Nicholas Thompson was born in Saint Louis, Missouri and comes from a very musical family. His mother was his high school music teacher and three of his four siblings majored in orchestral performance; his wife is a clarinetist. After studying with various members of the Saint Louis Symphony Orchestra, Mr. Thompson was awarded full scholarships to three universities in South Florida, and has consequently been very fortunate to study in succession with great professors. For his bachelor's degree, he studied at the University of Miami with Robert Weiner. Subsequently, he studied with Jared Hauser at both Florida International University and Lynn University. Mr. Thompson finished his Professional Performance Certificate at Lynn under the direction of Joseph Robinson, where he is currently a master's degree candidate. He has performed regularly with several student and professional orchestras all over South Florida including the New World Symphony Orchestra. He currently performs with the Lynn Philharmonia and with the Miami Symphony Orchestra, among others. Mr. Thompson also teaches lessons and has basic skills related to fixing and maintaining musical instruments and equipment. For more information, please visit www.nickthompson.weebly.com

Collaborative pianist, Yiqian Song was born in Hunan, a southern province of China. She started to play the piano at the age of six and was a winner of the Hunan Youth Competition. While attending high school, Ms. Song served as the accompanist of the school's chorus. She collaborated regularly with students from the school's vocal department. In 2006, she entered the Shanghai Conservatory of Music, majoring in piano and minoring in vocal studies. Ms. Song also studied percussion and choral conducting while attending Shanghai Conservatory of Music. She completed her bachelor's degree under the tutelage of Yumeng Chen. Ms. Song is presently studying collaborative piano at Lynn University with Tao Lin.
