

The Prairie Light Review

Volume 41 | Number 1

Article 65

Fall 12-1-2018

For All Acquaintances...

Shane Hipps
College of DuPage

Follow this and additional works at: <https://dc.cod.edu/plr>

Recommended Citation

Hipps, Shane (2018) "For All Acquaintances...," The Prairie Light Review: Vol. 41 : No. 1 , Article 65.
Available at: <https://dc.cod.edu/plr/vol41/iss1/65>

This Selection is brought to you for free and open access by the College Publications at DigitalCommons@COD. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Prairie Light Review by an authorized editor of DigitalCommons@COD. For more information, please contact orenick@cod.edu.

For All Acquaintances...

It's a gauntlet finding someone deserving of my time.
Countless conversations conceived from half-thought remarks.
Most are stunted
from becoming close to interesting.
Always exhaustively preaching on the mundane, yet taking a vow of silence pertaining to any free thoughts placing them at risk of being ridiculed.
Like the superego,
drawing a curtain
on any defective light bulb that may be shining too bright for the traditionalists.
The rambunctious who blurt the idiotic hold more of my respect than the timid potentially bright.
They are not troubled by invisible formulaic models of behavior.
Trained dogs.
Perhaps it is not their fault
rather the demanding mind imposed upon them.
The cage to the bird.

SHANE HIPPS

