AUGUSTA TO STAGE COTTON FESTIVAL Will seek to promote interest in the further use of cotton products. Augusta, Ga., May 12.—An extra day has been added to Augusta's "Wax, More, the More Cotton" festival by starting the celebration on May 18, instead of May 19, as originally planned, and continuing through May 23. This was done, it is explained, in order that the extensive program which has been arranged might be completed without crowding the various events too closely together. All towns and cities within a radius of 75 miles of Augusta are being invited to enter floats in the parade which will open the festival. Prizes will be offered for the finest floats. These various cities also are being invited to select their own "Queen of Cotton" who will vie in the contest to name the girl who will be crowned "Queen of Cotton" representing the entire Augusta area. Throughout the week there will be a continuous exhibition on the 800 block of Broad street, showing all of the many various cotton products which are manufactured in the Augusta area. It is announced also that the elaborate and colorful lighting arrangements with which Broad street was illuminated during the Christmas season will probably be repeated during the cotton festival. The parade, which will mark the formal opening of the celebration will start at 4:00 o'clock on Monday afternoon, May 18. It will be followed by a style show to be staged jointly by Goldberg's and Sylvester's at the Imperial Theatre, and of which there will be two performances, the first starting at 7:00 p. m. and the second at 9:00 p. m. A banquet to be given jointly by the Augusta Women's Club and the Rotary Club of Augusta at 8:00 p. m. at the Richmond Hotel will be the feature of the program on the second day. Dr. W. H. Frazier, president of Queens-Chioma College, will be the principal speaker. All of the diners will be required to wear cotton apparel. A special band stand is to be erected on Broad street in front of the exhibit building, and there a group of well known colored jubilee singers will give a concert of spirituals on Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock, and again at the same hour on Thursday. Another feature on Wednesday evening will be a style show to be given by J. B. White & Co., at 8:15 o'clock at their store. An admission charge of 25 cents will be made for this performance. The proceeds are to be turned over to the Augusta Federation of Women's Clubs. Following the jubilee singers' concert on Thursday evening a section of Broad street will be roped off and a street dance will be held. This is expected to prove one of the most popular events on the entire program for the week, particularly with the younger set, and it is believed that many hundreds will be on hand to step to the music of an excellent dance orchestra. The festival will come to a close Friday evening with a "Cotton Ball" to be given by the Junior League of Augusta at the Nipe Owl Club, a popular dance rendezvous on the outskirts of the city in the Forest Hill section, adjoining Daniel airport and the Augusta horse show grounds. BROOKLET BOYS WIN SCHOLARSHIPS Brooklet, Ga., May 11.—Three Brooklet boys, together with the vocational department of the Brooklet High School and Supt. E. W. Graham, head of the department, are receiving congratulations on recent honors won in the county contest for forestry camp scholarship. Supt. Graham is in receipt of a notification from C. A. There the birthday cake was cut and served with dixie cups. In the contests and games George Preston was awarded the prize.

COUNTY SCHOOLS

The coronation of the "Queen of Health" was the climax of the May Day program held in Statesboro on Saturday, May 2nd.

Public school music was in for a practical demonstration on this occasion. Health, culture and happiness are essential fundamentals to be sought in our educational system.

Our teachers have shown loyalty to the profession during the term just ending. Privations and hardships did not daunt them or slow them down.

Teachers and students are responsible for the coronation. We are very proud of the excellent manner in which our schools are kept.

During vacation the county school buses will be repainted and reconditioned so as to insure another year of unflinching service to those schools to which these trucks will be assigned.

Last week and this ends all of our school. Brooklyn and Webster closed the year with customary programs and graduating exercises.

WHY ABOLISH OUR SMALL COLLEGES?

DR. JACOBS POINTS OUT THAT SMALLER INSTITUTIONS ARE DOING BEST WORK.

(By DR. THORNWELL JACOBS, President Oberlin University.) Dr. M. L. Brittain, distinguished president of the Georgia School of Technology, has recently called the attention of the state of Georgia to the large number of small colleges in this state which, according to the published statements of his speeches, are excessive in number and should be gotten rid of, presumably because their support is a burden to the state and subtracts from the appropriations that the legislature would otherwise make to the larger state schools.

Before the state of Georgia goes to work to destroy these institutions which have been built up by many years of labor and by the expenditure of so many hundreds of thousands of dollars, it would be well for us to inquire diligently concerning their usefulness to the commonwealth, and it would be particularly desirable that we should trace the history of alumni of these schools and find out whether or not they have contributed anything of importance to the development and well-being of Georgia.

As for myself, I will venture to prophesy that the graduates of these smaller colleges will rank both as to quality and quantity of their work above the graduates of the larger ones, or else the state of Georgia will be the only state in the Union where such is not the case.

Some time ago a very careful study was made of the names occurring in "Who's Who in America" with respect to their college connections, and it was found that, in spite of the fact that many little schools are hopelessly inadequate in their budgets, nevertheless, of the 20 colleges which average highest in the proportion of their graduates found in "Who's Who," 15 were relatively small colleges and only six could be properly classed as big ones.

In this connection another interesting fact was developed, namely, that 75 per cent of the men who are taking advanced work leading to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in the large universities in America come from small colleges and only one-third come from the big universities.

That is something for every father and mother who is struggling with the problem of "where shall I send my son?" to think over very carefully. These figures are the more surprising when one considers that there are in America some seven or eight hundred colleges and universities in which one million are enrolled. Of these, two hundred and fifty thousand are enrolled in the state universities and two hundred and fifty thousand are enrolled in the larger privately endowed institutions.

The one hundred richest American schools with their 250,000 students possess 75 per cent of the total endowment of all American institutions of higher learning. The six or seven hundred small colleges educate one-half of all American students and do this on about one-fourth of the total endowment funds of American institutions. All of which goes to show that there is something in small colleges that is of more educational value than dollars.

I may add that some of the wisest and greatest universities in America are now in process of closing their huge bulk into a number of small colleges in order to obtain many advantages which are denied them on account of their size.

THE PROVERBS

Chapter 12 1. Whoso loveth instruction loveth knowledge: but he that hateth reproof is brutish.

2. A good man obtaineth favour of the Lord: but a man of wicked devices will be condemned.

3. A man shall not be established by wickedness: but the root of the righteous shall not be moved.

4. A virtuous woman is a crown to her husband: but she that maketh shame as a rottenness in his bones.

5. The thoughts of the righteous are right: but the counsels of the wicked are deceit.

6. The words of the wicked are to lie in wait for blood; but the mouth of the upright shall deliver them.

7. The wicked are overthrown, and are not: but the house of the righteous shall stand.

8. A man shall be commended according to his wisdom: but he that is of a perverse heart shall be despised.

9. He that is despised, and hath a servant, is better than he that honoureth himself, and lacketh bread.

10. He that tilleth his land shall be satisfied with bread: but he that followeth vain persons is void of understanding.

COUNTRY'S FATHER IS DULY HONORED

THE UNITED STATES ARMY HAS TWO GEORGE WASHINGTON REGIMENTS.

It will surprise most Americans to learn that in their regular army of today there are two regiments which have come down intact from their organization during the lifetime of George Washington.

What is now the Third United States Infantry was formed in 1784 as a Pennsylvania regiment, authorized by an act of the Continental Congress on June 7, 1784, and designated as "the Regiment of Infantry."

Afterward in its history it went through other re-designations, but it still was the same organization.

As the Third Infantry in the United States Army of today, it is stationed at Fort Snelling in Minnesota, between Minneapolis and St. Paul. And are its officers proud of the ancient history of their outfit? The word Yes can hardly be expressed with sufficient emphasis for an answer.

It figured in the War of 1812; in Florida in 1814. It was distinctly present at Lady's Lane. Its record includes service in the early Indian Wars and in New Mexico. During the Mexican War it fought at Palo Alto, Resaca de la Palma, Monterrey, Vera Cruz, Cerro Gordo, and Chapultepec.

Not an officer, not a man of these regiments but looks with justifiable pride, now and then, at its silver-banded staff, and at the streamer which, with the flag, floats from it as a marker to its ancient and honorable history of service.

SEEK SQUARE DEAL FOR RAILROADS

That in asking for a "square deal in transportation" the railroads are making no "sentimental plea for preferential treatment" is the assertion of President A. E. Clift of the Central of Georgia in a statement published today.

"Railway service, purchases, employment and taxes have contributed greatly to the upbuilding and development of the country," says Mr. Clift. "The railroads therefore need no apology for their record. The same contributions made by them in the past to our national prosperity present to us today a stark warning."

FARMERS' MARKETS From up in North Georgia the enterprising city of Griffin comes with an innovation that ought to prove popular.

From up in North Georgia the enterprising city of Griffin comes with an innovation that ought to prove popular. It is a local market for the sale of farm produce and is operated under the direction of the Chamber of Commerce of Griffin.

The greatest excuse for the existence of any institution is its usefulness to the people. Chambers of commerce can do nothing more worthwhile in history.

Statesboro could well join in a movement similar to that being tried out by the city of Griffin. Country people would be glad to bring their produce and sell from a central market.

ABOLISH SMALL COLLEGES The recent pronouncement of President Britain of the Georgia School of Technology to the effect that Georgia is suffering with too many small colleges has been construed as a sweeping accusation against all the smaller colleges of the state.

Perhaps President Britain intended it as such. The position occupied by President Britain as head of the state's largest educational institution easily places him in an attitude of superiority over the smaller institutions. It is not exactly a spirit of jealousy, but rather of intolerance which actuates him.

At a recent conference in the state's educational center, called to meet in the halls of the state's oldest and most important college, one of the speakers, selected because he was an alumnus of that institution, therefore speaking from that viewpoint, made a declaration that was almost an exact repetition of the statement made by President Britain.

That speaker and President Britain are viewing matters from the same viewpoint. They are reasoning only from the angle of their own sympathies. They do not take into account that the half of the people whom they would exclude are legally and morally entitled to share along with that half for whom they would make adequate provision.

about should not go, however, to those other institutions which are already mighty in their own strength. The law of right demands that the weaker shall be given the first and greatest help if they are deserving.

Mr. Britain should qualify his demand for a weeding out of smaller colleges. This government is dependent upon industry is shown in a forcible manner by the tremendous deficit that now faces the Federal treasury as a result of the falling off of income taxes.

This loss is due to the slowing up of industrial activity with reduced output from factories, smaller incomes for the wage earners, executives and investors.

It is obvious to a school child that industrial prosperity and government stability go hand in hand. Any measures which discourage or destroy industry immediately react on all the people by heaping additional burdens on the taxpayer at a time when he is least able to pay.

Up to the present time, instead of retrenching on governmental expenditures to correspond to the ability of the people to pay taxes without real hardship, we have gone merrily on increasing public burdens.

Just suppose our public utilities and railroads, which pay upwards of a billion dollars a year in taxes, were tax-exempt, publicly-owned properties as many of our socialist friends would have them. What would happen to the taxpayer?

Pressure is being brought to bear from various sources to inject the government more and more into business in competition with private citizens and taxpayers. Carried to its ultimate conclusion—the elimination of private enterprise—who would finally pay the taxes under such a policy?

During 1930 farmers suffered one of the greatest fire losses in agricultural history—a total of about $125,000,000, according to the National Fire Waste Council, as compared with an average of $100,000,000 in "normal" years.

We wish also to thank the millions of smokers throughout the country for the appreciation they are showing for our new Humidor Pack as is evidenced by the notable increase in the sale of Camel cigarettes.

If you have not tried Camels in the Humidor Pack all we ask is that you switch over to this brand for one day.

After you have learned how much milder, how much cooler, how much more enjoyable it is to smoke a perfectly conditioned fresh cigarette, go back to the harsh hotness of stale cigarettes if you can.

The American people take railroad service for granted. Whenever a person wants to ride across the continent, or has goods to be transported, he knows that a train is waiting to give him fast, dependable and economical service.

Railroad service and facilities are better than ever before. But during February the lines earned a net profit on their investment of only 1.07 per cent. It is obvious that no industry can continue to progress or give service under such conditions.

The problems of the railroads—a basic service industry, a foremost taxpayer, employer and purchaser of supplies—are entitled to thorough and intelligent consideration. A taxation and regulatory policy which was burdensome in good times is proving ruinous now.

PAINS QUIT COMING

"When I was a girl, I suffered periodically with terrible pains in my back and sides. Often I would bend almost double with the intense pain. This would last for hours and I could get no relief. I tried almost everything that was recommended to me, but found nothing that would help until I began taking Cardui. My mother thought it would be good for me, so she got a bottle of Cardui and started me taking it. I soon improved. The bad pain is now coming, I was soon in normal health."

A REMINDER

by your Fertilizer Dealer No. 7 in a Series appearing in this newspaper

YOU know the fine crops many farmers around here get year after year with Chilean Nitrate of Soda. They side dress with Chilean and it pays them well. This year with Chilean selling at the lowest price in years, there's no sense in thinking you can economize with unproved fertilizers. Use plenty of Chilean and you'll get a good profitable crop.

AND when you order, be sure to specify "Chilean". It contains rare elements in addition to Nitrogen that make it the super-nitrate. It is Nitrogen PLUS, for it contains iodine, boron, magnesium, plant foods in themselves. Remember that Chilean is the proved fertilizer. Side dress your crops with it. At the new low price and in the new 100 lb. bag, it is a better buy than ever before. Remember the two kinds—Original Chilean (Crystalline) and Champion Brand (Granulated) both natural nitrate.

RENO DIVORCE MILL SPEEDS UP

MANY CASES SET FOR TRIAL AT TEN-MINUTE INTERVALS DURING MONDAY.

Reno, Nev., May 10.—All was in readiness tonight for Nevada's greatest divorce parade beginning Monday. Smashing all records for divorce applications, the state inaugurated its new six weeks' residence law with a total of 159 filed.

Filed at the rate of one every two minutes during the early portion of the day the flood of divorce suits brought a golden flow to the state, more than $4,000 in fees being collected before noon, and the grand total ran well over $5,000. Each complaint carries a fee of $20 and where an answer is filed at the same time, additional $10 is collected.

It is considered a conservative estimate that each divorce leaves $1,000 in Reno. On this basis the flood of divorce applications today represented an investment of $159,000 on the part of those seeking matrimonial liberty.

Many persons socially prominent were included among those filing Saturday. One of the surprising features was the large number of men filing divorce suits. Women predominated heavily but the scores of men represented in the lists bore out the predictions of attorneys when the new law was passed that it would enable men to obtain divorces as well as women.

Heretofore, few men felt they could leave business for three months to get a divorce. Now they take six weeks' vacation and return home "free."

Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, was not among those filing today. His residence period will not be until the middle of May.

Many of the cases filed today were set for trial Monday at 10-minute intervals before Reno's two superior court judges. Some were not in final form and will be set for trial later. The divorce mill is expected to grind out close to 100 decrees Monday.

While in a high state of intoxication, Charles Zieba, of Chicago recently gave his wife a sound beating for the indigestible pie which she had baked for him six years ago.

Mrs. Louise Margosian, of Cambridge, Mass., applied for a divorce on the grounds of cruelty because, she explained, her husband slapped her face when she wore her over-shoes unbuttoned.

GALA OPENING FOR SAVANNAH BEACH

With music, dancing, confetti, streamers, balloons and many other varied special attractions and amusements, Savannah Beach, Tybee Island, will officially open the 1931 season on May 20th.

This announcement, which has just been released by the officials of Savannah Beach will without doubt be received with much interest and bring joy to the lovers of the seashore and outdoor sports.

Every effort is being made to make this official opening a most auspicious occasion and one that will linger long in the memory of all who are fortunate enough to be on hand for this gala event.

The Tybria pavilion will stage on this opening night a most beautiful and colorful carnival feature that should appeal to the most discriminating of people. Every effort will be made to make this an outstanding feature.

This large spacious and delightful pavilion has made special arrangements with the Music Corporation of America by which there will appear for the entire season the very best of orchestras all of national reputation, furnishing the latest music for dancing twice a day throughout the season, with the exception of Sunday when musical concerts will be given twice during the day. The bath houses will be rebuilt and improved in every respect, and equipped with new bathing suits of the very latest style.

The many improvements made at Savannah Beach since last season have all been with the idea in view of comfort and convenience to the visitor. The long broad beach has been properly spaced along this beautiful walk furnished music to those bathing as well as the strollers along the beach and on the walk. Ample parking spaces have been provided for motorists and most efficient police service and protection have been provided by the officials of Savannah Beach.

Hotel Tybee under the able management of Major H. M. Stamford, a well known resort hotel man, has made many improvements, all of which will be to the comfort and pleasure of the guests. One of the most delightful ocean grills has been added and will no doubt be the source of much enjoyment during the season. Miniature golf courses, tennis courts and other attractive outdoor games have been added and are in splendid shape for the opening.

The people of Savannah Beach and Savannah most cordially hope that their neighbors in all of the surrounding cities and counties in different parts of the state will make their plans so as to be on hand to take part in the opening of Savannah Beach, the playground of Georgia and the Southeast.

An electric light bulb has been in nightly use for 26 years on the back porch of the home of B. Bauers, of Pomeroy, O., and still gives good service.

"Caterpillar" Tractor Appoints New Agency

Information has just reached us from which we learn that the Lombard Iron Works & Supply Company, of Augusta, has completed negotiations by which they will handle in this section the "Caterpillar" tractor and similar lines formerly handled by W. A. Neal & Son, of Augusta. This, as we understand, is an addition to the lines already handled by the Lombard party, which is a well known firm, noted for manufacturing the famous Lombard boilers as well as handling a complete line of mill and factory supplies and operating a foundry and one of the largest machine repair shops south of Baltimore, their plant occupying an entire city block, where they have been doing business continuously for the past seventy-two years. The fact that these people have such a large repair shop and a number of experienced mechanics, will place them in position to give excellent service in repairing these tractors, which will no doubt be received as welcome news by present and prospective owners of the "Caterpillar" tractor.

This tractor is nationally known and extensively used by state, municipal and county governments as well as contractors on road work and general use.

There is also a growing demand for it in the agricultural field. Officials of the Lombard Iron Works & Supply Company state that experienced men have been retained to handle the tractors who will be glad to work with anyone in solving any problems they may have. It is understood that carload shipments of new tractors have already been received and a complete stock of repair parts will be on hand at all times in order to give quick service.

CONTROL OF THE TOBACCO WORMS

BEST TO START EARLY IF TOBACCO IS TO BE PROTECTED FROM INSECT PESTS.

(By J. M. PURDUM, Assistant Agricultural & Industrial Agent, Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Co.) In fighting insects it is always best to start early enough to prevent damage rather than wait until they begin to damage the crop of tobacco. Budworms and hornworms are both easily killed with poison.

Poisons that are most commonly used to kill insects that damage plants by eating the leaves are Paris green, arsenate of lead and calcium arsenate. In poisoning eating insects one pound of Paris green is equivalent to two pounds of either arsenate of lead or calcium arsenate, but it is much more liable to burn the leaves than either of the latter, and for this reason arsenate of lead has for a long time been recommended as the best poison to use on tobacco. Calcium arsenate is equally if not more effective as an insecticide than arsenate of lead, but due to the fact that in the past its method of manufacture was not thoroughly standardized some of it occasionally burned the leaves. The method of manufacturing calcium arsenate has now become more standardized and it is generally safe to use most brands of it. However, it should be remembered that under certain weather conditions almost any poison, in fact, even an inert material such as lime may cause some burning of the leaves.

To kill budworms it is only necessary to get a small amount of the poison in the bud of the plant. The poison should be diluted with some inert material and a small amount of the mixture dropped in the bud of each plant. Various inert materials such as lime, sand, ashes, etc., are used for mixing with the arsenate of lead, but many experiments have shown that corn meal is a much more effective material to use. A mixture consisting of one pound of arsenate of lead and seven pounds of corn meal is sufficient to kill budworms. However, this mixture is hardly strong enough to kill cutworms, hornworms, and mole crickets, and for that reason I recommend a mixture consisting of one pound of arsenate of lead, or calcium arsenate and ten or twelve pounds of corn meal.

A small pinch between the fingers dropped in the bud of each plant will kill the budworms. While the plants are small some it will fall on the ground and will help to control late emerging cutworms and mole crickets, and enough of the mixture will fall on the ground if only a pinch is dropped squarely in the bud. To use more is not only wasteful, but if a large quantity collects around the base of the plant it might, under certain weather conditions, damage it. To obtain complete protection applications of this mixture should be made regularly once a week until the tobacco is topped. As the plants grow larger the poison in the buds of the plants will kill a larger number of the first crop of hornworms because the young hornworms usually crawl to the buds where they can feed on the young tender parts of the plants.

There are usually two broods of hornworms. The first brood develops early and almost coincident with the early budworms. The second brood usually comes about topping time and continues until the crop is gathered. The first brood is usually few in numbers and the damage they do to the crop may be comparatively slight. However, if the first brood is allowed to mature uncontrolled, the infestation from the second brood may be expected to be exceptionally heavy, and a considerable amount of poison and work will be required to keep them from doing severe damage to the crop of tobacco. The use of the poison mixture above mentioned for budworms will kill a large number and sometimes practically all of the early brood of hornworms and reduce the number in the later brood proportionately.

THE RAILROADS AND THE FUTURE

THE IMPORTANCE OF TRANSPORTATION AS A FACTOR IN THE PROSPERITY OF THE COUNTRY HAS BEEN MUCH DISCUSSED, AND IS BECOMING BETTER UNDERSTOOD. THE PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE RAILROADS HAS BEEN SO WELL PROVEN AS TO LEAVE NO DOUBT THAT THEY ARE ABLE TO PROVIDE THE KIND OF TRANSPORTATION THAT IS REQUISITE FOR THE GROWTH OF THE NATION.

Railway service, purchases, employment and taxes have contributed greatly to the upbuilding and development of the country. The railroads therefore need no apology for their record.

These same contributions to our national prosperity will be needed in the years to come. The railroads therefore make no sentimental plea for preferential treatment.

A square deal in transportation is the only way in which the interests of the public itself can be fairly served.

A busy railroad is the public's best assurance of cheap, safe and dependable transportation; and of employment, purchases and taxes in large volume.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

THE RAILROADS AND THE FUTURE

THE IMPORTANCE OF TRANSPORTATION AS A FACTOR IN THE PROSPERITY OF THE COUNTRY HAS BEEN MUCH DISCUSSED, AND IS BECOMING BETTER UNDERSTOOD. THE PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE RAILROADS HAS BEEN SO WELL PROVEN AS TO LEAVE NO DOUBT THAT THEY ARE ABLE TO PROVIDE THE KIND OF TRANSPORTATION THAT IS REQUISITE FOR THE GROWTH OF THE NATION.

Railway service, purchases, employment and taxes have contributed greatly to the upbuilding and development of the country. The railroads therefore need no apology for their record.

These same contributions to our national prosperity will be needed in the years to come. The railroads therefore make no sentimental plea for preferential treatment.

A square deal in transportation is the only way in which the interests of the public itself can be fairly served.

A busy railroad is the public's best assurance of cheap, safe and dependable transportation; and of employment, purchases and taxes in large volume.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

A. E. CLIFT, President, Central of Georgia Railway Company. Savannah, Ga., May 12, 1931.

Vast Nitrate Fields Once Floor of Ocean

Entire Region Now Barren Desert High Above Sea Level

Place by place, scientific discoveries have been put together to reveal the story of one of the great natural features, the origin of the nitrate fields in South America.

According to geological history, the vast, barren desert of Northern Chile in which the nitrate deposits are found was once the bottom of the Pacific Ocean. Millions of years—no one knows the number—have probably passed since Nature buried this treasure in that desolate plateau thousands of feet above the Pacific.

Authorities who have studied the deposits believe that, either as a result of a sudden upheaval or the gradual rising of the continent, great bodies of waters from the Pacific were completely enclosed by rising land. The beating sun, pouring down upon the inland lakes in this new region, gradually dried up the salt water, destroying plant and animal life. Then followed slow oxidation which, with other natural processes, produced almost magic an entirely new substance—Chilean nitrate, which is the highest bidder for cash, the property conveyed by said deed and described as follows:

It is generally thought that the natural origin of Chilean nitrate accounts for its unusual record of services to farmers of the world. It contains, besides nitrogen, a number of other important elements—potassium, calcium, magnesium, iodine, and boron. All of these are essential for the growth and health of plants. It is because of the presence of these elements that Chilean nitrate is frequently called "nitrogen plus." It is more than a source of nitrogen.

The commercial exploitation of the nitrate deposits commenced in 1820. The fertilizer has been used ever since, and it is now recognized as the oldest of the commercial fertilizing materials. In this country about three quarters of a million tons are used annually. According to conservative estimates, the supply is adequate to meet the need of the world for several centuries, even if the rate of consumption is materially increased.
