JOHN DEERE IMPLEMENTS
The New Deere Sulky and Gang

Built upon practically the same lines—with that unobscured sign of superiority the John Deere Trade Mark. Both sulky and gang fitted with a powerful foot-hit. This special foot-hit works so easy that anyone can raise or lower the plow with ease. You can walk and stretch your legs, if you like, and still control the plow perfectly. The lever is within easy reach of your hand and it has wonderful lifting power—five times the lifting leverage found on any other gang. A small boy easily lifts the plow weighted down, by furrows while at a standstill.

Lightest of Draft

Less of all the friction on a plow bottom comes in front of a line drawn up and down across the mouldboard—a third the way back from the point. The peculiar shape of John Deere plow bottoms enables them to penetrate the soil easiest on that part of the bottom where the friction is heaviest.

Write or call on us. We want to tell you about the other exclusive patented improvements on the New Deere Sulky and Gang such as Adjustable seat—Dipper steel—Easy management—Dust-proof wheel boxes—Good high wheels—Easy running—Axles run in oil.

The Girl of My Dreams

A NOVELIZATION OF THE PLAY BY WILBUR D. NESBIT AND OTTO HÄUERBACH
NOVELIZED BY WILBUR D. NESBIT
COPYRIGHT BY W. D. NESBIT

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I. Harry Swifton is spinning along in his auto, his thoughts dwelling in happy anticipation of a coming visit from his fiancée, Lucy Medders, a Quakeress, who nursed him when he was injured in an auto accident out in the country. His mind taken off of his surroundings by these pleasant thoughts he crashes into another auto containing a German count and a beautiful woman. The woman's hat is ruined. Absent-mindedly Harry thrusts the remnants of the hat in his pocket and makes his escape.

CHAPTER II. Carolyn, Harry's sister, arrives to play hostess. Socrates Primer, a distant relative of Lucy's, arrives with a hat intended as a gift to Lucy. Harry is trailed to his home by the German count and the lady of the damaged hat.

CHAPTER III. Who, it develops, is Mrs. General Blazes. She is in distraction lest her husband should hear of her escapade. She declares that her milliner told her a duplicate of the ruined hat had been delivered to Harry's house. Responding to her demands for the hat Harry insists that he knows nothing about it. Lucy Medders and her father arrive and the Count is secreted in the library and Mrs. Blazes in Harry's bedroom.

CHAPTER IV. Lucy professes curiosity regarding the room in which Mrs. Blazes is hidden and Harry is forced to do some fancy lying.

CHAPTER V. The milliner arrives to trace the duplicate hat. She proves to be Daphne Duffington whom Harry had shown considerable attention to in the past and the situation becomes more complicated. She agrees to make another hat providing Harry will take her to dinner. Lucy and Carolyn call Harry and Daphne is hustled into the room occupied by the Count. The Count and Daphne it seems had carried on a flirtation before and greeted each other warmly.

CHAPTER VI. The Count asks Daphne why she had left him standing on a corner waiting for her one evening, she explains that she met a dear friend and had accompanied him to dinner, the Count had given her a ring on a former occasion and demanded his return. Daphne explains that she had given it to General Blazes, at that the Count was in a state of mind bordering on insanity as he had given Mrs. Blazes a duplicate of the ring that her husband had. Daphne and the Count exchange bitter words and Daphne refuses to stay in the same room with him, so she enters the room that Mrs. Blazes is concealed in.

CHAPTER VII. Harry and Lucy enter the room, accompanied by Mr. Medders, who was busy looking around the house and before Harry could stop him had opened the door of the library, where the Count was concealed. Explanations followed and the Count played the role of Harry's German tutor. Harry is forced to tell what he has learned and the Count assists him, the deception proves a success.

CHAPTER VIII. Things seemed to be running smoothly again when the group is startled by the sudden appearance of the General, who is in a highly nervous state of mind, he accuses Harry of concealing his wife, and he demanded to see her. Harry's protestations were futile and Mr. Medders is called upon to calm the General. The General apologizes and is about to leave the room when a loud sneeze came from Harry's room, which the General recognized as his wife's; as he is about to enter the room Daphne walks out and the General is dumfounded. Lucy gives way to tears and seeks comfort on her father's shoulder.

CHAPTER IX. Carolyn tells Harry that his behavior during her absence has been scandalous and that she is ashamed of him. When she reveals her composition the Count says he can explain the whole affair. He tells them that Harry is innocent of any wrongdoing and takes all of the blame upon himself. They are obliged to doubt his story but resolve to verify it until later when Harry tells them he will vindicate himself.

CHAPTER X. Mr. Medders and Harry have a confidential talk following dinner and Harry tells him that to save a certain honor he is unable to explain any of the incidents that had occurred but will reveal everything later. Mr. Medders has the utmost confidence in Harry and accepts his explanation. The Count accuses Mrs. Blazes by threatening public scandal her window from the garden. She begs him to help her to escape from the house. As they are talking the General and Harry come out on the porch and the General explains that he was forced to return as his conscience troubled him for the way he had acted toward Harry. He admits to Harry that he has carried on a flirtation with Daphne and Mrs. Blazes overhears their conversation. Harry and Lucy take a stroll in the garden and she insists on having an exchange of rings. He replies in the negative and tells her all later. He asks her to be his wife but she refuses until he can clear his name.

CHAPTER XI. The Count again accuses Mrs. Blazes, this time by white lying. She asked him if he has succeeded in getting her a duplicate of her damaged hat, he replies in the negative and tells her he has ordered one. He tells her to tear all the sheets into strips and tie them together, so as to make a rope by which she can escape from the window.

CHAPTER XII. Mrs. Blazes attempts to escape with the aid of the sheets as a rope and is in the act of descending when the voice of the General is heard. The Count, not hearing him, is still standing by the window when the General and Mr. Medders seize him. They mistake him for a burglar. The hat for Mrs. Blazes arrives and Harry claims it was he who ordered it and that it was for his sister. Mr. Medders and the General desire to see it. Primer appears carrying a hat box and Harry sees a way to escape without showing the contents of his box.

CHAPTER XIII. Harry and the Count again attempt to rescue Mrs. Blazes, this time she is about to descend when the General starts back home. Daphne appears with the hat Harry had ordered. The General asks her who the hat is for and she tells him a lady friend of Harry's. Lucy overhears them and she is convinced that Harry is deceiving her. Harry walks forth and demands the hat. Daphne insists that he take her to dinner; when he refuses she threatens to expose him and tell the guests that he has a married woman concealed in his room. Lucy hears this and can hardly restrain herself for joy at learning the true state of affairs and that Harry is innocent. Lucy walks out of the shadow and accepts as a gift from Harry the hat that was intended for Mrs. Blazes.

CHAPTER XIV. The Count steals the hat that Primer had given to Lucy and which was a duplicate of the one owned by Mrs. Blazes. Mrs. Blazes descends from the bedroom window and as she is about to flee home the General appears on the scene. He accuses her of sleeping with the Count; she denies this; the General then asks her to explain her conduct; she tells him she had heard stories concerning his escapades with Daphne and that when she heard he was in the same house with her, she sought to verify her suspicions. The General excuses everything and they are reconciled. Harry and Lucy go for a walk and when he attempts to explain everything she tells him that she knows and asks him to tell her something else, and he tells her.

Poetic Apprentice.
A grocer's apprentice addicted to poetry has summoned his employer, a rich merchant of Omigtea, Servia, for unlawful dismissal. The merchant explained that his customers left because the boy answered all questions in rhyme and detained people while he fixed meter and verse. Moreover, he greeted his employer with a new couplet every day. The court found the merchant justified and advised the apprentice to mend his ways.—Belgrade Cor. Pall Mail Gazette.

The above entitled story, of which we give you this week a synopsis, will begin to run next week, in serial form. Keep your papers filed away until the story is complete. You will find it one of the most amusing stories you have ever had the pleasure of reading.

On the eve of a visit from his affianced wife and when all the world seemed bright and lovely, Harry Swifton suddenly becomes involved in a maze of unfortunate circumstances that threatened to wreck his happiness.

Harry Didn't Think It Funny, But You Will
If you read the new serial about to appear in this paper entitled THE GIRL OF MY DREAMS

Don't miss the opening chapter.

Greatest Thing in Life.
Neither rich furniture, nor abundance of gold, nor a descent from an illustrious family, nor greatness of authority, nor eloquence and all the charms of speaking, can produce so great a serenity of life as a mind free from guilt, kept untainted, not only from actions, but purposes, that are wicked.—Plutarch.

Tip for Loafers.
A loafer lacks the proper pride when he says as an excuse for his loafing that his health is poor; a loafer should have something aristocratic, like gout, the matter with him.—Attention Globe.

Use Hot Sand.
When your hot-water bottles leak do not throw them away, but fill with hot sand. Make the sand hot in the oven and pour into the bottle. It will keep hot much longer than water.

Remedy for Whooping Cough.
A delightful remedy has at last been found for whooping cough. Dr. Rodriguez Portilla of Madrid maintains after lengthy experiments, that all that is required is for the patient to be taken for a daily motor car drive.

DRY FARMERS ARE LANDING.

Homesteaders from the "dry claims" to the north of Roswell are beginning to arrive, preparatory to the apple picking. This is rather an early arrival for the "dry landers" to drift in but the reason is that the early rains started their crops, and most of the corn is already "laid by" while neighbors who were not so early are employed to look after the crops that are left behind. Many are bringing their milk cows and families, and in a short time the banks of South Spring River, along the north side of the Hagerman orchards, will look like a big camp meeting ground. When the crowd has arrived they will, in fact, have regular Sunday services at these camp grounds, and often prayer meetings during the week.—Roswell Register Tribune.

INDIAN ETIQUETTE.

EDWARD B. CLARK, the Washington correspondent, was the agent for a Chicago paper at Pine Ridge at the time of the Indian uprising there. After the difficulty had been adjusted Clark got a telegram from his paper asking him to get an interview with Young Man Afraid of His Horses, a chief who had taken part.

Clark took an interpreter and went to the chief's teepee. The chief, still in his war-paint, received him in the teepee and asked Clark to eat. Clark ate. Then, waiting to do the right thing and not knowing whether it was proper to tip a big Indian chief, Clark dropped three silver dollars into the hand of the chief's wife and had his interpreter say to the chief: "In my country a compliment to a man's wife is thought a double compliment."

The interpreter repeated this sentiment to Young Man Afraid of His Horses. That dignitary grunted, rose, left the teepee and came back with four more wives.

PETRIFIED FOREST FOUND ON PECOS.

A report from Ft. Sumner states that Register A. E. Curran of the land office there, who had just returned from a fishing trip, reports the discovery of a petrified forest about twenty miles north of that city on the left bank of the Pecos. The trees are all cedar and some of them must have been giants in their day. Some of the fallen trunks measure over three feet in diameter. The specimens are in a remarkable state of preservation, some of them having their branches intact. Except for their weight and hardness no one could suspect that they had not died during the last ten years. It had been suggested that the discovery be mentioned to the department of the interior with the view of having land upon which the trees are laying, which is of considerable extent, set aside as a national monument, as has been done with the petrified forest in Arizona—Portales Times.

A preacher tells the following joke on himself: While in a strange town to assist in a revival meeting he had occasion to mail a letter and asked a small urchin the way to the post office. The lad very obligingly went with him to show the way. The preacher then said: "Now, son, you have shown me the way here, if you will come to the—church tonight I will show you the way to heaven." With a look of incredulity the little fellow replied: "Aw, come off; you don't even know the way to the post office."

Putting It Rather Neatly.

It is told that after Professor Aytoun had made proposals of marriage to Miss Emily Jane Wilson, daughter of Christopher North, he was, as a matter of course, referred to her father. As the professor was uncommonly diffident, he said to her: "Emily, my dear, you must speak to him for me. I could not summon courage to speak to the professor on this subject." "Papa is in the library," said the lady.

"Then you had better go to him," said the professor, "and I will wait here."

There being apparently no help for it, the lady proceeded to the library.

"Papa's answer is pinned to the back of my dress," said Miss Wilson, as she re-entered the room.

Turning around, the delighted suitor read these words: "With the author's compliments."—Success.

Escaped with his life.

"Twenty-one years ago I faced an awful death," writes H. B. Martin, Port Harrelson, S. C. "Coctors said I had consumption and the dreadful cough I had looked like it, sure enough. I tried everything, I could hear of for my cough, and was under the treatment of the best doctor, in Georgetown, S. C. for a year, but could get no relief. A friend advised me to try Dr. King's New Discovery. I did so, and was completely cured. I feel that I owe my life to this great throat and lung cure. Its positive guaranteed for coughs, colds, and bronchial affections. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at all Druggists.

HE WON'T DO IT AGAIN.

The little boy was carrying home the empty bowl that had contained his father's dinner, when a big bully appeared.

"Do you mind if I kick that bowl?" inquired the bully.

"Not a bit," said the small boy.

"You mean that? Do you mind if I kick that bowl?"

"Not a bit."

"For the last time. Do you mind if I kick that bowl?"

"No, I should like you to."

"Oh, would you? Then watch me!" exclaimed the bully, as he shattered the bowl to atoms.

HERE AGAIN

And ready for your work--and you can't bring too much of it to suit me.

H. E. White,
The Kenna Blacksmith

"Do you mind now?"
"Not a bit!" retorted the small boy, edging away. "My mother borrowed the bowl from your mother this morning. You'll hear all about it when you get home!"

Kill More Than Wild Beasts.

The number of people killed yearly by wild beasts don't approach the vast number killed by diseased germs. No life is safe from their attacks. They're in air, water, dust, oven food. But grand protection is afforded by Electric Bitters, which destroys and expell these deadly disease germs from the system. That's why chills, fever and ague, all malarial and many blood diseases yield promptly to this wonderful blood purifier. Try them, and enjoy the glorious health and new strength they'll give you. Money back, if not satisfied. Only 50c at all Druggists.

THE HABIT.

I've beat my way wherever
Any winds have blown;
I've bummed along from Portland

Down to San Antone;
From Sandy Hook to Frisco,
Over gulch an' hill—
For, once you get the habit,
Why, you can't keep still!

I settles down quite frequent;
An' I says, says I:
"I'll never wander fu'ther
Till I come to die."
But the wind it sorta chuckles.
"Why, o' course you will!"
An', sure enough, I does it—
'Cause I can't keep still!

I've seed a lot of places
Where I'd like to stay,
But I get afeelin' restless
An' I'm on my way:
I was never meant fer settin'
On my own doorsill,
An'—once you get the habit,
Why, you can't keep still!

I've been in rich men's houses
An' I've been in jail;
But when it's time fer leavin'
I just hits the trail.
I'm a human bird of passage
An' the song I trill
Is: "Once you get the habit,
Why, you can't keep still!"

The sun is sorta coixin'
An' the roads is clear;
An' the wind is singin' ballads
That I got to hear.
It ain't no use to argue
When you feel the thrill—
For, once you get the habit,
Why, you can't keep still!

Burros are getting as common in this part of the country as soap weeds. Anyone who has not at least three or four seems to be sort o' lonesome.

Wednesdays' south bound local just as it was approaching the crossing on main street, ran into a two year old steer belonging to the Carmichael Bros., and knocked it "galley west." The steer came out of the collision with one leg broken, a horn knocked off, and otherwise bruised and battered. The animal was so badly bruised it had to be killed.

Dr. H. L. Fiscus made a trip to Santa Fe the first of the week, going on Sunday morning's passenger, and returning Tuesday evening.

Bud Wiser passed through here Wednesday in a special Anheuser Busch car, attached to the southbound local. Don't know where "Bud" was going, but to some point in the Valley no doubt, Surely not to Roswell.

P. T. Simpson and George Chavers left yesterday for the Carlsbad country, to bring back a couple of loads of peaches.

Green Thomas arrived home from Oklahoma a few days ago.

The Kenna Bank has put on a new coat of paint this week. J. A. Kimmons was the contractor, and also the artist behind the brush.

Blake Jones and his brother Duff left yesterday, by team, for Roswell, to get work.

F. L. Smith is still quite sick and under constant treatment. Dr. H. L. Fiscus is attending him.

A box supper was given Wednesday night at the Garland-school house. The proceeds are to be used to purchase song books for the Sunday School.

R. E. Fletcher, who planted a few acres of cotton this year as an experiment, reports his crop is looking fine, and that it has already formed from ten to fifteen squares to the stalk. J. R. Holman also has a fine patch, part of which is now blooming.

At the box supper Wednesday (at the Garland school house) Miss Annie Jones was winner of the prize cake, in the bidding contest. The cake brought $11.10.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 15 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, etc. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Frank Bechler and his sister, Lenora, and his mother arrived Tuesday evening from Fort Worth, Texas, and will remain several months. Frank's uncle, John Schirck, met them here and took them out home. Mr. Bechler says the crops are all burned up around Fort Worth. This is their third year of crop failure, and it is pretty blue for the people of that section.

W. A. Fry made a trip to Roswell this week and bought two car loads of alfalfa hay, to ship to Kenna.

Will Jasper, who was raised in Briscoe county returned the first of the week from Lubbock where he was married recently to Miss Crawford. We extend congratulations. They will make their home in Gasoline.—Briscoe County (Texas) Herald.

It keeps showering around every day and every night, and it has undoubtedly hit everyone by this time—so it has been served out to the "just and the unjust" alike.

Alsip and family are home again on their claim. They had been at Texico for some time.

Young Miss Cecelia Fisher who has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben McLain, leaves today for her home at Roswell.

Mrs. Lucy Hawkins started for her new home at Miami, Texas, Tuesday. She has a leave of absence from her claim.

Some of our correspondents seem to have "gone dead" again this week. Possibly they have been "drowned."

For information about "The Pilot" inquire of T. M. Parkinson.

Dr. J. Odd Hamilton came in on yesterday morning's train, to visit his folks and look after the dental work of this section, but we understand he is to leave again this evening. His time is so taken up with his work that he is kept on the move to meet his appointments.

A letter from our old and esteemed friend, D. W. Houston, who is at Garnett, Kansas, on leave of absence, says it has been fearfully hot back there, and that the heat and his advanced age together have given him failing health. He adds that his wife and daughter are quite anxious to be back again in New Mexico. Mr. Houston has a 320 claim, and also some leased land near Olive, in the Cheno Valley.

Beautiful rains yesterday and last night. Good season in the ground again all over this part of the country. It now looks like we have a cinch on a good crop yield, if the weeds don't out grow the crops.

There will be lots of cane, peas and other stuff sowed and planted this month, for fodder.

Our son, Ed Cowgill, arrived Wednesday from Kansas, for a few day's visit. He and his brother Joe start next week for Oklahoma, driving a span of burros. This will permit them to walk a part of the time perhaps, for exercise.

Charley Barber resigned his position as fireman on the passenger hnd has taken the job of managing the coal chutes at this place.

A young man named Loller, and wife, were guests at the West hotel last night, having arrived on the southbound train, to visit friends in this locality.

BOAZ BUDGET.

Mrs. R. L. Ownby and two children, came in from Seeverville, Tennessee, July 5th.

Mr. Dunn is drilling a well for "Dick" Reagan on his claim east of town. We hope to report a fine flow of water in our next issue.

Miss Bulah Alexander, who has been living with her aunt, Mrs. F. E. Stokes for the past seven months returned to her home at Tulsa, Oklahoma, yesterday morning.

Mr. "Jack" Gilley and another family came in from Headrick, Oklahoma, yesterday. Mr. Gilley hopes to make his five year proof this fall.

G. W. Overly will begin drilling wells on the "guarantee" plan, in a short time. E. W. Jett's will be the first one and we hope he will be successful. He can have enough wells to make on that basis to furnish him work all the year.

Mrs. Mattie Mastley went to Roswell Sunday where she has employment.

Alex Ayres started Sunday for the Pecos Valley, going over land with his team.
