SAFE BEYOND QUESTION. It is seldom that Mortgages upon new Railroads are considered sufficiently safe for the investment of Trust Funds. It is only when a Railroad is earning, net, an excess of its interest obligations, with a certainty of a steady growth, that its Bonds can be said to be perfectly safe.

The CHICAGO, DANVILLE & VINCENNES RAIL-ROAD is doing this, and has this certainty. That part of it known as the ILLINOIS DIVISION (from Chicago to Dauville, 132 Miles.) was finished last year, and its gross earnings have increased from $31,464 07 in December, 1871, to $69,169 40 in October, 1872. The net earnings for October were $28,309 62, or at the rate of $340,795 44 per annum. The total inter-est I ability upon the total issue of Bonds upon both the Illinois and Indiana divisions is $280,000 gold. The Illinois division is, therefore, earning, net, more than enough to pay interest upon the entire bonded THE INDIANA DIVISION s about eighty miles in length, traversing extensive Bituminous Coal fields, and making a direct (and the shortest possible) line between Ghicago and the Block Coal district at Brazil. sion have all been bought and paid for in eash, a

The Iron and other materials for the Indiana Divipart of it is now in operation, and the entire Division is to be finished this season and opened to a profita-very valuable real estate in Chicago, beside having an equipment of twenty-four first-class locomotives A first mortgage upon such a read, at the rate $18,500 per mile is a safe investment, and we know of no other railroad bond, at the price asked for this, that can demonstrate a similar value as a security for savings banks and others. We have sold nearly two millions of these bonds t savings banks, trust companies and the most careful investors, and have but $750,000 bonds remaining. They are for $1000 each, and have forty years to 7 PER CENT. GOLD, payable April and October. Present price 90 and accrued interest from October 1st in currency.

The last week of our sales of ILLINOIS DIVISION Boxps amounted to $500,000. Early orders are therefore suggested, in order to secure any portion of For further particulars, statement of carnings maps of the line, &c., apply to

So, State aid was invoked; an appropriation secured, and as a result, we have an exhausted description of the "water power of Maine" by Walter Wells. The publication of the valuable statistics contained in that volume quickened the people from one end of the State to the other. Cities and towns voted to exempt from taxation, capital which might be invested in new manufactories. In many instances towns voted to furnish buildings at a nominal rent. To all these facts was given the widest publicity. And with what result? Practically nothing. There are indeed a few cases that may be That these efforts have not been threwn away need not be argued. They are simply CLOAKINGS ! premature. The times are not ripe for a general investment in manufactories. What then shall Maine do? Shall she fall into a condition of "masterly inactivity?" mined, and exported in large quantities.

Of these minerals it may safely be said we have an inexhaustible supply. But besides these four valuable minerals, what others of a commercial value have we ever discovered in quantities sufficient to justify the expense of mining? Not one. Why is it? Is it because the rock formation of Maine is peculiar to itself and to itself alone? Did the Almighty form the boundaries of Maine, drawing the line of demarkation so squarely that the Provinces on our one hand produce coal, and the eastern townships of Canada on the other copper, both these sections becoming enriched by the possession of these valuable minerals while Maine has neither? We do not believe it. The fault must lie in ourselves, not in the Almighty. Has there ever been a systematic exploration for coal or copper, or zinc or many other valuable substances, evidences of the existence of which have long been known to the scientific men of Maine. family of the original owner.

On my first visit to Portland, in 1816, then only seven years old, my father stopped his sleigh in front of "Mathew Cobb's," to show me "the finest house in town." I had heard of its rich owner, and looked at his stately mansion with wonder, my boy-eyes magnifying it to the proportions and splendor of Solomon's temple. Those Corinthian pilasters mercenary considerations by ordering five- reaching nearly to the eaves, with carved capsitting in them on freshly oiled chairs at the residence I had seen. Its unsullied white front, with no sign of joint or seam, gave it the appearance of its being cut from one immense block of statuary marble, leaving the carved ornaments standing out in relief. The portico had not then been built, but it had a highly ornamented arch at the front entrance. On the door was a polished brass knocker, and side and top lights composed of metal sashes, gilt, containing panes of glass of many shapes. A row of tall Lombardy poplars stood like sentinels in front. In later years, with more extensive observation, I still admired its architecture, and, at the time of the fire, it showed no sign of decay.

"Four score years it stood:
Yes, they built it well.
Though they built of wood."

I have another pleasant reminiscence of this old landmark. Forty-five to fifty years ago, the only two public hacks of the town always went on "the Hill," on the Fourth of July and general muster days, and the driv-A London journal winds up it's notice of ers, one of whom was Jim Dennis, made pub-Mr. Stanley's new book by the following con- lic proclamation that they would carry all boys, large or small, up to "Matthew Cobb's" and back for fourpeace half-penny each, and impetuous, daring man, with plenty of energy, a fair amount of information, and wonthat they might sing and shout all the way. This was sure to draw out all the boy's money, for it was genuine liberty, and this was all the ride the most of them got for the year. Both coaches were sure to be filled all day. The coaches always stopped in front of Mr. Cobb's, for the horses to blow and the boys to cheer; a stranger would have supposed that some dignitary lived there, and that these cheers were intended for him. Mr. Cobb came from Cape Cod to Bidde-Poor Quaker city! Just hear what a Vienford; in his younger days, he was a shoemaker, but was a ship owner when he came to Portland, from Biddeford. The first notice I find of him, is in Dr. Deanes' diary; under the date 1795, he is mentioned as having built a barn that year, (there were no "stables" then) he also lost a son aged twelve, the same year. This barn was the one now standing on High street, adjoining the house; he probably then lived in the vicinity in "his own hired house" and this build ing was to hold the hay which grew on his wedding, and now a woman with six chillarge lot, and the materials for his house, dren, who lost her only means of support by although that was not built until 1801. Clapp bought Mr. Cobb outin about 1821 or 2, and Mr. Cobb retired with a fortune of four or five hundred thousand dollars, besides his real estate, which was a very large sum in those days. Another son, Edward, who died young, became a member of the same church. Richard married Miss Wood of Wiscasset, daughter of the late Hon. Abiel Wood, and moved to Dorchester Mass. He finally went to Europe for his health, and died in London in 1837, aged 38. His wife's death was caused by getting an apple seed into the lungs or passages. I think the youngest son Frederick A., and his mother lived in the house several years after the death of Mr. Cobb although I am not sure; Mrs. Cobb died in Dorchester, in 1835 aged 72—Frederick died in Boston in 1847. The first occupant of the house after Mrs. Cobb left it was Mrs. Jones who kept the well-known boarding house. In 1849 it was occupied by Mayor Cahoon; it has had several tenants. A city paper says it came into the possession of its last owner, Mr. Libby, through Mr. Wright, his father-in-law, who had lent "Mr, Cobb" money, taking a mortgage on the house—implying that it was the fother who heavened. money, taking a mortgage on the house—im-plying that it was the father who borrowed the money, as no other of the family is spoken of; this is a mistake, the youngest son who stayed at home was the prodigal in this case, it was he who borrowed money of Mr. Wright. He purchased the house of his brother Richard in 1835. No decendants of the family are now living; the remains of all, lie in the old family tomb and the old man-sion is a ruin.

Aroused at Last.

Those persons to whom the apathy of public men in regard to the decline of American commerce has been a matter of surprise for the last four or five years, will be gratified at the present interest manifested in the subject. A member of Congress, a Cabinet officer or other official who hasn't a scheme of his own for giving back to America the seventy millions annually she ought to earn in carrying merchan lise to and from foreign countries, is an anomaly. It is time, surely, to do something when the proportion of our foreign commerce carried on in American vessels has actually fallen off from 38 per cent. in 1871 to 28 per cent. in 1872! As the thing nears the vanishing point there is actually an excitement about it. Barnum being on the point of securing the last American vessel engaged in foreign commerce, for his museum, it is perceived that matters have reached a crisis. Time was when the Representative from this district seemed to be the only man in Congress who took more than a passing interest in the matter. However, he kept up a vigorous fight, and as soon as Mr. Hale came in he also, as the representative of the leading ship-building district in the Union, took an active and efficient part in the contest. At length the whole Maine delegation that it will become a law in ample time to prevent all difficulty under the present law.

Mr. Dawes in the course of his remarks on last session and pushed through the measure allowing a drawback on foreign that the committee of ways and means exmaterial entering into vessels to be used in pected during the present session to report a bill abolishing all remaining internal revenue taxes excepting those on whiskey and tobacthe foreign trade, only two months employment in coasting being permitted. And now everybody has a hand in the matter. The President, who waked up on the subject a year or two before the most of our statesmen and who commended the bills reported from Mr. Lynch's special committee in an extraordinary message to Congress, is fully alive to the importance of doing something. So is Secretary Boutwell, though he omits to make any practical suggestion. Senators and Rep-bearing on the question of the hour. Already the two parties that have always disclosed themselves whenever this subject is agit..ted are opposing each other. On the one side are the Lynchs and Hales who say that the shipbuilding interest must be favored and stimulated in order to secure any revival of American commerce that is worth making an effort for. On the other hand are the Coxes and Brookses, the representatives of the great importers of New York and other commercial cities, who declare that shipbuilding is as hopelessly dead as the Pharaohs, and that the one thing necessary to give us back the bulk of the carrying trade. which is worth a delightfully cool seventy millions a year, is to permit free trade in ships, thus giving our American shipbuilding industry its coup de grace and shutting up American shipyards forever and a day. Their argument is a specious one. They say that shipbuilding has been killed by half an exaggeration, for at the close of the war, when Rebel crulsers had done their work, about half of the carrying trade still remained to us. They further say that they are quite willing to remove entirely the cause of the desolation of the ship-yards. "Come now," they exclaim, "away with these duties in iron and steel and hemp and copper and lumber! We are ready! We detest them worse than you do! They are depressing to branches of industry dear to our constituents also. Down with the tariff! Let the tariff remain, and bolster up the wilted shipbuilders with drawbacks, bounties and such quack remedies, while other kinds of business are left to bear the whole weight of protective duties? Never! It is too unphilosophical, too absurd! If you will not join us in toppling over this monstrous tariffyou shall get no aid from us in your selfish effort for special re- as large as the actual expenses of the United turn in the merchant fleets of England upon

you, and you can then see what grass crops your shipyards are capable of producing."

Such in effect is the argument of the New Yorkers. Looking at it in a speculative way it is a very strong one. The effect of ultra protection on shipbuilding and commerce, and the patching, bolstering and stimulating

-the drawbacks, bounties and special exemptions, desired as a means of getting rid of it, exhibit in the strongest possible light, the futility of the system. But the Maine delegation are obliged to meet the question as practical men and not as speculative philosophers. They know that an attempt to free shipbuilding from its bonds by a general tariff reduction would be futile. Whether resentatives have their pockets full of bills is sufficient to know that the enterprise would be quixotic. Protection being the established policy of the country, and having supporters enough at present to uphold it in spite of all opposers, they have good ground for saying that there are the best possible reasons for showing commerce and shipbuilding special consideration. It is true that they have not suffered alone from the effect of the tariff, but they are the only branches of industry that have been well-nigh extinguished by it. If the protective system is right, why should these most important of industries not share in its benefits? They are brought into competition with the whole world. The duties that keep Europe from destroying manufac. tures, as is alleged, only invite it to prey on our commerce and prepare for it an easy victim. It cannot be protected by duties, like cotton and woolen mills, iron manufactures and copper mines. Let it, then, be protected and upheld by means of drawbacks, bounties and other special provisions for its bene-

Washington Matters.

WHAT GEN. GRANT THINKS OF THE HISTORIC BATTLE FLAGS. A Washington correspondent says that Gen. Grant said recently in conversation with some gentlemen who were at the White House, that should Congress pass the resolu-tion directing the names of the battles of the war for the suppression of the rebellion to be removed from the flags of those regiments which took part in them, it might be necessary to immediately order the imprisonment for life of all the one-armed and the one-legged soldiers of the land, that they might Commissioner Douglass' b'll revising and internal revenue establishment which passed the House by a substantially manimous vote Friday afternoon, is the sec-ond important measure which the House has despatched during the first week of the sesion. All of the amendments from the committee and one by Mr. Bingham were agreed to. The important modifications of the bill are those which reduce the number of special revenue agents from fifty to twenty-five, require the commissioner to effect the proposed consolidation by the first of July next at the latest, limit the one-half of one per cent, allowed collectors to $4500 annualy in the aggregate, and require collectors to give new bonds on assuming their new duties. Most of these changes are made with the approval of the commissioner and other prominent revenue officials now in town. The Toronto Globe says of the President's message:

It is written in a moderate conciliatory tone, with nothing calculated to hurt the sensibinties of any nation or individual. It was necessary to speak of the Washington Treaty, and to express satisfaction at the result of the Geneva Arbitration and the San Juan Award. But it is done in a modest quiet way. There is not the slightest appearance of crowing over the issue as if it involved the defeat or humiliation of Britain. The Halifax Recorder notes a case where

"An Open Letter."

The following letter from Sinclair Tousey, Esq., a warm friend of Mr. Greeley and one of his supporters in the late canvass, is published in the Tribune of Saturday, under the heading of "an open letter."

To the President of the United States: SIR:-I trust that I shall not be charged with presumption in addressing you on the subject of this letter. I want to thank you, not subject of this letter. I want to thank you, not for any favor bestowed on my friends, or shown to me. Thanks for such things are common as the benefits they confer. I desire to thank you for something greater and better than these; for something much beyond the ordinary practice of high official life. I desire to thank you for the armost thank you. tice of high official life. I desire to thank you for the respect shown by you to Mr. Greeley on his death-bed, and for the great respect you paid his character and memory by your attendance on his funeral. It was a great compliment for the head of a great nation to decline attendance on an official festivity while a private citizen was dying, a citizen who had no claims on the sympathy of the official, either of blood or close friendship. It was a much greater compliment when that Executive laid aside the pressing duties of his great office, and, making a night journey of hundreds of miles, at an inclement season, took the place of a private person, among the thousands gathered together to pay the last tribute of respect that the living can pay to the dead. For your remembrance of Mr. Greeley, dying; for your attendance at his funeral; for the tearful attention you paid to the sad eeremonies of that occasion, Mr. President, I thank you with all earnestness.

I am very sure that in Joing so I but echo the sentiments of hundreds of thousands of your fellow-citizens, whose views of public affairs led them and myself to support, in the late canvass, the man to whom you have shown such high respect. By these acts you have removed prejudices, changed opponents into friends, and shown the world that great official life need not deaden the better instincts of our common humanity. By these acts you have taught the nations that Americans never forget what is due to the characteo of their have taught the nations that Americans never forget what is due to the characteo of their great critizens, and that the passions of an exciting political contest never destroy the respect that American partisan opponents have for the good lives of good men.

NOISY RECEPTION AT THE VATICAN.-The correspondent of the New York Times, at Rome, furnishes the following account of a recent scene in the "Eternal City":

scene in the "Eternal City":

Thus the reception at the Vatican, last Sunday, was of a character not unlike the levees at our White House. The crowd was excessive and uproarious; in the presence of the head of all Christendom tumultuous cries were raised, and at last, bold adveturers dared to cry out at the top of their voices: "Death to the Bezerri," (the name given to the Piedmontese and all adherents of the King's Government,) and more than one "Death to Victor Emmanuel," mingled with the enthusiastic cheers for "The Pope-King, our only Sovereign." And all these furious cries and fearful curses were not only heard by the pious vicegerent of Christ upon earth, but allowed to pass unreproved! It is said that Cardinal Cullen, who was present at the reception, manifested his amazement and his indignation at the scandal in such marked manner that the Pope's immediate attendants were profoundly impressed by the impropriety of the scene, and at last prevailed upon the Pope to notice the breach of decorum.

Perhaps he became himself aware of the dauger he had incurred by playing so long with the ignorance and the fanaticism of the common people; at all events, he once more addressed the motley crowd, and with his gentlest voice and most winning smile—reminding us of the irresistible charm of his earlier days—he told them that adversaries like these were not to be mot with sword and cannon, but with prayers irresistible charm of his earlier days—he told them that adversaries like these were not to be met with sword and cannon, but with prayers and good works. The great Irish cardinal list-cued with eager atteotion, and tried to give to his features an expression of relief, but as he stepped into his carriage, even the most careless observer could not have failed to notice the deep and painful impression which the scene he had just witnessed had made upon his intelligent and well-balanced mind.

THE MORAL ASPECT of a modern execution is given in a few lines taken from a report of the hanging of a miserable wretch named Rogers, which took place in New York City last Friday

The police and politicians crowded around to see the "show.' Rogers, on being brought out-looked around the crowd as if searching for the see the "show. Rogers, on being brought outlooked around the crowd as if searching for the face of a friend. He dropped his head and walked on steadily until he stood right in front of the gallows, and then he looked up and saw the dangling rope. His face contracted and he showed great signs of fear. He was kept in this terrible position in front of the rope, and looking at it for four minutes, while the clergymen were reading the burial service. At its conclusion, Roger's nerves succumbed to the fearful strain on them, and falling forward he fainted. He was supported on each side and one of the clergymen threw water on his head which had dropped down on his chest. One of the under-sheriffs joined the noose and rope, and pulled the cap down over his eyes. The Sheriff shook his hand, which was nerveless, and at 93 o'clock the rope was cut and the man was hanged. For several minutes convulsive movements of the muscular cords of the neck and arms were observable. He struggled a great deal.

The Human Kitchen and its Dumb
Waiters.

The body is supplied with aliment by vessels which connect the stomach and its auxiliaries with the venous system, and, so to speak, perform the office of dumb waiter in a restaurant. In other words, these media of communication between the animal kitchen and its dependents supply to each member and organ, near or remote, the quantity and kind of sustemance required to keep it going. When the stemach is derelict in its duty, or the dumb waiters inert or ebstructed, it is the peculiar province of Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters to strengthen and regulate them. Hence its marvelous cures of chronic indigestion, and the emeciation, debility and languor which are generally its concomitants.
It is, moreover, a powerful alterative and corrective,
and the rapidity with which it checks irregularities of the liver and bewels, and braces and invigorates the nervous system, is a marvel not only to the general public, but to professional men. The Human Kitchen and its Dumb

Are the only medicines that will cure Pulmonary consumption.

Sometimes medicines that will stop a cough will often occasion the death of the patient. It locks up the liver, stops the circulation of the blood, hemorrhage follows, and, in fact, clogging the action of the very organs that caused the cough.

Liver complaint and dyspepsia are the causes of two-thirds of the cases of consumption. Many are now complaining with dull pain in the side, the bowels sometimes costive and sometimes to loose, tongue coated, pain in the shoulder blade, feeling sometimes very restless, and at other times drowsy; the food that is taken lies heavily on the stomach, accompanied with acidity and belching of wind. These symptoms usually originate from a disordered condition of the stomach or a torpid liver. Persons so affected, if they take one or two heavy colds, and if the cough in these cases be suddenly stopped, the lungs, liyer and stomach clog, and remain torpid and inactive, and before the patient is aware of his situation, the lungs are a mass of sores, and ulcerated, and death is the inevitable result.

Schenck's Pulmenic Syrup is an expectorant which does not contain any opium, nor anything calculated to check a cough suddenly.

Schenck's Seawed tonic dissolves the food, mixes with the gastric juice of the stomach, digests easily, noorishes the system, and creates a healthy circulation of the blood. When the bowels are costive, skin shallow, and the patient is of a billious habit, Schenck's Mandrake Pills are required.

These medicines are prepaired by Dr. J. H. SCHENCK & SON, Northeast corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, Penn., and for sale by GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO., 28 Hanover street, Boston, and John F. Henry, S College place, New York, sale by Druggists generally.

VALUABLE SERVICES OF THE MCCULLOCH .-The United States Revenue steamer McCulloch has rendered assistance to the following vessels in distress: Nov. 28th, she found schooner Mary Louisa of Portland, Simpson master, from Gardiner for New York, with lumber, ashore on Goat Island, in Kennebec river, while working down river. The schooner was hauled off and towed to a safe anchorage. Nov. 29th, during the heavy gales of that date, the schooner Frank and Emily of Camden, McCobb master, Charleston, S. She was towed to Rockland by the steamer for repairs, &c. Dec. 6th, Schooner Telegraph of Bucksport, Peterson master, from Bangor for Boston, with a cargo of potatoes and a deck load of shingles, struck on Old Cilley Ledge during the snow storm of the 5th inst., filled and capsized. The captain and crew took to the rigging and were rescued from their perilous situation by a fishing schooner on the morning of the 6th, and this steamer while cruising to the westward fell in with the

The entertainment of the evening consisted of a quartette by Mr. and Mrs. Dennett, Mrs.

forth hearty applause, after which, Mr. Allen, in a few felictious remarks, introduced Mr. H.

An old Man Killed for His Money. BOSTON, Dec. 7.—Aaron Wood, eighty years old, who lived in the east part of the town of Acton, was found murdered this morning in his dwelling. He was reported to have considerable money. Robbery was undoubtedly the object of the murder. The Mayoralty.

American Social Science Association. At an adjourned annual meeting of the American Social Science Association held here today, its constitution was so amended as to provide for the election of Vice Presidents to conduct the local work of the Association, and to facilitate the establishment of branches. The following Vice Presidents were elected: Hon.
Josiah Quincy, Prof. Wolcott Gibbs of Boston;
E. L. Godkin, Dr. C. L. Agnew, of New York; Josian Quincy, Prof. Wolcott Gibbs of Boston; E. L. Godkin, Dr. C. L. Agnew, of New York; C. J. Stiles, LL. D.; H. C. Lea, Philadelphia; Theo. D. Curtis of New York was elected President for the ensuing year, and J. S. Blatchford of Boston, Treasurer. The constitution was also amended so as to increase the number of directors to twenty or more. An able board was elected, including Samuel Elliot, LL. D., Prof. L. Agassiz, Governor Washburne, Hon. Wm. Gray, President C. W. Eliot, James M. Barnard, F. B. Sauborn, T. C. Amory and others.

The music was highly appreciated. There Statement of the Relief Committee.

The executive and Finance Relief Committees in aid of the sufferers by the fire, make the following statement: The Central Relief Committee, in Chardon street, have the particular charge of persons who were burnt out, comprising between 800 and 1000 families. The committee for the assistance of men thrown out of employment have received and investigated 1500 persons, and the committee for the relief of women thrown out of employment have received and investigated 4300 applicants who deserved and needed it, and they must continue to do so for some weeks, although the need of help is gradually diminishing. The committee on aid in special cases will require an additional sum for the proper completion of their work. A careful estimate of our future needs lead us to the conviction that not less than $150,000 will be required to give the relief which ought still to be given, independently of the special fund for firemen. The sum at the disposal of the General Relief Committee is about $50,000, which will be exhausted in ten or twelve days. We therefore feel it our duty to make known to our fellow-citizens the importance and necessity of raising $100,000 additional to the amount already subscribed. We contemplate with a reluctance which will be generally shared the only alternative we should have, that of making an appeal to other cities for aid, because we believe that the people of Boston are perfectly able to meet this demand without difficulty, and that they desire to meet it themselves.

Woodman of Chicago, is engaged on a life-size portrait of Gov. Washburn. Though the picture is yet unfinished, progress enough has been made to show that it is a faithful portrait and executed by a skilled hand. Mr. Woodman, who is a native of Maine, will be remembered as the founder and first President of the Chicago Academy of Design, an institution which is doing much for the development of art in the West. For the last two years he has been roaming in Colorado, and some of his studies of mountain scenery which we have seen show the marks of a master-The order for the portrait was given sixteen years ago when the young artist was just starting in his career. The House stands 77 Republicans to 32 Democrats, and Sanate 28 Republicans to 8 Democrats. The board counted the ballots attached to the affidavits of, colored persons wrongfully prevented from voting and filed with the chief supervisor.

New Orleans, Dec. 7.—The Republican says:
We publish this morning an official report of the election for members of the Legislature.
The report has been unavoidably detained by events that have affected the public ever since the election, but it is fortunately in time for all practical purposes.

It will be observed that there is a decided Republican majority in both breaches of the Republican majority in both branches of the General Assembly.

Judge Durell to-day issued a sweeping Judge Durell to-day issued a sweeping restraining order on the application of C. C. Antoine against Gov. Warmoth and all other State officers and clerks of the House and Senate, the Chief of Police and others, preventing any interference with the assembling Legislature and forbidding all persons from participating as members of said Legislature who have not been returned as members thereof by the Custom House returning board, and whose names are not transmitted by George E. Bovee, Secretary of State, to the Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the House.

This evening prominent capitalists and property holders held a largely attended meeting, and it was resolved that a delegation of representative men be at once despatched to Washington to represent the exact state of the community to the government. The committee authorized to the government. The committee authorized to pledge the feality and support of people to the President in any measure it may be the policy of the government to adopt, and merely ask to be relieved of self-constitued agents who claim to represent the laim to represent the general government.

The U. S. Circuit Court issued a writ of certiorari in the cases of the injunctions granted resterday by the 8th District Court against the Justom House returning board.

New Orleans, Dec. 8.—The city is comparatively quiet. The restraining order granted by Judge Durell, placing the whole matter of organizing the Legislature in the hands of the Custom House party, is a general topic of conversation. Even the Republicans express astonishment at its sweeping character. As the matter now stands the Custom House party have won the fight. They have thus far been supported by the Federal Court in every demand. The two Legislatures are expected to meet to-morrow. The impeachment of Gov. Warmouth by the Custom House Legislature and the deposition of the Governor's Legislature by United States troops seems to be the programme. The Warmoth contempt case comes up in the Federal Court to-morrow. To-morrow's Republican will contain full returns of the November election as canvassed by the Custom House returning board, showing Grant's majority in the State to be 14,624, Kellogg's majority 18,861, and the election of the entire Republican State ticket. The Legislature stand 73 Republicans and 33 Fusionists, and the Senate 27 Republicans and 35 Fusionists. NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 8 .- The city is compara-ists.

The Custom House members of the Legislature to-day in caucus decided to take strong measures against their opponents. All the members returned by the Custom House board who do not take their seats but act with the other body will be dismissed, and if the Governor refuses to recognize them articles of im-peachment will follow.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—The Herald's New Orleans correspondent reports Gov. Warmoth as saying in an interview last night, that he should resist the authority of the United States Circuit Judge under whose order the State House had been seized, and declared his determination and the right in the sheet or returns that he had been seized, and declared his determination not to yield up the election returns; that he was Governor of Louisiana, and denied the right of aey court to paralyze his executive functions; that the plan of the Kellogg party was to install such a Legislature as they declare to have been elected, and to pronounce Senator Kellogg the duly elected Governor. The latter's election as Senator would then follow.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—The Herald's New Or-cans special states on authority of Gen. Eme-y, that contrary to the report that there are 10,000 Federal troops there, the only United States soldiers in the city are the 19th infantry, two batteries of the 1st artillery and a squadron of cavalry. They are held in readiness to obey e mandates of the Un Court unless some palpably absurd service is required. The General has a special order to furnish the Marshal with whatever force is required to carry out the decrees of the court. He quired to carry out the decrees of the court. He anticipates no resistance, for the people would have no chance.

Their proposed indignation meeting Monday will not be interfered with except in obeying orders, unless it should be construed into a mark of disrespect for the court. No antagonism exists between the people and the troops and the General believes everything will pass off smoothly. off smoothly.
Collector Casey expresses the belief that enough members of the Legislature in sympathy with them, will be brought together on Monday to form a quorum.

The fusion Legislature (Warmouth's) met in caucus Saturday evening. There were present fifty-two members. A memorial representing their side of the case which had been telegraphtheir side of the case which had been telegraphed to President Grant, was read. No answer has been received and an adjournment was taken till Sunday. The fusion leaders speak confidently of their ability to win and claim that the issue between State sovereignty and centralization must be met. Their legislature will meet despite Durell's injunctions, and can only be dispersed at the point of the bayonet, which they are powerless to resist. Parties in the confidence of the radical leaders allege that the old city government will be reinstated on Monday and Warmouth committed to prison for contempt.

on the other hand Warmouth is reported to have received despatches from Governors of Southern and Western States urging him to stand firm and he will receive their political support. Evidently affairs are assuming a very grave assect grave aspect.

The Times New Orleans special says that the Republican legislature meets on Monday at the State House, and the Warmoth party at Lyceum Hall. A feeling of security among the people is assured by Judge Durell's decision.

FOREIGN

New York, 7.—A Paris special says of the probable action of the Government that it will soon adopt one of these courses:—First, the resignation of the cabinet and the formation of another from the right centre and left centre, thus detaching votes from the right and organizing a new majority favorable to the Government; second, a formal declaration of the impossibility of continuing the Government under existing circumstances and an appeal for the dissolution of the Assembly; third, the complete retirement of the Government and the acceptance of a cabinet exclusively from the right. This latter course is most unlikely but it is more probable than the resignation of President Thiers.

A Terrible Nitro-Giyeerine Explosion. The nitro-glycerine magazine of the Rob-The nitro-glycerine magazine of the Roberts torpedo company, some ten yards from the track of the Aileghany valley railroad, about one-half mile above Scrubgrass, exploded at half-past nine o'clock Saturday morning. The men—Mr. R. A. Wright, familiarly known as "Doc." Wright, the the torpedo company's agent for the Scrubgrass district, accompanied by Mr. Harry Noble, the Western Union telegraph operator at Scrubgrass, left that place early in the morning in a sleigh to visit the magazine. morning in a sleigh to visit the magazine. The purpose of their visit was to procure some of the nitro-glycerine with which to fill some cases that Mr. Wright intended ex-

The facts of the explosion, or by what mis casace it occurred, can never be known till the grea day when all things shall be re-The last seen of the men they were in periect health and spirits, and entering the sleigh they drove gaily on their way to meet a sudden and awful death. As they had taken a hatchet with them, it may have been possible that the explosion resulted from a careless attempt to open one of the cans.

The magazine, as has been stated above, was situated about one-half mile up the rivrailroad track. The place was unfrequented and located with a view to the safety of the neighborhood should an explosion occur. At the time of the accident it contained eighty thirty-five pound cans of the explosive agent.

The shock was like that of an earthquake, accompanied by a sharp peal of thunder. The Oil City accommodation train, due at Scrubgrass at 9.20, pulled out at 9.30, and had advanced about one hundred yards on its way when the terrible explosion occurred, shaking the solid ground on all sides. The concussion seemed to strike the wheels of the concussion seemed to strike the wheels of the locomotive and cars, and for a moment to check its headway. The glass in the windows were shattered to fragments, and the frightened passengers were impressed with the belief that the boiler of the locomotive had blown up. the belief that the boiler of the locomotive had blown up. The concussion seemed to go diagonally across the river, and evidently followed the same for some distance.

The inmates of the house nearly opposite were badly shaken up. The house rocked as though in the grasp of a fearful hurricane, the clock was thrown from the stand, the crockery from the shelves, and the inmates rocked out in great terror, to find the cause rushed out in great terror to find the cause of the unwonted phenomenon. It was distinctly felt at Parker's Landing, and by a gentleman on horseback at the Martin Farm, s:x miles from that point. An Oil City gentle-man who was at the Sands wells at the time, heard the explosior distinctly. He states that it was so loud that the workmen thought a boiler had exploded near at hand. A little boy standing near called out that it was thunder. The point is full twenty miles from the scene of disaster, and how terrible the explosion was can readily be imagined. The ground where the magazine had stood was torn up as by some convulsion of nature. The trees and bushes around were scattered and divested of their simbs, and the tops of large trees were twisted off as if they had been mere twigs. The site looked as if a whirlwind had enveloped it and exhausted its power for harm.

As soon as the explosion occurred, men from Scrubgrass and the neighborhood rushed for the magazine. A terrible scene met their view; but without waiting to examine the site they proceeded to search for the bodies of Wright and Noble. They were literally blown to fragments, and only occasion-ally coul i a bit of flesh, bone or clothing be tound. Up to one o'clock in the afternoon the only remains found would scarcely fili a Bits of clothing were found on trees and bushes surrounding the cave on the was the work of the destroyer it is suppo that the bodies were blown into atoms which fell into the river. A Queer Party.

Dickens, in one of his letters, gives the following droll account of an evening spent with some eccentric ladies. "And now, sir, I will describe modestly, tamely, literally, the visit to the small select circle which I promised should make your hair stand on end. In our hotel were Lady A. and Lady B., mother and daughter, who came to the Peschiere shortly before we left it, and who have a deep admiration for your humble servant, the inmitable before we left it, and who have a deep admiration for your humble servant, the inmitable B. They are both very clever. Lady B. extremely well-informed in languages, living and dead; books and gossip; very pretty; with two little children, and not yet five and twenty. Lady A. plump, fresh and rosy; matronly, but full of spirits and good looks. Nothing would serve them but we must dine with them; and accordingly, on Friday at six we went down to their room. I knew them to be rather odd. For instance, I have known Lady A., full dressed, walk alone through the streets of Genoa, the squalid through the streets of Genoa, the squalid Italian by streets, to the governor's soirce; and announce herself at the palace of state by knocking at the door. I have also met Lady B., full dressed, without any cap or bonnet, walking a mile to the opera, with all sorts of fingling jewels about her, besides a sedam chair in which sat her mamma. Consequently, I was not surprised at sach little sparkles in the conversation (from the young lady) as 'Oh God what a sermon we had here last Sunday! 'And did you ever read such infer-nal trash as Mrs. Gore's?—and the like. Still, but for Kate and Georgy (who were decidedly in the way, as we agreed afterward's), I should have thought it was all very funny; and, as it was, I threw the ball back again, was mighty free and easy, made some rather broad lokes, and was highly applauded. 'You smoke, don't you?" said the younglady, in a smoke, don't you?" said the younglady, in a pause of this kind of conversation. 'Yes,' I said, I generally take a cigar after dinner when I am alone.' 'I'll give you a good 'un,' said she, 'when we go up stairs, and there we were joined by an American lady residing in the same hotel, who looked like what we call in old England 'a reg'lar Bunter' fluffy face (rouged); considerable levelopment of figure; one groggy eye; blue satin dress made with low short sleeves, and shoes of the same; and one eye not actually groggy, but going to be. American lady married at sixteen; daughter sixteen now, often mistaken for sisters, etc., etc., etc. When that was over, Lady B brought out a cigar box, and gave me a cigar, made of negrohead she said, which would quell an elephant in six whills. The box was full of cigarettes—good large ones, made of pretty strong tobacco; I always smoke them here, and used to smoke them at Genoa, and I knew them well. When I lighted my cigar, Lady B, lighted hers, at mine; leaned against the mantlepiese, in conversation with me; put out her stomach, folded her arms, and with her pretty face cocked up sideways and her cigarette smoking away like a Manchester mill, laughed and talked, and smoked, in the most gentlewsanly manner I ever heheld. Lady A immediately lighted hers; and in five minutes the room pause of this kind of conversation. lighted her elgar; American lady immediately lighted hers; and in five minutes the room was a cloud of smoke, and us four in the cen-tre p fling away bravely, while American lady related stories of her 'Hookah' up stairs, and described different kinds of pipes. But even this was not all. For presently two Frenchmen come in, with whom, and the American lady, Lady B sat to whist. The Frenchman smoked of course (they were geally modest gentlemen and seemed dismayed) and Lady B played for the next hour or two with a cigar continually in her mouth-never out of it. She certainly smoked six or eight.
Lady A gave in soon—I think she only did it out of vanity. American lady had been smoking all the morning. I took no more; and Lady B. and the Frenchmen had it all to themselves?

A NEW YORK ORGANIST'S DOMESTIC TROUBLES.—The organist of a fashionable church in Broadway, New York, who has been there for 12 or 15 years, and been regarded as a high authority in music and a very exemplary Christian, has been discovered to be a bigamist. He is English by birth, and when he came to New York protended to be a young bachelor. After 12 months' residence he married the daughter of a respectable merchant, a member of the church of which he had been the organist. The course which he had been the organist. The couple lived happily, had several children, and pros pered spiritually and secularly. All went well until, a few weeks ago, a woman arrived by one of the British steamers, and claimed to be the deserted wife of the musician and to be the deserted wile of the musician and the mother of his two children. She applied to the vestrymen for redress, and at first they would not believe her story. She supported it, however, with such indisputable exidence that further skepticism became impossible. They sent a committee to wait on the organ-They sent a committee to wait on the organist, and request his immediate resignation.

He tried to balliate, thus admitting his offence; but the representatives of dignity and decorum of the church would listen to no excuses, and he was forced to withdraw. Wife

Early last summer she heard of his having another consort, and determined to come here to obtain her rights. How the connubial difficulty will be adjusted is uncertain. The organist, having lost his situation, can get no other, and is trying to compromise the matter. Wife No. two has left him and gone to her has no parents to go to. He says he loves No. two and does not love No. one. No. two declares she hates him, and will have nothing more to do with him. No. one vows she adores him still and won't live without him. MISCELLANEOUS.

It is not a physic which may give temporary relief to the sufferer for the first few do es, but which, from continued use brings Piles and kindred diseases to aid in weakening the invalid, nor is it a doctored liquor which, under the popular name of "Bitters" is so extensively palmed off on the public as sovereign remedies, but it is a most powerful Tenic and alterntive, pronounced so by the leading medical authorities of London and Paris, and has been long used by the regular physicians of other countries with wonderful remedial results.

Dr. Wells Extract of Jurubeba retains all the medicinal virtues peculiar to the plant and must be taken as a permanent curative agent. Is there want of action in your Liver & Spleen? Unless relieved at once, the blood becomes impure by deleterious secretions, producing scrofulous or skin diseases, Blotches, Felons, Pustules, Cauker, Pimples, &c., &c. Take Jurubeba to cleanse, purify and restor-the vitiated blood to healthy action. Have you a Dyspepstic Stomach? unless digestion is promptly aided the system is debilitated with loss of vital force, poverty of the Blood, Dropsical Tendency, General Weakness or Lassitude.

Take it to assist Digestion without reaction, it will impart youthful vigor to the weary sufferer.

Have you weakness of the Intestines? You are in canger of Chronic Diarrhoea or the dreadful Inflammation of the Bowels.

Take it to allay irritation and ward off tendency to inflam, attons.

Hav. you weakness of the Uterine of Drinnry Organs? You must procure instant relef or you are liable to suffering worse than death.

Take it to strengthen organic weakness or life becames a burden.

comes a burden.

Finally it should be frequently taken to keep the system in perfect health or you are otherwise in great danger of malarial, miasmatic or contagious diseases.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills, For all the Parposes of a Family Physic, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizeus send certificates of cures performed and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safect and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.
