The Winona State University Foundation Annual Report & Donor Honor Roll

ENSURING A FUTURE

In 1858, the citizens of Winona came forward with land and money to found the first normal school west of the Mississippi River. They were convinced that the Winona State Normal School would improve the lives of their children, as well as the fledgling community they had settled only a few years before.

The strength, purpose, and resolve that drove our founders has continued to guide Winona State University for more than 150 years. And for half a century, the WSU Foundation has advanced and supported that legacy by engaging those who care deeply about the university and carefully stewarding the resources that are vital to its future.

The Foundation was chartered in 1963 to manage gifts of two local properties, which included Prentiss Lodge, to what was then Winona State College. The proceeds from their sale provided the first financial corpus for the Foundation, from which scholarships were awarded in 1967.

Throughout the seventies and eighties, public support for higher education remained strong and the Foundation's activities were relatively modest. In 1972, the Foundation awarded ten scholarships totaling $1,260. Ten years later, the amount awarded rose to a little less than $8,000 as Foundation assets topped $100,000 for the first time.

Its role grew in the early 1990s when state appropriations for higher education declined by unprecedented levels. As it was increasingly entrusted to protect and advance the university mission, Foundation assets rose to $1 million in 1990 and then $10 million a decade later.

Over the last decade, the Foundation has employed creative, yet responsible, ways to ensure the needs of a university that has grown in size and reputation. In 1997, the Foundation partnered with the Winona Area Public Schools on a capital campaign that raised $1.5 million. The East Lake Apartments, student residences planned and managed by the Foundation, were completed six years later. And in 2009, construction began on the Integrated Wellness Complex, built through a unique combination of public, student, and donated funds and part of the university's first capital campaign, Light the Way.

Today, Winona State finds itself in a challenging financial situation. When the Foundation was chartered, the state funded most of the university's operating costs. Student debt was almost unheard of. In 2013, the university receives less than 20-percent of its budget from the state of Minnesota. The average Winona State student graduates with about $27,000 in debt.

Through careful and responsible management of your generous gifts, the Foundation transferred more than $2.1 million to the university last year, including more than $1 million in scholarships to deserving students. From its modest beginnings, the Foundation has served thousands of students, faculty, and staff. Along with you, the Foundation will work to ensure a dynamic future for Winona State University.

The Integrated Wellness Complex, built with a unique blend of public, student, and donated funds, is dedicated.

With a gift of $1 million from Harriet Johnson, the Foundation now manages more than $36 million in assets.

Your contributions and the Foundation's role are becoming increasingly important. Just 15 years ago, funding from the State of Minnesota covered more than 60-percent of the university's operating expenses, with the balance covered by tuition and fees. Today, the state supports only 18-percent of Winona State's operating expenses.

The Foundation has been able to offset a portion of that drastic decline in state support through its careful and responsible management of the resources provided through your generosity. Support for students, student housing, and academic programs has greatly increased, and the Foundation has been instrumental in raising funds for capital improvements such as the East Lake Apartments and the Integrated Wellness Complex, a true campus showpiece.

I recently attended the Foundation's 50th Anniversary Gala held in Lourdes Hall on West Campus. The following morning, I joined more than 1,100 students, family members, faculty and staff, benefactors, Foundation trustees, and friends of the university for the annual Scholarship Breakfast. In my many conversations at these two wonderful events, I was once again reminded of the connection we all share with Winona State and with one another. There is a strong feeling of community and caring, along with much pride in the university.

As we celebrate the Foundation's 50th anniversary, we can proudly reflect on our accomplishments and be optimistic about our strong attributes – attributes that have withstood the test of time. WSU has become the university of choice for students in the region. A Winona State education is perceived to be a good value, one reason that our enrollments continue to increase as others decline. While more than 40-percent of our students will be the first college graduates in their families, our incoming first year students have the highest ACT scores of any university in the system!

Our students are very impressive. With your support, we can ensure that they have sufficient housing, equipment to engage in undergraduate research, programs that address today's needs, and scholarship funding for those who need it. With your support, we can maintain the affordability of Winona State and continue to make a WSU education a good value.

Last year, many of you participated in a survey conducted by the Foundation. We learned that you share a love for Winona State and maintain a strong connection with the university, its faculty, its athletics, its academic programs, and its students. We also learned that you have a strong desire to see how your gifts are being used and the impact they have. The Board of Trustees understands the need to better communicate how the WSU Foundation is protecting, managing, and utilizing the resources entrusted to its care.

On behalf of the Foundation Board, I thank you for your generous gifts and continued support. We have accomplished much in our 50 years, but the needs are ever increasing. A new generation of students is depending on us to maintain the value of a Winona State education and to ensure that WSU remains a special place. As lifelong Warriors, I know we can accomplish our objective.

Daniel R. Mortensen '79
Chair, WSU Foundation

Message from the Foundation Chair

Fifty years ago, Winona State University (then Winona State College) was the intended recipient of two real estate bequests. Because the college was prohibited from being the legal beneficiary of the gifts, the WSU Foundation was created as a steward of the institution.

In its first year, the Foundation received gifts totaling $1,065. One of these gifts was used to establish a loan fund designed to meet short-term needs of the college. Foundation assets totaled $29,378 in 1968. In 1972, the Foundation awarded $1,260 for ten scholarships.

The WSU Foundation has grown significantly from its humble beginnings 50 years ago. At the end of the last fiscal year, its assets were $36 million. Last year, the Foundation awarded $1 million in scholarships to more than 900 deserving students. In addition, the Foundation provided another $1 million to support programs, equipment, student housing, and other needs. Your generous support has made all of this possible.

RESPONSIBLE

both have longtime relationships with Winona State University.

The connection began early for Nancy, who grew up in nearby Chatfield, Minnesota. Winona State had been part of her life since she was ten years old. She attended summer programs at the Phelps School while her mother worked on a bachelor's degree. Her mother and brother earned two degrees at WSU, just as Nancy would go on to do.

Jim discovered Winona during his search for a college to study teacher education. The Minneapolis native was aware of Winona State's academic reputation and he fell for the campus. It's where he met Nancy, and it's where he would return a few years later when asked to join the sociology faculty at his alma mater.

Jim and Nancy Reynolds took different paths in forging their ties with Winona State. But they share the notion that the university changes the lives of those it touches, and see it as their responsibility to maintain and care for its assets.

"We enjoyed an excellent education, and we can help maintain the possibility of an education for current and future students at Winona State," says Nancy. Jim adds, "We feel that it's our responsibility to care for something very valuable that has been entrusted to us."

Although Nancy retired after 30 years of teaching in the Winona Area Public Schools, and Jim in 2004 as professor emeritus of sociology at WSU, both have worked tirelessly to "pay back" the university. The couple has generously funded two scholarships, reflecting their interests in education and sociology. They've perhaps given more, however, through the time and talent they spend advancing the mission of Winona State.

Shortly before he stopped teaching, Jim realized that the university was losing a tremendous asset in the knowledge of retiring faculty, administration, and staff members. He worked with colleague Ron Stevens to found the WSU Retiree Center that, today, contributes about 1,800 hours of service annually to the university and community. "Think of the talented faculty and staff who are remaining engaged and committed, and who see helping Winona State as their responsibility, too," says Jim.

Nancy has always felt a deep sense of place in southeastern Minnesota, and Jim developed an appreciation for the area during his undergraduate days. They're committed to helping campus remain a creative and distinctive place to pursue education at any age, according to Nancy.

Most recently, both have been working with others on a committee to designate campus as a landscape arboretum, dedicated to public education, scientific study, and enjoyment. Examples include the recently completed, student-designed native prairie garden near the Integrated Wellness Complex, and the project to label campus trees. Students and community members can walk through campus and find information on Winona State's trees using a smartphone app developed by WSU Information Technology. The Reynolds' commitment to the Cal Fremling Floating Interpretive Center and Classroom boat project will enable faculty and students to extend their studies in a different direction when they begin plying the Mississippi this fall aboard the new, 49-passenger research and education vessel.

Jim and Nancy Reynolds aren't working tirelessly to be remembered. It's for a place they treasure. Nancy and Jim agree, "We want Winona State to be able to do for others what it has done for us."

INVOLVED

For SUSAN LOEFFLER ANDERSON '67, the pieces began to fall into place during the floods that devastated southeastern Minnesota in 2007.

She found herself in Rushford, a small town about 20 miles from Winona, wearing yellow boots and shoveling mud out of a flooded basement. "I thought, 'This isn't enough.' I can contribute something that will make a more lasting impact."

Anderson grew up on a farm near Le Center in south central Minnesota, but she formed a special connection with Rushford when she was a freshman at Winona State. Two of her floor mates had graduated from Rushford High School, and Anderson says she identified with them because "they grew up in a rural community and went to a good public high school, just as I had." The longtime friends continue to get together every year.

As she began to consider how she could do more for her adopted hometown, Anderson again looked back to her undergraduate days. She received a scholarship and "was flabbergasted it was there for me. It gave me a measure of confidence, that I could do it and someone cared."

She decided to award scholarships to graduates of Rushford-Peterson High School who planned to attend Winona State. At first, Anderson focused no further than the first class following the 2007 floods. She enjoyed selecting and building relationships with her students – much more than she ever had shoveling post-flood muck – and meeting with the superintendent of schools and talking with families.

Anderson says she plays the role of an "eccentric aunt" to her students. She sends regular notes, checks up on their progress, and stops by to visit if she thinks someone is struggling. Anderson enjoys strengthening the connection with Rushford and with Winona State. "During that first year, I got the feeling that this was valuable and productive. That it had the possibility of growing."

The Susan E. Anderson Scholarship is now in its sixth year of making awards to selected graduates of Rushford-Peterson who choose to attend Winona State. Students receive an initial grant of $1,000 per semester, which continues as they maintain a 3.0 GPA. If they fall below a 3.0, they can become eligible for the scholarship again at any time during their four years at WSU.

Although the number of students has increased, Anderson remains just as involved in their lives. On the day of her interview for this story, she was scheduled to drive to Rushford to visit with the new high school principal and check up on a student from whom she hadn't heard in awhile.

"The students return more to me than I give to them," says Anderson. "I've been able to strengthen my association with Winona State, with my friends, with Rushford, with the kind of college student that I was. The pieces fit together perfectly for me."

Medallion Society

Winona State University Foundation

MEDALLION SOCIETY

The Winona State University Foundation established the Medallion Society in 2012 – a new tribute to honor our generous benefactors who make the university's mission possible. The President's Medallion itself carries the spirit of philanthropy. The gold medallion was a gift from WSU students in 1968 in honor of President DuFresne's inauguration. The gems in the medallion represented the people's faith in education, a responsibility for the university's mission, and guardianship on behalf of the State of Minnesota and future generations.

The Medallion Society is prominently displayed outside the entrance of Harriet Johnson Auditorium in Somsen Hall and recognizes giving levels by aligning each with a gem represented in the actual medallion.

The very foundation of Winona State University was built on philanthropy in the mid-1850s under campaign leadership of Dr. John Ford, an advocate for public education. Dr. Ford swiftly raised more than $7,000 in cash and land. The gifts obtained were at all levels, much like those of the new Medallion Society, which will showcase this tradition and honor the leaders who continue to make Winona State University's mission possible.

The WSU Foundation Board of Trustees has established the 1858 Founders Society to recognize those individuals who have made a provision for Winona State through The WSU Foundation in the form of a deferred gift — a will, life insurance or a life income agreement. The Society exemplifies the importance of will provisions and other deferred gifts to the university and expresses the Foundation's grateful appreciation to individuals who make a future gift in support of the university's mission.

If you would like more information, or if you have made a provision for the Foundation but you have not yet notified the Development Office, call 507-457-5020. All information will be kept in strict confidence.

CORNERSTONE SOCIETY

In addition to the six annual donor societies, the WSU Foundation created the Cornerstone Society in 1989. This special society, which was concluded on June 30, 2012 and succeeded by the Medallion Society, recognized those who, through their ongoing efforts, enabled the Foundation to become a force in supporting the university's academic mission. The Cornerstone Society honor roll occupies a prominent place in the main corridor of Somsen Hall and will continue to provide a lasting tribute to benefactors who made cumulative gifts of $20,000 or more to the Foundation.

WSU FOUNDATION HONOR ROLL

FISCAL YEAR 2013 JULY 1, 2012 - JUNE 30, 2013

The WSU Foundation has established six societies to provide special recognition for annual donors. These societies are used in preparation of the yearly donor honor roll to salute Winona State University benefactors. The categories are:

Capstone Society	$5,000 or more
Keystone Society	$2,500 - 4,999
Arch Society	$1,000 - 2,499
Colonnade Society	$500 - 999
Pillar Society	$250 - 499
Benchmark Society	$100 - 249

Society names were chosen to reflect names common to the architectural features of buildings, because the WSU Foundation is building a better Winona State University through the significant efforts of its benefactors.

The percentages adjacent to the class year represent the percentage of donor participation for that class this fiscal year.

PRESIDENT'S CLUB

The Winona State University Foundation established the President's Club in 2003 to recognize donors who have made an annual gift of $1,000 or more to the unrestricted Sustaining Fund. Unrestricted gifts are directed to the area of greatest impact at WSU, immediately benefiting students by supporting scholarships, faculty and curriculum development, academic and cultural programming, library collections, and other critical needs. Members of the President's Club help Winona State continue its commitment to excellence in education and service. Along with special recognition, President's Club members receive university updates from the president, invitations to special events, and opportunities to engage in campus life.

The following donors have qualified for this annual giving society for Fiscal Year 2013.

INTERESTED IN ESTABLISHING A SCHOLARSHIP THROUGH THE WSU FOUNDATION?

There are a number of reasons and ways to establish a scholarship at WSU. Scholarships are a wonderful way to create a legacy, honor family members, friends, or a professor or mentor who made a difference in your life or provide a lasting memorial to important people who have touched our lives. Establishing a scholarship is simple. You define the recipient criteria, the award amount and the type of scholarship, either annual or endowed. You can make a difference in the lives of deserving students during your lifetime or through your estate. To learn more about helping students achieve their dreams through scholarships, please contact: the WSU Foundation/WSU University Advancement Office at 457-5020 or wsuscholarships@winona.edu.

Two types of WSU Foundation Scholarships:

- Annual Scholarships – Give an annual gift during the academic year for immediate awarding and distribution to a student or students during that year. You decide the amount you'd like to give each year!
- Endowed scholarships – Gift(s) are given to reach an amount to sustain a scholarship award. Your gifts are invested in perpetuity. Only a portion of the proceeds of the invested scholarship fund are expended annually for awards. Any additional earned income is reinvested to guard against inflation.
