Playing Costly Politics With Kentucky's Future

With the general election almost upon us, the Republicans have projected first real issue Kentucky voters have had before them, as far as State politics is concerned, since the sales tax and again, revenues are the bone of contention.

Nearly every agency of the State government needs more money and spokesmen have gone to the Legislative Council, now attempting to lay groundwork for the General Assembly, with reasons for their demands. This has given rise to an announced program on the part of Democrats who will be members of the Legislature calling for an aggregate increase in the State's budget of $13 million.

On the heels of the Democrats' announcement that they would favor increased appropriations for schools, institutions, recreational improvements, advertising and other needs, Gov. Simeon Willis, through the GOP State campaign chairman, announced he again favors and will ask the Legislature for repeal of the State Income Tax.

The two positions are in direct conflict and, as was true when Governor Willis was campaigning against Lyter Donaldson, the Willis announcement constitutes a very grave threat to Kentucky's solvency and the fine program for improving the State's service to its people inaugurated, after many long years of neglect, by Governor A. B. Chandler and continued by Gov. Keen Johnson.

For, if the State Income Tax is repealed, revenue to the General Fund will be cut about $8 million a year... a loss which cannot be offset by any visible means, except another sales tax.

Besides this, the State's General Fund stands to lose another $2½ million a year if the Good Roads Amendment is adopted, giving revenues from the sales tax on automobiles and the drivers' license to the Highway Department, instead of to the General Fund, where it now goes. The two losses aggregate $25 million for the next biennium, and this decrease in revenues would put Kentucky back in debt, besides preventing a continuation of the program of improvements all along the line begun and carried forward remarkably well during the Chandler and Johnson administrations. It would also hamstring the schools, prevent improvement of State Parks, development of the Kentucky Lake area, implementation of the Forestry Division to save Kentucky's trees, and all the other progressive and sorely needed advances urged by leaders in the several fields affected and approved by the Democrats in the Legislature, in their recent announcement.

It is a serious time we face, in the history of our State and Nation. No time for petty politics and certainly no time to permit a politically selfish Governor and his inept cohorts to wreck the progress Kentucky made in the 8 years under Happy and Keen and to keep Kentucky down in 47th place on the roll of states.

The State Income Tax is paid by very few of us, relatively, and while there is stiff opposition to it in the Bluegrass and some in Jefferson county, it hurts little as compared to other taxes which would of necessity be levied if its $8 million is replaced in the General Fund.

For all these reasons we hope the Legislature will have enough good members, men who realize they are there to forward the State's best interests, to turn down Governor Willis' plea (if he makes it) for repeal of the State Income Tax.

The Governor may desire, belatedly, to make good his campaign pledge, whatever the cost to Kentucky... to advance and promote his own candidacy for the United States Senate. He should not be permitted to do so at the expense of all the State's people who need so desperately to have their condition improved, through better and more efficient State government.

Pennyrile Postscripts By G. M. P.

Attention of Princeton's voters is respectfully called to a news item on Page 1 of this week's Leader, about the City of Madisonville seeking a federal loan, the money to be used to run a water line to Green River, to assure that city of an adequate water supply. This is needed for Princeton and we could likely obtain a federal loan if Madisonville can.

Barney Linton, reported to be fully recovered from his wounds in Germany, is now an M.P. in a Florida camp.

David is learning about women in the Second grade... Pulled Janet French's pigtail, he said, and "she hit me with a rainbrella." Education gained in youth takes many forms, some of them of great practical value.

How To Stay Young

The following hangs on a wall of General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters: Youth is not a time of life—it is a state of mind.

Nobody grows old by merely living a number of years. You are as young as your faith, as old as your doubt; as young as your self-confidence, as old as your fear; as young as your hope, as old as your despair.

Mrs. Paul Dorroh, S. Seminary street, shook hands with President Truman at the Gilbertsville Dam dedication... and was considerably thrilled. Mrs.

Dorroh was standing in Mr. Truman's line of egress... and was the only person with whom he shook hands leaving the speaker's platform. The "reluctant President" probably made a lifetime fan of the Princeton lady.

With announcements of new cars to be shown within the next few days, temperatures of some would-be buyers are getting high here. But dealers still can make no promises of delivery dates; so care for your old car if you want to keep riding.

The stadium seems unlucky for me. Got a hole burned in my only topcoat at the Horse Show... and sat in a wad of chewing gum at Friday night's football game. But a Sweet Young Thing assures they sweep the stadium seats before each game, so it must have been my rank carelessness.

Rudeness and vulgarity are common everywhere these days and politeness seems increasingly rare... but lack of manners appears, regrettably, at its peak in the teen-age group. A manly young man now is such a standout he is bound to be a big success.

Somewhat to the surprise of critics who raised a storm of protest about the horse show being held in Butler's stadium, grass is now heavier around edges of the field, where the horses performed in late August, and than anywhere else. It was maintained all along by horsemen that last autumn's bare field was due to late summer drouth and practising on the playing field. This fall, the squad has worn all the grass off the middle of the field, while around the edges, there is an abundance of turf.

Bedford McChesney, Princeton's most ardent horseman, will leave October 27 for Mississippi, to be connected in an official capacity with management of the Brook Haven Walking Horse Farm. Mrs. McChesney and Don will accompany him to his new assignment... in which many friends here wish him great success and much happiness.

Almost as much lethargy seems indicated here in the general election Tuesday, Nov. 6, as was manifested in November, 1933, when stay-at-home Democrats helped greatly to elect Republican Gov. Simeon Willis and all but one of the top State officers. With county races to be decided, however, it seems likely the vote will be somewhat heavier this time.

Service men in uniform were admitted free to Butler's football game with Mayfield last Friday night. It was the first time this courtesy has been extended here; will not be the last, I hear.

Altho pestered some by interested onlookers, Coy Moore is making good headway with the new clubhouse in the center of the golf course. If weather doesn't get too bad, there'll be some nice Thanksgiving parties in the place... maybe. Anyhow, Christmas festivities are in the making there. Pennyriler hears there is strong demand the same officers and directors be reelected, to see this building job through.

Sir Christopher Wren, famous British architect, was supposed to be the architect for the rebuilding of London after the disastrous fire of 1666.

Adequate Wiring Essential To Keep Your Home Modern Provide Beauty And Comfort

WHEN you remodel a home, you have two things in mind. First, you seek increased utility—more room, better arrangement of living space, all those things which make for greater comfort. Second, you seek added beauty, both in the exterior appearance of the dwelling and inside it as well.

In building a new home, the same goals apply. You want the maximum in living comfort and you want an attractive home, too. You want a home that will remain modern throughout its life, one in which new conveniences and comforts can be added year after year.

Check Your Credit UNLESS your new or remodeled home is adequately wired, it is obsolete the day it is built. Failure in this direction is one of the most costly ways to save a few dollars on the original investment. Additions to your house wiring after the home is completed are costly and bothersome.

So plan your new or remodeled home carefully. Make sure that you have the right size wiring, enough circuits, and plenty of outlets and switches. If you are remodeling, do the rewiring first. Once your home is adequately wired for the operation all conveniences that electrical living alone can bring, have a solid foundation on which to build your dream castle and not before.

Increases Resale Value IT isn't comfort alone that adequate wiring insures. Decorative effects, color harmonies, under modern lighting, the ability to rearrange furniture, and these depend on enough circuits and plenty of outlets properly placed from which to use the cheapest but most indispensable servant—Electricity!

Adequate wiring increases loan and resale value of your home and helps keep you and your family satisfied. Your local Kentucky Utilities office will be glad to help you with your plans.

Praises New Murray President

Henry Ward, member of the editorial staff of the Paducah Sun-Democrat and one of Kentucky's outstanding legislators, recently paid high tribute to Dr. Ralph Woods, who has been elected president of Murray State College, effective November 1.

Published in his column "Ramblings", Mr. Ward's article follows:

"In Dr. Ralph Woods, Murray State College will have as president a man who combines the qualifications and the personality the job calls for.

"If I had been given the assignment of picking a president for the school, I would have done just as the board of regents did, for I believe that Woods is the man who, perhaps best of all, can do an outstanding job of serving Murray College and aiding in its development.

"I have known Dr. Woods for several years, and my appreciation of him has grown during that time. I know him to be conscientious, keenly interested in the work that he is doing. I know that he has had many excellent offers that would have enabled him to advance himself and make more money, and that he has turned them down because of his desire to remain in the field of education in Kentucky, where he has made his career.

"Woods looks the part of a college president, with splashes of grey in his hair that give him a distinguished appearance, combined with the fact that he is big and handsome.

"He fills the bill from the standpoint of having that important Ph.D. tacked onto his name—and it's a degree that he won.

"But he could have the educational background and the appearance important for the post and still lack those other qualifications essential to the proper filling of the post. Fortunately these are the features that he possesses that make him the ideal man for Murray.

"The president of a state college in Kentucky needs to be a good public relations man, and to be successful in that work he needs to know Kentucky and Kentuckians. Ralph Woods stands ace-high on that score. In his work as director of the state vocational education department and in the war training program he has become well acquainted with the school superintendents and principals of Kentucky, and with scores of others in a position to refer students to Murray in the years ahead.

"Of equal importance is the fact that he has an excellent reputation among those who have served in the state legislature for the past several years. This is something of unusual importance for Murray College, for its future will depend on the financial support that the state legislature will give it.

"The Kentucky legislature will have confidence in Dr. Woods, and as a result will be in a receptive mood when he approaches it for funds that will make the college go.

"I do not intend this to mean that all he will have to do is to let the legislators know how much he wants—for it isn't nearly that simple—but he has a good start toward getting what the school needs because of his wide acquaintance with those who will make the decisions."

Kentucky Secretaries

Fred M. Vinson is the fifth Kentuckian to be Secretary of the Treasury. While George M. Bibb, who served briefly under President Tyler, left little mark, the others were all eminent.

James Guthrie held the post under Franklin Pierce from 1853 to 1857, and did so well that he was considered as the Democratic nominee for the presidency in 1860, and even more strongly in 1868. It took unusual ability to shine in Pierce's cabinet, which ranks as one of the two or three ablest in history. Its most famous member was the secretary of war, Jefferson Davis, later president of the Confederacy.

Benj. H. Bristow, who served for two years under Grant, was such a lion-hearted foe of corruption that he came near being nominated for president in 1876, instead of Rutherford B. Hayes.

John G. Carlisle, former speaker of the House of Representatives, was the storm center of Grover Cleveland's second administration, and was Cleveland's choice to succeed him in the White House.

Vinson has stiff competition to meet for his place in history. (Ashland Independent)

What is Peace?

PEACE is more than the absence of war. Peace is a friendly handclasp, small talk on a front porch, friends in for dinner.

Peace is a birthday party, a Christmas tree, an Easter service in a white church. Peace is telling someone where the Smiths live, laughing at a joke, asking a neighbor what you can do when there's sickness in his house.

Peace is people helping instead of hurting one another, trusting instead of suspecting, tolerating instead of hating.

Peace is forgetfulness of creed and color. It's meeting on equal terms. It's honoring a man for what he is instead of defaming him for what he isn't.

This is peace. And until we have all this, we won't have real peace—the feeling in our hearts that all is right once more.

Right now, we can make a good start towards this goal. For, right now, in our local community campaign, we have the chance to help our neighbor. To help him regardless of who he is or how he worships. To act together in mutual trust and confidence.

And this is democracy in its finest expression. This is part of all we are fighting for. This is what you help, to bring about when you contribute to the local community chest. Make your contribution today—and make it as big as your heart!

SOIL EROSION

Professor George Roberts, of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky, states that farmers could become very conscious of the enormous erosion caused by erosion, surely would use every reasonable device to prevent it.

H. H. Bennett, now Chief of the Soil Conservation Service, makes a very convincing statement of the enormous extent of erosion in this county in U. S. Department of Agriculture Circular 33 entitled "Soil Erosion a National Menace."

Bennett, who spent many years studying the erosion of the United States, states that he was of the opinion that erosion is the biggest problem confronting the farmers of this country over a tremendous area of its agricultural lands.

He estimated that at least 128,000,000 pounds of plant food are being removed from the crop and pasture lands of the United States annually by erosion. This he stated was more than twenty-one times the amount of plant food removed in crops. He further estimated that if only nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium were considered, the loss amounted to 2 billion dollars annually.

According to a report of the National Resource Board (1934) it was estimated that 35 million acres of farm land in the United States had been damaged by erosion beyond reclamation for agricultural purposes; that 125 million acres had had most of the original plow-layer of soil removed; and that on 100 million acres more part of the plow layer had been removed. The total of these acreages amounts to nearly 30 per cent of the total crop and pasture land of the United States.

Professor Roberts states that no accurate estimate for Kentucky is available, but that it is reasonable to believe that, considering the topography and rainfall, erosion in the state has been equal to the average for the United States, and perhaps has been greater. With an average rate of erosion Kentucky's loss would be 30 million dollars a year.

Professor Roberts said that ownership of land does not confer the right to misuse it or let it be ruined by erosion. Owners of land should look upon themselves as trustees with a sacred obligation to pass it on to the next generation in the best condition possible.

Professor Roberts recommends as practical means of erosion control, terraces and diversions where needed, contour cultivation, vegetative cover, conservation of farm by products.

Careful farm planning to provide a rotation of sufficient length for the land concerned, addition of sufficient plant food to assure a good vegetative growth, contour cultivation, terraces and diversion where needed, and a winter cover on all row cropland, will go far to reducing soil erosion to the minimum.

Professor Roberts suggests that the County Agent, Vocational Agriculture teachers and Soil Conservation District Technicians be consulted for specific directions for carrying out the various control practices.

Geneva, Switzerland—(AP)—Because the Schaffhausen art museum lost some of its treasures through bombing, the city authorities of Geneva have voted to present two works of art to Schaffhausen. The gifts are a landscape by Bartholomew Menn and a self-portrait by Ferdinand Hodler.

To The Voters Of Princeton

We, the candidates on the Conservative Ticket with an "open book" as the voting emblem, state the following as the platform of principles upon which we stand:

The making of public improvements in keeping with the City's income; wholesome laws for the public welfare and their enforcement without ostentation or "show;" payment of the City's bonds as they mature and as rapidly as its income will permit; the maintenance of the functions and services of the City as its income justifies; without fulsome and extravagant promises, we pledge in the future as in the past, a sane, economical, conservative administration of City affairs.

During the past four years, the record shows we have paid $7,000 worth of the City's funding bonds and a carry-over floating indebtedness approximating $5,500; kept the City's machinery in repair; purchased new trucks and police cars; maintained and improved the fire-fighting equipment, including the purchasing of additional fire hose; extended water lines and mains to sections never before accommodated; installed fire hydrants in sections hitherto unprovided with this service; kept the City expenditures, not only within its income, but have accumulated balances in the City Treasury aggregating over $20,000.00.

We make no claim of perfection or of being "super-men," but we do promise a sane, safe, conservative administration of municipal affairs and to this end solicit your votes.

To The Voters Of Princeton

We, the candidates on the Conservative Ticket with an "open book" as the voting emblem, state the following as the platform of principles upon which we stand:

The making of public improvements in keeping with the City's income; wholesome laws for the public welfare and their enforcement without ostentation or "show;" payment of the City's bonds as they mature and as rapidly as its income will permit; the maintenance of the functions and services of the City as its income justifies; without fulsome and extravagant promises, we pledge in the future as in the past, a sane, economical, conservative administration of City affairs.

During the past four years, the record shows we have paid $7,000 worth of the City's funding bonds and a carry-over floating indebtedness approximating $5,500; kept the City's machinery in repair; purchased new trucks and police cars; maintained and improved the fire-fighting equipment, including the purchasing of additional fire hose; extended water lines and mains to sections never before accommodated; installed fire hydrants in sections hitherto unprovided with this service; kept the City expenditures, not only within its income, but have accumulated balances in the City Treasury aggregating over $20,000.00.

We make no claim of perfection or of being "super-men," but we do promise a sane, safe, conservative administration of municipal affairs and to this end solicit your votes.

State Highways In Better Condition

Cutler Says Roads In Good Shape For Winter Use

Frankfort, Kentucky's roads are in better shape for the coming winter than at this time last year, Highway Engineer T. H. Cutler said.

Cutler describes main traveled roads as in "much better condition" and said many secondary roads had been improved.

Damage to the highways last winter from freezes and ice was termed the worst since 1936.

On a dollar and cents level, figures were not available immediately to show the amount summer.

Roads in eastern Kentucky fare worse than the rest of the state, Cutler said because they are farther from stone sources and many quarries' output was used for resurfacing elsewhere.

Figures also were lacking to show the total mileage of resurfacing and new construction last summer. Much of this work is done by contract and the remainder by highway maintenance crews. Contract work now is virtually completed, Ben Barron, executive assistant to Commissioner J. Stephen Watkins, said, except for a few projects that will be carried over to next year.

Cutler said about 85 counties relied upon rural highway appropriations to carry out maintenance of county roads. The annual outlay is $2,000,000, divided one-third for counties, one-third on area, and one-third on population.

Some rural roads became impassable last winter, because of weather conditions and heavy loaded trucks were barred from other secondary roads.

Bats are attracted to lights because of the illumination. They catch the insects which are thus attracted.

The flower which has the nickname "dog-toothed" violet is not a violet, but a lily.

Tanner Announces

In case of emergency. I believe that the salary of the City officers and employees should be increased to the extent that they can afford to devote their full time to the duties of their office.

By efficient handling of the Waterworks plants and certain changes in the City's light and power bill, we estimate will be able to save the taxpayers at least $10,000 a year.

I will encourage manufacturing plants to locate here, thereby providing employment for our working people. I see no reason why they should have to leave Princeton to get employment.

An inducement to manufacturers to locate here, I shall recommend to the Council that any new company locating here will be given a 1% reduction in their City taxes for each person regularly employed up to 100 for a period of 5 years.

Fire and insurance rates are much too high and I shall make such changes as will be required to reduce these rates from the present rating of an 8th class city to probably a 5th class one and property owners will receive the benefit of these reduced rates.

I promise to extend the water, gas and sewer lines wherever they are required in the City Limits.

I strongly recommend a New City Hospital, to which I pledge my assistance and financial aid if legal.

You have large sums of money invested in your mechanical equipment, in your Waterworks and Sewer Disposal Plants, and it is felt that you should place an experienced mechanical man in charge of the maintenance of this equipment.

Delinquencies in our schools are deplorable. I promise, if nan, James Rogers, Boyce Williamson, Carter Johnson, Vernon Berget and Barnett Stovall. Flower girls were Minnie Eileen Drennan, Mary Lillian Rodgers, Marie Drennan, Cora Dee Hooks, Mildene Kilgore and Betty June Adams.

Mrs. Patsy Tandy, Buddy Brown, Mrs. Della Brown and W. H. Tandy sang, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Hawkins, of Paducah.

Interment was in Eddy Creek Cemetery.

Mrs. Louise J. Dunbar

Funeral services were held Tuesday at Fairview Church, north of Princeton, for Mrs. Louise J. Dunbar, 83, who died at her home in that community Monday. Rev. Reed Woodall was in charge of the services.

Mrs. Dunbar was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Strong. She is survived by a son, Leonard, and a step-daughter, Mrs. Steve Lamb, both of this county.

Burial was in Fairview Cemetery.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strains on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, swelling of legs, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

enforced, regardless of race, creed or color." The People's Ticket also promises "action instead of promises," in "improving our present water and sewage systems, installation of a filtration plant, a sanitary street department for cleanliness and health, and to see that garbage is collected from every home."

A pledge is also made to improve the fire department "which will actually protect the property of owners of Princeton," by adding the "necessary equipment and the men to man this equipment", with the approval of the State Board of Underwriters.

I. B. Tanner, proprietor of the Princeton Hotel, is the independent candidate for mayor, running without a councilman ticket. His program, also published in full in this issue of The Leader, sets forth this candidate's qualifications and begins by stating he seeks "to build Princeton's population, thereby reducing taxes."

Mr. Tanner pledges reorganization and support of the police department and all the laws and ordinances, with a Negro officer to be added to the force. He also states he believes the salaries of the city's officers (police) and employees "should be increased to the extent that they can afford to devote their full time to the duties" assigned them.

The Tanner's announcement also stresses encouragement of new industries in Princeton, thus providing more employment; lowering of fire insurance rates through improving the fire department, extending water and sewer lines, endorses a new hospital and pledges city support, if legal; promises better regulation of traffic in the city and enforcement of school attendance laws.

Home Freezing Unit Big Convenience

Angel food cake baked more than a year ago and frozen in a home freezer unit was the unusual dessert served recently to the members of the McAfee Homemakers' Club by Mrs. Lloyd Jones of Mercer county. Thawed in the oven, and served with frozen peaches, the cake was judged by experts to be as made a few hours before.

The home freezing unit has proved to be a satisfactory and convenient means of conserving food, according to Mrs. Jones. Chicken and pork cuts of all kinds were found to keep perfectly if properly packaged. Frozen, too, were blackberries "better than fresh ones," cherries, strawberries, watermelon for a Christmas treat, and vegetables of all kinds.

Cooked foods, frozen when in abundant supply, have been a time-saver, said this homemaker, as she mentioned turkey hash, chili, stuffed green peppers and vegetable soup. She has also found that baked pumpkin mince, and fruit pies, sour cream cakes and bread have a freshly baked taste when thawed in the oven before being served.

Word that a manslaughter charge against her had been dropped in Connecticut was received joyously in Columbus, Ga., by Imogene Stevens (above). ## 1,901 Kentuckians Harvest Potatoes

Nineteen hundred and one Kentuckians helped save the potato crops in Maine and Idaho this year, according to Bruce Poundstone, Kentucky farm labor supervisor. Fifteen hundred and nineteen went to Maine and 382 to Idaho.

Working about a month at the peak of the potato harvest, they earned more than $250,000. In Maine they received 13 cents a barrel and in Idaho 4 cents a bushel. Some men earned up to $10 a day and the average was between $4 and $6 a day.

More of the Kentuckians going to the potato states were men, although some women and a good many boys, Poundstone said. A few families went. They went mostly from Perry, Knott, Leslie, Floyd, Johnson, Breathitt and other eastern counties.

Representatives of the labor department of Maine and Idaho interviewed the workers before they left Kentucky and provided physical examinations. The federal government paid transportation costs both ways.

Kentucky has furnished many workers for the Maine potato fields in former years but this was the first year workers from this state have gone to Idaho.

Citations Recognizes 4-H Club War Effort

Kentucky 4-H Club boys and girls have purchased more than $1,000,000 worth of War Stamps and Bonds, according to J. W. Whitehouse, State club leader.

A total of $1,350 in War Stamps, donated by friends of 4-H Club work, was distributed to champions selected at the 12 district achievement day programs held this fall.

50 Remain of 375 Gallant Fliers Who Saved Great Britain in 1940

By Henry B. Jameson
(By Associated Press)

London — Less than 50 of "the few" Battle of Britain fighter pilots who saved this island from German invasion in the gloomy fall of 1940 are alive today.

All the rest of the 375 top flight fighters of the battle were killed in action. The last one went down six weeks before the war ended.

Virtually all of those whose luck kept them alive through five years of war still are serving in the RAF, according to air ministry records. Many of them, too young to have had civilian professions when they joined up, plan to make the air force their career.

The best known among the surviving heroes is Douglas Bader, 35, a group captain who fought the Battle of Britain from the cockpit of a Spitfire using a set of artificial tin legs. He previously had made flying history with a comeback after a flying accident in 1931 cost him both legs.

Bader was shot down over France after the crucial battle and spent four years in German prison camps before the U. S. 1st Army set him free last summer. He attempted to escape four times, so the Nazi took away his legs. A new set was parachuted to him by the RAF. Bader's permanent rank is equivalent to that of a full colonel in the U. S. Army Air Force. He is currently second in command of the RAF's famous 11 fighter group, the same outfit with which he fought in 1940.

Many In Key Jobs

The commander of No. 11 group during some of the hottest days was Sir Keith Park, now Allied air commander of the Southeast Asia command. He is an air chief marshal, equivalent to a two star general.

Little Art Malan, one of the most publicized pilots in the Battle of Britain, gained additional fame in the defense of Malta, where he shot down 16 enemy planes. He now is a group captain at RAF staff college.

F. R. Carey, another one of the original few, has a desk job in the same office with Bader. Wing Commander P. M. Brothers, veteran Hurricane ace, is one of the top men at the RAF cadet college.

Among other old timers holding staff jobs are Group Capt. P. S. Turner, Wing Commander W. Crowley-Milling, Keith Loftis, Bill Drake, Joe Ellis and Tom Vigors. All those names once were virtually household words around London.

Donaldson In Calcutta

Al Donaldson, who knocked down three Germans in one afternoon, now is stationed with the RAF in Calcutta. Stanford Tuck, who gained almost as much attention as Bader and Malan, spent two years as a prisoner of war but now is back

Rye-Vetch Mixture Pays

Roy Gorrell of Logan county realized $54 per acre from a field planted to a rye-vetch mixture. He harvested 200 pounds of vetch worth 13 cents per pound and seven and a half bushels of rye worth $2 per bushel. According to Farm Agent John R. Wadlington, indications are that rye-vetch seeding will be increased by a third in the county this fall.

PEOPLE'S TICKET

As candidates on the People's Ticket for Mayor and Councilmen of the City of Princeton, we, the undersigned, desire to place our platform and candidacies before the voters in this announcement, seeking their favorable consideration prior to the General Election, Tuesday, Nov. 6, 1945. We respectfully submit the following proposed program as our platform:

First: We propose, if elected, to completely reorganize the Police Department and pledge ourselves to the responsibility for 100 percent cooperation in supporting that department. The Mayor, as such, in the head of the Police Department, and the undersigned candidate for that office assumes responsibility of seeing that all laws and ordinances are strictly enforced, regardless of race, creed or color.

Second: We promise ACTION, instead of promises, on improving our present water and sewage systems. The installation of a filtration plant. A sanitary Street Department, to keep our streets clean, for the sake of the health of our community; and to see that the garbage is collected at every home.

Third: To improve and develop a Fire Department which will actually protect the property owners of Princeton, by adding the necessary equipment and employing the necessary men to man this equipment, which will meet with the approval of the State Board of Underwriters.

Fourth: We promise that the streets in all sections of the City will be kept in passable condition and also, that all sections of the City Cemetery will be given equal attention, to see that this place is kept in the best possible condition.

We realize the responsibility to be placed upon us, if we are elected, as we submit our candidacies to the voters of Princeton. We promise efficient management and pledge our utmost in carrying out these campaign pledges, insofar as the finances of the City of Princeton will permit.

Furthermore, we have not promised and will not promise any job to anyone, regardless of what you may hear; however, ex-service men returning and applying for employment, will be given first consideration, if competent to fill the job applied for.

The time for the election is very near and since we will be unable to see each of you, we take this means of soliciting your vote and influence.

Respectfully submitted, with old group 11.

How the few hundred pilots contrived to give the Luftwaffe the thrashing they did in the Battle of Britain is one of the miracles of the war.

The superior morale of the pilots, their skill, the fact that they were fighting over and for their very homes, the excellence of the Spitfire and Hurricane fighters, good organization in the control rooms and the invaluable secret of radar — all were factors contributing to victory.

It has been admitted officially that in July, 1940, the RAF fighter command had only 640 aircraft available daily for the battle. These were being supplemented at the rate of 130 new planes a week.

This was little more than enough to make up for heavy losses. But it was the high toll among the best pilots, more than the loss of aircraft, that almost cost them the decision. In the four months from July to October, 1940, the fighter command lost 481 pilots killed, captured or missing plus 422 injured.

The turning point in the Battle of Britain came on that historic Sunday of Sept. 15, 1940, when a gallant little band of dog-tired pilots, outnumbered ten to one, went up for a desperate last ditch stand and shot down 185 German planes in a nightmare battle which lasted all day over London and south-east England. The pilots fought in relays that day, each coming down only long enough for a cup of tea and for refuelling his plane.

It was soon afterwards that Winston Churchill made his famous remark that "never in the field of human conflict was so much owed by so many to so few."

Personal Remittances To Europe

(Associated Press Features)
By Max Hall
Washington—When Giuseppe Guiseppe, in New York sends money to his mother in Turin, he is helping Italy pay for goods bought in the United States.

Now that Europe is free, more persons in the United States are resuming the practice of sending money to friends and relatives in liberated European countries. The treasury department recently smoothed the way by relaxing its wartime restrictions on such payments, provided they are made through banking channels. American officials believe the increasing flow of "personal remittances" will be a useful factor in providing Europe with dollars it needs to buy goods.

Officials here caution against over-emphasizing the economic effects of these payments. They say the dollar needs of European countries in the next two or three years are so great that, in comparison, the amount of dollars obtained through personal remittances is small. The economic significance of personal remittances—before and after the war—can be illustrated in the case of Italy.

European countries in the amount of personal remittances received from the United States, with Greece, Poland, and Erie following in that order. For example: in 1935, Italy imported from the United States $73,000,000 worth of goods, according to the commerce department. Italy exported to the United States only $35,000,000 of goods. This left a deficit of $38,000,000 in dollar exchange which had to be obtained somewhere. Personal remittances from the United States to Italy in that year were estimated at $23,000,000. This source alone, therefore, provided more than half of the dollars which Italy needed to make up the trade deficit with the United States.

Contrast this with the present situation. The U. S. Treasury Department estimates that in the last 12 months, remittances to Italy have totalled about $28,000,000, and the amount is increasing. But Italy's import requirements now are tremendous, and its exports are negligible. The Foreign Economics Administration in Washington estimates that Italy needs about $2,500,000,000 of goods from all outside sources during the next three years. Italy must have goods for a bare existence, not to mention the vast needs for industrial machinery and raw materials in order to begin producing important amounts of goods at home.

Personal remittances of $28,000,000 or even $50,000,000 a year can't do much toward meeting such huge requirements. Yet officials in Washington say that it all will help. The Commerce Department says that in the next two or three years, personal remittances from the United States to Europe will be greater than before the war—but will not approach the volume immediately after World War I.

RADIO MAY HELP RUN TRAINS

ILLINOIS CENTRAL TRAIN RADIO EXPERIMENT

TWO METHODS FOR FRONT TO REAR AND TRAIN TO WAYSIDE COMMUNICATION

Illustrated here are the possible workings of two methods of radio communication on trains, the scene being on the postwar Illinois Central.

There's a hot box! The agent's keen eye picks it out, and he reports it promptly by one type of radio to the speeding freight train. There the conductor in the caboose and the engineer up ahead converse by another type of radio and agree on the proper remedy, with no time lost.

This is possible because both radio methods are now under test on the Illinois Central between Freeport, Ill., and Waterloo, Ia. In ultimate practice installations will undoubtedly be confined to one type or the other.

Induction, or carrier, radio follows the wayside wires and leaps the gaps between those wires and the stations and the trains. Space radio, indicated here by the beam connecting the engine and the caboose, is much the same as the broadcasting heard in American homes. It needs no intermediate wire. The tests are to determine the extent to which radio may improve train operation.

4-H's Raise Funds

The Ben Johnson 4-H Club in Breckinridge county, which has 50 members, sponsored a community picnic and pie supper to raise funds to install electric lights in their school building. They cleared $89. The club is also re-decorating one of the rooms in the rooms in the school, is adding books to the school library and plans to pay the expenses of two of their members to 4-H Club camp next summer.

remittance is sent to a liberated country?

Under present treasury rules, it must be sent through banking channels. Suppose Giuseppe of New York City wants to send $1,000 to his mother in Turin. Guiseppe goes to his bank, deposits $1,000, and gives his mother's name and address.

The bank transfers the $1,000 deposit to the account of some Italian bank. The Italian bank gives the old lady in Turin 100,000 lire. (Both banks may keep a small percentage as handling charges.)

Thus, Guiseppe's mother receives money she can spend in Italy, and the Italian banking system acquires money than can be spent in America.

Under present Italian exchange controls, the $1,000 deposit must be transferred to the Central Bank of Italy. The Central Bank gives the lesser bank Italian money in exchange for the dollar credit. Though the $1,000 is still on the books of the New York bank and has not physically left the United States, Italy's supply of dollars has been increased.

All because of Guiseppe. The turkey, a large domestic bird, is so-called because of a mistaken idea it came from Turkey. Actually it is an American bird and was not introduced into Europe before 1530.

Russian Miners Get Artificial Sunlight

MOSCOW—(AP)—Soviet scientists at Voroshilovgrad are setting up an ultraviolet ray health chamber for the mass treatment of coal miners whose work keeps them out of the sun's rays for long periods.

The apparatus consists of a corridor along which the workers slowly move on an escalator past banks of powerful lamps which expose them to rays from all sides within a few minutes.

Called "photarii," the device is the Soviet Union's first, and was developed by the Ukrainian Institute of Labor and Hygiene in Charkov.

New Engine Gives Fire Protection

The installation of a Diesel engine at the waterworks pumping station, at a cost in excess of $1,900, was reported at Monday's City Council session.

The engine will make for better fire protection by helping to maintain the elevated water tank at least two-thirds full at all times, and provide one of the requirements of the Actuarial Bureau in advancing Princeton from an eighth to a seventh grade rating, an official said.

Tigers, In Moral Victory, Impress Against Mayfield

Butler Squad Performs Well Tho Losing To Stronger Cardinals By 12 To 0 Score

Butler's embattled Tigers, playing their best game before a home crowd this year, held the highly rated Mayfield Cardinals to a 12-0 score in the local stadium last Friday night and went off the field with a moral victory.

Doped to drop this one by a four touchdown margin, the Tigers outplayed their bigger opponents in the first quarter and actually looked like winners throughout that stanza and into the second quarter, but superior weight and experience began to tell toward the end of the period and, as the half time whistle sounded, Mayfield was five yards from paydirt. It was a good break for Butler.

The locals had three chances to score touchdowns. Once Franklin got loose... and fell. Morgan made two spectacular dashes around end and once was but a step from being home free. Ralph Martin intercepted a Cardinal pass and, if he hadn't attempted to reverse his field, might have gone on to the goal.

The faster Butler backs overhauled Mayfield's balltoters on several occasions when touchdowns loomed, bringing them down from behind. But for this, the score might have been considerably larger against Coach "Chick" Walker's boys.

Johnny Harralson, sub at center, performed outstandingly after Gray suffered a hurt back. Unlike other home games thus far, the Butler backfield looked better than the line, at times, especially in the final quarter. The last half was all Mayfield, the wear and tear of battling their heavier opponents taking toll of the Tigers' smaller line-men.

There was still too much one-armed tackling by our side; too little inclination of players to leave their feet for blocking and tackling; but the Tigers, altho they lost again, need offer no apologies for their showing against Mayfield.

Maddox, Jones and Helfin were Mayfield's best backs and did some very nifty ball carrying. Maddox scoring the first touchdown in the third quarter on a tackle-cutback run and Jones scoring in the last stanza on an end run. Both attempts at conversion failed, one kick never leaving the ground. Sturgis High comes here November 2, for the last home game of the season and a close contest is indicated on the basis of past scores. The Tigers have an open date this week, go to Morganfield Nov. 9, and play their traditional Thanksgiving game with the Marion Terrors, at Marion, November 22.

The Mayfield band and a large delegation of fans accompanied the visitors from Graves county but Butler's Band easily won honors in the between halves maneuvers. Band music

More Wall Ventilation

A new barn, so built that half the side can be opened for ventilation, is creating considerable interest in Johnson county, where it was constructed on the farm of Irvin Rice. It will hold the crop from approximately four acres. Farm Agent Carl H. Lay reports that Rice is also building a stripping room, 14 by 20 feet, with adequate lighting, benches and presses.

Meat Rationing Holds Thru Nov.

Butter Price To Jump 5 Cents A Pound Starting Nov. 8

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Red point rationing will continue through November.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson disclosed this meats-fats-oils prospect and indicated, without saying so finally, that rationing probably will last throughout the year.

Anderson told reporters, some downward revisions in red point values are probable beginning October 28. He declined to discuss them on the ground that fixing of point values is the function of the Office of Price Administration.

A primary factor in the decision to continue rationing at least through November is this country's commitments to foreign governments.

Another consideration is necessity of building up supplies for the second quarter of 1946, when production of meat normally is relatively low.

A jump of five to six cents a pound in retail cost of butter starting Nov. 8 was announced by the government.

Stabilization Director John C. Collet said this will result from cancellation October 31 of a government subsidy of five cents a pound which has been paid to processors.

In a statement issued jointly with Collet's, Price Administrator Chester Bowles said the increase for butter will not boost the over-all cost of living.

Livestock Market

Fat cattle was 25 cents or more higher and cattle and cutters were steady compared with last week's sales on the Princeton Livestock Market Monday, it was reported by Brad Lacey, manager. Total sold was 802 head. Baby beefs topped at $15; No. 1 veals, $16.50 and hogs, $14.45. All fat hogs, 160 pounds and up, sold at ceiling prices.

Willis Refuses Bid To Discuss Finances

Gov. S. S. Willis Tuesday declined an invitation to appear before the Legislative Council to explain how he expects to carry on Kentucky's fiscal affairs if the State Income Tax is repealed, as he has indicated he will demand. The Governor said the Democrats on the Legislative Council "were seeking political advantage."

Spun Rayon Popular

Dresses made of spun rayon are popular for school wear. When washed, they should be ironed when bone dry on a well-padded ironing board, says Miss Threlkeld, clothing specialist at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. The dress should be ironed on the wrong side first, then turned and pressed with a press cloth to prevent shiny edges on collar, cuffs and pleats.

Here's How To Use DDT

(By Associated Press)

Washington - If you're confused about how to use DDT - now it's becoming available generally - here are some hot tips from the Department of Agriculture expert.

Dr. F. C. Bishop of the department's bureau of entomology and plant quarantine, in an interview, gave these cardinal rules for folks who want the stuff for primary domestic uses such as killing flies, mosquitoes, bedbugs, dog fleas and cockroaches: 1. Make up your mind what specific use you intend to make DDT - because for example, a form suitable for flies may not be so good for cockroaches.

2. Don't grab the first DDT product you see on a store shelf. Read the label and see if DDT is present in the proper concentration to suit your needs.

3. Don't expect to kill flies and mosquitoes right in the air when you spray the stuff. It's the residue left by the spray that counts. Sprayed surfaces remain lethal to flies and mosquitoes for weeks and even months.

The deposit left on sprayed surfaces is easily visible, and will not be popular with housekeepers.

You may find these powders on the market as 50 per cent DDT, 50 per cent wetting agents. Add 2 1-2 pounds of the material to three gallons of water and you'll get the ideal 5 per cent solution.

Against bedbugs, either a 5 per cent spray or a 10 per cent powder is effective.

"DDT," says the Department of Agriculture, "is the perfect answer to the bedbug problem."

In dusting your dog with 10 per cent DDT dust, use about

Disease-Resistant Tobacco Do Well

The superior qualities of root-resistant varieties of tobacco over non-resistant kinds were seen in demonstration fields in Henry county. A. R. Garrett grew tobacco in the same field for the fourth successive year, a vetch-small-grain cover crop being turned under between crops of tobacco. He then planted root-resistant Ky. 16 and about 20 rows of another tobacco which was not resistant to disease. The latter was almost a complete failure, while Ky. 16 made excellent growth.

A. O. Stanley grew Ky. 41A and a non-resistant variety side by side, the latter making practically no growth, while the Ky. 41A made a good crop.

About 25 acres of Ky. 16 and Ky. 41A were planted by Martin Baskett, along with an acre of non-resistant tobacco. The first two made regular, even growth, while the non-resistant variety was uneven with only a few good plants and many poor ones. W. W. Hill had eight or ten rows of root-resistant Golden Burley hybrid which made a good growth, while non-resistant tobacco in the same patch made practically none.

Farm Agent W. B. Howell reports that root rot was found on between 400 and 500 farms in the county this year.

1-4 tablespoonsful for his entire body. But—

Don't dust your cat with DDT, because cats lick themselves and can ingest enough of the poison to make them sick.

Gordon L. Garrett of Simpson county primed 990 sticks of tobacco from three acres at a cost of $89.30. He estimates he will sell 913 pounds of cured leaves.

FDR's Home Soon Will Pass To U. S. As National Shrine

(By Associated Press)

Washington.—Control of the late President Roosevelt's Hyde Park estate is expected to pass family waivers to occupancy of the Government as soon as the big house on the Hudson is completed.

This was learned from family friends and Government officials. They said legal transfer of the estate is expected to be made soon to the National Park Service of the Interior Department. The property was deeded to the Government subject to certain family occupancy rights.

Along with the rambling stone-stucco house and forested acres, the Interior Department will receive the responsibility for protecting the late President's grave, which is in the rose garden between the home and the Roosevelt Memorial Library. This is now an Army job. The library and 12 acres around it are already Government property with the National Archives having jurisdiction.

Park Service officials said that after family occupancy waivers are completed an appropriation will have to be approved by Congress before the Government can begin to operate the property as a memorial.

Big Clover Crop

Farmers in Grant county are giving limestone and phosphate credit for the best red clover yield in years, reports Farm Agent Robert Hume, many fields having been cut for the second time. During the past 10 years, more than 100,000 tons of limestone and at least 5,000 tons of phosphate have been used in the county.

Likes Grimm Alfalfa

After growing three varieties of alfalfa for four years, Perry Evans of Henry county considers Grimm the best. Verified Origin Kansas he rates second, with Oklahoma poorest because of winter-killing. To protect the soil from leaching and washing, Evans sows timothy and bluegrass with alfalfa. Adding red clover seed helps by filling in spots where the other seeds fail, he has found.

Wacs Attend Paris Fashion Shows

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Newsfeatures

Paris—At the first well attended fashion openings here, the salons have played host to many English designers, fashion writers of all nations and groups of Wacs who admire the clothes, as well as GIs who discuss the mannequins.

Paquin emphasizes shoulder lines by important use of the yoke in innumerable ways.

In contrast, Lucien Lelong's emphasis is on the draped front hip-line.

Paquin's suits, afternoon and evening dresses have interest concentrated on neck yokes and berthas by use of contrasting material and by outlining wide shoulder lines with metal embroidery. Skirts are full with pleated front and back.

Fur skins decorate dresses and suits. Seal, beaver, silver fox and less costly pelts appear as patch pockets and tiny collars. Velvet is used for collar, belt and pocket trimming.

Nipped-in natural waistlines and suit jackets that fall well below the hip line form the theme. Street dress lengths are just below the knees.

Raglan and dolman sleeves are shown and modified leg o' mutton sleeves are used in afternoon dresses.

A pastel green tweed suit carries sheared beaver cuffs reaching above the elbow and giving the appearance of gauntlets.

His Sheep Pay

That farmers who follow good sheep-raising practices find a flock profitable is seen in the records of Edgar Murphy of Casey county, who recently sold 100 three-year old western ewes for $17 each. He promptly replaced them with western yearlings. According to Farm Agent J. Stanley Howard, for the past three years, Murphy has made $1.50 per year for each dollar invested in his flock.

Paquin, like Lelong, is lining many coats with fur and putting quilted silk and satin linings of brilliant hue in others. But while Paquin sticks to the slim bodice, wasp waist and flaring skirts in most coats, Lelong is deliberately giving many coats a bulky look.

Spectators are impressed by Paquin's unusual odd color combinations. A rich hostess gown of emerald green-bodice has a flowing skirt of red-purple and is caught at the waist by a garnet red belt and a front held by deep red garnet buttons.

Purples and browns dominate his collection, just as black is the primary color in Lelong's.

Women with tiny waists are the only ones who will have an easy time in Molyneux clothes. While his collection is not as dramatic as some, he emphasizes the importance of the silhouette with smooth, sophisticated understating. Shoulders are square without exaggeration. Bodices are form fitting and pockets of all types are important.

But where only one trend is noticeable in each of the other large collections a wide variety of styles is shown in the Molyneux models.

One interesting note is the use of flat fur such as leopard cat and sheared lamb for full-length coats with sharply contrasting use of bulky fur such as skunk or opossum.

His skirts are shorter, generally, than those of the other collections. Most of them are full with pleats except one slim, straight model similar to a Lelong specialty of the season.

One of the most striking models in the collection is an angora wool housecoat with huge dolman sleeves striped brilliant orange.

And if couturiers have anything to say about hats they are going to be small, even though many of them are high. Feathers are in as well as all other types of trimming and there are just as many brims as pillboxes in the collections.

Red Cross To Tackle Post Peace Job

BY ADELAIDE KERR
AP Newsfeature Writer
MRS. MASON COLT will tackle one of the biggest reconstruction and humanitarian jobs in the country.
She will head the volunteer services of the American Red Cross in the largest peacetime program of its history, helping veterans reconstruct homes and lives, assisting in disaster relief, working on accident prevention and giving other needed services.
The coming postwar program will be as much larger than that of the twenties as World War II was larger than those of World War I," Mrs. Colt said.
The work to be done is tremendous."
Mrs. Colt—slender, blue-eyed, trim in her uniform—began her work in the Red Cross during World War I and, with one brief interruption, has carried it on since. She is the former wife of Sloan Colt, New York banker, mother of three and a grandfather. Recently she returned from two and a half years' war service in Europe, where she was director of Staff Welfare and served as the only woman deputy commissioner of the American Red Cross.

In her new job, making headquarters in Washington, she will aid in recruiting new volunteers and directing the whole corps in the Red Cross peacetime program.
"There is a tremendous job to be done in hospitals—especially veterans' hospitals," she said. "We shall have a large corps of nurses' aids and dieticians' aids as well as a hospital and recreation corps (the gray ladies) who entertain convalescents, read, write letters and do other things the nurses would like to do if they had time.
Other volunteers in the program under Mrs. Colt's direction will make hospital garments and clothes for relief, dispense hot coffee and food in times of disaster, serve school lunches, conduct blood banks and do the myriad office chores which keep 3,755 Red Cross chapters running all over the country.
"The Red Cross needs women of courage, integrity and unselfish purpose to untangle the problems of today," said Mrs. Colt. "And I'm sure we shall have them. It seems to me I see a change in American women since my return from Europe. They are less concentrated on them-

Move Over Penicillin
(Associated Press Feature)
Washington — Streptomycin—new rival of penicillin in the "wonder drug" class—is being studied by the Army Medical Department as a possible aid to sick and wounded war veterans.
"The new drug shows possibilities which may prove as important to the medical profession as was the discovery of penicillin," says an Army statement.
"Streptomycin is a killer of 'gram-negative' bacteria, such as tuberculosis, cholera, dysentery, typhoid. Penicillin is a 'gram positive' bacteria, such as pneumonia, streptococcus, staphylococcus (pus formers), gonococcus and syphilis."
Brigadier General Hugh J. Morgan of the Surgeon General's office says that while the new drug is still in the laboratory stage, some is being produced and small quantities are being made available to the medical department for experimental purposes.
As was the case with penicillin, production of the drug is slow and tedious, and it will be some time before it is available in any quantity.

Now that the war is over, it's time to open the doors to the days ahead. They're going to be busy, exciting days.

For one thing, the Telephone Company plans the greatest expansion program in its history in Kentucky—aimed at meeting the telephone needs of a great state.

It means providing telephones for all who have been waiting for them. This is one of our first jobs! A greatly expanded telephone program for our farmer friends is also in process. Expansion of long distance service is being scheduled too. It will include the installation of coaxial cables to handle more calls with speed and convenience for you, and provide more facilities for that exciting visual art—television. A mass of construction is to be done and a new service to motor vehicles is also in the offing.

Those are the high spots. They have been ideas on the drawing-board. They will become realities as materials become obtainable. There will be the marshalling of prosperity's Three M's—Men, Money and Materials, the forces that brought Kentucky and the Telephone Company to their present positions, that won them the friendship and confidence of the public.

This expansion program calls for the expenditure of millions of dollars in Kentucky. And telephone people like the idea of putting money for expansion into Kentucky, contributing to the general welfare and prosperity of the state, through its men and women, its wage-earners, its families, its communities.

Our optimism for the future is based on the record of the past. Kentucky and the 3326 men and women of the Telephone Company have grown up together, and watched each other grow. Now, in the days ahead, the same friendly relationship will continue. The future beckons with a busy hand.

U. S. Tax On Merchants' Patience

(By Associated Press)

Washington — Manufacturers and distributors of items burdened with wartime's federal excise tax on so-called luxury merchandise, are screaming.

A portion of the public, they say, is refusing to buy furs, jewelry, toilet preparations, luggage and several other things in anticipation of immediate reduction or elimination of the tax as high as 20 per cent on many articles. The non-buyers may be right. If they are, it would be all right with the manufacturers and merchants. The tax is certainly no money in their pockets. What they are screaming for is some definite date for the reduction or elimination, so they can scale production and inventories accordingly. Or lacking that, a statement that the tax isn't going to be reduced or eliminated so that the public will plunk down its war dollars for the taxed articles.

So far, however, they have made most of their complaints to the U. S. Treasury Department—which is laying their problem child on the wrong doorstep. The treasury hasn't anything to do with the tax—except, of course, to collect it.

The excise taxes, whether on a mug of suds, a GI's first call home or Mrs. Rich's spread of mink, are strictly the affair of congress. And its strictly your affair if you want to gamble Congress will or won't do something.

Many of those excise taxes are automatically due for reduction (none automatically for abolishment) six months after the official "termination of hostilities." If anyone here knows when that will be, he isn't hinting. There's no use to compare anything in this war with World War I, but it might be noted that World War I wasn't over "officially" until 1921, nearly three years after the signing of the armistice.

This doesn't mean, of course, that the excise taxes slapped on in wartime—or the full income tax rates, for that matter—are going to stick indefinitely. No one in the government or out has predicted that.

The Good Roads Amendment*

The Soldier Vote Amendment*

1. The Good Roads Amendment will protect your Road Fund from diversion to other purposes. Guarantee that your gasoline taxes, auto license fees, drivers licenses, etc., will be used for highway purposes only.

2. Kentucky needs every penny of its Road Fund for ROADS!

- (a) To Match Kentucky's portion of Federal Highway Aid!
- (b) For road construction and maintenance deferred during four years of wartime shortages of material and labor.
- (c) For postwar jobs for Kentucky's returning veterans and war workers.
- (d) For 27,690 miles of Kentucky's rural roads still "in the mud!"

3. The Soldier Vote Amendment will give to Kentucky men and women the right to vote in Kentucky elections while away from home and serving in the Nation's Armed Forces. Our constitution now denies this right. Vote "YES" for the Soldier Vote Amendment and correct this injustice.

Soy Bean Crop Has Successful Year

The Ohio Valley Soybean Cooperative at Henderson is cited by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics as an example of successful cooperative organization benefitting agriculture.

In the fiscal year ending July 1, this cooperative paid farmers $1,305,115 for 646,026 bushels of soybeans. From these beans it produced for market 4,698,333 pounds of oil and 32,359,170 pounds of meal for a total market value of $1,399,911.

After taking care of repairs to its plant and setting aside reserves for depreciation, the cooperative made $90,949 savings for its patrons during the year. The net savings for the last fiscal year in excess of the book value of plant and equipment, were more than $3,500 from which it paid back to farmers, a patronage dividend, almost 11 cents a bushel for beans purchased at ceiling prices.

The cooperative was organized in 1940 by the soybean growers in the Ohio river valley adjacent to Henderson. Since its organization, it has furnished a market for more than 1,722,000 bushels of beans. Livestock producers as well as soybean growers have benefited, due to the large quantities of high-protein feed made available to them.

The college notes that this illustrates but one of the many opportunities farmers have in improving their financial position through the establishment of cooperatives.

Longer Life For Woolens

By Vivian Brown (Associated Press Features)

Topcoats and men's suits will have to be ready for a long pull to save wool and man-hours now that the army is stepping up its needs for wool worsteds, advises the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It offers the following suggestions to help make a coat or suit wear longer.

Brush wool clothes often, in the direction of the grain of the cloth, inside and out, and in and around pockets and cuffs. Air them occasionally, outdoors when weather permits.

Save the press by putting clothes on hangers as soon as removed. If lacking a trouser hanger or wooden hanger with cross-bar, fold a piece of heavy cardboard over a wire hanger to hold trousers.

Regular cleaning before clothes become badly soiled lengthens wear. Before pressing clothes at home, remove spots as a warm iron may set them so they never will come out. Steam press with moderately hot iron—too hot an iron may scorch even through a pressing cloth.

Winter is not a closed season for clothes moths or carpet beetles, so play safe by using moth balls, flakes, or crystals and keep stored wools sealed in paper or airtight boxes, chests or closets.

New coats or suits or, good ones taken out of moth balls in readiness for returning service-men, can be reinforced by sewing a protective underarm shield, knee and seat retreads, and "wear guards" on trouser legs.

UNIVERSITY EMPLOYEE GRATEFUL TO RETONGA

Had Suffered Severe Distress From Pains In The Legs, Indigestion And Weak, Run Down Feeling That Nothing Seemed To Relieve, He States, Retonga A Great And Pleasant Surprise

Happy and grateful men and women from all walks of life continue to come forward with strong praise of Retonga. Among the latest is Mr. J. D. Jinks, well-known resident of 953-k 5th Street, Knoxville, Tenn., care-taker of buildings and grounds at the University of Tennessee. Discussing Retonga, he greatly stated:

"I am indebted to my wife for having tried Retonga. A year ago it promptly relieved her of distress from indigestion and a badly run-down feeling. I was suffering much distress from indigestion, poor appetite, severe pains in my hips, knees, and legs, and sluggish elimination. I was very restless and seldom got a good night's sleep. My appetite was almost completely gone and nothing I ate seemed to agree with me, and nothing I tried seemed to help me.

MR. AND MRS. J. D. JINKS

"This kept up for about three years and the relief Retonga gave me was a great and happy surprise. My appetite is splendid, I eat anything and sleep restfully. The pains are entirely relieved and so is the sluggish elimination. I can work 8 to 12 hours and not feel tired out. It would be hard to praise Retonga enough."

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, Vitamin B-1 deficiency and constipation. Accept no substitute. Retonga may be obtained at Dawson's Drug Store.
