Dedication

To the Dreamers who have realized the ideal closest to their hearts for a score of years . . . To the builders who have succeeded in erecting for us a building that has become the nucleus of campus social life . . . To the Thinkers who have given into the possession of every student this beautiful symbol of modern progress . . . To those who have labored to give to us this noble embodiment of a cultural ideal . . . The Commons . . . We dedicate this book.

FOREWORD

Memories of school days are the happiest ones in the life of every student who has attended college . . . Reminders of school life invariably hold front rank in the student storehouse of memories . . . And prominent among school-day recollections are those centering around one's college career. ★ ★ In college we share experiences and form friendships which we never wish to forget . . . It is our hope, therefore, that this book may be of service to each graduate as a means of recalling more clearly and vividly those familiar faces and scenes of college days . . . May it serve adequately in this respect . . . and may it be a constant source of interest and entertainment in later years for all Teachers' College students.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

★ To work and teach in the typical institution of higher learning is an opportunity that thousands of men and women prize and cherish; to serve as an officer of administration or instruction in the Iowa State Teachers College is an experience that ranks with the best that life has to offer. Constant association on a beautiful campus with hundreds of young men and women imbued with a restless desire to know the truth and a boundless ambition to achieve the good and worthy life is a rare privilege and an unending source of pleasure. This issue of the Old Gold is a record of how these sterling young folks have lived together happily and well during the past year. It is a chronicle replete with matters of interest and sources of inspiration to all who love the Purple and the Gold.

O. R. Latham

Dean of WOMEN

Fundamental, social, and cultural changes in America have urged upon us the attitude that the college must take for its province the education of the whole student and that her personal and social problems are as much within its scope as are her intellectual problems.

Such a program of education provides for no part of the college organization a greater challenge than for the Office of the Dean of Women.

SADIE B. CAMPBELL

Dean of MEN

The duties of the Dean of Men are administrative and executive. His office is a clearing house for all the activities of the men of the College. It supervises living conditions, encourages high standards of scholarship, assists students in securing employment, and is responsible for the social and moral welfare of the men of the school.

LESLIE I. REED

FINANCIAL SECRETARY

Besides administering the funds granted by state appropriations, all tuition and fees are collected by this office. The purchasing of supplies and college financial enterprises, such as dormitory accounts, cafeteria, store, multigraphing, printing, college publications, student loans, inventories, and trust funds for more than one hundred faculty and student organizations are reported through and audited by this office.

BENJAMIN BOARDMAN

REGISTRAR AND EXAMINER

The Registrar and Examiner has charge of all student records, evaluates high school work for college entrance credit, evaluates credits received from other colleges, and prepares credit balance sheets. He is a member of the State Inter-Collegiate Standing Committee, which prepares standards to serve as a guide to other colleges desiring to have their credits accepted at the three state institutions of higher learning.

CHARLES S. CORY

SUPERINTENDENT OF BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

The Superintendent has charge of the upkeep and repair of the Buildings and Grounds . . . nineteen modern buildings and one hundred and twenty-seven acres of grounds. Included in this, but separate from the campus, is a tract of seven acres devoted to Horticultural and Botanical Gardens, and a forty-acre golf course and picnic grounds, both under the supervision of the Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds.

ELDON E. COLE

DEPARTMENTS of INSTRUCTION

★ The individuals on any college campus fall naturally into two great groups, the instructors and those being instructed. The student body forms the latter group, and the instructors are the members of the Faculty. The Faculty, while headed by the college president, is divided into numerous departments, each dealing exclusively with a certain unit of college work, and each having its own head and conducting its own departmental meetings. This organization of instruction into groups is a unifying force, tending to bring the entire administrative system closer together. Departmental instructors benefit from the good fellowship, self-criticism, and discussion entertained in their groups. This system of departments has proved the most satisfactory and competent for both college instructor and student.

C. H. B A I L E Y . . Department Head

This Department represents two differentiated but closely related lines of work. Emphasis is placed upon the preparation of special teachers of art or of manual arts in the public schools, but training is also provided for other teachers who need preparation in these lines in order to be efficient in their work.

A R T A N D M A N U A L A R T S

A wide range of courses is offered, designed to meet the needs of all students who wish to increase their knowledge, strengthen their preparation, or develop certain skills and appreciations through contacts with these important fields of activity. The staff is composed of C. H. Bailey, Mrs. Iris M. Branagan, Agnes Cole, Corley Conlon, H. G. Palmer, and Bertha L. Patt.

The Department of Education has charge of courses in education and psychology, and is in close contact with the actual teaching experiences of the students. Courses are offered in methods of instruction, supervision, and administration, in the history of educational movements, and in the methods of measuring pupil progress.

E D U C A T I O N

It is the aim of the Department to acquaint the students with the techniques of instruction. Members of the staff are engaged not only in teaching but in making studies for the improvement of teaching. The staff includes Dr. M. J. Nelson, Amy Arey, Dr. A. E. Brown, Dr. H. S. Buffum, Dr. J. W. Charles, Dr. E. C. Denny, Dr. E. O. Finkenbinder, Dr. E. W. Goetch, Dr. J. B. Paul, Dr. D. P. Phillips, Dr. H. A. Riebe, J. R. Slacks, May Smith, C. O. Todd, G. W. Walters, Dr. M. J. Wilcox.

Composition, language and literature, and speech are the three divisions of this Department. It attempts to set up and maintain higher standards of accuracy, fitness, and effectiveness in both speaking and writing English than that which usually prevails in life outside the college.

E N G L I S H

The staff endeavors by example and precept to suggest how children in public schools may be taught to appreciate the value of English literature, and the range, power, and flexibility of the mother tongue in the expression of their thoughts and feelings. The following compose the staff: S. A. Lynch, Katherine Buxbaum, W. B. Fagan, Dr. N. O. Halvorson, Charles F. Holden, G. H. Holmes, Lillian Lambert, Dr. F. W. Lambertson, Ida Rohlf, Anna Marie Sorenson, Hazel Strayer, and Selina Terry.

S. A. L Y N C H . . Department Head

Home Economics embraces the study of problems involving the modern home and family. Its primary purpose is to train Home Economics teachers for the schools of Iowa. However, to increase the usefulness of the Department, service courses for students not majoring in this field are being introduced.

HOME ECONOMICS

DR. BEATRICE GEIGER . . Department Head

The Department aims to give the basis for choosing wisely, buying sanely, planning and organizing, and appreciating and enjoying life more fully. It strives to give as many of the students on the campus as possible some of the essentials of nutrition, food preparation, clothing and textile selection, home decoration, home management, and family care. Dr. Beatrice Geiger, Bernice Allen, and Luella Overn compose the staff.

DR. F. I. MERCHANT . . Department Head

By its work in Latin and Greek, the Department serves the interests of all college students who desire the liberal culture of classical study and in particular provides, through general and technical courses, full preparation for the teaching of Latin in secondary schools.

LATIN . . GREEK . . GERMAN

The fundamental courses in German, the more advanced work in German composition and grammar, and the reading and interpretation of a wide range of German authors introduce the student to a literature rich in cultural value and at the same time prepare him to make use of important technical publications in every field.

The members of the Department are Dr. F. I. Merchant, Edna O. Miller and Dr. Josef Schaefer.

I. S. C O N D I T . . Department Head

Modern educational administration expects of teachers of mathematics and of commercial subjects preparation both academic and professional, and ability in curriculum construction and in guidance of pupils. With this thought in mind, this Department has constructed its curriculum.

Mathematics and Commercial Education

The purpose of the Department is to impart knowledge of essential subject matter and of the relation of this subject matter to the world about us, habits of logical analysis, concise expression, originality in thinking, and intellectual honesty. Those composing the staff are: I. S. Condit, H. C. Cummins, Myrtle Gaffin, Emma Lambert, G. R. Mach, Julia Myers, E. E. Watson, and C. W. Wester.

Interest in music education is increasing rapidly. Good music, successfully re-created and keenly appreciated, will always be on the side of worthy living and opposite to what is cheap and tawdry. People can never be better than their ideals, and beautiful music is always conducive to the development of fine ideals.

M U S I C

C. A. FULLERTON . . Department Head

The Department of Music has three aims: to do all that can be done to develop skill, musical taste, and appreciation; to furnish the opportunity for students to reach the best ability that is attainable; and to make persistent effort to give to music education the benefit of the best educational procedure. Those comprising the staff are C. A. Fullerton, Olive Barker, Alta Freeman, W. E. Hays, Alpha Mayfield, Rose Ruegnitz, Luther Richman, Irving Wolfe, and G. W. Samson.

The work in natural science embraces three major lines — earth science, biological science, and agriculture. It is universally agreed that the natural sciences comprise a living, growing body of knowledge which is intimately connected with contemporary life. In this day the scientific approach is a characteristic of our modern life.

N A T U R A L S C I E N C E

The main objectives which the Department wishes to emphasize in the instruction given are the development of open-mindedness on the part of students, the ability to think clearly and logically, the mastery of fundamental principles and concepts, and the skill to discern and impart accurate information. Those comprising the Department are: Dr. E. J. Cable, Dr. R. L. Abbott, Alison Aitchison, Winifred Gilbert, Dr. C. W. Lantz, H. E. Rath, Dr. W. Scott, and Marguerite Uttley.

DR. E. J. CABLE . . . Department Head

EDWARD KURTZ . . Department Head

The Orchestral Music Department has a tradition of artistic performance. It is the aim of those who have inherited this tradition to carry on the work of instruction and performance to continually higher levels. It is the ambition of the Department to instill into the student body a love of the best in instrumental music.

ORCHESTRAL MUSIC

It is the purpose of the instructors to have on this campus the best college band, the best college symphony orchestra, the best ensemble players, and the best individual performers that it is possible to have on any college campus. It is the intention of each instructor to train his students to become thoroughly competent musicians and teachers. The staff includes Edward Kurtz, R. Searight, M. Russell, and F. W. Hill.

Physical education is fundamentally an attitude, a way of living, a point of view, incidentally a technique, a performance, a particular skill. More important than muscular strength is the way the muscles are used and the mental content revealed by these activities. Intramural and inter-collegiate athletic contests afford the opportunities for this expression.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION FOR MEN

The principal aims of this Department are to enable the students to sustain and improve their health, to aid them in the formation of habits of hygienic living, and to qualify them as teachers of physical training. Thus they may intelligently consider the needs of the pupils by prescribing, directing and supervising such rational forms of exercise as are calculated to supply the needs among the pupils. The coaching staff members are L. L. Mendenhall, John Baker, A. D. Dickinson, D. H. McCuskey, and L. W. Whitford.

The present program of activity courses and curriculums is evolved from the theory of developing the physical to the philosophy of educating the individual as a unit, and from the belief that children should be given practise in obeying to the principle, — that to make good citizens children should be given practise in choosing wisely.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION FOR WOMEN

The aims of this Department are to encourage healthful activity in the open air, to equip all women students with knowledge and skill in some form of activity, to promote sociability through group participation in team sports, and to afford opportunities for the acquiring of a recreational occupation for leisure time. The instructors are Monica Wild, Doris White, Dorothy Humiston, Dorothy Michel, Maude Moore, Mrs. Jane Pettit, Thelma Short, and Grace Van Ness.

MONICA WILD . . Department Head

This Department attempts to serve the student body in three ways. First, it offers some special courses for students pursuing vocational curriculums. Second, it offers courses for students preparing to teach in the grades. Third, its advanced courses prepare students for science teaching in the high school.

PHYSICS AND CHEMISTRY

DR. LOUIS BEGEMAN . . Department Head

In past years, quite a number of the students who have majored in physics and chemistry pursued graduate study at different universities. Some of these have become college instructors and a few of them have become high-grade research engineers in the various industrial laboratories of the nation. The members of the Department are Dr. Louis Begeman, Dr. R. W. Getchell, S. F. Hersey, Dr. W. H. Kadesch, and O. B. Read.

DR. HOWLAND HANSON..Department Head

This Department seeks to make the Bible a known book; to assist students in an understanding of it; to illustrate principles of interpretation; to awaken a sense of appreciation for it, and to make it a vital factor in the life and living of youth. The courses are not destructive, controversial, nor sectarian.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

The Bible is read in the full light of all the sciences and in a reverent spirit. Twelve courses are offered, and the Bible is divided into historic periods. The scriptures are studied to discover what they really say, to seek and find what they were intended to mean by the writers, to understand what they meant to the original hearers, and then to interpret and restate the abiding truths in terms of the changing categories of our times.

DR. I. L. LILLEHEI . . Department Head

Work in two major lines, French and Spanish, is offered. The Department furnishes a thorough knowledge of the grammar of the language studied, practice in conversation, and advanced courses in which the literatures of France, Spain, and Spanish America are studied.

ROMANCE LANGUAGES

The Department aims to prepare teachers, satisfy language requirements for advanced degrees, and to create a spirit of deeper appreciation, sympathy, and tolerance, by introducing students to another language, people, and literature. The departmental library contains several thousand volumes, and receives the leading magazines of France and Spain. Dr. I. L. Lillehei, H. C. Haddox and Isabel Thomes compose the teaching staff.

The major lines of history, government and economics, and sociology are included in this Department. The courses offered deal with the interests and problems of society which are of utmost importance to every individual.

S O C I A L S C I E N C E

DR. M. R. THOMPSON . . Department Head

The aim is to develop clear thinking upon our social, political, and economic problems. The increasing complexity and rapidity of change in our social institutions make specific instruction increasingly necessary to enable the individual to adjust himself to new conditions. The staff members are: Dr. M. R. Thompson, Dr. M. R. Beard, Dr. C. H. Erbe, Dr. R. R. Fahrney, Dr. R. W. Harbeson, Mary Hunter, Sara Riggs, Dr. G. C. Robinson, Dr. L. L. Sage, and Dr. F. W. Wellborn.

Training in the teaching of all the subjects offered in the public schools is provided by this Department. Opportunity for the observation and teaching of classes from the pre-school to the senior high school is given on the campus and in the public schools of Waterloo, Cedar Heights, Jesup, Cherokee, Shenandoah, and Mason City, which are affiliated with the College.

T E A C H I N G

The following are those affiliated with this Department on the campus: Dr. Eva May Luse, Mary Anderson, Elisebeth Brugger, Bernice Bryan, Mary Caldwell, Velma Colbrook, Margaret Divelbess, Gladys Evans, Rose Hanson, Louise Hearst, C. L. Jackson, Lulu Marie Jenkins, Olga Johnson, Dora Kearney, Dorothy Koehring, Elizabeth Nelson, Olive Paine, Marna Peterson, Annabelle Pollock, E. Grace Rait, N. O. Schneider, Minnie Starr, and Myrtle Stone.

DR. EVA MAY LUSE . . Department Head

AUXILIARY AGENCIES

★ To assist the student in his daily round of living, the college affords a number of auxiliary agencies. Among these are the Library, which serves the student in his every-day studies; the Commons, which offers him numerous forms of social activities; the Dormitory, which provides housing facilities, in addition to congenial contacts; and the Health Center, where advice is given. Other agencies are the Publicity Office, the General Office, the Extension Division, and the Placement Bureau. Bereft of all these agencies, it would be difficult for the student to make the adjustments necessary for him to lead a happy, profitable and well-informed life.

L I B R A R Y

ANNE STUART DUNCAN . . Librarian

The Teachers College Library contains a collection of more than 103,000 volumes.

On the ground floor are four special study rooms containing books on fiction, education, art and music, and a juvenile library. In the art and music rooms are large collections of prints and sheet music for circulation. The juvenile library has more than 5,000 volumes. On the walls of the corridors on this floor are famous paintings from the early masters up to the present day, including some of the best art collections in the state.

The main Loan Desk, and a reading room accommodating approximately 300 students, are on the second floor. The stacks, the public catalog, the catalog department, and the librarian's office are also on the second floor. Federal and state documents occupy two rooms on the third floor, while the college museum is on the fourth floor.

Approximately 500 periodicals, including American, English, French, Spanish, German, and Italian, are received currently.

This service, established in 1915, is maintained by the College for the benefit of students, faculty, and employees.

The College Hospital has available seventeen beds and all modern appliances, including Thermo-light, Diathermy, X-Ray, and a well-equipped operating room for major and minor surgery. A separate building is used for the Health Office and Nurses' Home, and another for isolation of all contagious diseases.

Medical advice and treatment are given to students free by the Health Director, who may be consulted at stated hours in his office. Every case of sickness should be reported promptly to the Dean of Women or Dean of Men. If no physician is in charge of the case, the head nurse will visit the student and give advice.

DR. F. N. MEAD . . . Health Director

Student Health Service

The Commons, opened for occupancy on September 10, 1933, represents the realization of a dream that has been harbored for many years by the Iowa State Board of Education and the administrative officials of the College. The first tentative plans of the building were formulated nearly a decade ago. Late in July, 1932, the contract was awarded, and actual construction started a few weeks later.

The entire project has been carried through to completion in order to provide the highest type of eating and recreational facilities. The building is an embodiment of the best thought of the day as to what constitutes adequate provision for social education and recreational training in college. It is an exemplification of the belief that teachers in training should be taught to live in a socially acceptable manner with their fellow-men. It is a campus center that has been planned, equipped, and furnished in conformity with a high social ideal.

Bartlett Hall, named in honor of Professor M. W. Bartlett, the senior professor in what was then known as the Iowa State Normal School, was occupied for the first time in 1916 when 125 women students made their home in the east wing. In 1918, the two central wings were added, and in 1921 the west wing was completed, providing accommodation for 525 women.

Living rooms, browsing rooms, gay spread rooms, informal recreation rooms, and comfortable student living quarters have contributed their share to our college education.

Early in October the girls have a beautiful service symbolizing friendship—the lighting of the hearth. The Christmas Dinner and caroling with a tree and party after coming home have become traditions. Wednesday night after-dinner coffee in the living room has been an “ice-breaker” for many. On Mother’s Day a breakfast is given. For the fathers on Dad’s Day and for the old “Grads” on Homecoming there is coffee in the living room after the game.

Through the service of the Extension Division, the campus of the Iowa State Teachers College is extended to include the entire state. Seven trained and experienced staff members, together with a clerical force of four competent assistants, comprise the personnel by which this service is rendered.

The four major phases of the service are Schools Service for the improvement of teaching and administration; Correspondence Work and Extension Class work for continuation study by those temporarily withdrawn from residence work; and the supervision of the branch summer schools organized to offer facilities for summer residence work to students in the parts of the state most distant from Cedar Falls.

Extension Service during the year 1932-1933 was rendered to 17,000 teachers, 33,000 pupils, and 3,250 patrons and other adults. It constitutes one of the greatest single forces in this state for the maintenance and improvement of the standards of teaching in the public schools.

The Placement Bureau is the official department of the College which recommends and endorses graduates and former students who seek teaching positions. A fee of three dollars is charged for registration with the Bureau. Each registration continues in force for one year. Prospective graduates from the College may register without cost, if such registration is made within the first six weeks of the term of prospective graduation.

PLACEMENT BUREAU

Services to registrants are: Mailing confidential credentials for bona fide vacancies reported; compiling and mailing confidential recommendations to commercial teachers agencies; selecting, nominating, and recommending registrants for vacancies; arranging for personal interviews of registrants with school officials; mailing letters of inquiry pertaining to prospective vacancies; and giving information to registrants and candidates on legal requirements for teaching in Iowa and other states, on how to make personal interviews, and on how to write applications.

SERVICE PLACEMENTS 1932-33

GEORGE H. HOLMES . . Director

BUREAU OF PUBLICITY

The Bureau of Publicity was established in 1929 with the aim of placing before the people of Iowa regular news reports of significant projects of the College.

Through this Bureau facts concerning the activities, honors, awards, researches, and accomplishments of the Faculty and students are gathered and stories written and mailed out each day to thirty of the larger newspapers of the state. In addition, pictures and special stories concerning students who figure prominently in events at the College, are prepared and sent to home-town papers.

In addition to the operation of a News Service, it also provides a general service headquarters for students working on the College Eye and Old Gold.

The Bureau publishes the Alumnus, a quarterly magazine containing news of alumni activities, general alumni items, and special articles concerning college activities.

The General College Office with its branch, the Printing Room, serves directly all members of the administrative and the instructional staff and all students in the course of a term. It provides college officials with stenographic, telephone, mimeograph, multigraph, poster, and photostat service; assembles material for research problems; prepares reports on athletic eligibility, statistical reports on attendance, and reports on scholarship for honor organizations.

The office also furnishes information asked for by accrediting and other agencies; makes the permanent register of students and the term directories; assembles and prepares for printing such material as term programs, catalogs, summer term bulletins, and lists of graduates; mails catalogs and other quarterly bulletins and the Alumnus; keeps up to date the records of registration and cards showing the work and location of each graduate. Term statements and photostat copies of credits are prepared and distributed; credits are recorded on state certificate applications for this and other states; and diplomas are prepared for official signatures and presentation.

STUDENT ADMINISTRATION

★ The need for securing better understanding between organizations on the campus and for the promotion of self-governing interests among college students has led to their organizing into executive bodies. Prominent among these groups is the Women's League, which functions to advance the social interests of college women, endeavoring to sponsor entertainment and activities that will help all girls to grow mentally and socially. Bartlett Hall Council has for its aim a closer unity and understanding of the dormitory girls. The Student Council serves as a means of bringing forward to administrative heads various student problems and questions of importance, with the secondary aim of planning an adequate student social life for the school year. The newest organization of this type, the Men's Union, tends to bring all men students together in a fraternal group, with the aim of furthering their interests and activities.

STUDENT COUNCIL

LORINNE CRAWFORD
President

★ The purpose of this organization is to regulate all matters pertaining to student life which do not come within the jurisdiction of the Faculty; to further in every way the spirit of unity and cooperation among the students; to increase their sense of responsibility toward each other; and to be a medium by which the social standards of the College may be maintained on a high level.

The officers are: President, Lorinne Crawford; Vice-President, Robert Brown; Secretary, Mary Howell, and Treasurer, John Beebee. The other members are David Grant, Don Barker, and Wilma Roth.

FOUR YEAR GRADUATES

★ In the eyes of the undergraduate, the college senior has attained the height of all that is desirable in a college career . . . In the eyes of the world, the senior is on the threshold of active life . . . He is about to be subjected to the joys and trials of life . . . He is at liberty to make of his future a success or a failure . . . His senior year is the time of commencement . . . It is a period when happy times and earnest work are coordinated to provide the enduring substance for many a happy memory . . . The SENIOR CLASS

The traditional social event planned and presented by the Senior Class is the Senior Prom. A Prom King and Queen are chosen to reign at this festivity. But the senior year is not all fun and frolic. As the end of his college career draws near, the senior is concerned with things of great importance to him. He is on the verge of stepping into the world of occupation, and discovering for himself his appointed place. With four years of college training behind him, the senior faces the commencement of things. The road of the future which is his to travel appears vast and perilous to his inexperienced eyes. This year seniors may be heard repeating frequently those words which have become almost universal the past few years: "I want a job!"

"I WANT A JOB!" THE SENIOR CRY.

TWO YEAR GRADUATES

★ From the pinnacle of high school attainment the graduate steps down to take his place among the lowly in college . . . His first year is novel and full of surprises, both disheartening and inspiring . . . His second year is one of startling discoveries of how little he knows and how much there is before him to learn . . . By the time he has reached the status of a Junior he has made necessary adjustments, and life goes on more or less smoothly . . . Always, the senior is his idol, and at intervals the paddle is his symbol of persecution. He has troubles and trials manifold, but with a complete college education as his goal and purpose nothing can defeat him. He finds his place in the little community of his college and proceeds to live his life fully, ever keeping his aims in view.

The JUNIOR CLASS

The Junior believes in adding a touch of spice to college life. During his first two years of college he has learned that light housekeeping is not only a means of economy but a source of enjoyment. He finds that a number of cooks do not spoil the broth, but on the contrary make light work. And cooperation, he discovers, is an essential in attaining the desired status of senior classification and supremacy. No college student participates in such gay good times as does the Junior. The height of his glory comes in the Washington Ball, the main social function sponsored and promoted by him, and enjoyed by the entire school.

The SOPHOMORE CLASS

With what genuine pleasure the sophomore handles the paddle which so frequently was applied to his own extremities the year before! By virtue of his exalted college classification, he takes active advantage of the situation and applies the familiar instrument of torture to the college underlings. Seniority looms dimly in the distance; the Sophomore is slowly but surely approaching the height of glory . . . the status of a college senior. Yet, with this goal still far away, he feels privileged to look back with smug countenance at his discarded freshman trappings of so livid a green. Into the ash heap goes the hated green cap, and, bare-headed, the Sophomore reigns supreme over the Freshman.

The FRESHMEN CLASS

In every college, the freshman group bears the brunt of jokes and schemes devised purposely to vex and embarrass him. From the pinnacle of attainment as a high school senior, he steps into an environment of subjugation as a college freshman. For his majestic graduation robes he must substitute the wearing of the typical green. At Iowa State Teachers College he is required to wear a ridiculous purple and green cap, symbolical of his insignificant status. He plays the role of flunkey when an upper classman snaps his fingers. And as a supreme indignity he must furnish the paddle which his superiors wield with such deadly accuracy and precision. He has worries and troubles manifold, but we extend to him our congratulations; he can "take it".

Editor-in-Chief, 1934 Old Gold
Iowa State Teachers' College
Cedar Falls, Iowa

Dear Mr. Brown:

It was a pleasure and an honor to be permitted to select the five most attractive girls from the group of photographs you sent me.

The task was a difficult one, as all of the contestants appeared to me to be of equal beauty, but I finally have decided upon the following: First, No. 1; second, No. 10; third, No. 3; fourth, No. 4; fifth, No. 9.

Please extend my congratulations to the successful contestants.

Sincerely,

Bing

CAMPUS LIFE

★ The college student has for the nucleus of his social life the college campus. Schools of higher learning have taken care to provide a variety of ways for him to spend his leisure time . . . Everything in the way of worth while entertainment lies at his finger-tips . . . If he is normally alert his social life need in no way be stunted. Recreation may be in the form of dancing . . . tennis . . . leisure-time hours . . . music . . . swimming . . . competitive sports . . . art . . . and many other forms of intellectual and social diversion. The student's social life, enmeshed as it is with his academic studies, remains for him in later years one of the happiest and most vivid of his college memories. In Iowa State Teachers' College ample social opportunities are afforded for the student's participation outside of the classroom.

★ ORGANIZATIONS

THE OLD GOLD OF THE YEAR 1934

P U B L I C A T I O N S

★ A weekly newspaper, an annual publication, and a periodical literary magazine are the prime means of giving information to the student. Each of these publications is managed entirely by students, and each has a different function. The first presents campus news of each day, the second surveys the events of a year's time, and the third presents the best literary work written each term by students on the campus. Yet all three are bound together by a common motive, that of keeping school interest and spirit alive and active. Iowa State Teachers College is justly proud of the excellence of her publications, the College Eye, the OLD GOLD, and the Purple Pen.

The OLD GOLD Staff

ROBERT A. BROWN
Editor-in-Chief

★ This year's "Old Gold" is of the present and for the present. It is a complete story of campus life for this particular year. When in later years you read it, we hope that you will have pleasant memories called to mind, for if we have succeeded in that respect we will feel that our efforts have not been in vain. The older it becomes, the more precious and valuable it will be as a reminder of those youthful happy days at Iowa State Teachers College.

★ The 1934 OLD GOLD is truly a "picture book", attempting to catch and portray glimpses of the interesting and unusual occurrences of students and faculty on the campus. Disregarding the custom of past years to build the yearbooks around a central theme, the OLD GOLD of 1934 does not have a theme, but is presenting instead modern layouts, modernistic photography, modern type and "copy". In order to make it even more "present time" it is dedicated to the newest thing on the campus, — the Commons. This building, about which so many have dreamed, toward which so many have worked to make it a reality, and in which every student has the opportunity of recreation and pleasure, is a fitting ideal around which to build the newest OLD GOLD of all — the book of 1934.

The four major staff officers, Editor-in-chief, Managing Editor, Business Manager, and Art Editor, are elected by the Board of Student Publications. An applicant for these positions must possess desirable qualities of initiative, leadership, ability, personality, and experience. Departmental editors and assistants are chosen by the Editor-in-chief with the approval of the Board. The staff, sixteen in number, with the cooperation of the student body and advisers, have worked together to make a permanent record of the activities, the events, and the associations which help make a full year of college life.

THE COLLEGE EYE

★ A headline, a feature story, News Briefs, "The Line", society notes, the "Forum", a book review, poetry, the last word in athletics — all together — always changing — in one weekly newspaper — the College Eye.

Editors, reporters, managers, and copyreaders, rushing about in search of news compose the personnel of the staff.

General editorial and business policies for the College Eye are controlled by the Board of Control of Student Publications. Responsibility for the editorial and news policy is vested in Richard Rickert, editor-in-chief; and Art Coffman, managing editor. Leo Schrody is business manager, assisted by Robert Grant, advertising manager, and Harvey Littrell, circulation manager. Other members of the editorial staff for 1933-34 were Elizabeth Vaughn, society editor; John McCaffrie, sports editor; Theodore Adams, head copyreader; and Don Miller, Edward Corton, Julian Colby, Oscar Lyons, Helen Thisted, Betty Severin, Peggy Newman, Leroy Furry, Helen Byerly, and Jean Sloan, reporters.

In addition to fulfilling its regular duties during the year, the College Eye formed a definite editorial policy built around a five-point platform and aided in the formation of the Pep fraternity and the newly organized Men's Union.

For the school year 1931-1932 the College Eye was awarded First-Class Honor Rating in the contest of the National Scholastic Press Association. For the year 1932-1933 the newspaper received the "All-American Honor Rating" in the same national contest. This is the highest rating given by the Association.

THE PURPLE PEN

★ "There has been for some time a feeling that the Iowa State Teachers College should have a literary magazine in which the best original material written by its students could be published. With this need in mind, and with the hope of giving an added incentive to creative writing among the students, Lambda Beta Chapter of Sigma Tau Delta has sponsored the Purple Pen."

With this foreword, the first edition of the Purple Pen was published in the spring of 1929. It was a small, purple-backed magazine containing sixteen pages of student writing, edited by Ted Martens, with Ralph Childs as business manager. It has been published continuously since that time, and has gained in beauty of form and excellence of content. For the past four years it has placed second in the national contest sponsored by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

The Purple Pen has continued its initial policy of considering for publication the literary productions of students of the Teachers College. On May, 1931, it carried its first illustration, a lino-cut, "The Old Mill," by Stanley Wood, the original designer of its cover.

The local chapter of Sigma Tau Delta constitutes the staff, with Miss Selina M. Terry as faculty adviser. Viola Herrig is Editor and Leroy Furry is Business Manager of this publication.

The Board of

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

CLAIR KRAFT
President

The Board is composed of nine members, including one Student Council member, four students selected by popular vote, and four members of the Faculty appointed by the President of the College. It elects students for the major positions of the College Eye and OLD GOLD and sends representatives to the National and State Collegiate Press conventions. It also acts in the capacity of a policy determining board for these college publications.

The purpose of the Board is to promote the highest student ideals in journalistic activity on the campus.

The faculty members are Benjamin Boardman, George H. Holmes, Jr., H. Earl Rath, and Miss Selina Terry. The student members for 1933-34 are Clair Kraft, President; David Grant, Secretary-Treasurer; Marion Bragonier, James Ebel, and Miriam Marston.

DEPARTMENTAL CLUBS

★ Students and faculty members long ago realized the many benefits derived from the organizing into clubs of those particularly interested in the various lines of college work. The college club advances study along particular lines of work, promotes a spirit of fellowship, and provides an excellent means for an exchange of ideas among members. The departmental club, as it exists today, gives additional cultural benefits to the student, and encourages originality and individuality of thought. It requires an active interest in current problems in the field, as well as a study of historical data. The typical college club is composed of members of the Faculty working with students of more than usual ability who manifest an active interest in their chosen lines of work.

Adviser	- - - - -	BERTHA L. PATT
Adviser	- - - - -	MRS. IRIS BRANAGAN
Adviser	- - - - -	AGNES B. COLE

In 1907, the Art League was organized for the purpose of promoting art appreciation and fostering a feeling of unity among the students of this college who are interested in art. Projects, such as mask-making, tying and dyeing, stencil making, and sketching in charcoal, pastels, oils, or water colors, have been done. This year's activities included the production of a marionette show, which consisted of the making of the puppets and the building of the stage and its settings.

Honorary Member - - - - -	WINIFRED GILBERT
Honorary Member - - - - -	DR. R. L. ABBOTT
Honorary Member - - - - -	H. E. RATH

The purpose of the Club is to keep in touch with all biological problems of modern trend and to create a deeper interest in biology. Through its meetings and social functions, it provides a means for those interested in this science to become better acquainted.

Programs include the study of pictures, lectures by instructors, and reports by students. A new special feature is a Biology Club News-Letter. The special project for the winter and spring terms is the study of birds.

Front Row: Elizabeth Mulcay, Elsie Kelly McCoy, John Bliese, Dr. C. W. Lantz, Carl Benda.

Sergeant-at-arms	- - - - -	LOYD OLSON
Adviser	- - - - -	O. B. READ
Adviser	- - - - -	DR. R. W. GETCHELL

Eight years ago the Chemistry Seminar was established, offering a means for exchange of ideas and presentation of chemical topics to the students of this science. It aims to broaden the knowledge of chemistry by informal speeches that are open for discussion by the rest of the members; to create a common meeting ground for freshman, senior, and faculty members; to keep the group informed on current topics, new methods, and devices employed in chemistry; and to foster scientific ideals among the chemistry students.

Vice-President	- - - - -	SYLVERA WENGER
Secretary	- - - - -	MADelyn BERGSTROM
Treasurer	- - - - -	ARDELL OSTERGARD

The Commercial Club was organized in 1924. Meetings are held twice a month at which business men or one of the faculty speak on present day commercial interests. At the beginning of the year there is a get-acquainted party, and during the year dinners and picnics make up the social activities of the organization.

Vice-President	- - - - -	RUTH ANDERSON
Secretary	- - - - -	MARIE RIZZO
Treasurer	- - - - -	EVA RIDGEWAY

In 1924 the Ellen H. Richards Club was organized, its membership including all Home Economics majors and faculty members of the Home Economics Department. The club aims to aid the members to become better acquainted with the students and faculty, and to develop a professional interest in home economics that must keep pace with the ever changing living conditions.

Lectures on such subjects as Oriental rugs, chinaware, modernistic art, antique furniture, and silverware, besides teas and parties, make up the activities of the group.

First Row: Agnes Conger, Bertha Stebins, Marie Rizzo, Audrey Munson, Ruth Anderson, Virginia Streeter, Iva Brayton.

GERMAN CLUB

President	- - - - -	ALICE FAUST
Vice-President	- - - - -	BEVERLY HESSE
Secretary-Treasurer	- - - - -	MURTIS WEIHE
Faculty Adviser	- - - - -	DR. JOSEF SCHAEFER

Deutscher Verein, organized in 1931, gives to students of German a chance to get practice in the German Language outside of class work and gives to them a better knowledge of German art, music, literature, government, and social life.

Each year it is customary to give a number of German plays. This year the plays that were given were "Die Wette", "Der Kuhhould", and "Wie Man's Macht in Amerika". Once each year the club sponsors a banquet, party, or picnic. This year a German Band was formed for the pleasure of the musically inclined members of the club.

First Row: Eloise Harmon, Alvin Johnson, Murtis Weihe, Dr. Schaefer, Alice Faust, and Frederick Mussman.

Second Row: Ellis Wilhite, Lois Schwab, Raymond Kettler, Marie Wangler, Asaph Fogdall, Isabel Ervine, Albert Brauer, and Mercedes Connor.

Vice-President - - - - -	ROBERT WICK
Secretary - - - - -	DWIGHT ERICKSON
Sponsor - - - - -	DR. F. W. LAMBERTSON

Membership of Hamilton Club includes any bona fide student of Iowa State Teachers College who gives evidence of a genuine interest in the cause of constructive public speaking. The club meets twice a month for a dinner and program of original speeches. The purposes of the Club are to develop interest in the speech arts among the students, faculty, and advisers; to elevate the standards of speech; to encourage everything which will tend toward high ideals of effective speech; to seek out and encourage talent; and to develop a spirit of cooperation among all students interested in the speech arts.

The roll of members at any time shall not exceed twenty-five. Honorary members include all alumni of Hamilton Club.

Front Row: Lois Brauer, James Curtis, Mary Alice Woolverton, Robert Wick, Adela Woolverton.

Second Row: Dwight Erickson, Irene Warner, James Daugherty, Francis Suter, Corey Olson, Merton Coover.

Members not in picture: Eileen Ferreter, David Grant, Alfred Ogland, Betty Severin, Paul Smith, Pauline Wilcox, and Joyce Whitsell.

The "I" Carnival, a play-night of games, tournaments, cards, swimming, and dancing, was the social event arranged by the "I" Club this year for the entire college.

In 1927 the "TC" Club was organized. When the emblem given for athletic achievement was changed from "TC" to "I", the name of the Club became the "I" Club, with the purpose to encourage sportsmanship in all athletics, and to raise the scholastic and athletic standards among the athletes of the college.

KINDERGARTEN CLUB

President	- - - - -	HELEN CRAWFORD
Secretary-Treasurer	- - - - -	EVELYN RASCHE
Adviser	- - - - -	DOROTHY KOEHRING

The four purposes of the Kindergarten Club are to further the interest in the training of young children through specially arranged educational programs; to establish a closer relationship among its members through social contacts; to solve problems of interest to kindergarten teachers from a professional viewpoint; and to promote interest in other campus activities.

In addition to the educational programs, numerous informal parties, a Christmas party, and a formal spring banquet are included among the monthly meetings.

Majors in kindergarten education and students taking a two-year course in kindergarten education are eligible to membership in the Kindergarten Club.

Three others who are not in the picture are: Florence Edgar, Grace Fern, and Helen McDowall.

MATHEMATICS CLUB

President - - - - - HELEN BROWN
Secretary - - - - - EILEEN AANES

In 1909 the Mathematics Club was organized on the Iowa State Teachers College campus. Meetings, which are held once a month, include class demonstrations as well as discussions of scientific discoveries. The Club is a valuable adjunct to the Mathematics Department, serving as an effective correlating and vitalizing force. It is composed of the Faculty of the Department and students who have had at least two terms of College mathematics.

Front Row: Sophie Larsen, Celeste Landtisor, Lillian Myers, Maynard Dix, Margaret Robertson, and Robert Burch.

Second Row: Harlan Lenth, Francis Pedersen, Ruth Hamilton, Mr. Watson, Mr. Condit, Helen Brown, Miss Lambert, Mr. Wester, and Retha Sarver.

Secretary-Treasurer	- - - - -	VIRGINIA PHILPOT
Adviser	- - - - -	AMY F. AREY
Adviser	- - - - -	MAY M. SMITH

Pi Beta Alpha was founded at Iowa State Teachers College by a group of girls interested in professional advancement. They organized for the purpose of creating a unified center of thought and action among Primary B. A. students, which would lead to the development of its members intellectually, professionally, and socially.

A News Letter is sent to alumni members once a year.

Meetings are held the first and third Wednesdays of each month. Each spring a banquet is the climax of the year's activities. Membership is open to junior and senior primary girls.

Front Row: Florence Gallimore, Lucille Persinger, Miss May Smith, Buelah Flickinger, Miss Amy Arey, Eleanor Zimmerman.

Back Row: Alyce Hoepner, Armina Davis, Ruth Beach, Verna Dahlgren, Isabel Ervine, Grace Fern, Frieda Moore, Evelyn Chadbourne, and Louella Specht.

Not in the picture: Selma Hill, Nina Johnson, and Dagmar Rodholm.

PLAYCRAFT CLUB

President	- - - - -	CARYL MIDDLETON
Vice-President	- - - - -	FERN CLARK
Secretary-Treasurer	- - - - -	MARY LOU MITZE
Adviser	- - - - -	HAZEL B. STRAYER

The Playcraft Club was organized in January, 1925, for the purpose of affording opportunities to students interested in acting and directing. The Club has expanded with the growth of the Drama Department until now membership is open to students interested in any of the arts of the theatre. Each year it is customary to present one play for the public, besides shorter plays for the club members.

Participation in Tutor Ticklers, a Drama Shop party, reviews of plays, and opportunities to learn of acting, directing, and technical experimentation form a small part of the unusual programs carried out by Playcraft Club.

Front Row: Virginia Philpot, Lorinne Crawford, Caryl Middleton, Mary Lou Mitze, Betty Fedderson, and Flora Silver.

Second Row: Merton Coover, Mary Romanelli, Burdette Moeller, Fern Clark, Raymond Phillips, Janette Wright, and Gwendolyn Roth.

PRIMARY CLUB

President	ZADA CORBIN
Vice-President	KATHERINE KUNEY
Secretary-Treasurer	PAULINE BALDWIN
Adviser	AMY AREY
Adviser	MAY SMITH

Girls taking their first year of primary work acquire a deeper interest and a stronger sense of unity in the extra activities furnished by this Club. It is a social center that affords opportunities for the girls to become better acquainted with others studying in their chosen field and with the faculty members than is possible in the classroom.

First Row: Mulcay, Bigalk, Wells, Kuney, Rohdy, Gross, Harper, Lang, Eide, Hoovler, Leff.

Second Row: Myers, Gibbs, Vaselaar, Grangaar, Anderson, Miller, Miss Smith, Corbin, Lane, Miss Arey, McNamee, Peeters, Pinta, Wright.

Third Row: Wood, Bohn, Barber, Middlesworth, Hentzel, Layland, Fiddler, Mellem, Bradley, Wolcott, Allan, Abbey, Seabury, Koestler, Harms, Kellogg, Halverson, Smiley.

Vice-President	- - - - -	VIVIAN BANCROFT
Secretary-Treasurer	- - - - -	DEMARIS SOHNER
Faculty Adviser	- - - - -	DR. L. L. SAGE

Historical research, family budgets, "The New Deal", and taxation are some of the many topics discussed by students and faculty in the meetings of the newly organized Social Science Honors Society. This organization takes the place of the old Social Science Club. To be an active member of this Society, a candidate must present a minimum of thirty hours of credit in social science, which will make an average grade of "B". A candidate presenting a minimum of twenty hours of credit in social science averaging "B" is eligible for associate membership.

Faculty members of the Social Science Department are members of Social Science Honors Society.

Front Row: Dr. M. R. Beard, Sara Riggs, Dr. R. W. Harbeson, James Curtis, Amos Belknap, Dr. M. R. Thompson, Dr. C. H. Erbe, and Robert Brown.

★ The Drama Shop at the Iowa State Teachers College is recognized as one of the most excellent in the middle-west. Interest in drama and dramatic productions runs high, and each successive drama season proves to be better than the one preceding. Hard work, enthusiasm, and effort have made successful a variety of plays each year. Those interested in this work are encouraged to participate, and two dramatic organizations, Playcraft Club and Theta Alpha Phi Fraternity, are sponsored by the Department for the advancement of interest among the students. Whether the presentation be a one-act play, worked out entirely by the students, or the reproduction of a classic, the reputation of the College Drama Shop insures both success and acclaim.

Drama

The drama program at the Iowa State Teachers College consists of six to eight major productions presented annually in the college auditorium. Studio productions, the results of class work, are presented at intervals throughout the year. An annual conference on Play Production is an event of the spring term. Invitations are sent to High School instructors and to students. In the morning session techniques of scenery, acting and directing are demonstrated by students under faculty direction. The afternoon session is a matinee of the conference play. "PEACE ON EARTH" was the 1934 production. An informal tea in the Drama Shop provided a pleasant climax to the day's activities.

“THE WOMEN
WAY”

“THE WOMEN HAVE THEIR WAY”, by the Quintero brothers, was the 1933 Commencement play. The scene of this charming comedy was set in a patio in Spain and proved an amusing contrast to current American comedies. The women of a quiet little Andalusian town decide that the young lawyer from Madrid is in love with the prettiest girl in the village, although they have never spoken to each other. Gossip, however, is responsible for the romance which finally ensues, and the gaiety and charm of the action provide delightful entertainment. This play was the opening bill for the summer repertory program, also.

The set was designed by Charles Holden and the play directed by Hazel B. Strayer.

"THE SHOW-OFF"

"THE SHOW-OFF", by George Kelly, was the second play of the summer repertory group. This play ranks as one of the best American comedies to date, and a splendid cast of summer school students provided an outstanding production. The scene between Ma Fisher (Lillian Holmes), and Aubrey Piper, the Show-off (Raymond Phillips), are high points in the comedy, and were played for their full values by the actors. Each member of the cast contributed excellent characterization, and the fast tempo gave the piece the movement it demanded.

"CHILDREN OF THE MOON"

As a special feature for the final number of the summer drama program, alumni of Iowa Beta Chapter, Theta Alpha Phi, national honor dramatic fraternity, presented Martin Flavin's powerful drama, "CHILDREN OF THE MOON". Audiences will long remember the beautiful and moving tragedy as portrayed by these experienced actors.

The cast included Helen Swedberg, Gwendolyn Kern, Dorothy Hartleip, Everett Cartright, Marshall Kathan, Charles Holden, Arthur Scott, and Robert Burhans. Hazel B. Strayer directed the play and Charles Holden designed the setting.

"THREE
CORNERED
MOON"

"THREE CORNERED MOON", by Gertrude Tokonogy, opened the dramatic season for the regular school year. The timeliness of the subject, dealing with the happenings of a family when it finds itself suddenly without money, was of interest to everyone. The plans of the Rimplegaar family provided hilarious entertainment, and the universality of its appeal was evident from the responses of the audience. This, the first amateur production of THREE CORNERED MOON, followed close upon the New York production.

"R. U. R."

The fantastic play of the machine age, "R. U. R." (Rossum's Universal Robots), gave audiences a terrifying glimpse into a future of mechanical men. Written by Karel Kapek, a Czecho-slovakian, and translated for the New York Theatre Guild, the result is a drama which is decidedly thought provoking.

A group of men have erected a factory where robots are manufactured — mechanical people, whose perfection is almost human. The revolt of the robots provides a thrilling climax, for man is finally destroyed by the machine he has created.

The settings were designed by Stanley Wood. Hazel B. Strayer directed.

"PEACE
ON EARTH"

"PEACE ON EARTH", by George Sklar and Albert Maltz, was presented April 19, 20, and 21. Frankly anti-war, it is aimed at the men who are instrumental in promoting war for personal profit and proves to be both powerful and exciting theatrically.

Produced by the Theatre Union in New York City during the current season, it attracted widespread attention, and special permission was obtained for a production at this college simultaneously with the New York production. Three performances of the play were given, including a matinee, a feature of the fourth annual conference on Play Production.

★ In our college, debate and oratorical teams have been unusually successful in the past few years. Due to the excellence of the instruction and the hard work expended by the students, teams representing Iowa State Teachers College have gained sectional fame in the field of Forensics. The debaters sponsor an honorary fraternity whose purpose is to keep debating, oratory, and all forensics at the highest possible level. Debating has been the oldest competitive sport of the college and university. It holds first place for its success in developing precision, reasoning, and logic, thereby supplementing work in the subject in the classroom.

★ During the past year, the debating team of Iowa State Teachers College has had a very successful season, in spite of the fact that only two of the group had previously taken part in college debating, and only two others had done high school debating.

Tournament debates largely filled the program, and this year there were eight with decisions. The cities visited by the Tutor debaters were St. Paul, Minnesota, where a team composed of Merle Miller and Beatrice Moore won five of the seven debates, and a team composed of Lois Brauer and Francis Suter won two out of four; Normal, Illinois, where all of the possible sixteen points were won by the Tutors; Vermillion, South Dakota; and Platteville, Wisconsin. Delta Sigma Rho, national honorary forensic society, sponsored a debate at Madison, Wisconsin, in which Donald Barker won third place.

There were two non-decision debates. The first with Cambridge University of England, and the second with Northwest Teachers College of Maryville, Missouri. The contest with Cambridge was the fourth international debate held on this campus and the second with Cambridge. The other teams came from Trinity College, of Dublin, Ireland, and Oxford University, England.

At the state forensic contest in Des Moines, the men's team, composed of David Grant, Donald Barker, and James Curtis won first place, and the women's team, including Lois Brauer, Francis Suter, and Beatrice Moore placed second. This is the highest rating ever attained by any one Iowa college in the history of this contest.

Besides the regular tournament schedule, the speech contests included debates before civic luncheon clubs, other minor college meets, the inter-state contest at Northwestern University, and a radio debate with Iowa State College in which there was no decision.

Those who took part in debate this year include Donald Barker, Beatrice Moore, James Curtis, David Grant, Lois Brauer, Merle Miller, Frances Suter, James Daugherty, Eileen Ferrerter, Paul Smith, J. Burton Flesner, Eula Hansen, and Melvene Draheim.

★ Not only have the debate teams been successful this year, but the oratory and extemporaneous divisions have also taken honors. At the state forensic contest in Des Moines, Eileen Ferrerter took first in women's oratory, James Curtis placed second in men's extemporaneous, Beatrice Moore won first in women's extemporaneous, and David Grant won third in men's oratory.

The after-dinner speaker's contest, which took place on November 15, was sponsored by the Hamilton Club. James Curtis placed first, and James Daugherty won second place. James Curtis won first place in the Iowa State Peace Oratorical Contest held at Drake University early in December. His subject was "Drawing the Dragon's Teeth".

Eileen Ferrerter tied for first place with Penn in the extemporaneous contest held in conjunction with the peace contest. Speaking on the general topic of NRA, she drew the specific topic, "The NRA and Capital".

The Delta Sigma Rho Tournament was held at Iowa City, where James Curtis took second place, and David Grant represented Iowa State Teachers' College in oratory. The next Delta Sigma Rho Tournament took place in Madison, Wisconsin, where James Curtis went into the semi-finals.

This year was the first time that oratorical and extemporaneous units were sent to the state contest, and in view of the highly satisfactory results, its place in the speech division of the college is assured.

HONORARY FRATERNITIES

★ Scholarship in academic work does not exist without recognition in a real college. In the endeavor to give recognition to those deserving of it, and to unite into a group with common standards and ideals those who are especially deserving of merit, the honorary fraternity has been created. True leaders invariably have high standards of scholarship. The honorary fraternity draws its membership from the leaders on the college campus, and promotes a spirit of good fellowship, mutual understanding, and congenial relationships in the group. It can truthfully be said that the honorary fraternity is the highest type of college organization.

DELTA SIGMA RHO

President - - - - - MARY ALICE WOOLVERTON
Adviser - - - - - DR. F. W. LAMBERTSON

Iowa State Teachers College is the only teacher's college in the United States ever granted a charter by Delta Sigma Rho, the oldest national honorary forensic fraternity in existence. The national organization has sixty-four chapters located in the leading institutions throughout the country. The purpose of Delta Sigma Rho is to keep all types of forensics at the highest possible level, and, in accordance with this purpose, membership is limited strictly to the best of those who have shown great ability when representing their college or university in forensic competition. The local chapter during the past year sponsored the Brindley Forensic Tournament for high schools. It is the wish of Delta Sigma Rho to make these Tournaments an annual tradition honoring Professor W. A. Brindley, who, during his service here, brought to the campus for the first time a series of international debates and was both friend and teacher to the students.

President	- - - - -	MARJORIE SNELL
Vice-President	- - - - -	GLADYS TALCOTT
Secretary-Treasurer	- - - - -	MRS. NELLIE OLSON

Lambda Beta Chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, the honorary English fraternity, was established on this campus in 1928 with the purposes of advancing the study of the greatest masterpieces, encouraging worthwhile reading, and promoting the mastery of written expression. The local chapter publishes the Purple Pen three times each year. In addition, a new book has been compiled containing the best of the poetry written by students here. Active members are juniors and seniors who have demonstrated outstanding scholarship in English. Associate membership is made up of upper class students whose major is not English, but who show marked ability in creative writing.

Miss Selina Terry is adviser for this organization.

THETA ALPHA PHI

President - - - - - BURDETTE MOELLER
Vice-President - - - - - VIRGINIA MILLER
Treasurer - - - - - MRS. WINIFRED TUTTLE HART

Theta Alpha Phi is the national dramatic fraternity, the local chapter, Iowa Beta, having been founded in 1922. Chapters are organized in 80 colleges and universities throughout the country. Membership is conferred upon advanced students who have distinguished themselves in dramatic activities. Members of the organization study drama, dramatic literature, and are at all times ready to cooperate with sincere dramatic projects, each year sponsoring one dramatic production. Members of this fraternity are honorary members of Playcraft Club.

Professor S. A. Lynch is an honorary member of Theta Alpha Phi, and Miss Hazel B. Strayer is faculty adviser.

MEMBERS: Burdette Moeller, Burton Byers, Fern Clark
 Caryl Middleton, Virginia Philpot, Robert Wick

LITERARY SOCIETIES

★ The literary society, as one of the first organizations with purely literary standards, has endured throughout the years. It has for its purpose the uniting of students and instructors with the same literary interests into one congenial group. It endeavors to advance its members in friendship, moral and literary culture, to cultivate the literary talents of its members, and to keep them in contact with the activities of the literary world. The literary society, with its standards founded in a seeking after truth and beauty, and its purpose in social development, wields influence in student affairs.

ALPHA

The Alpha Literary Society, established in 1877, is the oldest literary society at Iowa Teachers college. Joy Watkinson is president. Bess Streeter Aldrich is one of its illustrious alumni members.

DELPHIAN

Founded in 1908, the Delphian Literary Society aims toward the social and intellectual growth of all members. The officers are Dorothy Quire, Marjorie Cook, DeMaris Sohner, and Pauline Wilcox.

EULALIAN

Maxine Kane, Blythe Hawks, and Weneedyou Smith are the officers of the Eulalian Literary Society, founded in 1908. It aims to promote social development and a comprehensive knowledge of literature.

S O C I E T I E S

NEOTROPHIAN - CHRESTOMATHIAN

Helen Daubenberger acts as president of the Neo-Chresto Literary Society, formed through the combining of two literary societies in 1928. The purpose of the society is the literary and moral growth of its members.

SHAKESPEAREAN

Organized in 1883, the Shakespearean Literary Society has been active for 51 years. Elizabeth Mulcay, Eleanor Zimmerman, Nora Bowen, and Dorothy Poulson act as officers and managers of programs.

ZETALETHEAN

Nineteen girls, one less than the original number in 1893, compose the membership of the Zetalethean Literary Society, headed by Marie Dean as president, with Margaret Brakel as assistant.

MUSICAL ORGANIZATIONS

★ In this modern day, there are few colleges that do not give the privilege, experience, and training of work in music. Educators now realize the importance of music in the teaching field. Students who are inclined musically are given the privilege of participating in the several operettas, musicals, and concerts presented by the school each year. Those with special music ability find their places in various glee clubs, bands, orchestras, or other combinations and groups fostered by the Music Department. Iowa State Teachers College looks pridefully each year on its excellent talent in the field of music.

PIRATES OF PENZANCE

"The Pirates of Penzance", Gilbert and Sullivan's hilarious comic opera, was presented in the auditorium on the nights of April fifth and sixth. The musical performance by four glee clubs, with the Minnesingers and Cecilians taking the leading parts, the Euterpeans as Major General Stanley's charming daughters, and the Troubadours as pirates and burly, moustached policemen, made delightful entertainment.

The curtain opened on a scene showing a rocky seashore with a band of pirates celebrating the twenty-first birthday of Frederic, an English boy apprenticed to the pirates until he reaches the age of twenty-one. Having tired of his piratical career, he decides to leave his associates. He meets the daughters of the General, and immediately falls in love with the youngest, Mabel. The lovers' duet, accompanied by a chorus of lovely girls dressed in light organdies, made a high point in the opera.

In the second act, laid in a ruined chapel, Frederic finds that he has only had five birthdays, since he was born on the twenty-ninth day of February, and he is forced to return to the Pirates, but they give up their careers, and all ends well.

One of the cleverest bits of work in the opera was done by the policemen's chorus with the parrot replies of everyone. Under the direction of William E. Hays, and staged by Stanley Wood, "The Pirates of Penzance" was a very finished performance.

THE MESSIAH

The Choral Union, consisting of two hundred eighty students under the direction of C. A. Fullerton, gave the twenty-eighth annual presentation of the "Messiah", Handel's world-famous oratorio on December 17, 1933. The Cecilians, Bel Cantos, Euterpeans, and Aeolians, women's glee clubs, and the Minnesingers and Troubadours, men's clubs, including one-fifth of the entire student body, gave the presentation. Mrs. Burney Schmidt was soprano soloist, Miss Olive L. Barker, contralto, H. G. Palmer, baritone, and W. E. Hays, tenor. The organ prelude and accompaniment was played by George Samson, with Miss Rose Lena Ruegnitz at the piano.

The production was the exact duplicate of the original of the eighteenth century with references to all lines taken from the Bible. Handel wrote the oratorio in twenty-two days. It tells in music the story of the birth, sufferings, death, and resurrection of the Christ. It is divided into three parts. The first illustrates the longing of the world for the Messiah, prophesies his coming and announces his birth. The second part describes the sufferings, death, and exaltation of the Christ, and tells of the spread of the gospel. The last part is a declaration of the doctrine of faith in the existence of God, the surety of immortality, and the resurrection and the attainment of an eternity of joy.

RELIGION

★ Progress has not crowded out religion from the modern college. Instead, it has made firm and secure the place of religion in the educational institution. When instruction in religious faith is left out of the school curriculum, the institution cannot hope to function to its greatest capacity. To produce the highest type of educated and cultural man, the college curriculum provides courses in religious training. In addition to classroom instruction, the modern college encourages the organization of a number of religious groups, with the purpose of promoting the intellectual, religious, and moral welfare of the students. The influence of these groups is far-reaching. Social as well as church activities are sponsored, and a closer spiritual fellowship is developed between young men and women of the different denominations.

Y. W. C. A.

President	- - - - -	MARY ALICE WOOLVERTON
Secretary	- - - - -	MELVENE DRAHEIM
Treasurer	- - - - -	MARGARET AZELTINE

The Y. W. C. A. is a group of women students who seek the meaning of a full and creative life and to have a part in making that possible for all people. The various committees of the local organization, under the leadership of a chairman, function by the discussion-group method in thinking and carrying out group-made ideas. Recreation rooms are provided by the Y. W. C. A. for the use of all the women students, and teas are given at different times during the year. The local association has been a part of the campus life at Iowa State Teachers College since 1887.

The Y. W. C. A. Board includes Miss Elisebeth Brugger, Miss Katherine Buxbaum, Dean Sadie B. Campbell, Mrs. J. F. Cross, Mrs. N. O. Halvorson, Mrs. O. R. Latham, Miss Marna Peterson, Miss Thelma Short, Miss Myrtle Stone, and Miss Selina M. Terry.

Westminster Student Council

President - - - - - RUTH McCLURE
Secretary - - - - - MARY FRANCES SHEDD
Adviser - - - - - MRS. CHARLES BLACK

The National Presbyterian Church organized a special work thirteen years ago for students who are enrolled at Iowa State Teachers College. Its first programs were carried on in houses rented for that purpose, but in 1925 it became possible to purchase the property which is now known as Westminster House. The records reveal that this name was chosen in preference to Witherspoon Hall.

The present sponsor, Mrs. Black, with a Student Council of sixteen members, plans and executes a religious and social program for all students of Presbyterian preference. This organization is always remembered for its spirit of friendliness.

The members as they appear in the picture are, front row: Lois Hostetter, Urma English, Ruth McClure, Mary Frances Shedd, Marguerite Miller, Mrs. Black, Audrey McGee.

Second Row: Marian Kehr, Marjorie Kimball, Marie Sanger, Donald Aupperle, Phyllis Julius, Murtis Weihe, Ethel Barz, Dorothy Mae Miller.

★ The college fraternity exceeds all other organizations in its function of establishing and maintaining high standards of morals and scholarship, and fostering a spirit of good fellowship and brotherly allegiance among its members. The fraternity regulates the social life of its men by providing them with a friendly place to convene in leisure moments, and by sponsoring dances or similar social functions during the school year. The greater purpose of the college fraternity is to stimulate its members to become worth-while units of the College and the community by developing their individual talents and abilities. The real fraternity, growing with its members, can contribute more to society than any other social organization of its kind.

Secretary	- - - - -	ALFRED OGLAND
Treasurer	- - - - -	JOHN BEEBEE
Honorary Member	- - - - -	DEAN L. I. REED

The Inter-Fraternity Council was organized in 1925 and 1926. It was recognized by a vote of the fraternities in May, 1926, with the purpose of promoting a more sincere feeling of good will, not only among the respective fraternities, but among the members of each fraternity. The Council is made up of twelve student men, each house electing two from its membership. From its founding, this organization has made a worthy effort to maintain a high standard of scholarship among the various fraternities.

Faculty advisers are Dr. M. R. Beard and Dr. E. J. Cable.

★ In recognition of the advantages of close friendship, college women have organized themselves into sororities. The sorority forms a stepping stone of friendship into the larger society of which it is an integral part. Its aim is to develop the aspects of the student's life outside of the regular curriculum, and to furnish adequate and appropriate means of social entertainment. The sorority endeavors to maintain a high standard of scholarship among its members, and to promote their social, material, and spiritual standing individually and as a group. The sorority helps, in a way that no other agency approximates, to bridge the gap between high school and college, and to maintain a constant level of friendship and mutual understanding.

INTER-SORORITY COUNCIL

President - - - - - JANETTE WRIGHT
Secretary - - - - - MARGARET BRAGG
Treasurer - - - - - ALICE FAUST
Chairman — ex-officio - - - - - DEAN SADIE B. CAMPBELL

When the Council was started in 1922, five sororities were members—V. O. V., Alpha Beta Gamma, Delta Phi Delta, Kappa Theta Psi, and Phi Omega Pi. It aims to promote cooperation and friendliness among the sororities, and it sponsors inter-sorority functions.

Faculty advisers are Miss Alison Aitchison, Alpha Beta Gamma; Miss May M. Smith, Delta Phi Delta; Miss Marybelle McClelland, Kappa Theta Psi; Miss Emma F. Lambert, Phi Sigma Phi; Miss Margaret Divelbess, Pi Phi Omega; Mrs. H. S. Buffum, Pi Tau Phi; Miss Alpha Mayfield, Pi Theta Pi; Mrs. I. L. Lillehei, Tau Sigma Delta; Mrs. N. O. ATHLETICS

MEN'S ATHLETICS

★ The modern world, with its wealth of physical and mental stimuli, demands of everyone both a sound body and a sound mind. To the college student this means that a certain amount of physical education has its definite place in the day's school routine along with the academic subjects. To the young man in college particularly interested and skilled in athletics, the requirement that the world makes of him in this respect is but an added pleasure. The modern college athlete has at his disposal the best of athletic equipment and facilities, and a wide variety and range of sports and games inviting his participation. Intramural and inter-scholastic competition excites his interest and spurs him on to the perfection of his own ability and technique and the glory of his college.

Coach John Baker's first Panther football team opened their 1933 campaign by defeating Columbia College 13-0. Lester Peterson, 140-pound quarterback, supplied the necessary punch to the Panther attack by crossing the Columbia goal for touchdowns in the second and fourth quarters.

The next week the Panthers met defeat at the hands of Cornell, even though the Tutors gained 152 yards to their opponent's 57. In the final quarter, the Panthers drove 70 yards down the field for a touchdown. Cedarholm's place-kick was good.

Varsity FOOTBALL SQUAD

In the night game, Grinnell was forced to bow to the Panthers 13-6. The Tutors unleashed a running and passing attack which netted them a touchdown after the first eight minutes of play. Kimberlin and Smalling, aided by the hard-charging Tutor forwards, carried the ball to the Red and Black seven-yard line only to be set back by a penalty and to have Grinnell hold for downs. After kicking out of danger, the Pioneers soon found themselves close to their goal line as the Panther passing attack opened up and placed the ball on the five-yard marker. Deserting their aerial attack, the Tutors carried the ball over in three tries, with Kimberlin toting the pig-skin into the end zone. The place-kick by Cedarholm was good. Trailing by seven points when the fourth quarter opened, Grinnell showered passes all over the field and finally scored a touchdown, but Seidler blocked their place-kick. The Tutors kicked off, and the Pioneers began another passing attack. Smalling intercepted a pass and ran 60 yards for the final touchdown.

Varsity F O O T B A L L S Q U A D

On October 14, the Panthers lost to Western State Teachers by the close score of 8-6. The Gold and Black machine made an auspicious start by jumping into a 6-0 lead in the middle of the first quarter. Carson, Panther wingback, intercepted a pass and raced 80 yards, running out of bounds two yards from the goal line. Peterson rammed through left tackle to tie the score. An exchange of punts left the ball on the Teachers' two-yard marker. Carson's attempt to punt out of the end zone was blocked, scoring a safety for Western State and giving them a 2 point margin.

A night game with Coe caused the Panther eleven a 19-0 defeat. By combining a high-powered offensive with a strong defensive, the Kohawks managed to out-play the Tutors throughout most of the game. The Panthers threatened to score in the second half, but an intercepted pass blasted hopes of scoring.

In the Teachers-Morningside game, the Panthers met defeat by a 6-0 score. Playing in a constant cloud of dust, the Tutors were unable to get into their usual stride. On several occasions the Teachers threatened to score, but an unusual number of fumbles proved costly.

Varsity FOOTBALL SQUAD

In the Homecoming game with Simpson, the Tutors went down to a 13-0 defeat. The Panthers opened the second half with a burst of offensive power that carried the ball into the scoring zone, but an intended lateral pass was ruled a forward, and the ball was called back to the forty-yard marker. The Panthers' passing attack met with disaster when Simpson intercepted a pass which resulted in a touchdown.

Playing in a driving snow and sleet storm, the Tutors were downed 19-6 by Michigan State Normal. The Panthers threatened to score on several occasions, but the Normalites ran up 19 points before Stewart intercepted a pass and ran to within twelve yards of the goal. Kimberlin then smashed over his own left tackle for a touchdown.

Going into the fourth quarter on the short end of a 13-6 score, the Panthers broke loose in the last fifteen minutes of their 1933 gridiron season, scoring three touchdowns and an extra point to down Luther College 25-13. The game was played before a large Dad's Day crowd on November 18.

Coach Art Dickinson's 1933-34 Panther quintet experienced a very successful season by winning nine out of fourteen games, and by amassing 424 points to their opponent's 376.

Varsity BASKETBALL SQUAD

In the Iowa Conference, the Tutors won six games and lost two, thereby placing second, according to the percentage system. In addition to the Iowa Conference games, the Panthers split games with both Coe and Cornell, of the Mid-West Conference, and with Grinnell of the Missouri Valley Conference.

Two Panthers, Maurice Carr and Paul Lambert, were honored by the United Press in picking its All-Iowa Conference basketball team. Carr, sharp-shooting forward, was given a first team berth, while "Hoot" Lambert, veteran guard and forward, was given honorable mention. The Associated Press placed both Carr and Lambert on its second team for the 1933-34 season. Carr has another season of competition, while Lambert graduates as the last four-year man in basketball, having begun his competition as a freshman in 1927, one year before the freshman ruling was adopted. Veterans, Clair Kraft, David Irvine, Truman "Swede" Manship, and Ralph Piper completed their varsity competition this season.

Coach "Munn" Whitford was forced to remodel his 1934 Panther baseball team, as the result of the loss by graduation of several outstanding men. With only four lettermen reporting for practice, he had to rely upon a limited number of reserves and sophomores.

Dick Rollins, left-handed pitcher who won four games for the Panthers last year, formed the nucleus of the 1934 team.

Varsity BASEBALL SQUAD

Don Blanchard, the Panthers' only two-letter man, is one of the most outstanding men on the Tutor squad.

"Swede" Manship, who suffered an injured knee during most of last year's season, has been looking exceptionally good at first base. Al Oglan, letterman from last year, has shown much improvement as an outfielder. He has been assisted in the outfield by Harry Krieg, a reserve from last year's squad.

Ray Smalling, reserve catcher and infielder, has shown promise, while "Chick" Donald, utility man of two years ago, has performed well at third base.

Other members of the squad are Maurice Carr, Everett Scott, William Meyer, Gordon Blanchard, Den Ouden, Paul Hoemann, James DeSpain, John McCaffrie, Paul Harms, Marshall Esslinger, Amos Belknap, Kenneth Erwin, Norman Mikkelson, Kenneth Kimberlin, John Champlin, Wallace Stewart, Nevin Bowen, Vern Miller, Harry Helgason, and Francis Talarico.

With only six letter winners returning from the 1933 Iowa Conference title winning track squad, Coach Art Dickinson had to depend upon a goodly number of reserves and sophomores for his 1934 Panther track team.

The Tutors have won the Iowa Conference title every year since the spring of 1925, with but one exception in 1929. Last year, with a relatively weak squad in the early part of the season, the Panthers improved rapidly to win the conference title.

Varsity T R A C K S Q U A D

The feature of the 1933 meet was the great running of the Tutor mile relay team, three of whom were called from the showers and ran in the last minutes of the meet to give the Panthers victory.

In the field events, only one letter winner, Harry Myers, returned for the 1934 season. Moeller and Axmear threw the javelin, while Stribley, Cedarholm, and Weresh fortified the weights. Bill Hulin, voted the most valuable man on last year's squad, returned for his third year in the dashes and quarter-mile, while his running mate, Earle Meikle, a sensation in the open quarter of the 1933 Iowa Conference meet, showed considerable improvement in the annual decathlon last fall.

The squad was well supplied with quarter-milers and dash men this year, having Vinall, Lewis Lake, and Bain, in addition to Hulin and Meikle. Outstanding reserves from last year to report again this spring were Kraft and Erickson, distance runners, and Kruchten and Piper, middle-distance men.

Varsity T R A C K S Q U A D

From sophomore material coming up from last year's Panther cubs, Raymond Pingel in the mile and two-mile events, and Maynard Voorhees in the hurdles, stamped themselves early in the season as outstanding contestants for varsity berths. Walgren and Dana, in the dashes, and Hovey, in the middle-distance events, displayed wonderful possibilities as varsity contestants, while Tom Boardman in the pole-vault; showed much improvement over his freshman year.

Two other outstanding varsity contestants, Orville Nichols and Roland White, made their first appearance on the campus this year, having come from Junior colleges. Nichols, with a Pacific Coast record of 48.7 in the double furlong, and White, a number one pole-vaulter and broad-jumper, added greatly to the strength of the Panther team.

Other members of the squad include Wayne Barr, Frank Bentley, Willard Carson, James Ebel, Austin Finnessy, Mahlon Hintzman, Richard Hammans, Herbert Jenkins, Beverly LaDage, Robert Mimbach, Tom Allan, Russel Clark, Jack Roberts, James Pratt, Lester Peterson, and Ray Stewart.

With two lettermen and excellent sophomore material, Coach Homer Haddox was able to build an exceptionally strong 1934 Panther tennis team. Don Klotz and Dick Rickert were the lettermen, while S. Reeves, L. Baral, E. Hutton, and W. McNabb made a promising showing this year.

Rickert was awarded the championship of the Second Annual Haddox trophy tennis tournament, while Reeves won the trophy when it was first given in the fall of 1932, thus making two Haddox trophy winners members of the 1934 Panther net squad.

★ The era of woman's suffrage has resulted in her almost unlimited participation in all fields of industry, thought, and physical activity. Now women's athletics has definitely taken its place in the school curriculum. The Women's Athletic Department, as one of the most recent additions to the college and university, endeavors to advance the physical education of the college woman. It provides for her recreation a variety of sports, games, and athletic contests. Various societies and clubs in the Department stand for that which is high in character and scholarship, endeavoring to further interest and ability in motor activities among the women of the College. These organizations have a far-reaching effect, and foster friendly connections between girls of different colleges who have the same athletic interests.

Women's Athletic Association

The aim of the Women's Athletic Association is to interest every woman on the campus in some sport that she may use later in her leisure time. Intramurals are carried on each term with seasonal sports offered. Recreational nights are sponsored the first and third Tuesdays of every month from seven to eight o'clock. Badminton, ping-pong, shuffle board, and deck tennis are some of the attractions offered. Association members are always available to present the rules to those who do not know them.

Sport banquets close each term, at which time all awards are given to those who have won points. This includes all participants in Intramurals as well as Association members. The following are members, front row: Isabel Brower, Dorothy Michel, Irene Meindl, Dorothy Humiston, Vivian Bancroft, Betty Paul, Pauline Ralston, Dorothy Quire, Phyllis Seldenrich, Buelah Tye.

Second Row: Amy Ransford, Merle Miller, Carolyn Wilkinson, Jeanette Simmons, Faye Stingley, Alberta Claussen, Eleanor Barry, Marjorie Spence, Marjorie Prior, Vernell Faught, Frances Atkinson.

Third Row: Helen Herrling, Ruby Gentry, Betty Ann Stephenson, Margaret Vigers, Helen Cruikshank, Kathryn Prottengeier, Arleen Fulton, Esther DeKoster, Claryce Hymans, Dolores Stone.

Fourth Row: Pauline Wilcox, Elsie Gray, Arlene Stoner, Opal Masters, Marjorie Mace, Lyla Sill, Nona Collins, Ruth Gentry, Olive Masters.

LIFE SAVING CORPS

"Every girl a swimmer! Every swimmer a life saver!" This is the motto that twenty-seven girls of the Red Cross Life Saving Corps of Iowa State Teachers College are trying to make universal.

An annual Water Carnival is the main event sponsored by this organization. It is held in the men's pool during the winter term. All the holds, breaks, and carries are demonstrated as well as the best form for resuscitation. Various water stunts, and comical dives and actions climax the entertainment.

A Hallowe'en party and an oyster supper brought the Corps together at Miss Doris White's cottage on the Cedar River and established an enthusiastic and cooperative spirit among the members.

Each year a National Examiner is secured, and the men and women on the campus are given the tests for Examinership.

The officers for the Corps this year are: President, Marjorie Spence; Vice-President, Lyla Sill; Secretary-Treasurer, Amy Ransford; Captain, Marjorie Cook; Instructor, Dorothy Quire; Mates, Arleen Fulton and Betty Paul.

The members are, front row: Arleen Fulton, Amy Ransford, Lyla Sill, Marjorie Spence, Dorothy Quire, Mrs. Jane Pettit, Betty Paul.

Second Row: Jeanette Simmons, Pauline Ralston, Phyllis Seltenrich, Margaret Vigers, Merle Miller, DeMaris Sohner, Isabel Brower.

Third Row: Virginia Streeter, Virginia Tye, Lorinne Crawford, Kathryn Prottengeier, Marjorie Prior, Helen Herrling, Fay Wiltse.

Shield Club is the honorary organization for the Women's Physical Education Department. The society consists of juniors and seniors who rank high in character, interest, motor ability, and have an academic average of two and twenty-five hundredths grade points. The emblem of the society is a maroon colored shield outlined in white and bearing the white initials PE.

Meetings are called by the president whenever necessary. There are no regular meetings. The Faculty of the Women's Physical Education Department give a luncheon during the winter term in honor of the old members and the new members. The names of the new members are kept secret until the luncheon, at which time they take the pledge given by the Head of the Department. The new members entertain the old members and faculty each spring term with a picnic or party.

The officers for this year are: President, Arleen Fulton; Vice-President, Pauline Ralston; Secretary-Treasurer, Betty Paul; and Faculty Adviser, Maude Moore.

The members are, front row: Pauline Ralston, Arleen Fulton, Betty Paul, and Helen Kurtz.

Second Row: Marjorie Mace, Lorinne Crawford, Miss Maude Moore, Mrs. Jane Pettit, and Marjorie Prior.

Physical Education Club

The Physical Education Club includes all majors, minors, and faculty members of Physical Education. Its main purpose is to bring the girls of the Department and the Faculty into a more unified group.

Freshmen are initiated into the Club painfully and properly at the first social meeting in the fall. This is usually held "up the river" or in some wild and "woody" country, where there is ample room for all capers.

The officers for this year are: President, Nona Collins; Junior representative, Dorothy Quire; and Sophomore representative, Helen Herrling. The members are the following—

Front Row: Miss Grace Van Ness, Mrs. Jane Pettit, Miss Doris White, Miss Dorothy Humiston, Miss Maude Moore, Nona Collins, Helen Herrling, Dorothy Quire, Miss Dorothy Michel, Miss Thelma Short.

Second Row: Amy Ransford, Betty Ann Stephenson, Jeannette Simmons, Faye Stingley, Pauline Ralston, Phyllis Seldenrich, Marjorie Spence, Betty Paul.

Third Row: Isabel Brower, Marjorie Prior, Helen Kurtz, Kathryn Prottengeier, Merle Miller, Beulah Tye, Irene Meindl, Fay Wiltse.

A FACULTY FOR HUMOR

How to Become a Successful Professor in 10 Easy Lessons

How to become a successful professor in ten easy lessons:

1. Get a job as a professor.
2. Wear spectacles.
3. Smoke a pipe.
4. Grow a mustache. If you can manage a full beard, so much the better.
5. Discourage good taste in haberdashery.
6. Cultivate an authoritative speaking voice and practice explanatory gestures before a mirror.
7. Learn by heart three jokes. Tell to classes every day.
8. Read one book covering the course you are teaching.
9. Develop a piercing stare with which to discourage pupils who ask embarrassing questions.
10. Write your own text book, disagreeing with all recognized authorities.

Grading Quizzes in Nothing Flat or Latest Methods of Sawing a Man in Half

1. Run through quizzes and automatically flunk every tenth paper.
2. Throw papers in air. Any landing on edge may be considered heavy enough to rate an A.
3. Feed remaining papers to trained alligator. Any he won't eat mark B.
4. Find number of students in class. Subtract number of boys from number of girls, or vice versa. Take an average. Divide by 2 and add the number of teeth your grandmother had when she died. Compute curve. Make all grades not on curve C.
5. Mark remaining papers D. Chuck quizzes in waste paper basket and leave for the movies.

Polite Sayings of Professors

"Now you'll get out of this course exactly what you put into it."

"This may seem like a long assignment, but it's very easy reading."

Just a Department Head

"I hope to have the tests corrected by next time."

"Take alternate seats, please."

"I can't accept any excuses for late papers."

"Now have you all copies of the examination? I'm sorry to say I shall not be able to be present while you are taking the test. If you find you cannot agree on some of the answers, just try taking a vote."

Ice-Breakers

"Mr. Baker, don't you really think that the development of creative ideals is more important during school life than athletics?"

"I like the formal appearance our students have here at the Commons, don't you, Miss Campbell?"

"I always say, Mr. Mendenhall, that you can't beat T. C. for school spirit."

MINUTES OF MEETING of Inter-Fraternity Council Held in One of the Fraternity Houses Almost Any Month . . .

Pres. Manship: All right, fellows, we might as well start now as any time. The secretary will read the minutes of the last meeting.

Sec'y. Ogland: (Wakes up with a start as Dr. Beard, who arrived on time this meeting — kicked him a healthy kick with a size ten shoe). The meetings for last month's minutes — I mean, the montings for last minutes' meenths — I'm afraid, Mr. President, that I had better start over again.

Pres. Manship: That's all right, we know what you meant to say. We've got to hurry this meeting. I've got a steady — I mean, I've got to study.

Sec'y. Ogland: (Frowns over his notebook at Kenny Kimberlin, who is nearly asleep. Kenny is attending in the place of Johnsen, who went to sleep in the council meeting last time, fell out of his chair and broke his leg.) The meeting opened — (he drones on for five minutes as an occasional snore breaks the monotony as Dr. Riebe and Dean Reed match pennies in the corner.)

Pres. Manship: Is there any old business? Oh, yes! Are there any alterations or additions to the minutes? (Short pause for the station identification.) If not they stand approved. Now, is there any old business?

Brad. Gilson: Has there been any report on the Inter-Fraternity dance yet? If not, I'd like to know how much we are in the hole.

Pres. Manship: Chairman Day will please give us a report on the dance.

Chairman Day: Well, it's this way—(gives a brief report which ends by showing a balance of 1.33 in the treasury.)

(Pres. Manship sends out a prep to get a dollar's worth of peanuts.)

Pres. Manship: Is there any more old business? — is there any new business?

Schultz: Mr. President, I think that we have a very small list of sports in the intra-mural program. What sports we have are fair enough but are not rough enough to suit me. Now, there are two sports that I am especially fond of that I would like to have in the program. One of them is tiddley-winks; we could have teams of four men from each fraternity and could have a round-robber affair. The games could be played in the Y. W. C. A. room. The other game, one which we play down at the house quite a little, is hop-skotch. This game goes faster; so we could have teams of six men from each fraternity play around-the-robin. The games could be played on President Latham's front side-walk. So, Pres. Manship, I move that we add these games to the program.

Dr. Riebe: I second the motion. (Dr. Riebe is the official second-the-motioner. He'd rather second motions than eat — well, anyway, he likes to second motions.)

Pres. Manship: Is there any discussion? (He cleverly manages to unwrap a stick of gum with one hand — sticks the wrapper in his mouth, and throws the gum on the floor.)

Brad Gilson: I'm not in favor of having hop-skotch. They've got a good team down at the Phi Sig house, and they just want some more points toward the big cup. They've got some of the hop-skotchiness hop-skotchers down there that I've ever seen. Why, they beat the Shukei hop-skotchers of Waterloo the other night and it takes somebody good to do that. Now, up at our house we have a kite-flying team that is just plenty good. Mr. President, I move that we add kite-flying to the sports program.

Dr. Riebe: I second the motion.

Eddie Cram: I don't think much of either one of those games. We have a good team of Cowboy-and-Indians down at our house, Mr. President, and I move that we add Cowboy-and-Indian to the sports program.

(As soon as shoes, ink bottles, books, and peanuts stop flying):

Dr. Riebe: I second the motion.

Dean Reed: Why don't you make it Run Sheep Run and be done with all this wrangling?

Dr. Riebe: I second the motion.

Pres. Manship: That wasn't in the form of a motion, Dr. Riebe.

Dr. Riebe: Oh, 'scuse me. I guess I must have been dreaming of Mae West.

Harry Helgason: (Who is taking the place of Roy Vinall, who was to take the place of Wayne Barr, who was pinch-hitting for Mark Ihm, who was to take the place of Leo Schrody, the regular member.) I move that we amend the motion by adding the words "something, someplace, sometime."

Dr. Riebe: I second the motion.

Maurice Brayton: I move that we suspend the motion.

Dr. Riebe: I second the motion.

Bill Day: I move that we read the papers.

Dr. Riebe: I second the motion.

Sec'y. Ogland: I move that we lay it on the table.

Dr. Riebe: I second the motion.

Eddie Cram: I move that we adjourn.

Dr. Riebe: I second the motion.

Pres. Manship: All in favor of adjourning, stand. (Everyone stands but Kenny Kimberlin, who is sound asleep.) Shall we close by singing the Doxology? (As no one knows how it starts they sing, "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," and scam.

— By Eddie Cram.

"Did you get home safely last night, Marc?"

"Sure—why?"

"When you stood up to give that old lady your seat we three were the only ones on the car."

The Dean's Henchwomen

A large splash of red is resting on the edge of the lovely oak table in the Women's Club Room. Closer inspection reveals a pair of skinny legs dangling over the edge, and yes, it's our own prexy, Sally Colburn, whispering into the ear of a woman with smiling lips, our diminutive dean of women. Suddenly both guffaw loudly. Sally rises, tilts her head back, her mood changes and she speaks through her teeth.

Sally: Tell me why these co-eds can't wiggle in here on time?

Miss Sampbell: Don't ask me, dearie, I'm no mind reader.

Sally: (Strolling to the door and looking languidly out): Ah, most of the males must have gone, for here comes Marj. Snell and Mary Howell with that "it's-all-over" look shining in their eyes.

(Enter aforementioned.)

Miss Campbell: Oh, cheerio, my dears, do come in — yes, just sit down any place. Sally motions dramatically to the chairs, but the effect becomes a bit muddled when she stumbles over the Dean's slippers.

Mary: You know, I thought we'd never break away from that tiresome Marc — always wiggling his ears for my amusement, and really I know I can't show my teeth for him the next time.

Marj: (Staring vacantly at the rising moon, and moving slowly toward the window):

The moon, the moon, Oh, the moon!
 Would that I were crazy as a loon,
 And with my love I would fly
 And forget Women's League with a sigh.

Mary: Come out of it, kid, the last line doesn't fit, but you can work on that in meeting.

Much commotion, babble, etc., that would indicate the arrival of more Women's Leaguers. Enter Sally Gutz, Letha Vinall, Mary Lou Mitze, Irene Warner, Miss Johns, Olive Morgan, and Vivian Bancroft.

Sally Gutz: I'm here with the book so let's get this over in a hurry. Ans was simply furious with me last time, girls. You know I was hours late, simply hours late, and he loathes that, you all know that, simply loathes it.

Sally C.: Listen, sisters, we'll have to omit the roll call, because Mary Lou has been crawling around after me for days to let her open the meeting with "Six Co-eds in a Barroom." Step on it, Mitzie!

Mary Lou rises, and sweeps to the center of the room, closes her eyes, sways to and fro rather perilously and then recites her ditty.

"It was one of those dark nites —"

The door swings open and in dash Lorinne Crawford, Jan Wright, and Hennie Kurtz. Mary Lou's eyes open quickly and Hennie, realizing what an ordeal the rest are going thru, crosses to Mary Lou.

Hennie: Now, Mitzie, about that committee of yours. They're lousy and you can't expect normal people to paw over those papers you've doped out some nite when you didn't have a date.

Mary Lou: Miss Campbell, Hennie's belittling my work, and you said yourself those papers would hold even a deal for a week.

Miss Campbell: Don't be tiresome you two, no man likes it. Be demure, a little starry-eyed and they'll all fall. (Aside to Sally C.) Get busy, dearie, I've got the second dance with Jimmy Stiener after this is over, and I would'nt miss it for worlds!

Sally C.: Miss Campbell and I have decided that this bunch is going to sponsor a new drive. Get ready for the surprise, girls! A whole month, we're going to sponsor this. Yes, a whole month we'll have busy work. Now, I know you want to know what this is, don't you?

Vivian: NO!

Sally C.: (Ignoring above mentioned remark). Well, it's the "A-Man-for-Every-Faculty-woman" drive, and —

Vivian: Wait a minute, sister. You'll never get us back of that. If you ask me, we ought to revamp that last to fit us co-eds. After all, we're young and deserve a chance.

Sally C.: I'm sorry, but it's all been mimeographed; so we'll have to go on with it this way.

Miss Johns: Heavens, yes, I skipped a date to do it.

Jan: Yes, think how the faculty will feel, and I can't help but weep a little when I'm out nights having such a grand time, and knowing all the while that these girls are inside being bitter over A's and D's.

Marj. Snell: You're right! I wrote a poem about it just the other day.

A lady Ph. D. clutching a grade book —

Miss Campbell rises and slips out followed by Sally Gutz. Sally C. is next, and the rest quickly follow, leaving Marj. to finish her sordid lament of our dere faculty.

How Are Your Nerves?

"I find the Chi Pi's delightfully mild."

—Pansy Pedagog of Podunk.

Pansy says wiltingly:

"They are so nice and smooth and have such delicate eyelashes — just like little clipped hedges. The thing I like most about Chi Pi's is that I can date one after another if I can, without getting jittery or jumpy."

More and more women are finding that Chi Pi's are easy on the nerves. If your nerves are not always what they should be, date a Chi Pi and you will go steady. It's more fun to know. You will thoroughly enjoy their mildness and smooth flattery that never suits your taste.

CHI PI'S ARE MILDER

Never get on your nerves. Never tire your taste.

Dependable

Proven Reliability and Worth

Absolutely dependable at all times. That's Lambda Gamma Nu! We have actual statistics. Our figures won't lie:

1. If all the Lambda Gams were laid end to end they would stay there.
2. If all the girls we date in a month could talk to each other they'd never speak to us again.
3. That we have coats to match our pants.
4. Our chapter is good out on the coast — hope they don't move back there.

Drop in any time and have a talk with our butler. Free lapel buttons and a scrapbook to every caller.

SOROR RAZZ

By EDWIN CRAM

Alpha Beta Gamma: A bunch of girls so involved in themselves that they even try to pledge presidents of other sororities. Girls who can do the hula as the hula should be "hulad." (Remember the Tutor Ticklers.) Their crowning feature is that they have a president of the Student Council who was also May Queen and campus beauty, Lorinne Crawford; and Helene Brown, one of the group of U. S. beauties to be honored at the World's Fair.

Delta Phi Delta: A group of Hughes deaders, sometimes called the "dizzy delts." If it wasn't for the "Three Blonde Sirens," "Flip and Flop, the frogs," and a Prom Queen, where would they be? When you want some life in your parties, public or private, including special circle two-steps, just invite a few "delts."

Epsilon Phi Epsilon: An extremely young sorority, but that doesn't necessarily mean that the entire membership is young. Under the usual political status, the Epsilon Phi Epsilon girls control the Old Gold next year thru Gayle Howe — to say nothing of the Iowa Collegiate Press Association thru the same channel. A little encouragement to the baby chapter of the campus and they might become pretty hot. Good start anyway.

Kappa Theta Psi: This is the sorority that almost lost its ex-president thru a misunderstanding and a dim street-light. They haven't had too much publicity this year, regardless of their "interests" with the College Eye. They have a couple of pelicans within their ranks. The understanding is that they are to combine forces with the "Beans" one of these days (they have a good start already) — that is, if the Delts don't beat them to it. Colburn, Gutz, Vinall, and Lamb put them right up in the running with the best of them.

Phi Sigma Phi: A just too cocky bunch now that they won two trophies this year, one for their leg-show in the Dorm Nuances in the Tutor Ticklers, the other for just being a bunch of smarties and running away with the inter-sorority scholarship prize. But still and all, that doesn't stop them from being around — and around and around. A sorority that just forms a little get-together for a bunch of Cedar Falls girls when they don't want to go home for lunch.

Pi Phi Omega: The "pops" (are they called that because they are always "fizzy?") are the only social sorority that have a house where they can lure boys to their front porch (it even gets too cold for the porch sometimes). The lucky "Pops." You can't walk fifty feet on the campus but what you run into a couple of them. They say that their roll is limited to 1,000. There ought to be money there with their big membership, yet Melvene Draheim worries because they have to hide their furniture every time a moving van comes into view. But no matter what comes along, the "Pops" are always ready to pitch in and help the college.

Pi Tau Phi: Years ago they were unusually prominent on the campus. At least they can sit around nights and talk about what a big time they have when they are home. Playful and likable like a bunch of cubs. Good scholastically speaking — commerce students help — then, too, Faust in war, Faust in the hearts of her countrymen.

Pi Theta Pi: They just won't brag about making grades. Once upon a time a pledge bought a textbook and they lifted her pin. Oh, well, they've got Elva Doris Moore and you can't have everything. Rather absent-minded bunch — always leave the water running during vacations. Good bunch of scouts.

"Im' Sorry I Kept You Waiting, Dear"

Tau Sigma Delta: Somewhat like Einstein's theory — little known. Generally speaking, there are twelve and a half Tau Sigs in this sorority — pretty good for any women's organization. Thru "connections" they run to throne ruling the Pep sorority. They've been trying to diet off pounds gained from eating candy they won at the Inter-sorority dance. If they were all as lively as Irene Warner they wouldn't go to sleep in sorority meetings.

Theta Gamma Nu: Years and years ago they were good. If your mother is figuring on coming to school she'd probably like to join. If you haven't pledged already, they have a pin for you. The sorority is coming right along. Most of the girls turn out fairly well. Don't ever say Theta Gam, they don't like it. Theta Gamma Nu to you.

V. O. V.: Congratulations! Or perhaps you've pledged — congratulations, anyhow! Get the latest telephone calls on the campus . . . leave no particular impression except hodge-podge. It's a good thing La Vina Haahr doesn't graduate. Pretty cute girls. You'll like them lots.

A final forgotten is a final forgetting.

SEEING THRU THE EYE

The College Eye is the campus news-orb founded for the purpose of printing news but now narrowed down to just printing sugar-coated news and winning prizes for make-up, coverage, etc., etc. . . . Dick Rickert, Leo Schrody, and Robert Grant are the three through whom the Beans kept pretty close tab on the paper this year . . . Typical scenes in the Eye office: Dick at his word-machine endeavoring to tap out an editorial that'll arouse students to write yards of copy for the Forum, that'll start a fight on the campus, that'll result in someone's getting hurt, that'll bring in another front page story — you see, he's always looking ahead for more copy . . . while he's writing, his Vinall choice in "Nighta Kappas" is hovering near to lend him inspiration . . . Art "Junior" Coffman amusing his admiring public by doing a Carioca or the dance of spring about the office. . . . Usually ending by his falling in or over a waste-basket and bawling out by ye editore. . . . Leo Schrody coming in and staying just long enough for everyone to see who it is and then saying something about Woolverton's and dashing out. . . . John McCaffrie looking up in the Des Moines Register to see how the game that he played in came out so that he could write a story about it. . . . The story by the way, usually just gets under the deadline. . . . Elizabeth Vaughn trying to think up a lead for society columns between giggles at Art's antics. . . . Helen Byerly painfully trying to act serious and falling way short. . . . Ted Adams showing someone a humor story that he just got done writing and scanning the faces of the readers for a glimpse of a faint smile that he hopes will show up. . . . If someone actually laughs he feels like a million dollars. . . . Eddie Cram trying to write something that will get through the censor board, but which usually falls short. . . . and the paper actually does get out on Friday.

As Thousands Cheer

The Outside-the-Lib organization which has been sponsoring the Poster-Swiping Committee's drive for the Crossroads Club on the Candy-Bar-Wrapper Campaign, is preparing to adjourn business until fall. Snow, rain, picnics, attendance is falling off. Who wants to sit and smoke outside the library anyhow? We can't deny Ma Nature handed us a raw deal instead of a new deal this spring, but now things are clearing up — Ah, Wilderness—Play, Frank, Play!

"I" Club

Officers:

President — Stumbling Block.
Vice-President — M. T. Hedde.
Secretary — "Dum" Bunny.
Treasurer — "Num" Skull.

Flower:

Lily.

Motto:

"Wine, Women, and S'long."

Effeminate bunch . . . make lovely quilts. Never will be butterers of parsnips however. Have beautiful athletic eyes and admire strong men . . . how they admire strong men!

Crossroads Club

If you've studied geology, you know what conglomeration means. Active bunch of activity hounds trying to put the organization on the map — or in your hair. Going down hill — quantity but not quality. Little of this and a little of that with a whole lot of unheard-ofs thrown in. Go in for nick nacks and late dates.
