Bulldogs Set For First Tilt Of '46 Season

Will Take On Tiptonville Hi At 7:45 Tonight

TICKET SALE SUCCESS

The weather forecast for Fulton and vicinity tonight reads "increasing cloudiness followed by occasional rain", but Fulton football fans are counting on J. Pluvius to hold off long enough for them to see their first game of the season at Fairfield park.

The Bulldogs are tangling with the Tiptonville Earthquakes at 7:45 in the season's opener for both squads. Not much is known here about the strength of the visiting team, since they haven't played Fulton for several seasons.

Hunter Whitesell, Fulton co-captain, won't be dressed out tonight due to a head infection, and his spot at right guard will be filled by Craven. The other guard post is to be held down by Browder, Bone and Sammons. The backfield will include Forrest, Baird, Boaz and Mescham.

Last night's initial practice session under the lights was very successful and the boys demonstrated that they have the spirit and fight it takes to win ball games. Billy Bone got off some nice place-kicks and Mescham booted near-perfect punts in preparation for tonight's tussle.

Officials for the game will be Shaw, referee; Thompson, umpire; Perdue, head linesman.

The season ticket drive "went over the top with a bang" yesterday, Supl. Lawrence Holland says. He termed the adult sale campaign highly successful, adding that more money was received than the school had anticipated. Season tickets still may be purchased as late as tonight, but will not be available after tonight.

Mr. Holland remarked that those who plan to see the Bleachers-Bulldog scrap that no cars will be admitted to the playing field except those carrying players and officials.

Fulton students will be seated on bleachers near the scoreboard and the Fulton team benches will be in front of these bleachers. The newly-organized Pep Club will be out in force tonight to root for the blue and white.

Court Says Sister May Have Photos Of Fatal Blaze

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 20—(AP)—Attorneys for the Commercial Casualty Insurance Company were directed by Judge H. Church Ford in U. S. District court here yesterday to give Miss Mary Roberts, plaintiff in a $10,000 insurance suit, access to pictures described as pertinent in the claim.

The suit was brought by Miss Roberts in connection with the death of her brother, James Madison (Red) Roberts, former Centre college football star, who died in a Middlesboro hotel fire a year ago.

Judge Ford ruled that pictures of the fire, possessed by insurance company attorneys, were not their brain child and that they disclosed facts to which the plaintiff should have access.

The members of Columbus crew received about $2.50 monthly.

They reported that it was on this side of the v-shaped section which broke off in 1942.

Truman Fires Wallace As Commerce Secretary In Full Endorsement Of Sec. Byrnes' Policy; No Change In U. S. Diplomacy Is Contemplated

Flood Control Funds Sought

Rep. Gregory, Others From Miss. Valley Meet To Portend Cancellation

New Orleans, Sept. 20—(AP)—United States senators and representatives from the Mississippi Valley met here today to draw up a petition of protest against President Truman's recent curtailment of flood control appropriations, but at least one senator wondered "what will happen then."

Senator Stewart (D-Tenn.) said he could see no obstacles in the way of the 35 congressmen as far as agreeing unanimously on the provisions of a petition.

"But," he said, "I'm not so sure what will happen then." Senator Overton (D-La.) saw the meeting as a race against the unpredictable floodwaters of the Mississippi Valley and stated that the President's curtailment order would put the region's flood control program five years behind.

The President's order was issued in early August, cutting off funds for all rivers and harbors projects, as well as flood controls, except in instances where the work had already been contracted and ordered to begin.

William H. Webb, of Washington, D. C., executive vice-president of the national rivers and harbors congress, said the sums allowed by the President would not cover the necessary work ahead.

The congressional meeting was called by Senator McClellan (D-Tenn.), president pro tem of the senate. Senator Overton, Rep. Mansfield (D-Texas) chairman of the House rivers and harbors committee, and Rep. Whittington (D-Miss.) chairman of the House flood control committee.

Other attending the meeting include Reps. Gathings and Craven (D-Ark.) Davis and Cooper (D-Tenn.) Combs and Poage (D-Tec.) Simpson (R-Ill.) Zimmerman (D-Mo.) Beall (R-Md.) Robertson (C. N. D.) Gregory (D-Ky.) Adams (C-N. H.) and Geelon (R-Conn.)

Harlan, Ky., Sept. 20—(AP)—Six Harlan county coal mines were strikebound today after approximately 1,000 United Mine Workers Union members refused to cross a picket line at two mines of the Black Mountain Coal Corporation at Kenvir.

The Black Mountain crews refused to penetrate the picket line established by U. M. W. members of the Yocum Creek Coal Company's No. 3 mine at Bailey's Creek. George S. Ward, secretary of the Harlan Coal operators association, said.

Ward said the work stoppages were causing a loss of 3,750 tons of coal a day in the Harlan fields, with 1,625 men now out of the pits.

New Orleans, Sept. 20—(AP)—Senator Theodore G. Bilbo today said that his "re-education" for inflammation of the mouth will prove of no advantage to political opponents.

"I just had my mouth reamed out and now I got more mouth than ever," Bilbo said here yesterday.

The Mississippians, here in connection with a meeting of Mississippi Valley congressmen to protest curtailment of flood control appropriations, said also that he wasn't "mad" at Mississippi citizens who signed a petition asking the senate not to seat him.

"All they're trying to do," he said in an interview, "is to get me some publicity for my book on racial equality."

Bilbo referred to the petitioners as "my best friends." The petition, delivered to a senate campaign expenditure subcommittee, is said by committee aides to charge Bilbo with inciting white persons in Mississippi against negroes and urging them to keep the negroes from voting, by violence, if necessary.

Ousted Secretary Says He Will Continue His "Fight For Peace," But Plans No Campaign Talks

TRUMAN FORBIDS FURTHER CABINET RIFTS

Washington, Sept. 20—(AP)—President Truman today fired Henry Wallace as Secretary of Commerce in a dramatic reaffirmation of this country's stand at the Paris Peace Conference.

Wallace bowed out of the cabinet with the terse announcement that "I shall continue to fight for peace." His aides told reporters, however, that he "will make no campaign speeches this fall."

While solidifying American foreign policy abroad, the cabinet upheaval was viewed as presaging a possible split in the Democratic party's fight for congressional seats this November.

Mr. Truman said his removal of the last of the late President Roosevelt's "new deal" secretaries was done in friendly fashion.

After a telephone conversation with the president, Wallace addressed a letter to him as "Dear Harry" saying simply: "As you requested, here is my resignation. I shall continue to fight for peace. I am sure that you will approve and will join me in that great endeavor."

This turn of events caught the Capital by such surprise that no one would venture a guess immediately as to Wallace's successor.

Until one is chosen, the department will be in charge of Undersecretary Alfred Schindler, who is now on the West Coast.

Bruce Catton, Wallace's director of information, told a news conference that his chief will not participate in the congressional campaign but has not decided whether he will take to the radio in furtherance of his fight for American foreign policy.

No immediate plans. Catton said that so far as he knows Wallace has no immediate plans. He said he did not know whether Wallace will remain in Washington or go to his sister's farm in Dutchess county, N. Y.

"I am sure he is not going to make any speeches today or tonight, and I don't think that he will tomorrow," Catton declared. He added that he was quite sure that Wallace will not meet the press.

Catton explained that just because Wallace will not take an active part in the fall political campaign does not mean he will "remain quiet indefinitely" on foreign policy.

Previously, the administration had been relying heavily on Wallace to corral large sections of the labor and "left wing" vote in this fall's campaign.

At a news conference which broke up as soon as the president finished reading his terse formal statement, Mr. Truman also laid down a flat rule that no member of the executive branch of the government may hereafter make any statement in conflict "with our established foreign policy."

Policy Is The Same. Without any equivocation, the president said that the policies guiding Secretary Byrnes and the peace conference delegation in Paris "have my full endorsement."

"Our foreign policy as established by the congress, the president and the secretary of State remains in full force and effect without change," Mr. Truman declared.

He said he had had a "very friendly conversation" with Wallace by telephone this morning. He said he regretted breaking a long and pleasant official association, but he said, too, he was sure Wallace "will be happier in the exercise of his right to present his views as a private citizen."

There was no immediate comment from Wallace, who was in his office at the Commerce Department during the presidential news conference.

The announcement caught Wallace's personal staff completely by surprise. They learned of Wallace's ouster first from news reporters.

Byrnes' Hand Seen. It was widely assumed that the president acted under a show-down demand from Byrnes, now in Paris, that the president must choose between him and Wallace.

Mr. Truman's action, coupled with his blunt assertion that

The Garden

Review Time IV
Cucumbers:—As in other years, many hills of cucumbers and melons died over night from the same cause as of old, the striped beetle, whose off-spring in their larval (worm) stage devour the plants' roots, whereupon death comes. The control is to have dusted with the calcium arsenate and gypsum (or fibroplaster) mixture, one part to 15, when the first seedlings broke through. At that time, the dust can fall to the roots to poison the larvae, but delaying until the drying starts is to have waited too long. A damaging cucumber and melon pest this year was the pickle worm. It hatches from eggs laid on the rind, eats its way into the fruits, and there grows up to become an adult to repeat the cycle. Control possibly could be had by keeping all fruits covered all the time with poison, but this is virtually impossible. Fortunately, it is destructive only in occasional seasons, and 1947 may not be a bad year.

A rare disease, downy mildew, this year struck cucumbers, favored by the wet weather of June and July. Applying sulfur checks mildew, but would destroy the cucumber plants. Spraying with copper or with the new Fermate could help, but complete covering of the foliage would be necessary; obviously, difficulty. Happily, here and there dryer weather came in time for the defoliated runners to make at least a part-crop. There may be fewer rainstorms in 1947.
