Shall It Be an Autoloading or Pump Gun?

THERE are many kinds of Autoloading and Pump guns—some to be had at very low prices.

But it is typical of sportsmen that the great majority prefer Remington-UMC Pump and Autoloading guns in the hands of the average man.

If you shoot at traps or in the field, go to the Remington-UMC Dealer in your community and let him show you these guns. You will know him by his display of the Red Ball Mark of Remington-UMC—Sportsmen's Headquarters—and he knows the difference in guns.

RATE INCREASE NECESSARY

FARMERS' UNION OFFICIALS THINK RAILROADS ARE ENTITLED TO MORE REVENUE.

Products of Plow and Farmer Who Lives at Home Should Be Exempt From Increase.

By Peter Radford,
Lecturer National Farmers' Union.

The recent action of the Interstate Commerce Commission in granting an increase in freight rates in the eastern classification of territory; the application of the roads to state and interstate commissions for an increase in rates, and the utterances of President Wilson on the subject bring the farmers of this nation face to face with the problem of an increase in freight rates. It is the policy of the Farmers' Union to meet the issues affecting the welfare of the farmers squarely and we will do so in this instance.

The transportation facilities of the United States are inadequate to effectively meet the demands of commerce and particularly in the South and West additional railway mileage is needed to accommodate the movement of farm products. If in the wisdom of our Railroad Commissions an increase in freight rates is necessary to bring about an improvement in our transportation service, and an extension of our mileage, then an increase should be granted, and the farmer is willing to share such proportion of the increase as justly belongs to him, but we have some suggestions to make as to the manner in which this increase shall be levied.

Rates Follow Lines of Least Resistance.

The freight rates of the nation have been built up along lines of least resistance. The merchant, the manufacturer, the miner, the miller, the lumberman and the cattleman have had their traffic bureaus thoroughly organized and in many instances they have pursued the railroad without mercy and with the power of organized tonnage they have hammered the life out of the rates and with unrestrained greed they have eaten the vitals out of our transportation system and since we have had railroad commissions, these interests, with skill and cunning, are represented at every hearing in which their business is involved.

The farmer is seldom represented at rate hearings, as his organizations have never had the finances to employ counsel to develop his side of the case and, as a result, the products of the plow bear an unequal burden of the freight expense. A glance at the freight tariffs abundantly proves this assertion. Cotton, the leading agricultural product of the South, already bears the highest freight rate of any necessary commodity in commerce, and the rate on agricultural products as a whole is out of proportion with that of the products of the factory and the mine.

We offer no schedule of rates, but hope the commission will be able to give the railroad such an increase in rates as is necessary without levying a further toll upon the products of the plow. The instance seems to present an opportunity to the Railroad Commissions to equalize the rates as between agricultural and other classes of freight without disturbing the rates on staple farm products.

What is a Fair Rate?

We do not know what constitutes a basis for rate making and have never heard of anyone who did claim to know much about it, but if the prosperity of the farm is a factor to be considered and the railroad commission concludes that an increase in rates is necessary, we would prefer that it come to us through articles of consumption on their journey from the factory to the farm. We would, for example, prefer that the rate on hogs remain as at present and the rate on meat bear the increase, for any farmer can then avoid the burden by raising his own meat, and a farmer who will not try to raise his own meat ought to be penalized. We think the rate on coal and brick can much better bear an increase than the rate on cotton and flour. We would prefer that the rate on plows remain the same, and machinery, pianos and such articles as the poorer farmer can not hope to possess bear the burden of increase.

The increase in rates should be so arranged that the farmer who lives at home will bear no part of the burden, but let the farmer who boards in other states and countries and who feeds his stock in foreign lands, pay the price of his folly.

Degrees of Vocabulary.

Shakespeare produced all his plays with about 15,000 different words; Milton's range comprised about 8,000, and the Old Testament's limit is 5,542. A person of good education seldom exceeds 4,000, while many people are limited to about 300.

No Chance for Him.

Mr. Lobstock—"Yo' wife and yo' gets along fine togedder, 'peaks to me, Brudder Shindig." Mr. Shindig—"Yessah! She kin yell louder'n I kin, to save muh life; and dar ain't no fun uh-quah-ll' wid a pussen dat kin out-holler yo'."

Accounting for Salt Lake.

Great Salt Lake has no outlet. Jordan river, which enters it from the south, is the outlet of Utah lake. Bear river, coming from the north, carries the outflow from Bear lake.

The waters of Utah and Bear lakes and of Jordan and Bear river are fresh, and so is the water of Weber river, the third great tributary of Great Salt lake, but the lake into which the three rivers flow is saline. It is saline because it has no outlet.

The fresh waters of the rivers contain some saline matter, but the quantity is too small to be discovered by taste.

As stated by the chemist, in parts per million, the quantity seems minute, but when account is taken of the volume of water brought by the streams to the lake in a year their burden of saline is found to be really great, amounting annually to more than five hundred thousand tons.

Year by year and century by century the water which they pour into the lake is evaporated, but the dissolved solids cannot escape in that way and therefore remain.

They have accumulated until the lake water is approximately saturated, holding nearly as much mineral matter as it can retain in solution. The lake contains over 5,000,000,000 tons of common salt and over 900,000,000,000 tons of Glauber salt (sodium sulphate) as well as other mineral matter.—Exchange.

A car of machinery arrived Monday for the Black Hawk Mining and Milling Co., who are preparing to open up their claims in the Black Hawk district 13 miles southwest of Silver City. E. D. Lidstone is president and C. C. Duies of El Paso, secretary and treasurer. The machinery consisted of a crude oil engine, air compressor, drills, hoist and all the equipment necessary in opening up and developing a mining property.—Silver City Enterprise.

SIERRA COUNTY ADVOCATE
Impartially Devoted to the Best Interests of Sierra County and the State of New Mexico.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1916.

Last Sunday morning five prisoners, Francisco Acosta, accused of murder; J. O. Starr and C. Schmidt, alleged burglars; W. Dashley, alleged forger, and Joe Cranson, vagrant, escaped from the Deming jail. In an unguarded moment City Marshal Tabor was overpowered and locked in a cell by the prisoners who then raided the jail arsenal and armed themselves. They phoned a garage to send a car to the jail at once. When the garage man arrived with the car and stepped into the jail he was held up at the point of a gun and locked in a cell. The bandits then forced Cranson to drive the car, and they fled in the direction of Kincon near which place a battle was fought later in the day between the fugitives and the officers. Shortly after the prisoners escaped jail the alarm was given and Taylor and the auto man were released. Sheriff Stephens and his deputies immediately procured cars and went in pursuit of the bandits, and the fight that followed resulted in the death of Sheriff Stephens and Joe Cranson; Deputy Sevier and Starr were wounded. The following is said to be an accurate account of the battle:

"There was no road where the fight took place. The car used by the bandits had been run up a small sandy arroyo at the base of a small hill, which figures largely in the tragedy, about one mile north-east of Rincon in the foothills. The jailbreakers were eating lunch in the arroyo when they were startled by the sound of the car of the pursuing officers. They sprang to the edge of the arroyo and were thereby protected to a great extent. John Kelly was the first man to discover the fugitives after arriving on top of the hill. He opened fire. Jack Arnold and Wayne Estes joined him and so did J. C. Tabor, shortly afterwards.

The four kept up a steady fire and one of the party shot Starr in the leg, it was one of this party, also, who shot the boy Joe Cranson dead at about 400 yards as he was attempting to escape from arroyo.

The four on the hill are of the opinion that Sheriff Stephens never saw any of the bandits, being almost instantly killed as he was skirting the base of the hill not more than ten feet from the fugitives and in the same arroyo. The desperate men were simply waiting for some of the officers to attempt to come around the hill. They wounded Buck Sevier in much the same way, though he was higher on the hill and saw and yelled at the escaped prisoners before he was struck down.

The bandits were above both Stephens and Sevier. This accounts for the fact that the fatal ball passed through the sheriff's right arm at the shoulder, ranging down to the heart. It is thought that the empty shell in his gun was due to a discharge caused by his fall. The bandits were firing up and down the arroyo, almost at right angles. The sheriff lay in plain sight of the party on this hill. From the hilltop they saw Sevier fall, but could not see his body afterwards, and concluded that he was dead. The bandits could reach Sevier's body under cover and this they did, securing his rifle. He remembers of the bandits standing over him and remarking that "We have killed the big fellow and the little fellow." Under the shelter of the embankment the bandits found it easy to scatter without coming into view of the men on the hill. It was an indiscretion on the part of the boy Cranson that caused him to become a mark for their guns. About twenty shots were exchanged."

Villa is getting busy and the man with the de facto whiskers had better watch out.

W. H. Jack, one of the best known stockmen in the state died recently in a hospital in El Paso.

Some of the law-makers in Washington would mix politics with the preparedness program which is the paramount issue before congress just now. What the people want is safe and sane preparedness, not jitney politics.

At Lordsburg, a Mexican known as "Batling" Salazar, shot a woman of the underworld known as "Tommy," and then shot himself fatally; the woman was shot in the head and body but may recover. At Hachita, two soldiers, Geo. Carlson and John White of the border patrol, engaged in a drunken row and Carlson shot and killed White; Carlson was lodged in jail at Silver City.

Col. W. S. Hopewell arrived here Wednesday night.

Mrs. John C. Plemmons came up from Arrey Sunday.

Mrs. W. C. Kendall is up from El Paso.

Assessor M. L. Kahler made a flying trip to Santa Fe this week.

Judge B. S. Rodey, of Albuquerque, has business before the court this week.

Lytton R. Taylor, of the law firm of Wade, Taylor and Wade, of Las Cruces, had business before the court Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Billings returned Wednesday from a trip to Deming, El Paso and Hachita.

Ike Knight, of the firm of Miller & Knight, is up from Lake Valley. He is helping the boys in the store during court.

Mr. P. H. Williams, who is in charge of operations at the Snake mine, left Sunday for Santa Rita and Hurley to engage engineers and other skilled labor. We understand that the operators of the mines will commence unwatering the Snake and Opportunity at an early date. The large Diesel engine at the Snake mine is being put in shape for operation. It is also said that a boarding house will be opened up soon.

District court opened Monday. Judge M. C. Mechem presiding. The grand jury was organized Wednesday and up to noon today no bills had been returned. So far no important cases have come up for trial. The court docket is quite extensive and the court attendance is larger than usual.

The killing of Sheriff Stephens of Luna county was a tragedy that is greatly deplored by a multitude of citizens. The killing of young Cranson, the young man who was forced to drive the car for the escaping prisoners, is also a regrettable tragedy. Persistent report has it that young Cranson was shot by one of the posse while advancing with both hands up. It is said that W. C. Simpson has been appointed sheriff of Luna county, and his first act as sheriff was to relieve the officer who shot Cranson of his star and gun. It is also said that Cranson is of good family and that his body is being held awaiting the arrival of his father.

One of the saddest deaths to occur here for a long time was that of Ada, beloved wife of Mr. Carl Dawson, of Arrey, which occurred at about 11 o'clock last Friday night. Mr. and Mrs. Dawson came to Hillsboro on Wednesday of last week. Mrs. Dawson's condition was not considered serious until a few hours before death. However, notwithstanding all that was possible was done by the attending physicians, the passing came quickly. The funeral was held Sunday noon, the Rev. John Gordon conducting the service, the mother and tiny infant being laid to rest in the same casket. Two sisters of the deceased, Miss Gilliam and Mrs. Derrick, were present at the funeral; also Mr. and Mrs. John Dawson and family, and the Dawson brothers, Joseph, Edward, Oliver, and Earl. The sympathy of the community goes to the grief stricken husband and the family of the deceased.

At the Bisley Matches of the British National Rifle Association—the biggest rifle match in the world—the .22 Savage Hi-Power rifle and Savage ammunition in the hands of Mr. Walter Winans on July 25, 1914 made the highest possible score on the Running Deer target—six straight 5's. This is a World's record.

On the same day, with the same rifle and ammunition, Mr. Winans made the highest possible score on the Running Wild Boar target—six straight 5's. Another World's record.

This merely clinches what other shooters have proved—that the Imp's wonderful accuracy (25 consecutive shots in a 20-inch circle at 500 yards), tremendous velocity (2800 feet—more than half a mile—a second), long point blank range (200-yard trajectory less than three inches), and trifling recoil (4.6 foot-pounds) make it easier to hit moving game with than any other rifle.

And it has killed Alaskan Brown Bear, Grizzly, Buffalo, and man-eating tiger, besides the deer and black bear it was originally designed for.

Write us for particulars about "the biggest little gun in the world."

INSPIRATION OF THE COUNTY FAIR

By Peter Radford.

When you enter the agricultural department of the county fair, you feel your soul uplifted and your life takes on a new power—that is the inspiration of the soil. You are overpowered by the grandeur and magnificence of the scene—that is the spirit of the harvest. You can hear the voice of nature calling you back to the soil—that is opportunity knocking at your door. It is a good chance to spend a quiet hour in contact with the purity and perfection of nature and to sweeten your life with its fragrance, elevate your ideals with its beauty and expand your imagination with its power.

These products as food are fit for the gods, and as an article of commerce they ought to bring tip-top prices on any market in the world.

The products of the soil are teachers and preachers as well. Their beauty gives human life its first entertainment, their perfection stirs the genius in artists; their purity furnishes models for growth of character and their marvelous achievements excite our curiosity and we inquire into the wonderful process of nature.

Before leaving the parlor of agriculture where nature is parading in her most graceful attire and science is climbing the giddy heights of perfection, let us pause and take a retrospective view. How many of you know that after these wonderful products are raised, they can seldom be marketed at a profit? Take the blushing Elberta, for example—they were fed to the hogs by the carload last year. The onion—the nation's favorite vegetable—every year rots by the acre in the Southwest for want of a market and as a result hundreds of farmers have lost their homes. Cotton—nature's capitalist—often goes begging on the market at less than cost of production.

It is great to wander through the exhibits while the band is playing "Dixie" and boast of the marvelous fertility of the soil and pride ourselves on our ability to master science, but it is also well to remember that there is a market side to agriculture that does not reflect its hardships in the exhibits at a county fair.

Agriculture Forest Service THE SIX RULES

For Care With Fire in the Mountains.

If every member of the public strictly observe these simple rules, the great annual loss by Forest Fires would be reduced to a minimum.

1.—Be sure your match is out before you throw it away.

2.—Knock out your pipe ashes or throw your cigar or cigarette stump where there is nothing to catch fire.

3.—Don't build a camp fire any larger than is absolutely necessary. Never leave it even for a short time without putting it OUT with water or earth.

4.—Don't build a camp fire against a tree or log. Build a small one where you can scrape away the needles leaves or grass from all sides of it.

5.—Don't build bon fire

The wind may come at any time and start a fire you can not control.

6.—If you discover a fire put it out if possible; if you can't, get word of it to the nearest U. S. Forest Ranger or State fire Warden just as quickly as you possibly can.
