I.A. Class To Sell Port-a-Grill Product

by Gloria Porell

An Industrial Arts class has turned to big business for one of its class projects.

Metals Technology II course, comprised mainly of juniors, under the instruction of Mr. Arthur Berry, was given the assignment of devising some sort of product which could be done in class through mass production.

Taking into consideration the time of year and material and equipment factors, they decided to produce a small barbecue grill which they have named Port-a-Grill.

The unique feature of this educational endeavor is the fact that the students involved have formed a mock-corporation. The entire class serves as the Board of Directors.

The corporation has a line and staff organization, a pictorial chart showing a breakdown of responsibilities among the members. The Executive Committee consists of a president, Dean Richmond, and a vice president, Rodney Gray. Two other important positions are those held by the plant manager, John Carver, and the production supervisor Thomas Kent.

Other committees include finance and legal committee, public relations and the managers and personnel.

Shares of stock in the corporation are being sold only to members of the Metals Technology II class at $1 per share.

The grill, to be sold in Bailey Hall lobby in the near future, stands five inches high, 11 inches wide and 18 inches long. It will be available in three colors, red, blue and yellow, and will be equipped with complete operating instructions. The price for each will be $2.89.

Brownell To Address Seniors

Dr. Samuel M. Brownell, former U.S. Commissioner of Education and one of America's foremost educators, will address the class of 1967 at Gorham State College's commencement exercises, June 4.

Dr. Brownell is presently a professor of education at Yale and University of Connecticut. He has served as president of New Haven State Teachers College and Professor of Educational Administration at Yale University. He served as U.S. Commissioner from 1953-56. Before returning to Connecticut last year, he had been superintendent of schools in Detroit, Mich. for ten years.

Professor Brownell has served on national and international commissions to study education. He has been president of the Higher Education Association and chairman of the delegation to the International Bureau of Education meeting in Geneva. He has also served as chairman to the Accrediting Committee of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education and chairman of the Editorial Advisory Committee of the "Phi Beta Kappan."

A native of Nebraska, Dr. Brownell received his A.B. Degree from University of Nebraska. He began his professional career as a teacher and a high school principal before completing his graduate work at Yale. Before he returned to Yale as a professor, he served as superintendent of schools in Grosse Point, Mich.

Besides holding M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Yale, Dr. Brownell has been awarded 13 honorary degrees from American colleges and universities.

Whose Recognition?

As we near the end of another academic year, we turn to tradition to give our college lives meaning. That is, the recognition by each person of where he fits into the niche of succession of classes at Gorham State College.

Recognition Day is what its name implies in that the history of the college is recognized by all simultaneously — seniors for the fourth time, some faculty for the thirty-seventh. The day no longer serves the purpose for which it was intended — that individuals of the college, students or faculty, be cited for scholarship, outstanding service or contributions.

The awarding of scholarships at the all-college convocation more nearly recognizes those students of yesterday who lived and died in memory of the college. Their biographies are read and their contributions to the college are elaborated on. A few stipulations of the award are then stated, such as of what city in the state the recipient must be a native, or the subject area, etc. A student's name is called and he comes forward to receive the award, not knowing for himself upon what criteria he was chosen.

As far as recognition of those students who work industriously for various organizations throughout the year, their names are printed on the program and read just after the fall semester's Dean's List.

To receive such an honor is a strict process — the candidate for recognition must be recommended by the president of the organization and the adviser and his accomplishments must be carefully enumerated. The information is then submitted to the scrutiny of the Recognition Day Committee, who decides whether the name will be included on the program.

The Observer believes this day to be a fine tradition and one which can serve to enlighten students — freshmen, for upon reliving the experience as sophomores, they find exactly the same schedule and the same awards, only the names of award recipients being changed.

Is it any wonder that many students find this day, with no scheduled classes, a fine time to head for beaches or the golf course?

Everyday 'Revolt'

When the March 14 Observer editorialized its views of revolt on the GSC campus, it did not include the everyday revolt against responsibility. Although this is not an organized revolt with pickets, marches and sit-ins, it is definitely affecting the environment of the college community.

An industrial arts group performed a service project by providing a copy machine for use by all in the library. Their philosophy was that people using the machine would be on their honor to pay the minimal ten cent charge per copy. Disappointed in their fellow students and faculty, and low on funds, they find that they now must remove the machine due to the fact that less than 40 per cent of all copies were paid for.

The dining hall and various classes have a new look these days. Although the college dress policy has not been altered in the least, women may be found at any meal and in many classes, in any form of dress. It began with rumors which had it that no one would say anything were the dress code ignored, and word traveled fast. There has been no noticeable move to improve or update the rules on campus dress — it is easier to ignore them and hope that everyone can "get away with it," or someone else will work on the rules.

There have been other rumors that an honor system should be instituted at Gorham State. Could such a program be a success on a campus that cannot even handle these minor responsibilities?

Water Tower To Be Repainted, Relettered

The Gorham State College water tower will receive a new coat of paint this August, according to Mr. Ralph Duso, college administrative assistant.

The tower, which is over 100 feet high and 30 feet in diameter, supplies the college with its water, having a capacity of one half million gallons.

The interior of the tower will be sandblasted to remove rust and paint scale, then repainted with epoxy (a type of spray enamel). The exterior will also receive a new aluminum paint job.

In addition to this major "face lifting" work the "Teachers" will be removed from the name of the college to read Gorham State College.

The improvement, which will take a minimum of three weeks to complete will cost nearly $5000. The water tower was last painted six years ago.

Senate Is Informed Of Budget Procedure By President Brooks

The April 6 meeting of Student Senate featured a message from President Kenneth T. H. Brooks to inform senators of the budget procedure of the college.

Dr. Brooks commended the Senate for its fine job of managing campus affairs throughout the year and discussed the visitation by an accreditation team to occur in the fall of '67.

During the business meeting, progress of student-faculty committees was reported, and the Observer was allocated an additional $200, under the stipulation that the staff try harder for ads in the future.

Faculty Votes "No D's In Major"

A late March faculty meeting accepted a recommendation of the Academic Standards Committee that each student must have at least six credit hours of "B" grades or better in their major field.

No grades of "D" will count toward fulfillment of major or minor requirements. This applies, according to an amendment to the original motion, to secondary education in areas of English, science and social science (grades 7 through 12) and any other departments which will vote to do the same.

Also decided was that no required course may be repeated more than once.

Introduction to Biological Science has been changed from a three credit course to a four, and only one semester will be required. Beginning in the fall of '67, the course will be offered every semester. Physical Science 100-101 is a prerequisite. Students may be excused from the biology course on the basis of scores on the Biology Advanced Placement Exams.

Mr. William Wise, Assistant Dean of Academic Affairs, described new courses which will be added to the curriculum in the fall — Introduction to African History, Contemporary Africa and Maine School Law.

Bolotowsky Show In Gallery

An exhibition of abstract oils by Ilya Bolotowsky opened April 15 at the Gorham State Art Gallery, with the internationally famous artist present.

Bolotowsky, has been successful in a variety of art media, his work having developed from realism and impressionism to cubism and semiabstractions. He has written several existential plays, and has worked in two- and three-dimensional neo-plasticism.

The gallery show includes 45 of Bolotowsky's abstract oils, which are concerned with color and lines or geometrical patterns.

Now an American citizen, Bolotowsky came to America after fleeing from his native Russia during the revolution. He has been co-founder and former vice president of the Federation of Modern Painters and Sculptors.

His works have been shown throughout the United States, Latin America, Japan and Western Europe. He has had seven one-man shows at the Grace Borgenicht Gallery in New York City and has exhibited at three World's Fairs.

In other media, Bolotowsky has won first prize for his experimental film "Metanoia" in the 1963 Midwest Film Festival at the University of Chicago. His play, "Visitation" received favorable reviews when performed by the Judson Theatre Group and the Hardware Poets' Playhouse.

NEW GALLERY SHOW — Works of internationally recognized artist Ilya Bolotowsky are now on display in the Art Gallery. The artist was present for the opening April 15.

Nine Lettermen Return To Bats

by Adam Burrows

Coach Jim Martin, a newcomer to the Gorham baseball team has been drilling 20 candidates for the team in Hill Gym for the past month.

An experienced group of returning lettermen (nine) and a fine crop of freshmen (7) form the nucleus of Coach Martin's bid to improve on last season's disappointing 4-12 record.

Pitching could prove to be most interesting with no less than five prospects comprising this year's staff. Expected to see plenty of action are Captain Dave Burroughs, Dick Miller, Steve Edwards, Bill Giles and Ron Cote.

The only returning letterman for infield is Dick Forbes, whereas in the outfield there are veterans Rick Coughlin, Bill Fielding and Marty Breneman.

Ed Manganello, junior, and experienced catcher should give a fine performance behind the plate catching, and up for bat.

Newcomers include Tony Cocco, Ron Cote, Steve Edwards, Bill Giles, Dan Gould, Mel Heinson, Joe Lamb, Brian Lewia, Bob Logan, Brian Luce, Steve Morton and Bill Welch.

Home games listed on the schedule will be played at the Gorham High School field.

Tennis Team Beats St. Francis, 6-3

by Adam Burrows

Despite loss through graduation of half of last season's six lettermen, Dr. Lincoln Fish, coach of the '67 tennis team, is optimistic about chances for the first NESCAC tennis championship.

Dr. Fish has three lettermen back from last year's team that posted an 8-6 overall record. They are Captain Scott Perry, Don Atkinson, and Steve Greenleaf.

Senior Larry Marczak, who lettered two years ago, but was not around last spring is back in the tennis business this season.

Senior Don Dutremble is back for his second tennis campaign.

The big reason for Coach Fish's optimism is Tom Goulet, senior transfer from Nason College, who played two years for the Lions. Goulet has been looking very good in early workouts, and will probably be Number One single player this spring.

Other newcomers are Bud Wellington, a junior, and sophomores Pete Giancola and Dick Gorham.

In their first bout against St. Francis, the Huskies won 6-3, a definite indication of strength.

Apollo Director To Lecture Here May 3

Deputy Director for Sciences of the Apollo Program, Dr. Leonard Reiffel, will be guest in the Concert-Lecture Series May 3. The Russell Hall lecture is titled "The Many Races in Space."

Dr. Reiffel, concerned with all phases of science, and will concentrate on innovations in communications satellites, satellite medical data transmission, space weather forecasting and other phases of the "space races."

The nationally noted scientist, gained recognition for his pioneer work in nuclear research and technology. He is responsible for the world's first nuclear reactor, made possible by 24 United States industries. His report on the reactor was included in the 1958 Geneva Conference on the peaceful uses of Atomic Energy.

Dr. Reiffel also serves in another area — as Director of the Council for the Study of Mankind, a group of scientists, educators and businessmen attempting to find solutions to some of the complex scientific and social problems facing mankind. In 1960 he served as a consultant for the Korean government on the establishment of an atomic energy research program.

Dr. Reiffel's lecture, to begin at 8 p.m., will deal with the next years of the space program and will be "described in terms meaningful to everyone."
