"The Role Of Newspapers Today Is To Mirror The World About Us . . ."

Maybe we could have made a lot of money, five years ago. In the light of today's disclosure in certain metropolitan papers, we evidently could have scooped the world and received unheard-of recognition.

We knew quite a bit about this Vietnam policy-making stuff five years ago, but didn't think it worthy of making any big to-do over. We recall sitting down one evening with one who had been over there, discussing the situation, and learning that the U. S. "influences" over there at the time felt it imperative for the government to be changed, if US aims and objectives were to be facilitated.

Today such retrospective analysis is big news, subject to court injunctions against publishing. Four major metropolitan papers have been enjoined from publishing it, and more may follow the parade. Perhaps we should go back and try to dig up our notes; the company is most renowned.

All of the foregoing is not the point of this editorial. The point is contained in a few brief remarks quoted from Warren Wheeler, general manager of the South Bend (Ind) Tribune during a recent Journalism Week gathering at the University of Missouri.

"The role of newspapers today is to mirror the world about us, preserve that right, and convince readers of this," Wheeler said.

Wheeler made the remarks upon accepting an award for his 117,513-ABC circulation paper from the university in recognition of the Tribune's "40 years of thoughtful, exhaustive reporting of the American business community; its unswerving commitment to fair and impartial judgment despite threat of financial loss and displeasure of powerful people."

WHEELER NOTED that there was a sweeping movement toward less freedom in the United States and called the recently initiated 'no-knock' law and the government's use of wire-tapping "awful and repulsive."

Wheeler denounced the government's use of subpoenas to obtain information from journalists saying, "We can acquiesce to no outside powers in our search for truth."

Journalists must divorce themselves from traditional newsroom thinking and find new ways to telling stories, look to new sources and use young ideas to communicate better to people, the general manager related.

"War, waste and wrong will always be with us, but newspapers shouldn't be stopped from fighting all three," Wheeler said. "Newspapers must change with the changing world and new ideas, action and reaction have been the catalysts of growth."

We REALLY believe that the American public feels a sense of pride and satisfaction at the determination of the New York Times, Washington Post and papers in Boston and Chicago to attempt to tell the story of the origins and early policies of the war in Vietnam. We hope that newspapers in this country continue to be determined reporters of what is right and just. When the public has a "right to know", newspapers should never be afraid to undertake the job.

As Thomas Jefferson once stated: "were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers, or newspapers without a government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter."

The Sole Custodian Of The Bible For One Thousand, Five Hundred Years

The following was inserted in the congressional record on Sept. 2, 1960 by Congressman Coad of Iowa. It appeared in the Lexington Herald of Lexington, Ky. on Sept. 30, 1928. Mr. Trimble was a Minister of the Christian Church.

A few Facts of History (By South Trimble)

In the hope that I may set to thinking some of those who have been honestly misled and who do not desire to do injustice to their fellow men, I am going to make a brief tour of the archives of the past to see if the parts Catholics have played in history justify the battle being waged against their patriotism and citizenship.

As to the Catholic creed, faith, or mode of worship, I know little, and have less concern. Religion is a matter between man and his Creator, and whether he be Protestant, Baptist, Jew or even a heathen worshipping a stuffed frog or wooden image, if I believe him sincere I have for him profound respect.

I have no desire to pry into a mans conscience to inquire what he believes or what he does not believe. As a citizen and as a member of society, he should be judged by his acts not by his creed.

I have recently read in an anti-Catholic Publication that the Catholic Church is opposed to the reading of the Scripture and the Bible with the rules of that church to deny or affirm the statement, and it is immaterial to me whether it is true or false, but do know that the indisputable pages of history chronicalize that the Bible, in fragments, was for several centuries-scattered over different parts of Christendom, and in A. D. 397 a council of Catholic prelates assembled at Carthage and compiled the New Testament, the bible, and the Catholic Church was the sole custodian of it for 1,500 years.

This was more than a thousand years before the invention of the printing press, and hundreds of copies, all that were in existence during this period, were written by hand by Catholic monks. Whether they read it or not, the world is indebted to the Catholic Church for the compilation and preservation of the Bible for posterity.

Perhaps these may be appropriate thoughts around here at this time. Reminders, let us say.

BIBLE DIGEST H. B. Dean

"For by grace are ye saved through faith: and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: Not of works, lest any man should boast." Ephesians 2:8,9

Salvation is a gift bought and paid for by our Saviour, attainable only by simple faith in the giver.

The casual seeker won't have much success with God. "When ye seek me with your whole heart ye shall find me."

FULTON'S

Library Corner

BY LUCY DANIEL

Your public libraries in Fulton County have a wide selection of books on flowers and plants of all sorts, sizes and variations. Let's take a look at a few that are in your Fulton library.

HOUSE PLANTS by George Elbert. The new world of house plants is vividly portrayed in this book both in magnificent color photographs and in the informative text by George Elbert and Edward Hyams. Today's favorite indoor plants as well as some of tomorrow's are shown and described in detail while the prized plants of yesteryear, which have withstood the tests of time and survived the changes of fashion, are not forgotten.

Even orchids, long considered to be suited only to greenhouse culture, may now be grown in the home. They are discussed in detail in an informative chapter. The specific needs of plants are fully described in non-technical, easily understood terms - watering, potting, as well as temperature and ventilation requirements.

The newest techniques such as growing under artificial lights, the employment of soil substitutes, and the use of systemic insecticides are competently set forth. HOUSE PLANTS is superbly illustrated with thirty-five photographs in full color. The lucid text provides an invaluable store of information not only for the amateur but also for the professional grower.

THE ROSE QUESTION AND ANSWER BOOK by John Milton.

Here is a well illustrated, easy-to-read reference book on the world's favorite garden plant. In question-and-answer form it covers all the problems common to rose gardeners in any climate, and supplies the information most often sought by the average amateur. But the book does not stop with the basics.

Even the expert and rose hobbyist will find a wealth of specialized information. For example, there is something about organic gardening, a few sections explaining All-america selections, a fascinating treatment of methods of propagation, and a discussion of the world's leading hybridizers. If you have ever been baffled by the excess of information which most rose books seem to supply, you'll like this: right-to-the-point treatment, organized for easy reference.

A PICTORIAL HISTORY OF PERFORMING HORSES by Charles P. Fox. The gates of the past are here swung wide to allow the great teams and tandems of trained horses to come into view. There is a flash of polished brass, blazes of blue and gold, quick flicks of the trainer's whip and a strident blare of trumpets . . . all seen and heard behind a magnificent photographic display. The horses of this book hold their heads high. Their manes and tails are carefully groomed, braided or flowing freely as they canter or curtsy in the arenas before a royal court of cheering throngs. For they are proud horses, proud to obey, proud to please. There are pages and chapters for every kind of horse lover and circus buff . . . The Liberty Horse . . . The High School Horse . . . Bare Back Acts . . . Rodeo and Wild West . . . Circus Ponies . . . Circus Baggage Stock. Roy Rogers says of this book, "I am certain every youngster from six to sixty will find this book a marvelous reading experience."

WHAT HAPPENED TO CANDY CARMICHAEL? by Amelia Walden. Candy had written the baffling entry in her diary on the day her twin sister was married to Candy's ex-boyfriend. On that day, too, Candy had worn an heirloom wedding gown and held a reception of her own aboard Baron Hagelmeier's yacht, surrounded by an international crowd of friends who disappeared suddenly the next day.

When Candy's own boat, The Trip, was found abandoned in Burial Ground Cove and then Candy's body, still clothed in the wedding gown, was discovered nearby, Thornton Carmichael hired Jake Jefferson to decipher the cause of the tragedy. Lisa Clark, a childhood friend of Candy and assistant to Jake, launched her own series of investigations. Tracking down the elusive friends from the yacht party takes the investigators from Connecticut to Trinidad, from Paris to Venice to Naples and Ischia, until one horrifying fact reveals itself: "One thing was absolutely certain. Candy's group knew something. They were being marked X for extinction for some sinister reason." Enjoy this suspense-filled book and find out the answer to the mystery.

Fulton County Students Make MU Dean's List

A record number of 1,140 Murray State University students representing almost 22 percent of the total full-time undergraduate enrollment have been listed on the Dean's List for the spring semester.

Wilson Gantt, dean of admissions and registrar, said the new high surpasses the old mark of 985 honor students for the spring semester of 1970. There were 6,670 students enrolled at Murray State this spring, including 977 doing graduate work.

A total of 192 students made a perfect scholastic standing of all A's or 4.00 during the spring term. That number is also a record high for spring.

Gantt noted that the percentage of students named to the Dean's List is customarily higher in the spring than in the fall because many first year students have made academic adjustments by the end of their initial semester.

To be named to the Dean's List at Murray State a student must make at least a 3.3 grade point average of 4.00 possibility.

Among those listed are 16 from Fulton County. They are: Fonda Adams, Sheila Barron, Gideon Bransford, Vickie Covington, Charles Dixon, Avery Hancock, David Hazlewood, Nancy James, Kathy Mabry, William Mangold, Penny McNeill, Brenda Nanney, Cynthia Terrett, Donna Wall, Paul Wilson, and Raymond Yates.

Gay Paree, Foggy London On Itinerary For Hickman Girls

Say the name Europe and what pops into your mind?—foggy London nights, Piccadilly Square, the Queen and her castle, romantic Parisian night-clubs, the canals of Venice...

For four Hickman girls, this summer will be the fulfillment of these effervescent dreams: They will be touring the Old World for five to eight weeks with students from many U. S. colleges.

It all began Saturday for Amy Bondurant and Nancy Jo James when they travelled to Nashville to fly into Dulles Airport in Washington, D. C. London was the next stop; and from there — well, eight weeks and 10 countries follow, including a behind-the-scenes look at Communist Czechoslovakia and East and West Berlin.

Jane Voorhees and Nancy Sanger did not leave until Sunday. They flew from Memphis to Atlanta, Georgia, where they met the rest of their group, to New York, and finally to London. Their tour will take them to nine European countries, and they will return home in five weeks.

The girls planned to meet in London which will be the only place their tours will coincide. While the girls themselves were excited about the trip, perhaps their parents were as thrilled by the plans. As Mrs. Austin Voorhees described it, "This is a wonderful opportunity for the girls; and they're so excited and happy!"

Mrs. Hickman Fulton Nurse, LPN Speaker

Mrs. Maureen Hickman, a Fulton Hospital registered nurse, was the guest speaker at the regular monthly meeting June 8 of the Kentucky State Association of Licensed Practical Nurses.

Her topic "Diabetes Mellitus," was described by one of the members as a "really timely and important subject."

In other business Mrs. Virginia Austin was elected the new vice-president, and Mrs. Margie Moyers secretary. The next meeting will be July 13.

Ann Landers

— Your Problems Bring Answers —

Dear Ann Landers: I am not a Yale student and this is no joke. I am a married man who loves his wife and I am not interested in fooling around. The problem is my best friend's wife.

About three months ago a group of us went to a dinner party at our club. This woman started to play footsie with me under the table. I had had a few drinks and responded, just for the fun of it. She took me seriously and now she won't leave me alone. She keeps calling my wife and setting up evenings together. This woman is sly as a fox and can figure out the goldarnest ways to corner me. When I leave the room for whatever reason, she is behind me. Last night when I went to the bathroom I had to move fast to lock her out.

I don't want to tell my wife but I wish she would stop accepting invitations from this woman. Although her husband and I are good friends I can see him at lunch.

Please print your advice in the paper. I can't have any letters from Ann Landers coming to either my home or my office. Thank you.—Sweating Dear Sweat: Tell Mrs. Mustard Plaster of 1971 that her aggressiveness is becoming obvious to others and she'd better cool it. Explain that she is undoubtedly the most appealing woman since Helen of Troy but you have somehow summoned the courage to resist her charms and she should please leave you alone.

Dear Ann Landers: A while back a reader asked you if your teeth are your own. You said "Yes" and I am sure you were telling the truth because of the unfeeling way you reply to people who have denture problems.

It's easy for you to sit in Chicago with your own teeth and give people advice on dentistry, but unless you've been through a complete extraction and suffered with ill-fitting dentures, you are in no position to tell anybody anything. I fiddled around with a $400 set of dentures for three months. Finally I told the dentist I would report him to the County Dental Society if he didn't stop monkeying around with adjustments and make me a set of teeth I could eat with. Do you know what he did? He gave me my $400 back and told me to go to another dentist. I blindfolded myself and picked a name out of the phone book and guess what? I got me a dentist who made a perfect set of teeth — never had to go back for even one adjustment. What do you think of THAT, Ann Landers? — Nutty Al (My friends' nickname for me)

Dear Al: Congratulations on your new teeth. And say hello to your friends for me. I think they've got you properly labeled.

Dear Ann Landers: I was engaged to Gert for three years — ring and all — when she ran off with a guy she had met only a week before. I thought I'd go out of my mind. Three months later — she was in the hospital with a fractured skull. Her husband hit her with a baseball bat. She sent word she wanted to see me. When I went to see her I ran into her husband. He was visiting her, too. She told me she was going to give him another chance.

Last week she was back in the hospital with a broken shoulder. He hit her again. Now she wants me to go to him and talk about a divorce. I really love her, Ann. What should I do? — Undecided

Dear Un: Leave her alone. And leave HIM alone, too. If and when Gert is single, you might consider seeing her again. But not until.

What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you be sure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage — What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50¢ in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. (C) 1971, Publishers-Hall Syndicate

Summer Jobs For Graduates At A Premium In Kentucky

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Summer jobs for high school and college students are at a premium this year, according to Ed DeShazer, director of the Department of Economic Security.

DeShazer said the situation isn't unexpected since summer jobs have steadily decreased in the past four years. The situation really doesn't appear good, he added. "No one seems to be hiring right now and some companies are laying off workers."

Betty Landrum, who has six years' experience dealing with summer placement program, said her office is receiving many applications for summer positions but the "position of the labor market is prohibiting any big push for 1971."

Mrs. Landrum, representing Louisville's Kentucky State Employment Service, said seasonal positions may be the last resort for employment-seekers. Such jobs include housework (painting, lawnmowing, baby-sitting) and construction work.

The service also is working with the Youth Commission on putting into effect OPERATION: STEEPLE. This plan allows churches to hire students from the congregation as maintenance or odd-job workers.

Mrs. Landrum reports some federal agencies are hiring students ages 16-21 who have disadvantaged criteria. The positions listed would include employment at state post offices, Fort Knox and Naval Ordnance.

Mrs. Landrum advised students interested in summer employment to contact employment services in their communities. "It's better for the students to work through one of our offices than to go first to a company."

OEO Studies Rabbits As Poverty Fighters

The Office of Economic Opportunity is pondering the possibility of raising rabbits and other animals as a possible weapon in the national war on poverty. About 125 persons, including anti-poverty officials and small rabbit producers, conferred here Tuesday on the potential of rabbit raising as a money-making venture for the poor. Joining the discussion were a fur broker, a judge from the American Rabbit Association, a meat processor and a laboratory rabbit breeder — all with advice on how to raise rabbits.

The OEO makes loans through local agencies to help poor persons or community action groups finance through projects such as the raising of rabbits. In Whitesburg, Ky., 28 persons are raising rabbits and 11 are raising heifers, using money from a local $10,000 loan.

Goal of the Whitesburg group is a cooperative processing plant and eventual development of the ability to raise food, slaughter the rabbits, freeze the edible parts, send the organs to laboratories, then dry the pelts and sew them into garments.

Currently, the Whitesburg group is selling rabbits to neighbors and supplying rabbits as pets for local children.

Tuesday's session was told that rabbits are good investments for anti-poverty work projects because of their rapid reproduction.

David Pelphrey, president of the Pelphrey Co., the nation's largest rabbit meat processor, said that careful processing of all parts of the rabbit is the key to making money in the venture.

He said that the head, ears and hair are ground for mink food and shipped to mink ranchers in the Northwest; the pelts

Rates Hiked For Medicare

The cost of supplementary medical insurance will go up 30 cents a month effective July 1, 1971, Social Security Administration officials have announced.

For most people, this means the cost of medical insurance under the Government Medicare program will be $5.60 per month, increased from the present $5.30. For other individuals presently paying $5.80, $6.40 and $6.90, the new rates will be $6.20, $6.70 and $7.30, respectively.

The officials pointed out that since the Government pays an equal amount, one's medical insurance continues to be worth double the amount one pays for it.

The new increase will be effective with the check normally received on July 3. This increase is necessary to cover the higher costs of medical care and the greater use of medical services, the officials said.

are sold to fur brokers, and the organs, glands and blood go to medical schools and laboratories.

The conference also voted to include two delegates under 25-years-old from each district.

The conference received a check for $11,567 from the UCM Publishing House, its share of the division's profits. The money goes into the conference pension fund for retired ministers.

The following ministers were named as Kentucky delegates to the church's general conference in Atlanta next year: Dr. Albert W. Sweazy, Lexington; Dr. E. L. Tullis, Ashland; Rev. R. R. Patton, Lexington; and Rev. H. H. Greene, Lexington.

The conference voted to increase the annual pension rate for retired ministers from $57 to $60 for each year of service effective Jan. 1, 1972.

The following retirements were announced: Rev. Harold Daniels, Fort Thomas; Rev. Paul Gillespie, Russell; Rev. O. S. Gardner, Shelbyville; and Robert Hart, Maysville.

The delegates also voted to increase their contributions to 12 Negro colleges connected with the Methodist church.

"Rewarding" Work Brings Honor To Lois Miller

(As recorded in THE NEWS issue of April 1, 1971)
(By Angela Mueller)

Mrs. Rodney Miller became administrator of Haws Memorial Nursing Home in 1967 "with some misgivings, but knowing I was needed." Today she approaches her work with a content's fervor and enthusiasm.

"It's not depressing," she said emphatically. "This is the most rewarding thing of my life. There is no place where people appreciate efforts on their behalf more."

Mrs. Miller's dedication is well known to the Kentucky Nursing Home Association, which nominated, at its convention last fall, her for a position on the state Hospital Council. Gov. Nunn has appointed her to a three-year term on the council.

Characteristically, Mrs. Miller regards the appointment less as a personal reward than as a chance to work for the improvement of nursing homes in the state. "I've got lots of dreams," she said. "Everywhere I am now I want people to know what we are trying to do."

What she is trying to do is offer not only the best nursing home care at Haws, but to improve the quality of nursing-home and rest-home care across the state. Such plans include an effort to educate people to the fact that "there are different levels of care and all are necessary to people's physical and mental needs."

According to Mrs. Miller, the first task of such a public education program is to make clear that the terms "nursing home" and "rest home" do not apply to the same types of institutions. She explained that a nursing home cares for persons convalescing from acute illnesses, and chronically ill persons who need skilled medical care. A rest home, known as a personal care home, is for persons who do not need some custodial care because they cannot live by themselves. "But it's not enough just to educate," Mrs. Miller added. "We need laws to make the difference apparent."

Mrs. Miller explained that no laws now exist which would prevent rest homes from accepting persons who need medical care and should be patients in nursing homes. When abuses are uncovered, they reflect on both nursing homes and rest homes. She said that Ralph Nader's investigators, who disclosed an unfavorable report on "nursing homes" in Chicago last summer were actually investigating rest homes.

In her position on the Hospital Council, Mrs. Miller hopes to spect individual nursing homes. "Don't misunderstand... there are plenty of excellent nursing homes," Mrs. Miller added. "But there are some bad ones too, and I'd hate like the Dickens for them to rub off on all of us."

Mrs. Miller, the former Lois Jean Haws, is the daughter of Mrs. Lois C. Haws, who founded the Haws Hospital as a memorial to her husband, the late Dr. Morton W. Haws, in 1939. The hospital became a nursing home in 1958. Before becoming administrator, Mrs. Miller divided her time between serving as her husband's legal secretary and raising her family of five children.

When Mrs. Miller argues for high standards in nursing home care, she speaks as an administrator who demands the same high standards of herself. "Your personnel attitude, everything, is related to the attitude of the person in charge of administration," she stated.

Mrs. Miller is proud that Kentucky law requires high standards of nursing home administrators. To receive a license, an administrator must pass an examination given by the Health Department. The license is renewable every two years, but the applicant must qualify each time by attending 80 hours of courses in nursing-home administration. Mrs. Miller's husband accompanies her to the seminars and workshops which she attends to earn her credits.

Mrs. Miller is a member of the American College of Nursing Home Administrators, and the Western Kentucky District of the Kentucky Nursing Home Association. She also represents the association on a technical advisory committee with the State Health Department.

But degrees and committee appointments do not reveal as much about Mrs. Miller's devotion to her work as she herself reveals in discussing her patients at Haws.

"The worst thing you can do is fail to recognize them as individuals. There are some places that treat people like numbers," she said.

"In America we tend to think of people who are producing. Everyone needs to be needed and when they feel they are a burden to their family, and their friends, and society, it's no wonder they want to turn their face to the wall."

Mrs. Miller speaks warmly of her staff, saying "I love 'em, they're just great. Our turnover is very low. Many of the nurses and aides have been here for years."

Mrs. Miller's family shares her involvement with the nursing home. She has four daughters: Meredith, 13; Allyson, 17; Susan, 18; and Paige, 16; and one son, Scott, 9. The oldest girls have worked summers in Haws as aides, and "Scott is fascinated with the new home," according to his mother.

The Millers are building a new Haws Nursing Home next to the Holiday Inn and hope to open it in May. It will have 60 beds, compared to the present 36, and will have more services. A barber shop, chapel, large dining room and physical therapy room will be included. The present nursing home will be closed once the new facility is completed.

OPEN HOUSE HOURS: 2 P.M. TO 5 P.M.

OUR PHILOSOPHY

We believe that all persons, regardless of age or disability, race or creed, are entitled to the best nursing care that can be provided. Further, we believe that each individual's dignity and privacy must be protected. Our constant aim is to provide physical, mental, social, restorative and spiritual care in order to meet the total daily needs of the persons entrusted to our care.

MEDICARE AND MEDICAID

Haws Memorial is an Extended Care Facility certified by the Social Security Administration as a participant in the Medicare program and approved by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to serve Medicaid recipients. For such care, we are governed by the laws and specifications set by Federal and State agencies. We must at all times remain in compliance with these standards.

We at Haws Memorial are most appreciative of the opportunity to serve you. It is our primary purpose to provide the best possible care for every resident entrusted to us. With your cooperation we can accomplish our goal.

Please understand that many of our regulations are standards and rules set by the Kentucky State Board of Health and by the U. S. federal government. We are grateful for their guidance. Our Board of Directors and staff have established the following regulations and have suggested a pattern of Activities of Daily Living for residents of Haws Memorial.

It is necessary that a responsible member (or members) of the family of a prospective resident arrange a conference with our administrative office prior to the new resident's admission. This meeting not only provides the necessary, vital information, but also it allows us to become acquainted with the family. This enables us to provide a more effective care program and to make the most accurate and meaningful placement of the patient in the facility upon his or her arrival.

This conference procedure is beneficial to both the family and the facility while the patient is adjusting to a new mode of living at Haws Memorial. Conferences between the family and the Haws Memorial staff can effectively serve a useful purpose throughout a patient's stay. Please feel free to request a conference any time you would like, to discuss your loved one's care or progress. By doing so you will help us help you.

ADMISSIONS

A patient must be admitted under the supervision of a local physician of his choice. This physician will provide continued supervision of care while the patient is a resident of Haws Memorial.

Admissions will be accepted after a pre-admission conference with the family of the patient. Haws Memorial will admit a patient at the convenience of the patient, the family and the physician. We will make a recommendation concerning the most appropriate time — from the facility's care schedule standpoint — for admitting a new patient.

RATES, PAYMENTS AND DEPOSITS

Rates include routine nursing care, room, meals and laundry. Additional charges at reasonable cost may be applied, where needed, for care in excess of routine nursing. Drugs or medications, treatments and personal purchases — plus daily room charges — will be itemized and billed to the responsible person at the end of each month.

An admission deposit of $150.00 is required in cases other than Medicaid. The deposit is shown on our records and will appear as a credit in the final billing. Any unused portion of this deposit will be refunded promptly following a dismissal. The admission deposit for Medicare patients is refunded as soon as the facility receives total payment from Medicare.

VISITING HOURS

Daily visiting hours are: 9:30-11:30 a. m. and 2:30-5:30 p. m. We ask that these visiting hours be respected by family and friends. However, exceptions to this rule may be made. In that event special permission for visiting privileges will be issued by the administrative office or the supervising nurse on duty. During visiting hours we must maintain the right to request that visitors vacate an area temporarily if nursing treatment is necessary for a patient. Children are welcome when accompanied and supervised by an adult. Please do not allow children to be loud or disturbing to other people.

MEALS

We must ask that families not bring food into the facility, under any circumstances, without first obtaining permission from the administrative office or the supervising nurse on duty. All food for our patients is prepared under the supervision of a dietary consultant. All diets and menus are written by the consultant in accordance with orders by each patient's physician. Three main meals and an evening snack are served to patients. A program of good nutrition is an important part of maintaining the patient's good health and of aiding recuperation from illness. The Haws Memorial dietary schedule provides complete nutrition.

MEDICAL

Governor Nunn dedicated a $1 million health occupations center in Madisonville and said it would help remedy the greatest shortage of personnel — that of allied health professionals—in the medical field today. The center offers training for medical assistants, licensed practical nurses, X-ray technologists, lab technicians and related fields.

The safest spot for drivers caught in a summer thunderstorm, says the Louisville Automobile Club, is inside the car — which should be parked in the open away from overhead wires. If a wind-blown wire should strike your car, avoid touching any metal parts inside the vehicle

UTM Majors Are Okayed

Two majors leading to bachelor of science degrees in law enforcement and in health services management have been approved for the University of Tennessee at Martin by the Tennessee Higher Education Commission. Dr. Norman Campbell, vice chancellor for academic affairs, has announced.

An integral part of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology in the School of Liberal Arts, the bachelor's degree program in law enforcement will include during the junior and senior years basic law enforcement content courses, a series of practicums of a technical nature and additional courses selected from the arts curricula.

The program is designed to meet the increasing demand for law enforcement education in Northwest Tennessee, according to Dr. Stanley Williams, chairman of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology.

Students completing the program in health services management will be awarded the bachelor's degree in business administration.

Dr. William H. Baker, dean of the School of Business Administration has described the objectives of the new degree program:

1. To prepare students for middle management positions in large hospitals and other health care institutions.
2. To train students to serve in the area of administration and management of small hospitals, nursing homes and other health care institutions.
3. To provide the students with a solid foundation for graduate work in hospital administration.

Also approved were three majors in education already in operation. Included are Curriculum and Instruction, Educational Psychology and Guidance, and Educational Administration and Supervision. These majors are similar to those offered by the U-T Knoxville College of Education, Dr. Karl Keefe, dean of the School of Education, said.

Given THEC approval two years ago, the master's degree in home economics was placed on the list of programs to be funded this fiscal year. The program will be fully implemented in the fall quarter 1971. Some courses will be offered during the summer session, Miss Mary R. Armstrong, dean of the School of Home Economics, has announced.

To be included in the master's program in home economics when fully implemented are three areas of concentration including Child Development and Family Relationships; Home Management, Equipment and Family Economics; and Food Science and Nutrition. The latter will be initiated at a later date.

Diversity Helps Party, Says Ford

SIKESTON, Mo. - Wendell Ford, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee in Kentucky, said Friday that his party's strength has been, and is, "the diversity of the adherents to its principles."

The lieutenant governor in his speech to the Missouri Young Democrats state convention said the Democratic party remains strong because of its concern for human rights, prosperity and dignity.

Ford said his party is backed by people and groups whose mutual concern is the greatest good for all the people, but whose ideas about how to best achieve the greatest good are often in conflict.

He warned that the Democrats suffer setbacks when party goals become secondary to conflict, adding that the party must be unified to make the conquests.

"If we allow our diversity to become our weakness," he said, "no one profits but the powerful selfish interests who can seize power only when we are divided."

Referring to his opponent in the fall election, Ford contended that Tom Emberton was the hand-picked GOP nominee of special interests.

Ford predicted that he would win in November and "begin the Dump Nixon movement for 1972. Mr. Nixon is fully aware of this and we anticipate being the center of his attention."

The lieutenant governor said Kentucky is the only state this year where Democrats will regain control of the statehouse.

County Court Clerk James Kendall said today he believes the new business tax act passed by the legislature will not be as complicated as some predict "once we get through the transition period."

Mr. Kendall has just launched a crash mail campaign to let Obion County retail merchants and contractors know that the new law became effective June 1 and the basic fees are due and payable now.

"Businesses must pay these fees now to have a current privilege license," he said. Under the act, retailers pay a single county privilege tax of $15, plus $2.50 clerk's issuance fee. At the end of annual reporting periods, they must pay a gross receipts tax ranging from one-fifth to one-fifteenth of one per cent.

General contractors are required to pay $102.50 and road contractors $402.50 now and a gross receipts tax later not to exceed a net total of $1,000.

Mr. Kendall said the proper forms will be mailed out later for reporting of the gross receipts tax. The reporting dates are Nov. 1, Dec. 31 and the last day of February, depending on the type of business involved.

He said that any business which has already paid privilege taxes prior to June 1 will be given credit on a pro-rata basis for the amount of such license extending beyond June 1.

According to Mr. Kendall the county privilege tax will be collected for the period ending June 1 and the ad valorem tax paid by merchants that is normally paid up until Jan. 1 is now payable up to June 1. Ad valorem tax is paid in the office of the county trustee.

Thief's Loot Is An Avocado

Ford's Victory Margin In Primary Was 42,137

Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford defeated former Gov. Bert T. Combs by 42,137 votes in the Democratic gubernatorial primary. The figures are from final official returns released Wednesday after being compiled by the state Board of Elections.

The data showed the total vote in the Democratic primary was 448,667 and the aggregate tally in the Republican primary was 100,945. In the Democratic race, Ford amassed 237,815 votes to 185,678 for Combs. Five others collected the remainder.

For Democratic lieutenant governor, Julian Carroll of Paducah, runningmate of Combs, won with 152,336 votes. Atty. Gen. John Breckinridge, running without any gubernatorial candidate, received 130,673. Far behind was Henry Beach of Louisville with 43,673. Beach is a state senator who also ran independently. The GOP race for governor was a walkover for Tom Emberton, who got 84,863. Three others collected the remaining 16,000 votes. For GOP lieutenant governor, James Host received 56,468 and the nearest of his two foes less than 10,000. France has banned the use of DDT on fruit trees, potatoes and vines.
