. Maybe. But it doesn't always happen.

I rather fancy that it's more a matter of the "come hither" look in the eye rather than of size.

Hats for Husbands Only.

Marriage in Korea divides the men from the boys in a way that may be convenient, but that sometimes is amusing. No one but a married man can wear the peculiar high-crowned hat that is so characteristic of Korean dress. One day, writes Mr. Roy C. Andrews in the National Geographic Magazine, I noticed a little fellow who wore a hat and had his hair knotted on the top of his head. He was only a child, and I said to the cook, "Is that little boy really married?"

"Do you mean that man?" the cook asked, pointing at the child.

I said, "Yes," and learned that the little fellow, who was only eleven years old, had a wife of ten, to whom he had been legally married. Although they would continue to live with their parents for the next two or three years, the boy was referred to as a "man," and had all the privileges of a full-grown member of the community.

Near the "man" was a fellow of forty-seven, who wore his hair parted in the middle and hanging in a long braid down his back. Because he was unmarried, he could not wear a hat or tie up his hair; no matter what age he reached, he would always be considered to be a boy. The two were photographed side by side, to the great displeasure of the eleven-year-old man.

Feeding a Llama.

A most unhappy fate befell a young llama that came into the port of New York on the U. S. S. Munnies, says a contributor to the Zoological Society Bulletin. United States sailors won the animal at a ball game in Buenos Aires, and brought him north with the intention of presenting him to the New York Zoological Park. Not realizing his capacity for food, they failed to bring enough hay to last until they reached port, especially since they generously permitted the llama to wander into the hay compartment at will and eat all he wished at each visit. The hay gave out when the ship was crossing the equator, but the llama solved the difficulty temporarily by discovering several brooms and eating the last wisp of straw from the handles.

In desperation, the men collected all the brooms on board and fed them to the llama. When the brooms were gone, the animal became demonstrative, but he refused every substitute until they offered him dried prunes. On that diet he arrived in New York alive and apparently well, but during a sudden cold spell he developed bronchial troubles, and finally died of pneumonia.

Most Popular Word.

One hundred thousand words of English prose were analyzed and it was found that fifty words occurred more than a hundred times each.

The list was headed by the word "the," which appeared 8,141 times; "of," 5,974 times; "and," 3,560; "to," 3,461; while "a," curiously enough, only appeared 2,140 times.—Boston Post.

Guessing.

"What a retiring little lady she is, while her husband is loud and boisterous. I wonder how he managed to catch that timid little mouse?" "I do, too, the big piece of cheese."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Cannot Praise this Remedy too Highly

THE WAY ONE LADY FEELS AFTER SUFFERING TWO YEARS

Judging from her letter, the misery and wretchedness endured by Mrs. Charlie Taylor, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 144, Dillon, S. C., must have been terrible. No one, after reading her letter, can continue to doubt the great healing power of PE-RU-NA for troubles due to catarrh or catarrhal conditions in any part of the body. Her letter is an inspiration to every sick and suffering man or woman anywhere. Here it is: "I suffered two years with catarrh of the head, stomach and bowels. Tried two of the best doctors, who gave me up. I then took PE-RU-NA and can truthfully say I am well. When I began to use PE-RU-NA, I weighed one hundred pounds. My weight now is one hundred and fifty. I cannot praise PE-RU-NA too highly, for it was a Godsend to me. I got relief from the first half bottle and twelve bottles cured me. I advise all sufferers to take PE-RU-NA."

As an emergency remedy in the home, there is nothing quite the equal of this reliable, time-tried medicine, PE-RU-NA. Thousands place their sole dependence on it for coughs, colds, stomach and bowel trouble, constipation, rheumatism, pains in the back, side and joints and to prevent the grip and Spanish Flu. To keep the blood pure and maintain bodily strength and robustness, take PE-RU-NA. You can buy PE-RU-NA anywhere in either tablet or liquid form.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system, the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it. A prominent druggist says: "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, most every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments; corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism. You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.—

BENEFITS OF SURFACE IRRIGATION WHICH DO NOT INVOLVE HEAVY OUTLAY OF MONEY

Furrow irrigation, a Method of Artificially Applying Water to the Land That Could Profitably Be More Generally Adopted in Eastern Regions.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Probably there never was greater interest in various forms of irrigation than at present. Three methods are popular in sections of the Eastern states where conditions justify the artificial application of water to crops. They are spraying, subirrigation and surface irrigation. But the forward-looking farmer who is making plans for his spring work hesitates to undertake new spray irrigation or subirrigation projects because he is well aware of the expense with prices at their present level. It is timely, therefore, to suggest the benefits of surface irrigation which do not involve so heavy an outlay of money.

Two Methods Employed.

Two methods, furrow irrigation and flooding, are employed. Both are extensively used in arid sections of the country, and their adaptation to eastern conditions is not difficult. As its name implies, furrow irrigation is merely the running of water down furrows between rows of plants, while irrigation by flooding is the spreading of water over fields, usually those in small grains, alfalfa or grasses. Common field crops are not often irrigated in the East, yet in occasional instances cotton, corn and potatoes have been treated in this way with profit; likewise fruit trees are benefited by irrigation in many sections. An example of this is the citrus groves of Florida.

Combination Systems.

Many farms are adapted to a combination of spray and furrow irrigating systems, the former to irrigate seed potatoes and small patches of garden truck, while the latter may be used for crops planted in rows. When a combination of this sort is adopted the crops under spray usually are those on rolling or hilly lands where it is not easy to irrigate by furrows. Where the lay of the land is favorable the comparative cheapness of the furrow method recommends it above the more expensive spray method. In most instances where the furrow method is used the crops are planted in rows far enough apart to permit cultivation by a horse-drawn implement.

Information in Bulletins.

The department of agriculture has for distribution Bulletin 899 entitled "Surface Irrigation for Eastern Farms," which contains valuable information for the farmer interested in surface irrigation. It treats in a practical way the problem of obtaining a water supply, how to convey the water to the land, and the different types of pumps and other equipment necessary to make the system practical. There are also valuable suggestions regarding the methods of applying the water to the crops.

DAIRY INDUSTRY IN STOUT COMPETITION

Specialist Outlines European Needs for Products.

Work of Bureau of Markets in Gathering and Distributing Accurate Information—Standardization of Methods Urged.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

"European needs for dairy products may be largely supplied from pre-war sources within two years' time, and the American dairy industry may again feel foreign competition on home markets." This is the conclusion of Ray C. Potts, specialist in marketing dairy products, bureau of markets, speaking before a recent meeting of food officials in New York city.

In explaining the work of the bureau of markets in gathering and distributing accurate market information on dairy products, Mr. Potts pointed out the stabilizing effect of such information on prices and stated that fluctuating prices at wholesale make for wider margins between producer and consumer, while stabilization permits greater economy in distribution.

Recent monthly reports on milk prices in 200 cities have called attention to the wide difference in distribution costs prevailing in different sections of the country. While economies in distribution are possible in some communities the speaker pointed out that a saving of 10 per cent in the cost of distribution would make only a very slight saving to the individual consumer. A much greater loss to the public, he said, lies in paying top market prices for inferior qualities of dairy products. He advocated standardization of methods of production and distribution with special attention to more uniform quality of product as one of the great needs of the dairy industry.

USING PARCEL POST SERVICE

Possibilities Offered Well Worth Investigating by Persons Having Products to Sell.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The parcel post service offers possibilities well worth investigation by persons who have small surpluses of various farm products. The widespread knowledge of the need for conserving the food supply and the apparent willingness of the American people to co-operate to this end should become peculiarly useful in disposing of small quantities of specialties or products of unusual quality.

For Women Approaching Middle Life

Ottawa, Kan.—"When I reached middle life I was very nervous and almost prostrated. I saw Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery advertised and decided to try them. I took six bottles of the Favorite Prescription first. During the first week of the treatment I seemed weaker but I was advised by a neighbor to keep on taking it, and during the second week I improved rapidly and could do my work—where before I could not even comb my hair. I finished the treatment, using the 'Golden Medical Discovery' also, and I was permanently cured."

"I have used Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for constipation whenever I have needed that kind of medicine, for years."—MRS. MARY CHASE, 603 N. Hickory St.

For Women Before or After Motherhood

Kansas City, Kan.—"After motherhood I had feminine weakness. I became very nervous and all run down in health. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it cured me. I was soon enjoying the best of health. It proved so good in my case that I do not hesitate to recommend it as a splendid medicine for women."—MRS. KATE KLINGLER, 1509 Brighton St.

When a girl becomes a woman, when a woman becomes a mother, when a woman passes through the changes of middle life, are the three periods of life when health and strength are most needed to withstand the pain and distress often caused by severe organic disturbances. At these critical times women are best fortified by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, an old remedy of proved worth. Get Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription today, either in liquid or tablet form or send Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., $1.00 for large trial packages.

HOW RHEUMATISM BEGINS

The excruciating agonies of rheumatism are usually the result of failure of the kidneys to expel poisons from the system. If the irritation of these uric acid crystals is allowed to continue, incurable bladder or kidney disease may result. Attend to it at once. Don't resort to temporary relief. The sick kidneys must be restored to health by the use of some steeling remedy which will prevent a return of the disease. Get some GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules immediately. They have brought back the joys of life to countless thousands of sufferers from rheumatism, lame back, lumbago, sciatica, gall stones, gravel and other affections of the kidneys, liver, stomach, bladder and allied organs. They will attack the poisons at once, clear out the kidneys and urinary tract and the soothing healing oils and herbs will restore the inflamed tissues and organs to normal health. All others are imitations. Ask for GOLD MEDAL and be sure the name GOLD MEDAL is on the box. Three sizes, at all good druggists.—Adv.

New Glads Start Paroled Convict on His Travels

SAN FRANCISCO.—Does the new interstitial gland operation work? Well, in the case of James Thompson, late of the San Quentin penitentiary of this state, the prison authorities are ready to admit it worked all too well. Thompson was the first of the several prisoners here for whose glands those of hanged slayers have been substituted. He was not old, but an injury to the interstitial glands in his youth had retarded his mental development. When Thompson was sent to San Quentin, in 1918, for burglary, he was not remarkable for his alert intellect, but he quickly won the admiration of the guards by his tractability and obedience to discipline. The operation was performed, and showed immediate results. Thompson was no longer the simple, stupid burglar he had been. He began to frequent the prison library, and to acquire the rudiments of an education. As for his conduct, it became better than ever—so good, in fact, that he finally won a parole. That was two months ago. When it developed the released prisoner had not reported on his regular day, according to parole customs, officers went in search of him. "Mr. Thompson?" they were told at the rooming place, where he had lived. "Why, he's gone to South America—at least that's what he said. 'This United States doesn't give a man a chance,' he said. 'I want to get out somewhere where I can pull off something big.' So he skipped, and we've got an idea he'll be gone a long while."

"Miracle Man," Who Cures by Laying on of Hands

NEW CARLISLE, IND.—A "miracle worker" is accredited with such wonders in curing the sick simply by the laying on of his hands, that he has lived down this community's skepticism. Leo Cassidy of the New Carlisle bank and E. R. Smith, a business man, have furnished money for the erection of a sanitarium on Lincoln highway. It will be used by the "healer" in caring for the hundreds of ill, lame and blind persons who are flocking to him. In making this announcement the editor of the New Carlisle Journal, a daily newspaper, asserts that from 80 to 90 per cent of the afflicted persons touched by the man have been materially benefited, if not altogether cured. The "healer" is William Mays of Pittsburgh. He stopped in New Carlisle several months ago when his automobile broke down. The first thing he did was to cure Joe Carr, the hardware man, of smoking by making his cigar taste "something awful" by simply taking it in his hands. Then Carr took him to the village doctor, an invalid for 28 months from rheumatism and paralysis. Dr. James Burke Waynick appeared on the streets next day, completely restored to health. He says Mays had effected the cure simply by touching him. The word passed around rapidly. Sick people of the neighborhood began pouring in upon the stranger to be touched. With an overflow business, Mays decided to charge $1 for each treatment. The fee did not stop the rush. The sick of surrounding towns, unable to travel, sent for him. In South Bend, Ind., he is said to have cured Burr Cassidy, a bed-ridden invalid for 26 years. Many other seemingly miraculous cures are attributed to him.

Monument to Santa Anita American Derby Winners

LOS ANGELES.—Famous in life, the race horses of the late "Lucky" Baldwin are not to be forgotten in death. Out at the Santa Anita ranch Miss Anita M. Baldwin, daughter of the noted horseman, is seeing to that. Over a mound in a clump of eucalyptus trees in front of the stallion paddocks she is erecting a monument to four American derby winners—Volante (1885), Silver Cloud (1886), Emperor of Norfolk (1888) and Rey el Santa Anita (1894), at Washington park in Chicago. These four thoroughbreds won for their owner over $50,000 in American Derby prizes alone. In their day they are said to have captured stakes and purses totaling more than $500,000. The American Derby at Chicago was for 17 years the greatest turf event in America. Rey el Santa Anita's last public appearance was in 1915, when he was judged senior champion and grand champion thoroughbred stallion at the Panama-Pacific international exposition, despite the fact that he was then twenty-four years old. Rey el Santa Anita died July 3 last. In his tomb they placed his bridle and halter, his silver-mounted saddle, his blankets, and his jockey's riding colors. Over the graves of four of the best horses that ever raced in their days in this country Miss Baldwin is rearing a lasting monument in the form of a concrete Maltese cross six feet square. The Maltese cross was the racing emblem of "Lucky" Baldwin, and it hangs over the doorways of the paddocks at Santa Anita ranch to this day. This gigantic cross will be finished in red, with black crosslines. At the base of the cross the names of the four famous American Derby winners and their records will be lettered upon bronze tablets.

How Does the Mystery Man Know About the Mole?

PORT CHESTER, N. Y.—Philip R. Fisher is not a connoisseur on moles. A jury decided after a trial of seven hours and deliberation of ten minutes that he is particularly indifferent about moles on the backs of the girls of Rye. Therefore that community is all het up again over the problem: Who is the girl with a mole on her back who steals apples, and who is the man that has examined the backs of half a dozen lassies to find the one with a mole who steals apples? For several nights a man, strange in Rye, waylaid girls in lonely byways, compelled them to lower their waists and examined their backs with a flashlight, explaining that a girl with a mole between her shoulders had stolen apples in his orchard. The police arrested Fisher, who is a representative of the American Steel Export company, with offices in New York and a home in Port Chester. He established perfectly good alibis. Miss Adelaide Zamba, who is seventeen and has no moles, and a back that would look well in an evening gown, told the jury that on the night of October 22, in Rye, a stranger pointed a revolver that inspired her escort to seek other regions and seek them fast. The stranger then flashed a shield and compelled the girl to proceed with him to a clump of bushes. There he bade her remove her waist. She refused. He put the revolver close to her face and she changed her mind. "You are the girl who has been stealing my apples. I have got you. Remove your waist," the man persisted. He scrutinized her back and remarked as he permitted the girl to go. "I guess you're not the girl, after all. I can't find any moles." Other girls took the stand and related similar experiences. But none could say anything more positive against Fisher than that he resembled the stranger in a general way. Fisher shook hands with each of the jurors. He said he was not certain whether he would seek redress against those causing his arrest. Meanwhile the sleuths are again hunting the mole-hunter.

WOMAN WORKS 15 HOURS A DAY

Marvelous Story of Woman's Change from Weakness to Strength by Taking Druggist's Advice

Peru, Ind.—"I suffered from a displacement with backache and dragging down pains so badly that at times I could not be on my feet and it did not seem as though I could stand it. I tried different medicines without any benefit and several doctors told me nothing but an operation would do me any good. My druggist told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it with the result that I am now well and strong. I get up in the morning at four o'clock, do my household, then go to a factory and work all day, come home and get supper and feel good. I don't know how many of my friends I have told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—MRS. ANNA METERIANO 36 West 10th St., Peru, Ind.

Women who suffer from any such ailments should not fail to try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

THE "BLUES"

Caused by Acid-Stomach

Millions of people who worry, are despondent, have spells of mental depression, feel blue and are often melancholy, believe that these conditions are due to outside influences over which they have little or no control. Nearly always, however, they can be traced to an internal source—acid-stomach. Nor is it to be wondered at. Acid-stomach, beginning with such well defined symptoms as indigestion, belching, heartburn, bloating, etc., will, if not checked, in time affect to some degree or other all the vital organs. The nervous system becomes deranged. Digestion suffers. The blood is impoverished. Health and strength are undermined. The victim of acid-stomach, although he may not know the cause of his ailments, feels his hope, courage, ambition and energy slipping. And truly life is dark—not worth much to the man or woman who has acid-stomach!

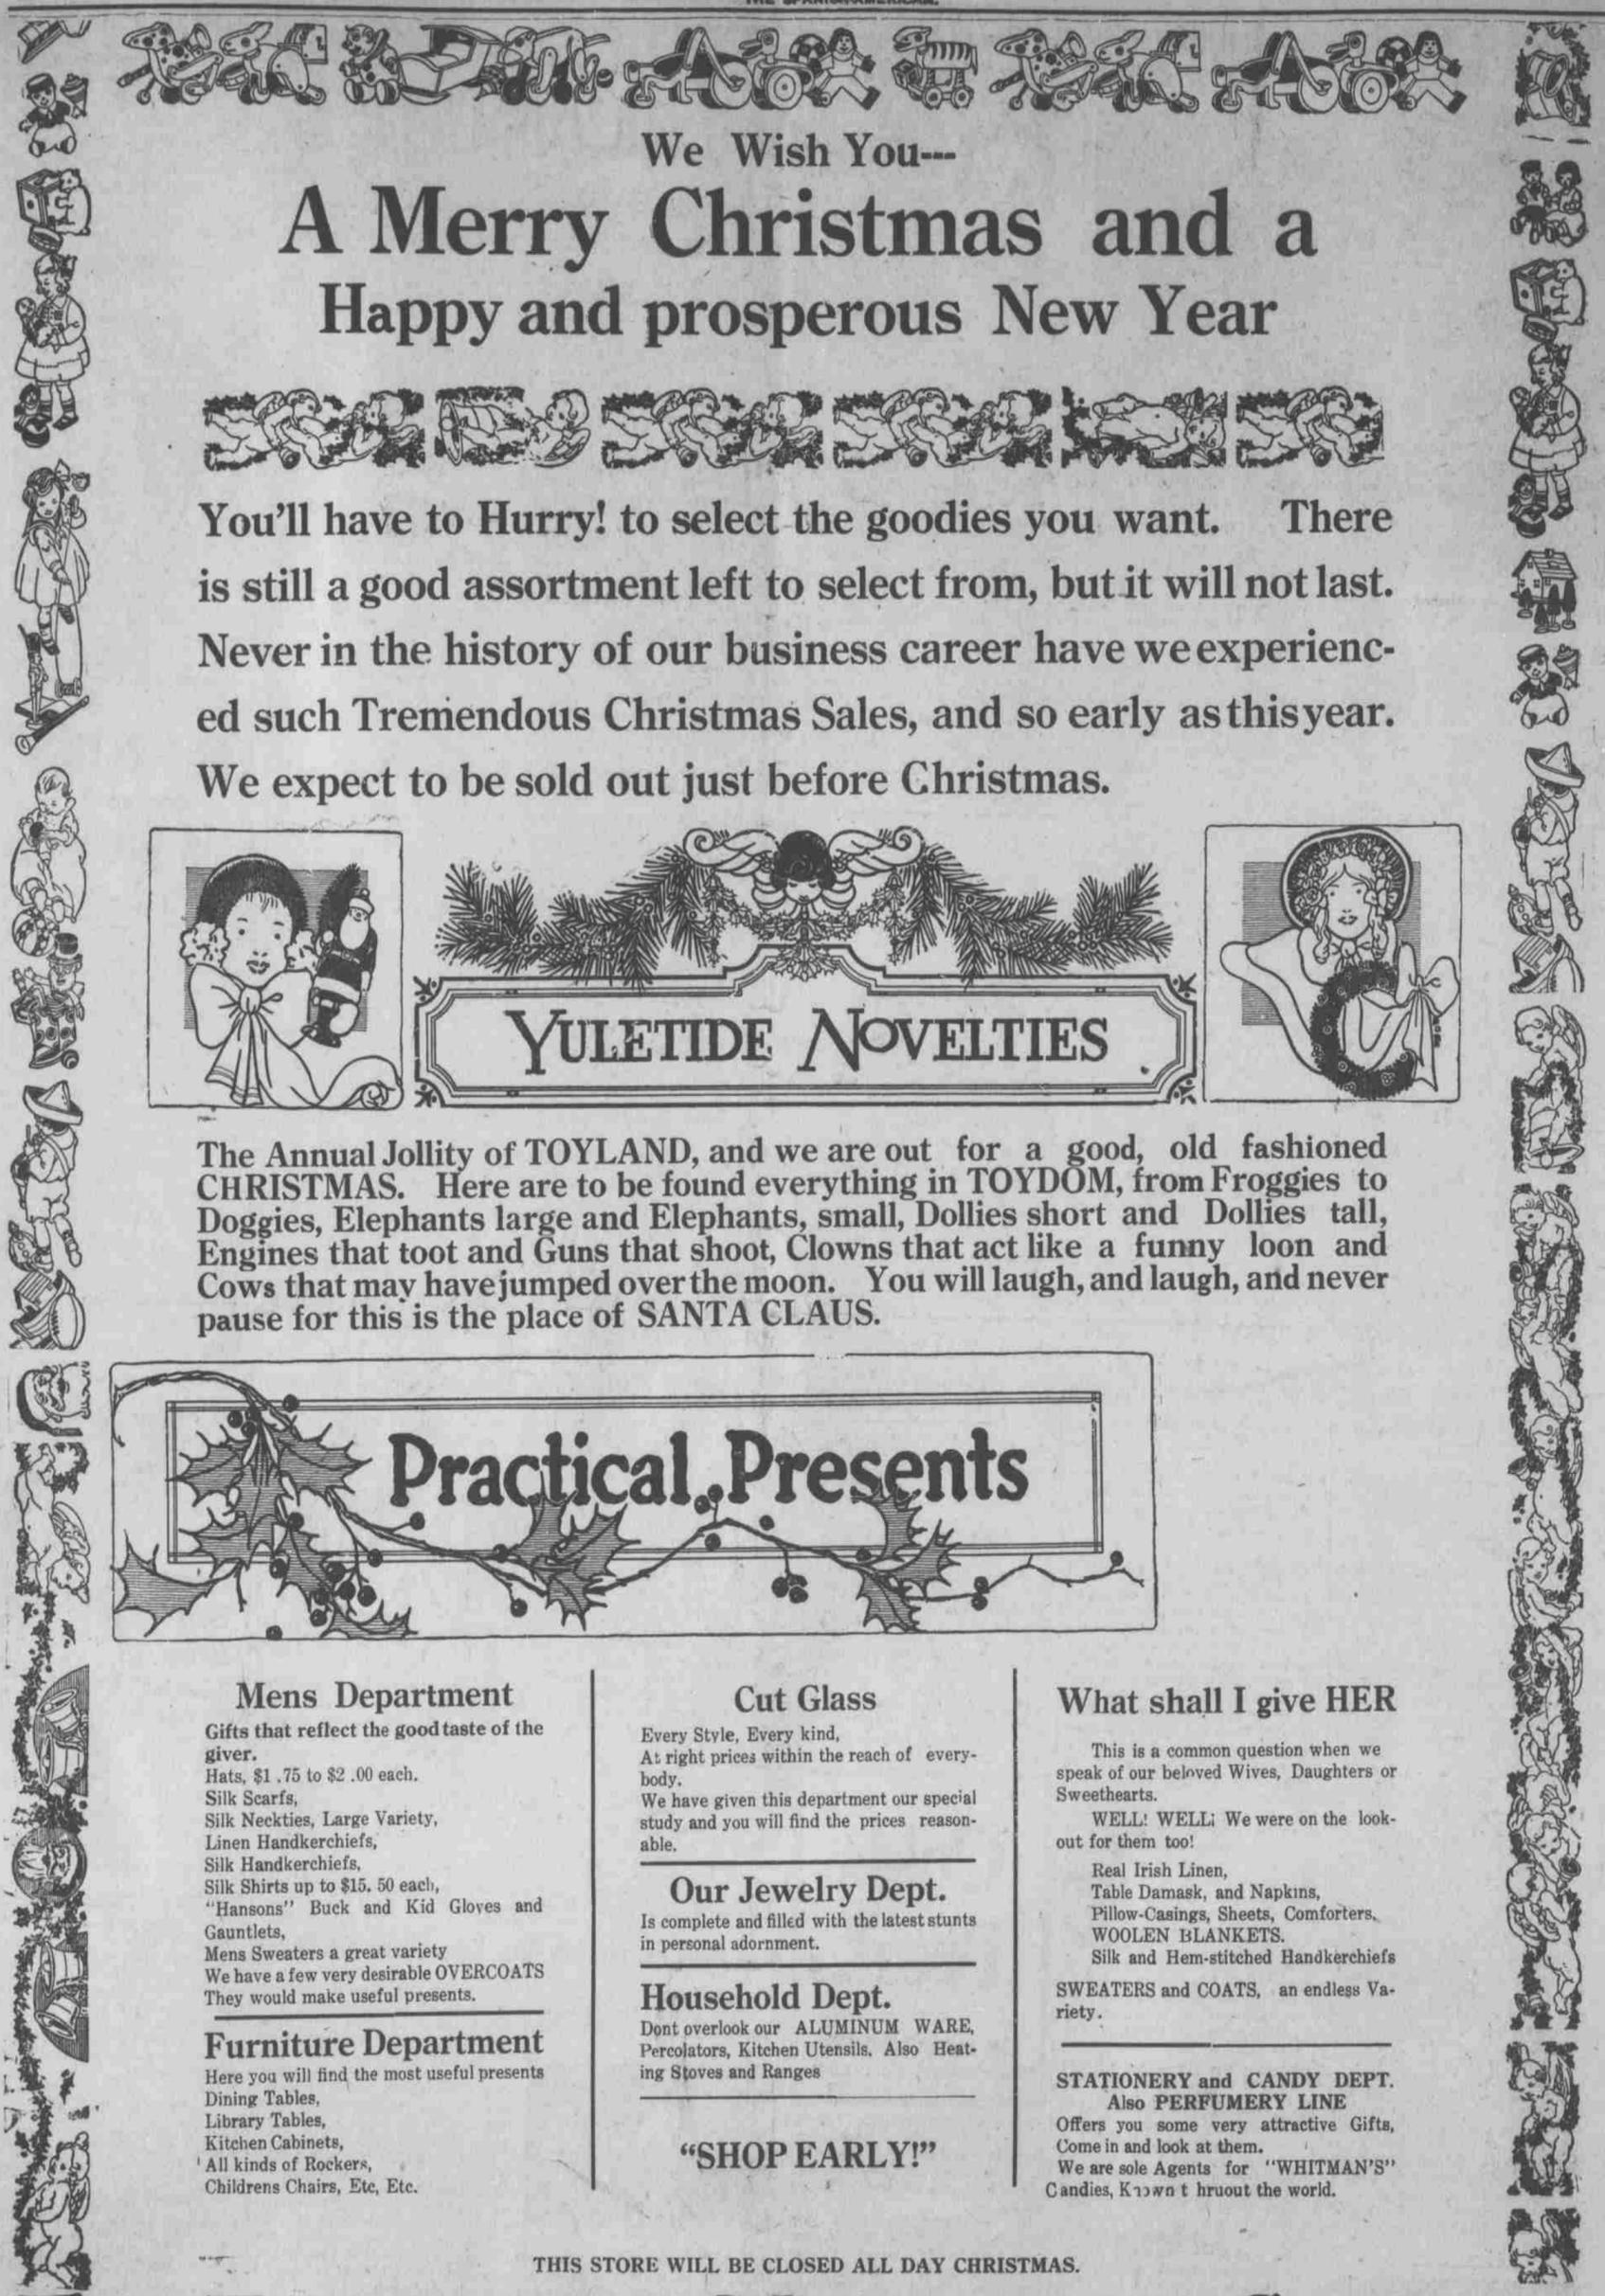

Get rid of it! Don't let acid-stomach hold you back, wreck your health, make your days miserable, make you a victim of the "blues" and gloomy thoughts! There is a marvelous modern remedy called EATONIC that brings, oh! such quick relief from your stomach miseries—sets your stomach to rights—makes it strong, cool, sweet and comfortable. Helps you get back your strength, vigor, vitality, enthusiasm and good cheer. So many thousands upon thousands of sufferers have used EATONIC with such marvellously helpful results that we are sure you will feel the same way if you will just give it a trial. Get a big 50 cent box of EATONIC—the good tasting tablets that you eat like a bit of candy—from your druggist today. He will return your money if results are not even more than you expect.
