Offers Antiques To The County

A Dubson man, who in past years has refused to sell or give away any part of his vast collection of antiques, has offered the collection to Obion County if it will be placed in a permanent museum as a memorial to his mother.

R. L. McNatt, who has been collecting antiques and other valuable items for more than 30 years, made the proposal recently to City Manager David Frizzell and Mr. Frizzell immediately contacted County Judge Dan W. McKinnis to see if Union City and Obion County could jointly work on the project.

The remodeling of the old National Guard Armory on West Main street, which is jointly owned by the city and county, has been mentioned as a possible site for the collection.

DR. WILLIAM PHARIS

FDEA Group Will Hear Dr. Pharis

MURRAY, Ky.—Dr. William L. Pharis of Auburn University will be the luncheon speaker for the elementary sectional meeting of the 84th annual First District Education Association session at Murray State University Friday.

Head professor of the department of educational administration and supervision at Auburn, Dr. Pharis is scheduled to speak in the Waterfield Student Union Building ballroom at the noon meeting.

His topic is entitled "Bright Shiny Cans for Old Smelly Garbage" and will cover what he believes is being done in educational innovation.

Teachers Group Meeting Slated At Murray State

FULTON, Ky. W. L. Holland, president, First District Retired Teachers Association, announced today that the association will meet Friday, Oct. 11, at 1:30 p.m. in the Student Union Building at Murray State University.

Included on the agenda is the election of a representative on the Advisory Committee of the state association and the election of a new president.

James L. Sublett, executive secretary of the Kentucky Retirement System, will be the guest speaker and his topic will be the status of the retirement system.

Fulton Court Finishes Its Session

HICKMAN, Ky. The four-week Fulton Circuit Court session ended Saturday at Hickman.

In a civil suit this week at Hickman a jury set values on a 90-acre leased farming plot, which resulted in the award of $28,000 to Mrs. Nettie May and Charles A. Stahr.

The site, once sought by the City of Hickman for a sewage lagoon for West Hickman, involves 22 acres located in a center portion of the property.

The jury and interested persons heard a day and a half of testimony by witnesses on the value of the property, which varied in some judgments from $180,000, the figure given for 177 acres including a wooded area adjacent to the property, down to $41,200.

The Stahrs, their lawyers and witnesses emphasized this property along the by-pass, was a prime location for industry along the Illinois Central spur and that it could be developed for split-level housing.

The city attorney, Brantley Amberg, pointed out the purchase of 100 acres for $58,000 in 1967 by James E. "Doc" White. This purchase, west of the Stahr property, figured at $360 an acre. Comparable sales cited were Fred Ward to the City of Hickman for Carborundum—$633 an acre and Bondurant to the City of Hickman for Carborundum—$600 an acre.

In the Harold Coffee vs C. Q. McMullin civil suit, Monday, the jury found for the defendant. Harold Coffee was seeking $10,000 damages on behalf of his 13-year-old son, James.

Fulton City Wins Fourth Straight

The Jets of North Marshall learned how it feels to lose Friday night, and are anxious to pass the lesson on to Fulton City's Bulldogs next Friday.

Defending champion Trigg County dumped the Jets 14-13 in a thrill-packed grid clash Friday, while Fulton City upped its league leading mark to 4-0 with a 38-7 drubbing of Ft. Campbell.

Mayfield's Van Pittman ran for four touchdowns as the Cards rolled over Franklin-Simpson 28-14, and Bowling Green squashed Murray 25-6.

In other grid contests Friday night, Russellville blasted Crittenden County 45-0, and Dyer County, Tenn. ripped through Fulton County's defense for a 28-6 victory.

Metropolis, Ill. rose up with a magnificent defensive effort to hold McLeansboro to a 0-0 tie Saturday afternoon after both teams failed on scoring opportunities.

Trigg County's Hugh Roberts picked off a Pat Walker aerial with only 25 seconds left on the clock to end North Marshall's final bid for victory. Steve Skinner and Willie Grubbs picked up scores for Trigg County as Eddie Radford ran for both extra points.

North Marshall scored on Dennis Mallory's one yard run and a two yard scamper by Walker. Walker tossed for one extra point, but missed on the second attempt to Mallory for what proved to be the deciding margin.

Fulton's David Peoples roared away for four touchdowns and Bill Smith tossed for two scores in the Bulldogs' rout. Peoples now has 11 TDs for the year, while Smith has eight TD passes to his credit. Both marks are tops for the area.

Ft. Campbell's Walter Williams did what no one else has done this year when he scored a touchdown against the stingy Bulldog defense. Fulton had previously given up only a pair of safeties this season.

The win pushes Fulton's record to 4-0, and all have been league contests. The Bulldogs must visit North Marshall next Friday for what could be one of the biggest games around.

Pittman wrecked the Wildcats Friday as he put on a fine show of running. His scores came on runs of 53, 4, 7, and 35 yards. He rolled up 221 yards in only 28 carries for an average of 7.9 yards gained per rush.

The Cardinals totaled 374 yards on the ground and 24 by passing, while F-S signal caller Harold Ownby was tossing 15 completions in 38 tries for 154 yards.

Mayfield made a strong second half rally after trailing 14-7 at the half.

Bowling Green broke the game open in the third quarter against Murray, as they rolled up 19 points in the otherwise scoreless game. Each team added a score in the final period. Murray is now 2-3, while Bowling Green is 3-1-0.

Ronnie Bell scored three times as Russellville blasted Crittenden County. The win boosted Russellville's record to 4-0-1 for the season, while Crittenden County is now 1-4.

Ronnie Kees capped the Russellville scoring in the fourth quarter when he hauled in passes of 35 and 50 yards from Charles Duncan for touchdowns.

Fullback David Westbrook was the big horse for Fulton County, picking up 170 yards in 26 carries, but Dyer County was just too powerful as it pushed its season mark to a perfect 5-0.

Fulton County is now 2-3 on the year with a 1-1 mark in the Reelfoot Conference. Tom Hall might end up the year as the leading receiver for the Metropolis offense and defense, if he keeps intercepting passes. Two interceptions in the scoreless duel Saturday afternoon pushed his total to seven in only four games.

Metropolis is now 2-1-1 in grid action this year after posting a 0-9 mark last year. The Trojans must face Murphysboro next Friday on the road. Murphysboro is an experienced team and a big hurdle for Metropolis.

Some In Mayfield To Vote In County Race

MAYFIELD, Ky. Graves Circuit Judge Wood C. Tipton ruled Friday that certain residents of Mayfield who are in county educational districts must be allowed to vote in the election of county school board members.

The action came as a result of a suit filed by 16 residents of Mayfield, who said the area they live in was recently annexed by the City of Mayfield, but they had not yet been released from Graves County Educational Districts Two and Three.

The suit asked that they be allowed to vote in the county school board election.

The suit was filed in mid-September and asked the court for a declaratory judgment concerning the plaintiffs' right to vote in the elections.

Defendants named in the suit were Graves County Sheriff Wayne Carr, Otis Gary and Lewis Anderson, members of the County Board of Elections Committee, County Clerk R. B. Huie, County Judge Dick Castleman, the county Fiscal Board of Commissioners, and the county school board members.

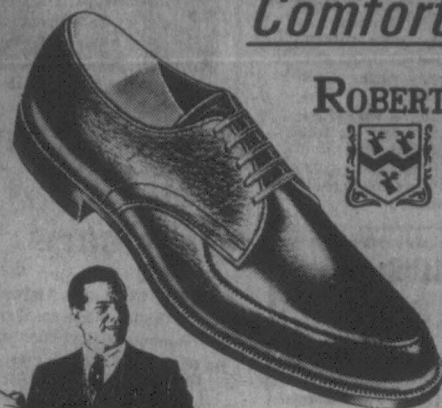

Judge Tipton refused to accept a Sept. 27 motion from the school board that, since it has no duty in deciding what names should appear on the ballots, its name should be removed from the list of defendants. Tipton ruled that all the defendants listed in the suit had some say in whose names appear on the ballot.

The plaintiffs in the case were: Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Berry, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Brown, Mrs. and Mrs. Thomas Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gammon, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Futrell, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Wilson, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Stairs. Henry J. Wilson was attorney for the plaintiffs.

Falcons Crush South Fulton

The Lake County Falcons scored four first quarter touchdowns and then just let the reserves hold on as they beat South Fulton's Red Devils 35-13 Thursday night.

The Devils tallied their points in the second and fourth quarters and the Falcons put their first unit in again to add seven more in the final period of play.

Lake County moved quickly after the opening kickoff and Danny Sanders went two yards for the score. The PAT was good on a pass from Glen Hyde to Davis.

The next Falcon tally came as South Fulton fumbled the ball and Robert Barton scooped it up and ran 30 yards into paydirt. The PAT again was a pass, this time from Hyde to Turner, and the Falcons had a 12-0 lead with more than half the first quarter left.

Their next TD was a Ronald Mays off-tackle run for some 25 yards. The PAT via the aerial route went from Hyde to Cox.

The Falcons closed out their first period scoring with a pass-run play from Hyde to Jamie Turner, good for 35 yards and six more points. A toss to Barton added the point-after.

The second frame found South Fulton getting its first touchdown of the night as the Devils began a drive and scored on "Mr. Everything" Bobby Boyd's off-tackle plunge of 2 yards. A Mike Toone to Johnny McQuire pass added the extra point.

Halftime found the score Lake County 28, South Fulton 7.

Neither team could muster anything the third period but the final frame found more action. South Fulton again drove the pigskin down and Boyd pushed it over from 3 yards out. The try for point was not good.

Lake County's first unit came back into the game and matched the Devil touchdown with a 95-yard scoring pass play from Hyde to Davis. Dennis Ogden swept the end for the point-after.

It was a fine game for the Falcons who have only one divisional loss. For the winless Devils, it was just another week and just another loss.

Mrs. Johnson's Visit Boosts Miss Peden

LOUISVILLE, Ky. Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's brief appearance here Saturday in behalf of presidential candidate Hubert H. Humphrey also served to spotlight state Democratic candidates.

The biggest beneficiary of Mrs. Johnson's appearance seemed to be senatorial candidate Katherine Peden. Miss Peden and Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford greeted the First Lady at the steps of her plane. And Miss Peden stayed with her until she departed nearly four hours later. Ford, too, stayed close to Mrs. Johnson, acting as a sort of master of ceremonies throughout her various appearances. Ford, however, is not running for office.

The scouts also began a series Saturday morning when a crowd of about 500 persons — including large troupes of Girl Scouts and the scouts also began a series of gift presentations to the First Lady. Before it was over, Mrs. Johnson had received everything from baseball bats to a miniature live burro. Many of the gifts were for her grandson, Patrick Lyndon Nugent, and the child Lynda Byrd Robb is expecting.

In fact, there were times when it seemed the crowd was more interested in Mrs. Johnson as a grandmother than as the wife of the President. "Welcome, Patrick Lyndon's Grandmother" said several signs in the crowd. During her speech to an overflow audience of Democratic women, Mrs. Johnson made special mention of the fact that "some of the ancestors in whom we feel the greatest pride came from Kentucky... people like Eliza Buntun of Russellville and John Huffman of Bourbon County."

She seemed to be taken with the number of youngsters who turned out to greet her at the airport and at other stops.

"Did you get out of school to come out here and see me?" she asked one young Girl Scout. "No, ma'am," replied the girl. "This is Saturday."

Peden Opposes Any Cigarette Tax Hikes

Democrat Katherine Peden, in her quest for a U.S. Senate seat, continued her swing through the state Tuesday and espoused the cause of the tobacco industry. Her Republican opponent, Marlow Cook, advocated new foreign policy and attacked Miss Peden for agreeing with a Vietnam bombing halt proposal.

Miss Peden told a Nicholasville audience that she is against any cigarette tax increases.

"Tobacco is being used now by some as a whipping boy in Washington," she said, and then promised to work for continuation of the present tobacco acreage control and price support program.

She noted that tobacco accounts for nearly 40 per cent of annual farm receipts in Kentucky. "Tobacco as a farm commodity, should be treated as any other farm commodity in national legislation," she added.

Earlier in the day, at Lexington, she used her record as state commerce commissioner as evidence of her ability to grasp Kentucky's problems and find their solutions.

Miss Peden said in her speech to the Lexington Women's Club that the result of her "partnership for progress" resulted in 140,000 new jobs in Kentucky

Male, Female Colleges To Exchange

2 Candidates Agree: They Like Humphrey

Two of the three candidates in Kentucky for the U.S. Senate have agreed on something — that Democratic nominee Hubert Humphrey should be elected president in the November election.

Independent candidate Duane Olson and Democratic nominee Katherine Peden voiced their agreement on the matter Friday in appearances before a meeting of the Kentucky Intercollegiate Press Association.

Olson, who is a commercial

Humphrey "is his own man and will make the proper decisions on Vietnam."

Miss Peden also said she agree with candidate Humphrey's proposals concerning the bombing of Vietnam.

But Marlow W. Cook, the Republican senatorial candidate, said "I can't see that there's anything new in this proposal" he said that "before a logical peace can be agreed on we must have a position of greater strength to bargain from."

Cook also spoke at the press association meeting.

National 4-H Week Will Be Observed

National 4-H Week, October 6-12, will be observed across the nation by more than three million 4-H youths, a half-million volunteer leaders, thousands of professional workers and friends of 4-H.

The expansion of 4-H in the last decade will be highlighted, according to Bill Moss, county extension agent.

One of the advances in 4-H project work has been more emphasis on science, experimentation and efficient farm and home management. Personal development and leadership also have been accelerated, Moss said.

Introduction to 4-H via television is another major advance. Projects such as general science, automotive, electric, dog care and training, and emergency preparedness are among the TV series offered by the Cooperative Extension Service. About a million boys and girls between 9 and 19 years of age participated in TV 4-H this past year.

Any boy or girl can be a 4-H'er: as a regular club member, a TV member, or a short term project member. The Extension Service has worked out simplified programs to fit families in isolated or low income communities, Moss said.

The slogan for National 4-H Week is "Join 4-H... A world of opportunity." Parents are invited to learn more about 4-H and enroll their youngsters in the program. Information can be obtained from the extension office located in the basement of the McCracken courthouse.

Melville's Story First About Robot

NEW YORK — The first story in English about a robot was "The Bell Tower," by Herman Melville. Critics now recognize that many great American writers of the 19th century wrote what now is called "science fiction."

during her four-year term.

Cook also spoke in Lexington. He said Miss Peden had backed Vice President Hubert Humphrey's call for a bombing halt in Vietnam only 10 days after saying "unequivocally" that bombing must not be halted.

Cook called for a new thrust in foreign policy, explaining that when a naval commander gave immediate orders to rescue the Pueblo, those orders were countermanded by the President.

"In one day we lost $100 million worth of electronic equipments and a 10-year advantage," the Jefferson County judge added.

He also said the government needs streamlining to make it more efficient and cited what he termed overlapping programs with astronomical administration costs.

Serious Ailment Helps Cabinet Maker Discover A Talent He Never Realized He Possessed

Fulton, Ky. Thursday, October 10, 1968 Page 6

by DAVID G. CRITCHLOW

Thirteen years ago Fulton, Ky., Jubie Henderson, a cabinet maker by trade, was down and out.

Frequent bouts with rheumatic fever and pneumonia had left him bedridden and the future looked bleak indeed.

"I was down and hardly able to trim my own toe nails," is the way Jubie describes his condition.

But then two things occurred which changed his entire life—his boys gave him a four-bladed pocket knife and a cooperative collie dog lent him some hair from her stomach.

With the knife, sharpened to a razor edge, and a paintbrush made from the collie's hair, Jubie mustered what strength he could and discovered talents he didn't even know he had.

With the knife and a piece of sugar pine he soon discovered he was able to turn out little birds, remarkable in every detail, and with the brush he began painting still-life pictures.

Lying in his bed, using a specially-built easel, he often became so exhausted his wife or one of their five children would have to clean his brushes.

But as time passed he gained strength and in time he began turning out paintings.

His wife, Edith, who at the time was working at the Henry L. Siegel plant, showed several of his paintings to her fellow-workers and within a week or so, $50 worth was sold at $5 a painting.

"Boy, I tell you what, we sure needed the money, too. Looking back, I don't know how we made it," Jubie said.

Jubie has carved birds as small as 5/8 of an inch long but most of them are between a half and a third of a lifetime.

The detail of the little birds is amazing. While somewhat stylized, with no feet and just the suggestion of feathers, the birds perch on branches of native Kentucky trees.

The painting, which is done by hand, is meticulous in detail and is true-to-life in both color and detail.

Although perhaps considered expensive at from $15 to $30 each, Jubie refuses to compromise and cut down the detail work.

"It really doesn't make any difference how much time you spend if you are proud of the work you turn out and if you are always striving to make improvements."

This has been Jubie's motto and by it he lives.

With the proper wood and his trusty Case knife, Jubie fairly makes the chips fly as his strong hands press the sharp blade through the wood.

If he has any patterns for the 30 or so birds he carves, they are safely locked away in his head.

"You see, I carve the breast first," he said, as his knife cut through a piece of pine, "then I shape the tail."

Within minutes, it seemed, the block of wood began to take the shape of a quail, his favorite bird, and as he talked the head and beak appeared as he practiced his profession—a beautiful example of a craft not often well done.

It takes him between two and three hours to transform a block into a bird and then he sands it smooth, after which a file is used to ruff the surface slightly to give the appearance of feathers.

Then comes the task of painting, a job which may take from two to four hours, depending on the type of bird and the number of colors required.

The pheasant, for instance, takes the longest, because as many as 10 colors are required before the finished product is produced.

And what does his wife say about his bed full of shavings and paint stains on the sheets?

"I used to gripe about all the mess until he started selling them. Now I have a new vacuum cleaner, which helps out a lot and I don't say a word," Mrs. Henderson said.

While there are some birds Jubie doesn't care to sell, he lets most of his carved work go but he flatly refuses to sell some of his paintings.

His paintings, like his carvings, are quite detailed. He hopes some day to have prints made of his best 11 paintings and therefore is most reluctant to let them go.

However, one of his paintings brought $150, while still another was sold for $300.

These paintings, with Jubie working at his limit of two to three hours a day, require from two to eight weeks to complete.

Jubie has had his carvings and paintings displayed in the state capital in Frankfort and they have been included in several displays in the Blue Grass state which featured Kentucky artists.

His work has attracted considerable attention from colleges and universities and a number of newspaper articles have been written about his art work.

As his work has become known throughout Kentucky, orders have increased and not long ago a California couple stopped by his house to buy one of his birds.

Almost all his sales are now made directly from his home, by mail order or by long-distance telephone.

One caller ordered a pair of quail and, after receiving them, sent him a check far above the purchase price with a request for two more.

Years ago Jubie's doctor put thumbs down on his smoking habit so now he either keeps a big plug of Beech-Nut in his mouth or a piece of chewing gum. Chewing, he says, is his secret formula for wood carving.

However, when he picks up that piece of wood and lowers the sharp blade of his knife, one gets the idea that if there is a secret it must be spelled "skill."

As he carves, he seems to lose all contact with the outside world and, as the chips fly, his expressions change as does his position in his bed.

Jubie has never had an art lesson—he operated a cabinet shop in Hickman, Ky., before illness first struck him down. He was born on a Graves County farm on March 7, 1914, about nine miles east of Fulton. Jubie had completed the eighth grade and was entering high school when his father became seriously ill and he had to leave school to take over the farm work.

"That ended my schooling," he said.

Needless to say Jubie has graduated from the collie-hair paint brush, but his chief carving tool is still his four-bladed Case pocket knife.

Money Bill Cuts Fund For Housing

WASHINGTON—President Johnson has before him a $14.57-billion money bill that would get his major housing program going with far less an impetus than he had hoped.

The Senate acting in the midst of debate on the nomination of Abe Fortas to be chief justice, completed congressional action Wednesday by approving a conference report.

The measure provides funds for the current fiscal year for major areas of the President's housing program and about 3 independent agencies.

Of the agencies, the Veterans Administration would get the biggest slice—$6.97 billion. The nation's space agency would get about $4 billion.

The measure contains $625 million for the model cities program, $750 million for urban renewal, and $30 million for rent subsidies. These total about half what the President sought to get his 10-year program to wipe out slums off the ground.

CLOSE WORK—The sharp knife in his hands takes deep cuts into the sugar pine until he gets to the more detailed head and beak of the bird he is carving — then Jubie becomes more intense as his work begins to take shape.

BIRD HOUSE? — In front of shelves containing some of the many bird models Jubie has carved, he holds a flower he made from wood shavings which caught his attention while he was working on something else. "They were coming off so nicely I just decided to make a wood-shaving flower," he said.

LET'S SEE, NOW—Fulton's Jubie Henderson studies a block of wood as he prepares to begin carving one of his favorite birds — a quail. With his trusty four-bladed knife, Jubie doesn't even bother to draw off the pattern of the 30 or more birds he carves. He just starts whittling.

Growth Metal
The free world's consumption of nickel has doubled during the last 10 years. In 1967, an estimated 825,000,000 pounds of the hard white metal were consumed. When you put too much detergent in cotton laundry loads, add a cup of vinegar to the last rinse. Rinse once again to insure that cottons will be sweet-smelling.
