Dyspepsia, Constipation, Piles, Rheumatism, Catarth, Consumption, diseases of the Skin, Blood, Heart, Liver, Kidneys, Bladder, otc., were caused by Seminal Weakness, and resisted all treatment till it was cured, and that 49 of every 50 could not be cured without local applications of the proper remedies direct to the organs, as medicines by the stomach alone proved worse than useless. This discovery, with a gifted intuition to detect the fatal and latent complications affecting his patients, is the reason of his curing so many who had tried the advertised medicines and most eminent physicians in this country and Europe. In his MEDICAL & PHYSIOLOGICAL WORK, published in 1852, these subjects are treated upon fully, and for the first time by any physician or anthor.

Dr. HEATH, by request and permission of his patients, can present the evidence of those who had suffered from a few months to 30 years; been treated by as many as 20 professors and physicians; paying from $100 to $6,000, and pronounced incurable, who have enjoyed the best of health from one to 25 years, since his treatment.

NOVEL SCENE IN A COURT ROOM .- The Providence Journal of the 8th says: Providence Journal of the 8th says:

An unusual scene took place yesterday afternoon, during the trial of the case Burges vs. Anderson. The case is brought to recover moneys won at various times from the plaintiff at faro by fraudulent practices. The plaintiff used, as an illustration of the technicalities of the game, a complete faro table, with its marking apparatus and silver cue-keeper's box. An expert, Mr. Daniel H. Helme, took his seat at the table and played the game, the counsel and other spectators betting on the cards, and several of the spectators won their bets, although luck was largely in favor of the bank. He then took a set of "strippers," that is, a pack in which certain of the cards were trimmed at the sides to an edge, unobservable to the eye, but easily perceived by the touch of the dealer.

By this device the dealer knew the position of any were trimed as the sides to an edge, and the sides to an edge, the strippers are the dealer knew the position of the cards are the dealer knew the position of the cards are the dealer knew the position of the cards are the sides to an edge, the sides to the dealer knew the position of the cards are the dealer knew the position of the cards are the sides to an edge the sid ceived by the touch of the dealer.

By this device the dealer knew the position of any card, and by dealing two at a time, when necessary, was able to make the opposite players lose at will. This false deck of cards being inserted into the box the spectators, betting at choice against the bank, found that the dealer distributed the favors of fortune all to himself, and were at once convinced how immoral a thing gambling is.

The expert testified that he had been in the service of the defendant, and had used the service of the defendant, and had used the "strippers" to defraud his innocent cus-tomers. The defendant denies the use of the "skin game" at his place, and says the story of the expert is a fabrication, resulting from a personal enmity. However that may be, that such a sinful game is possible seemed to be pretty clearly demonstrated in open court.

THE DETERIORATION OF THE WHEAT

CROP.-Frederick Watts, Commissioner of Agriculture, in a recent letter says:

The experience of many years has led me to the conclusion that the deterioration of the wheat crop is mainly attributable to the improper and untimely use of barnyard manure. In our practice the clover sod is turned down and planted with corn. The ground is again plowed in the spring and sowed with oats, and upon the stubble of this crop all the manure of the barnyard is put, then plowed again and sowed with wheat. This delicate plant is thus subjected to the rawness and grossness of barnyard food, with all its germs of flies, worms, lice and bugs—seemingly a sufficient cause of the unsuccessful growth of a grain so pure and delicate as wheat. Corn Agriculture, in a recent letter says:

is the hog of plants, and will devour food of any quality and thrive upon it. Here, then, the sod to be plowed for corn, is the place for barnyard manure. Bury it deep, and when the corn is cut off break the stubble even with the ground during winter. In the spring harthe corn is cut off break the stubble even with the ground during winter. In the spring harrow the ground well, sow your oats upon it and roll it. You will thus keep your manure where you put it, and not subject the oat crop to being thrown down by it. When this crop is removed, bring the manure to the surface by deep plowing and thorough tillage. The barnyard manure having thus received proper preparation, is a fit food for the wheat plant. Experience has taught me this lesson. On my farm in Pennsylvania I never fail to raise a satisfactory crop of wheat, and I have raise a satisfactory crop of wheat, and I have known no such thing as midge, Hessian fly or

The Grog Shops-No. XIII.

I continue these articles because I have reason to believe that people do not tire of them; Osgood & Co., the Boston publishers, are achaving been assured of this many times, from a variety of sources. I wish all the better part of our people to comprehend the situation: - if we can hold on as we have for a year, the success of the movement against the grog shops is assured, not only for Maine, but for New England, for all the northern States, eventually for the entire Union, and for all English speaking countries. The benefits of the accomplished work will be so grand and beneficent to all the interests of society, that our policy will certainly be followed by many other people. other people.

Here is an incident to show how the grog shops affect the interests of those who don't drink: A friend stopped me in the street to-day to tell it to me. He is carrying on an important mechanical work in the city, in which skilled workmen are indispensable. With a great deal of troubfe and cost, he obtained a foreman, who is perfect master of his business, and under his supervision, the work turned out of the establishment is of the very best smallty, and gives great satisfaction to turned out of the establishment is of the very best quality, and gives great satisfaction to the proprietor and the customers. The eye of the master workman is constantly required, and many of the most difficult and delicate processes must be performed by his own hand; and this foreman has large wages.

But last Monday, the foreman was not "on hand," and the works were in a sad toss, for want of the skill that he alone possessed, and for the direction to affairs that he alone could give. By the next day, the proprietor had tracked him to a low Irish rum hole, and finally succeeded with a great deal of trouble and time and with the help of the police, in recovering him so far, as to start his works again, though he was yet in a shocking trouble and time and with the help of the police, in recovering him so far, as to start his works again, though he was yet in a shocking condition from his debauch of Sunday and Monday. While he was lying prone upon the floor, suffering dreadfully from the poison sold by these villains, and even more from shame and remorse at his violated pledges and promises, and at his abuse of his employer's confidence,—a letter was brought to him; his employer was standing by:—"You read it"—he said—"I can't," and his employer did so; and here it is.

A satisfactory refutation of the charge of vandalism brought against the Germans by the French is to be found in the condition of Versailles. The beautiful palace of St. Cloud was ruined by French artillery, but that of Versailles, for months occupied by the Prussians, the lower hall used for an ambulance, has suffered not the slightest injury. The statues of warriors who fought against Germany still do sentinel duty at the entrance, intact, while within not a picture has been scratched, nor the smallest article of vertu removed. When Napoleon I. invaded Germany services and here it is.

Cows For the Dairy.—A writer in the Rural Home says:

We believe that a great mistake will be made, if dairymen should be led away by the prevailing fashion to favor the introduction of Jersey blood into their herds. It would result in reducing the size and feeding qualities, and enfeebling the constitution, without any corresponding gain in the way of additional milking value. True, we might have richer milk for butter making, but not for cheese. The milk of the Ayrshire cow, though somewhat lacking in richness for butter making, is full of caseine, and therefore, valuable to the cheese maker. The finest and best dairy cows we ever saw were obtain-Cows For THE DAIRY .- A writer in the and best dairy cows we ever saw were obtained by a cross of Ayrshire on first class native cows, followed by a cross of Short-horn, the result being half Short-horn to a quarter each AMERICAN STEEL .- The manufacturers of heavy steel tools in this country are doing a large business at the present time. It is stated that some American makers have en-tered into the Australian market, and are oftered into the Australian market, and are of-fering saws, axes and other valuable tools, of a quality which almost places Sheffield competition at a defiance, as regards finish. A polish is gained which is not even attempt-ed in the majority of instances to be placed upon Sheffield made goods of this description. This confession from a leading English au-thority speaks well for the skill of American manufacturers of steel goods.

A Confidence Game. A Confidence Game.

It is not safe to put implicit confidence in the assumption of the leaders of the Democracy, the Democratic National Committee and the New York World that an independent Democratic ticket will be nominated at Baltimore on the 9th of July. The World has a habit of thinking aloud which is of the greatest possible service in determining the real purposes of the Democratic party. This soliloquizing tendency on the part of the leading Conservative journal in America is one of the most astonishing intellectual phenomena we have ever noticed. Before the Cincinnati Convention it openly bade its Democratic associates, whomit acknowledged to be intensely interested in that "conference" and to be morally participating in it, to appear to be unaware of its existence. It daily informed its readers that if Democrats disclosed their real interest and agency in the affair it would create in Republican minds an unpleasant prejudice against it. As if even the most stupid world couldn't guess a riddle when the whole "iniquity" of it was voluntarily laid hare to it! Now the World exhorts Democrats not to seem to favor the adoption of the Cincinnati ticket by the Baltimore Convention. It explains that a prejudice against Greeley and Brown will be created if they are seen to be clasped to the Democratic bosom It advises Democratic journals and speakers to appear to ignore Horace at present altogether, and to say, if anything, that they take rather more interest in the trilobite and the dodo than in Chappaqua's sage. Thus, reasons the wily counselor, will many thousands of genuine Republicans commit themselves to the Cincinnati ticket before we meet at Baltimore, and then we can endorse it and ensure it success. It we give it a premature approval, it will obtain no appreciable Republican following, and it will be of no more use to us than the Seymour and Blair ticket of 1868. If there are intelligent men in Maine to whom the principles of the Republican party are dear, but to whom the Cincinnati nominations seem somewhat attractive, they will certainly pause before they walk into a trap the existence, position and evil report of which are fully explained to them. The Democracy say to them plainly, "We look coldly on Greeley and Brown in order that they may seem desirable to you; but when you ticket and you with it." A moments reflection will show what an advantage the Democrats possess in this matter, and how much better it will be for their purposes to adopt an available foreign ticket than to nominate one of their own. The author of the Broadhead letter and a radical Democrat is the man who really nominated Greeley and Brown, outwitting Grosvenor, White, Schurz, David A. Wells and all the real originators of the Convention. The ticket is, therefore, satisfactory to them. Gov. Brown, the friend and protege of Frank Blair, would be the real head of the administration over which an honest but capricious and easily manipulated Republican would preside. Thus we should have once more a government controlled by the Blairs, and the days of Andre w Johnson are not so remote that anybody has forgotten what kind of a government that is. Of one thing we may be entirely certain—it would be a government in which both the brains and hands would be suppose Lamoille could raise the money, and Democratic. "But," says some one, "there is the platform! They couldn't do anything very bad, for they would be restrained by that!" Herein is a great and dangerous fallacy. What care they for the platform? Such as it is, it is none of their making. In adopting the candidates they do not necessarily adopt the platform precious bundle of dull generalities and negations that it is! They would, therefore, in case Mr. Greeley were elected, be left perfectly free to pursue their own inclinations, having the power once more to do as they pleased. This is a result to which Tribune Republicans are invited to have given in your adhesion to them in suf-

A Strange Thing to Do.

It would be a strange thing to elect a man to the Presidency of this country who in every important crisis since 1858 would have taken a course, as we know from his recorded utterances, which, as is now acknowledged on all hands, would have been essentially wrong in all cases and fatal in some of them. Just go over the record once more: Douglas against Lincoln for Senator in 1858; peaceful secession in 1860; "on to Richmond" early in 1861; the overthrow of Lincoln and peace at any price in 1864 and the immediate restoration of Rebels to their political rights after their defeat in 1865, thus rendering reconstruction impossible and throwing the government instantly into the hands of its enemies.

A GGOD MOVE .- The High School Class of '72 has recently taken action in regard to the class party of the graduates which will commend itself to the good sense of all interested, When the school numbered less than a hundred pupils, the class party was a small and a quiet social gathering. But for several years past it has become large and formal, and very expensive to those who get it up. For these reasons many of the graduates and most of the community have lost their interest in it. Each class, however, on whom it has devolved to give the party, has been unwilling to take the responsibility of of giving it up. But the young ladies of the class of '72, by a vote of eight-ninths of their members, soon released the class of '71. from their obligation to give the party; and this action was unanimously endorsed by the young men of the class, who added a request to the graduating class of '71 that they will not give a party; and they ask their co-operation in bringing about a discontinuance what has little interest in it as a school affair. When the High School Alumni Association gets more fully to work, it can probably arrange for an occasional re-union that will be less expensive and more satisfactory.

THE New York World after coquetting with the Cincinnati nomination, and confounding its readers by looking "eross-eyed" at the Democratic party and the Liberal movement, has at length come out flat-footed against the Greeley movement. In an article entitled: "Shall the Democratic Party Commit Suicide?" it scouts the idea of taking up the Cincinnati ticket at Baltimore, and in a strain hardly politic, should the action at Baltimore prove favorable to that ticket. Nevertheless, it sees the danger ahead to its party, and correctly estimates that the adoption of the Greeley ticket would be fatal to that party a clear case of felo de se. To show the absurdity of the proposition the World asks: "What would become of the Republican party if it should run Alexander H. Stephens or Robert Toombs as its candidate for President? Mr. Greeley as a Democratic candidate is not a whit less self-stultifying."

It should remember, also, that it has a goodly number of venerable Democratic patrons who having drawn their straight Democratic inspirations from the Argus for more than half a century, still fondly cherish the delusion that it is an out and out Democratic paper. What will they say when the Argus squelches Democratic speeches, because they criticise the man who has said of the Democratic party that is "recruited from the haunts of vice and debauchery!"

THE people who attended the flag raising to hear the music and see the fun were doubtnot a little surprised to learn from the Argus the head of its own offspring. Do the they were so red hot as to be termed a "seething mass of humanity" by that enthusiastic journal.

To the Editor of the Press: To convince the Portland public that there was no trouble about getting through the Notch, the chief engineer of the Vermont Central was deputed to make a preliminary survey. This survey was made in the dead of winter. His report was all that could be desired. "There were no lions in the way, there were no formidable difficulties to be encountered." In due time a prominent citizen of St. Johnsbury appeared in Portland, and laid the matter before her people. Presently the master spirit of the Vermont Central likewise made his appear ance at Portland. He went a second time. In a public address he drew a most glowing picture of the advantages of the whole scheme. It was his his judgment, and his assurances, and his demonstrations, that in very large measure gave Portland the courage to undertake her part of the work. It was the Vermont Central Railroad that first proposed this line through the Notch, with a view to securing the great business East and West, then declared sure to pass over it. It was the same Vermout Central h at spent money and time and labor to urgo Portlaud, St. Johnsbury, and other communi-ties up to the building of the Notch Railroad. It was this same corporation that exerted itself to procure from the New Hampshire legislature the charter necessary for the Notch route-and it was the same corporation that promised to lease the whole line when completed, and pay six per cent. on the cost thereof. There was no talk then, either before or after their own survey had been made of "grades," "curves," "snow embargoes," "slides," "ice on the rails," "floods from the mountains," and a thousand other impracticabilities that, all on a sudden and subsequently, were found to exist! The Vermont Central knew then, as well as it knows now, that these are all bug-bears. So long as that corporation hoped to turn this railroad to its own account, to handle and use aud manage it for its own interest, no serious diffi culties, either physical or economical, stood in the way. What circumstances led to its extra-of front, will now be set forth. Montpelier, seeing the interest taken by the Central, by Portland and St. Johnsbury, con-cluded the road "would be built anyway," and procrastinated, put off, and finally declined to raise her part of the funds. On this account. matters stood at a dead lock for some time, the other parties in interest being profoundly stirred up at her defection. Meantime, the people here, in the Lamoille Valley, who had no railroad facilities at all, seeing how matters stood, conferred with St. Johnsbury about extending the line west through this country to Swanton and Lake Champlain, and thereby shortening the distance some thirty miles to Montreal and the West. Montpelier, having repudiated her part of the contract, the St. Johnsbury people said to the Lamoille Valley, "Raise $10,000 per mile, and you shall have the road." Prior to this, an interview was had with the Vermont Central management, which, disgusted with the unhandsome conduct of Montpelier, consented fully to making of this pledge to the Lamoille by St. Johnsbury; in other words, released St. Johnsbury from the implied obligation to hold to the Montpelier road. The Vermont Central doubtless did not lier to its duty. Lamoille set at work, and, to the astonishment of everybody, did raise the money! Upon this, Montpelier, thoroughly frightened, sought to undo her work. Committees met the St. Johnsbury people at Boston and elsewhere, and made every effort to induce them to break faith with the Lamoille Valley. Montpelier offered to build the whole distance to the St. Johnsbury road, and pay the bills, and some of the wealthiest citizens of the place offered to give their personal security that this should be done, if only St. Johnsbury Johnsbury could not be hired to break her pledge. The Lamoille Valley road was a heavy undertaking, but the conditions named had been fulfilled, and St. Johnsbury stood to her ordinary change of sentiment, or rather change promises like a rock. Montpelier's next effort was to get the books of the Montpelier and St. Johnsbury railroad reopened. They had been opened duly. Mont-pelier had subscribed nothing. St Johnsbury ccordingly, took the stock and closed the books. Montpelier, now that the Lamoille Valley diversion threatened, appeared upon the ground, backed by the Vermont Central, and wanted a chance to subscribe to the Montpelier and St. Johnsbury stock. To get the managing share, she would have subscribed a million dollars if necessary. It was too late. She could not be accommodated. She had forfeited every claim to further indulgence. Under the circumstances, she was not to be allowed to set her heel upon the necks of her less-favored neighbors in the Lamoille Valley, and kill off the fruit of their work. There were loud threats of recourse to law. They were never carried into execution. It would not be pleasant to pay costs and lose the case too. In the meantime the project of an iudependent line from Portland to Lake Champlain had been gaining strength and taking form all along the line. Boston became aroused. The Vermont Central bondholders, an association of Boston capitalists, and who, of course, care more for Boston than for any other community in the world, began to bestir themselves to head off this threatening rival. Having failed to secure connection with the Portland road at West Danville; or, in other words, by the Montpelier line, and finding that they must concede something to the Lamoille Valley enterprise, they proposed building a branch, further west, to con-nect their line with the Portland road, or from Waterbury to Morrisville. This, they argued, would pacify the most important part of the Lamoille Valley, and would be a virtual fulfilment of the pledges of St. Johnsbury; it would also effect what the Vermont Central has from first to last, and above all, desired, to wit, cut prospective connections with Montreal and the this. Her pledges to the Lamoille Valley and Franklin County were to be kept in full. So this fell through, although the Central would build the branch at their own expense. The Central made yet a third effort. from Cambridge, on the Portland road, to Georgia Bridge, on its own line. Observe, the proposition was not to build from Cambridge to Burlington. O, no! The Vermont Central didn't want the Portland road to touch Lake Champlain at any point. All its propositions and all its arrangements have had in view making the Portland road its subordinate, and a pensioner upon its bounty. This proposition, like the others, was rejected, because its accept-would compel St. Johnsbury to break faith with us in the Lamoille Valley, and our neighbors west in Franklin county. St. Johnsbury, Standing to her pledges, she got a shorter route and a better route in every regard. Montpelier's defection proved to be the best thing for St. Johnsbury, and will prove great gain to the whole line. It led to the choice of an independent road from Casco Bay to Lake Champlain, and thence to Montreal and the West. From this point onward, from the time it became evident that its purposes could not be carried out, the hostility of the Vermont Central to the Portland Railroad began to be manifested. In the language of its own recent exponent and advocate, its "former feeling of friendship vanished," and it began to act in the should not be at all, has been the temper manifested. To cut Portland off from Ogdensburg, the ultimate point of destination, it leased the "Old Ogdensburg" line, a move, as matters are issuing, proving utterly abortive for the purpose intended. It hoped to cut Portland off from Montreal likewise, and the great railway system thence westward, now entering upon construction. Its hope has turned to ashes on its lips. And now, forgetful of the past, with the most audacious disregard of its own record as respects the Notch route, it is pouring out through every medium at its-command, a torrent of abuse and misstatement upon managers of that railroad imagine that the people of Portland have no memories?

offer to lease the whole road at six per cent? And now, when, through elaborate columns of misrepresentation, effort is made to disgust the Portland public with their undertaking, will not that public hold-up the present to the mirror of the past, and see how the impression tally? Gentlemen of the Vermont Central you are at once too late and too soon-too late because your former utter nees have been pro-mulgated—too soon because they are not yet forgotten. Your counsels, gentlemen, we feel free to believe, have not been sought. Portland has every reason to be distrustful of you. Parties who can eat their own words, and deny the common sense of their own repeated negotiations with such composure, need not look for extension or renewal of confidence at a moment's notice. It certainly, is something astonishing that such attacks upon the Notch route should originate in such a quarter, when it was first uggested in that very quarter, and three successive efforts were made to secure an interest in the route, to make a junction with it at such points as involved contest with all the grades, curves, mountains, rocks, slides, etc., now so athetically described and deplored. It is only new illustration! that "circumstances alter

The people of northern Vermont ask the citzens of Portland to remember that, in the hope and with the assurance that Portland would not fail of her part of the implied conract, we have gone forward, and built and set n operation nearly fifty miles of railroad, have over half of the residue graded, are going on with the work, and are incurring the expendiure of over three million dollars to give Port and a clean independent line to the West. In all this we are working for ourselves, of course, out are working none the less for you. If you fail to meet us in due time, you will harm u greatly-not ruin us, but hurt us. For you to rive up this route for the southern, is to become in insignificant link in a chain of Boston-conrolled railroads. It is to throw away your chance for the business of northern Vernont. It is to make your chance for brough business dependent upon the will of Boston capitalists. It is to see fares and freights adjusted against you. It is to fling away the assurance of independent and shorter lines to Montreal, Ogdensburg, and the West, now secured. It is, in fine, to throw away every advantage for which you have equivalent, cannot be secured on any other ine or by any other expenditure.

PROSPECTS OF THE TARIFF BILL.

The indications multiply daily that the House will pass the tariff bill substantially in the present form during the week, and so soon as that is out of the way it is certain that Mr. Dawes will report and ask the House to pass the Senate resolution. When the internal revenue sections of the tariff bill, which are also included in the resolution closing debate on Thursday, are reached, Mr. Dawes intends to move to strike off all taxes except those on whiskey, malt and spiritous liquors and tobacco, and to provide for the collection of these by stamps. The rates of taxes will be nearly the same as that in the pending bill, and the system of collection by stamps will permit the practical and early absorption of nearly the entire working force of the Internal Revenue Bureau. Judge Kelley and his high-tariff followers will unite with Mr. Dawes in the reduction of the internal revenue, but it is doubtful if Senator Sherman and the Finance Committee of the Senate accept it without considerable change. PROSPECTS OF THE TARIFF BILL.

POLITICAL INTRIGUES. The conspirators against the re-election of Gen. Grant, having completed their Cincinnati job, are now busily intriguing here to influence the Philadelphia Convention. They hope that they can in some way prevent the renomination of Gen. Grant there, and nursing the hopes of half a dozen Republicans who have Presidential aspirations, by intimating that they will succeed if Gen. Grant can be gotten out of the way. It is known, however, that these advances have already been repelled by Mr. Colfax, Mr. Blaine and Mr. Morton, each of whom is a staunch advocate of the renomination of Gen. Grant as the regular Republican candidate and of his re-election. Whether they can "pull woo?" over the eyes of any other gentle-man deluded by ambition remains to be seen; but they will be busy between now and the meeting of the Philadelphia Convention, add-ing all the while to their miserable record of intrigue, falsehood and deceit.

The Louisville Courier Journal has fou omething to praise in the nomination of Mr. Greeley. The announcement of it in the House broke the thread of a Congressional speech. Somebody in Wisconsin has discovered tha the northwestern boundary of the Common-wealth resembles a profile of the respected Father of his Country, and now it wants to be called the Washington State.

His father, who died at the age of one hundred and six years, also had his second crop of hair and set of teeth "May it be written on my grave that I never was a follower, and lived and died in nothing its debtor." Thus wrote Horace Greeley of the Democratic party twenty years ago. Now there is no desire so strong in the philosopher's heart as to become "its debtor" to the largest degree.

Who has changed?
Seward Mitchell, of Cornyille, is the member of the Woodhull National Committee for this State. Mr. Mitchell is a well-to-do farmer, a zealous debater, a diffuse writer, who don't stand about such trifles as orthography, a hater of churches, rum and dogs. He is a commu nist who raises excellent apples.

GRUMBLER'S OVER THE CINCINNATI NOMIN-ATION. Mr. Atkinson, the Massachusetts free-trader, fairly and squarely bolts the nomination of Horace Greeley. He says, "Lest I should be supposed to intend to support this nomination, I desire to say that if I have been 'a humble candle of the Lord in promoting the nomination of Horace Greeley' for President, I desire to atone for my want of sagacity and astuteness by opposing his election in every possible way.' He wants a mass meeting in the capital of every State on the same day and at the same hour, making allowance for difference of time: "To see what action may be taken to secure the nomination and election of Charles Francis Adams as President of the United States; and to abolish the spoils system of Government."

Thousands fall a prey to disease not beca maladles that affect them are necessarily fatal, but tality to make a valiant resistance to the enemy. It is a wise precaution to keep the body always in a state of defence—always prepared to "fend off" the germs of epidemic and other disorders, and to baffle the evil influence of damp miasma and sudden ther mometrical changes. There is no difficulty in doing this. It is a fact as well authenticated as that two and two make four, that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters s specially adapted to this purpose, and for the simple reason that its invigorating and regulating properties are superior to those of any other medicine in the world. During the twenty years that it has been in general use, ample opportunities have been afforded to compare its medicinal properties with those of other preparations claiming to be of a similar class, and the result has been its adoption by the American people as the standard tonic of the age, its introduc-tion into every civilized portion of the western hem-isphere, and an annual sale which dwarfs into insig-

A few days ago an imbecile daughter of George Archibald, twelve years old, living on Portland street, set fire to a pile of paper in one of the upper rooms of her father's house, and in trying to stamp out the tflames her clothes took fire and she was severely if not fatally burned. The neighbors saw the smoke issuing from the windows, and rushing in found the poor girl lying upon the floor.

The frequency of accidents in large towns within easy distance of Portland, is an argument for the completion of the General Hospital, where the unfortunate can have their sufferings attended to, often better than at home. Young men without families and homes and laboring men who have not more than the neces sities of life at their command would be especjally benefitted by such an institution. Stone & Murray's Circus will be in Portland that our citizens who assembled at the house of Commodore Churchill on Monday night were annoyed by missiles thrown into the crowd and into the windows of the house by some infamous miscreant who was not detected in the darkness. We fail to find language sufficiently severe to properly characterize such a dastardly outrage. The right of citizens to peaceably assemble together without molestation or annoy-ance is one of the most sacred prerogatives of freemen and all should unite to zealously guard this right from infringement. We call upon the police to be specially vigilant about the outskirts of crowds which will constantly be assembling during the coming campaign, Message of the President on the Treatment of Emigrants.

The sessions were well attended, the parts sustained with ability and the reports of parochical prosperity generally encouraging.

Washington, May 14.—The President to-day sent the following message to Senate and House of Representatives:

In my message to Congress at the beginning of present session allusion was made to the hardships and privations inflicted on poor emigrants on shipboard and upon arrival on our shores and a suggestion was imade favoring National legislation for the purpose of effecting a radical cure of the evil. Promise was made that a special message on the subject would be presented during the present session should information be received which would warrant it. I now have sent to the two houses of Congress all that has been officially received since that time bearing upon the subject, and recommended that such legislation be had as will secure, first, such room and accommodation on shipboard as is necessary for the health and comfort, and such privacy as will not compel emigrants to be unwilling witnesses to so much vice and misery; second, legislation to protect them upon their arrival at our scaports, from the knaves who are ever ready to despoil them of the little they are able to bring with them. Such legislation will be in the interest of humanity and seems to be fully justifiable. The emigrant is not the citizen of any State or territory upon his arrival, but comes here to become a citizen of a great Republic, free to change his residence at will—to enjoy the blessings of a protecting government, where all are equal before the law, and to add to the natural wealth by his industry.

On his arrival he does not know States or corporations, but confides implicity in the protecting arm of the great free country, of which he has heard so much before leaving his native land.

It is a source of serious disappointment and discourse and the desired and the des tecting arm of the great free country, of which he has heard so much before leaving his native lands.

It is a source of serious disappointment and discouragement to those who start with means insufficient to support them comfortably until they can choose a residence and begin employment for a comfortable support, to find themselves subject to ill treatment and every discomfort on their passage here, on their journeys end here to be seized upon by professed friends, claiming a legal right to take charge of them for their protection, who do not leave them till all their resources are exhausted, when they are abandoned in a strange land surrou ded by strangers without employment, ignorant of the means of securing it under the present system. This is the fate of thousands annually. The exposures on shipboard and the treatment on landing, driving thousands to lives of vice and shame, who with proper and humane treatment might become useful and respectable members of society. I do not advise national legislation in affairs that should be regulated by the States, but I see no subject more national in its character than provision for the safety and welfare of the thousands who leave foreign lands to become citizens of this Republic. When their residence is chosen they may then look to the laws oftheir locality for protection and guidance. The mass of immigrants arriving on our shores, coming as they do, on vessels under foreign flags makes treaties with the nations furnishing these immigrants, necessary for their complete protection. For more than two years

The Emigrant Message. At the evening session of the House there was some discussion of the President's message relative to the treatment of immigrants, Brooks of New York, expressing the belief that the President was sadly misinformed, while Messrs. Bingham and Butler coincided with views of the President. The message was referred to Committee on Commerce.

The Supplementary Treaty. The submission of the new article of the Treaty of Washington to the Senate is with the view of obtaining opinion of that body upon it to guide the President in his formal action in the negotiation. In other words, its not not before the Senate for notification. Although there has not been any general expression as to the result, the opinion obtains that the Senate will favorably advise the President in the

Mr. Brooks objected to taking lumber out of its place in the bill where the duty is reduced more than ten per cent., and putting it where it is to be reduced only 10 per cent., but the obection was overruled.

Another objection made and overruled was hat when the House had closed the debate on that when the House had closed the debate on the second section it had not been contemplated that the different items would be transposed from other portions of the bill and that there should be no opportunity to discuss them.

After the amendment had been modified in various particulars, Mr. Dawes withdrew it.

Mr. Burchard of Ill., moved to include in the second section all steel and all manufactures of steel. Agreed to—66 to 64.

Mr. Dawes moved to add to the item of all metals and the manufacture of metal, the words, "except watches, jewelry and other articles of ornament," so as not to include them in the reduction. Agreed to.

Mr. Sargent of Cal., moved to add to the second section that all wire rope and wire strand made of iron wire shall bear the same rate of duty as now levied on iron wire. Agreed to.

Mr. Cox of N. V. moved to accept from duty as now levied on iron wire. Agreed to.

Mr. Cox of N. Y., moved to exempt from duty all wire rope used in mining or rigging for ships. Rejected.

After a long and ineffectual effort to agree on a substitute for the second section, the Committee rose without having disposed of that section, and the Honse took a recess.

The evening session is to be for the business of the Judiciary.

A number of bills of a technical nature were passed.

The Methodist Conference.

New York, May 14.—In the Methodist General Conference this forenoon there was an excited discussion on the motion to alter the rules of trials on appeals so as to make the words "a Bishop shall preside" read "a Bishop or an officer appointed by the Bishop." The motion was tabled. A memorial signed by H. Craunn and others was presented, asking the Convention to take such action as to induce the ministers of the church to withdraw from the Free Masons. A letter was read from Bishop Janes, announcing his recovery. Bishop Richardson and other fraternal delegates from Canada were presented. A resolution was passed authorizing a special committee to call on the agents of the Book Concern for all information desired.

Rev. Mr. Wilde, delegate from Canada, addressed the Conference, saying that the Canadian Methodist Church would not prefer a union with the Methodist Episcopal Church of the United States more than with other Methodist bodies in Canada under their present relations with England. He said that the Methodist bodies in Canada under their present relations with England. He said that the Methodist Episcopal Church in Canada is growing more and more favorable to the independence of church and state, for the non-interference of Europe with this continent, and was politically and religiously growing tired of the interference of England. In the Tunnel

So they sit and chatter as the cinders fly, Till that "student feller" gets one in his eye; And the gentle maiden quickly turns about— "May I, if you please, sir, try to get it out?" Happy "student feller" feels a dainty touch; Hears a gentle whisper—"Does it hurt you much?' Pizz! ding, dong! a moment in the tunnel quite, And a glorious darkness black as Egypt's night.

Out into the daylight darts the Pullman train; Student's beaver ruffled just the merest grain; Maiden's hair is tumbled, and there soon appea Cunning little ear-ring caught in student's bear

A West Virginia Doctor.

The major presented me to Doctor Didi-wick, a red-headed, stuttering, eccentric in-dividual, who was going up toward Yeokem's on a professional tour, and would ride with us. This was fortunate, as the road we contemplated traveling was very obscure and lifficult, and the country not an agreeable one to get lost in.

The doctor also counseled us to provide against all contingencies on to-morrow's journey; so we ordered our hostess to have pared a ham, sack of biscuit, and some titles of cold tea—this last, by the way, a bottles of cold tea—this last, by the way, a most excellent beverage for wayfaring people. After supper, hearing a mighty and continuous thumping in the direction of the kitchen, I thought it advisable to look in and give some special directions about the biscuit, which should be well beaten and thoroughly baked to prevent their getting mouldy.

Opening a door, I stepped out on the back porch, and to my astonishment, caught the doctor pelting and pounding at a batch of dough. The dough looked rather dark, to be sure, and the doctor slightly embarrassed; sure, and the doctor slightly embarrassed; but, not to be ceremonious, I said: "Really, doctor, this is very considerate in you to make the biscuit for us yourself."

"What b-b-b-biscuit?" he stuttered, surprised and offended. "Go to the c-c-c-cook-I'm making blue pills for my patients to-mor

"In the name of Æsculapius, how many do you want at a time?" "Oh," said he "a p-p-peck, more or less. Practic in these mountains is different from your city practice. I make my rounds only once a month, and it takes a week's riding to go through, so that I have to provision for a whole district takes my it. whole district to last until I come again In the morning we were on the road be-times, all in fine spirits except Cockney, who was a little sore from yesterday's ride, but did his best not to mind it.

The country was wild and rugged enough but more populous than we had imagined. The doctor called at every house, and at his familiar halloo all the inmates, from the hobbling centenarian to the toddling yearling, flocked out to greet him. He inquired after their welfare, physical and moral, in a most kind and fatherly manner, naming such as had been ailing at his last visit. Having audited all their complaints, he would leave one or two teacupfuls of pills and ride on. Sometimes he took the trouble to dismount and enter the cabin of complaints, he would leave one times he took the trouble to dismount and enter the cabin of some bedridden patient; at others he would simply inquire concerning a family living far back in the woods, and leave a measure of pills to be sent over next Sunday. Occasionally he had the luck to meet a customer on the road, and delivered his monthly allowance on the spot. The doctor was evidently honored and beloved by the whole country, and consulted on all questions that arose, in law, agriculture, or politics. He was a sturdy Democrat, and dispensed gratuitous opinions on this subject as freely gratuitous opinions on this subject as free! as he did his blue pills. He stuttered sarcas-tically against medical quacks, and thought the laws were not sufficiently severe against them. Some years ago a so-called herb doc-tor came poaching upon his domain, and was a great grief of mind to him. The fellow was civil and would not quarrel, but secretly getting all his patients, and ruining the health

The interloper had two weaknesses—he was fond of backgammon, and hated snakes. Didiwick cared no more for snakes than he did for fishing worms, so he took all opportunities to be evil his rival with practical jokes in which serpents played a leading part.

One day he challenged the herb doctor to a game of backgammon. Pleased with the un game of backgammon. Pleased with the unusual civility, he accepted, and seated himself at the table where the box lay closed before him. The tavern loungers, aware that something was up, gathered round to witness the game.

"Set the board, doctor," said Didiwick,
"while I go to order two juleps."

The doctor opened the board, and a six-foot black snake leaped out into his face. He fled, and returned no more.

Condition of a Base-ball Club. The Cleveland Leader gets off the following good thing on the Forest City Nine of that

The pitcher for the summer of 1872 has been practicing for several weeks outside of the city limits, and, though not feeling well, can throw a regulation ball with such swiftness that it cannot be seen unless covered with phosphorus; and often the friction occasioned by its passage through the air causes with phosphorus; and often the friction oc-casioned by its passage through the air causes a heat so great as to burn the ball to ashes before it reaches the catcher, who only finds a mass of cinders in his hands. The assistant or reserve pitcher has been practicing but a few weeks, but he can throw a ball through eighteen inches of oak plank now; and, if he keeps on, the man on deck will have to en-case his stomach in a monitor turret and other armor, or suffer the consequences. ther armor, or suffer the consequences.

The catcher has been for three weeks The catcher has been for three weeks past engaged in breaking up pig iron at the Newburg rolling mills, and to still further toughen his hands, he allows the big twenty ton trip hammer to dropon them two hours each day; they are now about the size of a wind-mill, and if a ball gets by him it will be by traversing the atmosphere of an adjoining country. The reader can gamble on this.

The first baseman is trying the diet system to steady his nerves, and can let a government mule kick him with both feet all day in the abdomen without winking. He will nev-the abdomen without winking. He will never move his foot from a sand bag unless in the line of duty, and a runner for the first base may light on him like a hawk on a June bug without making him swerve an inch. The second baseman has developed himself more especially for miscellaneous and active service. He can stand on his head, catch a ball with his feet, reverse his position, and knock a grasshopper off from a mullen stalk at eighty rods, nine times out of ten. There will be no use in a runner trying to dodge will be no use in a runner trying to dodge him, for he has globe sights on his nose and can plumb a man in the hold or rigging just as he chooses.

The short stop is probably the best man for this position that can be found this side of the Suez canal. He is short himself, and has lived on pie crust all winter, can turn thirteen somersaults without spitting on his hands, and catch a ball with equal facility in either hand or his teeth.

The third baseman has been making sauerkraut and riding a velocipede all winter to develop the muscles of his lower limbs, which give him the appearance of being troubled with elephantiasis. But don't fool yourself; he can run down a giraffe in three minutes and can bat a ball so far that his opponent never think of chasing it the same day they are hit, but proceed with a new ball. The three fielders have been frisking about in the country all winter, and drinking angle-worm oil to give suppleness to their limbs. They go on all fours faster than many profes-sionals can run, and are so limber that circus men die off like sheep after seeing them per-form energy and the seeing them per-

In fact, we may well be proud of our club for the present year, and if there is any organization in the country that thinks it can compete with them, let them draw on us at six months' sight through the United States Treasury Department (or sooner if they can get a sight of us) stating how many dollars' worth of confidence they feel in their favorite

We do not forget our club manager, who i all that a father can be to the boys, and who does much more than his name indicates to make the season and its matches successful. The scorer for the present year has been selected as the champion whittler of the States. He has purchased a bran new jack-knife, two thousand shingles, and will keep his notches on the double entry sleet the states. on the double entry plan; that is, one entry for the other side and two cuts for his own.

and men. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few baid and gray heads, that we now see are mose who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugity by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it

THE above is an engraving of a Steam Boiler con-taining 1200 feet of heating surface, built upon a new principle, namely, that of stopping the vertical irculation, accomplished by means of two horizontal diaphragms running through the boiler, and forming three water compartments. By this ar-rangement there is maintained three temperatures of rangement there is maintained three temperatures of water.

The smoke and heated gases pass first through the tubes in the upper compartment, then descend, and return through the tubes in the second compartment, thence again descending they pass through the tubes in the third compartment. By this operation, the smoke, and heated gases from the furnace on their way to the smoke stack, or chimney come in contact with guadually decreasing temperatures of water.

While doing average work, coupled with a good engine, it will supply steam for 150 indicated horse power.

while doubles which a good engine, it will supply steam for 150 indicated horse power.

We will guarantee that this boiler will shew 50 per cent. more power with the same weight of coal than any boiler of the same heating surface in the market, and will continue to do so, as long as it is used, and we will back our guarantees with Governments Bonds.

The durability of this boiler is greater than any other for the reason is that no cold water is allowed to come in contact with the intensely heated surfaces, the feed water being gradually heated as it ascends from the lower to the upper compartment.

We would especially call the attention of Railroad men to the following facts, that while running this boilerwith coal or wood the sparks are neutralized, and none have ever left the smoke-stack or chimney, which in itself is a most valuable advantage, never before realized.

Confining ourselves to practice and not theory we invite all parties in want of Steam Boilers to give us a call.

W. T. BROWN & CO., General Agents, Cor. Middle and Exchange Sts. KING WILLIAM.

The champion five year old stallion of 1871, will make the season at Maine Hotel, Auburn, Me. He is sixteen hands high, blood bay with black points, and has a public record of the fastest five year old collever raised in Maine, not private record, but public as follows; Aug. 31, at Forest City Park, he beat a field of six horses in a hard contested race of five heats; Sept. 6th, at the New England Fair, Lowell, Mass. he won in three straight heats distancing five horses in 2:40, 2:43, 2:42; Sept. 28th, at Portland he won the champion race for all five year olds in Maine, trotting the fifth heat in 2:42½ without a break; and the offer to match him for $500 or $1000 to beat the best public record of the best blooded and gamest trottiny stallion in the world remains unaccepted to this day, and though claimed that Hiram Woodruff pronounced his sire the best Stallion the world ever knew, facts show that in 1860, twelve years ago, Hiram says in his book he was the best stallion hat had yet appeared. Since then three stallions have beaten Geo. M. Patchen's record, two of them, Geo. Wilkes and Jay Gould, being descendants of Hambleton who stands first on the list of seventeen that have beat 2:30, while the Claysare fourth on the list with eleven below 2:30, and to make it more binding Long Island Black Hawk stands second, fifteen of his posterity having beaten 2:30. As King Willam is a great grand-son of Long Island Black Hawk, and Tom. Patchen a great grand-son of Herry Clay, I think intelligent breeders will not need a slate and pencil to cypher out the problem for themselves.

King William stands for $25 the season closing Aug. 1st, $40 to warrent, at Maine Hotel, Auburn, Me., in charge of Geo. W. Steward, who will take pleasure in showing him to any gentleman who may call to see him.
