THE SEASON OPENS

Already the Stars and Stripes may be seen floating above a considerable number of camps, cottages and bungalows, showing that the Summer Season has really opened in Casco Bay. Summer visitors, campers, cottagers and hotel men should bear in mind that in addition to carrying an extensive line of society and commercial stationery, we undertake anything in the line of printing, making a specialty of Letter Heads, Bill Heads, Envelopes, and similar business stationery. We shall this season, as in previous years, give the most careful attention to our "down the bay" trade.

Bailey Island's New Bridge.

WORK MAY BE STARTED THIS SUMMER.

Much Satisfaction Expressed by Islanders in Expected Benefit.

Awaiting permission from the U. S. government engineers, the Bailey Orr's island bridge seems assured of completion within a few months if work can be begun this summer. The specifications which have been accepted by the town, call for granite face walls filled with beach stone and with a gravel road bed 18 feet wide. The bridge proper will be a 30 foot draw over the narrow channel and the approaching abutments will have a length of 1150 feet, making 1180 feet in all from shore to shore, at high water mark. A few feet of graded approach only will be necessary at each end of the masonry. There are two natural ledges on which the masonry at each end of the draw will rest. The space called for at high water under the draw is 5 feet, so that a cabin boat or power boat may go through at any time of tide. The bridge will have a pipe iron railing on both sides, the full length. The draw will bear a minimum weight of four tons. The first proposition for a concrete bridge was given up as impractical in this case.

It is proposed to have a draw tender who will be ready at all times to open the draw for all craft that require it.

This bridge which may cost $28,000, as the town has appropriated that sum, but probably can be built for $18,000, will open the north end of the island to building purposes and a heavy traffic over the new highway is predicted at once. The grant from the legislature of 28 years ago was found to be legally good, and every one interested now awaits the laying of the first stone. Bailey Island will have the largest distance to cover to approach the draw.

Casco Bay House.

LONG ISLAND HOTEL OPENED FOR SUMMER MONTHS.

Indications are Most Satisfactory for a Successful Season.

Proprietor Charles E. Cushing of the well and favorably known Casco Bay House of this island has everything ready for the care of summer tourists. The necessary work needing attention about the hotel, pavilion and property has received the careful detail which is in keeping with the up-to-date policy pursued here. This hotel yearly entertains a high class of tourists, many families spending the entire summer at the hotel. Montreal, Washington and New York furnish many of the patrons, while a number are recorded from the west and southern states. The dining table will be maintained at its usual high order, and the best markets offer, together with sea food in abundance are served here always. Mr. Cushing has many of his best rooms already reserved, and several of them for the entire season. At the pavilion already several organizations have been entertained. This popular dining quarters will cater to a larger number than ever before. Organizations visiting Portland are more and more including a day at Long Island with a shore dinner at the pavilion in their itinerary. Mr. Thomas Casey of Beverly, Mass., is the clerk at the hotel again this year. His host of loyal friends will be glad to meet his pleasant smile and courteous attentions.

Hill Crest.

LEADING HOTEL ON CHEBEAGUE ISLAND IS NOW OPEN FOR TOURISTS.

Many Important Improvements Made During the Last Season.

The popular Hill Crest hotel of Great Chebeague island is now open for the season and within its hospitable doors, are already a number of tourists. This hotel has, during the last three years, undergone many alterations and improvements, chiefly among them being the installing of a complete sewerage system and plumbing devices of the very latest design. Baths and toilets are installed on all the sleeping floors, and all the furnishings and appointments are the best obtainable. The hotel and annexes have received the personal care of the management and the furnishings of the building are homelike, comfortable and clean. The grounds adjoining the property have received every needed attention and the tennis courts are in readiness for the devotees of this pastime. Mr. Walter C. Rogers of Boston, Mass., well and favorably known to the majority of the guests will this season be in charge of the social affairs of the hotel. Mr. Rogers is a pianist of exceptional ability and with his knowledge of social requirements, the hotel functions will be all that one could wish. Mr. Charles W. Hamilton, the proprietor of the hotel will personally be in charge of the Peaks Island House.

NINTH YEAR OPENS TO-DAY UNDER MANAGEMENT OF RALPH E. ROWE.

Some Unusually Neat Advertising Matter. Salient Points of Excellence Noted.

The employees and the first season guests at the Peaks Island House today will congratulate Manager Ralph E. Rowe as he opens the hotel for the ninth consecutive summer under his management. To say in a few words all that this means to the guests of the house, all that it must mean to the corporation owning the property, and all that it means to the army of business men and newspaper men with whom Mr. Rowe comes in contact through the summer, would be a task beyond the ability of any, even of the latter class. A dozen newspaper columns might well be filled with eulogies of this nature, had we the space to furnish for interviews with those who would seek the opportunity at once.

The advantages offered to summer tourists at any hotel are doubly enhanced by the certainty that one need not expect a new, untried management, but may depend on the ripe judgment and careful attention which experience and rare ability bring to such a well-appointed hotel as the Peaks Island House.

Among the greater attractions of the hotel are its entertainments, which are given on a more lavish scale than at any other house in the Bay. Almost every evening there is something to take up the time. An excellent orchestra, retained for the season furnishes high class music at dinner and also for evening dances. Eminent soloists, artists from different parts of the country who are sojourning in the Bay, are obtained frequently. Manager Rowe varies the dances, card parties, music recitals and other entertainments so well that each week is a revelation. Automobile parties now frequent the Peaks Island House, coming out to the island by ferry, and by this means the advantage of really getting away from the mainland, yet having the means of taking their car and driving to any point after a short ferry run.

The dining room at the Peaks Island House is its manager's chief pride and any suggestion of receding from its recognized high standard is received with little favor by him. "This," says Manager Rowe, "is the last place to cut expenses." The returning hundreds of guests who repeat their visits year after year, show the wisdom of this axiom.

The Peaks Island House accommodates 500 guests. Mr. Rowe has issued some new and very attractive booklets and advertising matter which will be sent anywhere on request.

Thousands In Improvements.

EASTERN LANDING, CHEBEAGUE, GETS BENEFIT OF H. W. CALDWELL'S ENTERPRISES.

Large Casino Building and Dance Hall, Extension of Bowling Pavilion, Etc.

All Chebeague and the nearby islands will profit greatly by the important improvements which are being made on the property of Henry W. Caldwell at Eastern Landing. This exceptional tract of land is being developed in ways which are unusual in that instead of accruing entirely to the benefit of the owner, the thought goes out to supply to summer means of adding to the value of every man's property on the island. For instance, a wide tract of land, which was entirely available for cottage sites and would have been sold for this purpose by the former owners of the property has been given up to make a base ball diamond, out of which it is doubtful if Mr. Caldwell will receive a penny himself, judging from base ball receipts at the old diamond. It will, however, provide a field where grand stands and bleachers will be built and patrons of the game may enjoy the interesting sport between the island and summer resident teams with comfort. A little distance away another tract of level land has been opened for the new casino building which will measure 52 x 68 feet on the ground and will have a dancing surface of 36 x 45 feet. A three piece orchestra will furnish music for dances three evenings a week, probably Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. If the public demands it the other three nights will be devoted to either high class moving pictures or private dances, or any general purpose. A stage and two dressing rooms will provide the necessary accommodations for theatricals, which have heretofore been given in the dimly lighted town hall. Three double tennis courts complete the work which is being done outside the large addition which has been built on the Bowling pavilion. This gives the space for two more No. 1 Brunswick-Balke al-management and the outlook for a prosperous and pleasurable season is already assured.

leys and a seating space on the side. The total measurements of the building are now 70 x 100 feet, this providing room for the shooting gallery on the right, which has been newly floored, and is lighted from above by skylights. Mr. Caldwell says that although these improvements are costly, he thinks Chebeague should be in advance of the growth of summer business, which is bound to come here, and by securing these things now, the time will be hastened when Eastern Landing will be the most important in the Bay.

Merriconeag House.

BEAUTIFUL SCENERY AT SOUTH HARPSWELL WILL ATTRACT USUAL RUSH.

Proprietor Pierce Was Early on the Ground and House in Perfect Order.

Proprietor Pierce of the Merriconeag House at South Harpswell was down unusually early this spring and the lawn were shaven closely before June opened. The Merriconeag, now perhaps the most widely known summer hotel in Casco Bay, is a house of 80 many years' standing that its clientele is a fixture, practically speaking. Great natural advantages in its location bring to it a patronage which has always been of the best class. It is coolness, neatness and comfort everywhere from the broad veranda to the topmost room. Not an overgrown hostelry, but a place where the beauties of landscape and sea view are incomparable. The house stands on its own 14 acres of narrow peninsula with untrammelled access to two miles of its own shore on three sides. The bathing beach is in a sheltered cove right in front of the hotel. From the north side runs a good automobile road, 15 miles, through Harpswell to Brunswick. The steamer landing is within 2 minutes walk. Add to these advantages the carefully maintained cuisine and Mr. Pierce's genuine desire to please his patrons and the underlying cause for the long terms for which many of the guests annually engage rooms is seen. This year will prove no exception to the rule and everything is in perfect order for the early arrivals, some of whom have already registered.

Bailey Island

Charles S. Thomas, the bustling contractor of the island, has had his usual large force of experienced carpenters busy with the many contracts that he had to complete. Mr. Thomas is at present completing his fourth summer dwelling this spring. Mr. Andrew Gibson of North Andover, Mass., is having a fine six-room bungalow built on his land on Summer Hill, the same to be ready July 4. Mr. Henry Fox of Portland has likewise had a capacious six-room bungalow built on his property at the east end and the same is to be occupied by the owner, Mr. Lucius Shattuck of West Medford, Mass., has had a six-room cottage built on his land on Mackerel Cove shore, which the family will occupy this season. They were guests at the Seaside cottage last year and have many friends here, all of whom will be pleased to have them members of the summer colony.

Capt. David P. Sinnett, the veteran boat builder of the bay, is busier than ever this season. Recently he completed a fine 25-foot Casco Bay Hampton pleasure boat for George Bolton of Bowery Beach, Cape Elizabeth. Also for A. E. De Merritt of Boston, owner of Bombazine Island, New Meadows, a pleasure craft 25 feet long. At the workshop at the present time a crew are overhauling the pleasure craft "Esther," the property of Gilbert Hamilton of Littlejohn's Island. This boat was built here four years ago and is used exclusively by its owner for pleasure parties from that island. During the past six years at his workshop Mr. Sinnett has built seventy-two crafts of different designs and fifty dories, to say nothing of the great amount of repairing that is done here.

James G. Stetson and family arrived for the summer May 25 and opened the well-known candy and ice cream parlor near Mackerel Cove. Mr. Stetson will have an extra man after July 1, an ice-cream maker. His nephew Joseph Stetson, who is an expert candy maker, will be his active assistant in this department and a larger variety of home-made candies than ever will be carried.

Herbert F. Johnson has finished a 20-foot Hampton fishing boat for Scott Leeman. She is fitted with a 4 h. p. Casco engine made by Smith & Langmaid of Portland, who are putting in a number of engines about the bay which are giving excellent satisfaction.

The schooner Edmund F. Black, Capt. Nehemiah Orchard, has just finished her second halibut trip. She made $32 per man on this trip and $68 the first trip. The schooner Lochinar, Capt. John Toothaker of So. Harswell, made one trip and netted $30 per man. Three weeks are usually averaged on a trip.

George W. and John Johnson have stocked $496 since April 1 by boat fishing.

George S. Crafts was employed with Contractor Charles S. Thomas' crew during April and May while the former was rushed with work on summer estates.

A fine stone fireplace has been put in the living room of the new Lucius Shattuck cottage on Mackerel Cove. The Shattucks will arrive from West Medford this month. Mrs. Shattuck arrived about June 1.

E. E. Sinnett has painted his store and house this spring. He has also painted and varnished his auto delivery truck.

Elisha S. Leeman, road commissioner for Bailey Island, has been doing an excellent piece of work on the main road, practically the whole length of the island. In some places it has been almost doubled in width and much cutting and filling has been necessary on the upper end of the island. A road machine was scowed over and with several teams of horses and the necessary appliances, a creditable job has been done, giving a smooth surface which will be appreciated later when the new bridge is opened.

Miss Annie C. Colton of Arlington, Mass., arrived at the island on Tuesday of last week and opened up her pretty summer house "Morningside," for the season. Mrs. Colton has visited her as her guest at the present time, Miss W. Augusta Hathaway, also of Arlington, who is planning to stay for the entire summer season so as to derive all the pleasure obtainable from her stay at the island. Later in the month and around the first part of July Mrs. Colton is expecting several more guests to arrive for the months of July and August.

Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Tolman of Worcester, Mass., are occupying their summer home, "Overlook," on Summer Hill, having arrived here some time ago. They are staying with them Miss Addie Langrehr and Miss Emma Plaisted, both of Philadelphia. Mr. and Mrs. Tolman will only remain here during the rest of this month, when they return, but Miss Langrehr and Miss Plaisted will probably stay on during the balance of the season.

Mrs. William O. Ludlow of Madison, N. J., with her two children, David and William Ludlow, are occupying a cottage on Summer Hill, moving in a short time ago. Mrs. Ludlow will remain at Bailey's until the first of August, and before leaving for home will probably be joined here by Mr. Ludlow for a few days.

Mrs. David S. Barker of Montclair, N. J., has opened up her delightful summer home, "The Breakers," arriving at Bailey Island on Thursday, June 13. She is being visited by Mrs. John D. Blumoxe of Boonton, N. J., who will be her guest for a considerable time. Later on in the summer, Mrs. Barker is expecting to entertain Mr. and Mrs. Alfred F. D. Streuilli for some time.

Mrs. Clara Louise Burnham arrived at the island from her winter residence in Chicago on Monday of this week, and will occupy her charming summer home, "The Moorings," during the rest of the summer. Mrs. Burnham's coming will undoubtedly give great pleasure to all the residents of the island who know her, and there are not many who do not. She will certainly be accorded a hearty welcome back to Bailey's by her many friends in Casco Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Root and their family of New York City will be among those missing in the summer spending their vacation travelling in Europe and it is hardly possible they will spend any part of the summer here. Their absence will be a cause of considerable disappointment to their many acquaintances on Bailey's, as they always took a leading part in any social events or undertakings for the good of the community.

Mrs. L. B. Monroe of New York, arrived at the island on Saturday, June 8, and is now occupying her charming summer residence here for the remainder of the season. She was accompanied here by Miss Vivian Monroe, Miss Kristine Mann, and Master Monroe Barnard. On her trip up here Mrs. Monroe suffered considerable annoyance as a result of having three of her trunks go astray. Although they were at the Grand Central Station in New York four hours before the time when the train was scheduled to leave, through some piece of negligence they were not put on the train, and as a consequence, did not reach the island until some time after Mrs. Monroe.

Mrs. Sydney T. Skidmore of Philadelphia, made her arrival at Bailey Island for the remainder of the summer on Saturday, June 8, and is now comfortably ensconced once more in her charming home "Rose Lodge." Some time this week she expects to be joined by Mr. Skidmore who will turn his mind from his professional duties to the ever fresh delights of yachting in Casco Bay.

The many friends of Miss Carol Cushman will be indeed sorry to learn that they will not have the pleasure of her company here this summer. Miss Cushman intends to spend this year in the West.

Miss Amy Blanchard and Miss Ida Waugh will spend the summer this year in Miss Waugh's bungalow overlooking Little Harbor, after having passed the spring in their home in Redding Ridge, Conn. During the winter Miss Blanchard stayed further south in Montclair, N. J., where she finished two new books, "The Four Corners in Japan" and "The House that Jack Built." The first of these which is one of her "The Four Corners" series is now in the hands of the publisher, George W. Jacobs of Philadelphia. One of Miss Blanchard's latest works, "Wits End," which made its appearance last year, will be of special interest to Bailey Islanders, for the scene of the story is laid here and several of the characters in the story will be recognized under their literary veils. Miss Waugh, who spent the winter months with her brother, Mr. Fred Waugh, the famous marine artist, has been doing some notable work this year in portrait painting.

Mrs. C. J. Benson and family of Baltimore, Md., and Miss Fanny Ellsroad, also of Baltimore, arrived here this week and are looking forward to spending one of the most enjoyable summers in their experience amid the charms such as only Bailey Island can offer the summer visitor.

For cottage plumbing the firm of M. Ward and Son, here can certainly save you money. Their workshop here on the island enables them to do any work of this sort you may want done with skill and despatch. They are contractors for water supply outfits, windmills, tanks, pumps and pipe fittings and cottage plumbing is their specialty.

Go to R. S. Davis Company for exactly what you want in the line of furnishings for the cottage. adv. While preparing some lobsters for food, three weeks ago, Mr. George A. Johnson of this island ran a jagged piece of lobster shell into his right thumb, an accident which gave rise to an extremely painful and rather serious injury. The thumb swelled up badly and upon having it examined by a doctor, it was found that blood poisoning had set in. Dr. L. L. Hale of Great Chebeague Island has been giving treatment to the injured thumb and while Mr. Johnson is still suffering considerable pain and inconvenience because of his hurt, everything is getting along as well as could be expected and it is thought that Mr. Johnson is well upon the path of recovery. It is the sincere wish of all his many friends and acquaintances that it may not be long before he is entirely recovered and able to be about again.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Partington of Washington, D. C., arrived at Bailey Island the first part of last week and, contrary to their usual custom, expect to spend the entire season here, although there is a possibility that they may spend the latter part of the summer abroad. Mr. Partington is director of the National Park seminary, the famous girls' school just outside of Washington. It has been several years since Mr. and Mrs. Partington have made up their minds to spend a whole summer at Bailey's and it will certainly be a great source of pleasure to their friends among the summer residents to learn of their determination to stay here this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Brown of New York, and their two children, arrived at Bailey's on Friday, June 14, and during their stay here will occupy the Symonds cottage, so beautifully situated upon the bluff overlooking the entrance to Little Harbor. Mr. and Mrs. Brown are no strangers to the delights of Casco Bay as they have spent several seasons here on the West End of Great Chebeague. But this is their first experience at Bailey's and already they are perfectly delighted with the charms of the place. Mr. Brown is a prominent member of the New York bar and is the solicitor for the New York Central railroad.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Paton of Ware, Mass., moved into their wonderfully located summer residence at the extreme south end, a short time ago and will probably remain until later in the month of September. Mr. and Mrs. Paton have been coming to the island for several years, but each one only serves to make it more lovely and delightful to them.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Sleeper and Miss Doris Sleeper, of Lancaster, N. H., and Mrs. Sleeper's sister, Miss

B. A. Lyman, as usual arrived at the island far before most of the summer folks had even begun to look up the trains for Portland, and since May 16 they have been occupying their summer home "Restabit," so charmingly placed upon the shore of Mackerel Cove. The Sleepers always came early and go late, and with the aid of their splendid launch, they have no difficulty in making the long summer days pass all too quickly. Miss Sleeper is a pianist of marked ability and recently gave the 291st recital in Dr. Latham True's studio series at Portland. In this she played a program of Chopin and modern French compositions by Saint Saens, Debussy and Massenet, and her interpretation which was unusually rich in tone color and full of poetic feeling, as well as being in every way technically adequate, elicited frequent applause. This week she will take part in a piano quartet at Miss Helen Hill's recital in Saco, which will render two arrangements from the Wagnerian operas, one "Entrance of the Gods into Valhalla" from "Rheingold" and the other from "Die Walkure." Miss Sleeper is preparing to take the University of Toronto examinations for the other from "Die Walkure." Miss is also preparing to take her Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Wisconsin.

Mrs. M. C. Pearson and Miss May Pearson of Hartford, Conn., arrived at Bailey's on Monday of this week and during their stay here, which they expect to be of considerable duration, they will occupy the Spindrift cottage. Both have been here in former years and can think of no more enjoyable and delightful place in which to spend their summers.

Mrs. H. W. Stokes and her daughter, Miss Dorothy Stokes of Washington, D. C., made their appearance here for the summer, on Friday June 14, and are now enjoying the bracing sea breezes from their delightfully located summer home in the Pastures. Later in the summer around the first part of July Mrs. Stokes is expecting several guests to arrive to spend the months of July and August.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Wallace Smith of New York City, and Mrs. Smith's sister, Mrs. Gertrude R. Doane, arrived at Bailey Island the first week in June and are now comfortably established in the "Craggs" cottage so beautifully situated near Little Harbor, for the remainder of the summer season. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have been coming to the island for several years now, and every time they seem to like it better.

Miss Julia Wells of New York City has joined her mother, Mrs. E. J. Wells here, coming to the island as the first part of April. Mrs. Wells has been experiencing a real New England winter this year, as she spent the entire year upon the island.

On Wednesday, June 12, Miss Mildred Sinnett was given a surprise party, the occasion being the celebration of her sixteenth birthday. The party which was gotten up by her mother, Mrs. Herbert Sinnett, was a complete surprise to Miss Sinnett, who was the recipient of many handsome gifts from her friends, thirteen of whom were present. Refreshments were served of candy and nuts and the big birthday cake was cut and eaten in the approved manner. The guests at the party were: Misses Hannah Black, Gladys Johnson, Mary Stetson, Edna Stetson, Jennie Stetson and Lillian Smith; and Messrs. Fred Johnson, Irving Sinnett, Joseph Stetson, William Munsey, Ed Sinnett, Vickary Leeman and Alonzo Doughty.

Mr. James G. Stetson is at present engaged in building an addition to his shop, 15 x 15, in which he intends to make some of his famous candy.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lane and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hooper, all of Lancaster, N. H., are spending a two weeks' vacation at Bailey's and during their stay here are staying at the "Periwinkle" cottage. All four are greatly delighted with Bailey's and while regretting that their stay here is so short, are in hopes of being able to return again before very long.

Mr. George H. Lube of this island, has gone into the motor boat business for the summer and is ready at any time to take out parties to any part of the bay or the neighboring waters. He has for this purpose two fine large motor boats, the largest of which is 25 feet in length and will easily accommodate a party of twenty people. There is certainly no more enjoyable way in which to pass the summer than by taking trips of this sort, and no better pilot could be found than Mr. Lube, as he knows the bay thoroughly and can point out its places of interest to his passengers.

Everett E. Sinnett won honors at the Maine state shoot at the Moosehollow Gun Club at Rangeley early this month. He was put on the Portland team which won the state championship thus bringing next year's shoot to Portland. Mr. Sinnett finished third among 52 entries in the first day's events and was in very fast company, some of the best shots in the country being entered. The members of the Portland team each received a presentation fob charm of gold and silver, representing a moose head, a gun, target and laurel branch. The emblems were in gold, raised on an oval silver back and the charm was of heavy expensive make. The target had a ruby bullseye.

S. S. Tomer, the Penobscot Indian (Chief, who has for so many years sold the remarkably fine baskets, etc., made by that tribe, is located at Bailey Island for the summer. He will pitch camp within a week near Mackerel Cove wharf.

Miss Marie Widmayer of New York City, has rented the Barnacle cottage connected with the Robinhood Inn group of cottages. Miss Widmayer has been a guest at the Inn for many seasons and has hosts of friends among the tourists.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph O. Smith and two children of New York City are to occupy Spruce Lodge near the Robinhood Inn. The family were guests at the Inn five seasons ago.

Summit House.

CHEBEAGUE'S HOMELIKE HOTEL AND COTTAGES OPEN.

Mrs. Clinton M. Hamilton Has First Guests on the Island.

The Summit and cottages at Great Chebeague are open and have been for three weeks. The first guests in the dining room registered more than two weeks ago and were the first at any hotel on the island this year. While many others are booked for the summer, for long or short terms and a rushing season is expected. The Summit has everything to recommend it in location, size and comfort of rooms, perfect views and bountiful cuisine. Many new guests come this year and among them will be seen the returning faces of the regular comers who have made the house their headquarters for many summers. The house is spick and span as it always must be under the proprietorship of a woman so careful of every detail as is Mrs. Hamilton. Lawns and game grounds are neatly trimmed and the environment of the Summit is one which attracts the eye from a long distance, the western slope being open to view from the water as steamers ply through on the inner bay route. Mrs. Hamilton is to be congratulated on the auspicious opening of her twelfth season and everyone on the island joins in wishing her the success that her house deserves.

Robinhood Inn.

EVERYTHING BEING MADE READY FOR SUMMER GUESTS.

Prosperous Summer Looked for At Bailey Island House.

Needless to say, the outlook at this popular hotel is a bright one in every respect for a prosperous summer. Bailey Island has always been a favorite with the summer visitors who prefer peace and rest to the more gash pleasures of a larger place and Miss Massey has sheltered a large proportion of these visitors under her hospitable roof. The Robinhood Inn, so wonderfully situated among the green pines of the north end, has long borne a reputation as one of the most delightful and exclusive spots upon the island. All around the house are beautiful pine groves and walks and every form of summer amusements imaginable is offered to the summer visitor. Everything possible that can be done to add to the comfort of the guests of the house is performed, and nothing is left undone. The house is modern in every respect and the long distance telephone offers a ready means of connection with the outside world to the man who has to keep constantly in touch with his business affairs. The house opens about June 20 and its doors remain open till late in September.

CLOUDS ARE LIKE SNOW PEAK

Heavens at Certain Time of Day Resemble Gigantic Glaciers in the Alps.

Berne, Switzerland.—Whoever has traveled in the western states or in Europe knows the beauty and understands the fascination of snow mountains.

At places like Pau, from which on a clear day the whole range of the Pyrenees is visible, or Bern, from which, when the weather is favorable, can be seen the glaciers of the giants among the Oberland Alps, at such places travelers will wait for hours and even for days for the clouds to lift in order to see this sight which is so wonderful. Yet I have often observed at home great white clouds heaped on the horizon which had the same majestic beauty as a distant view of the Alps, the Pyrenees or the Rockies. And no one has stopped to look at them twice or to admire them.

The rosy glow on the Alps at sunset, to see which people will even desert their dinners, the pink glow of sunrise that entices them from their beds in the small hours of the morning—these sights which are so enchanting in their loveliness are surpassed by the coloring of the mountainous cumuli that without going a step out of your way you may frequently see at evening in the western sky.

This thought which has so often passed through my mind was recalled by a sentence written by Sir Francis Younghusband in a book describing Kashmir: "Early in September the atmosphere has been freshened and cooled by the rains which, though they fall lightly in the valley itself, are often heavy in the surrounding mountains. The sun is still powerful in the daytime and the sky unusually bright and clear. But the monsoon will often make a few final efforts. One such day I noted when voluminous masses of cloud rolled up behind the Pir Panjal to a height of twenty-five or thirty thousand feet, their western edges aglow from the setting sun and showing clear and distinct against the background of pinky blue sky, while the great main volume remained dark, heavy and somber, with now and then a split of lightning flashing out, and on the far side, away from the setting sun, threatening tentacles stretched out across the valley in unavailing effort to reach the mountains on the northern side. Under these mighty mountain masses even the great mountains looked dwarfed and puny. It was a great and final effort of that stupendous natural phenomenon which bears the waters of the Indian ocean to beat upon the Himalaya."

Nothing could give to people who have never seen a mighty range of mountains a better idea of their appearance than the great clouds that pile themselves just above the distant landscape. The soft, rounded summits are more beautiful than the sharp outlines of the mountain ridges, but the mountains are so often veiled in clouds that the similarity of effect is striking and often in the neighborhood of some great snow covered range one is uncertain whether it is the actual heights or the clouds that one perceives from a distance.

Mr. James Duane and family of Boston, Mass., arrive this week to take up their quarters in the charming and ideally situated "Seola" cottage. Mr. Duane, who is in the wholesale grocery business in Boston, has been coming to Long Island now for several seasons with his family and every year seems to be better than the one before. From the "Seola" a wonderful view is obtained, not only out to the open ocean, but also of the more placid and land-locked waters of the inner bay, with the White Mountains in the distance for a background.

As usual this summer will see the attractive "Fordette" cottage occupied by Mr. Fred Ford and family of Medford Hills, Mass., who are expected down this week. Mr. Ford, who is on the editorial staff of the Boston Transcript, has been coming here with his family so long and so regularly that a summer at Long Island without them would be a poor sort of a season indeed and they are almost indispensable to the life of the West End colony.

Mr. William P. Libby of Melrose, Mass., is expected to arrive at the island for the remainder of the summer season this week. During his stay here he will occupy the charmingly situated "Rockmere" cottage at the West End, so there seems little doubt of his spending an agreeable vacation this summer.

Mrs. V. G. Brazz of Riverbank Court, Cambridge, Mass., as usual arrived at Long Island for the season early in the summer, coming down as early as May 17. She will occupy "Tarry-a-White" cottage, upon which she has been making improvements, although to most people this would be hard to do on such a charming place. Mrs. Brazz has been coming to Long Island for many seasons now and is so fond of it that she is firmly convinced there is no other summer resort in the country to be compared to it in any way.

The Misses Wight of Dorchester, Mass., will occupy a cottage at the West End for the summer and are expected to arrive at the island very shortly.

The many friends and acquaintances of Mr. William Wray and family of the Bronx, New York, will certainly not be back at Long Island this summer. Their absence will be a great loss to the summer colony here and they will certainly be greatly missed by every one who knew them. It is certainly to be hoped that their absence will only be a temporary one and that next season will see them back at Casco Bay again.

Go to R. S. Davis company, Portland, for anything you want in the line of furnishings for your cottage.

Mr. C. B. Seward of Boston, Mass., has built a new cottage at the West End which he has just completed. The house is most attractive in its appearance and Mr. Seward should have no trouble in finding some one to lease it during the approaching summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Mabry and their son, Mr. Alton Mabry, of Watertown, Mass., spent the week-end during Bunker Hill day at their cottage here and were accompanied by a party of friends, composed of Mr. and Mrs.

Long Island

Mrs. Lillian App and her mother, Mrs. Alice Kinman, both of Evansville, Indiana, arrived at Long Island a week ago and are now occupying their charming cottage here. Mrs. App is a great admirer of Casco Bay, and indeed one easy proof of this is the fact that she comes all the way from Indiana to spend her summer here. She will probably be visited shortly by some friends, so she is anticipating a delightful summer outing here.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Rodick of Portland, Me., are again down at Long Island for the summer and believing that the earlier one gets down to this place the better time one enjoys, they have been occupying their charming cottage "Westlawn" for a month now. They are being visited by Mrs. Walter Snow of Newburyport, Mass., and are expecting more guests later.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Lamson of Portland, Me., arrived at the island for the season a week ago last Saturday and will probably remain for the rest of the summer. During their stay here they are occupying the cozy and attractive little "Unique" cottage and they fully anticipate a most delightful vacation under its roof.

The Misses Minnie and Ivy Inman, who come all the way from Portland, Oregon, made their arrival here two weeks ago and during their stay they will occupy their beautiful new summer home at the West End. This house is a particularly attractive one and a most charming example of the best order of summer architecture. Under its roof and surrounded by the many charms of Casco Bay, these ladies will certainly be compensated in full for their long and tiresome trip across the whole continent.

Miss Ethel Bates and her mother, Mrs. Bates, of Boston, Mass., were down at the island for a few days last week, getting their cozy cottage ready in readiness for the summer season. Although they have returned to their home in the "Hub of the Universe," they hope to return to Long Island before very long for the remaining part of the summer season.

Mrs. C. F. Wiseman of Worcester, Mass., and her son, Frank, have been occupying the "Roxmont" cottage since Monday of this week. She is being visited by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Grant, also of Worcester, and by Mrs. Fred Arnold and her little son, Master John Arnold. Although this is Mrs. Wiseman's first visit to Long Island, she is already delighted with the place and firmly convinced that her liking for it will increase as she stays here.

Mr. Walter Duckworth and family, of Montreal, Canada, are expected to arrive for the summer very shortly and in fact are to arrive this week. They will occupy a cottage at the West End during their stay here.

Mr. James Duane and family of Boston, Mass., arrive this week to take up their quarters in the charming and ideally situated "Seola" cottage. Mr. Duane, who is in the wholesale grocery business in Boston, has been coming to Long Island now for several seasons with his family and every year seems to be better than the one before. L. Nelson and the Rev. and Mrs. F. H. Cobb, all of Watertown. Another house party who came up with them over Bunker Hill day were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Davis of Belmont, Mass., and consisted of Mr. and Mrs. John Giles, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Leonard, Mrs. William Crowell and Mr. and Mrs. Sprague, all of Belmont. Both parties enjoyed themselves to the limit while here and had a glorious time in spite of the rather poor weather. Indeed the only fault that they were able to find was that they could not get enough clams and lobsters, which was the only thing lacking to them to secure perfect happiness.

Long Island is indeed fortunate in possessing one of the most up-to-date and best-stocked grocery and general stores in the whole of Casco Bay. Clark and Griffin's Long Island market, at the head of Doughty's landing, carries everything which could be required to satisfy the appetite and table of any summer resident. This season they are better prepared than ever, and that is saying a lot, to cater to the wants of their customers. The polite and efficient service given one at this store is one of its pleasing features and their teams, covering all sections of the island several times daily, insure prompt delivery of ordered goods.

The National Electric Signal Co., of Pittsburgh, Pa., has corresponded directly with Minister Canton relative to establishing in Nicaragua, at their risk, several wireless stations. This company is the one which put in the stations of the United Fruit Co. and is now taking up the matter of establishing a number of others along the Atlantic coast of Mexico and Central America with the purpose of obtaining constant communication between these countries and the United States. The company also offers to put in at Managua a wireless tower of sufficient power to communicate with Salvador. It is probable that within a month the engineers will leave for Nicaragua to carry out the work.

SLEEVES WILL BE FULLER
 Everything Indicates a Speedy Return to the Lines in Favor of a Few Seasons Ago.

There is a tendency, slight at present, but likely to assert itself and be accentuated as the season wears on, towards sleeves fuller below the elbow.

Perhaps the large cuffs are partly to blame for this, for one must need have sleeves to fill them out.

But it is difficult to place the latest sleeves in any one period since many individual models combine points of fashion from two or even more periods.

There is one sleeve, however, which has not been copied or adapted and that is the "leg-of-mutton," for one thing at least is certain—the fashionable shoulder must slope unimpeded by gather or tuck into the arm, in a pure outline to form.

Thus the fashions are easily and quite naturally slipping from one extreme to another, from the very scant frocks devoid of trimming to more voluminous styles in which the trimming is the feature.

Fashion's Fancies

A soft cerise satin sash is often a smart touch.

The latest Paris blouses are buttoned at the back.

Fluffy white net is used for girlish evening gowns.

Black and white chantilly laces are set with beading.

The narrow ruching is another finishing note of the season.

Many of the smartest afternoon frocks have girdles and sashes of velvet and satin.

Belts of patent leather, soft morocco and suede are all modish. They are rather narrow.

Another smart combination of silk and lingerie is found in the short tunic style, where the tunic is of taffeta, richly embroidered or lace trimmed.

With all light suits, white topped and taupe topped shoes are the more fashionable. They are worn together with bright colored silk stockings.

Mull Scarfs.

Inexpensive, yet pretty, for summer evening use are shaped scarfs made from squares of colored silk mull, says the New York Times. Hem the edges and up each side of the front in an inch and a half wide hem, and above it put an inch-wide strip of Valenciennes or imitation Cluny insertion. Use white silk tassels or knotted ends of ribbon finished in small ribbon bows.

Baby's Afghan.

A pretty summer afghan for the baby's carriage is made of strips of handkerchief linen held together with mesh and a half wide cluny lace, which also edges the cover, says the Philadelphia Times. This is lined with pink or blue silk, and ornamented on the outside with a large satin bow. This makes a dainty protection, and is not heating.

WET CHEMICALS FOR FUEL

Inventor Thinks He Has Found Substitute for Coal—Liquid Used to Heat Boiler.

Darby, Pa.—After working on the principle for a long time, George Smith, a well known hot water heater expert, believes he has perfected a compound that will do away with coal as a medium for heat.

Smith's invention, which he says will heat a house at a temperature of 70 degrees in winter and maintain it at that in the coldest winter weather, is an elaboration of the principle of heat generation in water by chemical combustion.

The best units generated play on a wrought iron boiler, instead of cast iron, and thus have the advantage of heating water quicker, because this metal is not as thick and yet it is stronger than cast iron. Once the water is heated to a certain point it begins to circulate through the pipes.

Says There is No Middle Class... Montclair, N. J.—At the closing session of the New Jersey State Federation of Woman's Clubs here Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, one of the delegates, a daughter of the late Julius Ward Howe, objected to the use of the term middle class by Mrs. Seth Abrams, another delegate, in referring to the need for playgrounds in cities. "It is a term copied from an English aristocracy," said Mrs. Hall, "and we do not want it. We are a democracy. We have no 'middle class.' We are going to the first class."

Who said summer?
Pretty soon they'll be asking, "Is it hot enough for you?"
Like the clown in the circus, "Here we are again," with a bigger, better and brighter Breeze.
Seems pretty good, after eight months of dusty streets, to sit back on the piazza and watch the sea gulls, doesn't it?

One of our esteemed contemporaries from Maryland says, "Mosquitoes are mighty bad this year." Personally, we don't know, but if any of our readers have ever seen a good mosquito, we'd like to hear from them.

Somebody says that they have fine sea-breezes in the city, right off the gutters. Sounds very attractive and all that, but we guess we'll stick to the good, old-fashioned kind that are made only in Casco Bay. How about it?

Last summer saw a most gratifying increase in the activity of the improvement societies at the various islands, Cliff Island and Bustins Island, following splendidly in the path blazed by Bailey Island. We certainly hope that there will be no let-down in this year, as it is by this sort of thing more than any other that the attractiveness of the bay is increased.

Haven't you been just longing all winter to get back to the Bay and feel the tang of the salt sea-air upon your cheek and feel the bracing ocean breezes send little thrills up and down your back-bone? If you haven't, you're no true Casco Bayite. We certainly have and now that we are back here after eight long weary months, we are surely going to enjoy ourselves to the limit.

Have you a public library on your island? If you haven't, it's about time you were getting busy and starting to get one. One of the things which is of greatest importance for passing a happy summer is a plentiful supply of good literature to pass the rainy days away with; and this is not true only in summer, but doubly so in winter, when with the islands almost shut off from the outside world, such a supply of reading as a public library becomes almost invaluable. So it behooves all the residents of your island, summer and winter, to get together and supply yourself with some sort of public library.

OUR TWELFTH YEAR.

We are sometimes forced to mention ourselves in these columns, although a statement of our antiquity is not perhaps the thing which cheers us most. But we are two years over into the second decade of our existence as Casco Bay's resort weekly and perhaps our many subscribers and well-wishers who have been with us so long will pardon being reminded of the passing of one-sixth of a lifetime, and one-third of a man's best working years, since the first copy of the Breeze was issued from the press.
A few who have the instincts of the historian have preserved that first number and it is considered among their most treasured possessions. The file at the Breeze office is complete from that number up to the present time except a very few copies which have been repeatedly advertised for but are not forthcoming apparently for love nor money. It may be of passing interest to some to know that the Breeze was originally intended to be the Harpswell and Orr's Island Cricketer, but that the publishers awoke in time. The name Casco Bay Breeze spelled success, but personal work and hard application, with the united backing of the Bay's business men accomplished it and here let it be said that the publishers never have forgotten and never will forget those staunch friends who began advertising in the first issue and have stayed with us ever since. It is not necessary for us to say that we have in turn labored hard to bring the best of summer business to their islands, and thus, inevitably, to increase their receipts. It is not necessary to point to the stacks of letters of commendation from people in prominent walks of life for the strict attitude of cleanness which we have made it a rule to maintain in these columns. But the good words are treasured and the letters are valued beyond any value, which could not be expressed in sentiment.

The cost of one issue of the Casco Bay Breeze represents more money than the entire expense of a season in 1901. Ten times as many people are employed and from almost any landing in the Bay in summer the early passengers are apt to sit with a Breeze representative who is out at work at 6 or 7, leaving the wharf on the first boat always, in order to get to his destination in time to send his "copy" that night. The difficulties encountered in arranging a trip so as to make more than one landing a day are many and the devices resorted to at times to get home at night would fill columns. Telephones have filled in some bad gaps in the sections of the Bay where they have been installed, but a wide space is still unserved on account of geographical situation.

Take the Casco Bay Breeze sometime in midsummer, look over its columns, judge of the necessity of personal calls for every item of news, notice the accuracy maintained in the hotel register section which is published weekly during July, August and part of September. We know you understand there's a lot of man's work in it, but we think it worth while to call the details thus to your attention once in a while just to let you know we are not idling away our summer.
This issue carries our best wishes and hopes for the season of prosperity which is due each and every one of our readers for the 1912 summer, and also our hearty congratulations to the happy ones who have chosen Casco Bay as their summer resort this year, for to those who can have their time to themselves for pleasure, no more healthful spot exists on earth, and health is King—isn't it?

THE WEATHER AND PROSPECTS.

Those who are habitually pessimistic have found food for their favorite rumination in the cool, rainy weather which has prevailed during most of the first half of June. Following a spring of average wetness only, but which seemed a deluge in comparison with the past dry years, the coolness of June has been frowned upon by many who insist on forecasting the summer by these few early June days.
But the wise ones are preparing for the real summer, which can only be kept back a little while, and which may be even more pleasant and warm by reason of the coolness now. Since the Breeze began its work in Casco Bay we have noticed many years when a warm spring, even as early as May, presaged the coolest summer and vice-versa—the cool springs and the extreme winters were always followed by the hottest summers. We are bound to receive a certain amount of heat in the twelve months from the sun and if we get what is due in 1912 there will be a good deal of caloric energy rubbed in between now and fall. We welcome the bad weather now if it will only stay away about August 20 to 30. The coming of a week of rain then is almost the turning point of the season, which would otherwise be put off until Labor Day.
There are things to be thankful for in the rain and cool weather which the pessimists anathematize so strongly. The wells have a bountiful supply of water, gardens are thrifty and lawns and trees are looking the freshest for years. We should thank the Almighty for a real old-fashioned seasonable spring and rest assured of the coming of one of the genuine summers which is bound to follow.

Medicinal Plants Teach the Value of Many Neglected Weeds
By H. LOWATER, Chicago

WAS the spring time ever linked in your mind with sulphur and medical teas? What a course of "doctoring" the youngsters used to get, not only in the spring but at other times! Most of those old but prized recipes had been handed down from one generation to another. They consisted largely of roots, barks, herbs and the like that could be found in the fence corners, along the roadside or in mother's garden, and were gathered when in certain stages of growth. Has the use of these old-fashioned medicines gone not to return? No.

The old motherly practice has disappeared, but I find the same simples are used by our most intelligent physicians and kept for sale in most drug stores.

Dandelion, tansy and pokeweed are often prescribed for the same disorders that our mothers prescribed them. Oh, no, not by the old names, but under certain cabalistic characters, which the chemist understands, but the reading of which would sound learned and potent to us laymen, if patients.

I have often seen near Garfield park, on vacant lots, in masses of sweet clover, many of these medicinal plants, also in the gardens and waste places on the outskirts of the city.

These same simples are the bases of most of our best cough and vegetable compounds, but instead of being made from good American plants they are generally manufactured from costly imported products. Why? Because the city man out of a job does not realize how money is planted under the roots of these plants; because the boy or girl living in the suburbs does not know how to recognize these plants except as weeds and has never been taught when to harvest them. Many of them are pests, but still they are money-producing things if one knows how or when.

Why should this and one other topic not be the subjects of occasional school talks with illustrations?

A few minutes twice a week with prepared charts in place of many "frills" now used to kill time would impart much useful information.

The two topics I refer to are:

1. Simple medicinal plants, how to find and when to harvest them.
2. Insects beneficial to man and how to recognize them.

One Great Need for Many Large Cities
By J. R. PRICE, M. D., Chicago

During the last quarter of a century I have been watching with interest the growth and improvements made in our great city. Most of the improvements have been in sidewalks, streets, buildings, transportation and communication, all of which have been advantageous to commerce, while at the same time in a subordinate way to all the people.

On the other hand, I regret to say that my observation has led me to conclude that this city, as well as many others, has been neglectful of one thing which is of paramount importance to the health and happiness of her entire population, and that is suitable public comfort stations conveniently located and distinctly prominent.

For neglect in this respect is the primary cause of multitudinous ailments, and among them are headache, indigestion, Bright's disease of the kidneys, rheumatism and so forth. I do not deem it honorable for myself, as a medical man, to remain silent on this most important question.

City authorities should see that public health and comfort stations be installed as rapidly as possible, designated by understandable signs, and they should advertise the locations in our public newspapers.

Not more than one person in a hundred in the city of Chicago knows of our excellent, finely equipped public comfort station situated in the City hall at Washington and LaSalle streets.

Value of Cement Mortar as Iron Saver
By JOHN R. HOWLAND

Tests are to be made by the Panama canal commission to determine the value of cement mortar applied to iron plates by the "cement gun" as a preservative of iron. Twelve plates 6 3/4 x 14 inches have been coated with a one-to-three mortar of cement and sand after they were cleaned to a gray metal by the sand-blast process.

Six of these have been covered with a half-inch coating and the remaining six with a one-inch coat on one side and a 1 1/2-inch coat on the other.

Three plates of each kind have been sent to Balboa and three to Cristobal, where they will be kept immersed in salt water to test the mortar method of preventing corrosion.

Two plates of each kind will be taken from the salt water, both at the end of three months, and one-half of the coating will be removed to determine the condition of the metal.

The duration of the test for the balance of the plates will be determined later.

Habit of Obeying Dictates of Honor and Duty
By DR. CHARLES W. ELIOT

The real object in education is to cultivate in the child a capacity for self-control or self-government; not a habit of submission to an overwhelming, arbitrary, external power, but a habit of obeying the dictates of honor and duty, as enforced by active will power within the child. In childhood and in youth it is of the utmost importance to appeal steadily and almost exclusively to motives which will be operative in after life. In too much of our systematic education we appeal to motives which we are sure cannot last; to motives which may answer for little children of six, ten or twelve, but which are entirely inapplicable to boys or girls of fourteen, sixteen or eighteen. Thus the motive of fear is one of these transitory motives on which organized education in the past has almost exclusively relied; yet fear is a very ineffective motive with adults.

Interest in Collectors.
It is quite the fashion among smart folk to flock to sales of rare books, furniture or pictures, even when they have no intention of buying. For each of these collections is the result of a lifetime of study, and the opportunity to see them as a whole cannot recur again, while individually the pieces, passing into private hands, may be lost to the public for years. For this reason young girls are sent with their governesses to see the treasures that will soon be scattered far and wide, and even whole classes from fashionable schools are taken for morning views. Such visits, naturally, do more for the artistic education of these fortunate young folk than weeks of lecturing and photographs.

New Industrial Material.
As the result of many years of experimenting in England, a new substitute for hard rubber, gutta percha and leather has been announced. It is a product of seaweed. The new material is said to be especially useful in the electrical industries, being a non-inflammable insulation of high electric strength, proof against heat, cold, salt and weather.

Gold Mining Not Encouraging in Bolivia.

Many American citizens are coming to Bolivia in search of gold, being misled by what is now stated to be a fake letter signed by one Ferguson. Unfavorable reports are brought by miners who have returned from Tipuani and the outlook is not encouraging.

According to advices received at this legation numerous Americans in the western part of the United States are preparing to go to Bolivia on the strength of these false reports. This warning should deter them from embarking on such hazardous undertakings. A further report will be made in the event that any of the prospectors whom the Bolivian Government has sent to various districts are successful in their search for gold.

For Cutting One's Own Hair.
A foreign inventor has patented a device which, it is said, will enable any man to cut his own hair. It consists of a comb attachment that may be placed upon any razor. The hair is then combed with the razor, which cuts off the ends of the hair precisely the right length.

Path to Immortality.
Go on and increase thy vigor. O boy! this is the path to immortality.—Virgil.

THE Rev. A. L. Kitching and his wife were the first Europeans in the Teso country on "The Back Waters of the Nile." They went out from England as missionaries and their experiences were unique. They were on friendly terms with cannibals, for Algot Lange has not a corner on those strange people. They lived among the most primitive tribes, men and women who wore only beads and feathers and others who wore not even as much clothing as that.

Mr. Kitching lived for ten years among the savage tribes of East Africa, speaking their languages and studying their habits and customs in their original surroundings, and thus gained a knowledge of their inner mode of life not possessed by any other white man. He is not only an observer but also an agreeable and graphic writer, and he gives an unusually clear idea of the child mind and the point of view of these primitive people.

The Protectorate of Uganda, he says, is a miniature edition of the British empire as most people know it, for few penetrate beyond its borders. The subdistrict of Bugoma is famous locally for its fine forest, which teems with life of every size and description, from the herds of immense elephants and the chimpanzees which are frequently met with, down to the gorgeous butterflies which often throng the air and paint the pools in the paths in countless brilliant hues and patterns.

Next to Bugoma is Bugahya, where the dialect spoken is so broad as to correspond to the Yorkshire which Tennyson loved to imitate. From these districts the plateau dips suddenly over to the Albert lake, on the shores of which live people whose habits have been moulded by the abundance of fish and the proximity of the brine supplies, which provide them with exports.

Overrun With Pests.
On the foothills of Ruwenzori and on the sides of the range nearly up to the bamboo line live a little known tribe of low order whose language has so far not been reduced to writing. These are the Bakonjo, whose physical hardihood enables them to hunt the cones and sleep in the open close up to the snow line, but whose tastes do not exclude rats and snakes from the daily dietary. Those who accompanied Mr. Kitching's party up to the foot of the glacier would sleep sometimes in caves, but at other times in the open.

These Nile districts possess few attractions to the average traveler. Not only are the natives far from being attractive but the country is overrun with tropical pests. Of these Mr. Kitching enumerates "mosquitoes, embwa or dog flies, termites, wild pigs, leopards, and worst of all the tsetse fly. It is, as the Irishman said, 'a distasteful country.' One may get used to having one's person devoured by the embwa, one's house by the termites and one's children by the leopards and hyenas. One may even ignore the bites of the tsetse until he brings the dread infection of the sleeping sickness. Then, as the deadly lethargy of the disease creeps over the infected, the equally deadly numbness of despair and indifference and fatalism paralyzes the healthy."

On the confines of the protectorate, in the extreme west and the extreme east "lie the two cannibal tribes of Uganda, the Bahuku and the Bagisu. The Bahuku are the last tribe met with to the west, before the traveler plunges into the gloomy wilds of the pigmy forest. They are not very numerous and speak a Bantu dialect of which nothing much is known at present, and they have as yet no written language, no European having ever lived among them. I found them in 1892 very wild and shy, owing to the unwelcome visits of Belgian soldiers, and with difficulty persuaded one or two to lead me for an hour or so into the great forest. On the same occasion pygmies were not to be seen, having fled south for the same purpose of avoiding the attentions of uncontrolled police!

"The other cannibal tribe, the Bagisu, inhabit the slopes of Mount Elgon, where they are crowded together in a comparatively small area of fertile country, which they have brought to a high degree of cultivation. The clan system is well developed among them and its regulations rigidly observed. Each clan for the most part occupies a strip of country running down from the foothills of Elgon, and to that strip it is obliged to keep for all purposes."

The Sleeping Sickness.
The sleeping sickness, many cases of which came under Mr. Kitching's personal observation is graphically described:
"From this place (Iganga) we went to visit one of the sleeping sickness camps, at a place called Buso, some two miles away. The horrors of the disease had been aggravated by the famine: in spite of all efforts on the part of the doctor in charge, food was almost impossible except in small quantities, and with five hundred patients in the camp large supplies were needed to give each even a little."

"Deaths at the time were running up to seventy or even ninety in a month; as we passed from ward to ward we saw the corpse of a man who had just died lying in the courtyard awaiting the doctor's orders for burial. In every direction sat groups of hopeless sufferers, in different stages of the disease and various degrees of starvation, mere skeletons many of them, barely able to crawl about."

"As if disease and famine were not enough, a plague of fleas and jiggers had defied all the efforts to exterminate them, and the feet of many patients, especially the children, were in a horrible condition of ulceration. Some of the less afflicted patients, still in early stages of the disease, were engaged in the unpleasant duty of removing the jiggers and dressing the feet of those too weak to do it for themselves. Those comparatively strong ones lived in huts by themselves, only the more advanced cases being taken into the wards."

"Fresh cases were constantly being brought in: one man apparently died in the hammock on the way to the camp, and his bearers had commenced to bury him on the roadside, but he sat up in the grave and was brought on. When we saw him he was able to walk about, better food having no doubt done much to temporarily restore him."

"One of the saddest sights was the house set apart for the reception of patients in whom the disease induced mania; there is great fear with such cases that they may set fire to the camp, either deliberately or by accident, during the night, so they are made to sleep in a place entirely without windows, and which can be securely locked up during the hours of darkness. One such house into which I went at another camp, in Buganda, was occupied by perhaps fifteen such unfortunates; as they were mostly in the advanced stages of sleeping sickness, they probably suffered little, if at all, being unconscious practically all the time."

LACE ON EVERYTHING

NEVER WAS THERE SUCH A PRO-FUSION AS THIS SEASON.

Almost Every Article of Feminine Raiment Carries This Adornment—Used for the Most Part With Much Cleverness.

If one were to start upon a shopping tour with the determination to buy gowns or wraps or millinery in which no lace appeared she would be likely to return weary and empty handed to her home, for laces are everywhere. The most unpretentious of little silk or wool gowns are designed with the lace collar and cuffs presupposed and even on the least expensive models these are supplied in cheap but effective laces. There never was a time when good-looking gowns and wraps cost so little. Besides the collar and cuffs of lace, pretty frills of it, laid in fine plaits, full over the hands and one occasionally sees a falling frill about the neck.

Lace blouses, lace coats and coatee effects, lace fichus and overdresses are in great demand, to be worn with silk or other gowns. These are all separate garments which, like the collar and cuffs, may be adjusted with any costume. Nothing is smarter than the small coats of heavy lace made to be worn with silk or satin skirts or one-piece dresses. They are very beautiful worn with linen dresses also, and certain laces, as for instance Irish crochet, seem especially adapted to linen.

But it is in the body of the gown itself, where laces are made to play a part in the construction and shaping of the design, that they are used with

HOME DRESS

Our model has a high-waisted skirt made with panel front and back; it is joined to the bodice, which fastens diagonally in front; buttons form trimming. The cut of the bodice is Magyar, with one wide tuck on shoulder.

All the summer dresses have chimettes or guimps of lace. Models made of voile or marquisette, or any of the sheer summer fabrics employ the lace trimmed fichu and frills of lace at the sleeves and neck. Heavier laces are used on silk dresses and on the long wraps of satin which are so useful and so graceful.

It is the same story of high favor if one explores the millinery field to find out what millady of fashion most admires. With the advance of summer and the donning of lingerie gowns we may expect to see the vogue increase in the matter of lace hats. And it is not likely that laces will pass out with the summer, for some of the newest ones are superb when combined with velvet, whose vogue is just well started. So we may expect to see them in the models for fall. In fact the bodice of lace or net or chiffon is more beautiful than any made of heavier fabrics and far more supple and becoming. It is the day of laces and only the morning of that day.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

consummate cleverness. There are marvels of management in graceful lines and effective contrast in those models in which lace is incorporated into the gown. One may find three and sometimes even four varieties of lace in one model, each seeming the best for its place.

ALASKA HAS MANY FLOWERS

Immense Fields of Yellow Poppies Grow as Far North as the Sea Islands.

Nome, Alaska.—One of the impressions left with the tourist in Alaska is of the luxuriance of the summer verdure, the rich green that suggests an English landscape. This verdure seems strange in a land associated usually with snow capped mountains and glaciers. The profusion of varicolored flowers and grasses, the result of from eighteen to twenty hours of sunshine a day, makes this country in summer a surprise and delight.

Every one who goes to Alaska takes a promenade along the famous Sitka walk, laid out by the Russians years ago, on the shore of Sitka Bay and the beautiful Indian river. It is noteworthy, not alone because good roads are scarce in this country but also because of its beauty. Those who penetrate this "Lover's Lane," as it is called, are charmed with its delights. Immense and aged fir trees border it, mosses and lichens and wild flowers grow in the shade and the native berries fringe the pathway. The nature lover is enraptured with the mile and a half of sylvan beauty.

One can understand that such a walk may exist in Sitka, which enjoys warm breezes from the sea to such an extent that the air is always moist. The surprising revelation is to find wild flowers in the interior, in regions where snow and ice predominate for many months of the year. There are acres of forgetmenots on mountains 6,000 feet above sea level, so many of them that they make a carpet of blue. You come across deserted Indian villages where the houses, which are built of rough boards, are approached through weeds and epibolium so high and so rank that it is necessary to part them overhead in order to penetrate them. Acres of the magenta hued epibolium lend a bright note to the landscape and it seems to grow everywhere.

Far up to the north, near the snow line on the high mountains, are willows, dwarf alders and birches, while below are firs and spruces, some of them hundreds of years old. Under them is verdure clothing the mountainsides so rank and so green that in imagination one is transported to tropical climates. This is especially pleasing to the eye, after the long, hard winter.

This luxuriance is the result of the long summer days and the fact that for ages the forests have been undisturbed. One log has fallen upon another and decayed, producing a rich vegetable muck in which almost everything will grow. The richness and softness of the soil makes Alaskan wood difficult to obtain and when any large enterprise has been undertaken, as building railroads, the timber, for the most part, has been shipped from Puget Sound.

The wild flowers in this northern country, along the coast and back toward the Yukon, delight with their beauty and fragrance. Far up, near the Seal Islands, are immense fields of yellow poppies, and in other sections there are wild geraniums of a bluish tint, yellow moccasin plants, saxifrage and bluebells.

Ski-Preventer Wreck.
 Mobile.—Pulling off her red flannel undershirt, Laura Jones, an aged negro mammy, signaled an incoming passenger train on the Bay Shore railroad in time to prevent the train from dashing into a serious washout.

The train was returning from an Alabama coast resort, and was heavily laden with passengers.

When the passengers learned that the old ex-slave had perhaps saved their lives they took up a collection. "Dis is de mos' money I've ever had in my born days," she exclaimed as she shuffled from the scene.

Deadly "Movie" Realism.
 Hollidaysburg, Pa.—Roy Wilt and James Salyard, ten-year-old boys, were playing "Old Scout and the Indian," just as they saw it in the moving picture show. Salyard pulled the trigger of an old rifle, and Wilt fell with a bullet in his body. He is dying at the hospital.

Peaks Island

In spite of the cold, disagreeable weather, Peak's Island has been the scene of many social functions during the past week.

Mrs. George Bliss entertained at her beautiful summer home on the Trefethen shore, the Independent Twelve Bridge club, of which she is a member. Mrs. George Merrier won the first prize, a pair of silk hose, and Mrs. J. L. Jordan received the second, a handkerchief. Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon by the hostess. The members present were: Mrs. Charles Ingalls, Mrs. George Owen, Mrs. Josiah Johnson, Mrs. J. Louis Jordan, Miss Isabelle Clark, Mrs. Elmer Perry, Mrs. Frank Briggs, Miss Longfellow, Mrs. Herbert Washburn, Mrs. George Merrier, Mrs. Wallace Robinson and the hostess, Mrs. George Bliss.

The summer colony are extending pleasant greetings to Mr. and Mrs. James O'Donnell and family, who have rented the Emoh cottage at Trefethen for the summer, together with the Towle family of Brackett street, Portland. For the last few seasons the O'Donnells have not been on the island.

The Fred Hoopers have closed their pretty bungalow on the Evergreen shore for a few days, owing to sickness.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Morgan, who have been passing the winter months on the Cape shore, have opened their cottage, "Diamond View," for the summer, and are looking forward to a very pleasant summer on the island.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Winslow and young son Winfield, have let their beautiful home in Loviett's Field and now pleasantly located in the "Vincent Cottage," on the Oceanside.

Mr. Charles Skillings of the Barge office, United States Customs, quietly celebrated his 53rd birthday on Saturday at his pretty summer home on the Oceanside of Forest City landing. The house was prettily decorated throughout with the season's flowers and at 6 o'clock a delicious dinner was served. Mr. Skillings received several pretty gifts including a birthday cake. The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Boardman Skillings, Mr. and Mrs. Simeon Skillings, Miss Lizzie Holbrook, Mrs. Moore and Miss Little Skillings. After spending a very social informal evening, the guests departed, wishing the host many happy returns of the day.

The Fern Park association enjoyed another one of the famous shore dinners served at their club house on the Evergreen shore, Saturday, followed by a social hour in the afternoon.

At Lawn, one of the most beautiful spots on the Trefethen shore, looks quite like summer, all of the cottages but one having been opened for the season. This is sort of a little colony by itself and during the summer many good times are enjoyed. The cottagers are Dr. and Mrs. John Lowland and family, who this year are occupying Simeon Skillings' cottage. Mr. and Mrs. William Leighton and family have been on the Lawn for several years; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sinich.

One of the most important and brilliant affairs of the coming week on the island is the wedding of Florence Cherra, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Carl M. McAloney, and Mr. Edwin Tuesday evening, June 18th, at the home of the bride's parents on Island avenue. The Rev. Wilmot P. Lord, pastor of the Brackett Memorial church, is to officiate. The bride will be attended by Mrs. Herman L. Ingalls, as matron of honor and the groom by his brother, Elder Skillings. The ribbon girls are Misses Emily Warren, Helen Clark, Eva Clark, Marian Blackman, Mary Watson and Reta Morse. The bride is a very popular young lady both in Portland and on the island and several affairs have been given in honor of her approaching marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sears entertained a party of friends at the Fern Park club house on Monday. A delicious shore dinner was served at noon, covers being laid for twelve.

A party of girls from Portland are occupying the Hawkhurst cottage at Trefethen landing for a week and are planning on a great time, if the weather is favorable for out-of-door sports. Those in the party are the Misses Bessie Bennett, Ethel Wright, Marjorie Phillips, Gertrude Watts, Marion Smart, Bernice Morris, Helen Read and Minnie B. Fagan. The chaperone is Miss Eva L. Shore.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Elliott, who have been passing the winter and South Portland, have opened their attractive little cottage "The Maples" for the season.

Mrs. John Burke entertained the Ladies' Circle of the Williston church at her summer home at Trefethen on Wednesday. A shore dinner was served at noon and the afternoon spent in a social way.

Mr. and Mrs. Embert Robinson and daughter Helen are pleasantly located in their summer home at Evergreen. Miss Helen graduated this year from the Emerson school and her parents were in the city Friday to attend the exercises.

Mrs. Harold O'Leary (Miss Frances Skoefeld) of Brooklyn, New York, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Skoefeld, at their summer home on Beacon Ridge, Trefethen.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Briggs have arrived from Bar Harbor to spend the summer in their new home, built last year on New Island avenue.

Quite a few new cottages have been erected this spring on the island and everything points to a very busy season.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradford and daughter Beatrice, are a little late arriving on the island this year, making only week-end trips, owing to Miss Bradford's health.

Mr. and Mrs. John Leathe, who have spent many seasons at Trefethen, have sold their cottage this year and are planning to spend a part of the summer on the Cape.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jarvis have purchased the Kent cottage on the Tre-

Mrs. Clara Greely and son, Mr. Walter Elwell, have opened their summer home on New Island avenue for the season.

The Willing Workers society of Peak's Island is to be entertained on Wednesday by Mrs. Clarence Thomas on Oak Lawn. Dinner will be served at noon and the afternoon devoted to sewing and planning for the church fair, which takes place sometime the last of June in Island hall.

Dr. Everett M. Brown of Boston has been spending a few days with his mother, Mrs. Enoch N. Brown, at her attractive summer home on Pleasant avenue.

Mrs. George Shaw entertains the Maritza club of which she is a member, at her cottage on Elephant avenue, Forest City landing, Thursday, for an all-day session. A shore dinner will be served at noon and the afternoon devoted to sewing.

Lamp Chimneys.

In country homes the breaking of lamp chimneys often causes a great deal of bother. I have found if one will put all new chimneys in a pall of cold water and put on the fire to boil for a couple of hours the chimneys will last twice as long as an ordinary one.

THE WOODBINE.

June 15, with the arrival of several guests, but Mrs. Sinnett has been down at the island since the first part of June, making the house ready for guests and getting everything spic and span. Now with only a short time to elapse before the season will be in full swing, everything has been put in complete order and readiness. The reputation of the Woodbine as a summer hotel is too well known to need any exemplification. The motto of the house is "comfort ahead of everything," and nothing is spared in order that the guests of the establishment may have their every want satisfied. The table is one of the best in the bay, and compares very favorably with any of the summer hotels in this vicinity. It is supplied with good, wholesome food, the best on the market. The house, with its adjoining cottages, furnishes one of the most comfortable and homelike places in the bay where tourists can stay.

The Driftwood.

CHARMING BAILEY ISLAND HOTEL HAS SEVERAL GUESTS REGISTERED.

Indications All Point to a Successful Year.

Mrs. A. McK. Gulliver has again opened her charming house, — The Driftwood,—for the approaching summer season, and several guests have already arrived for their outing. The Driftwood is situated in one of the most picturesque and delightful spots in the entire bay, overlooking the entrance to the famous Little Harbor, and the surf, at its very door, is a sight that people would come miles to see. The house itself is an ideal summer hotel, bright and airy, with the comfort of its guests its chief aim. A few improvements have been made upon the house, and everything has been put into first-class order for the summer visitors.

Mrs. Gulliver has already received many bookings, and is expecting several of her last year's guests again. Miss Hulda Clarke of Newark, N. J., and Miss Mame Byron of Andover, N. J., were the first guests to arrive, coming the first part of the month.

Miss B. E. Roger of Cambridge, Mass., arrived on June 14, and Miss Nannie Dorsey of Baltimore, Md., the following day. Several more guests are expected shortly.

Cliff Island

Mrs. G. W. Plack, from "way down South in Dixie," has arrived at Cliff and will stay here all summer. Although the change in the climate from Laredo, Texas, where Mrs. Plack comes from, to the severe weather of the past few weeks, was rather sudden, Mrs. Plack expects to enjoy this summer as much if not more than last year. Last season Mrs. Plack leased the Kendall cottage, but she was so well pleased with the island, that she is having a new cottage on the North side of the island built for herself this year.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Cobb and their daughter, Miss Dorothy Cobb, of Portland, Me., are again at the island for the summer season and in their pretty little bungalow, "Camp Comfort," are looking forward to several months of uninterrupted pleasure. "Camp Comfort" is a particularly good example of how attractive the one-story bungalow style of architecture can be made.

Mr. Clifford F. Greene, who has been leaving Malden, Mass., for the shores of Cliff for many years now, although last summer he was here for a short time only, has opened his cottage on the North Side again for the season. This cottage bears the euphonious and mysterious name of "Khampt Myrczery," but from all signs, this is as far as Mr. Greene's misery, at least in these parts, ever goes.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Black, of Providence, R. I., have arrived at the island for the summer. Mr. Black is a very well-known artist and illustrator of magazines and books, and among the many picturesque scenes which abound at Cliff, he should find many to tempt his brush. Mr. Black has bought the A. A. Holden cottage here and is having it extensively remodeled and refurnished throughout. When completed it is expected to be easily one of the most attractive down here.

Mr. Asher Black, of Malden, Mass., has again taken up his residence here at Cliff Island for the summer and will probably be joined by his family very shortly.

Mrs. Flora E. Stone of Malden, Mass., has again returned to Casco Bay for her summer vacation and will occupy her cottage on the North Side. Mrs. Stone is much interested in the library at Cliff, and was one of the leading spirits in its establishment last year.

Mr. W. W. Gilchrist, and family, of Philadelphia, Pa., arrived at Cliff Island in the first part of the month, all ready for another summer as enjoyable as the others they have spent here. This is the Gilchrist's third season on the island, and from all indications, it will be far from the last. In their motor boat, they expect to enjoy many delightful sails this year, to the different parts of the bay.

Mr. E. A. Solomons and family, of New York City, have again opened their cozy bungalow on the Heights for the remaining part of the summer season. Mr. Solomons, who is a member of a large lithographing firm in

New York, thinks the Great White Way well enough in winter, but far behind Casco Bay during the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Kimball and Miss Helen Kimball, of Greenwood, Mass., are occupying their charming new summer cottage "Fairlee" for the month of June. Mr. Kimball is in the wholesale jewelry business in Boston and with his family, has been coming here for some time.

Mr. Peter Maasball and family, of Cumberland Mills, Me., arrived last week for the summer season, and during their stay here, will occupy one of the Albert Griffin cottages. Mr. Maasball is the superintendent of the pulp department in the S. D. Warren Paper Company at Cumberland Mills, and is extremely fond of Casco Bay, this being his second year here.

Mr. Eben Lombard, of Westbrook, Me., has been down at Cliff Island since the first part of the month, making extensive repairs upon the Brackett and Bailey cottages. He is greatly pleased with the island and will probably remain here for the rest of the summer.

Mrs. J. L. Carver of Germantown, Pa., arrived at the island for the summer some time ago and it is possible that she may be joined by Mr. Carver this week. However, Mr. Carver, who is the secretary of the Bartlett tours, may go straight to Norway, where he is intending to spend the summer. Mrs. Carver is being visited by the Misses Haviland, of Philadelphia, who will probably be her guests for some time.

Mr. H. B. Johnson and family, of Gorham, Me., have come down to Cliff Island and will occupy their summer home here for the rest of the season. Mr. Johnson, who owns several cottages around here, expects the coming season to be fully equal to, if not better than that which has preceded it, in spite of the cold weather which has prevailed so far.

The following transfers of real estate have been noticed to have recorded in the Cumberland County Registry of Deeds:—

Alvra W. Pettengill, Portland, to Elmer L. Horr, Portland, land, Main Street, Cliff Island.

Alvra W. Pettengill, Portland, to Rebecca J. Pettengill, Portland, land, Main Street, Cliff Island.

The Misses Laura and Nellie Bennett, of Boston, Mass., arrived at the island on Thursday last week to spend the summer in their cottage on Sunset Road. These ladies have both always been greatly interested in any movements for the good of the community and it was in large measure due to their efforts that the public library was put on such a firm basis last year. The library has been the recipient of many gifts of books from some of the summer residents of last year and the supply of books will be several hundred more in number this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Payne, of New York City have rented one of the A. F. Black cottages for the summer and moved into it during the first part of the month. Mr. Payne, who is a lawyer in New York, returned home a few days ago, but Mrs. Payne will remain for the rest of the summer. Mrs. Payne was at Cliff Island for a short time last summer, and was greatly pleased with the island and the bay.

Mrs. Janet Cobb, of Malden, Mass., and Miss Janet Delano, of Portsmouth, N. H., as usual arrived early and are now occupying the pretty "Daisy" cottage. Mrs. Cobb is spending her twenty-fourth season at Cliff and indeed a season at Cliff without her would be a pretty poor one. She is expecting her granddaughters, the Misses Helen and Adelaide Cobb very shortly. Mr. Horace B. Cobb, of Portsmouth, is also staying at "Daisy" cottage and will remain for a week or ten days.

Mr. Frank E. Black, of Portsmouth, N. H., has bought a cottage at the island and was down over last Sunday to get it in readiness for the summer. He is expected down for good in a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Savage, of Melrose Highlands, Mass., have been guests during the past week of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Kimball at their summer residence, "Fairlea" on the North Side.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Scull and family are expected to arrive at Cliff Island on June 25, for the remainder of the summer season. Mr. and Mrs. Scull, who come from South Bethlehem, Pa., will again occupy "Cozy" cottage, their pretty cottage on the North Side, and are looking forward to a most delightful vacation here.

Mr. Charles M. Cobb, who during the winter has been conducting a most successful grocery business in Lynn, Mass., returned to Cliff several weeks ago and has reopened his store here with a full line of groceries and provisions. Under Mr. Cobb's hustling and energetic management, this store has enjoyed a great success here for several years and the prospects for another busy season are extremely bright. Mr. Cobb will open up his ice cream and soda-water parlor on this Saturday. This part of his store has always been deservedly popular with the young people of the island and this year will prove no exception.

John Small and George Nickerson have been building a new cottage on the Heights for Mr. Capen of Portland, Me. The cottage which is of the most attractive sort of summer architecture, will probably be completed this week and as soon as it is ready Mr. Capen will occupy it for the rest of the summer.

So. Harpswell

Major Jos. Gildersleeve and family of Brooklyn, N. Y., are expected to resume their occupation of their summer home here this week. Major Gildersleeve has been greatly delighted with his past experiences at Harpswell and confidently expects to surpass all his former summers this year.

Mrs. F. B. Dandridge and Miss Dandridge of Birmingham, Ala., left Harpswell on Thursday of last week after having stayed here since the first of the month. Miss Dandridge had as her primary object the collection of specimens for the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, D. C., with which she is connected, but she was so delighted with the place during her short stay here that it was with the greatest reluctance that she left.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Little, Jr., moved into their summer home on Haskell Island and expect to remain all summer in this beautiful retreat of nature.

Professor and Mrs. Richardson of Princeton University, Princeton, N. J., have rented a cottage at Harpswell for the summer and expect to remain until late in the season. Professor Richardson occupies the chair of English at Princeton and has a great reputation throughout the country. Both he and Mrs. Richardson are looking forward to spending a delightful summer among the charms of Casco Bay.

One of the most necessary and strange to say, hardest things to get during the summer is fresh groceries and provisions. Dunn Brothers at West Harpswell, carry everything in this line which could please the most fastidious, and make a boast of the freshness and quality of the eggs, butter, fruits and vegetables they sell.

The Auburn colony, under the same management as last year, opened for the season on Saturday of last week. It is practically certain that all of the cottages will be occupied again this year, and so a most successful summer is anticipated. The Auburn colony is really one of the show places of the bay. With its group of cottages of the most artistic type of summer architecture, all fronting on green lawns, its white tennis court, one of the best in the state, and the great white flagpole, it is indeed a sight to charm the eye of the observer. Not the least of the many attractive features of the colony is the big dining room. This room, where all the residents of the colony take their meals, is easily one of the most delightful in the bay, and the meals that are served there are well worthy of the room.

Miss George Burr and Miss Nina Steele of Lexington, Mass., arrived at Harpswell on Tuesday of this week and expect to remain here for the balance of the season in their pretty little cottage on Hurricane Ridge.

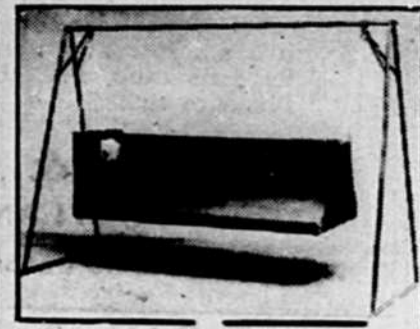

Miss Louise Dana came down to Harpswell for a day last week from her winter home in Westbrook, to open up her house here for the summer. She expects to return again before a very long has elapsed.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Bridge and Mrs. Burroughs of Brookline, Mass., have moved into their charming summer residence here for the remaining part of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Lord, of Newark, N. J., arrived at Harpswell on Friday, June 14, and will occupy their cottage in the Auburn colony for the remaining part of the summer season.

Mrs. A. M. Packard and her daughter, Miss Annie Packard, arrived on

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hubbard and Miss Jones, of St. Louis, Mo. arrived here at Harpswell on Monday, and will be here for the summer as usual. Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard have been coming to Harpswell for many years and the place would not seem like itself without their presence.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Strout of Jay, have arrived at Harpswell and taken up their residence here for the remainder of the summer season. Mr. and Mrs. Strout come here every summer and are inveterate admirers of the place. His two boys will spend the next few winters abroad, and will attend school in Europe.

Mrs. W. A. McCandless, of St. Louis, Mo., and her daughter, Miss Alice McCandless arrived at their charming cottage in the Auburn colony two weeks ago, and will remain here for the remainder of the season. Dr. McCandless is expected to arrive later on and around the first part of July.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. terminating their grandson, Master Howard Bartlett, who is having a most glorious time amid the delights of Harpswell.

Admiral R. E. Peary, who has been absent from Eagle Island during the winter, opened the house about May 15 and since that time, Mrs. Peary, Miss Marie A. Peary and Master Robert E. Peary, Jr. have all been at the house for short periods. The Pearys use Central Landing, Chebeague as an embarking point for Eagle Island now, as Mr. Curit, their boatman lives on the island, and the transportation is more easily arranged than from So. Harpswell. Admiral Peary, however, is frequently at the latter place, which is handier for telegrams and mail.

Miss Alexandria Guioi who was bookkeeper for Dunn Bros. the grocers for a number of years, has left Harpswell and will make her home with Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Childs of Kansas City, Mo.

Mr. Alvin H. Bibber, who has been living in Portland for some time, but is a native of Harpswell, is bookkeeper for Dunn Bros., having taken the position this spring.

The George B. Means cottage will be opened early in June, and is to be occupied by Mr. Means' parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Means, until September, when the owner will come for the month.

Mrs. S. W. Carr and daughter, arrived at their summer home on Hurricane Ridge, the first part of May for the season. The cottage was built last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis A. Scott of Worcester, Mass., opened their fine cottage on Hurricane Ridge early in May and will do considerable entertaining during the summer as usual.

The new cottage which has been built for Mrs. J. P. Thomas at Ash Point on the Spaulding property was finished the last week of May. Mrs. Thomas and her son, Mr. John P. Thomas, Jr., arrived from Boston May 29 to open the house. Mrs. Thomas had made a previous trip to see to the final details of the building.

Mr. Adam H. Dickey of Brookline, Mass., has leased the Thomas cottage, which has been occupied by Mrs. J. P. Thomas for the past four years. The Dickey's, who spent several summers at the Merriconeau house, have taken a three years' lease of this estate and will be much identified with South Harpswell social affairs. Mr. Dickey has a swift motor boat which was built last year.

Charles E. Percy and wife, who have been in Boston the past winter, were among the May 29 arrivals at South Harpswell. Mr. Percy went to Eagle Island, Admiral Peary's summer home, early on the 30th, where he is to be employed for the summer. Charles Percy, senior, lives on Eagle Island as caretaker the year around.

George L. Pinkham, who has been employed as chauffeur in Boston for several years, will not be at So. Harpswell this summer, unless for a short trip to visit his parents.

The new cottage being built by John Hummer will be completed early in June. Mr. Hummer and family and Mr. Abijah Stover and family will occupy it this summer, the latter having let his cottage to the Richardson family of Princeton, N. J., who summered at Chebeague last year.

The new 23-foot fishing boat, "Arcadia," recently built by Charles I. Stover for his own use, is one of the speediest 5-horse boats in the bay, it is claimed by some of the fishermen.

A. E. Pinkham, road commissioner for South Harpswell, has done considerable work on the roads in his district the past few months, and they are in better condition for summer travel than they were last year. Gravel has been hauled and a solid road-bed made where washouts have occurred.

The residents of South Harpswell are indeed fortunate in having a grocery store such as that kept by Frank L. Pinkham. Here the best provisions on the market are delivered quickly and the fresh meat and native garden produce which is established on hand is a feature of the establishment. In addition to food supplies, post cards and attractive souvenirs of the place can be bought here.

Mrs. W. A. McCandless of St. Louis, Mo., arrived at her Colony cottage Monday, May 27, and was joined on the 29th by her daughter Alice.

Messrs. George and Willard Dunn of Dunn Bros., the West Harpswell marketmen, are beginning the season with a greater zeal than ever, intending to cover all of Potts, Ash and Basle points thoroughly with order and delivery teams.

Chebeague

Professor and Mrs. Harmon N. Morse of Baltimore, Maryland, arrived at Chebeague on Saturday, June 15, and expect to occupy their charming cottage at the West End until the latter part of September. Dr. Morse is professor of organic chemistry at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore and is the director of the chemical laboratory at that institution. He plans to make extensive improvements upon his cottage and when these are completed, they will undoubtedly increase the attractiveness of the residence greatly.

Mrs. William M. Stewart, of Philadelphia arrived this week at her summer home near Sunset Landing and expects to be joined by Mr. Stewart, who will be detained in Philadelphia by business affairs for some time, later in the summer. The Stewart cottage is easily one of the most picturesque and quaint houses upon the island, nestling as it does in the midst of a charming old apple orchard. It bears a romantic history as well, for many years ago when smuggling was so common all along the coast, this house had some reputation as a smuggler's rendezvous.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ridge and Miss Jessie Ridge, of Portland, have been frequent visitors at the island this spring, coming down to spend the week ends at their pretty cottage here. They expect to come down to the island for good around June 22, after the commencement at the Portland High School, where Miss Ridge graduates this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Ames Ballard of Ocean View Hotel.

SOUTH HARPSWELL HOUSE BREAKS RECORD FOR EARLY GUESTS.

First Season People Arrive Before June 1, and are Booked until Sept. Many Improvements This Year.

The Ocean View at South Harpswell in which Proprietor Lightfoot and Mrs. Lightfoot resided the past winter, has broken its own record and possibly the Casco Bay record for early season guests. On May 29, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Chartier of Brookline, Mass., who have spent two previous seasons here, arrived and took rooms for the summer. Mr. H. H. Hamilton of New York arrived on May 30. Mrs. Hamilton joined him on the 31st. They will be season guests also. Most of last year's people are booked again and with the new business constantly coming to the Ocean View, it is plain that its deserved popularity has made itself felt widely since Mr. Lightfoot took the property.

Among the prominent Massachusetts people who are booked for most of the summer are: William A. Sargent, Esq., of Boston and Brookline, and his mother, Mrs. Martha A. Sargent. Mr. Sargent was associated with Hon. Joseph H. Choate in the case of the United States against the United Shoe Machinery Co. Both were here most of last summer.

The improvements about the hotel are many, and about $1500 has been spent in shingling, painting, carpenter work, interior re-decorating, etc., and the extension of sewerage. Mr. Lightfoot has engaged the highest class of help possible to obtain, and this is a guarantee of the excellence of the table, which has always been irreproachable under his proprietorship.

Philadelphia, are expected to occupy their beautiful summer home, "Khatmandhu," on June 28, if not sooner. Mrs. Ballard will probably stay here during the entire summer season, but Mr. Ballard's stay will probably be an intermittent one, owing to his having to attend to business affairs during the summer.

The Rev. F. S. Vernon, with Miss Alice and Mr. Campbell Vernon and Miss A. M. Prindle, of Portland, are expected to arrive at the island shortly to occupy their summer home, "Coveside," for the remainder of the season. Dean Vernon is the Dean of St. Luke's Cathedral at Portland.

Mrs. L. M. Passano, with Miss Elizabeth and Mr. Max Passano, of Winchester, Mass., will move into their summer residence, "Lone Ash," to stay until the latter part of September, on June 22. Professor Passano, who is assistant professor of mathematics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will not join his family until late in the summer as he will spend the greater part of the next few months in Baltimore on some special work.

Professor and Mrs. W. H. Howell of Baltimore, Miss Janet and Miss Teresa Howell, and Mr. Roger Howell arrived at Chebeague on June 8, and will occupy their cottage at the West End until September.

Dr. Howell is professor of physiology at the Johns Hopkins University. Mrs. Antoine Dorticos of East Orange, New Jersey, is expected to arrive shortly to spend her twenty-fifth season at Chebeague at her beautifully situated summer residence, "Windermere." Although Mrs. Dorticos has been coming to Chebeague for so many years, she declares that every year its charms as a place to spend the summer are increased in number and that there is no other place which can be compared to it in any way whatsoever.

The Sunday school of the State street Congregational church held its spring picnic on Saturday, June 8, near Sunset Landing. A large number enjoyed the pleasures of the trip and all declared on returning that a most delightful afternoon had been spent by them.

Howard S. Hamilton, the contractor, is building a bungalow 24x35 feet for Rev. Dr. James F. Albion of Portland on the north road near the beach at the east end. The work will be completed about July 1. The lot is one which was purchased from the Littlefield estate about two years ago. Other work being done by Mr. Hamilton includes alterations on the T. B. H. Stenhouse cottage, where a separate kitchen and chamber have been added to the rear, a sun parlor taking in one-half the piazza, enclosed in glass and an additional bath-room. On this property an artesian well was driven last fall by S. B. Hamilton of Melrose to a depth of 122 feet, giving the Stenhouse cottage a plentiful water supply.

R. H. Cleaves has been forced by the steady increase in his business at the bakery and grocery store to enlarge the building to about twice its former size. This work was done during May, and the new emporium for the baking and selling of the daintiest products of the oven is ready for the season's work. This bakery has always been a great convenience to the island and could not but succeed with Mr. and Mrs. Cleaves' able management. Mr. Cleaves will carry on his complete business at this store hereafter, including groceries, provisions, meats, ice, etc. He has given up the store at Hamilton's Landing entirely. Contractor Howard S. Hamilton had the carpenter work on the new building.

Miss Beulah M. Hamilton entertained a party of classmates of Westbrook Seminary at her parents' summer cottage here two days recently. The young ladies were Misses Helen Russell, Almee Currier, Alice Hinds, and the hostess, Miss Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ellsworth and family of East Milton, Mass., have rented the Alder cottage here for the summer season and are expected daily. Mrs. Ellsworth is a sister of Mrs. E. F. Russ of Newton Center, Mass., who with her family, is to occupy the Sylvester I. Hill homestead. Mr. Sherman, the father of Mrs. Ellsworth and Mrs. Russ, is to spend the season with his daughter, Mrs. Ellsworth.

Miss May H. Pollock of Convent Avenue, New York city, has rented the fine large bungalow of Mr. Howard S. Hamilton. Miss Pollock is a new comer to this island and we trust her sojourn among us will be a happy one.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Russ of Newton Center, Mass., with their family, are expected daily on the island for the summer months. The family are to occupy the Sylvester I. Hill homestead again this season. Mr. Russ will make short visits to his family, his business affairs not allowing any extended absence.

Miss Lillian Atwood and sister of Worcester, Mass., arrived at the small Hill cottage on Summit road June 3. They have taken the house for the summer.

Mrs. Nancy Soule, widow of the late Rufus A. Soule of the island passed away at the residence of her sister Mrs. Mary Cook, Congress street, Portland, Wednesday, June 5, after an illness of cancer of the liver. Mrs. Soule was a woman greatly respected and loved by all and since her marriage she has always resided here on the island.

She was a devoted church worker having joined the Methodist church years ago when the Rev. James Wright was pastor. The funeral services were conducted from the Methodist church here, Friday, June 7, at 12 m., Rev. Mr. Merrill officiating. There were several selections by a male quartette composed of Messrs. M. W. Mansfield, R. H. Bennett, H. W. Bowen and H. L. Doughty. Burial was in the family lot here. She was a charter member of Banner Commandery, No. 276, United Order Golden Cross of this island. Two sons are left to mourn her loss, Horace A. Soule of Portland and Merton A. Soule of Springfield.

The ice cream parlors at the East End, which were formerly conducted by M. A. Soule have been taken over by Hamilton and Webber who are planning to carry on an establishment of which the island will be proud. The store has been refitted and made ready in every possible way for the coming season. A new feature of the establishment will be that after the dances and other social events, light lunches will be served and it is thought that this will satisfy a long unfulfilled want. In addition to their ice cream parlor, Messrs. Hamilton and Webber are carrying on an excellent carriage and livery service to all points of the island. As agents for the Casco Bay and Harpswell Company, they meet all steamers and transport trunks and luggage from the wharf to the summer cottages. Prompt and obliging service is guaranteed and one is always sure of being satisfied if one uses their teams.

Mr. W. A. MacDonald, formerly of Phippsburg, Me., has taken over the grocery store at Hamilton's Landing, and is now ready to serve all residents of the island with fresh groceries and provisions of every sort. His store, which bears the name of the Chebeague Cash Grocery, is situated at Hamilton's Landing at the East End, and the provisions which are carried are the very best on the market which can be obtained. One of the features of the establishment is the fine large automobile truck, an innovation in this part of the bay, by which orders are promptly and efficiently carried out.

Mrs. Bicknell Hall and her two sons, Robert and Edward Hall, of Taunton, Mass., arrived at their beautiful summer home, "Folkstone Lodge," at the extreme East End, on Friday, June 8, and will be joined later on by Mr. Hall. The Halls are great admirers of Chebeague and are very prominent in all the social happenings and events of every summer season. They will certainly be accorded a hearty welcome by their many friends here.

Littlejohns Is.

The private wharf at the Dickerman's summer residence is being newly planked and cribbed this month to be ready for the arrival of the family. Mr. Dickerman uses the wharf almost constantly, docking his large power launch there. This launch is seen in all parts of the bay and is remarked upon as one of the finest in these waters.

Mrs. Elizabeth P. Soule of Dorchester, Mass., is installing a steel tower and wooden water tank with a capacity of 2500 gallons, plumbing for hot and cold water, etc., and laying a 4-inch wrought iron soil pipe 250 feet across the cove to take the sewage away from the beach. The power for pumping will be furnished by a motor engine.

Contractor Howard S. Hamilton of Chebeague had the contracts at the Dickerman wharf and at the Soule place this month.
