

Winter 3-1-1994

A Lesson Learned, But Not By Choice

Eric Sorensen
College of DuPage

Follow this and additional works at: <https://dc.cod.edu/plr>

---

Recommended Citation

Sorensen, Eric (1994) "A Lesson Learned, But Not By Choice," The Prairie Light Review: Vol. 13 : No. 1 , Article 41.
Available at: <https://dc.cod.edu/plr/vol13/iss1/41>

This Selection is brought to you for free and open access by the College Publications at DigitalCommons@COD. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Prairie Light Review by an authorized editor of DigitalCommons@COD. For more information, please contact orenick@cod.edu.

A Lesson Learned, But Not By Choice
by Eric Sorensen

Jim liked to drive fast,
past everyone he would go.
He wouldn't listen to anyone,
when they told him to go slow.
He turned, he dodged, he weaved,
the street became a track.
He didn't need his mirrors,
he never would look back.

The doctors knew his problem,
Jim's foot was full of lead.
He needed an operation,
or Jim might soon be dead.
While speeding to the hospital,
his gas pedal got stuck.
He couldn't stop in time,
and crashed into a truck.