FWBC To Be Candidate for Regional Accreditation

Regional accreditation for Fort Wayne Bible College moved closer to reality January 8 when the Review Committee of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools told college officials they would recommend to their executive board that FWBC be a candidate for accreditation.

Another Review in Two Years

Their action followed closely on the heels of a three-day visit to the college in early November by a four-member team of North Central Examiners. A comprehensive examination of the college by the association will take place two years from now which, if successfully completed, would be the final step in qualifying for accreditation.

It is the first time that a college not having current standing with the accrediting association would be able to achieve accreditation in under three years. The standard requirement for accreditation is six years.

Team Praises FWBC

On hand to meet with the Review Committee in January in Chicago were FWBC president, Harvey Bostrom and Richard Dugan, academic dean. Dr. Bostrom said he was especially pleased by the glowing praise heaped on the college by the team of on-campus examiners. "They had great admiration for the spirit and commitment of both the faculty and student body," he said.

He noted that during the two year candidate period, the administration and faculty will be hard at work to make the suggested changes put forth by the examining team in their report. Among the recommendations were those for curriculum revisions, and modifications in faculty policies and procedures involving the areas of teaching assignments, sabbaticals, and opportunities for further education.

Special Strengths of FWBC Noted

In summing up their recommendation for candidate status for the college, the team made note of the special strengths they observed at FWBC. Among them were:

- a) A clearly stated mission which is loyally supported on campus;
- b) A strong Board of Trustees which provides solid support to the administration especially in the area of development and academic improvement;
- c) A competent administration which is providing leadership in beginning to develop both long and short range planning;
- d) A well organized business operation that provides timely data and administers the budget well;
- e) A loyal and generous faculty dedicated to teaching;

f) Student services which are well organized to meet the needs of the student.

Members of the examining team were: Dr. James Chapman, President, West Liberty State College, West Liberty, West Virginia.

Dr. Mary Jean Thomas, Dean, College of Communications, University of Arkansas-Little Rock, Little Rock, Arkansas.

Dr. Donald L. Wise, Danforth Professor and Chair, Department of Biology, College of Wooster, Wooster, Ohio.

Dr. Ann Ida Gannon, B.V.M., Professor of Philosophy, Mundelein College, Chicago, Illinois (Chairperson).

Sharathon Tops Goal!

As reported in the last issue of PULSE/LIFELINES, the WBCL SHARATHON '83 was to take place January 11, 12, and 13 ... and so it did and what a blessed time it was!

The station successfully completed its seventh annual SHARATHON fund raising drive by raising over $295,000, exceeding the $240,000 goal for the three-day event.

The original goal was reached at 8:20 a.m. on the third and final day of the drive, some eight and one-half hours from its 6:00 p.m. conclusion. Over 4,300 donors contributed to the fund raising event.

Monies raised during the drive will be used for operation, programming and equipment needs of the station. WBCL raises approximately eighty percent of its annual operating budget with the three-day SHARATHON conducted each year in January.

Participating in the fund drive along with the regular station personnel were Wayne Pederson who hosts the "Footprints" and "New Dimension" programs, and Mel Johnson, host of the program "Action Four." More than 200 volunteers assisted the station in its endeavor.

Thus far in its seven year history, the station has raised approximately 1.2 million dollars.

In Founders Auditorium, a "Praise Rally" on Thursday night brought together WBCL personnel, workers, and contributors for a time of celebration and thanksgiving

A campus nominating committee and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extra-curricular activities and future potential.

The Fort Wayne Bible College Chorale will begin a 10-day tour of Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Maryland, and Washington, D.C. beginning March 4. The Chorale will be under the direction of Dr. Jay Platte, chairman of the Department of Music.

Think Spring!

Cold winter weather is here, but Friends of FWBC are thinking SPRING! The organization is busily planning its second annual "Spring Housewalk."

This year's "Spring Housewalk" will be staged on April 22, 1983. Both men and women are invited to take a delightful guided tour through five lovely homes on Fort Wayne's southside, enjoy a delicious luncheon and attend a special time of entertaining fellowship. There will also be the opportunity to purchase baked goods, crafts and plants!

Last year over 350 people participated in the day with the result of a good time and a profit of $2,100 which enabled Friends of FWBC to redecorate the college cafeteria. This year's project will involve improvement to the Founders stage.

Individuals can enjoy the entire "Spring Housewalk" for only $6.00! The same price as last year! Tickets may be obtained by calling Vicki at 444-0623 or the FWBC Public Relations Office at 456-2111, ext. 219.

If you wish to donate crafts and baked goods for the "Spring Housewalk," you may drop them off at the Fort Wayne Bible College Bookstore. Items should be brought in by April 21.

Granted, the "Spring Housewalk" is a couple of months away, but it is not too early to think warm thoughts of spring to ease the chill of winter!

SUMMER ASSIGNMENT: JAPAN!

Imagine yourself in a far away land where you had no personal friends, where very few people spoke or understood your language and where McDonald Big Macs and Ponderosa steaks were more than just a hop, skip and jump away!

Three Fort Wayne Bible College students found themselves in such a situation last summer. Mary Brandenberger, Chris Brown and Martha Boyer spent their summer months working as summer missionaries in the land of Japan. All three agree that it was a growing experience that made a lasting impression.

The Fear of Missions

But what prompted these students, along with several others, to dedicate a relaxing summer vacation to summer missions? Mary Brandenberger answers, "I knew this was an opportunity God put before me. I also wanted to go to remove the fear I had of missions. I had always heard the high adventure stories of cannibals and the such. It scared me to death! But now I know the priceless rewards of serving as God's messenger," Martha and Chris also felt the Lord's leading to minister in Japan.

Chris Brown instructed students in English and at the same time included Bible truths in the lessons.

Money Problems Solved

After feeling the peace and security that God wanted them to go to Japan, the three students had a challenging task of raising their support money. The cost: approximately $3,000 each. There were anxious times when money deadlines were approaching but no money was on hand. Chris Brown shares, "I admit I had doubts and became skeptical about the needed finances, but I found encouragement from Phillipians 4:6, 7 where we are instructed to make all our requests made known unto God. I did and the money came in!"

Speaking engagements, prayer letters, friends, family and gifts from the Bible College's Summer Missionary Fellowship all helped to bring in the needed funds. Word of mouth was also a source of incoming support. Martha Boyer remembers receiving money from a Japanese girl living in Chicago. She had heard about Martha going to Japan and wanted to help as she could.

On Their Own

If our three students thought their faith was tested in the money raising experience, they had no idea how much faith and trust it would take when in Japan . . . separated from each other and basically on their own! Many adjustments had to be made!

Martha taught English classes in two different churches on the island of Shikoku and lived with four church families during her stay. Her biggest adjustment was the food. "As much as I love those people, I just cannot handle their food! It's not like good 'ol hamburger."

"Like A Child"

Chris taught English at a Japanese National Church and lived with the pastor and his family. Chris's big adjustment was the fact that he was 21 years old but had to follow a very childlike routine. "The people I lived with were responsible for me. They wanted to know where I was going, when I would be back, etc. . . . Of course, I was a little embarrassed when I took the wrong train one evening and became totally lost. I had to call the pastor and tell him I was lost, like a child, and had no idea how to get back to the church." Chris finds humor in the situation now, but at the time it was another test of faith!

Also involved in teaching English classes, Mary lived in a Sunday School room in the church. "When I first arrived the only piece of furniture in my room was a mattress. Gradually more pieces were added and by the time I was to leave I had a nice homey room." Mary's big adjustment was getting used to eating alone. "Individuals would bring my meals to my room and then leave. It was some time before anyone joined me! I must admit it was lonely."

The Blessings

Mary, Chris and Martha all maintained hectic schedules in working in the church and with the English programs, but the blessings and rewards by far made up for the hectic pace.

Highlights of the journey included the opportunity for Chris to preach his first sermon. "I knew they couldn't understand me, but it was exciting to know that we were different, but we were worshipping and honoring the same great God!"

Summer camp was a real blessing for Martha. She had the chance to talk with several young girls and share the message of salvation. "The young people really don't know what to believe concerning religion. They are surrounded by so many traditions. It was special for me to share with the girls at camp. I have received some very positive and encouraging mail from them. The seed has been planted."

Mary's Japan experience was highlighted in many ways. One time one of her unsaved students asked her to pray that he would be able to find a job. When other students heard him ask for prayer they too asked Mary to pray for them. "Many of my students were unsaved. They knew I was different . . . not so much by what I said, but by my actions." By the way, the student did find a good job!

Mary also had the joy of teaching a delightful 48 year old Christian man. Through the man's dedication, by the end of the summer he could communicate almost anything in English. "It was through this man's dedication, Christian example and the working of the Holy Spirit that his son accepted Christ as his Savior during summer camp. What a thrill! What an answer to prayer!"

All three summer missionaries agree that spending their summer in Japan was no waste of time. Mary shares, "I believe we could all say we grew in many ways by being away from the ordinary and living in the different. My eyes were opened much wider and my horizons were broadened."

Feeling The Burden

Working closely with the Japanese people left a real burden with Mary, Chris and Martha as they left the country. Chris reflects, "We have always heard that millions of Japanese people need to hear the 'Good News.' My stay in Japan helped me to realize that the statistics are made up of real people. They have names. They have needs!"

Our three summer missionaries are back home now involved in classes and campus activities, but they all confess that often thoughts of Japan and its people come to mind. Mary sums up their feelings quite adequately, "What can I say except I want to go back!"

FWBC-JTS, A Cross Cultural Bond

For those students involved in the missions program at Fort Wayne Bible College, cross-cultural experiences are an important element in their preparation for the mission field. Few programs within the Department of Missions have provided such rich cross-cultural experiences as the one that has existed between Jamaica Theological Seminary in Kingston, Jamaica and Fort Wayne Bible College.

Eleven students from FWBC and seven JTS students have participated in a Student Exchange Program since its inception in 1974. All have had to face cultural, social, and educational challenges during their involvement as well as adapting to different weather patterns (the temperature in Kingston, for instance, rarely gets below 67 degrees).

The intent of the exchange program is to provide a closer relationship between the two institutions, advance the spiritual ministry of each student in his cross cultural experience, and to stimulate greater interest by students in international Christian ministries.

The two institutions, although at a similar academic level, differ in a number of respects. For one thing, the educational system of Jamaica is basically British. JTS operates on a three term academic year while FWBC has a two semester system. The student body at JTS is much smaller than FWBC and the average age of third year students at JTS is approximately 27 years old while at FWBC it is 20 years old. The exchange students are normally third year students in the program and return to their respective colleges to complete their education.

Currently enrolled in JTS from Fort Wayne Bible College is Tommy Logan, a junior from Sanford, North Carolina, majoring in Missions. His counterpart is Donovan Coley, a native of Spanish Town, Jamaica, who has completed two years at JTS. While at FWBC, Donovan has played varsity soccer while majoring in Biblical Studies.

Others from FWBC who have participated in the exchange program since its beginning are:

1974-75	Mark Masterson
1975-76	Barry Burnside
1976-77	Cindy Hoffbauer
	Terry Bovinet
1977-78	Rex Kiefer
1978-79	Russell Strickler
1979-80	Juanita Baker
	Samuel Schlatter
1980-81	Jerry Ann Heiser
1981-82	Dwight Silvers

Another evidence of the strong ties between FWBC and JTS is that a 1951 Bible College graduate, Zenas Gerig, is its president. President Gerig is married to the former Esther Lehman, a 1952 grad. In addition, Roger Ringenberg, class of 1969, is the seminary's academic dean. His wife, the former Carol Steiner, attended FWBC, 1965-66.

News In Brief

FRIENDS OF FWBC MEET

Friends of FWBC (formerly Auxiliary) met on September 27 in Founders Auditorium with a record attendance of 105.

Each one was challenged and inspired by the music of Maria Gardner, Char Binkley speaking on "Did I Hear You Talking to Yourself?", Sue Wong with her flute and Dr. Bostrom with a college update.

Not only has the Auxiliary changed its name, but participation is now open to any Christian (including men) who has the interest of the College at heart. Friends of FWBC welcome your prayer support, scholarship contributions and participation in its ministries.

FWBC REPRESENTED AT AABC ANNUAL CONVENTION

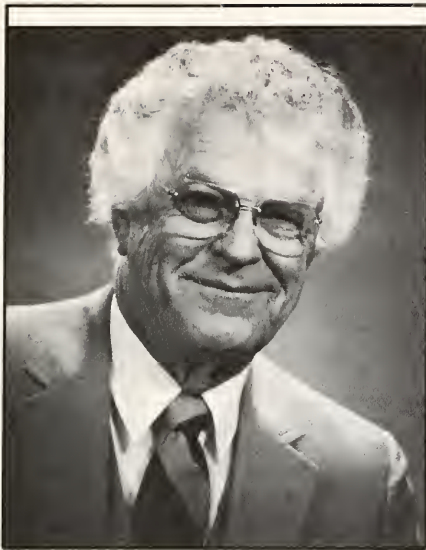

Rev. Bill Gerig, Director of Correspondence Studies, Dr. Ted Nickel, Professor of Education, and Dr. Dick Dugan, Academic Dean, attended the AABC Annual Convention in Kansas City. The convention marked the retirement of President John Mostert. Featured at the retirement banquet were taped greetings and a slide from Fort Wayne Bible College's chancellor, Jared Gerig, who was also one of the founders of the AABC.

FWBC PROFESSOR ATTENDS SUMMIT CONFERENCE

President's Perspective

Dear Alumni:

This past November and December I visited with FWBC alumni in Iowa, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas and Florida. Not only were they widely separated by miles, but the age span was great as well. Mr. Amstutz in St. Petersburg is 91, graduated from FWBC in 1914 and is currently teaching a Sunday School class. At the younger end of the spectrum were Peggy and Duane Hunt who graduated in 1981 and are serving the church in Bedford, Iowa. Within the last year I have had correspondence with Mrs. Mary Lee Tung who graduated from our school in 1924 and has lived ever since in the heart of Mainland China. There is a constant flow of FWBC alumni to our campus — some to minister, some to visit old (?) friends, and others stop by "just to see how things are going." These contacts provide me with rich perspectives. All of this I use as I seek to provide leadership for the next few years, as the Lord tarries. As the opportunity afforded itself I have asked the following questions: What did you think of your education at FWBC? Do you feel the school, as best it could, prepared you for life and ministry? Who or what at FWBC made the greatest impact on your life? Some answers have been quite critical and others have been quite supportive. This is to be expected, for we are all human and we are all in the process of growth.

Let me ask you to take time to write me indicating your answers to the above questions and sharing anything else that you feel would be helpful for me as I continue to formulate the president's perspective.

Some 100 pastors from the Fort Wayne area attended Pastors' Day at the college during the Annual Fall Campus Days celebration in October. Eleven established scholarship endowments with Fort Wayne Bible College made it possible for the college to award monetary scholarships to 19 students for the 1982-83 academic year. The official Scholarship Chapel was held on October 5.

The Roy Meyer Scholarship, given to a junior or senior man who displays the Christian character exhibited by the late Roy Meyer, was awarded to Craig Vincent, a senior majoring in Christian education.

Two students were recipients of the Theodore Hirschy Scholarship awarded in December. The recipients were Angie Stroup, senior, and Bob Herman, junior. The Hirschy Scholarship is awarded to a child of a pastor or missionary, or to students who are involved in the pastoral or missions majors and are preparing for a career of Christian ministry.

Melodie Nelson, a junior majoring in music education, was awarded the Philip Scholarship on the potential of her ability to share her faith with others.

The Ira Gerig Scholarship was given to senior Rolin Mains. The award is given to a student who has a positive commitment to active discipleship and an appreciation for the use of music in worship and witness.

Diana Cummins, a junior in the missions program, was awarded the Jewel Ache Scholarship. The award is given to a junior or senior who evidences purpose toward missions.

The Hogue Scholarship was given to Chris Givler, senior, and Allen Sudmann, senior. The candidates for this scholarship must be a junior or senior preparing for full-time Christian service.

John Mabe, a sophomore, was awarded the Poorman Scholarship. This scholarship is given to a student enrolled in the pastoral ministries or missions program and is committed to a career in full-time Christian service.

The Arman Steiner Scholarship, given to a student who is preparing to serve as a missionary or minister, was given to two young men, Thomas Christen, a sophomore majoring in pastoral ministries, and Ray Hylton, a sophomore also majoring in pastoral ministries.

Scholarships given by "Friends of F.W.B.C." (formerly F.W.B.C. Auxiliary) are awarded to students on the basis of spiritual growth and consistent Christian testimony, academic achievement, special ability and outstanding traits of personality. This year's recipients were Laura Coffman, senior; John Hughes, senior; Jeanine Klay, junior; Rhonda Lehmann, junior; and Alan Steiner, junior.

Sandra Carpenter, a junior majoring in elementary education, received the Kenton Gerig Scholarship on the basis of her Christian character and leadership ability.

A new scholarship endowment given out during the Scholarship Chapel was the John L. and Mary Ramseyer Scholarship. The award is available to all full-time FWBC students. This year's recipients were Brad Byerly, senior, and David Gruber, junior.

Readers Have An Opportunity To Underwrite Pulse/Lifelines

Some readers of PULSE/LIFELINES may have wondered why the magazine is only issued three times a year when it was previously published four times annually. Basically, the answer is budget as increased spending limitations during 1982-83 made it necessary to reduce publication costs.

Other options to save money that were explored included reducing the quality of paper, reducing the number of pages per issue, eliminating photography, and the use of in-house, as opposed to outside, typesetting. All of these options would have afforded some savings but nowhere as meaningful as the elimination of one issue per year. Another obvious saving is in the postage costs.

The circulation of PULSE/LIFELINES is approximately 19,000. It is sent, free of charge, to alumni, constituents, missionaries, donors, and friends of the college. The annual budget, including postage, is about $17,000 for three issues. Because PULSE/LIFELINES is the major on-going contact the college has with many of you, we would like to go back to a four-issue format per year. In order to do this, we need your help. Your financial help. We are seeking a $5.00 contribution from you, our readers, to offset PULSE/LIFELINES publication expenses which would enable us to print a fourth issue each year. If you feel led to contribute to this cause, please use the postage-paid envelope in the middle of this issue to mail in your contribution. Thank you.

From The Director

Alumni Director

Winter has arrived in Fort Wayne. It is cold and snowy outside, but thank God for the warmth inside Witmer Hall and also in our lives. The furnace makes the difference inside the building and Jesus Christ makes the difference in us!

This has been a good semester. Our young people seem to realize that they are here for a purpose. This makes the atmosphere on campus very contagious.

We had a good day November 20 at the basketball reunion. Sammy Williams directed the alumni to a win over the intramural all stars, but the Bible College varsity defeated the alumni team, coached by Ken Conrad. The alumni team missed the skills of Mickey Mills, who helped coach the varsity team, and others who did not return. The dinner and program following the games were enjoyed by those who were able to attend. Men who were here to play were: Bill Campbell, Scott Dell, Randy Fudge, Todd Habegger, Dan McMillan, Donald Moore, Mickey Mills, Gordon Nickel, Verlin Rice, Cal Rychener, Steven Rupp, Tom Rust, Bill Sanders, Rich Sommer, Bill Stabler, Ed Weirrick, and Sam Williams.

Dr. Bostrom shared with alumni and friends on December 4 in the Newton, Kansas, area. A thank you to Martha Fiedler, the area representative, and Pastor John Horning, for planning a good evening.

Plans are in the making for alumni rallies in the following places:

Florida	- Feb. 25 -	St. Petersburg
Ohio	- Mar. 8 -	Pettisville
Indiana	- Mar. 8 -	Elkhart
Pennsylvania	- Mar. 8 -	York
Indiana	- Mar. 15 -	Mooreville
Ohio	- Apr. 16 -	Dayton
Ohio	- Apr. 18 -	Alger
Illinois	- June 23 -	Carbondale

This new found faith has made George more aware of the many ways he "could do unto the Lord" and he wishes more people would take the opportunity to seek out ways in which they could also put their gifts to use, whether they are "retired" or not.

For George Monk being a volunteer at Fort Wayne Bible College has been a significant experience. His contribution, along with others who have given of themselves to the college, cannot be computed in dollars and cents. Only they know the blessings they have received as a result but the heartbeat of the ministry of the college becomes that much stronger because of them.

erience and expertise of a master craftsman who wants to "do unto the Lord."

"Liking To Do"

George Monk is a volunteer. He says he's never done anything in his life that he "didn't like to do" and volunteering his service in the college maintenance department is what he's "liking to do" right now. "I officially retired in 1981 and the Lord has blessed me with good health and certain gifts," George says, and his supervisor in the maintenance department, Eddie Reynolds, couldn't agree more.

"He called in here one day last summer looking for a part-time job and I told him that I couldn't afford to hire anyone right now," Eddie said. "He said he didn't want any money, he just wanted to help the college."

Since August, George has worked a schedule of six hours a day for two days a week. He's been involved in cabinet making, repair of tables and chairs in the dining room, construction of shelves and racks for the library and some paneling. "The other day," says Eddie, "George mentioned he also had some experience in plastering work. It's hard to keep up with everything that man can do."

Fringe Benefits

For George, his volunteer work at FWBC has been a blessing both to him and his wife, Kay. "I've just had a delightful time working with the maintenance staff and I have benefitted so much from associating with the students."

Eleven established scholarship endowments with Fort Wayne Bible College made it possible for the college to award monetary scholarships to 19 students for the 1982-83 academic year. The official Scholarship Chapel was held on October 5.

The Roy Meyer Scholarship, given to a junior or senior man who displays the Christian character exhibited by the late Roy Meyer, was awarded to Craig Vincent, a senior majoring in Christian education.

Two students were recipients of the Theodore Hirschy Scholarship awarded in December. The recipients were Angie Stroup, senior, and Bob Herman, junior. The Hirschy Scholarship is awarded to a child of a pastor or missionary, or to students who are involved in the pastoral or missions majors and are preparing for a career of Christian ministry.

Melodie Nelson, a junior majoring in music education, was awarded the Philip Scholarship on the potential of her ability to share her faith with others.

The Ira Gerig Scholarship was given to senior Rolin Mains. The award is given to a student who has a positive commitment to active discipleship and an appreciation for the use of music in worship and witness.

Diana Cummins, a junior in the missions program, was awarded the Jewel Ache Scholarship. The award is given to a junior or senior who evidences purpose toward missions.

The Hogue Scholarship was given to Chris Givler, senior, and Allen Sudmann, senior. The candidates for this scholarship must be a junior or senior preparing for full-time Christian service.

John Mabe, a sophomore, was awarded the Poorman Scholarship. This scholarship is given to a student enrolled in the pastoral ministries or missions program and is committed to a career in full-time Christian service.

“Doing Unto The Lord”: A Volunteer’s Story

George Monk

George Monk is like a lot of retired people these days; he can hardly find time to retire. For George, the word “retired” is just another way of saying that he doesn’t work for money anymore and, as a result, Fort Wayne Bible College has gained the experience and expertise of a master craftsman who wants to “do unto the Lord.”

“Liking To Do”

George Monk is a volunteer. He says he’s never done anything in his life that he “didn’t like to do” and volunteering his service in the college maintenance department is what he’s “liking to do” right now. “I officially retired in 1981 and the Lord has blessed me with good health and certain gifts,” George says, and his supervisor in the maintenance department, Eddie Reynolds, couldn’t agree more.

“He called in here one day last summer looking for a part-time job and I told him that I couldn’t afford to hire anyone right now,” Eddie said. “He said he didn’t want any money, he just wanted to help the college.”

Since August, George has worked a schedule of six hours a day for two days a week. He’s been involved in cabinet making, repair of tables and chairs in the dining room, construction of shelves and racks for the library and some paneling. “The other day,” says Eddie, “George mentioned he also had some experience in plastering work. It’s hard to keep up with everything that man can do.”

Fringe Benefits

For George, his volunteer work at FWBC has been a blessing both to him and his wife, Kay. “I’ve just had a delightful time working with the maintenance staff and I have benefitted so much from associating with the students.”

George said he first became acquainted with the college on a meaningful basis when he and his wife, Kay, volunteered to work behind the scenes for the WBCL Marathon drive. And, typically, he was doing some volunteer work at the Dove’s Nest, a Fort Wayne-based self-help store, when he decided, as he puts it, “to give the college a call and see if they could use me.” “I didn’t want just any old volunteer work, I wanted to feel a part of the organization.” That’s just what he’s found at Fort Wayne Bible College. Eddie says he has seen George with tears in his eyes after listening to the testimony of one of the students working along side him.

A Varied Career

Throughout his 66 years, George said he feels like he’s about done it all. He was a fireman for 21 years in his native Windsor, Canada, he has been an administrator for a couple of nursing homes, involved in the manufacturing of ice cream, ran a paint store, worked as a construction foreman, and as a bank maintenance director, and for a time, as a salesman for a building supply firm.

Since “retiring” George said he has had more time to devote to his real passion, water skiing. “Every summer I try to get to the lake four or five times a week.” In order to do this so often, George has trained a group of his neighborhood young people to drive the boat pulling the skis. In the winter, he turns his attention to rollerskiing.

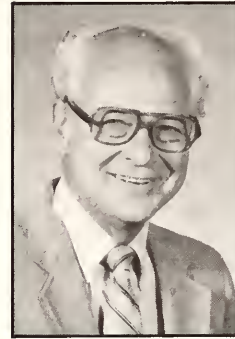

George said he acknowledged Christ at the age of 18 but says he never really accepted Jesus as his personal Lord and Savior until he and his wife attended a Lay Witness Weekend at their church in Fort Wayne only a couple of years ago. Kay accepted Christ into her life at that time also.

This new found faith has made George more aware of the many ways he “could do unto the Lord” and he wishes more people would take the opportunity to seek out ways in which they could also put their gifts to use, whether they are “retired” or not.

For George Monk being a volunteer at Fort Wayne Bible College has been a significant experience. His contribution, along with others who have given of themselves to the college, cannot be computed in dollars and cents. Only they know the blessings they have received as a result but the heartbeat of the ministry of the college becomes that much stronger because of them.

From The Director

Alumni Director

Winter has arrived in Fort Wayne. It is cold and snowy outside, but thank God for the warmth inside Witmer Hall and also in our lives. The furnace makes the difference inside the building and Jesus Christ makes the difference in us!

This has been a good semester. Our young people seem to realize that they are here for a purpose. This makes the atmosphere on campus very contagious.

We had a good day November 20 at the basketball reunion. Sammy Williams directed the alumni to a win over the intramural all stars, but the Bible College varsity defeated the alumni team, coached by Ken Conrad. The alumni team missed the skills of Mickey Mills, who helped coach the varsity team, and others who did not return. The dinner and program following the games were enjoyed by those who were able to attend. Men who were here to play were: Bill Campbell, Scott Dell, Randy Fudge, Todd Habegger, Dan McMillan, Donald Moore, Mickey Mills, Gordon Nickel, Verlin Rice, Cal Rychener, Steven Rupp, Tom Rust, Bill Sanders, Rich Sommer, Bill Stabler, Ed Weirrick, and Sam Williams.

Dr. Bostrom shared with alumni and friends on December 4 in the Newton, Kansas, area. A thank you to Martha Fiedler, the area representative, and Pastor John Horning, for planning a good evening.

Plans are in the making for alumni rallies in the following places:

Florida	- Feb. 25 -	St. Petersburg
Ohio	- Mar. 8 -	Pettisville
Indiana	- Mar. 8 -	Elkhart
Pennsylvania	- Mar. 8 -	York
Indiana	- Mar. 15 -	Mooresville
Ohio	- Apr. 16 -	Dayton
Ohio	- Apr. 18 -	Alger
Illinois	- June 23 -	Carbondale

Giving What God Has Given

"Yes, God will give you much so that you can give away much, and when we take your gifts to those who need them they will break out into thanksgiving and praise to God for your help. So, two good things happen as a result of your gifts — those in need are helped, and they overflow with thanks to God."

II Corinthians 9:11, 12 (LB)

We at Fort Wayne Bible College have literally broken out in praise and thanksgiving as we have experienced God's faithfulness in supplying our needs. Countless examples of God's bounteous blessings come to mind. Just as I pen these words we are experiencing a tremendous blessing in our Annual WBCL Sharathon. We have experienced again, as we have every year, the overwhelming joy of exceeding our goal with rich overflowing. God's people have banded together in the offering of worship and praise.

II Corinthians 9:11, 12 depicts the beauty of sharing what God has so graciously given. This scripture displays in a very vivid way the blessing that transforms from the act of giving. The happiness experienced by God's people sharing from their resources is unsurpassed by any other action.

Another prime example of the joy of giving experienced by the college was when four separate pieces of real estate appraised at over $100,000 were donated in recent months. The properties are a residence in Groveland, Illinois; two improved building lots in the Amber Ridge Addition in southwest Fort Wayne; and a building lot in Cherokee Village Subdivision in Fulton County, Arkansas. If you would be interested in purchasing any one of these properties or would like to obtain further information, please contact the FWBC Development Office.

Many individuals are unaware of the possibilities a real estate gift can offer. A gift of real estate can take on various forms and offer many important advantages to the donor. In addition to outright gifts, there are possible gifts of partial or undivided interest, creation of a charitable or a remainder trust, bargain sales, gifts of remainder interest or the use of real estate to fund an annuity. Also, if the property is appreciated in value our law allows the donor to obtain income tax advantages by avoiding capital gains tax due if the property were sold. Other advantages are often realized by the savings of administrative expenses, court costs and estate taxes.

Maybe you have an interest or are curious about gifts of real estate. If so, we have a book we would like to send to you. You may request the book or our personal services by using the envelope enclosed in this issue of PULSE/LIFELINES. You may also contact our Development Office by calling (219) 456-2111, ext. 249.

I would encourage you, as a steward, to seek God's guidance and knowledge in how you could use your real estate to further the advancement of His Ministry. Perhaps you have a piece of property you just do not know what to do with. Please consider asking the Lord what He would have you do in light of His plan. I am sure when you do you will experience the heavenly joy of II Corinthians 9:11, 12.

Alumni Banquet Set for May 6

The annual gathering of the Fort Wayne Bible College alumni is scheduled for May 6, the eve of the college's 75th Commencement.

This year's banquet will center around the theme "God's Measure for Ministry." The theme is in keeping with the students' theme verse, "He has showed you, O man, what is good, and what does the Lord require of you? To act justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with your God." (Micah 6:8)

The special evening will begin with a Fellowship Hour at 5:00 p.m. with the traditional Banquet beginning at 6:00 p.m. Classes through 1965 will eat in the college cafeteria while classes from 1966 to 1983 will dine in the Fellowship Hall at the First Missionary Church.

A program especially designed for the entertainment and enjoyment of the alumni will take place at 8:00 p.m. in Founders Auditorium. The evening will include talented students from the senior class and musical presentations by the FWBC Band. Also during this time, Howard Dunlap, Director of Alumni/Church Relations, will present awards to outstanding seniors and President Bostrom will give a college update.

The cost for the Banquet is $7.50 each. Note this is the same price as last year! Reservation deadline for the Alumni Banquet is May 4, so register today for a great time of fellowship. If there are any questions contact the FWBC Alumni Office.

Class reunions are in the making for the classes of '33, Don Schindler, President; '43, Ralph Ringenberg, President; '48, Paul Erdel, President; '58, John Zurcher, President; and '73, Dennis Magary, President.

Note also that WBCL's broadcasting on May 6, Alumni Day, will be underwritten by the FWBC Alumni Association.

Rev. Sylvan Lehman

"Grandmother signaled her approval for me to attend the Fort Wayne Bible Training Institute and so I was on my way!"

Raised on a farm in Berne, Indiana, our featured alumnus, Rev. Sylvan Lehman, clearly remembers the hesitancy his Christian parents displayed when he introduced the idea of attending the Training Institute, upon personal word from Grandma, Elizabeth Lehman, giving her A-OK, Sylvan enrolled and three years later became a graduate of the class of 1929!

As a teenager our featured alumnus gave thought and consideration to full-time ministry and through the inspiration of Sunday School and a guest minister, Sylvan felt the need to study the Bible extensively and that was what brought him to Fort Wayne.

Sylvan shared with a chuckle in his voice, "I learned much at Fort Wayne . . . I even learned to study! I remember flunking my first two history tests. The final examination was quickly approaching and I must say I was getting worried. My professor, Effie Smith, informed me I would pass the class

Featured Alumnus: Sylvan Lehman

"It's Been A Great Life"

if I would study and do well on the exam. I actually did study and I also passed the exam!"

Sylvan discovered many truths and obtained valuable training at the Training Institute. Since his graduation his life has been filled to capacity with fulfilling God's plan for his life . . . ministering. He and his wife, the former Selma Yoder, began their ministry together with the Mennonite General Conference at the Smith Corner Church.

"A real highlight for us at Smith Corner was when Daddy Ramseyer came and spoke to the congregation. We really felt privileged to have him share with us!"

From the Smith Corner Church the Lehman's traveled to Lancaster County, PA and ministered at Mechanic's Grove for nine years. From there they journeyed to Lima, Ohio where they took on the challenge of Lima's First Mennonite Church. Eighteen years were spent nurturing and encouraging the work. When the Lehmans left First Mennonite to assume administrative responsibilities at the Mennonite Memorial Home of Bluffton, Ohio, the church was growing and self-supporting.

While dedicated to ministering in the various churches, Sylvan also took on the responsibilities of President of the Eastern District in 1942 and '43, and President of the Middle District of the General Conference of Mennonites in 1946 and '47, not to mention also serving as the Secretary of the Middle District at one time. His leadership in these roles was characterized by quality and gained the respect of hundreds.

In 1973, after ten years at Bluffton, the Lehmans resigned. It was also in that year that Selma was tragically killed in a car accident. Her death was a traumatic loss for Sylvan and for their friends!

Leaving Bluffton, Sylvan made Grabill, Indiana his home and became involved in the ministry of Fort Wayne's Brookside Evangelical Mennonite Church. In 1978 he began working with the senior citizens of the church and outside of the church. Approaching 80 years old he is busy visiting and ministering to the Brookside senior citizens throughout the week and whenever there is a real need.

Sylvan also keeps himself active by spending time with his five children, three of whom are FWBC graduates, and twelve grandchildren. He recently traveled to Switzerland and also visited Kenya, Africa with his daughter, Virginia.

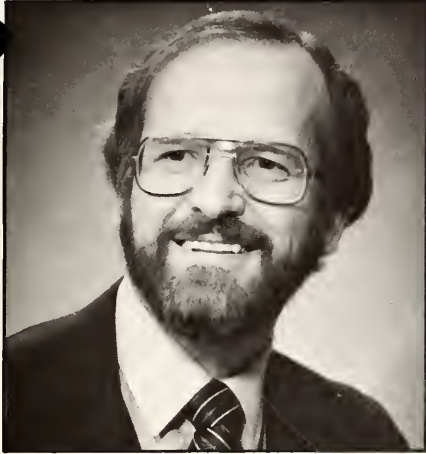

Sylvan enthusiastically reports that God has given him a great life! One of the richest blessings he says is seeing all his children either interested or active in Christian work. "My children have been a real asset to my ministry. They were real troopers in the church as young people and are still interested in God's work!"

Sylvan never dreamed that as a young man, desiring to further God's ministry, that his life would be filled with numerous opportunities to do just that — to proclaim the good news and lead others to do likewise.

"God has always had a place for me to be and a task for me to do and I did and am still doing my best to fulfill His plan."

"My, but God has given me a great life!"
