

3-16-1939

Bulloch Times (Statesboro News-Statesboro Eagle)

Notes

Condition varies. Some pages missing or in poor condition.

Originals provided for filming by the publisher.

Gift of Statesboro Herald and the Bulloch County Historical Society.

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/bulloch-news-issues>

Recommended Citation

"Bulloch Times (Statesboro News-Statesboro Eagle)" (1939). Bulloch County Newspapers (Single Issues). 1934.
<https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/bulloch-news-issues/1934>

This newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the Bulloch County Historical Newspapers at Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. It has been accepted for inclusion in Bulloch County Newspapers (Single Issues) by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@georgiasouthern.edu.

Social: Clubs: Personal

Purely Personal

Mrs. W. E. Dekle motored to Savannah Friday for the day. Miss Edna Nevils was a visitor in Savannah during the week end. Jake Smith spent several days during the week in Ohio on business. Mr. and Mrs. Phil Bean were business visitors in Savannah Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith were business visitors in Savannah Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brunson spent Sunday in Clayton with her parents. Mrs. E. C. Oliver has returned from a visit to Mrs. E. L. McLeod in Orlando, Fla. Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Nowell and family motored to Cochran Sunday for the day. Miss Meg Ginter had as her guest for the week end Miss Juliette Yarns, of Louisville, Ky. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith and Mrs. Gordon Ellich were visitors in Savannah Sunday. Mrs. W. W. Williams had as her guest Tuesday her niece, Mrs. C. G. Deloach, of Clayton. Mrs. Marion Sasser left Sunday for Jacksonville, Fla., to visit her sister, Mrs. Marvin Anderson. Mr. H. L. Sneed is in Savannah this week conducting a series of meetings at Montgomery chapel. Dr. Guy Wells, of Milledgeville, spent Tuesday as the guest of Dr. and Mrs. R. J. H. DeLoach. Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Arundel and Miss Janice Arundel motored to Savannah Saturday for the day. Miss Carol Anderson, of Waycross, spent last week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dell Anderson. Mrs. Frank Williams has returned from a visit to her brother, Arthur Everett, and his family in Columbia, S. C. Miss Mary Lee Brice, a student of Besse II College, is spending the spring holidays with Mrs. Lee Brice. Mrs. Thomas Evans, of Savannah, spent several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Grimes. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Shearouse, of Augusta, spent last week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Flinders. Misses Martha Evelyn Lanier and Maxine Foy were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fraser in Hinesville. Miss Lettie Lee Lane, of Savannah, is spending a few days this week as the guest of Mrs. Lamar Jones, at the Rushing Hotel. Forming a party motoring to Savannah Saturday were Mrs. A. J. Shelton, Mrs. Harry Brunson, and Mrs. Jimmy Allen. Miss Gladys Thayer, who teaches at Marlow, was at home for the week end and had as her guest Miss Julia Reese, of Ladlow. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Pond motored to Butler Sunday to attend the celebration of his grandparents' fiftieth wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. George Bean and the daughter, Linda, and Mr. and Mrs. Bean spent Sunday with their mother in Hazlet. Mr. and Mrs. Loron Durden and daughters, Misses Dorothy, and Virginia, spent Sunday in Savannah with relatives. Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Thaggard and their son, Jimmy, who teaches at Marlow, were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Rushing, Sunday. Dr. A. J. Mooney and John Mooney have returned from Atlanta, where they attended the Southeastern Surgical Congress the first of the week. Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Christian returned to their home in Cobhita after spending some time here because of the death of his father, John Wilcox. Forming a party motoring to Augusta Friday were Mrs. Thad Morris and Mrs. E. L. Foster. Mrs. J. W. Thayer, Mrs. C. B. Matthews and Mrs. Leff DeLoach. Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Anderson, Miss Blanche Anderson and Dean Anderson Jr., and Mrs. W. E. Dekle were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lee at Siltson. Miss Nim Moore, who teaches at Cobhita, is at home recovering from a serious operation which was performed at the Metter hospital about ten days ago. Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Anson spent last week end in Atlanta on business. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Averitt and Robert Bland were visitors in Savannah during the week. Mr. and Mrs. W. D. McGauley and their little daughter, Patty, were in Metter Sunday, to see his brother, Jack McGauley, who was seriously injured by an automobile the early part of last week. Jimmy Gunter, of Louisville, spent last week end with his aunt, Mrs. B. Matthews. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gunter and Miss Betty Gunter motored over for the day Sunday to accompany him home. Mrs. J. W. Hodges has returned from a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Elwood Carter, and her family in Metter. Mr. and Mrs. Carter and children, Virgene and Harold, accompanied her home for the week end. Mrs. B. T. Beasley has returned from a visit in Alexandria, Va., where she has been visiting her son and daughter, Mrs. H. E. McLane, who announces the birth of a daughter. She will be called Mary Frances. Mrs. Lula Abbot, of Rome, is spending a few days with her cousin, Mrs. W. J. Rackley and Judge H. B. Strange, she having come because of the death of her cousin, Dr. George Strange, at Springfield.

Between Us

Why Not Try to Be—

The Fellow Mother Thinks You Are Whittling a crowded street the other day. I heard a little urchin to a comrade turn and say, "Say, Chummy, let me tell you, I'm not a saint, but I'm a saint. If I only was de fellow dat me 'Mudder licks I am. 'She tinks I am a wonder, an' she knows her little lad. Could never mix wit' nuttin' wat was ugly, mean or bad. Oh, lots of times I sit and t'ink how nice 't would be, gee whiz! If a fellow was de fellow dat his mudder t'inks he is."

My friend, be you a life of toil or undiluted joy. You still can learn a lesson from this little small, unlettered boy. Don't aim to be an earthly saint, with eyes fixed on a star; Just try to be the fellow that your mother thinks you are.

—By Will S. Adkin.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Rustin spent Sunday in Savannah with their daughter, Mrs. Robert Parker, they having come to see their little grandson, Donald, who is critically ill. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Marsh motored to Cochran Sunday to carry their son, Herman, a student at Middle Georgia College, who had been home for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oliff motored to Clayton Sunday to see his mother, Mrs. George College, who had been home for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oliff motored to Clayton Sunday to see his mother, Mrs. George College, who had been home for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oliff motored to Clayton Sunday to see his mother, Mrs. George College, who had been home for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oliff motored to Clayton Sunday to see his mother, Mrs. George College, who had been home for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oliff motored to Clayton Sunday to see his mother, Mrs. George College, who had been home for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oliff motored to Clayton Sunday to see his mother, Mrs. George College, who had been home for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oliff motored to Clayton Sunday to see his mother, Mrs. George College, who had been home for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oliff motored to Clayton Sunday to see his mother, Mrs. George College, who had been home for the week end.

MRS. E. L. BRADY, Editor
123 North Main Street

MRS. LANIER IMPROVES

The friends of Mrs. L. W. Lanier, of Axton, will be glad to learn that she is improving after a serious operation at the Bulloch County Hospital last week.

WATERS—WELCHER
Mrs. Willis Waters announces the marriage of her daughter, Mildred, to Chester Welch, of Charlotte, N. C. Mr. and Mrs. Welch will make their home in Charlotte.

ATTENDED FUNERAL
Among those going to Eastman Monday for the funeral of John Wilcox were Mrs. A. B. Green, Mrs. S. C. Groover, Mrs. E. L. Poindexter, Henry Howell, John Dennis, Perry Averitt and John Campbell.

MRS. OLIVER HOSTESS
Mrs. North Oliver entertained Friday evening at her home on South Main street with a prom party honoring her son, Wendell Jr., who was celebrating his twelfth birthday. Thirty-five friends were invited for the occasion. Mrs. Oliver served punch, sandwiches and cookies.

NOTICE
The Statesboro Business Girls Club will meet Tuesday, March 13, at 8:00 o'clock afternoon at the home of Mrs. Will Waller, on South College street. Besides the regular members the following guests were present: Mesdames Percy Rimes, Linton Banks, Leonard Nard, E. L. Helbie. A motif of pink and white was carried out in the decorations and refreshments. Pink and white carnations and potted azaleas were the flowers presented. After a social hour Mrs. Linton Banks was presented with a piece of white cloth by a poem contest and Mrs. W. D. McGauley a picture in a name contest.

MOTHERS' CLUB
The regular meeting of the Mothers' Club will be held at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, March 10, at the kindergarten room at the High School building. Miss Augusta Clay, supervisor of the kindergarten, will speak. Her talk promises to be most interesting. The public is invited, especially those parents who have pre-school children.

ENTER NOUS CLUB
The Entre Nous Club met Friday afternoon with Mrs. Cliff Bradley as hostess. A variety of early spring flowers, lunch room on the first floor, in which her three tables of guests were entertained. She served chicken salad with sauce, a beverage and a sweet course, and gave a third choice of a crystal tea pot; Mrs. Henry Ellis for her table was won by Mrs. T. Whitehurst and a picture of a powder for Mrs. Dean Anderson.

METHODIST W. M. S.
The Woman's Missionary Society will meet in circles Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in three groups in the respective rooms at the church. A new Bible study will begin. The "Message of Jesus" by Harold Branscomb. The circle leaders will direct the study, and each desires a full attendance. The meeting is thirty-five to forty members.

METHODIST W. M. S.
The Woman's Missionary Society will meet in circles Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in three groups in the respective rooms at the church. A new Bible study will begin. The "Message of Jesus" by Harold Branscomb. The circle leaders will direct the study, and each desires a full attendance. The meeting is thirty-five to forty members.

METHODIST W. M. S.
The Woman's Missionary Society will meet in circles Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in three groups in the respective rooms at the church. A new Bible study will begin. The "Message of Jesus" by Harold Branscomb. The circle leaders will direct the study, and each desires a full attendance. The meeting is thirty-five to forty members.

METHODIST W. M. S.
The Woman's Missionary Society will meet in circles Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in three groups in the respective rooms at the church. A new Bible study will begin. The "Message of Jesus" by Harold Branscomb. The circle leaders will direct the study, and each desires a full attendance. The meeting is thirty-five to forty members.

METHODIST W. M. S.
The Woman's Missionary Society will meet in circles Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in three groups in the respective rooms at the church. A new Bible study will begin. The "Message of Jesus" by Harold Branscomb. The circle leaders will direct the study, and each desires a full attendance. The meeting is thirty-five to forty members.

METHODIST W. M. S.
The Woman's Missionary Society will meet in circles Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in three groups in the respective rooms at the church. A new Bible study will begin. The "Message of Jesus" by Harold Branscomb. The circle leaders will direct the study, and each desires a full attendance. The meeting is thirty-five to forty members.

METHODIST W. M. S.
The Woman's Missionary Society will meet in circles Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in three groups in the respective rooms at the church. A new Bible study will begin. The "Message of Jesus" by Harold Branscomb. The circle leaders will direct the study, and each desires a full attendance. The meeting is thirty-five to forty members.

METHODIST W. M. S.
The Woman's Missionary Society will meet in circles Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in three groups in the respective rooms at the church. A new Bible study will begin. The "Message of Jesus" by Harold Branscomb. The circle leaders will direct the study, and each desires a full attendance. The meeting is thirty-five to forty members.

METHODIST W. M. S.
The Woman's Missionary Society will meet in circles Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in three groups in the respective rooms at the church. A new Bible study will begin. The "Message of Jesus" by Harold Branscomb. The circle leaders will direct the study, and each desires a full attendance. The meeting is thirty-five to forty members.

MADAME FONDA
Gifted Palmist and Advisor
On All Affairs of Life.

Reads past, present, future. Tells just what you want to know on business, love, health and family affairs. Tells when and when you will marry. Are you unhappy, or discouraged? No matter what your hope, fear, or ambition is, Madame Fonda will give you true advice. All readings strictly confidential. Don't hesitate, come now, tomorrow or too late. Special reading with this ad, for short time, only 50c. Look for sign.

At City Limits, Savannah Ave., Route 80, Statesboro, Ga.

KITCHENS—BRITTON

Of interest to their many friends in this section is the marriage of Miss Britton, the ceremony having taken place on Saturday, February 11, at the residence of only a few close friends and relatives.

The bride is the attractive daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. William Kitchens Sr., of Statesboro, Ga. Britton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mack L. Britton, of Jacksonville, Fla., is a popular young business man of this city. He is now on a business trip, the couple are making their home at the Zisset apartment on South Main street.

FRIENDLY SIXTEEN

One of the most delightful occasions of the spring season was the meeting of the Friendly Sixteen Club Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Will Waller, on South College street. Besides the regular members the following guests were present: Mesdames Percy Rimes, Linton Banks, Leonard Nard, E. L. Helbie. A motif of pink and white was carried out in the decorations and refreshments. Pink and white carnations and potted azaleas were the flowers presented. After a social hour Mrs. Linton Banks was presented with a piece of white cloth by a poem contest and Mrs. W. D. McGauley a picture in a name contest.

MOTHERS' CLUB
The regular meeting of the Mothers' Club will be held at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, March 10, at the kindergarten room at the High School building. Miss Augusta Clay, supervisor of the kindergarten, will speak. Her talk promises to be most interesting. The public is invited, especially those parents who have pre-school children.

ENTER NOUS CLUB
The Entre Nous Club met Friday afternoon with Mrs. Cliff Bradley as hostess. A variety of early spring flowers, lunch room on the first floor, in which her three tables of guests were entertained. She served chicken salad with sauce, a beverage and a sweet course, and gave a third choice of a crystal tea pot; Mrs. Henry Ellis for her table was won by Mrs. T. Whitehurst and a picture of a powder for Mrs. Dean Anderson.

METHODIST W. M. S.
The Woman's Missionary Society will meet in circles Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in three groups in the respective rooms at the church. A new Bible study will begin. The "Message of Jesus" by Harold Branscomb. The circle leaders will direct the study, and each desires a full attendance. The meeting is thirty-five to forty members.

METHODIST W. M. S.
The Woman's Missionary Society will meet in circles Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in three groups in the respective rooms at the church. A new Bible study will begin. The "Message of Jesus" by Harold Branscomb. The circle leaders will direct the study, and each desires a full attendance. The meeting is thirty-five to forty members.

METHODIST W. M. S.
The Woman's Missionary Society will meet in circles Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in three groups in the respective rooms at the church. A new Bible study will begin. The "Message of Jesus" by Harold Branscomb. The circle leaders will direct the study, and each desires a full attendance. The meeting is thirty-five to forty members.

METHODIST W. M. S.
The Woman's Missionary Society will meet in circles Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in three groups in the respective rooms at the church. A new Bible study will begin. The "Message of Jesus" by Harold Branscomb. The circle leaders will direct the study, and each desires a full attendance. The meeting is thirty-five to forty members.

METHODIST W. M. S.
The Woman's Missionary Society will meet in circles Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in three groups in the respective rooms at the church. A new Bible study will begin. The "Message of Jesus" by Harold Branscomb. The circle leaders will direct the study, and each desires a full attendance. The meeting is thirty-five to forty members.

METHODIST W. M. S.
The Woman's Missionary Society will meet in circles Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in three groups in the respective rooms at the church. A new Bible study will begin. The "Message of Jesus" by Harold Branscomb. The circle leaders will direct the study, and each desires a full attendance. The meeting is thirty-five to forty members.

METHODIST W. M. S.
The Woman's Missionary Society will meet in circles Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in three groups in the respective rooms at the church. A new Bible study will begin. The "Message of Jesus" by Harold Branscomb. The circle leaders will direct the study, and each desires a full attendance. The meeting is thirty-five to forty members.

METHODIST W. M. S.
The Woman's Missionary Society will meet in circles Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in three groups in the respective rooms at the church. A new Bible study will begin. The "Message of Jesus" by Harold Branscomb. The circle leaders will direct the study, and each desires a full attendance. The meeting is thirty-five to forty members.

METHODIST W. M. S.
The Woman's Missionary Society will meet in circles Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in three groups in the respective rooms at the church. A new Bible study will begin. The "Message of Jesus" by Harold Branscomb. The circle leaders will direct the study, and each desires a full attendance. The meeting is thirty-five to forty members.

METHODIST W. M. S.
The Woman's Missionary Society will meet in circles Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in three groups in the respective rooms at the church. A new Bible study will begin. The "Message of Jesus" by Harold Branscomb. The circle leaders will direct the study, and each desires a full attendance. The meeting is thirty-five to forty members.

BACKWARD LOOK
TEN YEARS AGO

Bulloch Times, March 14, 1929

Announcement made that Georgia Glue Club will come to Statesboro on April 3rd.

"Water at Dover again beginning to recede," highest peak was reached Sunday afternoon.

Revival services to be held at the Methodist church, Rev. Paul M. E. Parker, to assist pastor, J. E. Parker.

Chief S. A. Prosser, of the city police, was host at a dinner at which the mayor and councilmen and a number of other friends were guests.

Home R. Announces that his business and passenger bus between Dover and Metter will resume operation; was interrupted by high water for several days.

Miss Bonnie Louise Page, of this city, student at Brenau College, took leading part in presentation of "The Girl Who Sings," a musical given by the sophomore class of that college.

Number of Statesboro citizens invited to become members of Savannah City, a musical given by the sophomore class of that college.

Rev. A. E. Spencer wrote article expressing commendation of recent work of the faculty and student body at Normal School; "Thanks, Mr. Wells & Co. Thanks Piedmont Chautauque performers. Thanks, fellow citizens of the best city in Georgia."

"Jim Nevin, of the Atlanta Georgian wrote editorial lambasting the city; 'Keep his mouth open two-thirds of the time, but does not utter a word while doing it; he expresses his contempt for the city, and is not except to eat, and then for only eight months a year.'"

DEATH OF DR. STRANGE

Mrs. W. J. Rackley and Judge H. B. Strange were called to Springfield Tuesday because of the death of their brother, Dr. George Strange. Dr. Strange has many friends here who will regret his death. For a number of years he practiced in this county and lived in the Sinkerhole district.

BAPTIST W. M. S.
The regular monthly business meeting of the Baptist Woman's Missionary Society was held at the church Monday afternoon, March 6, with indeed, was rendered by Mrs. Murray, of the absence of those who were present. The opening hymn was "Living For Jesus," after which we were led in prayer by Mrs. C. M. Conklin.

For the devotional, Mrs. J. S. Murray was in charge, having chosen for her subject, "Behold a Better Saviour." A very interesting message, indeed, was rendered by Mrs. Murray, and in conclusion she asked for voluntary expressions from some of the tithers as to their joys and blessings which they had received while tithing. Mrs. J. L. Zetterover and Mrs. R. G. Fleetwood so beautifully responded, while their marvelous experiences were truly an overwhelming inspiration to each listener. The devotional period was closed with a prayer by Mrs. Fleetwood praying that we all may be more faithful stewards for Him.

After clerical reports, reports of various committees and a short business session, the visitors were recognized and welcomed. The meeting was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Gordon Mays.

Drinking fountain which has long stood at the corner of the court house square is being moved to the city park near the Central depot. C. T. Swinson, formerly of Bulloch county but recently for several years in California, has been in the city for some time. He has opened real estate and insurance office at Metter.

The total number of men, women and children killed in Paris by air raids and the shelling by "Big Bertha" was 522; by a curious coincidence the total number of persons who were killed in the London metropolitan area also was 522.

Box supper advertised to be held at following schools: Byrd, Selma McElven and Meta Kennedy, teachers; Adabelle, Lola Mae Chance, teacher; Donaldson, Miss L. Green and Mrs. Ada Negmish, teachers; Pleasant Grove, Miss Lillian Groover, teacher.

Following an address here by L. R. Tillman, state representative, call was issued for meeting to organize Chamber of Commerce, called signed by A. M. Deal, J. W. Williams and W. E. Neville. (Was not, however, the present Chamber of Commerce, which was originally organized as Statesboro Advertising Club.)

Lima Cola Company, an Alabama concern, instituting suit for $10,000 against A. B. Green; alleged he is making another drink labeled Lima Cola; Green said he was using bottles which he bought when he had a contract to manufacture that drink; asserts the bottles are his own private property, and he has a right to use them as he wishes.

Following the hearing of cases in city court against Harry McRae and Colonel Parrish, who were assessed fines totaling $700 on charges of moonshining, white cappers visited Carson Mincey, another negro, and severely handled him; "were disgusted as women, but their treatment of Mincey is said to have been extremely un-lady-like," said the newspaper story.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
Bulloch Times, March 17, 1909

City council adopted ordinance against sale of "near beer" in Statesboro; declared nuisance.

E. G. Enright has begun the manufacture of ice and will have it on the local market during the week.

Walden, the Magician, gave exhibition Monday night under the auspices of the local lyceum committee; attracted a large crowd.

Revival services were begun Monday evening at the Presbyterian church; Rev. R. A. Brown, of Waycross, is assisting the pastor.

"I found a gold watch near Bethlehem colored church last Sunday; the owner can recover same by coming to my house, Henry Ravine."

U. D. C. chapter obtained permission from city council to erect a Confederate monument on the court house square; will be unveiled April 27th.

Dr. J. E. Donehoo, Judge S. L. Moore and Dr. Percy Averitt carried a party to Augusta in their automobiles; because of heavy rains they were unable to return by train.

Rev. R. R. Acree, of Griffin, vice-president for Georgia of the Baptist Home Mission Board, preached last night at Baptist church in Statesboro.

Cool spell Tuesday was followed by heavy frost Wednesday morning.

News from the Statesboro, Ga. Davis, organized in Statesboro a secret society known as "The Daughters of Ruth" got his cash accounts unbalanced last week; the "Daughters" chapter swore out warrants for alleged discrepancy of several hundred dollars; Davis was sent to jail.

BULLOCH TIMES
(STATESBORO NEWS—STATESBORO EAGLE)

STATESBORO, GA., THURSDAY, MARCH 16, 1939

VOL. 48—NO. 1

WARNOCK PEOPLE PLAN TO BEAUTIFY

At Meeting Saturday Take Steps Toward Planting of Shrubbery and Flowers.

Thirty or more patrons of Warnock school decided that if the school grounds were to be beautiful and a credit to the community, everybody concerned must be interested and cooperate heartily in the planting and planning of numerous shrubs and flowers about the building.

A working was called for last Thursday, March 9, and a large number of patrons joined in with members of the faculty and student body to help beautify the grounds. All the people attending the working, both old and young, manifested keen interest in the plan to initiate and execute the program of beautifying the school grounds. Tools, fertilizer, plants and a willingness to work were brought to Warnock Thursday.

An entirely new water system has just been installed and running water is available in the building. A new fence was constructed; walks were laid out; parking space for the cars was provided, and terrace dams equal to the heavy rains were established to make the running water walk.

Wednesday Professor R. D. Pulliam from the South Georgia Teachers' College, and Superintendent W. E. McElven developed a definite plan to be used for the working Thursday. More than 50 varieties of shrubs and plants were transplanted in the landscaping program. In putting the program into execution, the school grounds were beautified.

Based on the 1928 deaths from cancer reported in Georgia in 1937, it is estimated that there are more than one thousand cases of cancer suffering from cancer. Medical economic surveys show that 50 per cent of these are financially unable to supply themselves with adequate treatment.

A forward and progressive step was taken in the establishment of the cancer fund, and making available to indigent cases care and treatment when it was reported in Georgia in 1937, it is estimated that there are more than one thousand cases of cancer suffering from cancer. Medical economic surveys show that 50 per cent of these are financially unable to supply themselves with adequate treatment.

The $54,134.13 cent in 1938 for care and treatment of patients in the hospital was expended December 1, 1938, and Georgia has had to discontinue accepting patients for state aid. Mrs. Richtie said.

This cancer fund is a growing number of men and women are seeking complete examinations, the annual health inventories so essential to controlling cancer.

NATIONAL POULTRY IMPROVEMENT PLAN

A motion picture on the national poultry improvement plan will be shown at the State Theatre, Statesboro, March 18th, at 10 o'clock a. m. promptly. No admission will be charged for this picture. Arthur Gannon, extension specialist, will be with the picture. Two reels on the improvement plan will be shown, along with two short comedies. All Bulloch county poultrymen interested in improving their laying stock are urged to attend this show.

WAGE CAMPAIGN CANCER CONTROL

Women of Bulloch County Have Part In Work Which Will Be Pushed During April.

With April, the cancer control month, close at hand, attention of the women's aid society is turning toward preparations for a more extensive campaign than was waged during the last two years, according to Mrs. A. J. Mooney, chairman for Bulloch county. Mrs. Mooney stated that following reports and cases reported by workers, have made Georgia outstanding in its accomplishments in the eradication of cancer.

Based on the 1928 deaths from cancer reported in Georgia in 1937, it is estimated that there are more than one thousand cases of cancer suffering from cancer. Medical economic surveys show that 50 per cent of these are financially unable to supply themselves with adequate treatment.

A forward and progressive step was taken in the establishment of the cancer fund, and making available to indigent cases care and treatment when it was reported in Georgia in 1937, it is estimated that there are more than one thousand cases of cancer suffering from cancer. Medical economic surveys show that 50 per cent of these are financially unable to supply themselves with adequate treatment.

The $54,134.13 cent in 1938 for care and treatment of patients in the hospital was expended December 1, 1938, and Georgia has had to discontinue accepting patients for state aid. Mrs. Richtie said.

This cancer fund is a growing number of men and women are seeking complete examinations, the annual health inventories so essential to controlling cancer.

NEEDY PERSONS ARE GIVEN HELP

More Than Thousand Dollars Worth of Commodities Distributed in Bulloch County.

Announcement made by A. E. Ward Jr., district commodity supervisor whose headquarters are in Savannah, shows that last month in Bulloch county 220 needy families received surplus commodities having a total value of $1,389.09.

The various foods distributed were bought by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation for the main purpose of helping farmers by removing the surplus portions of excessive crops so that farmers could obtain better markets for the remaining normal portions. After the surplus are purchased, they are given to the state department of public welfare; declared nuisance.

The various food commodities were bought by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation for the main purpose of helping farmers by removing the surplus portions of excessive crops so that farmers could obtain better markets for the remaining normal portions. After the surplus are purchased, they are given to the state department of public welfare; declared nuisance.

LOCAL JUNIORS PLANTING TREES

Began Actual Work on Highway Beautification Campaign in Direction of Register.

If you have been reading in the papers about the forthcoming highway beautification program, and have wondered what all the words about it meant, you can get the answer if you ride in the highway in the direction of Register, ready for planting. A little while later we drove back over the same road, and there we saw Albert Green setting the trees, and saw others digging more holes. We put two and two together—there were two members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce there—and we reasoned that it was the beginning of the actual work on the highway beautification program. That is what it looked like—and they were not talking about it either.

JAECKEL HOTEL CHANGES HANDS

Smiths Are New Owners And Runway Takes Charge As Lessee and Operator.

Beginning after the mid-day meal Monday, the Jaekel Hotel passed into entirely new ownership and new management.

E. A. Smith and Horace Smith became owners of the property, and Jack T. Burney, under contract with Smiths, became lessee and operator. The Smiths acquired the property by purchase from W. H. Sharpe, who has owned the hotel for the past twenty years, and who has been in active charge as manager for the past five years.

No exact figures were announced as to the purchase price; however, the Jaekel is recognized as one of the choice hotels of South Georgia and the consideration was no trivial matter.

Assuming immediate possession of the property, Mr. Burney will have the assistance for the present of Mr. J. T. Burney, under contract with Smiths, who has been in active charge of the Jaekel for many years prior to leaving here nine years ago. Since that time they have been engaged in the hotel business in North Carolina and in Georgia.

Until two months ago they were in charge of the Pines Hotel in Swainsboro. Jack Burney, now just reaching manhood, spent many of his boyhood years in the Jaekel, and is well known and highly esteemed in Statesboro. He has for the past two years been a student at The Citadel in Charleston.

The developments announced above indicated abandonment of the recently discussed plans to build a new hotel in Statesboro. It will be recalled that there was a report that a location had been acquired on North Main street, and that plans were in the making for the erection of a hotel upon it at an early date.

ACTIVE PERIOD IN LOCAL MARKETS

Farmers Market Opens Today; Livestock Commission Co. Has Show Tomorrow

With prices slightly lower, in sympathy with the markets of the country, the Statesboro market this week have been satisfactory.

"Bulloch Stock Yard reports good run of hogs and cattle, though not as heavy as last week. Hog market lower in sympathy with markets all over the country. No. 1, $6.45; No. 2, $6.25; No. 3, $6.00; No. 4, $5.75; No. 5, $5.50; No. 6, $5.25; No. 7, $5.00; No. 8, $4.75; No. 9, $4.50; No. 10, $4.25; No. 11, $4.00; No. 12, $3.75; No. 13, $3.50; No. 14, $3.25; No. 15, $3.00; No. 16, $2.75; No. 17, $2.50; No. 18, $2.25; No. 19, $2.00; No. 20, $1.75; No. 21, $1.50; No. 22, $1.25; No. 23, $1.00; No. 24, $0.75; No. 25, $0.50; No. 26, $0.25; No. 27, $0.00; No. 28, $0.00; No. 29, $0.00; No. 30, $0.00; No. 31, $0.00; No. 32, $0.00; No. 33, $0.00; No. 34, $0.00; No. 35, $0.00; No. 36, $0.00; No. 37, $0.00; No. 38, $0.00; No. 39, $0.00; No. 40, $0.00; No. 41, $0.00; No. 42, $0.00; No. 43, $0.00; No. 44, $0.00; No. 45, $0.00; No. 46, $0.00; No. 47, $0.00; No. 48, $0.00; No. 49, $0.00; No. 50, $0.00; No. 51, $0.00; No. 52, $0.00; No. 53, $0.00; No. 54, $0.00; No. 55, $0.00; No. 56, $0.00; No. 57, $0.00; No. 58, $0.00; No. 59, $0.00; No. 60, $0.00; No. 61, $0.00; No. 62, $0.00; No. 63, $0.00; No. 64, $0.00; No. 65, $0.00; No. 66, $0.00; No. 67, $0.00; No. 68, $0.00; No. 69, $0.00; No. 70, $0.00; No. 71, $0.00; No. 72, $0.00; No. 73, $0.00; No. 74, $0.00; No. 75, $0.00; No. 76, $0.00; No. 77, $0.00; No. 78, $0.00; No. 79, $0.00; No. 80, $0.00; No. 81, $0.00; No. 82, $0.00; No. 83, $0.00; No. 84, $0.00; No. 85, $0.00; No. 86, $0.00; No. 87, $0.00; No. 88, $0.00; No. 89, $0.00; No. 90, $0.00; No. 91, $0.00; No. 92, $0.00; No. 93, $0.00; No. 94, $0.00; No. 95, $0.00; No. 96, $0.00; No. 97, $0.00; No. 98, $0.00; No. 99, $0.00; No. 100, $0.00; No. 101, $0.00; No. 102, $0.00; No. 103, $0.00; No. 104, $0.00; No. 105, $0.00; No. 106, $0.00; No. 107, $0.00; No. 108, $0.00; No. 109, $0.00; No. 110, $0.00; No. 111, $0.00; No. 112, $0.00; No. 113, $0.00; No. 114, $0.00; No. 115, $0.00; No. 116, $0

BROOKLET BRIEFS

MRS. F. W. HUGHES, Reporter.

F. W. Elarbee, superintendent of Irwinton High School, spent the week with his family here.

Cecil Johnson, of Jersey City, New Jersey, is visiting his sister, Mrs. John Woods, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kennedy and children, of Savannah, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Felix Parrish.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Glisson and children, of Savannah, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wyatt Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Anderson, of Savannah, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Henderson last week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Coleman and little daughter, of Jacksonville, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Forbes.

Miss Dorothy Crowley, of South Georgia Teachers College, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Crowley.

Miss Mary Crowley and Miss Elizabeth Hazzell, of the Gordon High School faculty, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Crowley.

Miss Eunice Pearl Hendricks, Miss Tommie Smith and Miss Leila Jordan, all of the home economics department of the school, attended a conference in Milledgeville Saturday.

Mrs. Aquilla Warnock, Mrs. Henry Brannen and W. W. Mann spent the week end in Macon with their father, G. W. Mann, who has recently undergone a major operation in a Macon hospital.

Mrs. Felix Parrish entertained the Ladies' Aid Society of the Primitive Baptist church Monday afternoon.

She conducted a Bible study from Acts. During the social hour Mrs. D. L. Alderman assisted in serving refreshments.

Mrs. D. L. Alderman visited her brother, Robert Morgan, in Macon Sunday. Mr. Morgan has been critically ill in the Central of Georgia Hospital in Savannah for two months, but has sufficiently recuperated to be taken to his home in Macon.

Blanche Hood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Hood, underwent an operation for appendicitis last week in the Bulloch County Hospital. She is recovering nicely and is at home.

WHO CAN GIVE A NAME?

About April 1st I hope to be able to open my new eating place at 29 West Main street. I am inviting my friends to suggest a suitable name for this place, and will give a dinner to the person whose suggestion is adopted. Let your suggestion come first and then come and dine with us on our opening day.

MRS. LOIS DAVIS.

The ONLY CAR FOR V-8

near its price with these quality features

ONLY CAR with eight cylinders selling for less than $956.*

ONLY CAR with full torque-tube drive selling for less than $956.*

ONLY CAR selling for less than $889* in which both front and rear springs are relieved of driving and braking strains.

ONLY CAR with semi-centrifugal clutch selling for less than $956.*

ONLY CAR with front radius rods selling for less than $898.*

LARGEST hydraulic brake-lining area per pound of car weight in any car selling for less than $840.* Largest emergency brake-lining area of any car selling for less than $840.*

LARGEST diameter brake drums than in any car selling for less than $956.*

MORE floor-to-roof height than in any other low-price car. WIDEST rear seat of any low-price car.

HIGHEST horse-power-to-weight ratio of any car selling for less than $806.*

GREATEST fuel economy in miles per gallon of any standard-drive car with more than four cylinders, proved by the Ford "85" in the recent Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run, as reported in February Motor Age.

*Four-door Sedan, delivered in Detroit or at factory

LOWEST DELIVERED PRICE for any car with more than four cylinders

FORD "60" $584

Delivered in Detroit, taxes extra

FORD V-8

Easy to Buy • Easy Terms • Generous Trade-in Allowance

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

sented the following names for officers for the next scholastic year: President, Mrs. T. B. Bryan Jr.; secretary, Mrs. John Belcher; treasurer, Mrs. Joel Minick. At the close of the business session the hospitality committee, composed of Mrs. D. L. Alderman, Mrs. W. D. Parrish, Mrs. Fortson Howard, Mrs. A. G. Rocker and Mrs. F. W. Elarbee, served refreshments. The eleven guests and the first grade under Miss Vera Spell won attendance prizes.

DISTINGUISHED SPEAKER AT METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock Dr. C. K. Vile, secretary of commission on Benevolence, of Nashville, Tenn., will speak at the Methodist church here.

The Baptist church has called off its regular service Sunday night in order that the congregation might hear Dr. Vile.

Presiding Elder J. R. Webb, of Savannah, will be present also. A large crowd is expected to be present to hear this distinguished speaker.

MRS. J. A. WARNOCK TO BE HONORED SUNDAY

The children and grandchildren of Mrs. J. A. Warnock will honor her Sunday by giving her a dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hughes in celebration of her eightieth birthday.

Mrs. Warnock at present is living with Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Warnock. She is able to walk over the house and largely walk on herself. Though she is past the three-quarter century mark, she is cheerful and happy, and almost like a child, "can't wait for Sunday to come."

Those expected are Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Warnock, Miss Chas. Pigue, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Collins Durham, Miss Mary Jordan assisted in entertaining with Chinese checkers and a number of entertaining parlor games. During the evening of entertainment a toast was given to Mary Joe, in whose honor the party was given. Mrs. M. G. Moore and Miss Mildred Moore assisted in serving.

The Parent-Teacher Association held its March meeting Thursday and enjoyed a worthwhile program on "Citizenship" arranged by Mrs. F. W. Elarbee and Miss Amelia Turner. Prominent on the program was a talk given by Mrs. John C. Proctor on "Citizenship in the Nursery." Another worthwhile number was "Citizenship in the High School," given by six high school girls. The two special numbers were a piano solo by Rodman Scott, of the school faculty, and a reading by Emily Crowley, of the school faculty.

The business session of the nominating committee, composed of Mrs. W. C. Crowley, Miss Ora Franklin and Mrs. J. H. Griffith, presented the following names for officers for the next scholastic year: President, Mrs. T. B. Bryan Jr.; secretary, Mrs. John Belcher; treasurer, Mrs. Joel Minick. At the close of the business session the hospitality committee, composed of Mrs. D. L. Alderman, Mrs. W. D. Parrish, Mrs. Fortson Howard, Mrs. A. G. Rocker and Mrs. F. W. Elarbee, served refreshments. The eleven guests and the first grade under Miss Vera Spell won attendance prizes.

Mrs. Lester Bland and Mrs. John Rushing were hostesses Monday afternoon at the Bland home, where they entertained the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church. Mrs. Rushing arranged the program for the occasion. After the business session a social hour was enjoyed during which lovely refreshments were served.

A pretty party given during the week end was that given by Mrs. W. R. Moore honoring her daughter, Mary Joe Moore, who is a member of the senior class of the Brooklet High School. Mrs. Moore's guests were the teachers of the high school and the senior class. Mrs. F. W. Hughes, Miss Tommie Smith and Miss Leila Jordan assisted in entertaining with Chinese checkers and a number of entertaining parlor games. During the evening of entertainment a toast was given to Mary Joe, in whose honor the party was given. Mrs. M. G. Moore and Miss Mildred Moore assisted in serving.

The Parent-Teacher Association held its March meeting Thursday and enjoyed a worthwhile program on "Citizenship" arranged by Mrs. F. W. Elarbee and Miss Amelia Turner. Prominent on the program was a talk given by Mrs. John C. Proctor on "Citizenship in the Nursery." Another worthwhile number was "Citizenship in the High School," given by six high school girls. The two special numbers were a piano solo by Rodman Scott, of the school faculty, and a reading by Emily Crowley, of the school faculty.

The business session of the nominating committee, composed of Mrs. W. C. Crowley, Miss Ora Franklin and Mrs. J. H. Griffith, presented the following names for officers for the next scholastic year: President, Mrs. T. B. Bryan Jr.; secretary, Mrs. John Belcher; treasurer, Mrs. Joel Minick. At the close of the business session the hospitality committee, composed of Mrs. D. L. Alderman, Mrs. W. D. Parrish, Mrs. Fortson Howard, Mrs. A. G. Rocker and Mrs. F. W. Elarbee, served refreshments. The eleven guests and the first grade under Miss Vera Spell won attendance prizes.

Mrs. Lester Bland and Mrs. John Rushing were hostesses Monday afternoon at the Bland home, where they entertained the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church. Mrs. Rushing arranged the program for the occasion. After the business session a social hour was enjoyed during which lovely refreshments were served.

A pretty party given during the week end was that given by Mrs. W. R. Moore honoring her daughter, Mary Joe Moore, who is a member of the senior class of the Brooklet High School. Mrs. Moore's guests were the teachers of the high school and the senior class. Mrs. F. W. Hughes, Miss Tommie Smith and Miss Leila Jordan assisted in entertaining with Chinese checkers and a number of entertaining parlor games. During the evening of entertainment a toast was given to Mary Joe, in whose honor the party was given. Mrs. M. G. Moore and Miss Mildred Moore assisted in serving.

The Parent-Teacher Association held its March meeting Thursday and enjoyed a worthwhile program on "Citizenship" arranged by Mrs. F. W. Elarbee and Miss Amelia Turner. Prominent on the program was a talk given by Mrs. John C. Proctor on "Citizenship in the Nursery." Another worthwhile number was "Citizenship in the High School," given by six high school girls. The two special numbers were a piano solo by Rodman Scott, of the school faculty, and a reading by Emily Crowley, of the school faculty.

The business session of the nominating committee, composed of Mrs. W. C. Crowley, Miss Ora Franklin and Mrs. J. H. Griffith, presented the following names for officers for the next scholastic year: President, Mrs. T. B. Bryan Jr.; secretary, Mrs. John Belcher; treasurer, Mrs. Joel Minick. At the close of the business session the hospitality committee, composed of Mrs. D. L. Alderman, Mrs. W. D. Parrish, Mrs. Fortson Howard, Mrs. A. G. Rocker and Mrs. F. W. Elarbee, served refreshments. The eleven guests and the first grade under Miss Vera Spell won attendance prizes.

Mrs. Lester Bland and Mrs. John Rushing were hostesses Monday afternoon at the Bland home, where they entertained the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church. Mrs. Rushing arranged the program for the occasion. After the business session a social hour was enjoyed during which lovely refreshments were served.

A pretty party given during the week end was that given by Mrs. W. R. Moore honoring her daughter, Mary Joe Moore, who is a member of the senior class of the Brooklet High School. Mrs. Moore's guests were the teachers of the high school and the senior class. Mrs. F. W. Hughes, Miss Tommie Smith and Miss Leila Jordan assisted in entertaining with Chinese checkers and a number of entertaining parlor games. During the evening of entertainment a toast was given to Mary Joe, in whose honor the party was given. Mrs. M. G. Moore and Miss Mildred Moore assisted in serving.

The Parent-Teacher Association held its March meeting Thursday and enjoyed a worthwhile program on "Citizenship" arranged by Mrs. F. W. Elarbee and Miss Amelia Turner. Prominent on the program was a talk given by Mrs. John C. Proctor on "Citizenship in the Nursery." Another worthwhile number was "Citizenship in the High School," given by six high school girls. The two special numbers were a piano solo by Rodman Scott, of the school faculty, and a reading by Emily Crowley, of the school faculty.

The business session of the nominating committee, composed of Mrs. W. C. Crowley, Miss Ora Franklin and Mrs. J. H. Griffith, presented the following names for officers for the next scholastic year: President, Mrs. T. B. Bryan Jr.; secretary, Mrs. John Belcher; treasurer, Mrs. Joel Minick. At the close of the business session the hospitality committee, composed of Mrs. D. L. Alderman, Mrs. W. D. Parrish, Mrs. Fortson Howard, Mrs. A. G. Rocker and Mrs. F. W. Elarbee, served refreshments. The eleven guests and the first grade under Miss Vera Spell won attendance prizes.

Mrs. Lester Bland and Mrs. John Rushing were hostesses Monday afternoon at the Bland home, where they entertained the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church. Mrs. Rushing arranged the program for the occasion. After the business session a social hour was enjoyed during which lovely refreshments were served.

A pretty party given during the week end was that given by Mrs. W. R. Moore honoring her daughter, Mary Joe Moore, who is a member of the senior class of the Brooklet High School. Mrs. Moore's guests were the teachers of the high school and the senior class. Mrs. F. W. Hughes, Miss Tommie Smith and Miss Leila Jordan assisted in entertaining with Chinese checkers and a number of entertaining parlor games. During the evening of entertainment a toast was given to Mary Joe, in whose honor the party was given. Mrs. M. G. Moore and Miss Mildred Moore assisted in serving.

The Parent-Teacher Association held its March meeting Thursday and enjoyed a worthwhile program on "Citizenship" arranged by Mrs. F. W. Elarbee and Miss Amelia Turner. Prominent on the program was a talk given by Mrs. John C. Proctor on "Citizenship in the Nursery." Another worthwhile number was "Citizenship in the High School," given by six high school girls. The two special numbers were a piano solo by Rodman Scott, of the school faculty, and a reading by Emily Crowley, of the school faculty.

The business session of the nominating committee, composed of Mrs. W. C. Crowley, Miss Ora Franklin and Mrs. J. H. Griffith, presented the following names for officers for the next scholastic year: President, Mrs. T. B. Bryan Jr.; secretary, Mrs. John Belcher; treasurer, Mrs. Joel Minick. At the close of the business session the hospitality committee, composed of Mrs. D. L. Alderman, Mrs. W. D. Parrish, Mrs. Fortson Howard, Mrs. A. G. Rocker and Mrs. F. W. Elarbee, served refreshments. The eleven guests and the first grade under Miss Vera Spell won attendance prizes.

Mrs. Lester Bland and Mrs. John Rushing were hostesses Monday afternoon at the Bland home, where they entertained the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church. Mrs. Rushing arranged the program for the occasion. After the business session a social hour was enjoyed during which lovely refreshments were served.

A pretty party given during the week end was that given by Mrs. W. R. Moore honoring her daughter, Mary Joe Moore, who is a member of the senior class of the Brooklet High School. Mrs. Moore's guests were the teachers of the high school and the senior class. Mrs. F. W. Hughes, Miss Tommie Smith and Miss Leila Jordan assisted in entertaining with Chinese checkers and a number of entertaining parlor games. During the evening of entertainment a toast was given to Mary Joe, in whose honor the party was given. Mrs. M. G. Moore and Miss Mildred Moore assisted in serving.

The Parent-Teacher Association held its March meeting Thursday and enjoyed a worthwhile program on "Citizenship" arranged by Mrs. F. W. Elarbee and Miss Amelia Turner. Prominent on the program was a talk given by Mrs. John C. Proctor on "Citizenship in the Nursery." Another worthwhile number was "Citizenship in the High School," given by six high school girls. The two special numbers were a piano solo by Rodman Scott, of the school faculty, and a reading by Emily Crowley, of the school faculty.

The business session of the nominating committee, composed of Mrs. W. C. Crowley, Miss Ora Franklin and Mrs. J. H. Griffith, presented the following names for officers for the next scholastic year: President, Mrs. T. B. Bryan Jr.; secretary, Mrs. John Belcher; treasurer, Mrs. Joel Minick. At the close of the business session the hospitality committee, composed of Mrs. D. L. Alderman, Mrs. W. D. Parrish, Mrs. Fortson Howard, Mrs. A. G. Rocker and Mrs. F. W. Elarbee, served refreshments. The eleven guests and the first grade under Miss Vera Spell won attendance prizes.

Mrs. Lester Bland and Mrs. John Rushing were hostesses Monday afternoon at the Bland home, where they entertained the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church. Mrs. Rushing arranged the program for the occasion. After the business session a social hour was enjoyed during which lovely refreshments were served.

A pretty party given during the week end was that given by Mrs. W. R. Moore honoring her daughter, Mary Joe Moore, who is a member of the senior class of the Brooklet High School. Mrs. Moore's guests were the teachers of the high school and the senior class. Mrs. F. W. Hughes, Miss Tommie Smith and Miss Leila Jordan assisted in entertaining with Chinese checkers and a number of entertaining parlor games. During the evening of entertainment a toast was given to Mary Joe, in whose honor the party was given. Mrs. M. G. Moore and Miss Mildred Moore assisted in serving.

The Parent-Teacher Association held its March meeting Thursday and enjoyed a worthwhile program on "Citizenship" arranged by Mrs. F. W. Elarbee and Miss Amelia Turner. Prominent on the program was a talk given by Mrs. John C. Proctor on "Citizenship in the Nursery." Another worthwhile number was "Citizenship in the High School," given by six high school girls. The two special numbers were a piano solo by Rodman Scott, of the school faculty, and a reading by Emily Crowley, of the school faculty.

The business session of the nominating committee, composed of Mrs. W. C. Crowley, Miss Ora Franklin and Mrs. J. H. Griffith, presented the following names for officers for the next scholastic year: President, Mrs. T. B. Bryan Jr.; secretary, Mrs. John Belcher; treasurer, Mrs. Joel Minick. At the close of the business session the hospitality committee, composed of Mrs. D. L. Alderman, Mrs. W. D. Parrish, Mrs. Fortson Howard, Mrs. A. G. Rocker and Mrs. F. W. Elarbee, served refreshments. The eleven guests and the first grade under Miss Vera Spell won attendance prizes.

Mrs. Lester Bland and Mrs. John Rushing were hostesses Monday afternoon at the Bland home, where they entertained the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church. Mrs. Rushing arranged the program for the occasion. After the business session a social hour was enjoyed during which lovely refreshments were served.

A pretty party given during the week end was that given by Mrs. W. R. Moore honoring her daughter, Mary Joe Moore, who is a member of the senior class of the Brooklet High School. Mrs. Moore's guests were the teachers of the high school and the senior class. Mrs. F. W. Hughes, Miss Tommie Smith and Miss Leila Jordan assisted in entertaining with Chinese checkers and a number of entertaining parlor games. During the evening of entertainment a toast was given to Mary Joe, in whose honor the party was given. Mrs. M. G. Moore and Miss Mildred Moore assisted in serving.

The Parent-Teacher Association held its March meeting Thursday and enjoyed a worthwhile program on "Citizenship" arranged by Mrs. F. W. Elarbee and Miss Amelia Turner. Prominent on the program was a talk given by Mrs. John C. Proctor on "Citizenship in the Nursery." Another worthwhile number was "Citizenship in the High School," given by six high school girls. The two special numbers were a piano solo by Rodman Scott, of the school faculty, and a reading by Emily Crowley, of the school faculty.

The business session of the nominating committee, composed of Mrs. W. C. Crowley, Miss Ora Franklin and Mrs. J. H. Griffith, presented the following names for officers for the next scholastic year: President, Mrs. T. B. Bryan Jr.; secretary, Mrs. John Belcher; treasurer, Mrs. Joel Minick. At the close of the business session the hospitality committee, composed of Mrs. D. L. Alderman, Mrs. W. D. Parrish, Mrs. Fortson Howard, Mrs. A. G. Rocker and Mrs. F. W. Elarbee, served refreshments. The eleven guests and the first grade under Miss Vera Spell won attendance prizes.

Mrs. Lester Bland and Mrs. John Rushing were hostesses Monday afternoon at the Bland home, where they entertained the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church. Mrs. Rushing arranged the program for the occasion. After the business session a social hour was enjoyed during which lovely refreshments were served.

A pretty party given during the week end was that given by Mrs. W. R. Moore honoring her daughter, Mary Joe Moore, who is a member of the senior class of the Brooklet High School. Mrs. Moore's guests were the teachers of the high school and the senior class. Mrs. F. W. Hughes, Miss Tommie Smith and Miss Leila Jordan assisted in entertaining with Chinese checkers and a number of entertaining parlor games. During the evening of entertainment a toast was given to Mary Joe, in whose honor the party was given. Mrs. M. G. Moore and Miss Mildred Moore assisted in serving.

The Parent-Teacher Association held its March meeting Thursday and enjoyed a worthwhile program on "Citizenship" arranged by Mrs. F. W. Elarbee and Miss Amelia Turner. Prominent on the program was a talk given by Mrs. John C. Proctor on "Citizenship in the Nursery." Another worthwhile number was "Citizenship in the High School," given by six high school girls. The two special numbers were a piano solo by Rodman Scott, of the school faculty, and a reading by Emily Crowley, of the school faculty.

The business session of the nominating committee, composed of Mrs. W. C. Crowley, Miss Ora Franklin and Mrs. J. H. Griffith, presented the following names for officers for the next scholastic year: President, Mrs. T. B. Bryan Jr.; secretary, Mrs. John Belcher; treasurer, Mrs. Joel Minick. At the close of the business session the hospitality committee, composed of Mrs. D. L. Alderman, Mrs. W. D. Parrish, Mrs. Fortson Howard, Mrs. A. G. Rocker and Mrs. F. W. Elarbee, served refreshments. The eleven guests and the first grade under Miss Vera Spell won attendance prizes.

Mrs. Lester Bland and Mrs. John Rushing were hostesses Monday afternoon at the Bland home, where they entertained the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church. Mrs. Rushing arranged the program for the occasion. After the business session a social hour was enjoyed during which lovely refreshments were served.

A pretty party given during the week end was that given by Mrs. W. R. Moore honoring her daughter, Mary Joe Moore, who is a member of the senior class of the Brooklet High School. Mrs. Moore's guests were the teachers of the high school and the senior class. Mrs. F. W. Hughes, Miss Tommie Smith and Miss Leila Jordan assisted in entertaining with Chinese checkers and a number of entertaining parlor games. During the evening of entertainment a toast was given to Mary Joe, in whose honor the party was given. Mrs. M. G. Moore and Miss Mildred Moore assisted in serving.

The Parent-Teacher Association held its March meeting Thursday and enjoyed a worthwhile program on "Citizenship" arranged by Mrs. F. W. Elarbee and Miss Amelia Turner. Prominent on the program was a talk given by Mrs. John C. Proctor on "Citizenship in the Nursery." Another worthwhile number was "Citizenship in the High School," given by six high school girls. The two special numbers were a piano solo by Rodman Scott, of the school faculty, and a reading by Emily Crowley, of the school faculty.

The business session of the nominating committee, composed of Mrs. W. C. Crowley, Miss Ora Franklin and Mrs. J. H. Griffith, presented the following names for officers for the next scholastic year: President, Mrs. T. B. Bryan Jr.; secretary, Mrs. John Belcher; treasurer, Mrs. Joel Minick. At the close of the business session the hospitality committee, composed of Mrs. D. L. Alderman, Mrs. W. D. Parrish, Mrs. Fortson Howard, Mrs. A. G. Rocker and Mrs. F. W. Elarbee, served refreshments. The eleven guests and the first grade under Miss Vera Spell won attendance prizes.

CLUBSTERS, from page 1

prize money. George Thomas Holway is prepared to enter three calves that can win in most any show.

Garner Hall Fields has three calves that will be in the pen ring for money, with two of them being outstanding enough to be in the individual money.

Thomas Grooms is also to have a word about the pen money and two places in the individual show.

Miriam Bowen is entering one calf to keep the boys respecting the girls' ability as cattle feeders and showmen.

She doesn't expect to top the prize money with her calf this year, but has one going strong for next year that should develop into a real show animal.

William and Jack Brannen have a calf each to start with this year. These two calves do not look as if their owners were just beginning in the cattle feeding game. They are credit to any livestock feeder's ability and will be in the prize money.

Jack Brannen, Route 2, started the year off with three calves. He has sold one, but will carry two calves to the show that cost him about half as much per pound as they will sell for.

William Groover, Clifford Martin and James Davis have calves that will also about double the per pound cost when they are sold.

Some of the clubsters started with several calves but have been moving them to market during the past five weeks at from $8.50 to $10.50 per hundred.

Six of these calves will grade good choice to S. prime. Only one of the calves sold in 1938 graded prime. The others grade from medium to choice.

Notice to Taxpayers of City of Statesboro.

The tax books are now open for the receiving of tax returns for the year 1938. To secure an exemption on household goods written application to the board of assessors is required. Books will close April 15, 1939. Please make returns at once.

F. N. GRIMES, J. H. DONALDSON, Tax Assessors of City of Statesboro. (Gmarch)

Among those present Wednesday evening were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Crowley, F. W. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Elhan Proctor, Allen Lanier, Miss Jane Frances, Mrs. E. G. Cromarrie, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ellis, Mrs. Miss Sarah Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Graham, Miss Mary Griner, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Griner and others.

After the business session Miss Mary Griner and Mrs. W. W. Robertson assisted in serving.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Nesmith are natives of Bulloch county. Mr. Nesmith was born October 24, 1865, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sovereign Nesmith. Mrs. Nesmith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Brannen, was born August 21, 1873.

Their children living are as follows: Mrs. Esther Evans, born July 15, 1898, now living at Coleman, Fla.; Mrs. N. O. O'Hara, born July 22, 1900, now living at Leesburg, Fla.; Mrs. Emily Groover, born March 15, 1907, now of Savannah; Charlie Nesmith, born June 22, 1905, now of Atlanta; George Nesmith, born June 19, 1909, now of Savannah; and James Nesmith, Jr., born October 19, 1910, now of Macon.

Mr. and Mrs. Nesmith are natives of Bulloch county. Mr. Nesmith was born October 24, 1865, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sovereign Nesmith. Mrs. Nesmith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Brannen, was born August 21, 1873.

Their children living are as follows: Mrs. Esther Evans, born July 15, 1898, now living at Coleman, Fla.; Mrs. N. O. O'Hara, born July 22, 1900, now living at Leesburg, Fla.; Mrs. Emily Groover, born March 15, 1907, now of Savannah; Charlie Nesmith, born June 22, 1905, now of Atlanta; George Nesmith, born June 19, 1909, now of Savannah; and James Nesmith, Jr., born October 19, 1910, now of Macon.

Mr. and Mrs. Nesmith are natives of Bulloch county. Mr. Nesmith was born October 24, 1865, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sovereign Nesmith. Mrs. Nesmith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Brannen, was born August 21, 1873.

Their children living are as follows: Mrs. Esther Evans, born July 15, 1898, now living at Coleman, Fla.; Mrs. N. O. O'Hara, born July 22, 1900, now living at Leesburg, Fla.; Mrs. Emily Groover, born March 15, 1907, now of Savannah; Charlie Nesmith, born June 22, 1905, now of Atlanta; George Nesmith, born June 19, 1909, now of Savannah; and James Nesmith, Jr., born October 19, 1910, now of Macon.

Mr. and Mrs. Nesmith are natives of Bulloch county. Mr. Nesmith was born October 24, 1865, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sovereign Nesmith. Mrs. Nesmith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Brannen, was born August 21, 1873.

Their children living are as follows: Mrs. Esther Evans, born July 15, 1898, now living at Coleman, Fla.; Mrs. N. O. O'Hara, born July 22, 1900, now living at Leesburg, Fla.; Mrs. Emily Groover, born March 15, 1907, now of Savannah; Charlie Nesmith, born June 22, 1905, now of Atlanta; George Nesmith, born June 19, 1909, now of Savannah; and James Nesmith, Jr., born October 19, 1910, now of Macon.

Mr. and Mrs. Nesmith are natives of Bulloch county. Mr. Nesmith was born October 24, 1865, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sovereign Nesmith. Mrs. Nesmith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Brannen, was born August 21, 1873.

Their children living are as follows: Mrs. Esther Evans, born July 15, 1898, now living at Coleman, Fla.; Mrs. N. O. O'Hara, born July 22, 1900, now living at Leesburg, Fla.; Mrs. Emily Groover, born March 15, 1907, now of Savannah; Charlie Nesmith, born June 22, 1905, now of Atlanta; George Nesmith, born June 19, 1909, now of Savannah; and James Nesmith, Jr., born October 19, 1910, now of Macon.

Mr. and Mrs. Nesmith are natives of Bulloch county. Mr. Nesmith was born October 24, 1865, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sovereign Nesmith. Mrs. Nesmith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Brannen, was born August 21, 1873.

Their children living are as follows: Mrs. Esther Evans, born July 15, 1898, now living at Coleman, Fla.; Mrs. N. O. O'Hara, born July 22, 1900, now living at Leesburg, Fla.; Mrs. Emily Groover, born March 15, 1907, now of Savannah; Charlie Nesmith, born June 22, 1905, now of Atlanta; George Nesmith, born June 19, 1909, now of Savannah; and James Nesmith, Jr., born October 19, 1910, now of Macon.

Mr. and Mrs. Nesmith are natives of Bulloch county. Mr. Nesmith was born October 24, 1865, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sovereign Nesmith. Mrs. Nesmith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Brannen, was born August 21, 1873.

Their children living are as follows: Mrs. Esther Evans, born July 15, 1898, now living at Coleman, Fla.; Mrs. N. O. O'Hara, born July 22, 1900, now living at Leesburg, Fla.; Mrs. Emily Groover, born March 15, 1907, now of Savannah; Charlie Nesmith, born June 22, 1905, now of Atlanta; George Nesmith, born June 19, 1909, now of Savannah; and James Nesmith, Jr., born October 19, 1910, now of Macon.

Mr. and Mrs. Nesmith are natives of Bulloch county. Mr. Nesmith was born October 24, 1865, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sovereign Nesmith. Mrs. Nesmith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Brannen, was born August 21, 1873.

Their children living are as follows: Mrs. Esther Evans, born July 15, 1898, now living at Coleman, Fla.; Mrs. N. O. O'Hara, born July 22, 1900, now living at Leesburg, Fla.; Mrs. Emily Groover, born March 15, 1907, now of Savannah; Charlie Nesmith, born June 22, 1905, now of Atlanta; George Nesmith, born June 19, 1909, now of Savannah; and James Nesmith, Jr., born October 19, 1910, now of Macon.

BULLOCH TIMES AND STATESBORO NEWS

Subscription $1.00 PER YEAR
D. B. TURNER, Editor and Owner.

Entered as second-class matter March 20, 1905, at the postoffice at Statesboro, Ga., under the Act of Congress, March 3, 1879.

MISSING THE BEAUTIFUL

Lovely spring is with us. Nature is spreading before us her panorama of beauty as she beckons with her brightest smile.

You'll be riding out to commune with that which is lovely, and you'll ask yourself, "Where shall we ride to see that which is most inspiring?"

This is to say, if you're not careful you will pass by those things which are most lovely without knowing of their presence; if you place your gaze too far, you'll miss greater beauty which is closer at hand.

Sunday is the day of leisure—the time set aside by Divine Wisdom to refresh oneself. "How shall this be done—where shall we go?" These are the questions which each must answer for himself or perhaps take the suggestion of a friend. Would you like a suggestion from this column?

The city papers of the week end discussed the places of interest which might appeal to the casual traveler. There were bright allusions on every hand—in the city parks, on Victory drive, at Bonaventure, at Wormald, and even at Bethesda. Have you ever been to Bethesda?

After we had seen those other places, somebody said "Now, let's ride down to Bethesda."

It isn't difficult to find; paved highways make it easily accessible; anybody can tell you which road to take; and when you leave, you will be happy that you went.

It was a rather unusual incident which marked our arrival there Sunday afternoon. Somebody had set fire in the woods, and smoke in the air made the road almost impassable; suddenly we came upon two groups of fire-fighters; half a dozen sturdy youths wearing manhood, faces and hands blackened, came to our car and told us why they were there: the flames; a little way down the road another group—negro convicts in prison garb—had come out of the burning woods; one stood with his hand asking alms; the other, a young man, stood with his hand asking alms; the other, a young man, stood with his hand asking alms.

ed; in front of the large plantation an iron gate was open; half a dozen youngsters, well dressed, clean faced, respectable, gave recognition of our presence. A little fellow was first to speak: "Would you like for me to ride through the grounds and tell you where we are seeing?" And he took a seat in the car and began to ask questions. "I've been here three years. I'm eight years old; I do not remember my mother, because she died when I was two years; my father died when I was five; I am here trying to work for an education and to earn my way in life." All this as we rode into the yard at Bethesda. Then he pointed out the houses on the right and the left. "That house is where the farmers live; that one there is vacant now, because they are not able to care for more boys here; that vine there is an ivy; that house there is the chapel, where we have our religious services. Oh, do come in; I want you to see inside; the music you hear there is a boy practicing at the organ; those others inside are only visitors; I want you to see our piano, and this is the desk from which our ministers preach; not always the same minister comes; up in the loft we have more boys; we use that when we have to sing; at Christmas time we spread shrubbery over the railing, and it's quite beautiful; sign your names in the register, please, because we like to know who has visited us." And out in the yard again he was riding back to the gate at which we had picked him up as we entered.

"Where are the flowers we came here to see?" we asked the lad. "Why, here they are all around you; and he spread his hands to the right and to the left, and there were blooming azaleas as pretty as the eye could wish to see. But we hadn't seen the flowers—because we were looking at the beautiful lad who was telling us of the loveliness of life. Beyond him we were seeking those noble men and women who almost two centuries ago established Bethesda as a retreat for the homeless, and of the men and women of today who are giving of their time and energy and material things to make it a fit place in which

BULLOCH INVITED BRIDGE OPENING

Ball's Ferry Celebration March 31st Be Made Memorable Occasion.

Wrightsville, Ga., March 7.—Statesboro and Bulloch county will be extensively represented at the formal and official opening of the nationally known Ball's Ferry bridge on March 31st if they accept the strong and urgent invitation of the general chairman and master of ceremonies, Editor Chas. D. Rountree, of Wrightsville.

Editor Rountree points out that in all of his twenty years of work for this bridge that any time he called on Bulloch county and Statesboro to come to his aid they responded nobly and well, and never left a stone unturned to help put the matter over. He has not forgotten any of Bulloch county people for their strong and hearty co-operation.

It is for this reason he desires so earnestly to see Statesboro and Bulloch county folks up at the celebration at the bridge on the 31st.

Editor Rountree recognizes his wide relationship in Bulloch county and his wide acquaintanceship throughout the section. Those are the people he would have visit the bridge on this occasion. No formal invitation is necessary. Come, he insists, and enjoy the day at the bridge.

Two thousand five hundred school children of three counties, a squad of soldiers, and two brass bands will appear in the first feature on the program.

A preview of the program will be given over WSB on Wednesday, March 15th, at 6 o'clock EST. The entire program will be announced over WMAZ, Macon, on Friday afternoon, March 24th, at 12:15.

REGISTER RIPPLES
The J. O. S. bridge club was entertained Thursday afternoon by Mrs. E. S. Brannen and Mrs. Frank Mikell at the home of Mrs. Len Mikell. The rooms were decorated with jonquils, narcissi and other spring flowers. High school prize, an attractive bridge set, was won by Mrs. C. H. Temples. Consolation prize, a dainty cake, was won by Mrs. C. H. Temples. The schools of Georgia are already being closed here and there. Somebody has suggested diversion—use of funds which are allocated to highways—as a possible means of sparing this dire calamity to the lives of our people in distress, but hands are raised, "Don't touch the highways!" And that is putting the highways above life and health and education. Is it placing first things first?

The same thing to do, we believe, would be to reduce activities in those lines which are least urgent. Since life itself is more urgent than paved highways, surely would dictate at least a sharing of funds now going to highways with those other causes which are vital to Georgia's life and health and comfort.

STILSON FUTURE FARMERS WILL SELL FAT CATTLE
The Stilson Future Farmers boys will end a successful feeding period of 28 beef steers. Most of these steers are being financed by the Statesboro Production Credit Association.

A. E. Nemitt, vocational agriculture instructor, Stilson, as acting trustee. Part of these cattle will be shown at the right and the left. "That house is where the farmers live; that one there is vacant now, because they are not able to care for more boys here; that vine there is an ivy; that house there is the chapel, where we have our religious services. Oh, do come in; I want you to see inside; the music you hear there is a boy practicing at the organ; those others inside are only visitors; I want you to see our piano, and this is the desk from which our ministers preach; not always the same minister comes; up in the loft we have more boys; we use that when we have to sing; at Christmas time we spread shrubbery over the railing, and it's quite beautiful; sign your names in the register, please, because we like to know who has visited us." And out in the yard again he was riding back to the gate at which we had picked him up as we entered.

"Where are the flowers we came here to see?" we asked the lad. "Why, here they are all around you; and he spread his hands to the right and to the left, and there were blooming azaleas as pretty as the eye could wish to see. But we hadn't seen the flowers—because we were looking at the beautiful lad who was telling us of the loveliness of life. Beyond him we were seeking those noble men and women who almost two centuries ago established Bethesda as a retreat for the homeless, and of the men and women of today who are giving of their time and energy and material things to make it a fit place in which

ed; in front of the large plantation an iron gate was open; half a dozen youngsters, well dressed, clean faced, respectable, gave recognition of our presence. A little fellow was first to speak: "Would you like for me to ride through the grounds and tell you where we are seeing?" And he took a seat in the car and began to ask questions. "I've been here three years. I'm eight years old; I do not remember my mother, because she died when I was two years; my father died when I was five; I am here trying to work for an education and to earn my way in life." All this as we rode into the yard at Bethesda. Then he pointed out the houses on the right and the left. "That house is where the farmers live; that one there is vacant now, because they are not able to care for more boys here; that vine there is an ivy; that house there is the chapel, where we have our religious services. Oh, do come in; I want you to see inside; the music you hear there is a boy practicing at the organ; those others inside are only visitors; I want you to see our piano, and this is the desk from which our ministers preach; not always the same minister comes; up in the loft we have more boys; we use that when we have to sing; at Christmas time we spread shrubbery over the railing, and it's quite beautiful; sign your names in the register, please, because we like to know who has visited us." And out in the yard again he was riding back to the gate at which we had picked him up as we entered.

"Where are the flowers we came here to see?" we asked the lad. "Why, here they are all around you; and he spread his hands to the right and to the left, and there were blooming azaleas as pretty as the eye could wish to see. But we hadn't seen the flowers—because we were looking at the beautiful lad who was telling us of the loveliness of life. Beyond him we were seeking those noble men and women who almost two centuries ago established Bethesda as a retreat for the homeless, and of the men and women of today who are giving of their time and energy and material things to make it a fit place in which

ed; in front of the large plantation an iron gate was open; half a dozen youngsters, well dressed, clean faced, respectable, gave recognition of our presence. A little fellow was first to speak: "Would you like for me to ride through the grounds and tell you where we are seeing?" And he took a seat in the car and began to ask questions. "I've been here three years. I'm eight years old; I do not remember my mother, because she died when I was two years; my father died when I was five; I am here trying to work for an education and to earn my way in life." All this as we rode into the yard at Bethesda. Then he pointed out the houses on the right and the left. "That house is where the farmers live; that one there is vacant now, because they are not able to care for more boys here; that vine there is an ivy; that house there is the chapel, where we have our religious services. Oh, do come in; I want you to see inside; the music you hear there is a boy practicing at the organ; those others inside are only visitors; I want you to see our piano, and this is the desk from which our ministers preach; not always the same minister comes; up in the loft we have more boys; we use that when we have to sing; at Christmas time we spread shrubbery over the railing, and it's quite beautiful; sign your names in the register, please, because we like to know who has visited us." And out in the yard again he was riding back to the gate at which we had picked him up as we entered.

"Where are the flowers we came here to see?" we asked the lad. "Why, here they are all around you; and he spread his hands to the right and to the left, and there were blooming azaleas as pretty as the eye could wish to see. But we hadn't seen the flowers—because we were looking at the beautiful lad who was telling us of the loveliness of life. Beyond him we were seeking those noble men and women who almost two centuries ago established Bethesda as a retreat for the homeless, and of the men and women of today who are giving of their time and energy and material things to make it a fit place in which

ed; in front of the large plantation an iron gate was open; half a dozen youngsters, well dressed, clean faced, respectable, gave recognition of our presence. A little fellow was first to speak: "Would you like for me to ride through the grounds and tell you where we are seeing?" And he took a seat in the car and began to ask questions. "I've been here three years. I'm eight years old; I do not remember my mother, because she died when I was two years; my father died when I was five; I am here trying to work for an education and to earn my way in life." All this as we rode into the yard at Bethesda. Then he pointed out the houses on the right and the left. "That house is where the farmers live; that one there is vacant now, because they are not able to care for more boys here; that vine there is an ivy; that house there is the chapel, where we have our religious services. Oh, do come in; I want you to see inside; the music you hear there is a boy practicing at the organ; those others inside are only visitors; I want you to see our piano, and this is the desk from which our ministers preach; not always the same minister comes; up in the loft we have more boys; we use that when we have to sing; at Christmas time we spread shrubbery over the railing, and it's quite beautiful; sign your names in the register, please, because we like to know who has visited us." And out in the yard again he was riding back to the gate at which we had picked him up as we entered.

"Where are the flowers we came here to see?" we asked the lad. "Why, here they are all around you; and he spread his hands to the right and to the left, and there were blooming azaleas as pretty as the eye could wish to see. But we hadn't seen the flowers—because we were looking at the beautiful lad who was telling us of the loveliness of life. Beyond him we were seeking those noble men and women who almost two centuries ago established Bethesda as a retreat for the homeless, and of the men and women of today who are giving of their time and energy and material things to make it a fit place in which

ed; in front of the large plantation an iron gate was open; half a dozen youngsters, well dressed, clean faced, respectable, gave recognition of our presence. A little fellow was first to speak: "Would you like for me to ride through the grounds and tell you where we are seeing?" And he took a seat in the car and began to ask questions. "I've been here three years. I'm eight years old; I do not remember my mother, because she died when I was two years; my father died when I was five; I am here trying to work for an education and to earn my way in life." All this as we rode into the yard at Bethesda. Then he pointed out the houses on the right and the left. "That house is where the farmers live; that one there is vacant now, because they are not able to care for more boys here; that vine there is an ivy; that house there is the chapel, where we have our religious services. Oh, do come in; I want you to see inside; the music you hear there is a boy practicing at the organ; those others inside are only visitors; I want you to see our piano, and this is the desk from which our ministers preach; not always the same minister comes; up in the loft we have more boys; we use that when we have to sing; at Christmas time we spread shrubbery over the railing, and it's quite beautiful; sign your names in the register, please, because we like to know who has visited us." And out in the yard again he was riding back to the gate at which we had picked him up as we entered.

"Where are the flowers we came here to see?" we asked the lad. "Why, here they are all around you; and he spread his hands to the right and to the left, and there were blooming azaleas as pretty as the eye could wish to see. But we hadn't seen the flowers—because we were looking at the beautiful lad who was telling us of the loveliness of life. Beyond him we were seeking those noble men and women who almost two centuries ago established Bethesda as a retreat for the homeless, and of the men and women of today who are giving of their time and energy and material things to make it a fit place in which

ed; in front of the large plantation an iron gate was open; half a dozen youngsters, well dressed, clean faced, respectable, gave recognition of our presence. A little fellow was first to speak: "Would you like for me to ride through the grounds and tell you where we are seeing?" And he took a seat in the car and began to ask questions. "I've been here three years. I'm eight years old; I do not remember my mother, because she died when I was two years; my father died when I was five; I am here trying to work for an education and to earn my way in life." All this as we rode into the yard at Bethesda. Then he pointed out the houses on the right and the left. "That house is where the farmers live; that one there is vacant now, because they are not able to care for more boys here; that vine there is an ivy; that house there is the chapel, where we have our religious services. Oh, do come in; I want you to see inside; the music you hear there is a boy practicing at the organ; those others inside are only visitors; I want you to see our piano, and this is the desk from which our ministers preach; not always the same minister comes; up in the loft we have more boys; we use that when we have to sing; at Christmas time we spread shrubbery over the railing, and it's quite beautiful; sign your names in the register, please, because we like to know who has visited us." And out in the yard again he was riding back to the gate at which we had picked him up as we entered.

"Where are the flowers we came here to see?" we asked the lad. "Why, here they are all around you; and he spread his hands to the right and to the left, and there were blooming azaleas as pretty as the eye could wish to see. But we hadn't seen the flowers—because we were looking at the beautiful lad who was telling us of the loveliness of life. Beyond him we were seeking those noble men and women who almost two centuries ago established Bethesda as a retreat for the homeless, and of the men and women of today who are giving of their time and energy and material things to make it a fit place in which

ed; in front of the large plantation an iron gate was open; half a dozen youngsters, well dressed, clean faced, respectable, gave recognition of our presence. A little fellow was first to speak: "Would you like for me to ride through the grounds and tell you where we are seeing?" And he took a seat in the car and began to ask questions. "I've been here three years. I'm eight years old; I do not remember my mother, because she died when I was two years; my father died when I was five; I am here trying to work for an education and to earn my way in life." All this as we rode into the yard at Bethesda. Then he pointed out the houses on the right and the left. "That house is where the farmers live; that one there is vacant now, because they are not able to care for more boys here; that vine there is an ivy; that house there is the chapel, where we have our religious services. Oh, do come in; I want you to see inside; the music you hear there is a boy practicing at the organ; those others inside are only visitors; I want you to see our piano, and this is the desk from which our ministers preach; not always the same minister comes; up in the loft we have more boys; we use that when we have to sing; at Christmas time we spread shrubbery over the railing, and it's quite beautiful; sign your names in the register, please, because we like to know who has visited us." And out in the yard again he was riding back to the gate at which we had picked him up as we entered.

"Where are the flowers we came here to see?" we asked the lad. "Why, here they are all around you; and he spread his hands to the right and to the left, and there were blooming azaleas as pretty as the eye could wish to see. But we hadn't seen the flowers—because we were looking at the beautiful lad who was telling us of the loveliness of life. Beyond him we were seeking those noble men and women who almost two centuries ago established Bethesda as a retreat for the homeless, and of the men and women of today who are giving of their time and energy and material things to make it a fit place in which

ed; in front of the large plantation an iron gate was open; half a dozen youngsters, well dressed, clean faced, respectable, gave recognition of our presence. A little fellow was first to speak: "Would you like for me to ride through the grounds and tell you where we are seeing?" And he took a seat in the car and began to ask questions. "I've been here three years. I'm eight years old; I do not remember my mother, because she died when I was two years; my father died when I was five; I am here trying to work for an education and to earn my way in life." All this as we rode into the yard at Bethesda. Then he pointed out the houses on the right and the left. "That house is where the farmers live; that one there is vacant now, because they are not able to care for more boys here; that vine there is an ivy; that house there is the chapel, where we have our religious services. Oh, do come in; I want you to see inside; the music you hear there is a boy practicing at the organ; those others inside are only visitors; I want you to see our piano, and this is the desk from which our ministers preach; not always the same minister comes; up in the loft we have more boys; we use that when we have to sing; at Christmas time we spread shrubbery over the railing, and it's quite beautiful; sign your names in the register, please, because we like to know who has visited us." And out in the yard again he was riding back to the gate at which we had picked him up as we entered.

"Where are the flowers we came here to see?" we asked the lad. "Why, here they are all around you; and he spread his hands to the right and to the left, and there were blooming azaleas as pretty as the eye could wish to see. But we hadn't seen the flowers—because we were looking at the beautiful lad who was telling us of the loveliness of life. Beyond him we were seeking those noble men and women who almost two centuries ago established Bethesda as a retreat for the homeless, and of the men and women of today who are giving of their time and energy and material things to make it a fit place in which

ed; in front of the large plantation an iron gate was open; half a dozen youngsters, well dressed, clean faced, respectable, gave recognition of our presence. A little fellow was first to speak: "Would you like for me to ride through the grounds and tell you where we are seeing?" And he took a seat in the car and began to ask questions. "I've been here three years. I'm eight years old; I do not remember my mother, because she died when I was two years; my father died when I was five; I am here trying to work for an education and to earn my way in life." All this as we rode into the yard at Bethesda. Then he pointed out the houses on the right and the left. "That house is where the farmers live; that one there is vacant now, because they are not able to care for more boys here; that vine there is an ivy; that house there is the chapel, where we have our religious services. Oh, do come in; I want you to see inside; the music you hear there is a boy practicing at the organ; those others inside are only visitors; I want you to see our piano, and this is the desk from which our ministers preach; not always the same minister comes; up in the loft we have more boys; we use that when we have to sing; at Christmas time we spread shrubbery over the railing, and it's quite beautiful; sign your names in the register, please, because we like to know who has visited us." And out in the yard again he was riding back to the gate at which we had picked him up as we entered.

"Where are the flowers we came here to see?" we asked the lad. "Why, here they are all around you; and he spread his hands to the right and to the left, and there were blooming azaleas as pretty as the eye could wish to see. But we hadn't seen the flowers—because we were looking at the beautiful lad who was telling us of the loveliness of life. Beyond him we were seeking those noble men and women who almost two centuries ago established Bethesda as a retreat for the homeless, and of the men and women of today who are giving of their time and energy and material things to make it a fit place in which

ed; in front of the large plantation an iron gate was open; half a dozen youngsters, well dressed, clean faced, respectable, gave recognition of our presence. A little fellow was first to speak: "Would you like for me to ride through the grounds and tell you where we are seeing?" And he took a seat in the car and began to ask questions. "I've been here three years. I'm eight years old; I do not remember my mother, because she died when I was two years; my father died when I was five; I am here trying to work for an education and to earn my way in life." All this as we rode into the yard at Bethesda. Then he pointed out the houses on the right and the left. "That house is where the farmers live; that one there is vacant now, because they are not able to care for more boys here; that vine there is an ivy; that house there is the chapel, where we have our religious services. Oh, do come in; I want you to see inside; the music you hear there is a boy practicing at the organ; those others inside are only visitors; I want you to see our piano, and this is the desk from which our ministers preach; not always the same minister comes; up in the loft we have more boys; we use that when we have to sing; at Christmas time we spread shrubbery over the railing, and it's quite beautiful; sign your names in the register, please, because we like to know who has visited us." And out in the yard again he was riding back to the gate at which we had picked him up as we entered.

"Where are the flowers we came here to see?" we asked the lad. "Why, here they are all around you; and he spread his hands to the right and to the left, and there were blooming azaleas as pretty as the eye could wish to see. But we hadn't seen the flowers—because we were looking at the beautiful lad who was telling us of the loveliness of life. Beyond him we were seeking those noble men and women who almost two centuries ago established Bethesda as a retreat for the homeless, and of the men and women of today who are giving of their time and energy and material things to make it a fit place in which

ed; in front of the large plantation an iron gate was open; half a dozen youngsters, well dressed, clean faced, respectable, gave recognition of our presence. A little fellow was first to speak: "Would you like for me to ride through the grounds and tell you where we are seeing?" And he took a seat in the car and began to ask questions. "I've been here three years. I'm eight years old; I do not remember my mother, because she died when I was two years; my father died when I was five; I am here trying to work for an education and to earn my way in life." All this as we rode into the yard at Bethesda. Then he pointed out the houses on the right and the left. "That house is where the farmers live; that one there is vacant now, because they are not able to care for more boys here; that vine there is an ivy; that house there is the chapel, where we have our religious services. Oh, do come in; I want you to see inside; the music you hear there is a boy practicing at the organ; those others inside are only visitors; I want you to see our piano, and this is the desk from which our ministers preach; not always the same minister comes; up in the loft we have more boys; we use that when we have to sing; at Christmas time we spread shrubbery over the railing, and it's quite beautiful; sign your names in the register, please, because we like to know who has visited us." And out in the yard again he was riding back to the gate at which we had picked him up as we entered.

"Where are the flowers we came here to see?" we asked the lad. "Why, here they are all around you; and he spread his hands to the right and to the left, and there were blooming azaleas as pretty as the eye could wish to see. But we hadn't seen the flowers—because we were looking at the beautiful lad who was telling us of the loveliness of life. Beyond him we were seeking those noble men and women who almost two centuries ago established Bethesda as a retreat for the homeless, and of the men and women of today who are giving of their time and energy and material things to make it a fit place in which

THE FAIR STORE'S Pre-Easter Sale

Starts Thursday, Mar. 16
Store Full of Values Just in Time for Easter
You Save Money If You Buy Now

Ladies' WASH FROCKS	Full-Fashioned HOSE	Cannon Turkish BATH TOWELS
New styles, fast colors.	Pair.	Size 22x44
39c	44c	10c
Regular $1.00 value.	New shades, sheer quality.	(Limit, 6 to a Customer)
Boys' WASH SUITS	Men's SHORTS	MATTRESS TICKING
Sizes 3 to 6.	12c	Yard.
A Real Bargain.	Fancy patterns.	5c
9x12 Gold Seal Congoleum RUGS	Men's Handkerchief	BED SHEETS
Regular $8.50 value.	2c	39c
$2.98	Men's SHIRTS	Ladies' Silk SLIPS
(Limit, 1 to a Customer)	69c	44c
	Fast colors, full cut.

THE FAIR STORE
7 NORTH MAIN STREET STATESBORO, GA.

COTTON BULLETINS FREE TO FARMERS

Useful Publication to Aid Farmers in Study of Important Problems.

Cotton, Georgia's chief crop, is the subject of a new bulletin issued this week by the Georgia Agricultural Experiment Station. The publication is designed to help Georgia farmers produce cotton as economically and efficiently as possible.

The booklet, entitled "Cotton Culture in Georgia," was prepared by E. C. Westbrook, extension cotton specialist. It covers every phase of cotton production, from the selection of varieties adaptable to Georgia soils, to the storage and marketing of lint and seed. The 36-page publication contains 30 pictures, in addition to a Georgia cotton scene on the cover.

Copies of "Cotton Culture in Georgia," also known as Bulletin 469 of the Georgia agricultural extension service, may be obtained free of charge by Georgia farmers from the offices of county agents.

In announcing the new bulletin, Extension Director Walter S. Brown called attention to the fact that the "annual average cash income from cotton alone is more than the combined annual cash income from all of Georgia's other crops, including livestock."

"So long as cotton remains the chief cash crop in Georgia," Director Brown said, "it should be produced as economically as possible and given its proper place in the farm program."

"On many Georgia farms, this will require complete readjustment of the entire farming system. It will mean additional acres devoted to soil-building crops, to food and feed crops, and the introduction of other revenue-producing enterprises that will assist cotton in carrying the load. Cotton has a definite place in the farm picture in this state but no farmer can afford to depend upon it as the sole source of income."

"To produce cotton profitably, it is necessary to secure high yields per acre, thereby lowering the cost of production per pound. High yield alone, however, is not sufficient. The yield must be obtained at a reasonable per acre cost."

"The object of this new bulletin is to help Georgia farmers produce better quality cotton at a low cost of production."

A feature of the bulletin is the chapter on fertilization, which gives general recommendations for the state as a whole, as well as recommendations for specific soil areas. The fertilization recommendations are based on experiments conducted by the Coastal Plain Experiment Station, the Georgia Experiment Station, the University of Georgia College of Agriculture, and individual farmers co-operating with these agencies.

In preparing the bulletin, Westbrook had the co-operation and assistance of agricultural specialists of the experiment stations, the College of Agriculture, and the United States Department of Agriculture.

FOR SALE—Beautiful tufted spread for baby beds; reasonable. 416 South Main street. (2mar17p)

FOR RENT—Five-room house, completely furnished, at 244 Donaldson street; possession April 1st. If interested see MRS. HOBSON DONALDSON, at Walker Furniture Co. (4mar17p)

LOST—Gold Eastern Star pin, about one-fourth inch in size, with wreath and emblems; lost in Statesboro Tuesday of last week. Will give suitable reward for return. MRS. W. E. BARRINGER, Sardis, Ga. (16mar17p)

STRAYED—Left my place February 25th, one Poland-China sow, marked under square in each ear; had five red pigs when last seen. Any information will be appreciated. J. G. WILLIAMS, Route 1, Statesboro. (16mar17p)

Want Ads

ONE CENT A WORD PER ISSUE
NO AD TAKEN FOR LESS THAN TWENTY-FIVE CENTS A WEEK

FOR SALE—Beautiful tufted spread for baby beds; reasonable. 416 South Main street. (2mar17p)

FOR RENT—Five-room house, completely furnished, at 244 Donaldson street; possession April 1st. If interested see MRS. HOBSON DONALDSON, at Walker Furniture Co. (4mar17p)

LOST—Gold Eastern Star pin, about one-fourth inch in size, with wreath and emblems; lost in Statesboro Tuesday of last week. Will give suitable reward for return. MRS. W. E. BARRINGER, Sardis, Ga. (16mar17p)

STRAYED—Left my place February 25th, one Poland-China sow, marked under square in each ear; had five red pigs when last seen. Any information will be appreciated. J. G. WILLIAMS, Route 1, Statesboro. (16mar17p)

FOR RENT—Furnished apartment upstairs; unfurnished apartment downstairs; choice private room downstairs; MRS. J. S. KENAN, 210 South Main street. (16mar21p)

FOR RENT—Five-room house, completely furnished, at 244 Donaldson street; possession April 1st. If interested see MRS. HOBSON DONALDSON, at Walker Furniture Co. (4mar17p)

LOST—Gold Eastern Star pin, about one-fourth inch in size, with wreath and emblems; lost in Statesboro Tuesday of last week. Will give suitable reward for return. MRS. W. E. BARRINGER, Sardis, Ga. (16mar17p)

STRAYED—Left my place February 25th, one Poland-China sow, marked under square in each ear; had five red pigs when last seen. Any information will be appreciated. J. G. WILLIAMS, Route 1, Statesboro. (16mar17p)

FOR RENT—Furnished apartment upstairs; unfurnished apartment downstairs; choice private room downstairs; MRS. J. S. KENAN, 210 South Main street. (16mar21p)

FOR RENT—Five-room house, completely furnished, at 244 Donaldson street; possession April 1st. If interested see MRS. HOBSON DONALDSON, at Walker Furniture Co. (4mar17p)

LOST—Gold Eastern Star pin, about one-fourth inch in size, with wreath and emblems; lost in Statesboro Tuesday of last week. Will give suitable reward for return. MRS. W. E. BARRINGER, Sardis, Ga. (16mar17p)

STRAYED—Left my place February 25th, one Poland-China sow, marked under square in each ear; had five red pigs when last seen. Any information will be appreciated. J. G. WILLIAMS, Route 1, Statesboro. (16mar17p)

FOR RENT—Furnished apartment upstairs; unfurnished apartment downstairs; choice private room downstairs; MRS. J. S. KENAN, 210 South Main street. (16mar21p)

FOR RENT—Five-room house, completely furnished, at 244 Donaldson street; possession April 1st. If interested see MRS. HOBSON DONALDSON, at Walker Furniture Co. (4mar17p)

LOST—Gold Eastern Star pin, about one-fourth inch in size, with wreath and emblems; lost in Statesboro Tuesday of last week. Will give suitable reward for return. MRS. W. E. BARRINGER, Sardis, Ga. (16mar17p)

In Statesboro Churches

METHODIST CHURCH
10:15 a. m. Church school, J. L. Renfro, superintendent.
11:30 a. m. Morning worship. Sermon by Dr. C. K. Vliet, Nashville, Tenn. W. E. McDougald, Harvey D. Brannen, Imman Foy, Dan Lester, Waldo Floyd, Jesse O. Johnston, Gordon Maye, Arthur Turner, Hal Kennon and A. M. Braswell.

7:00 p. m. Epworth League.
8:00 p. m. Evening worship. Evangelistic sermon by Mrs. Ollie Boyd. Good music at all services. All always welcome.
N. H. WILLIAMS, Pastor.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
H. L. SNEED, Pastor.
10:15. Sunday school, Henry Ellis, superintendent.
11:30. Morning worship. The congregation will be asked to remain for a congregational meeting to

