The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying the FamilySearch Research Wiki page for Roxbury, Massachusetts. The browser's address bar shows the URL: https://familysearch.org/learn/wiki/en/Roxbury,_Massachusetts. The page features the FamilySearch logo and navigation links for Family Tree, Memories, Search, and Indexing. A top navigation bar includes links for Volunteer, Get Help, and Sign In. Below the navigation, there are tabs for Page, Edit, Talk, and History, along with icons for Watch, Share, and Print. The main content area is titled "Roxbury, Massachusetts" and includes a breadcrumb trail: United States > Massachusetts > Norfolk > Roxbury. The text describes Roxbury as a historical and genealogical guide, mentioning town histories, vital records, city directories, cemetery records, churches, deeds, land records, town and city records, newspapers, maps, and libraries. It also notes that there is a detailed guide for the town and city of Boston that annexed Roxbury. A section titled "Roxbury (1630–1868)" discusses the town's history, including its annexation to Boston and the records created during that period. A sidebar on the left contains a "Contents [hide]" section with a list of 12 items: 1 Brief History, 2 Historical Data, 3 Town Histories, 4 Vital Records, 5 City Directories, 6 Maps, 7 Cemeteries, 8 Churches, 9 Town Records, 10 Newspapers, 11 Libraries and Historical Societies, and 12 References. On the right side, there are several utility boxes: "Search Learning & How-To's" with a search input field and "BROWSE" options for "by country" and "by topic"; "Share Your Opinion!" with a "Recommendations Page" button; and "Getting Started" with links for "Wiki Home", "New to the Wiki", "Wiki Tools", "Find an Ancestor", "Research Help", "Browse by Country", "Volunteer and Helper", "Submit Wiki Content", "Family History Centers", and "Contributor Help". The bottom right corner of the browser window shows the system tray with the time 7:15 and date 11/21.
