

LYNN UNIVERSITY CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

2004 2005 SEASON

The Lynn University Conservatory of Music attracts some of the world's most talented young musicians. Here, these student-artists, who hail from more than a dozen countries, pursue their degrees in instrumental performance, preparing to join the world's leading symphony orchestras and most prestigious graduate music programs.

To build upon our excellence, we need your help. You may support the Conservatory of Music by contributing to scholarships, the development of new programs or other student needs. You may assist the conservatory the following ways:

THE ANNUAL FUND

A gift to the Annual Fund can be designated for scholarships, various studios, special concerts or to the General Conservatory Fund.

ESTATE GIFT

An estate gift will provide for the conservatory in perpetuity. Your estate gift may be made as a gift of appreciated stock, real estate or cash.

FRIENDS OF THE CONSERVATORY

As a member of the Friends of the Conservatory, you will be involved in an organization that seeks to address the needs of the students and the conservatory as a whole. This organization has just completed its first year and now includes more than 100 members providing major scholarship assistance to the students.

VOLUNTEERING

Become a volunteer. Contact the Ticket Office Manager at 561-237-9000 for more information.

Your contribution to the conservatory is tax-deductible. For additional information, you may call the development office at 561-237-7766, or visit the university's Web site at www.lynn.edu.

Madalina Georgiana Macovei, cello

Born in 1978, Madalina Macovei began playing the cello at age 8, being the first musician in her family.

As an orchestra musician, she performed in 2004 with the Southwest Florida Symphony, Miami Symphony, and the Symphony of the Americas.

In 2003, she was awarded a scholarship at the Lynn University Conservatory of Music where she is currently studying with world renowned cellist Johanne Perron. She will graduate in 2005 with her Master's Degree.

As a soloist during her college years at G. Enescu International Conservatory of Music in Bucharest, she has had featured solo recitals in Bucharest, Brasov, and Craiova. She has also attended numerous master classes and TV shows such as "The Musical Hour."

In 2001, she became the manager and cellist of the "Noa Quartet."

As a student at the G. Enescu High School of Music, she performed in concerts and solo recitals at the G. Enescu Museum "Salla Dealles" and other important cultural venues. She also joined the Transylvania Orchestra conducted by Paul Mann from the London Symphony in a big tour of Europe.

Madalina began studying the cello under the supervision of professor Anca Vartolomei in 1986, quickly becoming one of the future talents of the school. On a personal note, Madalina believes that playing cello is "a dream come true."
