Boston, Mass., June 21.-In the four-story brick building corner of Sumner and Hawley streets occupied on the ground floor by C. A. Browning, milliner, and on the three upper floors by Heyer Brothers, dealers in fancy goods and fire works, at shortly after 5 o'clock a salesman on the second bor correspondent of the Bar Harbor Record floor saw a flash among some fire works be- says the schooner Walter C. SICKNESS ON THE SAMAR. Mysterious Disease Which Resem bles the Dreaded Scurvy. BOSTON, June 21—Bark Samar of Boston, Capt. Emery of Biddeford, Me., arrived in Boston yesterday from Zanzibar via Tam: tave. On the voyage her crew were attacked by a singular disease, from which three of the men died. The vessel put into Bermuda for medical assistance and remained two days, but the local physicians were unable to render any assistance. She reached quarantine Wednesday night, and on coming to anchor was boarded by the port physician who took the patients in charge. From the lescription given by the sufferers, pilots and other seamen pronounce it scurvy or a spe cies of that affection, the symptoms being very similar. There is no pain, but the lower limbs swell and become almost useless. The men laugh at the idea of 'scurvy, as they say they had plenty of onions, potatoes and fresh canned stuff since leaving Tamatave, and were not under the necessity of eating much, if any, salt meat. The disease is a mysterious one, but will probably be diagnosed at the hospital where all the afflicted will be sent.

> A STORM OF BULLETS Poured Upon an American Schooner

by Haytian Soldiers. NEW BEDFORD, June 21.—Schooner Baltic of Provincetown, Captain Fisher, arrived today from an Atlantic ocean whaling voyage. Captain Fisher had a thrilling experience last May while at San Bay, Santo Domingo. On the 13th of May, at 6 o'clock in the evening, five soldiers under command of an officer came down and fired 10 or 15 shots at the schooner lying an eighth of a mile from shore. They were armed with good American rifles. The first shot just cleared the captain's head. With bullets flying, the captain had no opportunity to show the American flag. The soldiers on shore kept firing and Captain Fisher ordered all hands below and went himself. When the soldiers found there was no one on deck they fired into the vessel Grudjua and sought an interview with General Pappoo, and as a result the soldiers were arrested and tried. Three days after General Pappoo released them. A complaint against the Haytian government will be sent to Secretary Blaine by Captain Fisher. The men who fired upon the schooner were followers of the Legitime government.

LIGHT THROUGH THE CLOUDS. Steps Towards a Settlement of Fa

mington's Bond Question. FARMINGTON, June 21,-At a meeting of the voters of Farmington Village Corporation, held this afternoon, preliminary steps were taken toward settling the bond ques tion which has hung like a black cloud over the community for nearly twenty years. The original debt was about $20,000 exclusive of interest. The vote was to compromise for 75 per cent., or about $15,000. Not less than 60 per cent. must be handed in before Auggust 1st, for which receipts will be given. Then the next legislature will be asked to legalize the issue of four per cent. notes payable in five annual payments to replace the original bonds, the first years interest not to be paid until September, 1891. THE GOVERNMENT'S ACTION. Extradition will be Demanded When the Papers are Filed. WASHINGTON, June 21.-When the evience which the Illinois authorities have been collecting, connecting Martin Burke with the murder of Dr. Cronin, is laid before the State Department officials, the necessary requisition papers will be made out and forwarded at once. Secretary Blame, or rather Third Assistant Secretary Moore, to whom the evidence will be referred, is not expected to exercise any discretion in the matter. The Illinois authorities are both pecuniarily and legally respon. sible for the government's action, and Mr. Moore will have nothing further to do than ered their assigned parts and received their to see that the offence complained of is an

to see that the offence complained of is an extraditable one.

It is the custom, in cases of this nature, for the governor of the State whence the demand for an extradition arises, to send to Washington with the evidence a person whom he desires to act as his agent in conducting the accused back to this country. It is understood that Burke will resist extradition on the ground that he is a British subject. This will avail him nothing. It has long been the practice between Great Britain and the United States for each country to deliver to the other such of its subjects as may have violated the law in the other country. For City Marshal Tarbox was away Thursday evening, but arrived home unexpectedly. He covered the Main street beat twice, but could find no trace of the officers. Then he went up to the circus ground, where Melville's tent show is exhibiting, and found the missing bluecoats inside, taking in the show. They had been there an hour. is Done at Last. WASHINGTON, June 20.-Secretary Tracy is determined that the name of John Roach shall not be forgotten, whatever may have been the treatment of the great shipbuilder by his Democratic traducer, William C. Whitney. The secretary is now endeavoring to effect a final settlement of the claims of the assignees for the construction of the Chicago, Boston and Atlanta. About two months before Secretary Whitney's retirement the accounts were hung up, awaiting the result of a test of certain shafting, which was delayed until very recently, owing to the breaking of the testing machine. These tests have now been satisfactorily made, however, and the accounts of the contractors are being adjusted, deductions from their bills being made on account of work on the vessels executed at government navy yards after the failure of the contractor. is determined that the name of John Roach Cardiner R. Colby. NEW YORK, June 21.-Gardner R. Colby of Orange, N. J.. died suddenly yesterday at Monmouth Beach, N. J., age 51. Mr. Colby was the son of Gardner Colby of Boston, a well known man in the Baptist denomination, and from whom Colby University at Waterville, Me., takes its name. The son was born in Boston and his early life was passed in that city. When still a young man he became associated with the present firm of Harding, Colby & Co., a commission dry goods house in Leonard street, this city, and in Boston. Mr. Harding lives in Boston and Mr. Colby had managed the New York house. The house is a wealthy one and Mr. Colby's private fortune runs into the millions. He moved to Orange about 30 years ago and at once connected himself with the North Orange Baptist church. He was soon after chosen one of its officers and at the time of his death was a deacon, the president of the board of trustees, and superintendent of the mission Sunday school in the valley. Mr. Colby was an earnest Christian man. Under a somewhat repellent exterior was concealed a warm heart, and the amount and numbers of his private benefactions can never be known.

NEW LONDON, Ct., June 21.-The eight oared four mile straightaway race between the Yale and the University of Pennsylvania university crews was rowed this evening

over the Thames river course from Yale's

Ferry to Winthrop Point, and was won by Yale by one and one-half lengths. The oficial time was: Yale, 23 minutes, 50 seconds. Pennsylvania, 23 minutes, 54 seconds. A stiff breeze was blowing up the river against the crews. Over the first three niles the water was quite rough. The inerest in the race centered almost wholly i ne exhibition given by Yale as a means of dging her chances in the big race next Friday against Harvard. The comments vary widely. The boats kept close together from the start to the finish. At 6.57 the crews backed up to the start ing line and were at once sent away by Referee Brooks of Harvard. Both crews caught the water together. For two or three strokes they splashed badly, Yale pulling 36 strokes and Pennsylvania 38. At the first quarter mile the boats were bow and bow. A strip of rough water was then entered and both crews eased down. At the half mile flag, Penn-

At the half mile flag, Pennsylvania was leading by a full length, pulling 34 to Yale's 34. From the half-mile flag to the one mile, Yale dropped her stroke to 30, and Pennsylvania ran up to 36. At the one mile flag, the boats were again on even terms. From the one mile to the one and one-half mile flag the boats were bow and bow. Pennsylvania pulled 34 to Yale's 30. At the two mile flag Yale gradually forged ahead, and after passing the navy yard Yale increased the lead to a clear length. At three and one-half miles, Yale had a lead of nearly two lengths, but a quarter of a mile from the finish Pennsylvania made a tremendous spurt, and cut Yale's lead down to half a length. Yale then hit her up to 34 and 35, and crossed the line with a lead estimated at from one-half to one and one-half a boat's length. It was a walk-over for Yale. Bob Cook's orders to the Yale crew before they left their quarters were to win by the smallest possible margin, as he did not care to give Harvard any points as to strength. These orders were carried out to the letter.

The omission of one word has made the bill retroactive. The section de fining the application of the bill reads: This act shall apply to any crime mention in the schedule committed after the coming is force of the act.

It should have read: "Shall only apply," etc., and the omission of the word "only," the minister of justice says, makes its appli-cation retroactive, which will bring John C. and last night Captain Doull reached home. The story of the loss of the Queen is most dramatic. They had reached the edge of the Gulf Stream when they encountered a storm, the worst the oldest sailor on board ever went through. The wind was a hurricane, and the vessel was powerless before it. In the midst of the storm the topsail backstays parted, and in a short time the vessel was a omplete wreck. All they could do was to cling to whatever they could reach and to live through the night as best they could. Not a man on board expected to live to see morning. When day dawned the scene was most discouraging. They were alive, and that was all. The vessel was a hopeless wreck, and the waves were striking her with terrific force every moment. To attempt to clear away the wreck seemed well nigh hopeless, but Captain Doull resolved to try. and himself led in the work. He was dressed in an oil suit, and made his way over the deck with great difficulty. While he was at work trying to cut away the wreck, the vessel was boarded by a tremendous sea and for a moment they thought their last hour had passed and nothing could save them from instant death. The vessel was in no condition to resist the shock, and afforded the drenched and tired men but an uncertain foothold. The mate was knocked down and badly injured by the wave, and with great effort saved himself from being washed overboard. The captain was less fortunate and had a marvelous escape. Before he had time to cling to anything the found himself struggling in the water, and many feet distant from the vessel. He was lifted on the top of the next sea, and carried alongside and managed to get hold of a rope. To that he clung for life, and was fairly lifted on board, somewhat injured, it is true, but astonished at and grateful for his escape. Before they had time to make a second attempt to clear away the wreck they were taken off by the crew of a German vessel Captain Doull set fire to the wreck before leaving it, not wishing to allow it to become a dangerous obstacle to navigation. They were taken to Hamberg, where they remained seven days and then shipped for ever is attached to Captain Doull, who did all a good sailor and a brave

The Concord Monitor in a long editorial, has reviewed Senatorial contests in New Hampshire since 1864, showing that in that time General Gilman Marston has been a candidate ten times, including the recent contest when he received two votes. He reached the Senate finally, being appointed by Governor Sawyer for the short vacancy which has heretofore existed in New Hampshire between the expiration of the term of one Senator and the election of another. General Marston resigned his seat however, in order to enter the State Legislature where he might aid in nominating his successor. He was not for Chandler, which doubtless has led to the Monitor's review of his career. has led to the Monitor's review of his career. to review. He may come up on the eleventh or twelfth time to knock somebody out.

A question is raised concerning two bills passed by the last legislature of New York somewhat similar to the one in regard to the caical registration bill passed by our legisare two years ago. The capitol extension bill and the bill providing for the appointent of six female factory inspectors were both signed by the Governor, but afterwards his signatures were removed with acid and sures vetoed. The friends of the bills contend that unless the approval was erased before the thirty days limit for considering bills expired both measures are laws in spite of his vetees. The problem is to deterand it cannot be solved without putting the Governor under oath and compelling him to testify, a proceeding which will hardly be attempted, and which would probably fail if it were, as it is doubtful if the Executive could thus be examined in regard to his offi-

Within two years nine States-Michigan Texas, Tennessee, Oregon, West Virginia, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island-have voted down tutional prohibition. But the verdict in Rhode Island stands on a different footing than the verdicts in the other States enumerated. In Rhode Island the result was a tinet and positive condemnation of prohition by the people after trial. In the other States the people only voted not to put prohibition into the constitution. In neither of them did the result necessarily imply that the vote was a test of the strength of that theory. It was perfectly understood that the repeal of the prohibitory amendment meant the repeal of the prohibitory law, in fact the reason for submitting the repeal amendment was that its passage was a nec ssary condition precedent for the repeal of the law. Practically, then, the question on which the Rhode Island people voted was whether prohibition should be continued or abandoned, and by a large majority the pecple have decided that it should be abandoned. This is the first time that a prohibitory amendment has been taken out of the estitution, and one of its obvious effects nust be to weaken greatly the claim that the advocates of constitutional prohibition have made for it, namely, that it tended to Doubtless the result in Rhode Island is in some measure due to the extension of the elective franchise, which has added many voters, largely foreigners. But to some extent it is attributable to the lax enforcement of the law, which gave rise to much scandal, and to its complication with party politics. In whatever light it be viewed it cannot but be regarded as the worst set-back prohibition has received this year. It should not, however, be construed as a declaration in favor of free rnm. Undoubtedly a great majority of the people of that State are in favor of some sort of restriction of the liquor

Position of the English Eldest Son. England, in respect to its legislative insticutions, is one of the most democratic countries upon the face of the earth, though in the constitution of its society it is one of the most aristocratic. But the sturdy blows that long ago broke down the barriers of ratic influence from the portals of the f Commons are now raining upon other institutions behind which wealth and nobility shield themselves. The system of enure of land in England, by its provisions securing the inheritance to the eldest son of the family, has perpetuated aristocratic influence and moulded society for centuries. A proposition is now pending in Parliament to change this system, by providing that when a landowner dies without making awill, his land shall be divided in the same way as his personal estate. Of course in a country where the system of primogeniture has established such ancient and powerful families, it would still, in spite of a change in the law, be perpetuated for a long time by heads of families who would make their last ANTHRACITE and BITUMINOUS COALS. testaments according to the old system. Yet in the end, when once the law of primogeniture is abolished, the influence of justice and the family circle will finally prevail and all children will come to share alike. The bill now before Parliament emanates from a source that makes it doubly significant, being introduced first in the House of Lords and by a Conservative, Lord Chancellor Holsbury. This would indicate that the aristocratic classes are content to let the spirit of the nineteenth century take its ing introduced first in the House of Lords course unmolested; for in establishing the RICHARDSON, WALKER & CO., principle [that all the children shall share alike, the cornerstone of democratic so elldt daughter, Miss Minnie H. Hubbard, who nent of those early days was Josiah Pearce, Esq., a constant care and benevolence for our extreme poor of such we were flooded, the Kelleys, the Graffams and the most worthily noted Lazarus Rowe and wife; both lived over 100 years and, I think, were six feet in their shoes (if they had any). Mr.Rowe was very athletic, and had many narrow escapes from Indians, one in particular when he got away from a large number and ran for life, and as he said, "Lazarus did run;" and hid himself in a hollow log one night, and they passed over the log in the chase without "cauching" their foxy game. The descendants of our early poor are now among our worthy and good independent citizen farmers and, those of the rich, eminent men and women, viz., the Bowers, Pierees, Flints, Crams, Richardson, Browns, etc. I have heard the remark that we had more graduates from this mountainous town in proportion to population than any town in the county, and to my knowledge high schools and academies have been well patronized from our midst and we can step over into Sebago and claim as our own many of their best. In early days we were one and Old Saddleback was our common inheritance; and we shall all claim the privilege of climbing and viewing from its ledges the beautiful broad Lake now traversed by steamer from Portland to Bridgton and Harrison.

The Hon. Josiah Pierce above named was the father of Josiah Pierce of Gorham, our Judge of Probate for so many years; also of the brilliant young lawyer, G. W. Pierce, Esq., who died young many years since and whose wife was the daughter of the Hon. Stephen Longfellow of Portland. The senior Josiah Pierce was for many years a member of the Massachusetts legislature from said town of Baldwin from the then District of Maine, and always instructed his man, John Yates, not to let the poor go emptyaway, but deal out sparingly that the bounty would last until most needed in the Spring. Such men, although scarce, should be remembered by the, "Vox Populli" event last evening, at which time the graduating exercises of the class of '89, Y. H. S., took place at the new Baptist church. Long before the appointed hour, every seat and available space was eccupied by the audience, indicating how great an interest is felt by our town's people in the welfare and progress of our High School, and its ever widening and increasing influence to a higher sphere of usefulness, as year after year its students go forth better equipped for the battle of life.

The friends of the class having taken much interest in the floral decorations, the church presented a beautiful appearance. Pyramids of flowers flanked the platform, which was further adorned by a profusion of wreaths, festoons and bouquets. Surmounting the screen at the rear of the chancel was the class motto, "Plus Ultra" in gill letters on a background of evergreens, and the seats reserved for the alumni were lined off with ropes of evergreen and flowers. The instrumental music for the occasion was fur nished by the Yarmouth brass band, which rendered several fine selections during the evening. Each of the 13 graduates wore a ribbon badge inscribed with the class motto and appeared in the several parts as assigned in the following programme:

Presentation of Diplomas Singing of Class Ode. The several essays were very meritorious and deserving, being well written and well delivered. Many of the local and personal hits in the class history, and prophecy were witty and deep, and created much amusement among the audience.

The class ode, of more than average merit, was written by Miss Emma F. Ward a former member of the class who some time are was written by Miss Emma F. Ward a former member of the class who some time ago removed from town and did not finish the course. Rev. L. Reynolds of the First Parish church made the opening prayer, and the address to the class and presentation of diplomas very happily made by Rev. Wm. Brunton pastor of the Central church. Foliowing the literary exercises at the church a large company repaired to Masonic Hall where the alumni held their reunion. Many of the former students from out of town were present and a pleasant hour was spent in friendly greeting. The evening cloesd with a social hop to the music of Blanchard's orchesta.

June 17th the mercury stood at 45°, with largely attended.

These exercises have always been listened to with great interest ever since the first class was graduated in 1873, and this year shows decidedly that the interest in the school is not in the least abated. The principal of the school, E. S. Bartlett, has shown marked ability in this, his first year in Freeport High School, and he has not only made this school equal to the best, but by his courteous and gentlemanly bearing has won hosts of friends.

The diphtheria at Hiram is subsiding, thanks to the skill of Dr. Wilson and the rigid quarantine by the board of health. It was confined to the family where it originated. Only one death has occurred, that of Percy, son of Phineas Witham, which occurred June 14th. He was four years of age.

BEING due to the presence of uric acid in the blood, is most effectually cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Be sure you get Ayer's and no other, and take it till the poisonous acid is thoroughly expelled from the system. We challenge attention to this testimony:-

"About two years ago, after suffering for nearly two years from rheumatic gout, being able to walk only with great discomfort, and having tried various remedies, including mineral waters, without relief, I saw by an advertisement in a Chicago paper that a man had been relieved of this distressing complaint, after long suffering, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I then decided to make a trial of this medicine, and took it regularly for eight months, and am pleased to state that it has effected a complete cure. I have since had no return of the disease."—Mrs. R. Irving Dodge, 110 West 125th st., New York. "One year ago I was taken ill with "One year ago I was taken ill with inflammatory rheumatism, being confined to my house six months. I came out of the sickness very much debilitated, with no appetite, and my system disordered in every way. I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla and began to improve at once, gaining in strength and soon recovering my usual health. I cannot say too much in praise of this well-known medicine."—Mrs. L. A. Next year instead of one vestibule train leaving Chicago for Portland in, a week there will probably be three or more, and who will provide the extra accommodation needed? The Wells Bay district, Casco Bay district, Kennebec district, Penobscot Bay section, the Mount Desert section and others must look well to their flaurels and endeavor to get a clear vision of the probabilities of the future.

The wise men who are supposed to make up our boards of trade may well sit in council and devise ways and measures to build up the summer resort interests in their vicinity. We have yet a mine of undeveloped wealth for Maine in our pure water and mineral springs, the immense stretch of our sea coast and in all the wonderful combinations of mountains, hills, valleys, lakes, ponds, rivers and streams in the interior. This latent wealth is composed of the invigorating and health-giving qualities of our spring water, the excellent quality of our food products taken both from the land and weter, as been subscribed.
