"Climb every mountain

We here dedicate this book, the 1969 Grove, to those who have strove to reach this their first true mountain's peak, the graduating class of 1969. They now begin their descent into the valleys of life, hopefully going onward with always that one more mountain to climb.

Search high and low

We face the unending search for understanding, an understanding of ourselves and our fellow man.

As teachers we must foster this search in our students. For only through international understanding can we ever hope to find true Peace on Earth.

Follow every Byway' Every path you know

Paths go on forever and hardly ever cross. From here you'll leave old friends behind you, but others will befriend you and help to fill the loss. Yet there will always be a place for those old friends and places you here have know.

Climb every mountain Ford every stream

As you strive for the mountain's peak and cross the rivers of life that lie ahead of you there will always be yet a challenge ahead as you go. For every mountain's peak reveals yet another mountain to climb and as you ford each stream there is the challenge of the other side.

We've reached this peak of college to learn only that we must now cross the next river and teach.

These challenges may seem unending, but let it never be said we failed to try. For as always it has been said once again, EDUCATION IS NOT A DESTINATION, IT IS A JOURNEY. ALWAYS WE ARE ENROUTE.

Follow every rainbow Till you find your dream

Rainbows are for crossing, and dreams of pleasures to be found. And now that you're crossing that rainbow may your dreams of life's fulfillment all come true.

Dreams like love show themselves in many strange places. A teacher must always be willing to give both your dreams and your love to those you teach. A quiet walk, a lonely park, or children at play may all mean much to you. Life's dreams come in many odd sizes and shapes but will always need your love if they are to flourish. The simple pleasures of an uncomplicated life may be all the dreams your love desires.

A dream that will need all the love you can give

Everyday of your life for as long as you live”

Life goes on forever in the beauty that is ours, but we must see this beauty, and in seeing it want to share it with others if it is truly to be enjoyed.

And so it is with us, “everyday of your life for as long as you live” you must share yourself with others if they are to see your true worth.

What better place is there to share and what better people to give to than a class of eager school children out there somewhere waiting for you.

Turn around and what do you see?

New Student Week 1968

The "Beanie Bopper" Invasion

Beanies were the accepted wearing apparel as New Student Week progressed. For many this was an introduction to a new form of life with which they were to become accustomed. And one of the most important parts of this new life form were the lines; at times they seemed to go on forever.

When you weren't standing in lines you were meeting new people and sharing ideas with a variety of new found friends. Your days were filled with official duties and places to be and the rest of the time you called your own, that is until you got back to the dorm to find your upperclassmen sisters or brothers ready to find a few extra things for you to experience. Of course all this was in the good name of orientation to college life, something you wouldn't want to miss, not even if they would have let you.

September brought the arrival of students to the Oregon College of Education campus. Seniors with anticipation, Juniors with the feeling of superiority, Sophomores as upperclassmen, and a new crop of Freshmen to assume the role of Beanie Boppers.

The fear and the dread of orientation was replaced with fun after experiencing some of the activities. Staying up all night, running many times with pajamas on, signing the Freshman Walk, and wearing a beanie were all part of the four days of Freshman Orientation.

Formal initiation ended the week's activities as the old students began to blend with the new and once again classes began on the O.C.E. campus.

Junior Class Carnival

This year's Junior Class Carnival like those of previous years brought out a variety of smiling faces for the camera to capture.

Local merchants donated many items to help make the Carnival a success.

A mixture of the bizarre and the unusual helped to add to the enjoyment of those who were in attendance.

There was fun for every age group from adults to the children in the various booths manned by a troop of hard-working Juniors.

Dad's Day 1968

The students found much to see and do when they invited their dads to be guests on Dad's Day 1968.

Included in the day's activities were a luncheon, a football game, and a host of other things all designed to help Dad have a very special day. And the crowd that was on hand attributed to the fact that it truly was a successful day for all concerned.

Sadie

This year's theme was "Punkin' Patch Plunge" and Sadie reigned again at the annual Collecto Coed sponsored Sadie Hawkins Dance. This year's dance was as usual a great success as is customary when the girls finally get to go out with the guy they want.

Many couples made it to Marryin' Sam and got all hitched up before the night ended. Sam provided a short ceremony complete with candles and a kiss for the bride which helped to liven up the events of the evening.

Everyone seemed to enjoy the festivities and even the Spinster, Kristy Clark, and Bachelor were all smiles.

Royalty 1968 Homecoming

Everything went lawnsigns!

The Homecoming theme, ANYTHING GOES, was well represented by the various dorms in their original and quite unique lawnsigns. Pictured on the following page is the Barnum lawnsign which caught the judges eye and was awarded first place. Waldo made an appearance in a variety of forms, from a giant sized football hero to a life size cowboy hero. Cal Western just couldn't seem to do anything right, on the football field against Waldo. Anything and everything went as the Women of Barnum added their ideas to the wide world of transportation. It seems the girls had the right ideas.

Anything goes around the world

Staff and Key, a women's leadership and knowledge honorary, have proved they know how to sponsor an event and make an excellent production of it. The ANYTHING GOES slogan was carried upon with the idea that "anything goes around the world." Various booths were displayed from Japan, Hawaii, Holland, Germany, France, Mexico, and each booth offered something in the way of refreshments from its represented country.

The evenings entertainment was provided by the "River City Jazz Band."

During an intermission the All-American candidates were introduced to the crowd. The candidates were: Bob Olson, Tom Fischer, Gary Beckley, Jon Lamoreaux, Jerry Joslin, Craig Carpenter, Mike Morgan, Jim Hosek, and Larry Koenig.

Jon Lamoreaux was named the 1968-69 Mr. All-American.

Bill Cosby first introduced
"The Pair Extraordinaire"

Christmas is a Happy Time

The Social Board is the student government body that governs the social policies of the school. The members of the Board decided to put on a Christmas party for about thirty migrant children in the area.

The party included time where games were played, small gifts were given (by Santa Claus!), and there were refreshments.

The part seemed to hold the attention of children and social board members alike and Santa had his share of lap-sitters too!

The party was termed a great success by all who attended.

Glenn Yarborough "in concert"

Menehune A-GO-GO

The swishing of grass skirts and the rattle of the feather gourd added to the excitement and enjoyment of the Hawaiian Club's annual dance.

This year's theme, "Menehune-A-GoGo," brought out the crowd and a little glimpse of paradise helped to warm the otherwise chilled spirits from the outside. Snow piled high outside, but a portion of the tropics dwelled inside the commons in the warm and friendly smiles of visitor and islander alike.

Some of the Finer Things in Life at OCE

OCE's fall play, The School for Scandal, was directed by Richard Davis, with Odette Haskell assisting. Richard Brinsley Sheridan's 18th-Century comedy combined suspense, humor, intrigue and romance to develop the original wife-caught-behind-the-screen-in-lover's-library plot. The play was presented in the OCE theatre November 21, 22, and 23.
