2012 CLASS GIFT

The Class of 2012 selected a memorial bench for the Remembrance Plaza as its legacy to the university. The bench offers visitors to the plaza a place to sit, relax, reflect and celebrate the lives of those lost in the 2010 Haiti earthquake. The four students honored were all fellow classmates of the Class of 2012.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER: Dr. Peter Diamandis

A scientist, engineer, medical doctor, activist, entrepreneur and global leader in commercial space, Dr. Peter Diamandis is widely regarded as the world's foremost expert in incentivized innovation.

Diamandis is the founder, chairman and CEO of the X PRIZE Foundation, a nonprofit organization focused on designing and launching large incentive prizes to drive radical breakthroughs for the benefit of humanity.

The foundation is perhaps best-known for the $10 million Ansari X PRIZE to encourage the development of private space travel. Diamandis designed the prize after reading The Spirit of St. Louis about the winning of the Orteig Prize. In 1996, he formally announced the prize in St. Louis, and the race was on to open the space frontier for humanity. His personal motto is: "The best way to predict the future is to create it yourself!"

Today, the X PRIZE Foundation is widely recognized as the leader in fostering innovation through incentivized competition. The foundation conducts competitions in four prize groups: Education & Global Development, Energy & Environment, Life Sciences and Exploration (Ocean & Deep Space).

Diamandis is the author of The New York Times bestseller Abundance: The Future Is Better Than You Think and gave a TED talk in 2012 on that book's theme.

Diamandis holds an undergraduate degree in molecular genetics and a graduate degree in aerospace engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and an M.D. degree from Harvard Medical School. In 2005, he was awarded an honorary doctorate from the International Space University.

Diamandis has founded more than 15 companies since his first year at MIT. His professional honors include The Economist's Innovation Award for "No Boundaries," the Arthur C. Clarke Award for Innovation, the Heinlein Award, the Lindbergh Award, the Wired RAVE Award, the Neil Armstrong Award and the World Technology Award.

STUDENT SPEAKER: Alexandra Alberti

Alexandra Alberti entered Lynn University as a freshman in the fall of 2009. At the completion of her freshman year, she was selected to participate in the 3.0 Program, Lynn University's accelerated degree program. Alberti also has been a member of the Honors Program and earned Dean's List recognition each of her five semesters at Lynn. She currently has a 4.0 GPA and is graduating with a Bachelor of Science degree in psychology.

In addition to her studies, Alberti has pursued many passions outside of Lynn University such as becoming a certified emergency medical technician and nutrition health coach and participating in extensive psychology research. In 2012, her work was accepted to the CEPO Conference in New Orleans. In 2011, Alberti developed Lynn University's first Autism Puzzle Piece Campaign and earned the award of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Alberti also has been very involved in student life at Lynn University. She is a founding member of the Knights of the Roundtable; outgoing president of her sorority, Sigma, Sigma, Sigma; and outgoing vice president of Psi Chi, an international honors society.

Alberti plans to attend medical school, where she will pursue a degree in neuropsychology with a specialization in autism spectrum disorders. She hopes to one day become a professor, so that she may motivate students to find their passion and follow their dreams.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

Lending color to the pageantry of commencement are the academic robes and hoods worn by the faculty and students. This regalia reaches back into the medieval ages, when it served a functional as well as an ornamental role, separating the learned men from other groups and offering warmth and protection.

In America in the late 19th century, a conference was held by representatives of colleges and universities to bring some order and system to the custom of academic dress. Since then, there have been periodic conferences to revise or reconfirm existing practices.

Essentially, undergraduates wear the black robes with the white collars. Holders of the master's degree wear hoods which are lined with the colors of the college conferring the degree and trimmed with the color representing the subject in which the degree was earned. The doctoral robe is adorned with velvet and is also worn with the hood suitably ornamented.

Holders of degrees from foreign universities or religious orders wear the entire academic costume as decreed by the conferring institution.

The following list reflects the colors which will be found on the hoods worn in the academic procession and the subject each represents.

THE GONFALONS

The gonfalons, a tradition that has origins in the civic rituals of 12th century Italy, were introduced last year to Lynn University's academic ceremonial protocol.

Lynn University's gonfalons were designed in accordance with standards established for all colleges and universities and bear each college's unique symbolic colors. The common bonds that unite faculty and students as members of one academic community are embodied in the display of the university's seal on each individual gonfalon. The vice president for academic affairs, in consultation with the academic deans, selects the faculty members honored to serve as gonfalon bearers.

THE CEREMONIAL ACADEMIC MACE

The academic mace traces its origins to the 14th century, when the royal scepter historically carried by rulers and the battle mace were combined to produce the ceremonial academic mace. It was carried in processions of royalty, magistrates, and church or university officials.

During the commencement ceremony, the mace indicates the authority of the university president to award degrees. The mace is carried by the chief marshal.

The Lynn University mace consists of a three-foot tall wood scepter with a bronze cast of the Lynn University seal on the top. It was designed in 2002 by Graphic Design Professor Emeritus Ernest Ranspach, who presented it to Lynn University President Emeritus Donald E. Ross in honor of 30 years of leadership and service.

This program is not an official graduation list. This printed program lists students who were eligible to graduate for academic year 2011-12, as of April 1, 2012, pending the outcome of final examinations and final grades. Therefore, it should not be used to determine a student's academic or degree status. The university's official registry for the conferral of degrees is the student's permanent academic record, kept by the Office of the Registrar, Lynn University, 3601 N. Military Trail, Boca Raton, FL 33431.

LYNN UNIVERSITY
ALMA MATER

Under skies of blue
We've made friends so true
From every corner of the world
Celebrating different cultures
Made us see our world anew.

From this caring place
We will squarely face
The challenge of our destiny
Like our Fighting Knights
We'll lift hearts and sights
And we'll go forth in victory

And if our blue skies should turn to grey days
Or we misplace a dream or two
We'll remember Alma Mater
And then Her spirit will see us through.

So let's raise our voice
In a proud refrain
Remembering good times we all knew
Hail all hail our Alma Mater
Lynn University...Here's to you!

*Music and lyrics by Joe Carey
Choral arrangement by Rick Krive*
