BILL OF HARRIS FORK

Street scene at West Street and State Line: Carl Puckett with his car stalled—out of gas.

What is the longest bridge in Fulton County?

When I got a bag of groceries recently, the girl ran up the tape and said, "That'll be $9.95."

"What?" I said, "You must have made a mistake." She laughed merrily, considering the situation, and said "People tell me that all the time." So the $10 bill went smash. Nothing but a handful of groceries to take home for it.

So I went home, got out the hoe and sharpened it for next spring. I betcha if my wife is not too busy we will have our own corn, tomatoes and beans.

Bill Browning is going to put a bench in front of his business place. It will be lettered: "For Liars Only."

"This bench for Fishermen."

Don't call your place of business "Dinty Moore's. There are only 500 such places ahead of yours in this country."

Fellow just left here who spent an hour telling me all about Chicago, Denver, and Los Angeles. He was smoking what he called a rare mixture of the finest tobacco. I say it was, smelled like cat fur and parrot feathers. And I didn't tell him that I had spent lots of my time in all those cities. I wanted him to exercise his larynx all he could before calling on the Editor of the Fulton Daily Leader.

He told me of the large river he saw on the other side of Michigan Avenue in Chicago but he didn't learn what river it was. I told him that it used to be a river but they dredged it out—turned the Chicago river into it and now call it Lake Michigan.

He spoke of the big river in Denver (Platte). One can wade across it without wetting one's ankle.

He appeared to be a pretty good guy and I hope he don't find out what a liar I am, or my wife sez I am.

Best County Road Program in 15 Years -- Judge Roberts

With eleven road projects either completed, underway or about to start, the 1950 road program in Fulton County has been hailed by County Judge Homer Roberts as one in which there was "more work laid out for this county, this year, than all put together in the last 15 years."

While crediting the present State administration with the major share of the improvements, Judge Roberts also pointed out that there have been numerous Fulton County men who also have worked hard in the interest of better roads for the county. And, the Judge pointed out, from all indications it is the program for next year may equal the record-breaking job being done in 1950.

Here are the eleven projects, and their present status:

- Rural Road Program: Twenty-three thousand tons of rock will be put on county roads needing it; this work will "start right away."
- State Projects:
  1. Black-topping the Fulton-Metropolis road. Now in progress, gravel has been laid, but the blacktop is yet to come.
  2. Finishing the middle road into Hickman. Now in progress, gravel has been laid, blacktop is yet to come.
  3. Hickman-by-pass road. This road, which will leave Ky 94 at the Roper Fields Service Station and connect with Ky 94 west of Hickman, and also the Union City, Troy and Brownsville roads, is just getting started.
  4. Widening of West State Line

Its Legal! To Vote Twice For Your Favorite Man

Comer Roberts, campaign chairman for Governor Earle C. Clements in Fulton County, in his race for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senator, has called attention to the fact that all voters in the primary must vote TWICE for their favorite candidate. The nominations are for both for a long and a short term.

Chairman Homer Roberts pointed out that unless this fact is presented to the voters that many of them will cast a ballot in one or another of the races and neglect to vote in both.

Sample ballots, posted at the polls election day, will show the list of candidates for both the long and the short terms, he pointed out.

MIDGET AUTO RACES SUNDAY COMPLETE FULL PROGRAM OF EXCITING FAIR EVENTS

Sunday afternoon at 2:00 p. m. the Fulton Fairgrounds will again vibrate to the ear-splitting roar of the midget racing autos, as the West Ky-Tenn Fair drops the curtain on its 1950 program with a full afternoon of racing excitement.

All this week fair officials have received long-distance calls from points in the midwest and mid-south, as drivers verbally booked their entries for the Sunday afternoon spectacle. The races, drawing some of the fastest cars and most skilled drivers in the midwest, promise to provide a lot of exciting action for what is expected to be a record throng of sight-seers.

The last race of the afternoon, the feature, will offer $1000 in cash in a winner-take-all event. All seats, including all boxes, are being sold on a first-come-first-served basis; no season box tickets or other tickets for last week's festivities are good for the the kids, too. On leaving the "Courts" we saw Inez Johnson enjoying the shade in her yard while waiting for hubby Russell who closed the Dotty Shop at five-thirty and was out at the Country Club at five-thirty-five unloading his golf bag. When people are in a hurry to play golf, they are in a hurry to play golf and that's that.

The Ruddles have worked so hard and with such enthusiasm around their new home (next door to the Johnsons) that it is obvious why they have made such a success of their lawn. As our time was limited we were unable to go inside all the houses.

The attractive window in the Newt Ruddles house completed a picture of charm and convenience. How nice for the two brothers to build side by side.

(Next week Mary-Nelle will look in on a few more new residences around town. . . . Ed.)

put their for more practically purposes than just to beautify their home. Many will remember the lovely "Open House" the Kramers had when they first moved in.

The little house now under construction for Bill and Marilyn Stokes has looks of a doll's house and we are extremely anxious for its completion as little houses are exactly what we like. It will be just a short walk for that couple to get to the number one tee at the Country Club.

Seldon Reed and his family will soon be moving into their new home which is now occupied by Rev. Ferrell and his family. Seldon, who is really a farmer at heart will probably be glad to get out into the country after several years of "city life."

As we passed the neat brick residence of the Charles Looneys we noticed the spacious back yard with a barbecue pit and we knew how much fun and what good food can come from a place like that. There's nothing like a big yard, for the grown-ups and

Farm Bureau Picnic Aug. 9; Beef, Queen Contest, too!

Wednesday, August 9, is a red letter day in Fulton County Farm Bureau circles. Its the day when that top-notch organization has its annual picnic. This year something new has been added when the Fulton County 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America stage a first class beef cattle show and sale. The show is being sponsored by the County Farm Bureau and County School Board and promises to be jam-packed with top breed beef cattle. Sighting the show will be the award of a purebred Hereford calf to the winner in the grand champion ring, donated by the Bushart Hereford Farm, six miles north of Fulton.

All activities of the picnic will be held at the Fairgrounds at Fulton and will feature a huge barbecue dinner, a Farm Bureau Queen Contest, and a sale of fifty fat calves. The beef show will begin at 9:30 a. m. Dinner will be served at 11:30 and the queen contest will begin at 12:30 p. m.

O. R. Long, regional field representative for the Southern region of the United States will make the principal address of the day at 1:00 o'clock. The 4-H Club and FFA Beef Calf sale will start promptly at 2:00 p. m.

All Fulton County Farm Bureau members have been sent two complimentary tickets to the event and all non-members will be served at $1.00 each. The barbecue served by the Farm Bureau has no equal anywhere in the South.

Judge of the beef cattle event will be Ray C. Hopper of the University of Kentucky and the auctioneer will be Jimmy Wilson of Newbern, Tenn.

The entire event is being sponsored by the Fulton County Farm Bureau and the local and State Extension Service.

Bun Ross was held at 3:30 at Sandy Branch Primitive Baptist Church followed by burial in the church cemetery.

Chambers in 1882 and to this union three children were born all of whom died in infancy. Mr. Chambers preceded her in death in 1922.

For many years Mrs. Chambers was a member of the Primitive Baptist Church but for the last few years had been a member of the Christian Science Society of Fulton.

Mary-Nelle Sees Frills, Fun of Castles In The Courts

By Mary-Nelle Wright

Years ago Brooks and Louise Henderson probably stood on a tract of their land, looked it over and said, "Someday we'll divide this land into lots to sell for home building sites. Maybe we'll call it the Country Club Courts." And that—they did.

Brooks and Louise made a dream a reality not only for themselves but for all those couples who have already built homes there—and for those who will build in the future.

We made a tour of a few of the homes in the "Courts" a day or so ago and remembered a lovely party we attended in the beautiful little home of Jane and "Spud" Edwards. The kitchen, which is located on the front of the house, affords a view of the State Line. We laughed as we remembered Jane saying, "I don't have to wonder who is out at the Country Club because I can watch everyone go by while I'm washing dishes."

Hazel Merryman (Garland's wife) was out in front of their two months old home and graciously invited us in for a look around. The open arrangement of their living room and dining room gives spaciousness to the living area. The woodwork of natural pine gives an "Early American" feeling, which adds to the personality of the house. One could easily see that a certain little boy lives there because the wallpaper in his room is simply covered with COWBOYS.

In Clyde and Miriam Hill's house (next door to the Merryman's) every feature of it is thoroughly modern and functional, yet the atmosphere is completely traditional. In front of the fireplace we admired a hand hooked rug of an oriental design made by Miriam's grandfather who is 83. Scattered over the house are other rugs he has made and also one made by Clyde's grandmother, Mrs. W. M. Hill. The draperies in the living room lend to the atmosphere of Old New Orleans as they are printed in scenes from the French Quarter and steamboats on the Mighty Mississippi.

Kathy Jones was enjoying the privacy and comfort of the screened-in breezeway that connects their home with the garage. There could be no better way to spend a hot summer's day while waiting for the head of the house, John Lloyd. It was on another day not so long ago that Kathy took pity on two tired out census takers and treated them to cokes in her spacious living room while they were surrounded by gay colors and interesting materials.

It won't be too long until Georgia, Bill, Little Bill and Ben Sewell will be able to move into their lovely home. When finished (if I have been informed correctly) it will have three bedrooms, two baths, living room, dining room, kitchen and maybe more. Anyway, it is sure to be most attractive and livable.

The Kramers will probably be remembered as some of the very oldest "settlers" in those parts because they were one of the first to build out there. It didn't take long for them to erect a pretty white fence out in their back yard and I have an idea that it's

Traffic Is Dangerous

The Fulton County News at various intervals preaches safety in all phases of life, and yet we are participating daily in the most hazardous traffic condition we have ever seen.

It isn't necessary to remind you that the highway traffic, which ordinarily flows down West State Line is now going down Second Street and other streets in the residential sections. Second street particularly is narrow, not geared to heavy traffic, and unless the City of Fulton does something about it quick, some child will be killed and then there'll be the situation of too little . . . too late.

Since the highway traffic is being routed through the city, then the problem belongs to the city. It does not seem impossible to erect stop signs at the various corners to slow up the hundreds of cars driving through the city each day. Funny thing about it is that the tourist and commercial traffic is intent on getting somewhere and they sort of forget to slow up . . . maybe. But for the local folks to join in and drive like bats is slightly inexcusable. Chief McDade ought to slap a couple of heavy fines on the local gentry and we'll bet they'll drive slightly slower.

The people on the detour streets are pretty sore about the traffic dangers and what's more and we're pretty sore with them.

Fair Is Success

Another fair, sponsored by the Young Men's Business Club in cooperation with other civic groups has come to a close, presumably a financial success. It has taken the fair officials several years to accumulate permanent installations at the Fairgrounds and this year for the first time, they have been able to see the light of day, financially.

It takes a tremendous amount of work to promote an undertaking of this magnitude. It takes the accumulated efforts of dozens of people and we believe it is for that reason that the various events promoted by local persons were successes. The horse show this year was an overwhelming success. Hundreds of people from adjoining cities came, not only to see the show, but to exhibit their horses. Charles Gregory deserves an extra special pat on the back for master-minding such a completely successful show, bringing here outstanding entries from nationally famous stables.

It must be understood always that such an undertaking as a county fair must incorporate the efforts of ALL civic organizations and business houses. In cooperating with fair officials, local merchants did more than was expected in assisting with the financial aspect of the project.

Since it is generally believed that, the proposed highway by-pass will cut the Fairgrounds in two, plans should be made at once to seek other grounds to continue this very worthwhile promotion.

It is a pity that an event or two on the fair program was far short of the glamorous advance billing. Folks who came to see a first class musical show, an acrobatic show and a rodeo, were a little disappointed, to put it mildly. A little more care should be taken in buying a show sight unseen, yet it is not the fault of fair officials when entertainers think they're still in their hey-day. Local people overlooked it, but its hard to convince out-of-town owners that it was not intentional.

All in all it was a good fair. It put the name of Fulton in the newspapers often and that's good.

Fair President Bob White and other officials deserve a lot of credit for a lot of hard work.

Get Out and Vote

Tomorrow, Saturday, August 5, is election day. Except for a little belly-ache on the part of the candidates for the Court of Appeals one would hardly know that a major race for United States Senator from Kentucky is being fought. The election of Governor Earle Clements, the Democratic nominee is a certainty with his ultimate victory in November almost certain. The Governor has one of the most powerful political machines the State of Kentucky has ever seen and he has used it to good advantage in the Senatorial race.

In spite of this however, it is important to get out and vote on Saturday. It isn't a healthy sign to concede one's election before the ballots are marked. This sort of thinking can set a precedent which, says Harry Lee Waterfield in his Hickman Gazette, can easily lead to a dictatorship. The result of Saturday's election and the subsequent election in November will have a tremendous bearing at the polls come next summer when the race for the Governorship gets started.

If elected, we believe Governor Clements will be an asset to the State, on the other hand his influence in all future State elections will be overwhelming. The candidate to oppose the Governor's machine next year will have a whale of a lot of State and Federal patronage to overcome.

Whatever the future, get out and vote Saturday.

Uniforms Will Multiply

The armed services lost no time in taking the President up on his order that they begin calling reservists as needed. All branches seem to have begun "selective" calling of various types of experts on the day Mr. Truman made his instructions public.

Uniforms will multiply rapidly now in this country. The services need every type of personnel in large and growing numbers, but principally they need combat personnel. Gen. MacArthur has already committed three of his four Far Eastern divisions of ground troops to actual combat in Korea, leaving only one division in occupied Japan. The First Marine Division is on the way, but Marines are elite fighting troops and will hardly go on a reserve assignment. Just to replenish MacArthur's reservoir of ground troops will require the dispatch of at least three Army divisions, and possibly many more than three, since the American come-back against the north Koreans will require more troops than have been committed as yet.

With only five Army divisions at present in the United States, and one in Europe, manpower for the ground forces will have to be expanded swiftly and considerably. The administration and Congress have taken Korea as a general Russian challenge, and it would be foolish not to anticipate the early need for more Army strength in other places.

The Army's manpower requirements are duplicated by the Air Force, which is busily building up tactical units to support the ground forces; and the Navy, which is faced with the double job of blockading Korea and maintaining Pacific supply lines, while preparing for additional duties elsewhere.

The day when most or all existing reserve units are called up cannot be far off. Once these organizations are committed to active duty we can look for a major expansion of drafting. The national security now demands that all branches of the defense establishment be placed on a war footing, and a war footing means millions of men in uniform and in training.

—Paducah-Sun.

Efficiency Needed

Speaking of elections, we hope that the Fulton County Election Commissioners will not take this election on Saturday as another opportunity to cash in a few bucks and prolong the counting. Last summer when interest in several county races was at fever pitch and folks wanted to know the result of the counting as early as possible, the chairman of the commission announced on Monday that some of the tellers had milking to do and the counting would be resumed on Tuesday, after the election on Saturday.

Many of the races were close. Many voters could see important turns in the counting and the wait over the week-end was pretty hard on the nerves . . . and that's an understatement. Yet, it was Tuesday noon before the definite results of the balloting were known.

In adjoining Hickman County, counting was so fast and so efficient that the Sunday morning papers had election results.

There is no reason for such laxity on the part of the election commissioners. Money is available we believe to hire sufficient counters so that several boxes can be counted simultaneously. Instead of having a few people work several days, why not have a lot of people work one day and get the business over with.

People tell us it is against the law to count the ballots at the various polling places and that they must be taken to the county courthouse for counting. As long as the various workers are certified for work at the polls, why not put them into service as soon as they deliver the ballots and have the counting start immediately. In this manner it can be finished by the deadline at twelve o'clock and a lot of unnecessary waiting eliminated.

Dick Oberlin:

Oberlin's Observations

In this tradition-loving country of ours, anniversaries seldom go by unnoticed. We always attach a lot of hoop-la to anniversaries and birthdays and the like — whether they be national or strictly local. That's why it was a bit unusual that there wasn't a lot of to-do given the 175th birthday of the Army Medical Department. The record of the Department deserves more attention.

Back in the days the Department was founded, and it started out merely as one hospital, there were only about 200 physicians with medical degrees in the entire thirteen colonies which comprised our United States. There were about 5,500 medical practitioners, some of them barbers who did a little blood-letting and leeching on the side.

Well, just as medicine has come far from those days to its present status when it is showing back farther the threshold of old age and is tackling the baffling mysteries of infantile paralysis and cancer, so has the medical department of the Army grown. Without any great fanfare, it goes about Duck River this week. Six special delivery letters were received requesting extra blankets.

In view of the situation in Korea and the danger elsewhere, it is at least some comfort that the men, if they become casualties if they suffer the bad luck of being wounded, their chances of survival are roughly 3 times as great as those of their comrades in the Army 10 years ago.

Sermonette Of The Week

"Not In My Territory"

By Rev. James Keller

A Suburban local was stalled by a blizzard one winter's night, and so deep was the snow that its passengers were unable to leave the car. Next morning the hundred and fifty-odd commuters were startled to see a signal tower only a few hundred yards away.

The signal-station attendant had seen the stalled train the night before, an investigation revealed. But when asked why he'd done nothing about it, he answered: "It's not in my territory."

It's easy to live exclusively to one's self, to be interested only in one's own advantage, to say "Am I my brother's keeper?" But this shortsighted reasoning of so many otherwise good people is the cause of much that is wrong with the world today. You never hear the people who are out to wreck civilization say, about anyone or anything: "It's not in my territory."

A Seattle lawyer once interrupted his lengthy cross-examination of a witness and exclaimed, "Your Honor, one of the jurors is asleep."

"You put him to sleep," replied the judge. "Suppose you wake him up."

Every single one of us has played some part in the moral bankruptcy of the modern world — most frequently by what we are NOT doing for the common good of all.

Surely if we have contributed to the deterioration which we see on all sides — positively or through our sins of omission — it is only fair that we should now do our level best to reverse this trend.

There is still time. If enough

YOU ARE YOUNGER THAN YOU THINK; SCIENCE RAISES LIFE EXPECTANCY

A long and vigorous life lies before most of us, despite the efforts of scare merchants to worry us about disease and dying. Life expectancy has been about doubled since the Middle Ages, according to J. D. Ratcliff, noted writer on science, and new medical advances indicate that the age of 100 will be a reasonable goal in the future. Writing in Redbook Magazine, he tells you what your chances are of dying from various diseases and accidents.

"The truth is: We do not live in a dangerous age. We live longer today than people ever did before. We enjoy the vigor of youth into late middle age.

"We all have been scared into thinking, every time we feel a twinge in the stomach, 'Could this be appendicitis?' Next time this happens to you, just remember that the chances are something like 200-to-one—or maybe even 400-to-one—that appendicitis will never do you in.

"A thirty-year-old woman has one chance in seven of eventually dying of cancer. If discovered today, a cancer cure would actually add only a little over two years to her life expectancy. A man of the same age would gain less than a year and one-half of added life.

"Suppose you are a white male, twenty years old—one of the most dangerous ages for the auto accident. The chances are 1,000-to-eight against your ever being killed in a motor accident.

"At last year's accident rate, you might expect to ride a scheduled airline for 100 million miles before having a fatal crash. To travel this far, you would have to ride a 200-mile-an-hour airplane day and night for almost sixty years.

"What about heart disease? Here, the situation is more serious. 'Heart disease' isn't a single ailment, it means a whole assortment of diseases—including apoplexy, faulty heart valves, constricted heart arteries, high blood pressure, kidney disease and many others. In their remarkable book "The Length of Life," Louis I. Dublin, Alfred J. Lotka and Mortimer Spiegelman, all of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, calculate that a cure for heart disease would add approximately nine years to the average life-span.

"Figures say that it's 700-to-one that the twenty-year-old will be alive and safe a year from today, 500-to-one that the twenty-eight-year-old will survive at least another year. The tables end at the age of 108. If you happen to be 108, you have a 50-50 chance of dying in the next twelve months."

PRESIDES AT ENGLISH FETE

(Ed's Note: The following article, clipped from an English newspaper will be of interest to News readers since Mrs. Isbell is the daughter of Mrs. Jessie Lee Fleming of this city.)

Ever since dark-haired, attractive Mrs. Isbell, wife of Col. James Isbell, U. S. Air Force, came to Britain two years ago, she has wanted to see a typical English fete. On Saturday, she fulfilled her ambition when she opened the Higher Denham Association fete. It was certainly a "typical" English summer day—rain fell most of the time.

One thing she must have learnt, however, is that nothing will keep a good fete down, least of all the weather.

Standing on the platform, which was draped with soggy British and U. S. flags, Mrs. Isbell opened the fete in the pouring rain before a crowd of people huddled in groups or under trees.

Major Way—"Do you mind if I keep my hat on"—asked Mrs. Isbell to convey a message to her husband "from this little corner of England." "With deep concern and sympathy, we, in this island, are watching the events in Korea where the U. S. Forces are fighting the battle for peace on behalf of the civilized world," he said. "We know without a shadow of doubt they will emerge victorious in the end."

ICE CREAM SOLD
Also on the platform was Miss Audrey Woods, "Miss Chalfont of 1950," who sheltered under an umbrella, and Mr. L. M. Shepherd, vice-President of the Higher Denham Association.

With the opening over, the people rushed to the stalls which were under the trees. Oddly, the ice cream stand did a good trade.

Still in the pouring rain, about a dozen children paraded in the fancy dress competition. Judged by Mrs. Isbell, Miss Woods and Mrs. Lewis Way, the winners (lamb) Geoffrey Smiles (Mr. Cube); Jennifer Dreaver and David Wiggins (Nurse and patient); and Marion Ashton (Christmas Tree).

The rain slackened later in the afternoon to an occasional drizzle when the "Silly Season" competitions were held.

JUDGE AGED 84
"Lady with the most beautiful eyes" was Miss Sheila Carley and Miss Thelma Purrett won the "most shapely hands" competition. About eight men entered the "nobbly knees" contest, Mr. Maurice Ayres winning the title. The men were not backward in entering "The gent's shapely legs competition," and winner was the chief organizer of the fete, Mr. S. Smiles.

Judging these competitions was 84-year-old Mr. A. Moffatt and "Miss Chalfont."

Fifteen prizes in one competition at the fete were double seats for a tour on Wednesday provided by Denham Coaches. No one knew where they were going, however,—it was a "mystery tour."

Some nylons are still unclaimed.

About a hundred people attended a carnival dance in the association hall after the fete. Mr. Reg Morrish was M. C. with the Accordionaires providing the music.

AUSTIN SPRINGS

Mrs. Carey Friedls and Mrs. Covene Hastings arrived Friday from Detroit for a visit with their daughter, Mrs. Doyle Friedls and family.

The revival closed at Old Bethel Baptist church with several confessions and seven additions to the church, as results of many inspiring sermons delivered by Rev. Lois Kingston. The church was greatly received.

Mrs. Ralph Doran was taken sick Monday night at her home, requiring medical aid.

Much corn has been lost due to high waters and also some tobacco as results of flooded lowlands, in and around this area.

Mrs. Raymond Cherry and baby son, Michael, returned home from Haws Memorial Hospital the past Thursday and both mother and baby are doing nicely.

Many friends join in sympathy with Mrs. Lee Nelson is loss of her father, Earn LeCornul who was stricken with heart ailment at his home near McConnell—the past week. He was rushed to Weakley County Hospital where he expired. Funeral service was held at Johnson Grove in the presence of many friends of the family.

Mrs. Johnnie Abernathy and children of Elderado, Ind., visited among friends and relatives for a few days last week.

Mr. Buton Lassiter received news of the death of Finis Outland yesterday who passed away in Murray, Ky., after an illness, particulars of which are not given at this time. Mr. Outland is a decedant of the Lassiter family, a nephew of late L. B. Salliter and his death is a shock to many cousins who reside near here. Funeral and burial will be held in Murray Tuesday afternoon.

1950 Dairy Show Best Ever Held Here

The dairy cattle show held in connection with the 1950 West Ky-Tennessee Fair last week at the Fulton fairgrounds was the largest show ever held in Fulton, outdistancing even the shows held back in the days of the old, great fair here, it was announced this week.

The record turnout of dairy animals brought forth a total of 103 head of cattle, with 56 Jerseys, 15 Guernseys, 17 Brown Swisses and 17 Holsteins, (including the Milam quadruplets).

The number of exhibitors also far outdistanced last year, indicating a healthy increase in the dairy cattle field in this area. It is estimated that over ten thousand fair visitors viewed the splendid cattle exhibit.

The committee responsible for this splendid turnout was composed of W. P. ("Dub") Burnette, general chairman; George Gunter, Holsteins; Thomas Bruce, Jerseys; Cecil Burnette, Guernseys; Dewey Johnson, Brown Swiss. The 4-H Club dairy show was handled by John Watts, Fulton County agent. The artificial-bred calf show was in charge of Warren Thompson, Hickman County agent, who also acted as show secretary. He was assisted by David Lee Dixon of Fulton, Route 1.

The Grand Champion Holstein, owned by George Gunter, Fulton, Route 1, won out over 16 other fine entries from all over West Kentucky and Tennessee. This was her first year to show. Mr. Gunter and his entry won out over George Gunter, Jr., who was re-showing his 1949 Grand Champion. The Gunter herd of Holsteins is one of the best in this whole area.

The Grand Champion Jersey, Sybil Design Ida Sultana, owned by George Ely Burnette, Fulton, Route 1, is a repeat winner from last year. George Ely has shown her at 10 different shows and has won six grand championships for a total money winning of $275.00. He paid $300 for this cow four years ago and during the four years she has dropped three calves and produced over 1700 pounds of butterfat which has brought over $1700.

A son of Sybil, Golden Jeweler Design Sybil, Reg. No. 523293 was first prize senior bull calf at the Fulton show and also the Purchase Parish Jersey show held at Barlow in April of this year. George Ely also owned the first-prize three-year-old cow, Eminent Shady Grove Alicia; No. 1609888. He keeps these and his other cattle in the herd of his grandfather, C. N. Burnette, who has a large herd of Jerseys and produced Grade "A" milk for the Fulton Pure Milk Company.

The Grand Champion Brown Swiss was shown by Roy Etheridge, herdsman for Dewey Johnson, Water Valley, Route 1. This is her first year to show. Neal Rushton, whose Brown Swiss won the 1948 and 1949 grand championships, sold his cow after last year's show to Carl Johnson. Johnson could not show the cow this year because she was sick at the time.

The herds of both Carl and Dewey Johnson produce Grade "A" Milk for the Fulton Pure Milk Company.

The Grand Champion Guernsey was shown by owner Cecil Burnette, and is the daughter of last year's grand champion in this class. Where, in last year's competition, the mother won over the daughter, in this year's case the tables were turned. Mr. Burnette, who lives on Fulton, Route 1, has the largest and best herd of registered Guernseys in West Kentucky. His Guernseys have won top honors at Paducah, LeCenter, Mayfield, Owensboro and Fulton. From this herd comes good Grade "A" milk, sold by the Fulton Pure Milk Company.

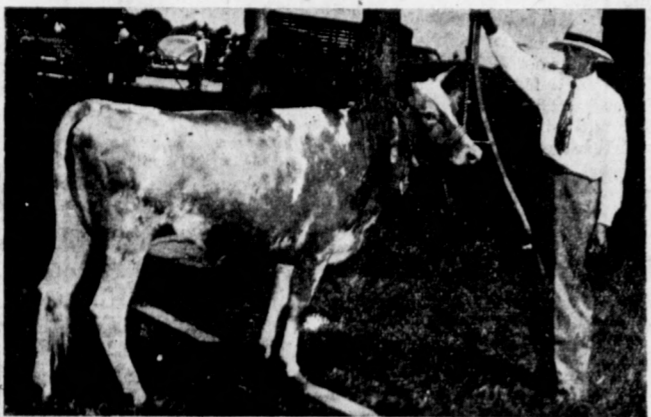

Robert Gattus, Fulton, Route 1, who last year had the Junior Champion Jersey heifer, came back this year and won the Junior Champion Holstein class. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Gattus. The Gattus herd also produced Grade "A" Milk for the Fulton Pure Milk Company.

Thomas Bruce, Route 1, Fulton showed a herd of 8 Jerseys this year for the first time, and made a wonderful addition to the show. Although edged out of the championship by extra-stiff competition, he is developing a splendid herd that will provide some champions in the future.

Dr. W. L. Titsworth, Paducah, contributed a lot to the Jersey competition by sending his prize herd to the Fair, and his time and effort was much appreciated by the local breeders. He has six blue-ribbon winners out of ten Jersey classes, including the Junior Champion of the Jersey show.

Ben Wiley Sams, 4-H Club member, Fulton, Route 1, showed three extra-nice Jersey heifers, winning one first, one second and one fifth, in the open class competition. Ben Wiley is doing a splendid job in 4-H Club work.

WHEN ARE FINDERS KEEPERS? LAWS ARE COMPLICATED ON LOST PROPERTY

Whether or not you have a right to keep lost property is more complicated than the old saying "finders keepers." You must first establish two facts — that the article was "lost" and in a "public" place, according to Garvin Saunders, who interprets the laws governing lost property for you in McCall's for August, and gives you some good rules-of-thumb to be guided by:

"To know whether you have a right to keep lost property you must first be able to answer two important questions: Did you find it in a 'public' place, and was it technically 'lost'?

"If the place where you find something is your neighbor's lawn, the boss's office or a stranger's car — you don't have to be told to leave it alone. 'Public,' therefore includes any place where people can come and go without trespassing.

"More difficult even than the question of 'place' is the question: Is it 'lost' property? If an article is lying just where the owner put it, it is 'mislaid,' not 'lost.' This is true of valuables intentionally hidden for safekeeping, as well as the topcoat on a restaurant hook. The hoarder may have forgotten where he hid his valuables, but in the eyes of the law he has not 'lost' them.

"But what happens if an article is mislaid and nobody appears to claim it? In such a case that arose in Minneapolis in 1944 the court decided that although the money was obviously mislaid, it had gone unclaimed for so many years that it could safely be classified as lost money. So it was handed over to the finder.

"Whatever your legal claim for lost property, however, remember that the original is the only true owner. If the seller of a second-hand car leaves money in the upholstery, the new owner must let him have the money, since title to the car is all that passed to him.

"An interesting exception to most lost-and-found rules is the law of Treasure Trove, which deals with gold, silver and money hidden by an unknown person. All hidden property is part of the land on which it is hidden and belongs to the owner of the land, except treasure trove, which is limited to precious metals and money hidden by the hand of man.

"Here are some rules-of-thumb to guide you.

"1. When you see someone's mislaid property or anything in a private place not open to the public, be slow to pick it up. But if circumstances seem to call for some attention to it, ask in a loud voice for directions to the 'office' and take it straight there. Don't open handbags or billfolds without having a witness with you. Leave your name and address and try to get a receipt.

"2. If you find lost property and find it in a public place you are entitled to take possession of it. Turn it in and get a receipt from a responsible person. Have it understood that it will be returned if not claimed.

"3. When you take a lost article away with you, make every effort in good faith to locate the owner. Most state penal codes list the failure to do this as larceny."

GOOD SWEET CORN

Have you ever roasted corn over the open fire? Only grilling in the husks will keep in the real full flavor of tender sweet corn. Remove the outer husks, turn back the inner ones to remove the silk, then pull the husks back over the corn.

When the fire is low put the corn on the grill and turn it often. The husks will brown but the corn will be delicious in ten to twelve minutes. Pull off the husks with dish holders or gloves to keep from burning your fingers. Have plenty of butter or margarine and salt and pepper on hand.

Since we can't have parties every day, sometimes the corn must be boiled.

"Do's" for Boiling Corn

Keep corn in the husks until you are ready to cook it.

Use plenty of rapidly boiling water in a kettle large enough so that the corn is not crowded. It is easy to get too much salt. One teaspoon to a quart of water is just right.

Cook only eight to twelve minutes depending on the size of the ears. Drain as soon as it is done.

Serve at once in an uncovered dish. This keeps the corn from becoming soggy. You have the beginning of fresh corn pudding when there is more corn cooked than your family can eat.

Kentucky Corn Pudding

2 cups fresh corn
2-2/3 cups milk
2 eggs separated
3/4 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon sugar
1/3 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 tablespoons melted butter

Combine corn, milk and well beaten egg yolks. Fold in baking powder, sugar and salt, then stiffly beaten egg whites and melted butter. Bake uncovered in a moderate oven (350° F) for 45 minutes.

Yield: 4 to 5 servings.

Miss Betty Jo Hudson Weds John Joe Campbell In Lovely Ceremony

By Agatha Voelpel

The stately Gothic interior of the First Christian Church formed a most beautiful setting for the marriage of Miss Betty Jo Hudson to Mr. John Joe Campbell which was solemnized on Sunday afternoon, July 30, at three o'clock. A large assemblage of relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony which was performed by the Rev. Perry L. Stone, pastor of the church, who used an impressive double ring service. The bride in the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hudson of Dukedom, Tenn., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pressley Campbell of Fulton.

The altar of the church was banked with wrought iron candelabra holding burning white tapers flanked by massive fern balls. At either side of the altar steps were tall floor baskets holding fan shaped arrangements of white gladioli. Additional candelabra were placed at the sides of the flowers. The family pews were marked by single cathedral candles, which made a glowing pathway for the advance of the bridal party.

Preceding the exchanging of the nuptial vows a program of nuptial music was given by Miss Anna Mary DeMyer, organist, and Miss Barbara Ann Roberts, soprano. Miss Roberts sang "At Dawning," Cadman and "With This Ring." Miss DeMyer played the Schumann "Traumerie," the Debussy "Clair de Lune" and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." The traditional Wagner and Mendelssohn Wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional and the Nevin "Venetian Love Song" was played softly during the ceremony.

The lovely young bride, who was given in marriage by her father wore a beautiful wedding gown of chrysaline marquisette over taffeta. A small Peter Pan collar finished the high neckline of the fitted bodice; a row of tiny self covered buttons extended from the collar to the waistline. Long bishop sleeves joined the bodice at a deeply extended shoulder line. The voluminous skirt was ballerina length. A marquisette sash was tied in a butterfly bow at the back. Her chapel length veil of imported illusion fell from a marquisette bandeau with small clusters of orange blossoms at each side. She carried a dainty cascade of gardenias and fleur'd'armour centered with a white purple throated orchid. Brocaded satin ribbons tied her flowers. Her only ornament and Miss Barbara Ann Roberts, was an antique cameo and diamond pin, which she wore at the neckline of her dress. Mrs. Jimmie Jackson of Dukedom served the bride as matron of honor. She wore a ballerina frock of petal pink marquisette fashioned with a strapless bodice. A marquisette stole formed a cowl effect in the back and was joined to the bodice in the front to form a square neckline. Her small period bonnet was of shirred marquisette with a flat bow at the side. Her pumps were dyed to match her dress and she carried a maline fan to which was tied a cluster of pink gladioli tied with pale green satin ribbons.

Miss Sara Emerson of Sedalia, Ky., and Miss Lucy Starrett of Paducah, Ky., were bridesmaids. Their frocks and accessories were identical to that of the honor attendant.

Miss Starrett wore tiel blue and Miss Emerson wore buttercup yellow. They, too, carried maline fans with clusters of gladioli and satin ribbons.

Little Miss Donna Lynn Moody of Dukedom was a dainty flower girl in a pale green marquisette frock exactly like those of the other attendants. She wore a braided marquisette bandeau in her hair and carried a nosegay of pink asters.

Tommy Weaks of Water Valley, Ky., was best man and the ushers were Billy Hill, Bobby Campbell and C. D. Jones.

The bride's mother wore an early fall model of black chiffon. She wore a small black velvet hat trimmed with feathers and her other accessories were black. Her corsage was of gardenias.

Mrs. Campbell, the groom's mother, wore a tailored black sheer featuring crystal buttons at the center of the bodice. Marquisette insets applied with scrolls of the sheer were at each shoulder. She wore a large white hat bound in black velvet and ornamented by a single red rose. Her accessories were black and she wore a gardenia corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained with an informal reception in the church parlor for the bridal party, relatives and close friends. The parlor was decorated with a profusion of ferns, white candelabra and white gladioli. The bride's table was draped in a cloth of satin damask. Chrysal candelabra holding white tapers were placed between the punch bowl and the beautifully decorated tiered wedding cake, both of which were encircled by ferns and asters. Assisting in serving were: Misses

TIPS ON SUMMER FOOD STORAGE; USING REFRIGERATOR DISHES AND WRAPPINGS

Get the most out of your refrigerator this summer by storing foods to the best advantage and making use of the innumerable wrappings and containers on the market. Helen Kirtland tells you what to put where, in McCall's for August, and what to put them in:

"Ice creams and frozen packaged food need the coldest spot in your refrigerator. Unfrozen meat, fish and poultry go in the meat keeper beneath the ice cube trays. Fish and cured meats should be wrapped snugly to prevent odors and drying out,

Wrap others loosely in waxed paper or foil.

"Cover dairy products closely as they pick up flavors from moving currents of air. Uncovered cheese dries and discolors. Put leftovers in covered dishes. Partially used canned foods can be covered in the opened can, which is often more sterile than a dish.

"Place fresh fruits and vegetables in the refrigerator's covered crisping pans, washed and ready for use at a moment's notice. Exceptions to this rule: Asparagus, Brussels sprouts and berries should not be washed until ready to use. Store peas, lima, and corn in nature's covering.

"What to put them in: Wide-mouthed freezer jars — easy to empty of frozen products. Tray of bright-colored plastic molds — for giant ice cubes, individual salads or desserts. Waxed paper and aluminum foil — for handy wrappings. A plastic meat keeper — to modernize an old refrigerator.

"Leftover dishes come in countless shapes, sizes, colors and materials. Some with grooved lids to make stacking easy and save refrigerator shelf space.

Some with clear tops so you can see what's inside. Use covered flexible plastic bowls, which pour as easily as a piteher, and plastic bottles to store liquids. "Extra covered plastic or enamel refrigerator pans come in handy for fruits and vegetables. Washable zippered nylon bags give extra storage space for salad greens, fruits and vegetables. Whether full or half empty, they can be tucked into any odd corner of a refrigerator shelf."

VELVET TRIM NEW NOTE IN STYLE NEWS; LEADING DESIGNERS' FALL LINES DESCRIBED

A dash of velvet will give distinction to your fall clothes this year. You will wear it with tweed, jersey, flannel, and for weskit, blouse, skirt — or a whole suit, says Hildegard Fillmore. It is also high time, she thinks, for a new dark dress. Writing in McCall's for August, she describes some smart fall creations by leading designers: "A strapless camisole of white velveteen goes under a flannel jumper. A white velveteen detachable collar adds zest to a flannel jacket to wear over the same jumper. All designed by Mary Blair.

"A suit by Lotte has a reversible jacket, one side velveteen, the other flannel. A velveteen suit by Phil Barron has full cuffed sleeves and a slam skirt with soft trouser pleats. The jacket's very smart too with a black-and-gold tweed skirt.

"Lotte made a flip-up collar of a tweed jacket velveteen-faced to match the belt of a jersey blouse and skirt. A Peter Pan weskit of velveteen created by Stanley Wyllines has a wide waistband of ribbed wool, to wear with a narrow skirt and a cotton shirt.

"A narrow costume skirt teams with innumerable blouses. One by Mary Blair is of wool jersey trimmed with narrow lace, a velvet bow.

"For your first dark dress of the season, Samuel Zahn created a jacket dress of sheer rayon with nylon net trim and rhinestone clips. The long-sleeved jacket is hipbone length, with a notched collar. A two-piece dress by Sylvan Rich is a pleated transparency, the skirt underlined with tissue faille, the blouse collared-and-cuffed with velvet.

"A coat dress by Gertrude Rothschild can be worn as a dress or over one. Of heavy ribbed ottoman, it has velvet collar, cuffs and buttons. A back belt defines the waist. Jacqueline Ross designed a suit dress of satin, destined to lead a double life.

Jack's Tribute

Jack Berch, right, WLW-NBC singing star, is cited by Dr. Daniel Poling, editor of the Christian-Herald magazine, for his efforts to "increase the spirit of kindness and generosity everywhere." Berch's weekday show is aired at 11:30 a.m., EST.

The jacket can tuck inside the flared skirt and look like a one-piece dress.

"A redingote of silk organdy slips over a faille sheath. Wear this underdress alone for evening or top it with a wool jacket by street wear this fall. Helen Clifford designed it. A tailored suit of faille, designed by Samuel Zahn, has an unlined jacket with a deep, horseshoe neckline with side pockets that round the hip line above a needle-slim skirt."

"My Boys, the Railroaders"

Are you still wondering how the Kitty will end in 1950? Well, brother, who isn't? Here we are, starting on the last month of the season, and mathematically, it is still possible for any one of the eight teams to win the pennant. Mathematically, we say, not probably. The tightest part of the race, of course, is the first six teams, where we have a margin of only six and one-half games.

One factor that is not being considered by the average fan is the margin that has been created by the amount of rained-out games. With a total of ninety-two games that should have been played at this writing, Mayfield is behind three, Fulton is minus two, these being with Cairo at Fulton. Looking on down the line, Owensboro is behind six, Jackson seven, Madisonville five, Hopkinsville six, Union City four and Cairo nine. Some of these teams have completed their trips to the towns where they were behind and may not get to make these games up. The league requires that these games be played if they affect the standings in any way. With twenty-one games behind because of the weather, this could cause a severe shakeup in the Kitty standings.

5.00 PER WEEK
Earle Hotel
204 Plain Phone 55

If fate has anything to do with the financial set-up of the Fulton club, it certainly is against it. The Railroaders haven't drawn a decent crowd since the middle of July. Is it the way the boys have been playing? No sree, brother. First of all, we were rained out with Cairo for two games. Next comes the Madisonville series with threatening weather. What should have been one of the best series of the season with Hopkinsville, turns instead, to a squeeze in affair just to get the season completed with the Hoppers. Too much rain and too much fair. Starting the Owensboro series, here come the show-ers again. Come on, Mr. Weatherman, with the Railroaders on the ball, why can't you give us a little break?

We read a little rumor in a neighboring town's newspaper last week concerning a change-up in the Kitty and the Valley league. It seems that Owensboro had written to Paducah for a little info on the Valley league. Could this be that Owensboro had rather be in the Valley than the Kitty? Well, personally, we had rather drive fifty miles to see the Railroaders play than drive almost two hundred.

The Owensboro boys staunchly deny any intentions to this effect, but, who can tell? How would Paducah draw in the Kitty? We asked a Paducahan just a few days ago, "How are your Chiefs coming along?" "Shucks, I don't go out and watch those guys play ball," was his quick reply, "but if we ever get in the Kitty, brother, we'll go out and ride your Railroaders so much that they won't know whether they're playing baseball or canasta."
