Maynard "Mo" Weber '50 has been known as many things throughout his 93 years on Earth – a soldier, a student, a teacher, a coach, a stockbroker. But what many may not know is that he is also the son of highly regarded American artist Max Weber, and that both his and his father's legacies will be forever intertwined with that of Winona State thanks to Mo's love for WSU and generous spirit of philanthropy.

Mo Weber came to Winona State as a student in 1946, after serving in the Army during World War II. Spending time at Camp McCoy in Wisconsin, he stopped in Winona on a trip through the area and said, "That's where I want to go to school."

While earning his bachelor's degree in education at WSU, Mo coached Warrior Baseball, assisting Luther McCown and earning two letters as part of the program. On the subject of Dr. McCown, the venerable namesake of WSU's McCown Gymnasium, he says, "He was good to me, he was a great guy, a great teacher."

During Mo's time, the team boasted a record of 39-20-1 and captured a conference championship in 1948. After he graduated and spent some time teaching elementary school in Winona, Mo moved on and began coaching baseball across the country – until retiring at the age of 87.

He may have moved on to new adventures, but Mo's heart remains at WSU. "I talk about Winona all the time, and I live in Virginia where they have never heard of anything but Virginia – never heard of Winona," he says. "I tell people I went to the Harvard of the West...it gave me an education I would have not had elsewhere. If I could, I would come back again."

For Mo, the reason he chooses to give back to Winona State is simple and straightforward – "because the four years I spent here were great. I love this place."

And give back he does – he has donated numerous paintings of his father's to Winona State, including the 1951 work titled "Mexican Water Jug," currently on display in Krueger Library, and the 1932 work titled "Football Players," a unique piece as Max Weber only created three sports scenes during his lifetime. And while Mo insists that he doesn't have a favorite piece of his father's, he says that Winona State's "got some of the good stuff – I think you've got some lovely paintings, great paintings."

Max Weber, born in Russia, immigrated to New York City with his parents in 1891. He studied at the Pratt Institute in Brooklyn under renowned teacher Arthur Wesley Dow, at the Academie Julian with

Henri Matisse, and formed friendships during his career with artists Henri Rousseau and Pablo Picasso. When asked how he would like his father's legacy remembered, Mo answered, "Like it is right now – in my eyes, he's top dog. My father came to this country when he was 10 years old. By the time he was 20, he spoke the language better than I did, could write better than I did, created poetry and philosophy that I hardly understand. He was a unique personality."

In October 2016, Mo returned to campus to officially dedicate "Football Players" to WSU, tour the future Laird Norton Center for Art & Design — where his father's work will be proudly on display upon completion of the building's full renovation project — and visit the place where his heart has remained all these years.

In addition to Mo's generous donations of his father's artwork, he has given back to Winona State in many other ways. On the second floor of Watkins Hall, the Weber Gallery is named in his father's honor, and is used to showcase student exhibits as well as junior and senior salons and evaluations. Additionally, Mo and his late wife, Dorothy, established two endowments at Winona State with the purpose of helping undergraduate art students attend the University. In 1989, they created the Dorothy F. Weber and Maynard J. Weber Art Scholarship Endowment for eligible freshman students. Three years later, they established the Max Weber Scholarship Endowment for eligible juniors.

"Mo Weber has been an integral part of Winona State for decades," says Winona State President Scott Olson. "Not only is he an alumnus and past baseball coach, but a former WSU Foundation Trustee, Distinguished Alumni Award Winner, and WSU Hall of Fame Inductee, all of which illustrate his exemplary dedication to Winona State. He is a generous benefactor of the University with nothing but love in his heart for the school, the people, and the city of Winona itself – and that will be his own legacy for decades to come."

CROWDFUNDING: A NEW WAY TO SUPPORT WSU

Perhaps you've heard about "crowdfunding," but what is it, exactly? How is it making a positive impact at Winona State University?

In its essence, crowdfunding is collaborative fundraising on the web. It utilizes social media to highlight how small gifts from many donors can make a big impact on an organization. According to the Network for Good Digital Giving Index, online giving continues to outpace the growth of overall giving: in 2015, online giving increased by 9% while overall giving grew just 2%. This trend is expected to continue, and while millennials have been the earliest adoptors, research shows that all generations give online.

In fall 2016, WSU partnered with GiveCampus, an online crowdfunding platform created specifically for education institutions. This platform allows donors to make an online gift to WSU and share the news with friends and family members via social media networks, including Facebook and Twitter. Donors can choose to post a message, video, or link about their gift and invite others to support WSU as well. In this way, donors become advocates of the University and can receive rewards for gifts they generate.

This past November, the WSU Softball team held its annual "Adopt-a-Player" fundraising campaign via GiveCampus. In just 30 days, they raised over $7,800 to fund spring training and travel costs for the 2017 season. Greg Jones, Head Softball Coach, was excited to try the crowdfunding approach. "In the past, we have relied on sending out donation requests by mail," he said. "Not only was the online campaign easier to set up and manage, but we also used multiple social media platforms to reach a much larger and wide ranging audience. We were able to receive more donations from people we never would have reached by just using mail or phone calls."

More recently, Winona State utilized the GiveCampus forum to launch a crowdfunding campaign as part of its second annual "I ♥ WSU Week," which took place Feb.13-20. Future campaigns are in the works and will be posted to WSU's crowdfunding website at wsu.mn/give2wsu — be sure to check it out! Together, we can make a difference. Together, we create a community of learners improving our world.

TURNING OBSTACLES INTO

Opportunity

Photos: Submitted

Winona State students are well known to be bright, hardworking, and dedicated to their education. While each one comes from a different background with a different story to tell, there are some who have faced obstacles harder than most. Some who may have once thought achieving a college degree seemed unattainable given their life circumstances. However, when others step up and help them achieve success, it not only changes their lives but also instills in them the desire to do the same for others.

WSU student Jessica Harvey Rigby (above, left) experienced a tumultuous childhood. Her mother, a drug addict, committed suicide when Jessica was just eight years old. When she was 14, her half-sister passed away from leukemia. Her father, an abusive alcoholic suffering from PTSD, also died of leukemia a couple years later. While she spent some time living with relatives, she also spent a period of time living in shelters and foster care. "The experiences in my life could have broken me down irrevocably," Jessica says. "Instead, I have chosen to let them make me courageous and determined to succeed." She has since discovered a passion in caring for others, and is working towards achieving her bachelor's degree in nursing with a minor in child advocacy, with hopes of being able to work with children in some way.

Crystal Becker (above, center) also had parents who struggled with drug and alcohol addiction, both spending time in prison. Her mother passed away in 2008, and she no longer has contact with her father. While she now has a steady family life with her stepmother, she was unable to afford college on her own. So when she learned she was chosen as the recipient of a scholarship at Winona State that would allow her to graduate debt-free, she says, "I cried, immediately feeling a huge amount of stress lifting off my shoulders." During her difficult childhood, school was Crystal's safe haven, her fifth-grade teacher – her rock. As a result, her dream is to become a teacher and inspire children the same way her teacher inspired her.

Zaria Smith (above, right) never saw herself attending college. Although she ultimately changed her mind in order to set an example for her 13 brothers and sisters, she found herself independent after graduating high school, and attending college seemed impossible. About receiving a life-changing scholarship to attend WSU, she says, "This opportunity has driven me further. I feel like I have someone in my corner rooting for me, and that I am not going through this alone." As a psychology and communications: leadership and advocacy major with a Spanish minor, Zaria plans to attend graduate school to become a guidance counselor. She has been inspired to give back as soon as she is able and hopes to change the world by positively impacting those she meets.

What these three inspiring young women have in common, aside from difficult backgrounds, is that they are all recipients of the Leaders for Tomorrow scholarship at WSU, provided by the Annexstad Family Foundation.

The scholarship helps "exceptionally bright and accomplished students from disadvantaged backgrounds who have overcome extraordinary hardship in their young lives and who have little or no means to pay for college." The ultimate goal is to allow each scholar to graduate with little to no debt. Working together in close partnership, the University and the Annexstad Family Foundation secure the funds so the goal of graduating debt-free can truly be realized for each Annexstad scholar. For their part, students must continue to fulfill the three requirements of the scholarship: to be enrolled as a full-time student, continue to meet WSU's academic standards, and stay on track to graduate.

"We thank the Annexstad Family Foundation for their support of these well-deserving students at Winona State," says WSU President Scott Olson. "These students have shown the promise and perseverance to one day become chosen leaders in their field and, with the help of the Leaders for Tomorrow scholarship, are realizing futures they never thought possible and learning the importance of giving back. Together, we're all working to improve our world."

FY2016

ANNUAL REPORT

Dear Warriors,

As I reflect upon my first few months as Board Chair of the Winona State University Foundation, I am reminded of what a true privilege it is to serve alongside our many distinguished campus administrators, community members, and donors to this fine institution. The support, engagement and contributions of you and so many others enables WSU to continue serving its mission of fostering a community of learners improving our world. We are deeply grateful for your generosity and partnership, and I am extremely pleased to share a few of the incredible milestones WSU achieved during the 2015 -2016 academic year:

- The University received a generous gift of $1.6 million from the estate of Paul Haake.
- The Laird Norton Family donated their building at 125 West 5th Street in Winona to WSU, which will be fully restored and serve as the future Laird Norton Center for Art & Design.
- Along with the Laird Norton initiative, the board has continued the development and fundraising planning for Education Village, the renovation to WSU Stadium, the creation of the College of Business Engaged Learning Endowment, and an Interactive Simulation Center on the WSU-Rochester campus.
- Additionally, the planning phase continued for WSU's first-ever WarriorsINNOVATE Challenge for aspiring entrepreneurs, with the inaugural event taking place this past fall.

The Foundation continues to help the University grow its scholarship offerings, collaborate with community organizations, and attract prominent leaders from across the nation to serve on its distinctive roster. This year's newest members include LeAnn Johnson '99, Vice Chair of the Department of Nursing at Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., and Dana Johnson, Vice President of Corporate Real Estate at Fastenal in Winona, Minn. Additionally, we welcomed Dr. Ron D. Dempsey in January 2016 as the new Vice President for University Advancement and WSU Foundation Executive Director. We look forward to and embrace our mission in 2017 with enthusiasm under his leadership.

As we look ahead further into 2017, the board is committed more than ever to advancing the University's critical education mission. With intensified focus on affordability, diverse recruitment, and student retention, scholarship dollars have become more important than ever. Over the past year the board has made impressive strides in campus scholarships, with scholarship giving increasing to $2.1 million. We also continue our focus on the President's four distinct pillars for the University: Recreation, Athletics and Wellness; Entrepreneurship and Innovation; Arts, Culture and Entertainment; and Learning and Education Village.

On behalf of the Foundation Board, I thank you for your generous gifts and continued support. As Warriors Forever, I know we can continue shaping a bright future for Winona State.

Medallion Society

Winona State University Foundation

MEDALLION SOCIETY

In 2012, the WSU Foundation established the Medallion Society as a tribute to honor our generous benefactors who make the University's mission possible each and every day. The society was named in recognition of the President's Medallion, which was given as a gift to the University in 1968 from WSU students in honor of President DuFresne's inauguration. The gems within the medallion, donated by Winona community members, represent the people's faith in education, a responsibility for the University's mission, and guardianship on behalf of the State of Minnesota and future generations to come.

The various giving levels of the Medallion Society, ranging from $25,000 to $10 million, are aligned with the different gems found in the medallion itself. A display recognizing members in the society is located outside the entrance to Harriet Johnson Auditorium in Somsen Hall on the WSU campus.

PRESIDENT'S CLUB

($1,000+ Giving to Sustaining Fund)

In 2003, the WSU Foundation established the President's Club to recognize those donors who made a gift of $1,000 or more to the University's unrestricted Sustaining Fund. These unrestricted gifts are applied to the area of greatest impact at WSU, immediately benefiting students by supporting scholarships, faculty and curriculum development, academic and cultural programming, along with other critical needs. Members of the President's Club are instrumental in helping WSU continue its commitment to excellence in education and service, and we thank them for their contribution.

The following donors qualified for the President's Club in FY16.

ESTABLISHING A SCHOLARSHIP THROUGH THE WSU FOUNDATION

Whether you are looking to create your own lasting legacy or honor family members, friends or a professor/mentor who made an impact on your life, establishing a scholarship at WSU is an incredibly meaningful way of doing so, while simultaneously paying it forward to the next generation.

At Winona State, setting up a scholarship is simple, and we are here to walk you through the process. It will include defining the recipient criteria, the award amount, and the type of scholarship you wish to establish – annual, endowed, or hybrid.

In doing so, you are truly making a difference in the lives of deserving students during your lifetime or through your estate. To learn more about establishing a scholarship at WSU, please contact the WSU Foundation/WSU University Advancement Office at 507.457.5020 or wsuscholarships@winona.edu.

SCHOLARSHIP TYPES:

- ▶ Annual Scholarships: Established by giving an annual gift during the academic year for immediate awarding and distribution to a student(s) during that year. You decide the amount you'd like to give each year!
- ▶ Endowed Scholarships: Gift(s) to this type of scholarship are given to reach an amount necessary to sustain the scholarship award. Your gifts are invested in perpetuity, with only a portion of the proceeds of the invested scholarship fund expended annually for awards. Any additional earned income is reinvested to guard against inflation.
- ▶ Hybrid Scholarship: This type of fund is created with a goal of growing an endowment through lifetime gifts. A gift is made each year, with some funds being temporarily restricted and the rest permanently restricted – meaning annual awards are made while the endowment grows. Approximately 3-5 years following the permanently restricted portion of the fund reaching $25,000, the endowment becomes self-sufficient (based on market conditions).
