Rev. A. E. Wilson returned from a two Sunday vacation and occupied the pulpit of the Unitarian church last Sunday morning, preachng a sermon on the burning issue of the day His subject was, "Seeking Peace, Finding War," from the text, "I came not to send peace, but sword" He said Jesus by example and precept taught the need of the heroic in life as well as meekness and gentleness; that the very ideals of peace that come to us, and that we all long to have realized, often can only be accomplished by strife, "Peace at any price" is often only fear or cowardice, and whoever believes in that motto, could have no use for Washington or Lincoln. He made a plea for peace, but thought that if it must come by way or war this was only another of the numerous antitheses of life, of which the greatest was that though human we are divine. Next Sunday, by way of as great a contrast to last Sunday's ser mon as possible, Mr. Wilson will preach on the subject, "Winter: Glorious or Terrible"?

Legislative Notes.

Sunday Cunning and Fishing.

There was a very interesting hearing last week before the committee on inland fisheries and game on the proposed repealing of the close time on toxes, the proposed repeal of the Sunday hunting law, and the bill proposing a law against

Sunday fishing, the last two measures being heard tog-ther. Chairman Austin of the inland fisheries and game commission said that there had been a Sunday hunting law upon the statute books since 1883, but that it was only since the original prohibition as to game birds and animals had been made to extend to all wild birds and wild animals that there had been any serious effort on the part of the department to en-force it, because previously it was im-possible to enforce it. He said that if the present law was unjust and could not be enforced he was in favor of its re-

Senator Merril! of Somerset of the committee inquired of Chairman Austin:

"Can the law be enforced?"

"It has been too much enforced to become popular," replied Chairman Austin.

Representative George E. Grant of Hope spoke in favor of the repeal of the Sunday hunting law, and said that it worked a great injustice to men who worked a great injustice to men who could not get out on any other day for hunting.

J. E. Hobbs, the postmaster at Camden, thought if there was to be a close time for the protection of game it had better be on a week day. Prohibition of Sunday hunting worked a hardship upon the poorer class. the poorer class.

unpopular law.
Even if the committee should report favorably upon the Sunday hunting law and the Legislature should pass it, I do not believe that Gov. Milliken would sign such a bill," declared J. L. Johnson of Harmony, the first person to speak in favor of the present hunting law.

Representative Buzzell made a most eloquent plea in behalf of the proposed measure to repeal the Sunday hunting law. 'I want to legalize the Sunday efforts of some of the best people of the State and to repeal a vicious piece of class legislation," declared the Belfast man. He urged the members of the committee to vote on it just as they felt and to remember the fellows back home.

Representative Phillips of Southwest Harbor spoke in favor of retaining the present law, and said that there were other forms of recreation than hunting on Sunday. If the present law was re-pealed he knew of many people who were pealed he knew of many people who were in the habit of walking in the woods on Sunday that would stop doing so. Charles A. Holt of Belgrade quoted a Maryland bishop as in favor of Sunday bunting under certain circumstances. Rev. J. B. Sanger of Presque Isle spoke strongly against repealing the present law. James M. Gillis of Bangor declared that the measure forbidding Sunday hunting was an unpopular law, the people didn't want it, and the matter for the Legislature to consider was the will of the people. Harry Wilbur of Port-land said that the strict observance of the day which had been advocated by some who had spoken was a part of the mosaic code and not of God's law. Senator Butler of Knox spoke in behalf of the constituents who desired the repeal of the measure.

State Live Stock Santtary Board.

The Budget.

Feb. 14th. Governor Milliken presented the budget upon which he had been Fulton of Aroostook: Act relating to working since the Legislature convened, the inspection of hotels, inns and rooming It is the most complete and satisfactory presentation of the State's income and needs that has ever been made. The document in itself is very long and is ac-companied by tables showing the details of both income and prospective appro-priations, together with a long and comprehensive report by the commission ap-pointed to consider some method of taxing intangible personal property.

Several important and sweeping recommendations are made by the Gover-nor in the presentation of his budget. One of these relates to the tax on intan-gible personal property, following the recommendations of the commission. commission and the Governor favor a flat tax of three mills on such property and the establishment of a tax commissioner to collect the tax thus imposed. The Governor recommends that half of the tax collected under this system should be returned to the cities and towns where it is collected. Such a tax would reach class of property which now escapes taxation altogether, and if it be taxed it will add materially to the State.

Another sweeping recommendation is that the railroad tax, a part of which is now returned to the cities and towns where the stockholders of railroads and telephone companies reside, be entirely retained by the State. The Governor argues that the retention of this railroad presentative Cole of Eliot has introduced tax complete will admit of the State tax a resolution which provides that a combine give mills, whereas if it be distributed of five be appointed to investigate buted, the tax will be six mills. Among other things he recommends the mill tax for State highways, as it was assumed he would do, and he includes this proposed tax in the budget. He likewise makes recommendations for the abolishment of Woman Suffrage.

A signal victory for woman suffrage, the introduction of five new booze bills, a lively fight in the Senate over the purchase of the Caribou Water, Light and Power Company and the joint conven-tion to hear the Governor's budget, were the features of the Feb. 14th session of the Legislature. The House sustained Rep. Baxter in his motion to have the second reading of the woman suffrage resolve assigned for Thursday morning after a hot fight. It had the reading that day without debate.

Bills to Aid Enforcement.

Five measures relating to enforcement of the prohibitory liquor law were intro-duced in the Maine Legislature Feb. 14th.

Representative Allan of Portland pre-sented a bill providing that it shall be unlawful for any transportation or ex-press company to deliver liquors at any place other than the regular place of business of the company or individual, or to any person, firm or corporation except he consignee.

SETTLING ACCOUNTS.

People Are Now Paying Up at Shorter Intervals Than Formerly.

Business men are agreed that a very noticeable change has come about in the past five years in the matter of paying accounts. While that length of time ago yearly settlements were the rule, settlements at much shorter periods are now getting to be the fashion. Just what has brought this about is hard to say. Possibly there are a number of things which have worked together to bring about this good result Of course, years ago, before this country began raising stock, there was but about one time in each year when a farmer had any money. Consequently no one else had any except at that time. Now, with creamerles paying off every two weeks and with live stock marketed any time during the year, money flows far more evenly. Then, too, banks are coming to be far more generally used than before, which accounts for an evener flow of money. The farmer borrows money to tide him over till he sells something rather than stand off his creditors as long as he formerly did.

A number of younger men have gone into various businesses of late years. most of them without sufficient capital to enable them to carry accounts long. They were therefore compelled to make frequent collections, and that might be said to have started the habit of paying up all around.

Automobiles, which are alternately blamed and credited for almost everything, may be said to have had something to do with the matter of credits. Automobile accessories run into money very fast, and garages, being of comparatively modern creation, started out at once to keep book accounts down. The motorist, therefore, was educated at the start to pay up his garage bill frequently. This helped along other lines of business as well.

Many lines of business make monthly collections the rule, and it is admitted by every one to be the best plan all around.-Osage (Ia.) Press-Journal.

THE THRIFT CAMPAIGN.

Are You Doing Your Share to Make It a Big Success?

The greatest thrift movement in the history of this country now appears to be making considerable headway. The American Savings Bank association is giving much time and energy to this thrift campaign and offering especial encouragement to the new depositor of small sums. Women, children and young wage earners are being particularly sought as depositors by banks all over the country. Parents are urged to start small bank accounts for their children, to teach them thrift, since the habit of saving does more than build up a bank account; it builds character and credit, and the child of today may be glad ten or fifteen years hence to have the reputation of being thrifty and substantial.

The man without money-at least a few hundred dollars-is not likely to be regarded as of great consequence by his fellows. Money is not everything nor even the thing to be most desired. Good health and good character are more to be desired than great riches. But money bears a close relation to almost everything worth while. It is therefore important to train children in ways of thrift, and nothing gives a child more of a sense of importance than a bank account in his own name.

Such an account is good for the wo man in the home too. Many wives feel hopelessly and even rather resentfully dependent on their husbands. A savings bank account in her own name not only cures many a woman of extravagance and unbusinesslike methods of conducting her household, but gives her a feeling of independence and self respect that makes the whole atmosphere of her home happier.-Exchange

RECENT DEATHS.

Capt. George M. Cummings, who died

Feb. 13th at his home in Bangor after a long illness due to old age and a general breakdown, was one of the old school of a submarine showing no flag, painted ash color with black deck and armed with American master marines who sailed the high seas when the merchant marine of this country was in its heyday. On his retirement from the sea he entered actively into the life of his adopted city, Bangor, and for several terms had acted as harbornmaster. He is also believed to have been the oldest member as the color with black deck and armed with a 7.5 rifle. LURE OF BIG CITIES

A Word to the Man Who Yearns For a Jeb In New York.

DON'T HURRY TO LEAVE HOME

Be Sure the Change to the Hustling Metropolis Will Be to Your Advantage Before You Make It-Do Your Best Where You Are and-Wait.

In the American Magazine a writer, giving some words of advice to the many aspiring young men throughout the country who feel the lure of the great cities and who are consumed with a desire to try their fortunes therein, says:

"An old friend called to ask my advice the other day. He came to New York from a little Indiana town. He has a wife and four children-and a poor job.

"As I talked with him I kept picturing him where he belongs-back in the old home town. If he had stayed there he might have worked into a $1,000 or $1,200 job, which would have been sufficient to satisfy all his needs and most of his wants. He could have had a garden, a yard, a savings bank account and a membership in the local lodge. Evenings he could have sat on his porch and held converse with his neighbors.

"On the Fourth of July he could have been 'some punkins' at the neighborhood picnic. He might have become a village councilman, and when the fall campaign arrived he could have been on the committee to welcome the congressman when that great personage came to town in search of votes. In other words, he might have had a real

A Hint to Automobile Riders. Every automobile rider has experienced the discomfort of dust in the eyes and also from the effects of cold winds. A suggestion has been made that these discomforts may be greatly alleviated by applying castor oil along the eyelashes. This, it is claimed, will catch most of the dust before it can enter the eve, and also it protects the eves from the chilling effects of the wind.

The Democratic Brooklyn Eagle in an editorial captioned "Prompt Action is Imperative" expresses its disapproval, as it has in former articles, of the "watchful waiting" policy at Washington, and in so doing we believe voices the sentiment of all patriotic Americans. It well says: "No one at this critical juncture would wish to nurry the Administration into a rash or precipitate step. But the Administration has already gone far enough to indicate at least a leaning toward a policy which, if formally and emphatically declared, would secure some measure of safety to American commerce and revive the drooping self-respect of American citizens. An official statement from Washington, issued on February 7th, contained these words:"

It (the Government), however, asserts traverse all parts of the high seas are the same now as they were prior to the issuance of the German declaration, and its owners believe that it is liable to be to prevent or resist such attacks.

The Eagle says further that if this meant anything at all it meant that American shipowners might put guns on their craft and employ gunners whose duty it hite, and recitations by Janie Grant, Stevie or obtain gunners, and the Eagle contends that the arming must be done with the open encouragement of the Government, which should supply both the guns

Nothing would so hearten the Nation, | conferred. nothing would so swiftly convince Ger-many that her inhuman blockade decree is doomed to failure so far as American commerce is concerned as a blunt declaration from Washington that the freedom of the seas would be fought for by American merchant ships. Unless such a declaration shall be speedily forthcoming, Germany will have succeeded in imprisoning American shipping in American harbors without the expense of even a few torpedoes. The blockade of England is one thing. The blockade of the United States under the savage threat of wholesale murder directed against our The Administration should answer that threat more strongly than it has so far done. It should answer in such fashion that our purpose will not be misunderstood by the practiced assassins directing the submarine campaign, nor by the spineless cowards and traitors among our own people who are giving aid and comfort to Germany by protesting against any assertion of the protesting against any assertion of the rights she is trampling under foot.

Feb. 18th Senator Fernald was one of the speakers at the memorial exercises in the Senate for the late Senator Burleigh, and truly said: 'Senator Burleigh's death is sincerely mourned; and to those who knew him best his memory will be cherished as a loyal and delightful friend, a congenial associate, and a patriotic and devoted servant of the public."

Capt. John O. Johnson, who died Feb 16th at his home in Liberty, served well his country in her time of need, and his State and town in the years of peace that followed the Civil War. He was a true type of the patriotic American, as were his long line of patriotic ancestors. Never were such qualities as he possessed more needed than in the conditions which confront this country today, and ever before and in most cases larger although too old for active service his voice and counsel would have counted tutions. The appropriations asked for for much against those who are advocating peace at any price. Capt. Johnson had long been a valued contributor to for three-quarters of a million. DODGE BROTHERS MOTOR CAR

This business and its product are blessed with a friendship probably without parallel in the history of American manufacturing.

Fresh from the factory, or at second-hand, from one end of the Nation to the other, the car has special value and a special reputation because of the name it bears.

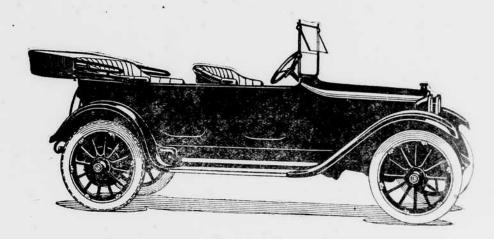

Because of that name, you may be sure that the principle behind the car will never be changed a hair's breadth.

Dodge Brothers' one idea in upbuilding their business is to build so soundly and so well that the good will which they have won will grow and endure forever.

It will pay you to visit us and examine this car.

The gasoline consumption is unusually low. The tire mileage is unusually high.

Mayor Keene spoke of the great amount of travel over the bridge, and said it was as much a State as a local matter. HELP FROM THE HIGH SCHOOL. A large number of the pupils of the High school are obliged to work a part of the time in order to remain in school. There must be many in the city who, from time to time, have work they would like to have done but are unable to find anyone to do it. Thinking men and women will realize that, when they can secure some one at any time to do any kind of work, it will save them much worry and bother, and in securing the services of a High school pupil they will confer a favor and be sure the money paid will be used in a good cause. With this idea in mind the principal of the High school will be glad to receive notice from anyone who may have work to be done. Either telephone 143-12 or drop a note stating the nature of the work and the time when help is wanted; if possible please give at least twenty-four hours' notice. The one-session plan in the school leaves the most of the afternoons free for the pupils to work and will enable them to take longer jobs than would otherwise be the case. As this is a kind of a mutual benefit plan it will be appreciated if any unsatisfactory work or behavior on the part of the pupils is promptly reported, so that those who are not genuinely interested in the welfare of their employer and the interests of the school at large may be eliminated from the benefits which it is hoped may come from the idea. High school girls as well as boys have signified their desire to obtain employment.

PREPAREDNESS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE JOURNAL: Whence comes this big sentiment for preparedness? Hon. Claude Kitchin, M. C., leader of the House, tells us that is has been created by misrepresentation by the "Seven Seas Magazine," organ of the Navy League. Tons of literature have been poured upon the people, vividly portraying our dangerous condition, when Admiral Fletcher, the highest active officer in our Navy, has expressly declared that we already have a Navy superior to any other nation in the world except Great Britain. Admiral Badger. ex-commander of the Atlantic fleet, a member of the General Board of the Navy, declared that no one had ever heard him say that Germany had a Navy superior to ours. In spite of the jingoes of war traffickers, our Navy carries 284 guns 12 inches and over, while Germany, which has the next largest Navy aside from Great Britain, has only 194. A 9inch cannon costs $50,000, and $1,000 every time it is fired. The best cost three times that amount. Two years of Wilson's administration expends twice as much as the last two years of Taft and eight million dollars more than Roosevelt's entire four years. Ten years ago our largest battleship cost little more than 5 million dollars. The next dreadnaught will cost 14 million, and later ones will cost 18 to 20 million. This preparedness craze has increased our Naval appropriations more in a single year than Germany increased in the fifteen years previous to the European war, and $200,000,000 more than the combined increase of all the nations in the world for the five years preceding that war. This craze was worked up in the face of the fact that we were already expending from 20 to 30 millions every year more than any other nation except Great Britain. For the ten years previous to the European war we expended on our Navy over $300,000,000 more than Germany or any other nation

Our five-years naval program calls for an increase of $100,000,000 every year over our former expenditures. Our army four-years program doubles our former annual army appropriations, calling for $100,000,000 each year more than we have been appropriating for this purpose. This is the most stupendous war preparation ever made by any nation in time of peace. It calls for 70 percent of all the revenue collected by the nation. The mainspring which stirred the peaceful face of the deep and roused this nation to put on the face of militarism in its November issue of last year, advocated wars of conquest like Rome of old. Is this the kind of leaders that the

are their words: "There should be no doubt that even with all possible moral refinements, it is the absolute right of a nation to live to its fullest intensity, to expand, to found colonies, to get richer and richer by any proper means, such as armed conquest. Such expansion as an aim is an inalienable right, and in the case of the United States, it is a particular duty." This sounds strangely like more out of the same dish that Bernhardi scattered in Germany during the few years previous to the European erty; Lydia A. Hatch, late of Belfast. war. The same medicine is liable to operate the same in America as it did in lowed in estates of J. Fred N. Park, late Europe. Warships are the most useless of Searsport; Webber R. Sargent, late things on earth. Germany has a fleet of Monroe; Emma A. Drake, late of Belless than one third as strong as the Al- fast; William Albert Thompson, late of lies, but has nothing to fear from their superior strength. It a superior Navy is of no avail when only 200 miles away, why need America get the nightmare when they have no enemy within 3,000 miles and need not have one anywhere? All battleships now in existence should be engaged in the carrying trade and never another one built. The best way to teach peace is to practice it.

Since writing the above, new conditions have arisen, but has not Germany the same right to declare a blockade of the ports of her enemies that the Allies have?

America had better leave the ocean to the world than to fight for it. After the other feilow gets over his mad the matter can be amicably adjusted. W. J. Bryan says no nation has challenged the United States, but if it should, this should be the answer: "No, we have the welfare of 100,000,000 people to guard, priceless ideals to preserve, and we will not wallow with you in a mire of blood to conform to a false standard "

Convincing Proof of This Fact.

Ridgway, Penn. - "I suffered from female trouble with backache and pain in my side for over seven months so I could not do any of my work. I was treated by three different doctors and was getting discouraged when my sister-in-law told me how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her. I decided to try it, and it restored my health, so I now do all of my housework which is not light as I have a little boy three years old." - Mrs. O. M. Rhines, Ridgway, Penn.

Mrs. Lindsey Now Keeps House For Seven.

Tennille, Ga.-"I want to tell you how much I have been benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About eight years ago I got in such a low state of health I was unable to keep house for three in the family. I had dull, tired, dizzy feelings, cold feet and hands nearly all the time and could scarcely sleep at all. The doctor said I had a severe case of ulceration and without an operation I would always be an invalid, but I told him I wanted to wait awhile. Our druggist advised my husband to get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has entirely cured me. Now I keep house for seven and work in the garden some, too. I am so thankful I got this medicine. I feel as though it saved my life and have recommended it to others and they have been benefited".-Mrs. W. E. Lindsey, R. R. 3, Tennille, Ga.

WALL STREET AND STOCKS.

How "Short Sellers" May Win by Buy ing on a Falling Market.

There are two kinds of stock speculators. One buys in the hope that he may later sell at a profit. If a man buys a share of Steel at 100 and later sells it at 115 he has made $15, less the broker's small commission. It is clear how money is made in a rising market. How money is made in a falling market requires explanation. The process of capitalizing disaster is known as "selling short." A speculator who is sure, either because of some inside knowledge or because of his own reasoning, that stocks will tumble, gives an order to his broker to sell a block of stock for him. Let us use Central Leather as an example. He has none of the stock. The broker sends word to his representative on the floor of the exchange, and the sale is made. Central Leather is sold at the market price, say, 93. In the course of a few hours the stock which the seller did not have is delivered to the purchaser. The broker has borrowed it from some owner of the stock. A small fee is paid to the owner of the loaned shares. The man who has sold short then watches for the influences which he expects will drive the stock down. One or two days later he reads that some great international figure has made a move for peace.

The stock drops on the news. No one is willing to pay $93 a share for it. A few are willing to pay $90. Our hero who has sold short directs his broker to buy enough shares to pay him in kind for the shares borrowed. The broker buys at $90. After the broker's fee is paid and the charge for the borrowed stock is settled the speculator receives a little less than $3 a share as a result of his short selling. He merely sold at 93 what he later bought for 90. He has no stock. He never had any stock. He sold it before he

Why Stones Cannot Burn Like Coal. Stones cannot burn for the simple reason that they are dead matter which has burned out. When anything burns it takes into its system all the oxygen of the air that it can combine with. When it has done this it cannot be burned any more. In burning any substance changes its character.

The original element of most of the rocks and stones we see was silicon. and when that combines with oxygen the result is a form of rock, a concrete substance, but unburnable.

HOW WAR IS ENDED

Various Methods by Which Peace Is Sought and Secured.

MEDIATION NOT MUCH USED.

Pacific Intervention by Friendly Neutrals to End Conflicts Between Nations Has Cut a Small Figure In Wars of the Last Century and a Half.

The impression that nations desiring to end a war generally avail themselves of the offer of some friendly neutral to act as mediator is utterly unfounded.

When England desired to end the war with the colonies she began by sending separate negotiators to the French government and to the American commissioners in Paris. The latter, though positively commanded by congress to negotiate no peace without the participation of their French allies, did sign a separate treaty, though with the reservation that it should not go into effect until France had made peace. They then informed the French government, which accepted the terms. The Napoleonic peace treaties usually began with an armistice. The most famous, the treaty of Tilsit, was brought about by a personal meeting between Napoleon and Alexander I. on a raft in the middle of the river Niemen to agree upon an armistice which the czar had aiready sought Napoleon's fall in 1814 was accompanied by no negotiations; the allies were actually in Paris. Napoleon's generals persuaded him to sign an act of abdication, and the French senate dethroned him.

The way to the peace of Ghent, which ended the war of 1812, was paved by an offer of the czar to act as mediator. though it was rejected. In rejecting it Lord Castlereagh let it be known that he was willing to negotiate directly with the United States. The United States gladly accepted and sent commissioners, but England neglected to appoint envoys until long afterward. when her troubles had become so great that she was desirous of peace.

On the death of Czar Nicholas I. his successor, Alexander II., announced to the courts of Europe his desire that the Crimean war should end. A peace conference was held in Vienna, but in three months it was broken off and the war resumed. The war went on until Austria, a neutral power, threatened to join the allies unless the czar accepted her ultimatum. He at first refused, but a personal letter from the neutral king of Prussia induced him to reconsider, and the final peace confer-

In 1870 the French government which succeeded Napoleon III. asked for an armistice, then for peace, but the requests were declined and the siege of Paris began. After the surrender of Paris the Germans consented to an armistice to permit the election of a national assembly which it could recognize. The preliminaries of peace were agreed on between Bismarck and Thiers at Versailles, and the treaty followed at Frankfort.

The Russo-Turkish war was cut short talked about when he comes to a city. by England's threat to enter it. Russia I handle his accounts. He gets only arranged an armistice immediately and what is offered him for his services on the last day of his campaign, and this directly with Turkey. England, backed isn't as big as it looks, for much of it by France and Austria, refused to recognize it, and the congress of Berlin was summoned, but before it met the czar had negotiated a secret treaty agreements subsequently made there. The terms of peace between the United States and the Confederacy were arranged by generals in the field. The Spanish-American war of 1898 closed when Spain on July 26 made overtures to the United States through Cambon, the French ambassador at Washington Seventeen days later the protocol was signed

The Boer war ended in an unprecedented way. The members of the Transvaal government rode into Middleburg and requested to be sent to Lord Kitchener to arrange peace terms with him. He met them, but held that because of the peculiar character of the Boer army the men in the field would have to be consulted if any assurance of peace was to be given. Steyn, De Wet and Delarey went to the commandos, explained the situation to them, and each body in the field chose two delegates to meet at Veree niging and decide the matter by vote.

President Roosevelt brought the Russo-Japanese war to an end by sending on June 8, 1905, identic dispatches to both governments urging that they enter into peace negotiations. Both accepted and sent envoys to the United States to negotiate the treaty of Ports mouth.

An Old Fashioned Home Remedy

Many men and more women are often ailing and poorly, without being really sick. They feel mean and out sorts, restless and nervous, with little appetite, weak stomach, and maybe suffer from frequent sick headaches and bilious attacks. In other words, they are all "run-down" and need something that will build them up. A good remedy for this purpose is "L. F." Atwood's Medicine. While not a cure-all, it acts as a general tonic and conditioner, toning the stomach, improving the appetite, purifying the blood and stimulating the liver. So thorough that it will benefit the biggest man, and so safe that it may be taken by the weakest woman or frailest child. The family stand-by for over sixty years.

PUBLIC HEALTH WORK.

Too Many People Die From Causes That Are Preventable.

Probably 350,000 people die yearly in the United States from preventable causes; also something like 2 per cent of the population is disabled from sickness at any given time, and a large part of this is preventable.

The standing problem before public health boards is: How, with the means at their disposal, to make the greatest possible reduction in this social waste? Perhaps there has been more co-operation in this governmental field than in any other-a freer circulation of ideas and experience, so that one community has profited by the discoveries of another. Yet the work is far from

A pamphlet by the Russell Sage foundation suggests that, with adequate reports on mortality and sickness, communities which have the same general health conditions may by careful study and comparison work out a formula for applying their health appropriations with reasonable certainty of getting the best possible results for the money.

The first factor in the formula would be the amount of damage produced by any given cause of sickness and death. The second factor would be the readiness with which this cause yielded to preventive measures. For example, cancer causes much damage, but in the present stage of medical science is not classed as a preventable disease. On the other hand, smallpox causes little damage, but its potentialities of damage are high, and it readily yields to the simple preventive of vaccination. By a sufficiently careful study of adequate data a health board can reduce this to mathematical terms and say, with assurance, "Twenty-four per cent of our appropriation should go to preventing infants' diseases; 12 per cent to tuberculosis." And so on-the figures varying, of course, under different conditions of climate, housing, and the like.

The plan is a suggestion as to what

CRUSHING A NATION.

The Cambray League and the Fall of the Venetian Republic.

The League of Cambray was the political combination of continental Europe in 1508 against the Venetian republic, which tore from the "Queen of the Adriatic" her resplendent crown and forced to her lips the cup of deepest humiliation.

Back of the league and causing its formation were jealousy, ambition and the desire of crippling the proud people, whose history was the wonder and envy of the world. Too powerful to be overthrown by any single power, it was resolved that Venice should be crushed by the combined forces of all Europe.

During the terrible days of Attila The history of the thousand years from the foundation of the city to the year 1508 reads like magic. Rising from the waves. Venice became the wonder of the world. Her navy cut the waters of every known sea. Her merchants were the greatest on earth. Her bank was the financial center of the world. And for more than ten centuries did Venice remain the glory of the world, the center of wealth, opulence and power, the home of culture and intelligence, the hearthstone about which sat the finest of the intellectual graces and hospitalities, and such she might have remained but for the League of Cambray, which, with its overwhelming forces, gave her the blow (at Agnadello in 1509) from which it was im possible for her to recover.-Exchange

Train Names.

The old picturesque English habit of naming trains of special importance seems to be dying out fast in these materialistic days. While America keeps up the custom, we never speak now of a "Zulu." a "Flying Scotchman" or a 'Wild Irishman." We do not call Cunard specials "Herring Pond Limiteds," and even the train long and affectionately known, from its wonder ful engine, as the "Charles Dickens' has now merely a number and a time. -Westminster Gazette.

Maine's Knights.

Maine is the only state in the Union which can boast of having three native 18rn sons knighted by English kings. They are Sir William Phipps of Woolwich, once royal governor of Massachusetts, who was knighted in 1694 Sir William Pepperell of Kittery, who captured Louisburg for the British, and Sir Hiram Maxim.-Exchange.

THE PRESIDENT'S FLAG.

It Now Indicates When Mr. Wilson Is at the White House.

For the last quarter of a century at least the American flag has been ratsed above the White House when the president was there, and if the president went out for three or four hours the flag was pulled down, so that it would look as though the White House was only protected by the flag when the president was in residence.

The Woman's Relief Corps and the Grand Army of the Republic have protested against this for many years, but it seemed without making any impression. President Wilson, however, decided that the flag of the United States should fly over the White House from sunrise to sunset every day in the year. It seems to be necessary, however, that there be some emblem to indicate that the president is in the city.

President Wilson solved this problem by deciding that the president's flag should be raised over the White House whenever he was in residence and taken down whenever he was outside of the White House grounds.

The flag of the president of the United States is the president's naval flag, but it is little known to the public. As it flies above the White House, it represents the great seal of the United States-namely, an eagle displayed in proper colors, with the olive branch in one talon, the arrows in the other, and above its head a glory in which appear thirteen stars. This is displayed on a ground of red, the flag itself being blue. The seal is inclosed in one large five pointed white star, encircled by a row of forty-eight stars representing the states in the Union. It floats over the porte-cochere of the White House, and is in a straight line with the staff of the United States flag, which flies from the peak of the White House proper.—Washington National

FLASH AND ROAR OF GUNS.

No Device to Muffle Them Has Proved a Practical Success. Both the French and the German armies have been trying for years to discover how to make a gun that shall be not merely noiseless, but shall emit no flash. For, as Nicolas Flamel says in La Nature, after dark two observers by watching the time can with accurate chronometers having luminous dials discover precisely the position of an enemy battery, or three observers, regardless of time, can do the same by grouping their observations. And this merely by the flash of the guns.

German inventors succeeded by adding a minute quantity of alkaline salts to their powder in diminishing the flash, but they found that in proportion as they suppressed the flash they increased the smoke. Other substances added to the powder for this purpose have been vaseline, alkaline soaps, oxalates and resinates of soda, barium and aluminum. None was successful.

The French tackled the problem as a mechanical rather than a chemical one. A gun is really only an explosion motor, and it seemed that there ought to be way of muffling its sounds and its flash as those of other such motors are muffled. It was not until 1909, when Maxim invented his silencer, that the problem seemed on the way to solution, Many other silencers, most of which quench much of the light as well as the sound, have been invented since then, but none is a practical success in warfare, either from the point of view of sound or of light.

To learn figure skating one must devote himself to figure skating. There is a special figure skate, curved on the bottom so as to make curves and circles entirely possible. It is round toed, and on this forward curl are deep cor rugations for toe spins.

"One of the principal features of fig ure skating." said an expert, "is the curve. To be able to control the circles means that one has gained the power to maintain the body in graceful attitudes. Every one should skate large figures first."

Aeroplane Bombs. One of the officers of the Mexican National Aviation corps, which is in the charge of Colonel Alberto Salinas, has invented an apparatus for the discharge of bombs from an aeroplane by which three can be set loose at once in divergent directions, thereby greatly increasing the efficacy of this method of warfare.

DRIVING OUT CATARRH

DRIVING OUT CATARRH

If people knew how the presence of catarrh is a constant menace, they would have none of it. It infests some part of the delicately adjusted body and makes it useless, thus throwing on the other organs more than their share of work. It affords a carefully prepared seedbed for the germs of colds, grip, tuberculosis and pneumonia. It so disarranges Nature's delicate plans as to make possible asthma, hay fever and other respiratory disorders. It spreads until it becomes systemic, thus involving many organs and debilitating the entire system with serious results.

Catarrh is easily neglected, and it rarely gets well of itself. It needs proper medicinal correction. For almost half a century many thousands have found help in Peruna, a valuable tonic with special efficacy in catarrhal conditions. The aim is to clean out waste matter, to dispel the catarrhal inflammation, and tone up the whole system. Its users willingly testify that it has done is the best proof of what it will do. You may rely on Peruna.

Californian Had Kidney Trouble

Jack Maltos, Copperopolis, Calif., says: "I had such a severe case of kidney trouble I thought I would have to sell out my business. I took three bottles of Froy Kidney Pilis which entirely relieved me and I have had no recurrence of kidney trouble since then."

Some days it seems as if you can no longer bear the pain and misery you suffer from kidney and bladder troubles. The ache across your back grows worse with every move you make and every step you take. It just seems to rob you of all strength and energy. Your head aches, you are nervous and worn out, sleep poorly and have no appetite, stomach is upset and bowels irregular.

Foley Kidney Pills lessen the pain, until it is finally gone entirely. They give strength and 1 pe to the kidneys—make them strons, active, their action becomes regular and normal again, and your health grows better each day you take this great healing medicine.

Silas Buck, while driving a pair of horses with a big sled loaded with over a cord of wood over the ice from Sears Island to Kidders Point, met with an accident that came near being serious The ice broke through and the horses, sled and load were all submerged. When the sled tipped, Mr. Buck jumped just in time to say himself. He secured a horse from Mr. Cole-man, and with much difficulty, tied ropes about the horses' necks and pulled them out. It took some time but finally the horses, load and all were rescued. Two loads had already passed over the ice, which was about twenty inches thick in places, but where the accident occurred, was but six inches.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Nichols have announced the engagement of their daughter, Evelyn, and James D. Stevens, both of Searsport, and scores of friends have extended felicitations. Miss Nichols is very popular. She has been a clerk in the post office for some months and her Sunday to attend the funeral of her brother, ready smile has won many friends. She graduated from Searsport High school in 1912 and attended the E. M. C. Seminary at Bucksport from which she graduated in 1914 Mr. Stevens, the son of Mrs. Clement Stevens, succeeded Oliver C. Atwood as agent for the Eastern Steamship Co., and is well and favorably known. The couple have the best wishes of many friends for their happiness and prosper-

> The services at the Congregational Church last Sunday morning were specially interesting. The sermon was splendid. As an introduction to the sermon, Rev. T. H. Mr. Martin's solo in the Te Deum was an enjoyable feature. The program was:

Mr. Eames of Jackson, and Miss Augustus French of Sandypoint, were married at Sandypoint, Feb. 16, 1854, by Rev. Joseph Freeman. Having no children of their own, they sacredly, if not legally, adopted three-a niece and two nephews of Mrs Eames. To these children they gave every comfort, and all that own parents could give. One of these, was the late Mrs. A. E. Nickerson of Swanville, whose tragic death occurred soon after the death of her nusband. The others are Bert Morison of Newark, N. J., and Frank Eames of Stoughton, Mass. In his teaching days Mr. Eames was a prominent figure in musical circles, and many in Searsport and surrounding towns remember his singing schools. He taught in Brooks, Jackson, Searsport, Monroe and other towns. Many prominent musicians had their first lessons from him. One pupil was the late Mrs. Frank Nickerson, wife of Gen. Nickerson, who died a few weeks ago. Mr. Eames has been ill for many months, and though a shut-in has never been forgotten as the many callers testify. Feb. 16, 1912, the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Esmes gave them a delightful reception, when more than 50 guests called to pay their

died Feb. 7th in her home at Campello, Mass She had been sick but 48 hours and died of double pneumonia. Only two weeks before her death she entertained a Searsport friend at her home and was apparently in the best of health. Mrs. Holmberg was the adopted daughter of Capt, and Mrs. Isaac Park of Park (Searsport), and was born in 1881. She attended the school at Park, the Searsport High chool, '98, and the Maine Wesleyan Seminary at Kent's Hill. She trained at the Maine General hospital, Portland, but was taken ill for appendicitis. She married Dr. Holmberg, a prominent physician in Campello, June 21, 1905, and they have since lived in that town. Mrs. Holmberg had a sweet sunny disposition, always seeing the bright side of life and well great sorrow that her many friends in her na ive town learned of her death. She is survived by her husband, one sister, Mrs. James Taylor of Campello, and one brother of Los Angeles, Calif. The funeral services were held at her home, 1111 Warren avenue, Campello, Feb. 10th ... James A. Colson, a highly esteemed resident and a veteran of the Civil war, died Feb. 15th at the National Home of Disabled Veterans at Togus, aged 72 years He was admitted Feb. 2d, ill health compelling him to give up his position as assistant cashier in the Searsport National Bank, with which he had been connected for 13 years. He was an expert accountant and noted for his painstak ing accuracy and fidelity. His military record was given last week in connection with his retirement from the bank and departure for Togus. He compiled a book containing the list of soldiers who enlisted at or from Searsport during the War of the Rebellion 1861-1865, which he presented to the Freeman Mc-Gilvery Post, He was a m mber of Mariner's lodge, No. 68, F & A. M. of Seareport Royal Arch chapter, No 58, and was a Knights Templar belonging to Palestine Commandery of Rolfast. He was also a member of Mecca Temple, Order of Mystic Shrine. Mr. Colson is survived by one sister, Mrs. Sarah Bradford of Dexter and a brother, Wilson Colson of Searsport. KING-KING. In Bangor, Feb. 14, by Rev Ashiey A Smith, Leonard Ernest King and Miss Gladys Ruth King, both of Hampden.

NORTON KNOWLTON In Belfast, Feb 15, at the ME parsonage, by Rev H B Sellers, Waiter Norton and Miss Lavaughan Knowlton, both of Rockland, Feb 10, by Rev Barset IO, by Rev Barset Prospect. They reported the sleighing as not very good-too much untrodden snow.

The masquerade ball, given last week in Denslow Hall, proved so pleasant an occasion that the promoters decided to repeat it, on Thursday, March 1st, when it is hoped the number of maskers may exceed that of the previous occasion. The handsomest costume, Scotch Lassie-Annie Laurie-was worn by Mrs. L. A. Gardner, Middle street, and the most complete disguise among the gentlemen was that of the delicate maiden, with broad flower-bedecked hat and long white gloves, brought out by Mr. C. A. Snow, principal of bar. the Stockton Springs High school. The costumes were largely of the comical type, designed to conceal the identity of the wearer.

About fifty people partook of the clam stew, of Benjamin R Field, aged 88 years, 7 months provided at The Stockton near midnight. Tie and 18 days.
FOSTER. In Portland, Feb 13, Mary Wood music by the seven-piece orchestra from the Stockton Springs Band, Mr. J. H. Gerrish, leader, was excellent and highly appreciated FARROW. In Freedom, Feb 18, John R Farleader, was excellent and highly appreciated by both dancers and spectators. The hall was tastefully decorated with red crepe paper winding the posts and festooned to the corners of the ceiling, with a multiplicity of red hearts, in various sizes, grouped on the walls, with evergreen boughs at the foot of the curtain, the whole effect being very pleasing. The company was large and joyous spirit animated all present.
