AMONG THE FARMERS.

"FEED THE FLOW." Indian Summer. Close on the mountain, Easy comes the autumn air.

The Rove Farm. Not far from the Pratt farm in East Oxford is another farm equally as good but disimilar in many of its qualities.

Spiders. In passing over some fields lately, the writer encountered a number of spiders, some especially those of the type which are so common in the insect world.

Alfreda Anle of Buckfield, age 13, briefly but interestingly described her experience in sewing, as follows: Before our class was conducted in Buckfield I thought I could never learn to sew.

Miss Perala N. Andrews, formerly of Paris, who has been spending the summer at Curtis, Nebraska, attended the state fair of that state which was held at Lincoln, Nebraska, last week.

At the close of Thursday's program, with one more day remaining, 206,245 eggs had been sold, and the total attendance probably added twenty to twenty-five thousand, making the total for the week around 280,000.

At the daily building the star attraction was the golden statue of General John J. Pershing mounted on the same paper. The general is in the position of a soldier in the act of saluting.

Silos Require Attention. Silos, to give the best service, need attention every year. Stave silos need the hoops tightened and repaired.

SOUTH PARIS

Rev. J. E. Little of Bethel was in town Wednesday. Merritt Harris of Minot was in the village one day recently.

Here and There.
How would you like to live in Tonga? It is a country without an army, without a navy, without a national flag and without an income tax. It is the favored land of the Pacific Ocean—in the South Sea. It is not a white man's country—it is a brown man's country, which would seem an indication that they were doing the white man one better. Don't think the above list of "white man's burdens" are skipped because the inhabitants of this land are barbarians. They are civilized. They have a parliament. They have schools and public works, so of course have taxes. Last year they had a surplus of revenue amounting to over $400,000. Every man has to do his part in Tonga. The males become of age at sixteen years and are expected to support a family at that time. At that age he must own eight and one-quarter acres of land (there is no trouble with his owning it for the government donates it), and he is expected to plant coconuts, yams and other food enough to support his family.

This does not sound progressive. It may be all right to scream the slogan "back to the soil," but back to the money is going some. Yet that is the cry in New York. It is not only a matter of words but of works. They graft monkey glands into a man of middle age and think they are going to make a boy of him, or a monkey, they have not found out yet. It seems to be a case of "backward, turn backward, oh, time in thy flight, make me a boy or something not quite so bright. One man has already tried the process so perhaps we shall know soon just what it did to him.

One sometimes hears about the church militant, although that organization is supposed to follow the man of peace. Most church fights occur among the personnel of churches and not among the committees, caused by attempting to follow the biblical injunction of putting "in a word in season" to see if the rest of the sentence, "the good is left" will come true. But they had a real church militant in New York last week, when one member was killed, it is said by some of the observers, by being struck over the head with a gold candlestick, and several injured by the Bible and hymn books hurled about the church, which proved as effective for ammunition as for prayer.

About seven hundred miles northwest of Hawaii is a little island called Laysan, of which many years was the home of sea birds. It had a feathered population of millions and in nesting time the ground was white with eggs. In the year 1909 poachers from the feather and plumage industry reached this island and a single year more than three hundred thousand beautiful birds were slaughtered. To-day revenue cutters drive off the poachers but the island is heaped with the bones of victims. It is estimated there are forty thousand tons of these bones, which the government has just sold to be ground into fertilizer.

This is what scientists say: "The old spheroid known as Earth is emerging from what some human diagnosticians might call a severe attack of meteorological mumps. It has been accompanied by an intermittent fever, manifested in a world-wide heat wave of unusual length and intensity. In spite of crises and relapses, earthquakes, tidal waves, cloudbursts, typhoons, water-spouts, hailstorms, floods and hurricanes in a widely separated part, from Kamchatka to Cape Horn and from Guam to Guadalupe—the doctors are confident the patient will recover."

Some people are away searching for the straight and narrow way, or pretend they are. Such people are recommended to go to the Argentine Republic, where there is the longest stretch of straight and narrow way in the world. It is a railroad—the Argentine and Pacific—which extends from Buenos Aires to the foot of the Andes, a distance of 211 miles, without a curve. The land is so level there is no cutting or embankment deeper than two or three feet.

There is the old saying that cleanliness is next to godliness; but with our ideas of godliness, it seems that cannot always be accepted as gospel truth. Some five hundred cakes of soap were recently stolen from a Boston store in the Charlestown district, and the thief was traced by patrolmen because certain school children, usually girls, were forced to leave Russia because of the war. They fled across Siberia to Japan and thence to America. They took with them a servant girl, Matilda Grigb, who was a former peasant girl of Russia. She stated through an interpreter, for she speaks no English, that she was forced to work both out of doors as well as indoors and she had received no pay for it; thus she was using her employer for her wages. Her interpreter was Miss Lillie Harding of Bates College. Grigb speaks excellent English and holds degrees from three universities—Moscow, Paris and Zurich. Miss Grigb obtained a verdict of $1087.

THE OXFORD BEARS.

THE DOINGS OF THE WEEK IN ALL SECTIONS OF THE COUNTY.
Paris Hill.

Services at Paris Hill Baptist church every Sunday at 10 A.M. Sunday School at 11 A.M. Evening service at 7:30. Thursday evening prayer meetings at 7:30.

Pupils who have had 100 per cent out spelling for the week: Esther Curtis, Gertrude Everett.
The health crusade is well under way in Lincoln school, and gains in weight every day. When our children are brought up on fresh farm products do not measure up to the city children in health, and are nearly all below normal, it is up to us to try to find out what we can do for their welfare physically.

Paris fair is over. Sunny faces had to take the place of frowny ones. The fair was a success, especially when it was announced that over $60 had been made. It was a wonderful fair. Watch for the full account next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Wilson of Buffalo, N. Y., were guests of Mr. Wilson's sister, Miss Harriette H. Winslow, the past week. Mr. Wilson drove his car through the Buffalo, returning by way of the White Mountains.

Newton A. Cummings and Charles H. Rogers went to Upton on a hunting trip last week. They were successful in securing a result of which several of their friends have been feasting on venison.

Ernest F. Shaw, who has been living in the Charles M. Johnson house during the summer, moved his family to the Cleary house in South Paris last week. Mr. and Mrs. William E. Atwood and two sons came here from Bangor last week and are occupying the Brooks house.

Mrs. Clayton K. Brooks of Cambridge, Mass., was at Paris Hill last week with all the family on a return trip from Dixfield, where she has been visiting relatives.

The Paris Hill Water Company will begin the work of enlarging its storage reservoir next Monday. The work will be done by James H. Kerr, the Rumford contractor. Persons wishing to see the plans for the enlargement of this job should send their application to Mr. Kerr at Rumford.

The White Mountains were covered with snow on Sunday morning. The rain of Saturday evening seems to have been on the Presidential Range.

Carroll I. Hooper of Boston is here for a few days to see about closing up his summer home.

The most important improvement that has taken place in this village recently is the tearing down of the barn and long shed at the George W. Cole place. Mr. Hubbard has a crew of men under the direction of Philip Mason, who will remodel the house and make it an attractive home for the future.

On Friday night at 8:30, the Philathetas will serve a harvest supper in Cummings Hall. A short entertainment and social will follow the supper. Admission is usual, 25 cents for adults, 15 cents for children, for those who contribute to the supper, 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. Those who do not. Every one cordially invited.

About every one from this vicinity went to the World's Fair at Woodstock, N. H. More people than ever before, and surely more autos and tents. They took over $400 for ground rent and around $875 for meals at the vestry.

On Wednesday a number went to West Bethel to the fair. A fine display of everything in the hall. Some think we can not raise corn, but they had all kinds of all sorts. All the farmers could have seen Ira S. Bickford's display. He has only a few acres on the bank of the river, tends the ferry and his garden. And he is a gardener. Everything he plants is tended and it grows.

Rachel Mayberry brought Shirley Hasleton and daughter Madeline to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur D. Bean, and they went to the fair with them, and stayed all Wednesday, then they carried them home.

S. G. Bean and Sewell Pingree went to E. T. Judkins at North Norway Thursday.

Locke's Mills.
Mrs. Sewell Rowe's name should have been mentioned last week with the members of the Sunshine Club, who were entertained at Bobbie's feast.

East Bethel.
George Harrington is working for Ceylon Kimball.
Mr. and Mrs. Payson Rich of Lewiston were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bick.

Bethel.
Pomona Grange met with the East Bethel grange last Tuesday. There were not as many as at the previous Pomona at West Summit yet 175 sat down to the well filled tables. A good entertainment and a good speaker gave a very pleasant afternoon.

Mrs. B. W. Kimball spent several days last week with her sister, Mrs. G. O. West of South Paris.
The funeral of Hiram H. Bean occurred Thursday at 2 P. M. Rev. Mr. Aobach and Rev. Mr. Curtis officiating. The funeral was at the home. Burial was in the cemetery on the hill at Chicago. He was buried in Middle Intervale cemetery. Mr. Curtis spoke very comforting words. Mr. Bean has been ill for two years.

BEAN'S CORNER.
About 175 members of Oxford Pomona Grange met with the East Bethel Grange, Oct. 6, and enjoyed a fine dinner and an interesting program. Worthy Master Pike called the meeting to order, and fourteen candidates were instructed as to the duties of Pomona. The following program was presented:

Piano Solo—Homerus—Dvorak
Musical—Mrs. Fortia Ford

Bryant's Pond.
On Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 27, the girls of Woodstock High School, with all the faculty, went on a picnic to Bryant's Pond. They were accompanied by guests, went on their annual hike. They tramped to Edwin Thompson's farm on the Rumford Road, where they selected a picnic sheltered place and built a bonfire of coffee, bacon, and frankfurts were cooking; these with bread, pickles, doughnuts, and marshmallows furnished the feast. The picnic was very enjoyable. The tables were all devoured, amid much singing and cheering, the girls started for home, declaring this trip the best one they ever took.

Rev. R. E. Upton and family left Tuesday for their new home in York County. They have purchased a small farm in the town of Lyman. Mr. Upton will have a regular parsonage, but will supply the parish near his home. The parish here has made no arrangements to settle another minister, but at the next Sabbath service Rev. L. F. Cook of East Bethel will be engaged.

The work of labeling at the corn shop was commenced this week and the pack of corn is being taken to the mill. The Farmers' Union is also shipping cider apples.

Frank Littlefield of Lyman, Me., exhibited at Goodwins Mills fair, a yellow raccoon, so light that in certain lights it would pass for white. The animal was recently caught alive in a patch of corn, near Littlefield's farm.

The Boston fishing schooner Mayflower will not be allowed to enter the preliminary races of here Oct. 13 to pick a defender of the International Fisherman's Cup. This was decided by a unanimous vote of the race committee.

Vice President Calvin Coolidge will make his first public appearance in Springfield, Mass., since taking office here in 1921 when he speaks at a dinner to open a local community chest drive. The dinner will take place Oct. 11.

The record of Medical Examiner Thomas B. Smith shows that 69 persons were killed in Lowell streets in the past 13 months. In addition to the fatal railroad accident in Billerica there were a few minor accidents in Lowell streets.

Increased express rates on the Bangor & Aroostock railroad in Maine, decided by the American Express Company last June and ordered suspended, have been declared by the interstate commerce commission to be unjustified and formally set aside.

At the annual convention of the National Woman's Relief Corps, auxiliary to the G. A. R., held in Indianapolis, Ind., Mrs. Agnes H. Parker of Boston, who has just closed a successful year as National patriotic instructor, was elected National president.

A young girl at the Dordham, Mass. High School was sent home with a letter to her mother, for coming to school with rolled down stockings. The School Committee previously issued an order forbidding High School girls to wear rolled down stockings in school.

The body of Melville Kimball, latter, aged 68, of Saco, Me., who left home Sept. 8, 1919, to pick cranberries at the Great Heath, a vast stretch of waste land in the northern part of the city, and was never seen alive afterwards, was found in a sitting position under a tree in that section.

Appraisal of the estate of the late William F. Armstrong of New York shows that the left property valued at $1,822,192. Public bequests exceeded $1,000,000, including a specific bequest of $100,000 and the residuary estate amounting to $728,786, to Wesleyan University of Middletown, Conn.

After nine years of retirement from a long and unusual career in public service, Brig. Gen. William G. Campbell died in his home in Brighton, Mass., at the age of 83. For years he had been the remaining member of the military staff of Gov. Andrew in 1864. In succeeding years he had served on the staffs of seven other Governors.

Judge Morton, in the Federal District Court, Boston, handed down a decision in the case of the Francis Drug Company against Prohibition Director Potter for the return of the liquor seized. The court ruled that it is for the court to order the return of the liquor and not the commissioner, under the prohibition act.

F. M. Wilcox, chairman of the Wisconsin industrial commission, addressing a general session of the national safety congress at the State House, Boston, auditorium, expressed the opinion that the industrial employers should be held responsible for all diseases contracted by their employees during their employment in their particular lines of industry.

Averion of labor to accepting work at reduced wages was assigned as a cause of some unemployment by Roswell F. Phelps, Director of Labor Statistics of the Massachusetts Labor Department, at the National Employment Conference's committee on unemployment statistics, which set to work to determine the extent and volume of the Nation's involuntary idleness.

Boston has 378 local trades unions and 25 central unions or councils, according to figures contained in an industrial directory of labor organizations issued by the Department of Labor and Industries. The total number of the organizations in the State, according to the publication, is 2079 of which number 145 are National, 81 State, District and Trades Councils, 119 Central Labor Unions and Councils and 1734 local trade unions.

Three divisions of New England troops, including one from Massachusetts, will be mobilized as part of the regular army reserve. More than 70,000 officers and men will be summoned in the three divisions in time of war, and about 75 per cent of the strength will be included at all other times. It is to allocate the recruiting of the 94th division of Massachusetts residents in Maine. New Hampshire residents in the 97th division will come from while the 76th division will come from Rhode Island and Connecticut.

The many friends of Major General Charles J. Bailey, U. S. A., will extend to him their warm congratulations upon his promotion to that rank and regular army in succession to Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, who recently went on the retired list to become governor general of the Philippines. Gen. Bailey was an officer at Fort Phila. not so very many years ago, with the rank of captain of artillery. His rise has been rapid since then as he developed a genius for heavy artillery work in the late war, and of numerous devices and systems of operation of heavy ordnance. While in Portland, Maj. Gen. Bailey was a regular resident at the First Baptist church, and both he and his wife were prominent in society affairs.

Edwin H. Lemaire, the new municipal organist for the city of Portland who is to arrive about the middle of October, is weary of "globe trotting" and glad to settle in a city which he says holds much promise for him. In a letter to the Portland Express Mr. Lemaire states that he was considering an offer from a big firm of concert managers in Melbourne, Australia, when the invitation to come to Portland arrived. His wife's counsel was, "Accept it, and let us have a little home in the East among people who will appreciate your art."

For some weeks now, a partridge has been coming to feed with the hens, at the home of Millard Brown, Slesper Road, says the Lewiston Sun. At first he came just at meal time, but living was so good that he says he holds much promise for him. In a letter to the Portland Express Mr. Lemaire states that he was considering an offer from a big firm of concert managers in Melbourne, Australia, when the invitation to come to Portland arrived. His wife's counsel was, "Accept it, and let us have a little home in the East among people who will appreciate your art."

South Paris Evidence for South Paris People

The Statements of South Paris Residents Are Surely More Reliable Than Those of Utter Strangers.

Some testimony is real proof. Public statements of South Paris people carry real weight. What a friend or neighbor says compels respect.

The word of one whose home is far away invites your doubts. Here's a South Paris man's statement and it's for South Paris people's benefit.

Such evidence is convincing. That's the kind of proof that backs Don's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor?

G. W. Cook, retired contractor and builder, Western Avenue, South Paris, says: "I have found Don's Kidney Pills a fine remedy for rheumatic pain and kidney trouble. I have used them whenever I have had painful twinges which would settle in my knee joints. The pains during the night caused me to arise from my bed and walk about to try to get ease from the misery. My back has had a weak feeling right over my kidneys and the secretions pass only with a little aid. Don's Kidney Pills from Howard's Drug Store have never failed to relieve me of those troubles. I wouldn't be without Don's Kidney Pills if I need it. I always recommend them."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Don's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Cook had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

New Fall Fashions

It is our aim and object to bring the service of this Store to the highest possible standard of usefulness to this and the surrounding communities, and this we believe will be emphasized and amply verified in the displays in all departments.

THERE ARE SO MANY NEW GOODS TO WRITE YOU ABOUT

and that we would like to have you see, that we realize at once that to do so in detail would be most inadvisable, as your time as well as ours is too valuable for "long stories," but we invite you to come and see our usual large stock of merchandise. Many new arrivals are contributing very much to the displays.

Not only is the merchandise of this store of well known best qualities at the prices asked, but the style trend is so closely followed as to make the displays most comprehensive and uncommonly valuable, we believe, from a style standpoint.

Proved Recipes.

CANDIED FRUITS.

Divide a small orange into sections and take all the white skin off; separate grapes from the bunch and leave a little stem on each. Cook two cups of sugar and a pinch of cream tartar to the hard crack stage, as for spinning, and dip each piece of fruit into the hot syrup with a wire dipper, such as is used in candy making. Lay on oiled paper or paraffine paper and dry. Serve in little nests of spun sugar.

MARSHMALLOWS.

Dissolve one-quarter pound of gum arabic in one cup of water; strain and add one-half cup of sugar. Stir all the time until dissolved and smooth; then stir in the well-beaten whites of two eggs. Stir until the mixture becomes rather thin, add a little vanilla flavoring, and pour into a pan dusted with cornstarch. When cool out in squares, cut into small squares.

CREAM DATES AND NUTS.

Four the whites of two eggs and one-half cup of ice water into a bowl and mix well without beating. Stir in confectioners' sugar until a sugar dough is made that can be kneaded. Be sure to get it stiff enough, as it soon grows soft. Add flavoring and knead until smooth. Roll a bit of the dough into a small ball and press half an English walnut meat into each side. Stone dates, fill with the sugar dough, roll in powdered sugar and set aside. For peppermints, add a few drops of the essence and make into small balls, which may be pressed flat, or the dough may be rolled and cut with a small cutter. In the same way make wintergreen mints, and if liked add a faint coloring of either pink or green. These candies sell well at fairs, if they are made and put in dainty boxes tied with baby ribbon.

BUTTER SCOTCH.

Put two cups of granulated sugar, one cup of butter, one-half cup of older vinegar and two tablespoons of molasses in a saucepan. Cook 10 minutes, test in cold water, and if it has candied pour into buttered tins and out in squares when cool enough. If it has not candied at the end of 10 minutes cook a few minutes longer, but watch closely.

PULLED SUGAR CANDY.

Boil slowly for one-half hour two cups of granulated sugar, one cup of water and one level teaspoon of cream tartar. Pour out on a large oiled plate or slab, and when cool enough pull until right to make up into sticks.

WALNUT WAFERS.

Break two eggs, add one cup of sugar and stir to mix well; then add one cup of English walnut meats, chopped, and three-quarters cup of sifted flour, and beat well. Drop by teaspoonfuls on a buttered pan some distance apart, and bake in a quick oven.

PERUCHE.

1 cup white sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar
2 cup milk
Butter size of an English walnut
Stir and let boil, then add pinch of salt. Cook until it forms a soft ball in cold water. Remove from stove, add one teaspoon vanilla. Beat until it thickens, add one cup nuts and beat enough.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE.

Put two cups of sugar, two-thirds cup of milk and two squares of chocolate to either in a granite saucepan and when it has boiled four minutes test to see if a soft ball will form when a little is dropped in cold water and rubbed between the fingers. After three minutes' cooking add a rounding teaspoon of butter. When the fudge will become a soft ball add a half teaspoon of vanilla and take from the fire. Stir until smooth and thick enough to keep in shape; then spread a half inch thick in a shallow buttered pan. Mark off in squares as it cools.

One Pound of Baking Powder.

Baking powder often runs short at a crucial moment when one has a cake self raised, thinking there is plenty of it on hand. Of course, the far-sighted housekeeper plans to replenish each of her pantry supplies before the stock is exhausted, but she generally buys baking powder in small quantities so as to save it fresh. A pound can of baking powder can be bought at regular intervals if one approximately how many teaspoonfuls it contains and how many teaspoonfuls are needed for the cooking during any given period. The Experimental Kitchen of the United States Department of Agriculture has determined, by scientific weighing and measuring, that there will be a variation between 125 and 150 spoons in a 1-pound can of baking powder. This is assuming an average weight of 3.3 grams for a 5 c. o. or standard teaspoon.

In a home where hot biscuits are made every morning, possibly four teaspoons of baking powder would be the average amount daily to leaven a pint of flour; if a cake was made on Saturday calling for three teaspoons of baking powder and perhaps cookies earlier in the week, requiring two teaspoons of baking powder, a minimum of about 35 teaspoons a week would be required. The pound can therefore should last from three to five weeks, but if extra baking, not counted in this estimate, is necessary, it would be well to replenish the baking powder once a month. Similar estimates with other foods can be made by the individual housewife. The rule that three teaspoons make one tablespoon is sufficiently accurate for practical purposes, say specialists in home economics in the United States Department of Agriculture. It may be interesting to the housewife to measure or herself the number of cups of coffee she is likely to obtain from a pound, reckoning one tablespoonful per cup. Knowing how many cups are made every day she can easily compute the amount of coffee needed during the week or month.

Laundress' Chat.

A good way to wash woollens is to half fill a tub with warm water and add to it a little ammonia and enough soap suds to make a lather. Squeeze the articles between the hands, but do not rub, until they are perfectly clean. Rinse in clear warm water, fold and press through wringer several times. Shake and hang out to dry.

Laundry soap should stand several weeks before using. Unwrap and store in a dry place.

To remove fruit, sauce or blood stains from table linen, front of shirtwaist, jacket, etc., saturate stain with peroxide of hydrogen and allow it to dry. If stains do not disappear on first application repeat the operation until it does. Not necessary to remove table linen from table.

Coffee stains, even when cream has been put in the coffee, may be removed from table linen by rubbing the spots with pure glycerine; rinse afterwards in lukewarm water.

If your irons become rough and sticky, wash in warm, soapy water, dry and rub with emery paper.

A pad for wiping bathrobes is quickly made by taking an old magazine and shaving bees' wax between the pages. The pages can be taken off as soiled.

Fireless Cooker for Raising Bread.

In very warm or very cold weather it is often difficult to maintain an even temperature in which to allow a bread dough to rise. If a sponge is set at night, it should be kept at constant temperature (60° to 75° F.), depending on how long it is to stand. Whenever a dough has been prepared (a slatted bread from a sponge), the temperature should be fairly warm—between 80° and 85° F. A good way to assure an even temperature in either case, it is suggested, is to set the sponge or dough in the fireless cooker, using a thermometer to start with, to determine the temperature when the dough or sponge is put in.

Reduced Prices on I H C Farm Machines

REDUCED prices recently announced by the International Harvester Company of America on its entire line of farm machinery, places us in a position where we can offer corresponding reductions on I H C farm-operating equipment.

We believe our customers will see the wisdom of placing orders now at the reduced prices for such machines as they will need in the near future. The reduced prices, coming at this particular time, enable you to secure planters, cultivators, haying and harvesting machinery at prices that we could not quote earlier in the year.

We know that it is a serious problem for the farmer as to whether he should buy new and modern machinery, either of the same or greater capacity than that which he is now using, or whether he should make another attempt to put in as good repair as he possibly can his old machinery.

To those in doubt, we offer the following suggestion: List all the repairs which you need for old machines, keeping the list for each machine separate, then bring the lists to us. We will give you an estimate of the cost of these repairs, and you can then determine the best course to pursue.

Look at this subject from different angles—

1st. Will the repairs which you may buy now actually put your machines in good order, and will these repaired machines perform their work in a satisfactory manner?

2nd. Will the cost of repairs which may add only a year's additional life to an old machine be justified? If you will need a new machine next season, perhaps the cost of the repairs now will be out of proportion to the service or life which they will add to the machine.

And finally, if you contemplate the purchase of a new farm-operating equipment, we want to impress two important thoughts upon your mind: The quality, efficiency and capacity of the International Harvester lines, and the value to you of I H C Repair Service, which is prompt, dependable and continuous.

Mad Feeling for Daddy.
Maxine was visiting a friend. Her mother told her to return home at four o'clock, and when the time arrived she put away her playthings and prepared to leave. Her friend urged her to play just a little longer, but seriously she replied: "No, Mollie, I can't play any longer, for if my daddy comes home from work and I'm gone he will cry his blue eyes out."

Get Many Silly Complaints.
Every day the postmasters in the larger cities receive countless letters of complaint. Not unaccountably among so large a number there are many of a frivolous nature. For example, one woman wrote that the carrier who delivered her letters was engaged to a woman twice his own age, and requested that he should be asked to break off the engagement or be dismissed.
