AS A RULE, MAN'S A FOOL.

Larado Times: In olden times we wa'ked sometimes over a mile to the postoffice and asked is the stage on time? and after receiving the answer that it was only two days late on account of heavy rains, we left with the remark that, "That was not so bad". Well, today we pick up a receiver and ask central how late is the train and a e answered. "Two hours". Then there is a deal of cursing heard about the train's being late. Utterly unreasonable and illogical and narrow are we all. Our forefathers were much more patient and philosophical; they were content to wait for things to happen in an orderly manner, whereas we, their posterity, spend half our time trying to harvest results before they are ripe. If our sapient sires of a hundred years ago could see us now it would almost certainly surprise us how proud they wouldn't be of us.

WHY HE LEFT THE DANCE.

One of the happiest homes this side of Jordan was recently pictured by a strenuous American citizen in a happy and peaceful rural county in the land of sunshine and moonshine. He was on the witness stand in behalf of the State in a murder trial. "Go on and tell the jury about the murder on Hell creek," said the lawyer. "All I know is this, drawled the deponant. "We was all up thar at the big dance, celebratin' the birthday of Thom as Jefferson, the fiddles was play in, and we was swingin' corners, and the boys got to slappin' each other on the back as they swung, but finally one of 'em slapped too hard and the other knocked him down. His brother shot that feller down, and that feller's brother cut t'other feller's throat and that feller that was knocked down drawed his knife and cut that feller's liver out, and the old man got mad and run to the bed and turned up the tick and grabbed up his shotgun and turned loose both barrels in the crowd and I saw there was a in to be trouble, and left."—Ex.

A R-PEOLD AGE.

In the days of Barnum an old "aunty" lived in East Tennessee who was reputed to be of great age. Like all of her kind, she was extremely proud of her distinction, and never underestimated her age in the least.

Barnum heard of her and concluded that if she was as old as rumor made her, she would be a valuable acquisition to his show. He sent an agent down to make an investigation. She caught the direction of the wind very promptly, and was prepered for any test question that might be asked. Gradually the agent led up to the crucial interrogatory, and at last said: "Aunty, do you remember George Washington?"

"Does I 'membah George Washington? Why, laws a massa' Mistah, I recon I does. I ought to oughn't I? For I done nussed him. We played toget'ahh when he was a li'l chile".

"Well, do you remember anything about the revolutionary war?"

"G'wy, chile? Yes indeed, I does. I stood dar lots ob times, an seen the bullets flyin' 'round, thicker'n raindrops".

"Yes—well, how about the fall of the Roman Empire? Do you remember anything about that?"

The old woman took a good long breath. In fact it amounted to a sigh. She reflected for a few moments, then said: "De fact is, honey, I was party young den, an' I doesn't hab a very extinc' remembrance 'bout dat; but I does 'membah, now dat you speak ob it, dat I did heah de white folks speak ob heahin' somep'n drap"—Ex.

GREAT REPUBLICAN SILVERTONGUE IS COMING

Ralph C. Ely of Denning, Leading Republican Orator of the Rocky Mountains, to Speak Under Auspices of Republican Club, Monday Evening, July 25th

The Roswell republican club is taking hold of the campaign for delegates to the constitutional convention in a way that will make the natives sit up and take notice.

The precinct primaries for the election of delegates to county or nominating convention will be held in Roswell on Wednesday, July 27th, and on Monday night, July 25th, will be the biggest republican meeting in the history of Roswell or Pecos valley.

This occasion is being arranged for by the republican club, and they have made the central figure of the occasion an orator by the most brilliant orator of the Rocky Mountain region, Ralph C. Ely of Denning who will deliver an address upon the constitution, of a grade that the people of the valley will remember many a long day.

Mr. Ely made a great hit with the people of Roswell on the occasion of his visit to this city two years ago, and the simple announcement of his coming will be sufficient to fill the arena to its fullest capacity, even before the band begins to play.

The securing of Mr. Ely followed some lively work on part of the committee, after their appointment by President Tom Nisbet, knowing that he would be in great demand all of way through this campaign and only succeeded in getting him by prompt use of the telegraph.

The people of Roswell and of the whole Pecos valley are cordially invited to attend the meeting and hear Mr. Ely. The opportunity should be taken advantage of by every citizen of the valley, irrespective of party, and judging from the fame and genius of Mr. Ely, the biggest part of them will be there, for Pecos valley people ever knew a good thing.

CONCRETE FOR FENCE POST.

Concrete fence post have been tested by the Government and by several state agricultural colleges, and have been found to be more economical and more substantial than wooden posts. A bulletin has just been issued by the Department of Agriculture showing the different ways concrete may be used on the farm and particularly describing the method of making fence posts.

In the first cost, the bulletin says, concrete posts may be more or less expensive than the best wooden posts, according to locality. But after three years of service wooden posts possess only from one third to one half of their original strength, whereas concrete grows stronger with age and needs no repairs, for neither weather nor fire injures it. Under ordinary circumstances good concrete posts will last forever.

Molds made of 2-inch planks are recommended as forming neater posts than the lighter lumber. The re-enforcement of posts that are subject to more than ordinary side pressure or strain, is recommended. The proportion of ingredients recommended by the department is, in case of unscreened bank-run gravel, one part of cement to four parts of gravel. For crushed rock or screened gravel the concrete should be used in the proportion of one part cement, two parts sand and four parts of rock or gravel. Enough water should be used so the concrete will quiver under a blow from the shovel. A rod three-sixteenth of an inch in diameter should be used as a center for the post.

The best method for attaching the fence wire to the posts is to encircle the post with a wire one size less than the corresponding wire in the fence proper, and to twist this wire around the fence wire.

Triangular posts have been found to be cheaper than square ones. The cost of material and labor in a triangular post as well as material is less than a square one of the same length.—Ex.

Alas, temperate grow on the girl and she took a plunge.

The Bishop returned unexpectedly, and finding trace of the recent stolen bath, questioned the maid so closely that she had to confess she was the culprit, and was very sorry.

"I hope you do not think it is a sin, Bishop?" asked Mary in tears.

Eying her sternly, he said: "Mary, your using my tub is not a sin, but what distresses me most is that you would do anything behind my back that you would not do before my face."—Ex.

HE FELL HARD BUT HAUGHTILY.

Attorney General Wickersham, at a dinner in Washington, said of a wrong-headed financier.

"His methods are so deplorable that when he tries to defend them, he goes to pieces. In fact, he reminds me of a man who was brought up before a county judge.

"Pethro" said the judge, "you are accused of stealing General Johnson's chickens. Have you any witnesses?" "No sah, Old Jethro answered, haughtily, "I hab not, sah. I don't s'cal chickens befo' witnesses, sah!"—Minneapolis Journal.

BOAZ ITEMS.

A farewell party was given to Mr. Gilley and family and Mr. Tins and family who have left this morning for Oklahoma to pick cotton.

W. C. Beatty has purchased the Sharrock place here and will likely move onto it for the winter as it is close to school.

An important gathering, was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Tins yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shannon and family and Jim Goddy and family to bid their parents good bye and incidentally to accompany Miss Maud Tins and Mr. Hugh Jones to Roswell, where they were married last night. Miss Tins has many friends here and Mr. Jones has made friends on his visits here to play ball with the Acme boys.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones will live at Acme where he has employment with the Cement works there.

Mrs. R. H. Banks returned from Roswell, where she has been to arrange for her insurance with the Pretorian.

Miss Stella Pattilo came up from Roswell this morning to spend a few days with her parents.

Miss Winfred Newlin left Friday morning for her old home in Arkansas City, Kansas. She has spent about 15 months among us and made a host of friends.

Mrs. L. H. Zimmerman and son Ira have gone to join Mr. Zimmerman at Childress Texas.

Miss Blanche Burke will leave in the a. m. for Anita Iowa, where she will teach this winter.

Mrs. Elizabeth Parker has moved into the hotel and will dispense good things to the hungry public.

The base ball game, played here Sunday was 2-27 in favor of Boaz.

J. C. Greeman has advertised to commute and will move his family to Roswell where he has employment.

One of the enjoyable parties of the season was given Tuesday evening at the home of the Misses Mary and Blanche Burk. All the neighbors were there and Mr. Horner furnished the musical entertainment with his graphophone. Ice cream and cake were served and if any one failed to have a good time it must have been their own fault.

Making Textiles Fireproof.

Textiles may be rendered fireproof, according to the Paris board of fire commissioners, by steeping them in a 10 per cent solution of phosphate of ammonia, then drying them in the open air.

CONVERTING THE OLD MAN.

Cogent Reason Advanced That Had the Effect of Bringing "Paw" to the Penitent Bench.

They say that once down in a Kentucky county, which shall be anonymous, one of the young rough-necks was converted at a revival held in the little building which served a double purpose as schoolhouse and church. He had been a wild lad, but his conversion was sincere, and by the force of his example or possibly of his hard fist he succeeded in getting the rest of his following to join, too.

His father had never been to church, and said, further, that he never intended to go. His son, however, following his change of front, greatly desired that his sire should join him in that stand. He got the preacher, who was conducting the services, to go and wrestle with the old fellow. The two adjured him to attend church.

He was finally persuaded to do so, and once there the son and the evangelist directed their efforts to getting him on the mourners' bench. The old man wavered, but finally stood firm. He reckoned it was powerful good, but he kinder believed he'd let things be as they were.

"Look, here, paw," said the recent proselyte, "you come on in. I'm in, and I can tell you it's so good you ought to take a little of it just for luck!"

That was an unconventional way of putting it, but it had its effect, and the old man joined.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Wisdom of the Serpent.

The serpent tempted the woman not because she was the weaker, but because she was the leader; not because of her subordination, but on account of her superiority. She was the stronghold of the fortress, and to win her was to win all. She held the key to the situation. She was the keeper of the castle. Where she led for good or evil the man would follow!—From a Sermon by Rev. Mr. Kerr of Chicago.

Boosting Town Life.

"After an experience I had this morning," remarked the suburbanite, "I'm feeling rather strong for this apartment thing as against life out of town. I wanted to stay in New York last night to go to a dinner, and one of the boys in the office asked me to put up with him for the night. While I was dressing this morning my collar button slipped out of my fingers and rolled under the bureau, of course. Now, at home, I should have had to go down on my knees and get myself into a rage reaching for the thing. In Jason's apartment all I had to do was to go out into the living room, take one of his crook-handed walking sticks out of the umbrella jar by the door and poke the collar button out into the night. To do that at home I should have had to go down two flights of stairs and get half-frozen. See the reason for my enthusiasm?"—N. Y. Press.

King Granary.

The Crimea and the whole Black sea region, owing to the sparse population to consume it, had a great surplus of wheat. For centuries it was coveted by all hungry nations—and exploited by the one with the strongest armies. For centuries after Athens had feasted upon the grain-raising lands beyond the Bosphorus, Mithridates, as a preparation for his life and death contest with Rome, fell upon the corn fields of the Crimea. Because Sicily was yellow with wheat from earliest memory, through ages and ages she was railed by all the powers of the world. It was because of Egypt's corn, more plentiful than anywhere else along the Mediterranean, that Caesar and Pompey wanted the land of the Ptolemies. It was when Rome held or controlled the granaries—her first and dearest conquests—of Sicily, Sardinia, Spain and Egypt that she could become mistress of the world.

"Talk about vanity!" exclaimed the woman who keeps her eyes open. "I passed a big new building the other day—big enough to be a school or a theater—and what do you suppose it was to be devoted to? Hair—hair! Puffs and braids and swirls and switches and curls and rats and things for women to pin on their heads and make believe belong to them. A building full of hair!"

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Applications to make commutation proof are still coming in pretty regular.

Joe Cowgill is expected home again soon. He is not stuck on the East any more than Cressie was on the West.

Harry Goodin reports that his wife had quite a snake scare last Sunday. A small house snake crawled up onto the cot where Mrs. Goodin was lying and disputed possession. The snake won out.

Miss Annie Schramm returned to her claim this week. She has been away at work for some time.

Mrs. M. J. Hines and daughter, of San Marcus, Tex., are here, visiting the former's daughter, Mrs. W. B. Scott. They expect to remain for some time.

W. H. Wood and family left yesterday for an over land trip to their old home in Texas, to be gone for some months. Mr. Wood put out quite a large crop here but owing to the drouth, he has no prospect of a harvest, and felt there was nothing to keep him in New Mexico until another crop year.

Mrs. E. J. Prothro and daughter Brownie, arrived last evening, from Longview, Tex., and will reside upon their claim.

Nick Carter, of Boaz, was in Kenna Wednesday and made application for a leave of absence. Wm Fowler and Mr. Shafer, of Boaz, were here the same day.

H. B. Bryan was kicked by a horse yesterday, and in consequence is on the list of crippled and maimed.

D. J. Anderson left Tuesday for Texas, to be gone an indefinite time. He thinks of buying a carload of Texas cattle and shipping them back here.

Postoffice Inspector D. J. Dolan was here a few days the first of the week and inspected the Kenna office. He reported that he found everything in fine shape, and the patrons well pleased with Mr. Marbut's service. There are "low rumblings" and the statement is made that the train has not yet reached the terminal.

J. J. Garner went to Roswell the first of the week prospecting for a location. He has a proposition there for a hotel and a grocery stand which he will probably close with, in which event he will move his family and also his stock of goods. He expects to make the change within a couple of weeks.

W. B. Scott has been on the sick list this week, and has spent the past few days at home, leaving P. T. Bell in charge of the bank.

Doc Sears is home again and back to ranch life. He has been at Hot Springs, Arkansas, for some time, taking treatment for rheumatism.

Miss Adda Fryan is on the sick list since Tuesday evening, and under the care of Dr. Thomas.

The Alamo irrigation project is the largest one in Grant county. The land embraced in this scheme is mostly in townships in the southeast part of the county. The towns located on this project are Tailban, La Lande and Sunnyside. The success of the Alamo project depends upon the abandoning of the Old Union Lake reclamation scheme. The H. B. Jones appropriation immediately follows the Union Lake appropriation and if the Alamo project goes through it means the perfection of the H. B. Jones project, which is for the irrigation of land that has already acquired rights to the use of this water and lies in the immediate valley of the Pecos river between Santa Rosa and Puerto de Luna. Work on the ditch between these two points will be begun this fall.—Aibunague Journal.

Their Paternal Desire.
The tramp walked softly up to them as they were coming down street in the dusk.
"Would you kindly let me have a few pennies?" he asked, almost in a whisper. "I want to buy the baby a pair of shoes."
The man took a few pennies out of his pocket and handed them to him. Then they walked on.
"If they'd only ask for something else," he mused. "This is the fifth time today I have given tramps money for baby's shoes. I'd give them a lot more willingly if they'd only tell the truth and say they want a glass of booze."

Speaking of Warmth.

Forest Possibilities.
The forest service considers that it would be entirely possible, if the forest land is improved and the timber economically cut and completely utilized, to produce on the remaining 450,000,000 acres sufficient wood for a population much greater than that now in the country.

The Diplomat.

Pen Point Material.
Iridium is a hard, brittle, silver white metallic element belonging to the platinum group, discovered by Tennant in 1803. Sometimes found native and nearly pure, but generally combined with osmium. It is, with the exception of osmium, the heaviest metal known, and is used for pen points, contact points in telegraphy and points of scientific instruments liable to wear. Its specific gravity is 22.4.

Dangers in Dancing.
Dancing has been extolled as a most healthful recreation; as a means of physical culture it favors the development of the muscular system and promotes health and cheerfulness. And dancing is carried on by women whose fashion of dress is of such a nature as to injuriously affect one or the other organ of the body.

Young girls appear to experience no fatigue after it. They will not miss a single waltz, polka or square dance, and if the pulse of one of these indefatigable devotees is felt after the dance is finished it will be found in the majority of cases that the number of pulsations is far in excess of the normal, and from this it may be inferred that the condition of the heart and react prejudicially upon the entire organism, and it justifies an apprehension of danger where girls are belated.

Nothing to Say.

According to a delightful story of Shelley, recounted in the International Journal of Ethics by Rev. Bradley Cannon, the splendid mental equipment of the poet did not include humor. In his characteristically impassioned way, Shelley was deeply interested in the problem of immortality. One day he met a nursemaid wheeling a young child in a perambulator. "Here is a little soul," he reflected, "recently come to earth, out of the great unknown preceding human life. Perhaps he can tell me something about the great unknown after human life. The two realms may be one and the same."
He accosted the infant twice, but of course gained no response, only a blank infantile stare.
"Alas! alas!" sighed Shelley. "How very reticent these little creatures are!"

The Stark Year Book for 1910 is ready to mail. It will be sent to any person interested in fruit-growing on receipt of 7 cents to cover postage. The Stark Year Book for 1910 represents an entirely new idea in nurserymen's literature—it is a work of art as well as a catalogue of Stark Nursery products. Within its covers are 32 full-page illustrations of fruits and flowers, representing 175 varieties, done in four colors, and exactly reproducing nature. 84 pages are devoted to descriptions, prices, and records.

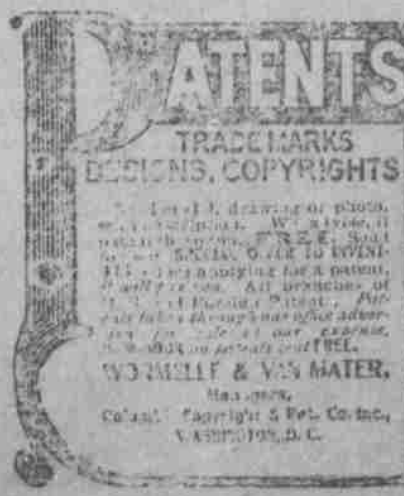

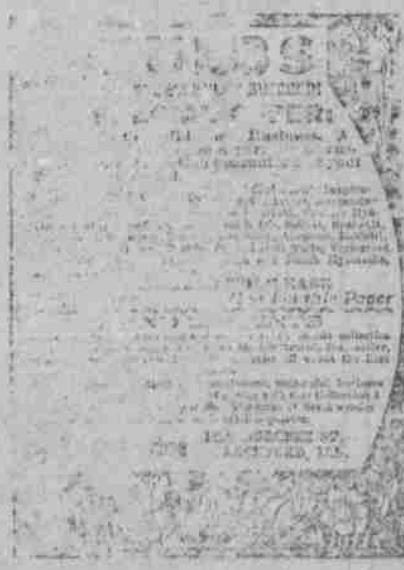

Stark Delicious, the apple that has revolutionized orchard planting and established a new standard of apple values (selling at $10.00 per bushel box this year); Stark King David, another apple of wondrous quality and merit; Stark King Philip, a hardy black grape of California grape quality, and dozens of the very best things in the horticultural world are fully described, illustrated, and priced.

To any one planting one tree or many, of fruits or ornamental, this book is of incalculable value—a horticultural text-book—a guide to proper selection.

Stark trees have stood the supreme test of actual planting for 85 years—they are the yard-stick by which all other nursery products are measured—they are the first choice of this country's most successful orchardists. The success of the orchard is dependent on the kind and quality of tree planted. Stark varieties are the best of the best. Our record of 85 years of successful selling is a positive guarantee of tree quality.

Before you decide to buy, send 7 cents for the Stark Year Book—do it today before the edition is exhausted.

SHOWING VALUE OF THE HEN

If It Could Be Capitalized Its Product Would Pay Bigger Dividends Than Railroads.

It is claimed that the average production of a hen is 200 eggs per annum, but it is safe to assume that the actual is much below this figure, the Wall Street Journal says. Adopting the very conservative figure of 120 eggs per hen per annum, we find on the above basis of production there are 150,000,000 laying hens in the United States responsible for the production of 18,000,000,000 eggs.

At the farm price of 30 cents per dozen the total income derived from each hen annually would amount to two dollars. Allowing 40 cents for maintenance and ten cents for depreciation, which latter would wipe out the market value of the hen in four years, irrespective of salvage when the period of production is over, the net profit per hen per annum amounts to $1.50.

This profit, according to Wall street standards, capitalized on a five per cent income basis, would place a nominal value of $30 on each hen. For the 150,000,000 hens this would amount to the enormous total of $4,500,000,000.

That the American hen can return a yield of five per cent per annum on a capitalization of $4,500,000,000 appears nothing short of remarkable, but such is the case. The outstanding capital obligations of the railroads of the United States in 1907 were less than four times this amount or $10,082,146,683, while the total paid out in interest and dividends represented but 4.05 per cent. of this amount.

PRESENT OF SACK OF COFFEE

In Brazil This Is Set Aside for Child at Its Birth—Opened on Wedding Day.

"We have a custom in the coffee raising countries," said Ricardo G. Muller of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, who is interested in coffee plantations in that country, "which is unknown in other parts of the world. When a child is born in the coffee country a sack of the best grain is set aside as part of the inheritance to be received on attaining its majority."

"Usually the sack is the gift from some close friend or relative, and it is guarded as sacredly as if it were a gift of gold or bonds. No stress would induce a Brazilian parent to use coffee which was made the birth gift of a child."

"As a rule, it is sealed with the private seal of the owner and bears a card giving all particulars about the variety of grain, its age on being sacked, and the birth of the child to whom it is given, and other details, which are very interesting when the gift is due."

"Generally, the coffee is opened for the first time when the child marries. The coffee for the reception or marriage feast is made from the legacy, and according to precedent, this must be the first time the sack is opened. After the coffee is made for the wedding feast the sack is carefully closed and sent to the new home of the young couple, and should keep them in the staple for a year at least."

The One Idea.

Frequently the man of one idea could get along better if he didn't adopt a new one every day.

Happiness.

Happiness is not that which you are doing, but the motive at the back of the doing.—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Fools Few People.

Counterfeit sympathy is one of the most easily detected imitations in the world.

Improvement on Old Adage.

"Say nothing but what is good of the living" is an excellent motto.

Must Advance or Recede.

No man or no nation can stand still. In a world where every form of life has grown out of a lower form, where one age builds on another, as the coral insect builds up the islands of the sea, nothing can be stationary.

Few Have the Knack.

It is one of the hardest and most useful accomplishments in the world to be annoyed without letting the fact annoy others.

Guests Carved for Themselves.

It was the custom in medieval times to carve a roast meat on a spit, and to pass it round the table for each guest to cut off what he liked.

Compulsory Reading.

Some of the ministers are asking again why the church attendance is small. Perhaps it is because the Sunday papers are so large.

People Who Argue.

There are some people who are never convinced. They will argue a subject out for hours at a stretch, and be no nearer a solution than they were at the start.

It is hopeless to try to convince such a person on any subject. The truth is, it gives them pleasure to argue, and the more you disagree with them the better they are pleased. If you find yourself dropping into the habit, try to drop out again as soon as possible.

Sweet Influence.

Is it not entertaining how to make the best of one's powers, how to arrange one's stores, how to exert a sweet, quiet and fragrant influence throughout life, over all whom one meets? If an advanced education does this for one, then it is the education one should seek. Our difficulty is that we cannot allow time enough for seed time and harvest. Mothers are in despair if daughters occasionally drop out of school for six months or a year. We are much too apt to insist that our children, irrespective of their natural bent, "through the educational factory." We do not make sufficient allowance for temperament and tendency, and thus it comes to pass that some of us carry burdens, beneath the weight of which we are crushed.

Thirst for Novelties.

The curse of modern life—the thirst for the new, the rage to get out of the old skin—is the blight on our literature, our art, our drama, our manners—even our morals. It is passion without aim, or conviction, or feeling—a mere restless itch to get free from old habits and to get into something uncommon, it hardly matters what, if only it can announce itself as "unconventional."

History Not His Strong Point.

A well-known society young man of Buffalo recently shocked one of his lady friends by his ignorance of history. It was after a dinner party at his house, and she was telling him what she had learned in her private history class. One thing led to another, and all the time he was getting into deeper water. At last she surprised him by inquiring: "Now, tell me, Mr. —, what are the Knights of the Bath?" He stammered for a while, and finally blurted out: "Why, Saturday nights, I suppose."

The Art of Seeing Things.

The art of seeing things is not something that may be conveyed in rules and precepts; it is a matter vital to the eye and ear, yea, in the mind and soul, of which these are the organs. I have a little hope of being able to tell the reader how things as I would have in my mind, but I am too ill to try to do so. I am too ill to fall in love or to enjoy humor. Either the doctor or the doctor and that is about all that I can do. John Burroughs
