East Las Vegas, New Mexico, Saturday Evening, April 9, 1892.

No. 99.

TOWN TRUSTEES.

Board met Wednesday, April 6, the mayor and all the members present. The minutes of the meetings of March 8, 16, 22 and 30 were read and approved. John Hill appeared as a committee from the G. A. R. and presented an invitation to the council to attend the parade of the annual encampment of that body. The report of the town recorder was read, and on motion of Trustee Bell was ordered filed.

Report of Treasurer D. T. Hoskins was received and filed. The report shows amounts on hand as follows:

- General fund. $5 72
- Blanchard street fund. 37 23
- Public building fund. 3,833 41
- Interest account bonds. 723 36

The eighth street fund was reported overdrawn $60.82. Warrants held by San Miguel National bank, $3,298.39.

Mr. Bell, from the committee appointed to see about relocating fire plugs reported that Mr. Pierce, superintendent of the Agua Pura company, wished the committee to wait a short time about making changes of the plugs, as the Agua Pura company intended changing some of their mains.

Trustee Sporleder filed a corrected plat of the school house grounds.

On motion of Trustee Thomas the sum of $1,500 was ordered paid Hartman & Weil on account of W. R. Williams' city hall contract, as per agreement filed with recorder, to be applied on estimate when made.

Bills were allowed as follows:

T. F. Clay	875 00
Joe Gray	60 00
Jas Garrard	60 00
Jas Lane	29 25
Louis Hausom	4 50
R. Speakman	8 00
W. H. Kelly	25 00
San Miguel Bank	277 71
New Mexico planing mill	1 55
A. C. Schmidt	2 00
N. L. Rosenthal	7 79
N. T. Rogers	3 50
Phil Callahan	3 00
Thos T. Lee	10 50
Hayward & Sporleder	10 00
C. E. Gordon	20 00
D. T. Hoskins	50 00
W. B. Thomas	5 00
O. L. Houghton	2 25
Gas Co.	133 33

The report of arbitrators on extra work on city hall gave the contractor $4.25 per perch for extra stone work and 30 cents per yard for excavating.

The vote of city election was canvassed, with result as already given in Free Press.

Speeches were made by the mayor and Messrs. Thomas, Sporleder, Haydon and Bell on the termination of the term of office of those of the members who retired from membership. Trustee Bell moved a vote of thanks to the mayor and the retiring members.

The council then adjourned.

A special meeting was held at the city headquarters last night, Mayor Cunningham, Trustees Bell, Haydon and Sporleder present.

The T. T. Leask bill for $7.50 was ordered paid.

Bill for extra work on city hall in accordance with report of arbitrators for $254.15, was allowed.

The report of the canvassing board on city election was received and adopted and ordered spread on records.

Marshal reported having collected $11.15 on licenses since his last report, March 8.

On motion an auditing committee was appointed to audit the books of the marshal, recorder and treasurer.

Messrs. Haydon and Bell were appointed as said committee.

The certificates of election of the new officials were duly made out and delivered.

This was probably the last meeting of the old council.

THE CONUNDRUM SUPPER.

The conundrum supper last night was a great success, almost every one ordering a meal they knew nothing about.

The following is a complete bill of fare:

Pride of Boston, brown bread; a woman of grit, sandwich; April blossom, potato salad; I was in the Ark, ham; plucka flower, picadilli; a young man's sweetheart, honey; impertinence, sances; prairie flower raised in town, wheat bread; Boston's overthrow, tea; cake hard to beat, marble cake; tramp cake, sponge cake; what some people don't know, beans; fruit of the vine, pickles; what they had in the ark, pears; domestic animals aloft, catsup; a curse and a woman's name, bananas; spring's offering, water; no grounds for complaint, coffee; tree cake, cocoanut; perpetual motion, tongue.

After the supper was over Miss Willie Mills sang "I Cannot Sing the Old Song," Mr. Dick playing the organ; Miss Lawrence recited; the Wean sisters, only 10 and 12 years of age, sang like a pair of cherubs, being loudly applauded and encored, to which they kindly responded; Arthur Thayer recited a piece for the benefit of the young ladies, and the old ones, for that matter, lauding chewing gum; Miss Sadie Allen recited "Troubles of a Fashionable Choir;" Mr. Dick sang a solo, and sang it so well that he was encored, but cheated the expectation of the listeners; Captain Jack Crawford delivered a temperance address and recited one of his fascinating poems; Misses Carrie and Pearl Wean sang "The Cobbler," and Captain Jack recited Pony Bill's Sermon, which finished the evening's entertainment. Mr. Dick took the cake, we mean the guess cake.

The Society of Christian Endeavor, who gave the supper, netted about $25.

A. N. Codrington, of Albuquerque, has purchased machinery for the reduction of low grade ores by electricity, after experimenting with some ores from near that city, and expects to have his plant in operation before long. It is claimed for this method that it will successfully treat all classes of ores, no matter how refractory, except galena, while the cost is not ten per cent of that by the fire process.

Rhode Island requires a candidate for governor to receive a majority of all the votes cast to elect him, and the result is that for the last 10 or 15 years about one-half of the governors have been elected by the legislature. The state casts about the same number of votes as New Mexico.

The Democrats seem to be in it this year. Even Las Vegas went Democratic.—Albuquerque Democrat

Two out of five is hardly going Democratic. Besides, though party names were used, the vote was mainly given to personal preferences.

The Bernalillo Ladies' Auxiliary of the World's Fair held a meeting Wednesday, and voted to work independently on finances from any other division.

HIDDEN TREASURE.

Facundo Pino, territorial librarian, has recently been to Galisteo on a visit and brings in some additional particulars of the discovery there of the old shaft, supposed to be the entrance to the famous San Lazaro Spanish mine, which tradition says conceals great treasures. The opening is high up in the mountain side. Three men have been working there, and after shoveling away a great quantity of debris, all loose, as if placed there by the hand of man, while adjacent the formation is of firm rock, they came upon a wall laid with stone and mortar. This they tore away, and beneath it encountered a large flat stone bearing some mysterious inscription and having upon it a great number of intricate lines, as if it were a map of the workings of the mine beneath. The shaft below was also filled with debris and it at once became evident that a vast amount of work would be necessary to follow the workings as laid down on the map. The parties who made the find are poor men and unable to expend their time in prosecuting the search further. They brought the stone with its mysterious inscription home with them and it may be now seen at Galisteo. Here is an opportunity for both the archeologist and the miner to do a little investigating. Parties who care to become interested in the search can doubtless do so by corresponding with Gen. Nicolas Pino, at Galisteo.—New Mexican.

JUDGE LONG'S ADDRESS.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, MEMBERS OF THE VISITING POSTS:

When called upon at a late hour last evening by a committee from Sherman Post with invitation to take the place in the exercises tonight some time ago assigned to one of our most distinguished and eloquent townsmen, I was much inclined, to use a judicial expression to overrule the application, but I was so earnestly reminded by the committee that it is a first duty of a soldier to obey orders, that here I am under orders from Sherman Post to extend to all visiting comrades and friends a hearty welcome to the hospitalities of the post, to the city of the Meadows, and to our homes and hearts. We give you welcome for the victor's valor in battle won.

When dark clouds hovered over the nation, casting gloom and doubt into many patriotic minds, you all, but especially the soldiers of the earlier days of the war, saw more clearly than your associates the road which duty bade you follow, and with sublime courage followed it through the mud and storm of temporary seasons, often with nothing but the wet and bare ground for a resting place and only the darkness of night for a covering. You followed this road of duty by day and night when the roar of battle told you that comrades were falling by the score and deadly blows were being received and given. Steady, with nerve of steel and heart of iron, you pressed on, over pools of human gore, past the dead or wounded bodies of relatives and friends, on, ever on, through the storm of deadly bullets, through the smoke and carnage of terrible battle, on the road of duty, death in horrible forms all about you, danger everywhere, the life of a great republic in the balance. Forward, a band of brothers in a holy cause, you marched, until at last the contest was ended, and the old flag torn and tattered it is true, but all the more lovely for that, floated once again undisputed, from lake to gulf, from ocean to ocean, the beautiful emblem of the Republic of Republics. For all this your comrades in arms, Sherman Post, extend you double welcome. Welcome to its hall, to the camp fire and the city. So long as liberty is held sacred among men, so long as a constitutional, "indissoluble union of indestructible states" continues to exist on this continent, may the union soldiers be remembered with grateful hearts, and in the distribution of the good things of life, my fellow citizens, give to them substantial recognition. Let us not forget, in the activities of life, that we owe to the union soldier more than kind words, which are only pleasing to the ear and gratifying to the heart. Let us as citizens remember that this is an intensely practical state of existence and that a loaf of bread to one in need is worth a ton of compliments, and that a position to an old soldier where he can earn the comforts to make himself and family happy is of far more value than glowing speech or complimentary resolution. It should be a matter of principle with every son and daughter of the republic, where all things are substantially equal in matters of favor or employment; that those who periled their lives that the Union might live should be preferred. Duty, however, is not all on the side of the citizens. The soldier has done well. In the work already accomplished, in the example placed before generations to come, as an inspiration in the hour of peril, the soldier of the union has made a grand record; but thereby he has not done all of life's work, or relieved himself of further duty. By his work in the past he has placed himself in the front rank, on the roll of honor; but he should never forget the post of honor is also always the post of duty. If his achievements have made him conspicuous in the eyes of mankind, so will his departure from correct habits, his weakness, if he have one, his shortcomings, be equally noticeable. In this respect each individual soldier may remember that by the purity and honor of his daily life he may in the walks of peace add luster to his record in war. What a conspicuous man, what a noble example is that soldier citizen who to his fame as a courageous soldier in war adds that character which comes of an evenly balanced, honorable, just and noble life in peace. All may not live as he did who sleeps on the banks of the Potomac, "First in war, first in peace, first in the hearts of his countrymen," but all can, at least, with benefit study his character and emulate his example. In his forgiving spirit, his manly courage, his strong sense of justice, his comprehensive grasp of the small as well as greater duties, his love of truth for its own sake, his subordination to authority, this highest type of soldier and citizen, who so safely guided us through our first peril, speaks to us by all that he said and did, around this camp fire, to again, one and all, swear fealty to that matchless written constitution which is like the house in the parable builded upon the rock, to the "flag that made us free," and as well to those principles of truth, justice and equity the maintenance of which in the daily life and business of the people alone will preserve that which is now secured.

A few words more: There is no better place in which to cultivate the manly courtesies than in the school of danger. In the presence of peril, in the midst of the storm of battle, men can not well be little or mean. The man of strong arm who delivers a manly blow in open battle, expecting one in return, learns to respect his antagonist. This is so in all forms of contest. It is true of the gladiators struggling in the front ranks of political debate; so it is at the bar. But more notable than in all places is this in those engaged in war. In the nature of things one brave must respect his adversary. Ten thousand men, guns in hand, standing in front of ten thousand other men, equally equipped, each intending to move upon and destroy the other body, must feel that there is a matter of conscience and duty impelling each individual thus to risk his life, and so a respect is awakened. This feeling, commencing upon the battle field, has since the war at various times and places found expression in joint union and confederate reunions and in the comingling on such occasions as this of soldiers who in the war were enemies, but who in place are friends. This feeling is creditable alike to the soldiers of both armies and is full of hope for the future. It tells of that perfect restoration of good feeling, that devotion to one constitution and one flag and one republic, which makes us pre-eminent among the nations. The presence of this broad and patriotic spirit in this city and in the post in whose name I speak tonight, enables me to add what has been already said, a welcome for those brave spirits who though misguided proved their fidelity to their convictions by risking their lives in battle. I do not know when the day of trial shall again come, when the bugle calls the loyal sons of the republic to arms, to defend its honor, that from the everglades of Florida, all along the southern belt to the lone star state, an approving answering shout will come, only equalled by the echoing response throughout the north, and so, in the presence of such a spirit, Sherman Post says to one and all, to the North, South, East and West:

Welcomes, welcome son, welcome sire. Welcome to this love feast camp fire; Welcome to our pure air, our cloudless days. Our city, hearts and homelike ways. Henceforth, in peace, in war, friends forever, Joined by heart links, ties that will not sever. As here and there our comrades fall, Thinning the ranks—for that's the end of all. Stand closer to the remnant of the band, Firmer, nearer, heart to heart, hand in hand.

One of our Largest Industries

A few evenings since our reporter's attention was called to the beautifully illuminated buildings of the Smith Premier Typewriter works on Clinton street, and upon investigation found that owing to a large increase in business they were obliged to run twelve hours a day, operating between 300 and 400 employees. Considering the rapid growth of the business referred to it is very apparent to the proprietor that it will be absolutely necessary during the summer months to build another factory, and in fact the plans are nearly arranged for the construction of a new building of dimensions 60x140 feet, seven stories high. This new structure, in addition to the present buildings, which have every nook and corner filled with operatives, will admit of working at least 600 people, and if the business continues to increase in the future as it has in the past it is very certain that the company at no distant day will require all the typewriter makers that 600 operatives can produce. We are informed that no other typewriter manufacturers in the state at present are pressed to fill their orders to the extent that they are obliged to work overtime.—Syracuse Journal, March 12.

It is said that the curious iron machinery and parchment documents which it holds are the work of the famous Abbe Sugar, of the twelfth century, who was in the service of two French kings, and that they show the possibility of applying steam to mechanics. The report, if confirmed, will stamp the period of the revival of civilization and learning as more important in the scientific sense than the world has heretofore thought. In letters, architecture, domestic arts, government, and other respects the twelfth and thirteenth centuries have been the great precursors of the modern age. With the discovery of the circulation of the blood and the application of steam to locomotion it seems that the per-

LAS VEGAS.

Las Vegas (the meadows), the largest city in New Mexico, is the county seat of San Miguel county, the most populous and wealthiest county of the Territory.

It is situated in latitude 33 degrees 51 minutes north, on the Gallinas river, at the eastern base of the Rocky Mountains, at an altitude of about 5,800 feet above sea level.

It is situated on a grant of 30,000 acres, of which only a few thousand have been sold, but the legislature has just passed a law which settles the title and will throw the balance of the tract open to settlement.

The town is lit by electric light, has water works, gas, street-car line, telephone exchange, a daily paper, churches, academies, public and private schools, a number of solid banking and financial institutions and mercantile houses, some of which carry stocks of $200,000, and whose trade extends throughout New Mexico and Arizona.

The valleys of the mountain streams are very rich and fertile, producing wheat, oats, corn, grass, etc., in abundance. East and south of the town and like the valleys of the eastern and Pecos rivers and their tributaries, constituting the finest stock raising region for sheep and cattle in all the west.

Water is supplied by a gravity system of water works, the water being taken from the river seven miles above the city, and has a pressure of 140 lbs.

Water in the springs and basins, and the fact that there are some very good prospects here that will, with proper working, soon pay well.

Five miles northwest of Las Vegas, where the Gallinas river breaks out of the mountains, are situated the famous Hot Springs. The river here runs from west to east, and the springs are on the south bank, almost central in a natural park, surrounded by pine and picturesque mountains.

The average temperature for the year (taken at the Montezuma Hotel each day) was as follows: January, 49 degrees; February, 52; March, 55; April, 60; May, 67; June, 76; July, 81; August, 77; September, 70; October, 62; November, 52; December, 50.

New Mexico is as large as all the New England States together, with New York and New Jersey thrown in. It is about equally divided in grazing, agricultural and mining lands. Millions of acres rich in resources, are waiting to be occupied.

New Mexico wants manufacturers of every description, more farms, gardens, orchards, vineyards, miners, stock raisers—a million more industrial people to develop its resources and make for themselves comfortable homes.

The DAILY NEWS, of seventy-two columns, has a capacity for reading matter equal to the large Eastern papers, and aims to furnish to all the news of the day, complete in detail, yet concise in form.

The News is issued every day of the year. The News is a New Mexican compilation of every notable event, at home and abroad, with a liberal supply of choice, original and selected articles, especially adapted to family entertainment and instruction.

A feature of both the DAILY and WEEKLY editions of the News, of the first importance to the public, is our perfect system of market reports. A convention of the Republican party of New Mexico is hereby called to meet at Silver City, N. M., on the 14th day of April, 1892, at 10 o'clock a. m., to select delegates to represent the Republican party of New Mexico at the national Republican convention to be held at Minneapolis, Minn., on June 7, 1892.

The several counties of the territory are entitled to representation as follows:

Table with 2 columns: County and Delegates. Lists counties like Bernadillo, Chaves, Colfax, Dona Ana, etc., with corresponding delegate counts.

County conventions shall be composed of delegates chosen at Republican mass meetings.

County committees will arrange for calling precinct mass meetings, which meetings shall be held not later than March 24, 1892. In the event of the failure of the county committee to issue the call for such precinct mass meetings and county conventions, and in counties where there may be no county committees, then such call shall be issued by the member of the territorial central committee for that county whose name stands first on the roll.

The chairman and secretary of precinct meetings will certify to the chairman of the county committee a list of delegates elected to the county convention.

A COSY NOOK IN WINTER.

In the states we occasionally have an autumn day when there is just a tinge of frostiness in the air and a vast sea of sunlight through which the earth exultingly plunges; not a cloud in the sky, scarcely a breath of wind stirring the dust heaps, when effort of mind and muscle has no limit.

In New Mexico—the land of all lands where "it is always afternoon," such days are the rule, not the exception; and no other nook in New Mexico has so delightful a climate at all seasons of the year as Las Vegas Hot Springs. From November to April scarcely a day passes during which the sun does not shine brilliantly and continuously.

Las Vegas Hot Springs is located on the southeastern slope of the Santa Fe range of the Rocky mountains, six miles from the city of Las Vegas. There are upward of forty hot and cold springs, the water from the best of them being conducted in pipes to a large and handsome bath house of modern construction.

A branch line of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad connects the city with the springs. Five daily passenger trains each way render it easy of access from Las Vegas. Telegraph and telephone lines give additional communication with the outside world.

But the chief feature of the place, aside from its pre-eminence as a resort for invalids, is the MONTEZUMA HOTEL, a commodious and massive structure of stone, crowning a slight eminence near the station. It may be doubted by those who know nothing of western push and enterprise, but here, in the very heart of old-Span-in-New-America, is the finest watering place hotel west of the Alleghenies.

The case of the territory vs. Francisco Arguello and Juan de Reyes Saule for burning a barn belonging to Mr. Robera at Pueblo, which has taken up the time of the court for the past two days was given to the jury yesterday and this morning they returned a sealed verdict, which will not be opened till Judge O'Brien opens court Monday. The barn was burned about 11 o'clock at night and there were tracks leading from the barn to the house where the defendants were found, the evidence thus being entirely circumstantial.

PERSONAL

Judge Spies left for Santa Fe last night. D. H. Armstrong leaves for San Marcial tonight. Ed Bagler, of Chicago, a health seeker, is in town. T. S. Armstrong went to the Springs this afternoon. Joseph McKnight and family left for St Louis on the delayed train. Mr. Goldschmidt, a West Side resident, is quite sick with pneumonia. Levi Herzstein and Mateo Lujan, of Ute Creek, left for Clayton this afternoon. Chas. Tamme, who is suffering from rheumatism of the chest, is not improving any. M. J. Cowley and wife, of Chicago, arrived from California this morning, and went to the Springs. Trinidad Romero, United States marshal, left for Wagon Mound this afternoon on the delayed train. O. G. Schaefer still has that attack of rheumatism on hands, or to be correct and exact, on his feet. Judge O'Brien and Tony Lucero left for Santa Fe last night. The court is adjourned until Monday. Eugenio Romero and his son will leave for Badode Juan Paiz, where he has bought an irrigated farm, tomorrow. John Teeter, who has been at the hospital for some time, suffering with rheumatism, left this afternoon for Wellington, Kansas. R. G. McDonald, the West Side merchant, is very sick with pneumonia. His brother-in-law, E. L. Martin, of Kansas City, has been wired and is expected on every train.

Every Kansas member in congress voted for the free coinage of silver, showing that this question is one of justice and not of party.

The school building being erected by District No. 4, one of the West Side districts, will cost them $13,000. At present they will only complete the outside work of the building and what rooms they absolutely need, leaving it to the future to vote more bonds, if desired, to complete it. Their assembly room in the roof, a room 24x60, for district meetings, will be of great service. This district has adopted the plan of furnishing all books and supplies to the pupils by the district and finds it works very well and insures a full attendance. F. O. Kihlberg, who is one of the directors, puts in a great deal of time for the district, and is enthusiastic on the school question.

The school board is to be enjoined from paying for the academy building. The papers in the case will be served today. The parties bringing the suit base their claim on the ground that the school board has no legal right to divert the money from the purpose for which the school bonds were voted, which was to erect certain school buildings.—Citizen.
