ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

We would like to thank the Department of Social Anthropology at the University of St Andrews for their continued support of this journal. In particular, we would like to thank Dr Huon Wardle who functions as academic link to the journal and Dr Craig Lind who has been Journal Manager for many years. For the design of our new logo we thank Jackie Ashkin and for the help with setting up our new type-set we thank Neil Hampshire. Last but not least would also like to thank all our authors whose work brings this journal to life.

Ethnographic Encounters was founded in 2011 to publish outstanding work by undergraduate students of Social Anthropology.

It was inspired by the Ethnographic Encounters project that second-year students in the Department of Social Anthropology at the University of St Andrews do every spring where they conduct their own fieldwork project.

The works that emerged from this were so interesting and diverse that students Zoe Miller and Emily Sheppard decided to start this journal with support and guidance from Dr. Craig Lind.

We remain a student-run journal and in every year since our foundation we have published a volume with the best of the Ethnographic Encounters projects submitted to the journal.

For the first time this year we will all be launching a printed version of the journal.
