Musical and Dramatic. MR. GILMORE's great Jubilee is going along at Boston with a prodigious bang and flurry, the newspapers are writing it up with great vigor and the versatile talents of the Associated Press agents are strained to their utmost in search of good things to say about the business, but in spite of all the claque conviction seems to be generally prevalent that the affair must be called a failure, so far as the interest and enthusiasm of the general public is concerned. The scanty audiences of the earlier days of the week started a feeling of depression and forced a reduction in the price of admission from five to three dollars. Large numbers of tickets also are said to have been given away and a very energetic force of claqueurs thus secured. Under the influence of these forces the audiences of

Thursday and Friday became much larger, although the building was still far from full and presented an appearance quite unlike that of the former Jubilee. The entertainment presents many very commendable features. The singing of Madame Peschka-Leutner is good and the foreign bands are a great hit. The French Band on Thursday received a rapturous ovation, which they fully justified by their brilliant music. The twenty thousand chorus is of course a grand affair, although the effect would undoubtedly be better should a larger proportion of them sing, instead of lolling bout, looking the audience over with glasses and otherwise amusing themselves during the singing. The organ is grand in power and is well played. The two thousand instrumen talists fiddle and blow and beat with praise worthy energy and with deafening results. One is amply repaid for one visit to the Coliseum. More than one would be simply a bore. The visitor sees an immense building handsomely decorated with flags and streamers-an immense concourse of per ple, for the chorus alone, rising from the center backward and sidewise in great slopes of humanity variegated with bright feminine colhumanity variegated with bright feminine colors, is worthy a visit—long rows of violin bows rising and falling in exact unison, which with the movements of large squads of other with the movements of large squads of other life of the subject, or be so peculiarly en rapport with his genius, as to on the several instruments, makes a pantomimic effect which is very funny-the stately Gilmore, the lively, frisky, thin, and dark little Strauss or the shortish, fattish, Gallically demonstrative French band master, Paulus, on the rostrum -the brilliant uniforms, the flashing instruments, the nodding plumes of the foreign bands and a kaleidoscopic change of scene as the light changes, the chorus rises and sits and one or another performer or set of per- & Harmon. formers comes to the fore.

There is heat, dust, bustle, crowd and confusion and we don't think that many are violently tempted to repeat their visit after having once looked upon and appreciated the vastness of the thing, which after all is the great object of interest.

The libretto, by Herr Julias Rodenbery, must be a curiosity of literature—Nimrod fig-ures as the hero, Abram dividing the honors with him as jeune premier-a "foreman of the works," four angels, followers of Nimrod and choruses of angels, people and devils complete the corps dramatique. There is no prima donna! Without indulging in any very profound reflections as to the causes of head, and then defended themselves with the the non-success of the "Tower of Babel" it is clear that to do justice to the subject of the confusion of tongues, without conspicuously introducing the feminine element, is an impossibility. Herr Rubinstein's composition is spoken of as a work full of the genuine earnestness and original thought characteristic of the composer, but exceedingly complicated in orchestral scoring and vocal part-writing. On the whole, the opera was not successful. Herr Rubinstein may, however, console himself with the esteem and appreciation with which so many of his works have been received and the high rank which he holds among the great pianists of the present time. The long-intended professional tour of Mile Tietjens in the States is at length definitely arranged. The prima donna will leave England early in the autumn, and will return to England at Easter, 1873. Miss Minnie Hauck commenced a short engagement at the Royal Opera House, Dresden, as Angele, in "Le Domino Noir." Both

Are Democrats Good Republicans? The sole ground on which the Democracy base their claim to restoration is that, on the whole, they are rather better Republicans than the Republicans themselves. They profess to have abandoned their old heresies and to occupy substantially the same position that their adversaries do, possessing at the same time the advantage of a long and morally refreshing rest from the cares and noxious influences of official position. Now if there were any foundation for such an assumption it would be worth while to take the matter of their restoration into serious consideration. But even then it is quite certain that the Republican party would be preferred on the ground of the striking superiority of its personnel, embracing in its ranks, as it does, a large majority of men of moral, religious and intellectual culture, as

Dr. Riley himself has the entire confidence pan preached an interesting discoure

well as of literary and scientific celebrity. But is the conversion genuine? It will be said-that by accepting the nomination of so conspicuous a Republican as Horace Greeley, they will give at once a proof of their sincerity and a pledge for their future good behavior. But before it was determined to unite upon Mr. Greeley, that gentleman had become a Democrat, and had joined with them in declaiming against those laws by which alone the constitutional guaranties of civil and political equality can be upheld and enforced. He had thrown away from him, as useless burdens, the principles he had been honestly carrying all his life, the moment he engaged in that wild, frenzied chase for the Presidency. So that there is no proof of pen itence in the nomination of Horace Greeley. Besides, a large number of the Southern whites frankly avow that they content themselves with the editor of the Tribune only because his particular friend, the late President of the Southern Confederacy, is not an available candidate. And with equal frankness Northern Democrats confess that they only take a man whose past radicalism is so inadequately atoned for by his present conservatism because the candidacy of older, truer and more highly esteemed Bourbons would be sure to add one more to the long series of

It will be said again that Mr. Greeley's version of the Cincinnati platform, already accepted in advance by the Democracy, is an ample guaranty of the sincerity of the pretended change of heart. We do not at all understand it so. A platform, like any other declaration, must be construed in the light of contemporary history and a knowledge of the character and intentions of its framers. In the mouths of men who have just refused to allow the enactment of laws to protect freed-oyment of personal safety, what avails a declaration that all the rights acquired through the war "shall be enjoyed evermore?" The position of the Democracy on the subject of the Constitutional amendments is as unsatisfactory as it ever was. They "accept" them, to be sure-that is, they recognize their existence; but there is no great merit in that. They might as well undertake to ignore the existence of the sun in heaven .-There it is, whether we will or not. But we have yet to see any admission that the principle of those amendments is right, or any expression of regret or confession of error on account of the protracted, bitter and malignant Democratic opposition thereto, or, more important than all, any pledge that, if restored to power with full control of the subject, the Democracy, will enforce their provisions by appropriate legislation. Surely the Democrats would now when the possibility of regaining power is before them as a tremendous incentive to sacrifice their old prejudices, exhibit proofs of the genuineness of their conversion if they ever would. But even now they always fail in every practical application of their newly adopted creed. When it comes to legislating, your reconstructed Democrat knows nothing of a constitutional power to make the amendments something more than an empty form of words by supplementing them by appropriate legislation. No Democratic legislature voluntarily passes laws in harmony with the new and humane theory of our government. No Democratic legislature has shown its friendliness to the fifteenth amendment in any more practical way than by withdrawing the assent thereto given by some Republican predecessor. The conclusion is inevitable from the public acts and declarations of the members of the opposition party, that at heart and in intention they are as invincibly hostile to the changes of the last ten years as they ever were. And if the country is so credulous as to give them an eccentric, vacillating, easily-managed President, over whom the Blairs have already gained their fatal ascendency, our opinion is that the worst apprehensions in regard to their actual purposes will be speedily justified.

MR. KIMBALL, the Democratic candidate for Governor, enjoys a deserved reputation for sagacity. But he occasionally nods. And at Bangor the other day, in his speech of acceptance, he nodded with such violence as would Rev. William T. Savage, D. D., of the class of 1833, now of Franklin, N. H., has recently endowed the "Mary L. Savage Memorial Scholarship," of Bowdoin College, by a gift of $1000. The special object of this generous donation is to aid students in college preparing for the ministry, and at the same time to perpetuate the memory of a beloved wife and promote the prosperity of his Alma Mater. have snapped off the head of a less sturdy gentleman. Talk about the decline of the shipping interests being an appropriate specican party! Why that sort of talk will shortv come to be regarded as conclusive proof of idjocv! It always was extremely absurd, since all the world knows it was Democratic cruisers that swept our commerce from the seas. But the absurdity is now doubled and quadrupled when our Representative in Congress, aided by his Republican colleagues, has for years been trying to restore shipbuilding by giving that business a fair chance with other branches of industry, and after a score or so of defeats at the hands of his Democratic associates, was at length successful in obtaining quite satisfactory legislation, in spite of their continued opposition, at the session of Congress that has just closed.

The Rev. Henry C. Riley, D. D.—Though yet a young man the life of this gentleman, who is to preach at St. Stephen's to-morrow, has already proved eventful, and if spared promises to become distinguished. A native of Chili, he graduated at Columbia College in New York City, then traveled extensively in foreign lands including Palestine, and returned to New York, where he founded "The Spanish American Church," which is growing rapidly. A few years since he went to Mexico, where he had cooperated with native Mexicans in carrying on a new reformation which gives tokens of accomplishing for Mexico the religious revolution which failed in Spain at the epoch of the great reformation of Luther. We learn from the Dr. that a tried man who deserves to be called the "Mexican Luther" leads the move-ment and will doubtless leave a name to be called the "Mexican Luther" leads the move-ment and will doubtless leave a name to be called the "Mexican Luther" leads the move-ment and will doubtless leave a name to be called the "Mexican Luther" leads the move-ment and will doubtless leave a name to be called the "Mexican Luther" leads the move-ment and will doubtless leave a name to be called the "Mexican Luther" leads the move-ment and will doubtless leave a name to be called the "Mexican Luther" leads the move-ment and will doubtless leave a name to be called the "Mexican Luther" leads the move-ment and will doubtless leave a name to be called the "Mexican Luther" lead since all the world knows it was Democratic

AND now our Mr. Pillsbary, of Augusta, appears in the meeting of those liberal Republicans in New York, and being an honorable man, must belong to that very select and in Maine singularly exclusive body. Mr. Pillsbury has been Whig, Democrat, anti-war leader, and last summer explained Mr. Kimball's pictorial, the central figure of which was a grotesque caricature of the good H. G. Mr. Pillsbury promised Maine to Mr. Greeley, but as a prophet Mr. P. has always ocen a failure. All through the war he made predictions, and since he has seen great Democratic victories in the future. Let him keep

It will now be seen how correct was the prediction of an English member of the High Joint Commission, just after that body had signed the Treaty of Washington, that Great Britain could only be made to pay the direct claims for the Alabama damages and the direct claims for the Shenandoah damages after she had shipped a war crew at Melbourne, by the culpable negligence of the colonial authorities. The High Commissioner was confident that the tribunal would allow nothing for the damages committed by the Florida, the Tallahassee, the Sumter, the Nashville, the Retribution, or the Boston; but it is to be hoped that he was mistaken. The agent for Great Britain has by ingenious calculation reduced the estimated amount of the claims on account of the Alabama from six million five hundred and thirty-seven thousand six hundred and fifty-one dollars, and of the Shenandoah from six million three hundred and sixty-six thousand eight hundred from six million three hundred and sixty-six thousand eight hundred and fifty-one dollars, and of the Shenandoah from six million three hundred and sixty-six thousand eight hundred and nitty-for the million three hundred and sixty-six thousand eight hundred and nitty-for the million three hundred and nitty-for the million three hundred and nitty-for the sixty-six thousand eight hundred and nitty-for the million three hundred and nitty-for the million three hundred and sixty-six thousand eight hundred and nitty-for the million three hundred and sixty-six thousand eight hundred and nitty-for the million three hundred and sixty-six thousand eight hundred and nitty-for the million three hundred and sixty-six thousand eight hundred and nitty-for the million three hundred and sixty-six thousand eight hundred and nitty-for the million three hundred and sixty-six thousand eight hundred and nitty-for the million three hundred before; confronted also with the honorable record of the contractors as railway builders; and finally with the affirmation of the directors of the road that an honest contract has been entered into, based upon the concurrent judgment of six engineers and upon all the facts and information accessible—they have nothing to say but to repeat the utterly unsubstantiated formula, "The contractors will back down; the contract is a sham; it is a mere pretense and humbra". lion three hundred and sixty-six thousand eight undred and seventy-seven thousand undred and sixteen dollars. as a fiasco.

The Herald thinks that the conference developed that the Democratic party old and young will go for Greeley.

The Times says it amounted to nothing.

The Tribune believes nothing but good has resulted from the conference.

THE New York Evening Post on the evening of the meeting of the Liberal Conference, said of the meeting of the Liberal Conference, said

The meeting to-day at the Fifth Avenue Hotel is a meeting of Liberal Republicans, who, indignant at the outrage perpetrated at Cincinnati by the nomination of Greeley, upon a movement for purity in politics and a just and wise administration of the Government, propose to devise some means, if possible, to right that great wrong. If any man who stands committed before the public to the Greeley party, assented to or desired this meeting, it could only be with the hope and intention of getting himself out of an exceedingly disagreeable predicament, where, if he was not fast losing all respect for himself, he was in danger of forfeiting that of everybody else. On no other terms could a Greeley man honorably approach the convention. onvention.

THE NASHUA AND ROCHESTER RAILROAD. The opponents of the Nashua and Rochester R. R. having failed to stop the progress of this work by injunctions from the supreme Court of New Hampshire, applied, not long ago, in the name of the bogus directors claimed to have been elected at the annual meeting at Nashua, for a writ of mandamus to compel the delivery to them of the books, surveys, and charts of the company. A hearing on the writ was appont ed to be held at Exeter on Tuesday last, but it has been postponed to the 16th of August at Manchester. The Boston and Maine and Eastern Railroad companies are the real opponents of this enterprise and have applied to the Legislature of New Hampshire for a charter for a road from Nashua to Plaistow to still further cripple the efforts of the promoters of the through line from Portland to New York. In the meantime the directors of the Nashua and Rochester road should put the spade in and get the work so far underway that the writ of man

Manchester, N. H., June 21.—A very melancholy case of suicide occurred at Merrimack yesterday, the 20th inst. Mrs. Laura Bryant, wife of Mr. Elias Bryant, of the firm of Bryant and French, traders, on Cambridge Street, in Boston, drowned herself in the Merrimack river in the afternoon, near Reed's Ferry. Herbody was recovered at about 40 clock. She was the mother of two children, and the daughter of Deacon W. French, of Merrimack, and about 28 years of age. She was in feeble health, and a few days since she came from Boston to visit her parents, and to recruit her failing health. Her youngest child is four months old. For some time she had been in a desponding mood at intervals.

WASHINGTON.

Indirect Claims not Tenable. Washington, June 21.—It is reported and believed here that the arbitrators avowed the opinion that the claims of the kind known as indirect claims are not subjects for the award of money damages, and it is understood in view of this declaration, that the American agent and counsel will not press farther our cla that character.

The Question of Indirect Damages.

There is the best reason for believing that at their brief session on the 19th inst., the arbitrators decided that indirect claims cannot properly come before them, and they must, therefore, be excluded. On this announcement being formally made on the 26th, it is not apprehended there will be any further difficulty in proceeding with the business under the treaty.

From the commencement of the controversy, ever since the American statement of the case was submitted to the tribunal, the British have contended that none but direct claims were known as the Alabama claims, and that the infirect losses were mentioned by the American High Commission, not as claims, but as grievances, and were mentioned only to be withdrawn from discussion. Our Government on the other hand, has always contended that these claims were within the province of the tribunal, and it therefore adhered to and never contemplated their withdrawal, it being considered necessary to present them, in order to have a decision, and prevent them from being brought up hereafter to disturb the harmony of the two nations. It is known that the supplemental article to the treaty of Washington was proposed, in order to relieve the two nations from their antagonistic position, but while the parties have been in correspondence, regarding the amended phraseology of the article, and discussing the subject of the post-ponement of the proceedings till next the session of Congress, the tribunal itself has come to a decision, which renders further controversyon these points unnecessay, and in fact has settled the question in a manner satisfactory to The Question of Indirect Damages.

to a decision, which renders further controversy on these points unnecessay, and in fact has settled the question in a manner satisfactory to our government. Judging from a dispatch of Secretary Fish to Minister Schenck, of April 16, in which he reiterated the views previously expressed: "Should that august tribunal decide that a State is not liable for indirect or consequential results of an accidental or unintentional violation of its neutral obligation, the United States will unhesitatingly accept the decision. Should it, on the other hand, decide that Great Britain is liable to this Government for such consequential results, they have that full faith in the British Government's observance of its engagements to expect a compliance with the engagements to expect a compliance with the judgment of the tribunal which a solemn treaty between the two powers has created in order to the part of the United States. To the judgmenf of the tribunal when pronounced the United States will implicitly bow. They confidently expect the same submission on the part of the great nation with which they entered into such great nation with which they entered into such solemn obligations."

Of course Her Majesty's Government must be satisfied with the decision of the arbitrators, including the consideration of the indirect claims, and it is thought here that in consequence of this action of the tribunal the additional article to the treaty is rendered unnecessary and will accordingly be altogether withdraw from the controversy.

Another Presidential Ticket!

Groesbeck and Olmsted Nominated

Platform of the Free Traders.

New York, June 21.—A convention was called by Judge Stall, at the 5th Avenue Hotel, at 3 o'clock this afternoon. No reporters were admitted. It has been learned, however, that ex-Gov. Cox made a speech endeavoring to harmonize on Greeley. Edward Atkinson urged in a speech the nomination of Charles Francis Adams, as the means to unite the reformers against Grant. Among those present were the following gentlemen: Col. Grosvenor, F. T. Gault of Missouri, Carl Duntzer, Park Goodwin and W. C. Bryant. The question was debated: "Shall we nominate a ticket?" After a long discussion it was decided in the affirmative, when Mr. Cox publicly withdrew from the deliberations.

The Conference at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, after a session of three hours, nominated Wm. S. Groesbeck of Ohio, for President and Frederick Law Olmsted of New York, for Vice-President, and adopted the following resolutions:

Whereas, At a conference of gentlemen from several States of the Union, held at New York, June 20th, 1872, it has been conclusively shown that the opposition to the re-election of Grant cannot be and ought not to be united on Horace Greeley; therefore be it

Class Day.

Large Attendance—Another Reduction of Tuesday has been the hottest 21st of June i The Eight Hour Movement.

The Eight Hour Movement.

The situation in regard to the labor strike remains practically unchanged. All the indications, however, point to an early termination of the movement. "Compromise" is now a much more frequentjword in matters of strikes than the original war-cry of "no surrender." The temper of the men is much better than last week, and any recourse to any violent or illegal measures to further their aims would appear to have been abandoned.

The threatened demonstration of piano makers at Steinway's factory which was announced to come off this morning, did not take place. The metal workers still continue their strike.

James Lawler, sewing machine maker, was arrested in East '33d street for interfering with men of his trade. The superintendent of the Boston, June 21.—The audience this after-ternoon was fully equal in numbers and enthu-siasm to that of yesterday. The American National Hymn, words by Holmes, and music by Keller, was the first piece executed by the chorus orchestra, organ and bands, and it was admirably given. chords orchestra, organ and balan, admirably given.

As the day was dedicated to Austria, the overture dedicated to Kaiser Francis Joseph, was performed by the orchestra under Mr. Gilmore's direction, and created great enthumore's direction, and created great entinusiasm.

The grand chorus from "Jadas Maccabeus" followed in fine style under Zerrahn's baton and were duly recognized by the audience.—
Madame Peschka Leutner again aroused the plaudits of the vast audience by her superb execution and volume of tone in the Cavatina from the first act of Ernani, excelling even her previous essays that have met with such favor. In response to the encore she gave Abt's beautiful "Good Night my Dearest Child," under that gentleman's direction. This was received with marked pleasure, and it was not without many acknowledgments that the lady was allowed to leave the platform.

Mr. Arbuckle then performed the 7th cornet aria of De Beriot that was encored to the echo, and he responded with his entransing rendition of "The Last Rose of Summer." The concert waltz "Rintsler Leben" was set down in the programme for Strauss, but he repeated in its stead, "Beautiful Blue Dan'nbe," which has become the favorite, and on the encore again arrested in East 33d street for interfering with men of his trade. The superintendent of the factory attempted to drive Lawler off but was struck by him, and a good deal of excitement was the result. Lawler was held in $1000 bail. The Japanese government are having 5-20 bonds engraved by the New York Bank Note Company, under the direction of Clews & Co., their agents.

Violence Threatened. There was a mass meeting of mechanics and orkingmen to-night at the Cooper Institute to protest against the action of the police in clubbing gangs of men now on strike. About 2,000 men were present. A. M. Marken, a workingman, made a violent speech, threatening the capitalists with a repetition of the Communist scenes of Paris, and saying the workingmen meant revolution, peaceably if possible, and forcible if necessary. He was wehemently cheered. mently cheered.

gave his Cizzicato Polka, which set the entire audience dancing in their seats, as the great leader danced his time upon the platform.

But the popular feature of the day, as yesterday, was the performance of the military band, this time, that of the English Grenadier Guards, who, under Godfrey, gave the overture to Demisamide and reminseences of Meyerbeer, with solos by Coford, Ellis and Spencer. The effect upon the vast chorus and audience being electrical. The band appeared without their bear skins, 92 in the shade being too high a temperature for mere outward display. Their COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 21.—The Ohio brush and wire works are attached to the Penitentiary and wire works are attached to the Penitentiary and the convicts were just going to work when the explosion occurred. The flying boiler tore out a large three story building in which it was placed, making a mass of ruins, and tore out the side walls, and the roof off of Huff Cooper's shop, and George Gill's stove foundry not far off. Pieces of the boiler were thrown a great distance. At the time of the accident, eight men were in the brush shop, and were just going to work. The shock was terrific, and yet no person was killed outright. Several menwere blown out of windows and fell with the debris from the fourth story of the bailding. One man at work in the lower story of the boiler house, remained for thirty minutes between two heavy timbers. The fireman and engineer in charge of the boiler, were both buried under a pile of bricks and timbers, but were dug out alive, though considerably burned and bruised. Some of the escapes were almost miraculouss. As soon as possible a large force was put to work, and the men that were buried under the ruins were all dug out, and with the others wounded were taken to to the priese heavist. Madame Rudersdorff was led to the platform when the applause had subsided, and awaited her solo opportunity in "God Save the Queen," which was first grandly given by chorus, orchestra, organ and cannon, under Gilmore and the highly cultivated voice of the popular soprano repeated the air as only an English lady could repeat it. The refrain was led by the gifted lady, accompanied by the Grenadier band, chorus, orchestra and cannon, with electrical effect upon the hearers.

Quiet once more restored, the next stanzas were assigned to the Grenadier band and Madame Rudersdorff, and the solo was sung through with increased effect. The applause dame Rudersdorff, and the solo was sung through with increased effect. The applause was unbounded, and when the band added their allegro in the repitition, the chorus and audience insisted on joining. The grand organ followed from pure necessity as a matter of direction, and for a few minutes the scene was beyond the power of description. Cheer rose upon cheer and when quiet was restored, the Grenadier band struck up an Irish air which set the noisy elements in commotion again. work, and the men that were buried under the ruins were all dug out, and with the others wounded were taken to to the prison hospital where scores of good nurses were on hand, and they are now well cared for. Of the injured by the explosion, it is thought that all but half a dozen will recover.

The engineer in charge of the boiler says he cannot account for the accident, as a second became the explosion occurred, he had on about 85 pounds of steam. One end of the same boiler exploded about a year ago, and he said it has leaked ever since. Loss, about $30,000. Grenadier band struck up an Irish air which set the noisy elements in commotion again.—
They were permitted to play it through, however, before the enthusiasm rose to its height; and as the band marched up the long aisle through the chorus seats, amid eneers and the waving of handkerchiefs, Gilmore, on the spur of the moment, in connection with the organist and orchestra, started "Auld Lang Syne," which was sung by chorus and orchestra, with an expressive warmth that has not been witnessed since the festival began.

THE GENEVA ARBITRATION. Chances for a Satisfactory Solu tion Better.

Geneva, June 21.—The representatives of Great Britain before the Alabama claims arbitration tribunal have gone to Chamounix, where they will stay until to-morrow. The Americans have not left for Paris as they intended doing, but remain in this city. It is believed that the reason for this change in the programme of the movements of the representatives is that the supplementary articles to the treaty upon a totally new basis from the one submitted by Granville are now the subject of negotiation between the English and American Governments. The chances for a satisfactory issue from the difficulties which now surround the arbitration are believed to be increasing.

Machyllyn, to the quaint and romantic Aberyfly, which was built on the seashore, in the centre of a beautiful bay.

Knots of visitors sprinkled the market place and the rocks and the ruins of the castle and the shingly beach, on which the tide was making its own music, so dear to the true lover of the sea. The gay dresses and with the common the common that the season of the sea. ribbons of the company shone in the sun-like a broken-up rainbow; and the old high-crowned Welsh hats, of which there were many, heightened the interest of the scene. Crossing the market place, near the great clock in the centre, was a broad-faced, merryfaced, strong-faced o.d Welshman, Owen Griffiths by name. He was everybody's friend, and more truly "the representative of the people of Aberyffly than was the gentleman whom they sent to parliament; for he was the champion of their rights in the total, and the sympathizer in their sorrows and joys individually.

Nobody liked to think what Aberyffly would be without Owen Griffiths; nobody knew his age; everybody had always remem-bered him; he was as much an institution of bered him; he was as much an institution of the place as the sea, the rocks, or the old ru-ins. Such a smile was on his broad face, that morning, as he nodded to one, gave a word to another, praised Winny Watt's fowls, and told Mary Jones her fruit made his mouth water. As to the children, they sprang up wherever he was to be found as naturally as weeds grow by running water; and whether they got a shower of nuts, or a flourish of his stick and a threat, made with contradicting augh, that he would throw them all into the sea, it mattered not; they were round his legs, while he allowed it, thick and threefold. "Who's yonder? Isn't it Richard Hughes, surely?" he said to Winny Watts, as he no ticed a man hustling through the crowd of women and their baskets with an anxious face.

"Indeed it is," said Winny.

"What will he be doing here? Sure it's gettir g time for the last practice," said Owen.

"Good day, Mr. Griffiths. Excuse me staying to talk—I'm in a wonderful hurry," said Richarc, who was leader of the coming contest on the Aberyffly side.

"But, man, what brings you this way at this time," cried Owen.

this time," cried Owen.
"Oh, I'm going to see if Robert Jones will come and try the first tenor," said Richard.
"Robert Jones! What ails you to want a first tenor, when you've got John Phillips?" Richard shook his head. "Bad job, Mr. friffiths—bad job. John is gone off in a heat, just because I told him he sung flat; and I doubt if Robert will come now, because he wasn't given the first place at the outset. It's wonderfully provoking, and I'm just be-wildered about it." 'Stop!" cried Owen, as Richard was hust-

"Stop!" cried Owen, as Richard was hust-ling on his doubtful hunt after Robert Jones; "don't go; he's a sulky man, and bringing out of sulks is a long job when you are in a hurry; and he is no tenor worth looking for. I'd as soon bite a crab apple as listen to him any time. It's John you must have. Wait a while, and I'll get him for you. He's a pep-pery fellow; but he'll come right with good words."

"But, Mr. Grffiths, the practice is in less than an hour," Richard expostulated.

Owen waived his hand. "I think we'll be at the hall together in good time," he said. "He didn't say he wouldn't join you again?" "Not to me, but he did to others; and he has not been near me since the last practice." "Very good. Keep his place for him, and make no wonder of his coming back. It will be all right," said Owen, going off on his exbe all right," said Owen, going off on his ex-

Sooner than a man of his size could have been expected to travel, he was at the door of John Philips, a shoemaker by trade, and no-ted for possessing the richest tenor voice in the whole district. "What, John!" he cried, "you at home

John looked rather forlornly about on the piles of sand boots he had just been bringing to the stand by the door, and said nothing.

"John, man! surely you know the time," exclaimed Mr. Griffiths. pulling out his watch. "Its little more than three-quarters till you meet and you not dressed up! Make haste, and give over the shop to Morgan, and come with me. I expect to hear you sing until you make my heart dance again."

"No indeed, Mr. Griffiths, no indeed, sir. I'll not sing to-day nor to-night," said John, quickly and a little thickly.

"Why—what has got into your pipes,

"No, John, ho; I'm not the man for such light wares when I think about it. But the singing, John—you don't mean to say you are not going to join to-night? Why, I should miss you out of "The March of the Men of Harlech" as good as a hundred of the best men if I didn'thear your beautiful voice." "Indeed. Mr. Criffiths and you are very "Indeed, Mr. Griffiths, and you are very good, and kind, and civil always, and I wish everybody was the like of you," replied Phillips, lips, in a comforted tone.
"Is it cold, John?" asked Mr. Griffiths. "No, indeed, sir; it was more of a heat that I took," answered John, sufficiently mollified to smile a little at his joke.

"Took a heat? oh—what, a little miff, J doubt—a little affront somewhere?"
"Not a little affront, Mr. Owen. Haven't I been laboring my best to do credit to the singing, and never kept from a practice, and was I to be told before everybody that I sung flat and put them all out?" cried John, red in the face and greatly incensed. "Who put that on you, John?" demanded Owen, calmly.

"No other than him who knows best i was nothing but spite, and envy, and jealousy; Richard Hughes it was, the leader of us, who thinks his own cousin, Rice Hughes, is a better tenor. Let them put him first. I hope they'll be sorry for it."
"So he said you sung flat, did he?" asked

"Yes, indeed, Mr. Griffiths," said John, rather staggered by Owen's hearing of the af-"Well, well: I shouldn't have thought he'd have the courage to do it, seeing the value your voice is to them. I shall always respect Richard for it, John; he has shown himself a true friend. You have only one fault, and e has told you of it—you do sing flat?" John looked down demuringly at the sand-boots, and said nothing.

"Come, come, put it by; get cool of this heat; go to the practice, and keep up your voice, so as to show them—" "No, indeed, sir, no! interrupted John, very decidedly, for he had been sent into a flame by Mr. Griffiths unexpected approval of the "Well, man, well, take your own way," said Owen; "we'll make no more to do about it; but the loss of your tenor will make the 'Men of Harlech' halt in their march. Well, which way do I go to see Morgan? Is he in the wareroom? I'll speak to him about the strap, for he'll do it, and it'll be better I give him my directions."

"Morgan's no man of mine, Mr. Griffliths," said the shoemaker who looked still more

"How long has that been?" asked Owen, who knew the circumstances and all concern-"Since Tuesday, sir; he got notice from me then; yes, indeed."
"Eh! but he was such a workman," said

"Eh! but he was such a workman," said Owen.
"Indeed he was; but he had an ugly temper, and he got hot when I found fault; and you know, Mr. Griffiths, I was the master, and knew my own business best."
"Surely, surely; so he went, did he?"
"Yes, indeed, and in a terrible passion,

Very foolish of him-regular work, good pay, large family."

"Yes, indeed, very foolish," said John. "I dare say you are sorry?"

"Yes, indeed; and I've no man yet, and if I would go to the singing I could'nt leave the shop," said John.
"You'll have him back?"

"I would'nt humble to him for it, indeed, Mr. Griffiths; if he won't hear a word from me how can I work with him!" "Very true; people shouldn't be so touchy; when they are wrong they ought to confess it, and not quarrel with those who tell them "Yes, indeed said Phillips, looking a little

'I'm sorry for his family. I'll go and speak to him, if you like; maybe he'll promise to be well tempered in time to come; I dare say he would be glad to come back. Shall I say you will overlook it if he does?' "Yes, indeed, if you please, Mr. Griffiths sir, and I'll be greatly obliged to you; for he knows the business. and he's as honest as the day—and, indeed, I have a wonderful miss of him; but you won't make too much of that, will you, sir?"

"Leave me alone, John, I'm a prudent man, and you may trust me," said Owen, going off toward Morgan in his shed-like house in Vulcan street.

He was not long away; he returned, puffing up the street, for he had warm work for a warm day and a stout man like him. We are selling at par and accrued interest, and tter thorough investigation recommend as a safe and profitable investment, the First Mortgage 7,30 Gold Bonds of the Northern Pacific Railroad. At the present Gold premium they yield 81 per cent. interestover one third more than United States 5 20's. Their lements of strength and safety are the following: I. They are the standard obligation of a strong corporation, which represents in its Shareholder and Managers large capital and railroad experience, and is engaged in prosecuting a business enterprise ters of doubt.

Right of Way, Rolling Stock, Telegraph Line, Equipments and Franchises. III. They are a first lien upon the Traffic or net Earnings of the Road. The net receipts of the first Trans-continental railroad, in the second year after completion, and mainly from Local Business, were equal to nine per cent. on the total estimated cost of the Northern Pacific Road. IV. They are a First and Only Mortgage on a overnment Grant of Land, which consists of 12,800 acres for each mile of Road through the States of Wis-consin and Minnesota, and 25,600 acres a mile through the Territories of Dakota, Montana, Idaho and Washington. In average fertility of soil, healthfulness and nildness of climate, diversity and extent of resources render the lands very valuable, and in sur etheir speedy sale and cultivation .- Sold at the average price realized by other land grant roads, the real estate endowment of the Northern Pacific Company will produce more than three times the issue of bonds

The Company is now offering for sale to gettlers and colonies, a portion of its valuable Land Grant in Minnesota, and a large area on the Pacific coast will soon be placed on the market. The offered Lands are selling readily, and henceforward the Company will realize a large yearly income from this source. The proceeds of land sales constitute a SINKING FUND for the retirement of the First Mortgage Bonds, and the Bonds are at all times convertible at 1,10 into the Company's lands at market prices.

All marketable stocks and bonds will be received (by express or otherwise) at current prices in exchange for Northern Pacific 7-30's, without expense to the investor. Pamphlets and full information marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the realy and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by ts timely ase. PREPARED BY

VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old,
