Goodyear Announces $50,000,000 Plant Near Here

Twin Cities Jubilant Over Announcement; Obion County Site Is Just 10 Miles Away

The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company announced in a special conference at Union City Monday that it will build, in Obion County, the largest single construction project in its 69-year history.

On a 593-acre site just north of Union City (see adjacent map), Goodyear will build a $50-million dollar tire plant nearly a half-mile long, employing more than 500 and capable of producing 17,500 passenger car tires a day. Construction is scheduled to begin in January.

A hundred-million-dollar industrial revenue bond issue will be floated to cover the cost of the plant, estimated at $46 million dollars, plus $54 million more for additional financing, if needed, and future expansion. The plant is hailed as the largest single industrial plant to locate in Tennessee in the past quarter-century.

The plant will be served by a new US 51 by-pass (see map) which will begin at Napier's store on the Fulton Highway, run due west past the Goodyear site, then bear south to a junction with the new 4-lane highway to Troy, merging with this highway just south of the Reelfoot Packing Company plant. Completion of this by-pass has been promised before the plant opens for limited production late in 1968.

consensus of business leaders in this area for some time that any giant industry that located in this area would directly benefit every community in the area, since no single community is capable of supplying all of the employees for an industry of this magnitude. Fulton and South Fulton will have a highway to the front door... just a mere ten miles away.

The Union City Chamber of Commerce office told The News Tuesday that around 900 men will probably be used in construction, and that every available housing facility in the Twin Cities will likely be needed to handle this load.

It will be interesting to note that a Goodyear evaluation team selected the Obion County site after narrowing their search down to three communities: one in central Tennessee, one in southwestern Kentucky, and Obion County. According to the manager of the Union City Chamber of Commerce a strong suggestion for the Obion County site was entered by the Fantus Company, which had up-to-date facts and figures not only on Obion County, but all adjacent counties in Kentucky. The Kentucky research by Fantus has been kept up-to-date by Commerce Commissioner Kath-

Jo's III Notebook

Vanderbilt University: I went on a sentimental and academic journey to Frankfort last week-end. I deliberated with myself for many agonizing hours whether or not to go, for there were many things to be done here in Nashville, like going to the UK-Vanderbilt football game and concentrating on several term papers that are due right after the holidays.

Friday morning I had "firmly" made up my mind not to go, I thought. Driving down Hillsboro Road in the early light of a magnificent Fall day, I started thinking about a lot of very dear and close friends in State government that I have been in close touch with for many wonderful years and who might just be needing some evidence of warm friendship the very minute that I was approaching Vanderbilt University.

I had made the turn down Twenty-first Street to Calhoun Hall when, I suddenly turned around, headed back to the Royal Arms Apartments, packed a few things hurriedly, and by the time my first class started at nine a. m. I was almost near Bowling Green. Not that there is any real reason for making an explanation, but because a writer must put words together so the reader MUST understand, rather than MIGHT understand, I think I ought to tell you that the sentimental journey was to be with my friends who were on the losing side of the gubernatorial campaign.

The academic reason for this mission was to do some research on the campaign results to compile data that would tend to explain Henry Ward's sudden decline in voter favor, when only 30 days before the polls indicated that he would receive 65% of the votes cast.

At the "two week before the election point," the polls indicated that Governor-elect Louie Nunn gained about 13 percentage points on Ward, in spite of the fact that Ward had (according to the polls) the Negro vote, the labor vote, the Administration vote, and all the money needed to win a campaign.

I shall begin a series of articles on the subject for the News, from which I shall select the more salient reasonings for a dissertation on "Party Politics In Kentucky," a political science class requirement here at Vanderbilt.

Before I leave the subject I want to say that I disagree wholeheartedly with Paul's editorial of last week that the Johnson Administration and the Vietnam war contributed to voter rebellion against Henry Ward.

After some long and searching conversations with people who should know, you might possibly agree with my findings that neither of the above-mentioned judgments triggered the Ward defeat, in spite of the fact that the very people who contributed mostly to Ward's defeat will find this "explanation" a very convenient and cozy shelter for their defections and lack of support.

If you took time to read my column last week you will note that I wrote it in the past tense, though the predictions were made on Monday night, put in the mail here at Nashville at 5 p. m. on Monday, and the polls were not open for 24 hours later.

I felt that I was on safe ground in reporting Louie Nunn's victory, for I had heard too many alleged "Ward supporters" predict his defeat; a sure indication that they were speaking their own hopes in the matter.

Controversy Over Closing Of Libraries Continues To Seethe In Fulton County

A mounting swell of public indignation over the prospective closing of the entire Fulton County library system began to take shape this week as some of the petition signers discovered they had been lulled into the belief that the petition was only to "reduce their house taxes", and other misrepresentations.

One irate signer told The News Monday that she had stopped at a local service station and was approached by a local man who thrust the petition at her, asked her if she wanted to "reduce the taxes on her house", and "if, she did, sign this." She signed it. Now that she has discovered that the petition meant closing the County library system, she stated that she had written a letter to the County Court Clerk asking that her signature be removed.

One irate signer told The News Monday that she had stopped at a local service station and was approached by a local man who thrust the petition at her, asked her if she wanted to "reduce the taxes on her house", and "if, she did, sign this." She signed it. Now that she has discovered that the petition meant closing the County library system, she stated that she had written a letter to the County Court Clerk asking that her signature be removed.

Judge Cruce admitted that a legal opinion from the Attorney-General's office will have to be obtained to decide several courses in this latest episode involving, first, the imposing of a special library tax last summer to support the system, and now, the petition for removal of the tax. The tax for this fiscal year meanwhile has already been collected, and a ruling will be sought as to what to do with it.

Meanwhile, the libraries and Fulton and Hickman are still open, and the bookmobile is making its daily rounds to serve areas needing it.

An ironic note for Fulton Countians this week came in a report from Frankfort by Governor Breathitt. The report, not motivated by the local controversy, just happened to coincide with the Fulton County situation.

Said Governor Breathitt: "It looks as if we have succeeded in our goal—providing Kentuckians in qualifying areas with excellent library facilities that are big on quality and variety."

This is how Breathitt has described a four-year report from the Kentucky Department of Libraries and the Department is providing new or remodeled library and community centers across the state. Twenty-nine counties have benefited from this program since 1963.

"In contrast to some states," the report says, "which have not qualified for the full Federal allotments for library construction or remodeling projects, Kentucky has successfully used all Federal funds available each year for the past few years and has even qualified for some funds which were not used by other states."

The report said that during the past four years the Department of Libraries has selected, catalogued, processed and delivered to regional libraries and Bookmobiles a total of 564,930 books.

Breathitt said that his administration has also placed special emphasis on its statewide Bookmobile program. "Since 1963, the State has purchased 66 new Bookmobiles and now owns 104 of the "libraries on wheels," "more than any other state."

Students Charged In Campus Fracas At UT-Martin

Two former students at University of Tennessee at Martin involved in a Halloween shooting incident have waived preliminary hearing in Weakley County General Sessions Court at Dresden.

William B. Miesse Jr., 18, son of Dr. and Mrs. William B. Miesse of Germantown, and Jerry Lynn Smith, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin E. Smith of Brownsville, were represented by their attorney.

Judge Robert G. Jeeter held them to the action of the grand jury. They are free on $1,000 bond each. Judge Jeeter said if the youths are indicted a trial will be set in December.

The youths are charged with assault to commit a felony. Warrants Photo On Page Eight

IT MUST HAVE BEEN THE "RESTLESS ATMOSPHERE"

Cockeyed Kentucky Election Causes Many An Editor To Wonder

This, you might say, is a "final gasp" of the 1967 Kentucky Governor's race in Kentucky.

What happened???

Why did Henry Ward's own first district turn against him so in last week's election? What caused such a Republican swing in this heavily-Democratic district... against, of all people, a native son who has literally worked miracles for his area during his 20 years with Parks and Highways???. Why was he tried and found wanting against an opponent whose only public office has been that of a County Judge? Why did the Democratic candidate for Lieutenant-Governor win, yet the Democratic candidate for GOVERNOR lose???

We're not setting up a walling mind, you, but WHAT happened???

It might be interesting to review

a few comments from area papers on the subject... all off-hand observations of the various editors, made as they ran a quick analysis of their own, in their respective counties.

MARSHALL COURIER, BENTON:

Ward received 3,198 votes, Nunn polled 3,067... yet Marshall County has 11,583 voters. In the May primary Nunn received 185 votes against his opponent, Marlow Cook, who received 73. Said Scott Smith, "I guess it's back to the dusty drawing-board with the crumpled scratch pads and dull pencils... all my predictions of a Ward victory hit the wastebasket about 8: pm... There will be many answers for the defeat, but the prime target was Ward himself... in the wars of Kentucky politics there is little place for chivalry..."

HERALD-LEDGER, EDDYVILLE:

The outcome was a surprise to many veteran observers. Many blamed the Democratic failure on "national" issues rather than local, which Nunn had succeeded in injecting into the campaign, and which his Democratic opponent, Henry Ward, went to great lengths to avoid, saying the campaign should be fought on purely local issues since a governor could have little control over any national issue.

Other theories as to the upset victory of the Republicans touched on the personalities of the candidates themselves. Ward is known as a blunt individualist, and well known throughout the state from his many years of public service. Some are of the opinion that Nunn's timing with his slogan "its time for a change" was accepted by the voters and thus his election.

Nunn himself expressed the opinion that the outcome of the election that the outcome should serve warning on 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue. He apparently meant that the national image of the Democratic party was suffering because of national issues—Vietnam War, high taxes, excessive federal spending—to mention a few of the current voter gripes.

None of these theories, in themselves, will hold up, since Democrat

Cockeyed Kentucky Election Causes Many An Editor To Scratch His Head As He Ponders The Results

Wendell Ford was elected Lt. Governor, as well as other state officers including veteran Thelma Stovall and John Breckinridge.

It was not a complete Republican victory and thus could not be interpreted as a repudiation of the Democratic party. A combination of several theories would more nearly explain the victory.

TRIBUNE-DEMOCRAT, BENTON:—

Ward really lost the race in the First District, long-time Democratic stronghold, which gave him a majority of only 15,517 votes compared to the 28,000 majority given Governor Ed Breathitt four years ago when he defeated Nunn by 13,000 votes.

Marshall County contributed strongly to the First District Democratic collapse by giving Ward a mere 131-vote majority, compared to a majority of 1420 given Breathitt four years ago.

The Marshall County vote Tuesday was 3198 for Ward and 3067 for Nunn. Four years ago the county gave Breathitt 3655 to 2235 for Nunn, with slightly more than 400 more people going to the polls this year.

McLEAN COUNTY NEWS, CALHOUN:—

For the first time in history McLean county was carried by a Republican candidate who won the governor's race. Nunn received 1465 votes—27 more than Ward who had 1438. The last time McLean voted for a Republican gubernatorial candidate was in 1915 when Edwin P. Morrow was defeated by his Democratic opponent.

It was only eight years ago that Combs carried McLean county by 968 votes. Many people feel that this great decrease in Democratic votes was caused, not by Nunn's strength, but by an anti-Breathitt, anti-Johnson vote. Nunn had campaigned with the slogan, "It's time for a change". He promised to "wipe out dangerous state debts", "stop the ever-increasing state taxes," and in general, "give the government back to the people."

NEWS-DEMOCRAT, RUSSELLVILLE:—

Logan County Democrats lost their key to the state capital Tuesday. Republican Louie Nunn was elected Governor of Kentucky.

Emerson "Doc" Beauchamp's Logan County Democratic organization did its part to hold the fortress—Henry Ward carried this county with a 2030-vote majority.

But the gates to Frankfort folded under a Republican onslaught that was aided no little by dissident Democrats—chief among them Albert Benjamin Chandler.

There was nothing for Ward to complain about in his Logan vote. It was just 59 votes under the majority Edward T. "Ned" Breathitt received four years ago when Breathitt carried Logan against Louie Nunn by 4464 to 2375.

As for Louie Nunn, he had reason to be satisfied with his Logan lieutenants. Only a handful in number, they took on one of Kentucky's most formidable Democratic machines and slugged it out toe to toe, beginning with a pre-election court contest over absentee ballots, letters to the editor of The Courier Journal predicting election fraud on Tuesday, and the assignment of special challengers from out-of-county to suspect polling places in various Logan communities.

UNION COUNTY ADVOCATE, MORGANFIELD:—

In losing Ward, the former State Highway Commissioner, failed to break a long-standing precedent of no administration being able to succeed itself for more than one term. Bert T. Combs was elected in 1959 after defeating Chandler-backed Harry Lee Waterfield in the primary. The Combs administration was successful in naming its successor when Breathitt won, but the latter failed Tuesday in extending the tenure to 12 years.

Opposition to the so-called "dynasty" at Frankfort, the unpopularity of the Breathitt administration, the Court of Appeals 100 percent property assessment ruling, and general opposition to the Democratic national administration all contributed to Ward's defeat.

TIMES-ARGUS, CENTRAL CITY:—

Kentucky voters certainly proved the validity of the old saying that "in Kentucky the politics are the damdest."

The voters throughout the state scratched, horse-traded, stayed at home and performed various other electoral shenanigans to elect a Republican governor, a Democrat lieutenant governor and split up various other state offices between the two parties.

And while this was going on throughout the state, the Muhlenberg County voters were repeating their frequent habit of managing to be on the losing side in governor's elections. A total of 7,380 votes were cast in Muhlenberg County Tuesday.

While Republican Louie B. Nunn was winning the governor's race by defeating Democrat Henry Ward in the state by approximately 26,000 votes, he lost Muhlenberg County by 85 votes.

The strongest vote-getter in Muhlenberg County was Democrat Wendell Ford of Owensboro who beat Republican Thomas Ratliff by 734 votes in the race for lieutenant governor. Ford got 4,086 votes to 3352 for Ratliff.

KENTUCKY STANDARD, BARDSTOWN:—

More than twice as many persons voted Republican as are registered Republicans here.

Nunn's victory is considered by most political leaders to have been a protest vote—at long-time reign of the Democrats in Kentucky, at LBJ in Washington, even at circumstances laid to Democrats in local communities.

KENTUCKY LABOR NEWS, LOUISVILLE:—

Kentucky labor—like the rest of the state's population—faces an uncertain four years. A Republican governor, a Democrat Lieutenant Governor, a mixed cabinet, a dwindling Democratic majority in the House and Senate—and a stunned Kentucky wondering how and why it happened...

Louie Nunn was a better politician. He reminded us for the world of the potato peeler salesman at the State Fair, or, perhaps, a used car salesman who would emphasize the quality of the rear view mirror while failing to point out that a rod had been thrown through the motor block! (We remember that the potato peeler salesman sold a lot of potato peelers!) Anyway, the election is over, and half of the citizens of Kentucky who were eligible to vote have cast their ballot. The other half stayed at home and have no reason to complain.

Yep, the election is over. And as we said last week, if it's "time for a change" down here in the First District, we will be extremely interested, during the next four years, in seeing what kind of change it was time for.

POETRY CORNER

LIFE'S SCARS

They say the world is round, and yet I often think it square;
So many little hurts we get
From corners here and there.
But one great truth in life I've found,
While journeying to the West -
The only folks who really wound
Are those we love the best.

The man you thoroughly despise
Can rouse your wrath, 'tis true;
Annoyance in your heart will rise
At things mere strangers do;
But those are only passing ills,
This rule all lives will prove;
The rankling wound which aches and thrills
Is dealt by hands we love.

The choicest garb, the sweetest grace,
Are oft to strangers shown;
The careless mien, the frowning face,
Are given to our own.
We flatter those we scarcely know,
We please the fleeting guest,
And deal full many a thoughtless blow
To those who love us best.

Love does not grow on every tree,
Nor true hearts yearly bloom.
Alas for those who only see
This cut across a tomb!
But soon or late, the fact grows plain
To all through sorrow's test:
The only folks who give us pain
Are those we love the best.

FULTON'S

Library Corner

By Brenda Rowlett

Today many parents read to the pre-school child who cannot read for himself. Very often a child will come in the library and want a certain book that he "has already read" because he wants to take it home and "read it to mother and father". Because these young children show such an interest in books, this week let's examine some of the books that they enjoy reading and often learning by heart.

LITTLE WRANGLER by Nancy Wood. The Durango Kid could ride a horse and sometimes rope a steer, and he's gone on spring roundup often enough to know nearly all there is to know about it. But he's never before worked with five hundred bawling, snorting cattle in a corral, and that was his job on spring roundup this year. The day began well enough. He and his old horse Geronimo rounded up a batch of cattle and drove them to the corral without a hitch. But when it came time to sort the herd, the Kid's troubles began—in the shape of two angry steers. Cowboy buffs and children everywhere will be delighted by this warmhearted and amusing story and by Myron Wood's stunning photographs, which capture all the exciting detail of spring roundup on a ranch in the West.

HARRY AND THE LADY NEXT DOOR by Gene Zion. Here, in a book that beginning readers can actually read to themselves, is more about the popular hero of HARRY THE DIRTY DOG and NO ROSES FOR HARRY! Harry loved all his neighbors except one—the lady next door. The lady next door sang. Harry thought she made the worst noise he had ever heard. Even the firemen and the peanut man, who were used to nerve-jangling sounds, had to cover their ears when they heard her. But no one did anything about it—except Harry. Harry's first and second attempts to improve the lady's singing were unsuccessful, leading only to nights in the dog house for him. But his third try led to a wonderful surprise for both the lady next door and Harry. The enchantingly absurd pictures and the very funny words complement each other perfectly in a book that young readers will greet with delight.

NEXT DOOR TO LAURA LINDA by Janice May Udry. One summer things were just not the way that Laura Linda wanted them to be. Worst of all, the house next door was empty and there was no one for a playmate. Twisting herself around and around in her swing, Laura Linda wishes a girl—a very special kind of girl—will move next door. As it often happens with wishes, some of Laura Linda's come true and some don't. But Laura Linda makes a happy discovery all by herself. Is it one other children can share? It will be a sad world indeed if they cannot. Janice Udry has made the wistful, day-dreamy girl in her story very real, and Meg Wohlberg's pictures in many lovely colors have caught both mood and action. It's a just-right combination of author and artist to insure delight.

THE GIANT ALEXANDER AND

The Parson Speaks

GENERAL HINTS CONCERNING CHURCH MANNERS.

SCRIPTURE TEXT: "How amiable are thy tabernacles, O Lord of host, My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord."

The real Christian is a gentleman or lady. In social life he gracefully conforms not to the world, he is prompt and polite; in God's house he always shows due reverence. Some people who behave well enough elsewhere are thoughtless and awkward in God's sanctuary.

1—PREPARATION FOR CHURCH
Bustle and confusion should be avoided. Spend a little time in meditation. Expel distracting thoughts. Shut out worldly cares. Get the Lord's day spirit. Go to church, not because it is fashionable to do so, not because you feel it to be a stern duty, but because your soul "longeth, yea, even fainteth, for the courts of the Lord."

2—GO TO CHURCH ON TIME

It is not good to rush into church after services have begun. Persons who resist in doing so lose much themselves and seriously disturb those who have been more prompt.

3—SPEND THE FIRST MOMENT IN SILENT PRAYER

I like the custom our early fathers had of kneeling for a moment after entering the pew. If one does not want to kneel, the head may be bowed at least and a brief prayer be offered for the blessing of God on the gathering and for oneself. Then the worshiper who has good manners will remain quiet until services begin. In some churches talking, jesting, laughing and regular social visitation are in-

Letter From Washington

by
Mrs. John Sherman Cooper

Last night the President and Mrs. Johnson gave a State dinner for the King and Queen of Nepal at the White House. The one hundred and forty guests assembled in the East Room before the music of "Hail to the Chief" announced the arrival of the President and Mrs. Johnson and their royal visitors. We were seated at round tables in the State dining room. I was at Mrs. Johnson's table who had the King on her right, then me, and then Senator Gale McGee of Wyoming.

MRS JOHN SHERMAN COOPER

The King is planning to spend two weeks in Alaska hunting Kodiak bear, the largest and most ferocious of the bear family. Senator McGee told him of the moose, elk, grizzly, and brown bear in Wyoming, and the King explained the way tiger and buffalo are hunted in Nepal. In the United States, hunters stalk and track big game, as they do in East Africa. Only very occasionally is a bait put out to lure the animal. In India, where there are greater tiger shoots, the guns stand in a line many yards away from each other, and beaters walk through the fields toward the guns, beating the high yellow grass with their sticks to flush the tigers from their covers, in the same manner grouse is driven in the highlands of Scotland.

The Nepalese way of shooting tiger and the dangerous wild buffalo is unique. The hunting party travels to the Terai, a province on the borders of India, where there is the most abundant game in the world, as no one is allowed to shoot without the permission of the government. Scouts are sent out beforehand to report where the greatest number of tiger have been spotted. At dawn, a cavalcade of sixty elephants, each ridden by his mahout, and belonging to the King, travels through the jungle to the plains. When they reach the opening, they form a mammoth circle, always growing closer together. There are only two guns, or hunters, at one time. They leave the circle, on their elephants, and pick

Fulton County News
Fulton, Ky.

Dear Sir:

Having read that Fulton might lose its Library, I just had to write this letter.

I wonder how many that signed that petition have been to the library during vacation, after school or on a Saturday and seen the number of children and high school students taking advantage of the facilities offered there. Some are listening to records, some are reading, and others browsing for a book to take home to read. Can you think of a better place to be? Mrs. McDaniels, the librarian, tells me that over half the books taken out are by young people.

Having been an avid reader all my life, I can't imagine a few people begrudging a few dollars that gives so much pleasure to so many.

I hope the signers of the petition will reconsider or we can find some way to keep this fine thing in our community.

Its true I live in South Fulton, Tennessee, but I would consider it a pleasure and a privilege to be taxed for such a cause.

Sincerely yours,
(Mrs.) Nora Lee Howell

November 9, 1967

Editor, The News:

I want to thank the people all across Kentucky who worked so hard for me in this campaign. I appreciate the effort for the entire Democratic team.

Last Tuesday, the people of Kentucky selected Louie Nunn to be governor for the next four years and me to be lieutenant governor. They also elected three other Democrats as state officials. By Constitution and statute, Mr. Nunn will have certain obligations and responsibilities and so will I. I intend to carry out my responsibilities as lieutenant governor to the best of my ability.

I do not intend to be an obstructionist in any sense of the word. Only if it should become a matter of principle, will I exercise the right to oppose; that the people should expect of me and I would have done the same if Henry Ward had been elected.

Kentucky has made great progress in the past few years because of many good programs which have been put into effect. I want to assure the people of Kentucky and Mr. Nunn that the guiding principle for me during my term of office will be what is best for the people of Kentucky. I am confident the members of the Legislature and the state elected officials including the Democrats will act in the same manner.

Miss Hyland, a senior, is majoring in library science education. Miss Higgins, a junior, is majoring in library science and history.

FIRST NEWSPAPER

Lexington was the birthplace of the first newspaper published in Kentucky. John Bradford, without any previous experience as a printer or editor, published the first edition of The Kentucky Gazette Aug. 11, 1787.

Industrial Arts Teacher Renders Valuable Aid In Repairs Of FHS

From The FHS "KENNEL"

A visitor to our school might think we are a very unruly bunch or swear that he is witnessing a riot by the banging, crashing, shrieking sounds audible throughout the building. The students know, however, that it's just Mr. Robertson fixing this or building that to improve our school.

During the current school year Mr. Robertson has donated his time and skills innumerable times for the benefit of our school and community.

Mr. Robertson is the man called on when something needs fixing, which is quite often. As our school well knows from the past, he's a handy man to have around when light fixtures start falling like autumn leaves.

About a month ago Mr. Robertson assembled, painted and repaired the Banana Festival Hospitality Booths. Without his help, the Banana Festival might not have been the success it was.

Every year he is called upon by the cheerleaders to paint the megaphones. This year was no different because they would otherwise never be painted.

Right now Mr. Robertson is working on the "new" teachers' lounge. The lounge is a place where our poor, nerve-wracked teachers can drink cokes, talk, and have their minor mental breakdowns, out of the sight of the students. It also includes a private rest room for the teachers. Mr. Robertson, with the help of some of his shop students, sealed one door and built another in preparing the lounge.

Our school owes Mr. Robertson a great debt of gratitude, for without his donated time, working on school projects, there are many things we would otherwise do without.

Tragedy Of Macbeth Reviewed By Seniors

From The FHS "KENNEL"

Have you seen any strange sights lately? Things like FHS seniors walking around chanting witchcraft? Have you heard such choice phrases as "Double, double toil and trouble . . ." or "Tomorrow, and tomorrow, and tomorrow, creeps in this pretty pace from day to day . . ." Hummm? Have you? Haven't you teachers wondered why sometimes such names as Dunsinane or Lady McDuff were scribbled on the edges of the reports or homework or drawings handed in to you? Is that what's been bothering you lately?

Well the simple answer is that it's that time of year again. That time when Mr. Shakespeare and his three witches come creeping out of the woodwork of Room 16, formerly known as Mrs. Bennett's English IV, to haunt and harass another group of seniors. It seems to be a tradition with the FHS English department that every senior that leaves these hallowed halls must have Macbeth in his soul!

The seniors have been studying Macbeth by following along in their books while they listen to a recording of the play. This is why you may have heard thunder and lightning in second hour studyhall! It seems there's always a storm going on just to keep things livened up.

When asked, Mrs. Bennett said that there would be very little dramatizing of this play. Besides! We wouldn't want to lose anyone in a death scene!

ENGEL ELECTED

Lee Engel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Engel, was elected treasurer of the sophomore class at Murray State University in the recent class assembly election. He is majoring in pre dentistry and is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha national social fraternity.

LETS GET THE FACTS STRAIGHT

The recent action by a group of citizens of this county regarding the Library and the Library Tax has created utter confusion.

This ad is for the purpose of presenting facts for your consideration.

1. The library at Fulton, at Hickman and the Bookmobile are all operated as one entity, and are not separable. The petition filed on November 6, 1967 is to repeal ALL the tax, which in effect would close ALL library facilities in this county.

2. The State Department of Libraries WILL NOT continue to operate the libraries. The original demonstration project has expired and will not be renewed.

3. Nearly all volumes and most equipment now in present libraries was purchased by the State and would be reclaimed if facilities were closed.

4. The City of South Fulton is paying a share of the cost of operation, and these citizens ARE NOT getting service free off your taxes.

5. The Bookmobile was furnished to the county by the State, and all books presently circulated through the Bookmobile were furnished by the State.

6. The cost of operating the Bookmobile per year is $3950.00. There were 17,163 volumes circulated through this facility during the last year, at a cost of 23c per volume. This FACILITY IS BEING USED, with a recorded checkout of between 50 & 60 books at some stops!

7. There were 62,662 volumes circulated through all facilities during the last year, and the tax receipts will be approximately $30,000 per year. This means that the cost per circulated volume is less than 50c. Or, looking at this another way: 63,000 volumes circulated for 11,000 population in the county means that the cost was only 33c per person living in the county.

8. There ARE NOT any "paper back" vulgar, obscene novels in ANY of the facilities. All books are approved by the State Dept. of Libraries and the City-County Board. (Go see for yourself.)

9. Some teachers in the schools have geared their assignments and research projects to the available material in these libraries since the school libraries are very limited. The research facilities of these libraries are excellent.

10. Industrial resource information already distributed widely to prospective industries states that we have a fine library system. What do you think would be the feeling when these people discover that this facility has been closed through this action by the citizens?

11. The Chamber of Commerce is presently working with several industrial prospects, who have visited Fulton. These people have been shown our library facilities, and have made complimentary comments. What do you think their attitude will be when they return to Fulton and discover the library has been closed, and that some citizens of this county do not desire such facilities? ?

12. The library building was received from the Federal Government by the city at no cost, except for transfer fees. The agreement is that this building would be continuously used as a library. The closing of the doors means an automatic return of title back to the Federal Government. In this event the building would never be made available to the city again for any purpose.

13. The tax rate to support these libraries is 6c per $100 of assessed valuation of property as shown by the County Tax Assessor. If, according to the County Tax Assessor you own property valued at $1000, then your tax for library purposes is only 60c. If you do not own any property, then you do not pay. The tax is charged ONLY on property owned and assessed by the County Assessor.

14. The total tax increase reflected on your recent county tax bill IS NOT all a result of the library tax. Other taxes increased also!

EXAMPLE

Supposed the assessed valuation of your property was $5,000. As a result of ALL tax increases, you would have the following:

County Resident	1966		1967		1967 Increase over 1966
	Tax Rate per $100 Valuation	1966 Taxes	Tax Rate per $100 Valuation	1967 taxes
General	.115	5.75	.129	6.45	.70
Health	.024	1.20	.025	1.25	.05
School	.440	22.00	.441	22.05	.05
Library	0		.060	3.00	3.00
TOTAL	.579	28.95	.655	32.75	3.80

General	.115	5.75	.129	6.45	.70
Health	.024	1.20	.025	1.25	.05

Library	0		.060	3.00	3.00
TOTAL	.771	38.55	.898	44.90	6.35

General County Taxes increased 10%, City School Taxes increased 10%, while the library tax was only .06c per $100 of assessed valuation, and it seems to be catching ALL the blame for higher taxes!

15. Taxes in Fulton County ARE NOT high in relation to other counties of this state as shown in following:

AFTER STUDYING THESE FACTS DO YOU STILL WANT TO CLOSE THE LIBRARIES IN THIS COUNTY?

If you signed the petition filed on November 6th and do nothing else — this is exactly what can happen !!

HOWEVER, if after studying these facts, you feel the need to keep these facilities open, then express this feeling to your neighbors and friends. If your name appears on the November 6th petition, and after being presented these facts you wish to remove your name then mail a letter or post card to the Fulton County Court Clerk, Court House, Hickman, Ky., requesting that your name be removed.

It's America's most popular! Why?

We think it's excellence of product. Years and years ago, when we decided to bake Jane Parker Fruit Cake, we also decided to bake the best. That's why Jane Parker Fruit Cake was then and is today over 2/3 fruits and nuts.

Just enough delicious cake to hold together the bounty of cherries imported from France, pineapple from the Far East, citron from Italy, sun-drenched raisins from California and meaty pecans from the South.

We think, too, that value has made it popular. IMAGINE, THE 5-LB. CAKE COSTS ONLY $3.99. That's the same low price as last year which makes it an even greater value.

Now you know why Jane Parker Fruit Cake is America's most popular. One other thing you should know: You can buy it only at A&P.

ANIMAL HEALTH KEY TO PROFIT

One of the most important items of a good livestock program is that of using judgment by taking good care of the animal's health. This will be true no matter what type of livestock you own. It is one of the surest ways of cutting overhead thereby increasing income of livestock.

Most farmers, sooner or later will experience some real problems with the health of their animals. Experienced livestock men will tell you that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." With the introduction of many new drugs, known as anti-biotics or wonder drugs, many diseases can be cured in due time. However, we still have some stubborn cases. There are also many good and time proven methods that can be employed to prevent troubles. Our Extension men, our Government men, Veterinarians, Feed Specialists and many others can relate methods which can be placed into practice in order to enjoy the safest livestock health program. It is advisable to follow the advice of these people known to be the surest and cheapest in the long run.

Bangs disease has been virtually wiped off the face of the map in most states. The methods used have been expensive and of long duration. We need to keep our herds clean of it since most likely they were clean to begin with. A sound practice also is to follow the programs that your veterinarians outline and very little trouble will occur.

There are a number of diseases among hogs that today cause big losses and which at the same time could be avoided if the livestock owner would act in time. A very large number of these diseases are prevented by vaccination. Yet at the same time we sometimes get busy with something of less importance and put it off to our sorrow.

Discuss your livestock disease problems with your veterinarian and others with whom you have contact. It is my personal opinion that you can virtually stop most of your livestock disease problems.

DID YOU KNOW???

The United States is the world's largest exporter of agricultural products. Of our 300 million harvested acres, 60 million produce for export. This land producing for export represents about the same as the harvested cropland acreage in Nebraska, Iowa, and Kansas. Our farm products exported in 1962 amounted to $5.1 billion.

American agricultural abundance is a powerful force for world peace. Our food and other farm products are helping to relieve hunger and to promote economic growth in the newly developing countries of the world. For example, our wheat is providing an additional five-billion loaves of bread a year for the people of India.

Students Take Tests In Preparing For College

From The FHS "KENNEL"

For all college-bound juniors and seniors, the test season is here once again. Each year during fall, the PSAT (Preliminary Scholastic Test) is given to the juniors, while the seniors take the ACT at nearby colleges. The SAT will be given throughout the rest of the year.

On October 10, the juniors took the PSAT which is similar to the SAT. Both tests measure verbal and mathematical abilities, which include the ability to read, to be able to use and understand words, and to reason with words and numbers. Studies made in hundreds of colleges throughout the United States have shown that these abilities are important in predicting college performances.

A number of seniors recently went to Murray University and the University of Tennessee at Martin to take the first of five ACT (American College Testing) tests. The first section of the test is not an examination. The Student Profile Section, with the information the student gives, mere helps the college to make satisfactory plans for him. English, mathematics, social studies, and natural sciences make up the second section of the test. An average of these four tests gives an estimate of a person's ability to succeed academically in college.

Although some colleges do not require these aptitude tests, hundreds do. By taking these tests a student will be able to visualize his academic standing before starting college.

Staff Members Attend Journalism Clinic Held By Commercial Appeal

From The FHS "KENNEL"

"greenhouse" columnist, and Guy Northup, the chief editorial writer and art critic. Cindy said that she thoroughly enjoyed Mr. Flower's colorful vocabulary.

James attended General News, which was conducted by William Street, the Tri-State editor and James McDaniel, the assistant managing editor James, the feature editor, also attended the Feature Writing class.

Mrs. Bennett chose the remaining two classes, Photography and Column Writings, which were held under the supervision of the picture editor and the column editors.

All three students and Mrs. Bennett were invited to a luncheon afterwards to hear William Thomas, just recently back from Viet Nam. It is this picture that the Commercial Appeal used to head the story. Shown in the picture were Cindy, David, James, Mrs. Bennett and hundreds of other students.

The Kennel staff benefited greatly from this exciting event. If the staff puts to use only half of the information offered, our school newspaper should be a model newspaper for all to admire.

On October 20, the Commercial Appeal held a High School Journalism Clinic at the Auditorium in Memphis, Tennessee. Attending the clinic from Fulton were Cindy Homra, David Dunn, James McCarthy and Mrs. Bennett.

After an eventful trip to Memphis, starting at 6:30 A. M., the three students and teacher were received with a welcome fit for some royal dignitary. After a brief assembly and orientation, the Fulton delegation was photographed and later individually interviewed.

David attended the class on Sports Writing, which was conducted by Ned Wirth the executive sports editor, Charles Cavagnaro, high school sports editor and Kyle Giffin, the sports news editor. Later David attended a Newspaper Make-up class to help him with the organization of the actual print.

Headline Writing, a tougher job than one might think, was attended by Cindy. After a brief coke break, she attended the Editorial Writing class, which was taught by Paul Flowers, the editorial writer and

PIERCE STATION

The community was saddened Friday when word was received of the serious accident on the Fulton-Union City highway, in which three of the sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bunch were injured and Dr. John W. Ragsdale's wife was fatally injured. Two of their children were also hurt. The Bunch brothers are in Obion County Hospital and the Ragsdale children are in Hillview Hospital.

Friends in Pierce are sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. George Cooley at Obion County Rest Home.

Mrs. Bud Stem spent the week end with relatives in Paducah.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Ferguson arrived here early Sunday morning from Irving, Texas, where they make their home. Mrs. Ferguson and children remained for three weeks visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lowe.

ADVICE TO ELKS

Shortly before he died, Irvin S. Cobb left directions for the conduct of his funeral. He said he'd be happy to have members of the Paducah Elks Lodge attend. Said Cobb, "Judging by my latest visits to the basement of the Elks Club, it wouldn't do them a bit of harm if some of the habitues there got out in the open air, if only for a trip to the cemetery."

LET'S LOOK IT OVER

By Gov. Edward T. Breathitt

FRANKFORT - - - Being Governor of Kentucky is one of the greatest things that could happen to a person.

I have realized this more and more with the approach of the December 12 end of my four-year term in office.

There have been disappointments, of course, like when we lost the fight for a new state constitution, but our successes have far outweighed the disappointments.

One of the facts of my administration which gives me most pride and satisfaction is that it has been free of scandal. This is a testimonial to the character generally of the men and women who have served with me.

We appointed top-flight people to the various state offices filled by appointees and supported them in their ardent efforts to give top-flight service. Not one of them let me down or caused me any embarrassment.

One of the phases of government in which I took a personal pleasure were the Governor's Days held throughout the state for the people who could not come to Frankfort and the Citizens Days we held at the capitol.

By going to the people and by making it so they could come see us without an appointment, we found out what was on their minds and were able, perhaps to help them. On each occasion, our strength was renewed.

Just the other day, on November 9 to be exact, we opened a branch of the Office of Governor in the Heyburn Building in Louisville.

The objective is to bring state government and the ordinary citizen closer together. The ordinary citizen will need no appointment to see a representative of the governor, or the governor if he is there, as on Governor and Citizens' Days.

While this office has been opened on an experimental basis, we hope that it is successful through wide usage by Louisville citizens and that the incoming governor will see fit to continue it.

As we get ready to turn over our temporary home here to the new governor and his family, the Breathitt's, all of us, want to thank the people of Kentucky and its capital for being so good to us for four very happy years.

THE PARSON SPEAKS

4—PARTICIPATE HEARTILY IN EACH PORTION OF THE SERVICE

Every member of the congregation should take part. Sing heartily, read the responsive scripture lesson. Reverently follow the minister's prayer. Feel that every part of the service is for you, and that it is your privilege to enter into it with all your heart.

5—LET YOUR FACE SAY "AMEN"

The theme of the sermon may not be one you are especially interested in or the preachers style may be halting and dull; Never mind. Many of those present are enraptured, exactly suited. The least you can do is to listen respectfully. Be more than respectful, be responsive. When the minister makes a point which you approve, let your shining face express your appreciation.

6—YOUR DUTY TO STRANGERS

No one should wait for a formal introduction to a stranger in church. Formalities which etiquette prescribe to social life do not belong here. The stranger should be welcomed warmly and provided with the most desirable seat. At the close of the service he should be greeted warmly and urgently invited to come again.

7—AFTER SERVICE

Some congregations have adopted the overcoat doxology. That is to say while closing exercises are in progress, overcoats, wraps, and overshoes are put on, and preparation made to rush out as soon as the final "Amen" is spoken. This is worse than heathenish. In other churches the people sit reverently for a moment after the benediction, then quietly disperse. On reaching the vestibule or outside of course, is a fine time for christian greeting one to another. Above all unfriendly criticism of any person or the pastor should be avoided. It is not in harmony with good manners or Christian loyalty to pick flaws in the minister or any person. An unkind criticism of the sermon may fall upon the ear of some person who has been awakened or impressed, and your thoughtless words may dispell all seriousness from the mind of one who greatly needs God's help.

Beginning next Lord's day let's check our church manners.

"Thanksgiving? Thanks for what?"

Most everybody asks a blessing over his Thanksgiving turkey as a ritual. But how many of us remember that giving thanks is the deepest, most meaningful sort of prayer?

These cynical days, of course, you'll hear some people say, "What have I got to say thanks about?"

The answers to that never change: Thanks for what we have, no matter what that is.

Thanks for what we are, and can be.

Thanks for all God's blessings on us and on others.

This Thanksgiving, think of what giving thanks really means.

In the truest sense of gratitude, it means each of us must re-dedicate himself to the idea that "God's work must truly be our own." Everywhere. Every day.

People change the world. Thankful people change it for the better.

NOTEBOOK—

Heavens, I sound like a prophet, but I'm not. I'm just putting political practicality and academic science on the subject to work.

Well, so much for our "winter of discontent."

Coming out of church in Frankfort on Sunday I met one of my all-time favorite people, Helen (Mrs. Lawrence) Wetherby. It was rather strange that I should meet her at this particular time for we quickly rehearsed this year's election outcome with a similar debacle in 1955. Helen looks her usual lovely and ebullient self. With her was her daughter Susan (Mrs. Warner) Hines and one of the Hines girls. Susan has three children, and Barbara (Mrs. Bob, I think) Perry has seven. The Perrys are now living in West Virginia.

Helen wanted so much for me to take time out for coffee at her home where she said Lawrence (the former governor) was still trying to make some sense out of the election returns. I had to decline, for I was on my way to the Governor's Residence where I was a luncheon guest of out-going Governor Breathitt, his lovely wife Frances and their four all-American, and all-Kentucky young off-spring. Little Edward sat across the luncheon table from me with the biggest, most pronounced black-eye you ever saw on an energetic teen-age boy.

Jokingly I asked him how the other fellow looked and he said: "Folks won't believe this, but I really bumped into a guy."

Suppose it could have been a Republican victor?

There will be a special column in the series on Edward T. Breathitt as governor of Kentucky. Until it is written I want to say here and now that this wonderful, wholesome, "too-accommodating" chief executive will occupy a very distinguished place in Kentucky history. You just wait and see!

The people of Fulton and Fulton County and surrounding area owe him a debt of gratitude. I just hope that a few people will take time out to write and tell him so while he desperately needs some encouragement and assurance that his efforts in our behalf were and are appreciated.

SMALL WORLD DEPARTMENT: Ever since coming to Vanderbilt I have admired the superior scholastic ability of a young fellow by the name of John York. He is a graduate student and takes three classes with me. Monday he came over to my desk between classes and said: "I know this sounds silly, but do you know a girl by the name of Mary Jo Westpheling?"

I suppose he thought it was a weird question because he just couldn't figure that Mary Jo could have a sister as old as I am; and since that was ruled out in his mind, he just had to ask if there could possibly be some relationship.

His shock was as great as mine when I told him that she was my daughter.

Well, John York has a brother up here whose name is Tim. He dated Mary Jo in St. Louis. Mary Jo kept telling me he was a student here, but I figured the school was so big it would be ridiculous to look for him. But I did.

I saw Tim's name in the Hustler for having pledged Sigma Chi. Wrote him a note and asked if he were the "Tim" Mary Jo asked me to look up. He was indeed. He's invited Mary Jo for a week-end.

And imagine! There was his brother in my class from the beginning.

Being away from Nashville over the week-end kept me from attending the UK-Vanderbilt football game. It's just as well. The pig-skin scramble is not one of my favorite spectator sports nor is sitting in the rain.

Kathryn and Carlos Lannom went and joined the thousands of other folks who had the sniffles and weeping eyes for several days.

On Monday we could hardly understand the lectures, the sniffing and nose-blowing was so severe. If I hadn't known that the ailments were biological, I would have thought for sure the students were still weeping because of their loss to dear ole Kaintuck.

Kathryn said the only Kentuckian she saw at the game was Dub Hale (Martha and Bubba's pride and joy.) Dub is now living in Lexington, so came up with a lot of other Loyalists to urge his Alma Mater on to victory.

Sometimes I wish I weren't so curious, but I am and that's all there is to it.

A case in point happened in the Library Tuesday. Another elderly "student" and I have been sharing the same study area almost every day since I entered the University. For all these weeks I couldn't figure out whether she was a professor, a researcher or hopefully a "late-in-life" scholar like myself. So I just walked over to her desk, introduced myself, and told her the circumstances under which I was enrolled at the University.

I wish I hadn't done that. It made me feel plum ignorant.

The lady, about my age I'd say, has two more months to work on her Doctor of Philosophy in French. She has studied and lectured at the Sorbonne in France. Did graduate work at Harvard; has reared a family of five children, (all in the profession); does volunteer work; paints for recreation and helps her husband in his profession and shares his cultural hobbies.

What I am doing and have done is insignificant by comparison. Yet I am awfully proud that I made the decision to accept this year of study to enhance my qualifications as a newspaper editor and to enrich my own personal life with those qualities so necessary to meet the challenges of community effort in a modern world of change and challenge.

I want to send a little message this week to a very old friend, Verdie Dallas and her family, on the occasion of the loss they have suffered by the death of husband and father, Grover. In the early days of our residence in Fulton the Dallas' thriving poultry business was a gathering place for farm folks from all around. There was always a lively conversation going on about subjects of varying interests. Both Verdie and Grover were good listeners and good commentators.

It was a pleasure to go there, as I often did. My family joins me in extending heart-felt sympathies to them in their hour of bereavement.

jailed on a drunkenness charge but Sheriff McCowan said a warrant charging Jackson with murder has been sworn out in Kentucky.

"He's too drunk to talk to right now," Sheriff McCowan said. "We'll wait until later this afternoon or tomorrow."

Sheriff McCowan said Fulton County Sheriff Buck Menees brought the murder warrant to Union City.

The charge was filed in connection with the shooting death of George Francis, 43, a resident of Bolivar, Tenn. Francis was reportedly found dead, of a bullet wound in the left temple, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gidewell, residents of the Middle Road, about three miles west of Fulton. Kentucky officers were summoned to the scene late Monday afternoon.

Sheriff McCowan said Francis had been shot with a 22 caliber rifle.

Falcons Win

CLINTON, Ky. — Hickman County's Falcons threw a pressing defense at Calloway County in the second quarter here Friday night to overcome an early Laker lead and pave the way to a convincing 81-66.

Playing without star center Joe Barclay, who is nursing a bad ankle, the undefeated Falcons made it two victories for the young basketball season.

Allen Barclay, usually a forward, moved into cousin Joe Barclay's pivot spot for the game and turned in a creditable performance, scoring 15 points.

Ronnie Mullins was assigned the job of stopping Calloway's star, Stan Key, and he responded well, holding Key to nine points before he had to go to the bench with foul trouble. Key himself fouled out with 5:34 left in the game after scoring a total of 18 points.

Tony Jones led the Laker scoring with 20 points.

Nate Perry turned a good game both offensively and defensively for Hickman County, leading his team's scoring with 19 points.

INJURIES FATAL—Mrs. John W. Ragsdale Jr., wife of a Fulton physician, was fatally injured and three others persons hurt in the station wagon above when it collided with an auto on the Fulton highway today. Three men in the car also were injured.

Collision Kills One, Six Others Injured

The 38-year-old wife of a Fulton physician was fatally injured and six other persons were hurt in a grinding two-vehicle collision on the Union City-Fulton highway.

Mrs. Ann Callis Ragsdale, 38, wife of Dr. John W. Ragsdale Jr., died about 11 a. m. while undergoing surgery in Obion County General Hospital. She reportedly had suffered a crushed chest, the fracture of both legs and other internal injuries. Two of her children, both with head injuries, were treated at the local hospital and then taken by ambulance to Everett-Stewart Airport where they were flown to Memphis for additional treatment. The extent of their injuries was undetermined when they left Union City.

The children were identified by State Trooper Tom Kilpatrick as Johnny W. Ragsdale III, 16, and Joe Wesley Ragsdale, aged 18 months.

The others injured in the accident were: David Moss, 15, a passenger in the Ragsdale vehicle, a knee laceration, William Clyde Bunch, 20, fracture of the right thigh, Jerry Lynn Bunch, 19, skull fracture and listed in serious condition, Russell Wade Bunch, 21, apparent back injury.

The three Bunch youths are brothers and make their home on the Fulton highway, a short distance from the scene of the accident. The Moss youth is a resident of Fulton, a neighbor of the Ragsdale family.

Trooper Kilpatrick said the accident apparently occurred about 8 a. m., about a half-mile north of the Holiday Sands Motel. A light rain was falling at the time and the highways were reported slick.

Mrs. Ragsdale was driving a 1966 Oldsmobile station wagon toward Fulton, the trooper said. The Bunch auto, a 1967 Ford, apparently was traveling toward Union City but Trooper Kilpatrick said he had not yet been able to determine which of the three brothers was driving. Both vehicles were demolished by the impact and both left the highway on the east side. Neither overturned. Following his preliminary investigation, Trooper Kilpatrick left Union City to bring in a supply of blood for the injured. He was to meet a trooper from Jackson, en route to Union City with the blood supply, and relay it to the local hospital.

Dr. Ragsdale was in surgery at the local hospital when the accident occurred. Another doctor took his place beside the operating table so he could be with his wife and children. Trooper Kilpatrick had just returned from investigating an earlier accident when he received the report of the collision on the Fulton highway. The earlier mishap occurred about 7:30 a. m. on the Union City-Martin highway, near the Midway community.

Involved were a 1963 Ford, driven by Lucian Major, 32, of Route 4, Martin, and a 1955 Chevrolet, driven by Judy B. Tate, 23, of Route 3, Union City. Trooper Kilpatrick said Mr. Major was traveling west on the highway while Mrs. Tate was pulling out of a private driveway, intending to turn east, toward Martin. The Tate car pulled into the path of the Major auto, the officer said.

Mrs. Tate suffered an apparent leg injury and was checked by a physician in Martin. She apparently was not seriously hurt and Mr. Major apparently escaped injury. Damage to the front of the Major car was estimated at $500. The Chevrolet was damaged beyond repair.

Hot Beds Grow Vegetables

Winter is no time for gardeners to hibernate; it is the time to plan, prepare and put your "Green thumb" to use during the coldest winter months.

Purdue University horticulturists point out that vegetables such as lettuce, radishes and spinach can be grown during the winter in well-constructed hot beds. While difficult flowers such as pansies, columbine, English daisies and Sweet William grow easily in a gardeners miniature horizontal winter green house. The hot bed is ideal, too, for starting other plants for the spring vegetable and flower garden.

All it takes is a hammer, some tacks and a transparent plastic material to make your own handy hot bed. Forget about the back breaking chore of hauling old windows and haphazardly making a form to keep your seedlings and plants alive and flourishing.

Now all you have to do is make a frame from your discarded or buy some plywood and 1 x 2's, make a framed enclosure; top this off with Flex-O-Glass, a glass substitute that comes in rolls at your hardware store or lumber dealer so that the right amount can be measured and cut with ordinary shears. (A side benefit of this remarkable product is that it lets in sunshine Vitamin D (Ultra Violet Rays) which common glass filters out.)

Crystal clear as glass, it is flexible and shatter proof — no matter what the temperature is on the outside. Simply tack it down on the edges of the 1 x 2's and you have a cozy, warm, useful hot bed.

Hot beds that derive their heat from barnyard manures are largely a thing of the past. With the modern improvements such as Flex-O-Glass and electric heating cables, or by using basement warmth by setting up an installation by an open basement window, a modern greenhouse can be yours.

Skillet Supper

Your French-fried-potato-eating youngsters will love this skillet supper, and their father will, too.

The youngsters will like it because it is chock full of their favorite "taters." Father will like it because it is his kind of a meat-and-potato dish, the meat this time being fully-flavored, no-fat, no-waste canned corned beef.

Another virtue of this recipe for Skillet-Scalloped Corned Beef and Potatoes is its ease of preparation. It's simple enough for youngsters to prepare, and you might even talk their father into being the "skilleteer."

If the 12-ounce can of corned beef is chilled several hours, it will cut into four, six or eight slices for topping the potatoes before cooking. Or the chilled meat can be cut into small cubes and stirred into the potato mixture before being heated through on top of the range. Either way, the good beef flavor of the canned meat will permeate the entire dish.

Skillet-Scalloped Corned Beef and Potatoes

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 1 package (1 lb.) frozen French fried potatoes
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
- 1 cup milk
- 1 can (12 oz.) corned beef, chilled
- Topping optional

Melt butter in large skillet; add onion and cook until tender but not browned. Add potatoes, flour, salt and cheese; mix lightly. Add milk. Top with corned beef which has been cut into 4 slices. Heat to boiling; reduce heat to very low, cover and simmer about 25 minutes or until potatoes are tender. If desired, sprinkle with topping just before serving. Topping: Lightly toast 1/2 cup soft bread crumbs in one tablespoon butter or margarine in small pan. Add two tablespoons chopped parsley; sprinkle over corned beef and potato dish.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Q.-I will be 24 years of age during the last semester of the school year before I am scheduled to receive my bachelor's degree. Will I be permitted to graduate?

A.-Under these circumstances and other factors being equal, your local board may postpone your induction to the end of the term.

Q.-My local board has informed me in writing that this will be my last year of deferment to teach school. Will I be able to join the Reserves or National Guard after I am ordered for induction?

A.-No. The law does not permit a registrant to enlist in the Reserve forces after he is ordered for induction. You may enlist as a member of the active forces after being ordered for induction provided the effective date of entry is on or before the induction date.

Q.-I have been ordered to report for a preinduction examination by my local board. What is the very minimum time I have before being inducted?

A.-The minimum time is 21 days after your local board mailed to you a Statement of Acceptability (DD Form 62), which results from your preinduction examination.
