CEDAR FALLS, IOWA, JULY 1, 1922

No. 3

GENERAL.

The Alumni Register—Contrary to expectations, the Alumni Register, so long promised, is still in the hands of the printers and its time of delivery cannot be stated. It is hoped to mail it on or before August 1, but other business delays in these times can easily occur. If the Alumni change addresses, they should notify the President.

Summer Entertainments—The Committee in charge presented for the Entertainment Course: Elias Day, Characterist; Coffey-Miller, Players; Dr. W. S. Sadler, Lecturer; Brown Jubilee Co. (colored); Miss Sarah M. Wilmer, Reader. On account of the large enrollment the course was repeated, most of the programs being presented at 3 p. m. and 8:15 of the date assigned. A very superior moving picture was presented each Saturday night in two programs 6:30 and 8:15 p. m. The Cedar Falls Concert Band gave four open air programs from the library steps. The Committee deserves much praise for the success of these programs. The entire series was of educational value beyond the feature of entertainment.

Dr. W. S. Sadler—Lectures on "The Strong and the Weak", "Faith and Fear" and "The Tragedy of Civilization" given by Dr. W. S. Sadler of Chicago, Illinois, were valuable and highly important addresses on topics that just now are the liveliest ones in educational investigation. Dr. Sadler is a high-point student of humanity in special ways that civilization is seeking solution for its greatest problems.

Twenty-fifth Anniversary—Professor C. A. Fullerton, 1890, and Mrs. Fullerton (Alma Gray, 1895), celebrated the 25th anniversary of their marriage June 23, 1922. Their personal friends in the Congregational Church held a social meeting in the church parlors in their honor and presented them some beautiful silver souvenirs as reminders of appreciation and esteem.

The Coffey-Miller Players appeared during the Summer Term, June 21 and 22 giving four entertainments, presenting "The Rivals" by Sheridan and "The Imaginary Invalid" by Moliere. Their work as dramatic artists was very acceptable to their audience.

Summer Term—The enrollment of the Summer Term on June 20, 1922, was 4628, of which 2915 were at Cedar Falls, 288 at Denison, 382 at Spencer, 302 at Clarinda, 401 at Chariton, and 340 at Clinton. Judging from past experience the second half of the term should bring up this enrollment in total about to 5000. The following graduates have been instructors for the term at Cedar Falls: Myrta A. Shannon, 1906, and Bertha C. Stiles, 1906, 1913, in Education; Gladys Tyner, 1920 and Beatrice Johnk, 1921, in Physical Education; E. A. Conery, 1920 and Corley Conlon, 1919 in Art and Manual Arts; Constance Buswell, 1916, and Florence Freeman, 1908, in English; Wilbur Bender, 1890, George Hendrickson, 1921, and Estella Sheldon, 1915, in Natural Science; Hazel Hall, 1920; Clara Large, 1920, and Mary Walters, 1908, Mathematics and Commerce; O. Patriotic Service—Thursday, April 27, 1922, General U. S. Grant's one-hundredth birthday was remembered by a chapel service of special kind, conducted by the Faculty Patriotic Committee, Professors M. F. Arey and W. W. Gist. Appropriate music was rendered. Professor Arey acted as Chairman and Dr. Gist gave a brief but memorable address on "Grant". These notable days in American history are thus recalled to the students and faculty by brief but impressive services from term to term.

N. E. I. Association occurred at Waterloo, April 6 and 7. The members voted in favor of a state annuity law, the increasing of the training of teachers to supply the schools and endorsed the nationalization of education by congress passing the Towner-Sterling Bill. So far as the College Representatives were concerned, Fred D. Cram, professor of extension, was named as a delegate to the N. E. A. at Boston in July; Eva May Luse, Macy Campbell and H. H. Seerley were appointed district electors to the convention held at the State Teachers Meeting in November at Des Moines; Irving H. Hart was on a nominating committee; Fred D. Cram was on the constitution committee.

Supt. F. T. Vasey of Mason City, Iowa, public schools, gave an address March 30, 1922, before the Men's Faculty Club on "A needed reorganization of the Public Schools so as to Recognize the Mental Inequality and Development of School Children" in order to grant every child a right type of studies and training to fit his actual prospects and possibilities.

Men's Faculty Program—For the benefit of the Student Loan Fund the men of the Faculty gave a special program April 3, 1922, to an audience larger than the auditorium could accommodate. The program was varied, the first part being entitled "She Flaps to Conquer". Professor Ernest Zecheil, as director, organized and created this comedy, furnished the words, the music, the dances, the stage setting, and designing the costumes, the actors being faculty men selected for this original cast. It was enthusiastically received by the students who recognized their instructors despite their unusual garb. Between acts there was a monologue given by an improvised Irish negro on the faculty and music by Professors Frampton and McCreary. The second part was entitled "Joint Owners in Spain", in which the men actors impersonated women and imitated disagreeableness in types of human character. The proceeds of the plays amounted to $945.00.

The Cecilians—April 11, 1922, the Cecilians gave their annual program in the Auditorium under the direction of Professor Elizabeth Burney-Schmidt. The whole concert was up to the notable standard held by this famous glee club of many years history. The proceeds of the ticket sale were given to the Student Loan Fund by a vote of the members.

Y. M. & Y. W. C. A.—Easter morning service was held by the students in the Auditorium, Sunday, April 16, 1922. These organizations are keeping up the long time record of forty years in maintaining mid-week and Sunday services of the highest character and are keeping the faith alive among their members in social and religious lines of service.

The Music Festival—Wednesday, April 19, 1922, the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra gave two programs, one in the afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, and one in the evening at 8:15 o'clock. The committee in charge consisted of J. B. Knoepfler, Chairman; S. A. Lynch, E. J. Cable, Louis Begeman, Lillian V. Lambert, R. W. Getchell, C. A. Fullerton, Theodore Gundry, John Ross Frampton and Anna Gertrude Childs. The concerts were of high standard; the patronage more than paid the expenses and the Committee was complimented on having made the 18th annual festival the equivalent in success and in acceptability to any previous one. The orchestra is a well managed and well conducted organization of expert musicians.

The Lecture Committee—Professors J. B. Paul, John Barnes and Winfield Scott have been on the lecture and entertainment committee for the year. The service has been of the best, the selection of talent exceptionally fortunate and capable, and the success that has resulted has been notably commendable and constant. With the summer term contracts the Chairman, Professor J. B. Paul, retires after three years' service, and Professor John Barnes becomes the new Chairman. Professor W. H. Kadesch will be the new member of the committee for 1922-23, who are already planning the course and making contracts for talent.

The system used at the Teachers College has made an unusual record for its importance as a part of educational opportunity for students.

Combined Departments—The organization of the Faculty has been simplified by reduction of the number of departments to be maintained this year. The new classifications are as follows: Art and Manual Arts are combined under one head, Professor Charles H. Bailey; Mathematics and Commerce under one head, Professor Ira S. Condit, and History, Government and Economics has been consolidated under one title, Social Science, with Professor Merle H. Thompson as acting Head.

During the year the Women's Inter-State Extemporaneous Contest was won by Miss Frances Wheeler, and recently in the Inter-State Contest of State Teachers Colleges, at Normal, Illinois, Dale Welsch won first in the extemporaneous contest and Venancio Trinidad second in the original oration contest. In the intercollegiate debate with the University of Dubuque, the Teachers College won both sides by a unanimous vote. who graduated in March at the Teachers College, for his home in the Philippines, was made the occasion of a banquet in Bartlett Hall Dining Room by the Philomathian Literary Society, April 25, 1922. Mr. Trinidad has made a special record for his fellowship among his associates in the College and was equally at home in his class in the Y. M. C. A. and in the Philo Brotherhood. Introduced by Hans Andersen, postprandial addresses were made by Dr. Fred C. Sage and Attorney Walter P. Jensen of Waterloo, representing the Philos of the past; by Dale Welsch, the President; by Leo Friis in the name of the Society; by President Homer H. Commencement Play—Miss Bertha Martin and Miss Hazel Strayer presented Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" in a play Saturday evening, May 27, 1922. The stage of the auditorium was admirably equipped by new scenery planned for this play by the expert mechanics of the College. The success was so pronounced and the actors in the cast of such high grade that the play was repeated in the Summer Term for the benefit of the many students not here when the play was first given.

New Arithmetic—The Mathematical Department has published a new arithmetic of which the professors are joint authors. It appears as a first edition in mimeographed form of 130 pages and sells for $1.00 a copy. After this year's experience in the class room it will be revised and will then appear in regular printed book form. It promises to be of unusual value to teachers of the subject as it is full of suggestions of the most helpful kind.

Cook gave the president's address, the Peace Pipe was smoked by the several section presidents of the class, each official making an appropriate brief wish for the future. The Mantle Oration was given by Leo J. Friis, the Ivy Poem was read by Mildred Dawson, the Ivy Planting was done by Clyde Brooks and Ruth Snider, and the original Ivy Song was sung by a group of young ladies of the class. The program was closed by "a farewell walk-around where the class stopped at the several buildings on the campus and a brief speech in recognition was given by a selected member of the class.

Flag Day—Attorney J. B. Newman of Cedar Falls gave the "Flag Day" address in the Auditorium of the Teachers College June 14, 1922. It was patriotic in spirit and one of the particularly appropriate talks that was given before the students of the Summer Term.

The Class of 1892—It is a great occasion when people after thirty years return to College Halls, renew their friendships and show their appreciation of college training and its value to their services as men and women. Never before in the history of Teachers College has it been possible for such long experienced men and women to get together. Never before has such a celebration been staged in the annals of the Alumni Association. The number that came to this 30th reunion was remarkable. They ate breakfast together in the Alumni Reunion hour in the gymnasium and they spent the afternoon hours from 1:00 to 5:00 at a luncheon, recounting their experiences as college students and men and women of the world of affairs. They had many letters from absent classmates that were read at the after-luncheon hour and they said "good bye" with a feeling that this day was one of the great ones of their lives.

The Alumni Breakfast—This year's commencement had a fine representative reunion of classes 1892 and 1897, both classes having large numbers present at the Annual Reunion and Breakfast. The spirit of the meeting was unusual the cooperation of all exceptional. The presence of Dr. John C. Parish, Iowa City, Dr. J. Percival Huget, Brooklyn, New York, and Dr. J. Ralph Magee, Seattle, gave a list of speakers that were the equivalent to the famous after-dinner programs of notable colleges. Dr. Parish gave a very remarkable address on "The Present Opportunity" and incidentally welcomed the class of 1922 to the fellowship of the association of the alumni. As a writer, author, editor and historian, he is a high grade American scholar. Dr. Huget spoke on "The Large Vision" and he gave an address that will always be remembered by those present. As an orator, preacher and minister, he is one of the leading Congregational clergymen of the United States, while Dr. Magee, the pastor of a very large Methodist Church on the Pacific Coast, closed the series of talks with a plea for the higher things of life that was most impressive and worth while. It was an hour of remarkable thoughts and urgent inspiration.

Extension Credit Work—The Creston, Iowa, school board has voted a week of additional salary to such teachers of the corps as took credit extension courses the past year and will continue the same system the next year.

Spring Term Commencement Address. The Commencement Address delivered this year by Dr. Joseph Fort Newton, pastor of the Church of the Divine Paternity, New York City, was one of the most acceptable and scholarly ever given at the College.

The Summer Term of 1922 has broken the record by an enrollment of students at Cedar Falls and at the Extension Summer Schools at Clinton, Chariton, Clarinda, Denison and Spencer much beyond the annual experience. The indications are now (June 15) that the totals that will be reached during the term will be over 5000. The teachers of Iowa are heartily responding to the public demand and are taking advantage of every educational opportunity to make their work in the schools stronger, better and more acceptable.

The Class of 1897—Letters from absent members were read at the class luncheon on May 29, from Dr. W. R. Sandy, Chiropractor, Puyallup, Washington; Cilena G. Mercer-Walker, Teacher, Chicago, Illinois; Margaret Klinefelter-Mell, Berkeley, California; G. W. Satterthwait, principal, Lafleur, Washington; Florence Reese-Aitken, Bozeman, Montana; Percival Hunt, Pittsburgh, Pa. The following special information about these is added: Prof. Hunt has been holding an exchange-professorship of English at the University of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Aitken's daughter, Florence, graduates this year at the University of Washington, and she wants to be present. She is also chairman of the finance committee of the local Women's Club and the State Federation meets at her home city and the business in hand requires her attention. Her son, Herbert Macgregor, graduates at the high school this year and plans to be a surgeon. Mr. Satterthwait is teaching in Washington but expects to secure work in some southern state where the climate is more like that of the Philippines. Mrs. Mell served as a M. E. Missionary with her husband, 1904—1908, at Bombay, India. Rev. Mell is now secretary of the Pacific Coast American Bible Society. They have two sons in the University of California and two daughters in the high school. Mrs. Walker has a daughter in the freshman year of the University of Chicago. She is now Head of a Chicago Branch School and has been a substitute teacher in the Chicago system for the past eight years. Dr. Sandy and wife, Maude F. Anderson, 1895, are both chiropractors and have found it more to their liking than teaching under contract. They have three daughters, Ruth, Roma and Beth.

Boston N. E. A.—President Homer H. Seerley is an official delegate representing the Iowa State Teachers Association at the N. E. A. Convention July 1—8. Under the new constitution, all the business of the National Education Association is decided by this house of delegates, representatives of state and local units.

The 25th Anniversary of the Class of 1897 was duly organized, well managed and admirably attended. The event will be always treasured in memory as an experience of a rare kind and opportunity. They had a special luncheon at the Co-ed Tea Room at 1:00 P. M. The special guests were President and Mrs. Seerley, Professor and Mrs. D. S. Wright and Professor M. F. Arey. Clarence E. Steele, Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Hagerstown, Maryland, came all the distance to Cedar Falls to greet his classmates. As president of the class he read the letters of greetings that had been sent by those not able to be present. After the luncheon, an auto ride was given about the city under the auspices of Mrs. A. C. Fuller (Olive Whitmore) and Miss Emma F. Lambert, both resident of Cedar Falls.

Carl Werner, former Cedar Falls student of the Teachers College and graduate of the Springfield, Mass. Y. M. C. A. College, now assistant physical director of Columbia University, New York City, in charge of the physical training of the sophomore class, accompanied by his wife, was in Cedar Falls June 12, enroute by Auto from New York City to Seattle, Washington, and from there to Los Angeles and return. They plan to spend the summer visiting the great national parks and touring the United States.

Appointment—C. A. Speer, degree graduate of Kansas State Normal School and specialist in Gregg Short-hand and in Commercial Education, has been appointed assistant professor of Commerce for the next year. He was an instructor in the Summer Term and demonstrated his fitness for this particular line of teaching. He has been an instructor in Commerce in the East Des Moines High School the past two years.

Mrs. Ella Jones-Burnell, who was enrolled at the Normal School during the first term of its existence, is attending during this summer term. She taught the past year at Fredonia, in the primary department. She also assists in conducting services Thursdays and Sunday evenings, one-half hour song service, with special numbers either by children or adults, and one-half hour bible-services, where references are given out and commented on. Mrs. Burnell will resume her work at Fredonia in September.
