Ike Believes Blockade Would Be War Action

Senate Agrees On McCarthy Vote Wednesday

Final Decision
Expected Late
That Afternoon

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) angrily took Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) to task in the Senate today for a broadcast in which Jenner said Flanders referred to the Soviet peoples as "brothers." Flanders snapped that Jenner "has taken leave of his intelligence."

The hot clash came as the Senate was moving into the final stages of its long debate over proposals to censure Sen. McCarthy. Under a unanimous consent agreement, voting is to begin Wednesday afternoon. Leaders forecast that amendments would be disposed of and a final vote reached by some time Thursday.

Flanders and Jenner have been feuding since the controversy over McCarthy's conduct. Flanders introduced the original resolution of censure. Jenner has battled against censure.

When today's session opened, Flanders put into the Congressional Record the transcript of a Thanksgiving Day broadcast he made over the government's Voice of America radio network.

About half an hour later, while Sen. Brown (R-NeV) had the floor for a speech opposing censure of McCarthy, Jenner arose and asked permission of Brown to make a statement.

3 Seats Away
Jenner, speaking with Flanders sitting only three seats away, said Flanders had referred to the Soviet peoples as "brothers" at a time when Russia was shooting down American planes and Red China was imprisoning U. S. military men on "trumped-up charges."

Flanders, replying immediately, said "the gentleman is beside himself. He has taken leave of his intelligence."

As he attempted to continue his reply, Jenner repeatedly interrupted him, demanding that Flanders answer the question as to why he used the terms "brothers" and "friends" in speaking of the Soviet peoples.

Sen. Cotton (R-NH) who was presiding, pounded his gavel in an effort to halt Jenner, but the Indianan paid no attention.

Flanders told Jenner that essentially what he was trying to do in the broadcast was to make an appeal to the Russian peoples for friendship over the heads of the Russian government.

Flanders said the broadcast was based on a two-year-old script embodying a message he had been trying for a long time to get across to the Russian people.

He said he had written it as "Russian people," but that for some reason of protocol his script was changed by others whom he did not identify to "Soviet peoples."

Jenner shouted that he wanted (Continued on Page 17, Column 4) SENATE

Fires Kill Man, Destroy Church, Silence Phones

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Walker man burned to death in one of a series of Monday fires that also razed a Minneapolis church and knocked out telephone service at Edgerton.

Leo Feather, 33, perished when flames swept the cabin 11 miles east of Walker that he and two companions had used as a deer hunting base. Jim Whipple, 42, and John Ogema, 35, got out safely but lost all personal possessions.

Whipple said the cabin was filled with smoke when he and Ogema awoke. He said they were unable to reach Feather on the far side of the shack. An overheated stove was blamed for starting the fire and the corner said there would be no inquest.

Flames spread so rapidly through the Central Telephone Co. exchange at Edgerton, Florence Schmidt, the operator on duty, was forced to go to a rural line on the community's outskirts to summon the Pipestone fire department.

Miss Schmidt and Katherine Templeman, chief operator, managed to save some company records before the two-story frame structure was destroyed with loss estimated at $10,000. Service to the community of 1,000 was expected to be restored by tonight.

In Minneapolis, a defective heating plant was blamed for flames that converted St. George's Ukrainian Greek Orthodox Church into a blackened shell. Loss of the 93-year-old edifice was estimated at $40,000.

Western Air Power Hit by Montgomery

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Field Marshal Montgomery says the West "will never win the war in the air with the organization for air command and control that we have at present."

Britain's World War II hero said: "The present organization is unworthy of a group of nations who claim to have some knowledge of war."

Speaking last night to California Institute of Technology scientists, Montgomery prefaced his remarks on a possible future world war by saying: "I want to make it absolutely clear that we at Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers, Europe, are basing all our operational planning on using atomic and thermonuclear weapons in our defense."

The reason, he said, is that "we cannot match the strength that could be brought against us unless we use nuclear weapons; and our political chiefs have never shown any great enthusiasm in giving us the number to be able to do this without using such weapons."

He envisioned three stages of a war: Worldwide struggle for mastery in the air and of the oceans; destruction of the remaining enemy land forces; and the bargaining phase when the enemy's homeland is at the mercy of Western air power.

Montgomery said, "The dominant factor in future war will be air power. The greatest asset of air power is its flexibility. Flexibility and centralized control of all the air forces in a theater of war are vital to success." Then he continued:

"But the West has sacrificed much of its flexibility by basing the air command organization on the requirements of the 'direct support' of the land forces, whereas it should be based on the organization necessary to gain the greatest measure of control in the air."

"Air power is indivisible. If you split it up into compartments you merely pull it to pieces and destroy its greatest asset, its flexibility."

"If we lose the war in the air, we lose the whole war and lose it quickly."

Dulles Chicago Speech Given President's O.K.

New Oral Protest
Rejected by Chinese Diplomats

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower feels a naval and air blockade of Red China would amount to "war action," the White House said today.

The White House view was stated by James C. Hagerly, press secretary, shortly after Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, had renewed his call for a blockade in the face of a proclamation Monday night by Secretary of State Dulles.

Dulles, in a major foreign policy speech in Chicago, declared that the first duty of the United States is to "exhaust peaceful means" to protect the rights of Americans imprisoned by Red China, rather than "now resorting to war action, such as a naval and air blockade."

Speech Approved
Hagerly was asked by newsmen whether Eisenhower agrees with Dulles that a blockade would amount to war action.

"Yes," Hagerly replied, adding that the President approved completely Dulles' entire speech. Hagerly said Dulles consulted with Eisenhower regarding the speech several times.

The policy line was laid down by Secretary of State Dulles in a speech at Chicago last night. Dulles barred for the present any naval and air blockade of Red China.

At the same time he called for vigilance in dealings with Russia. He said "coexistence" Moscow is currently proclaimed foreign policy line is a "tricky word" in the absence of any renunciation of international Communism's "effort to rule the world by methods of force, intimidation and fraud."

Full Report
Dulles gave a far-ranging report on U. S. foreign policy before a national 4-H Club congress in Chicago last night. Before returning to the capital shortly afterward, he repeated it for a national radio hookup.

He did not specify what the State Department planned to do about 13 Americans sentenced to prison in Red China on spy charges this country has branded as false. Informants indicated the United States might ask Russia to intervene with Red China, but it was expected main action would be concentrated on mobilizing world opinion against the sentencing.

In Geneva, Switzerland, U. S. Consul General Franklin C. Gowan disclosed today that he had met Red China's Consul General Chen Ping for an hour last night and delivered orally another U. S. protest couched in the "strongest possible" terms.

Gowan said the Chinese took down his protest word by word, then told him he could not accept it. Dulles apparently was referring to the 13 in his speech, and to Red China's threats against Formosa, when he said that while the Russians have recently "talked more softly," the Chinese Communists have talked and acted with increasing violence.

"Our nation," he said "will react, and react vigorously, in the protection of our citizens, but without allowing ourselves to be provoked into action which would be a violation of our international obligations and which would impair the alliance of the free nations." He departed from his prepared text to insert the phrase about protecting U. S. citizens. He said perhaps international Communism was trying in a new way to divide the free nations, remarking: "They seek to be soothing in Europe, they are provocative in Asia."

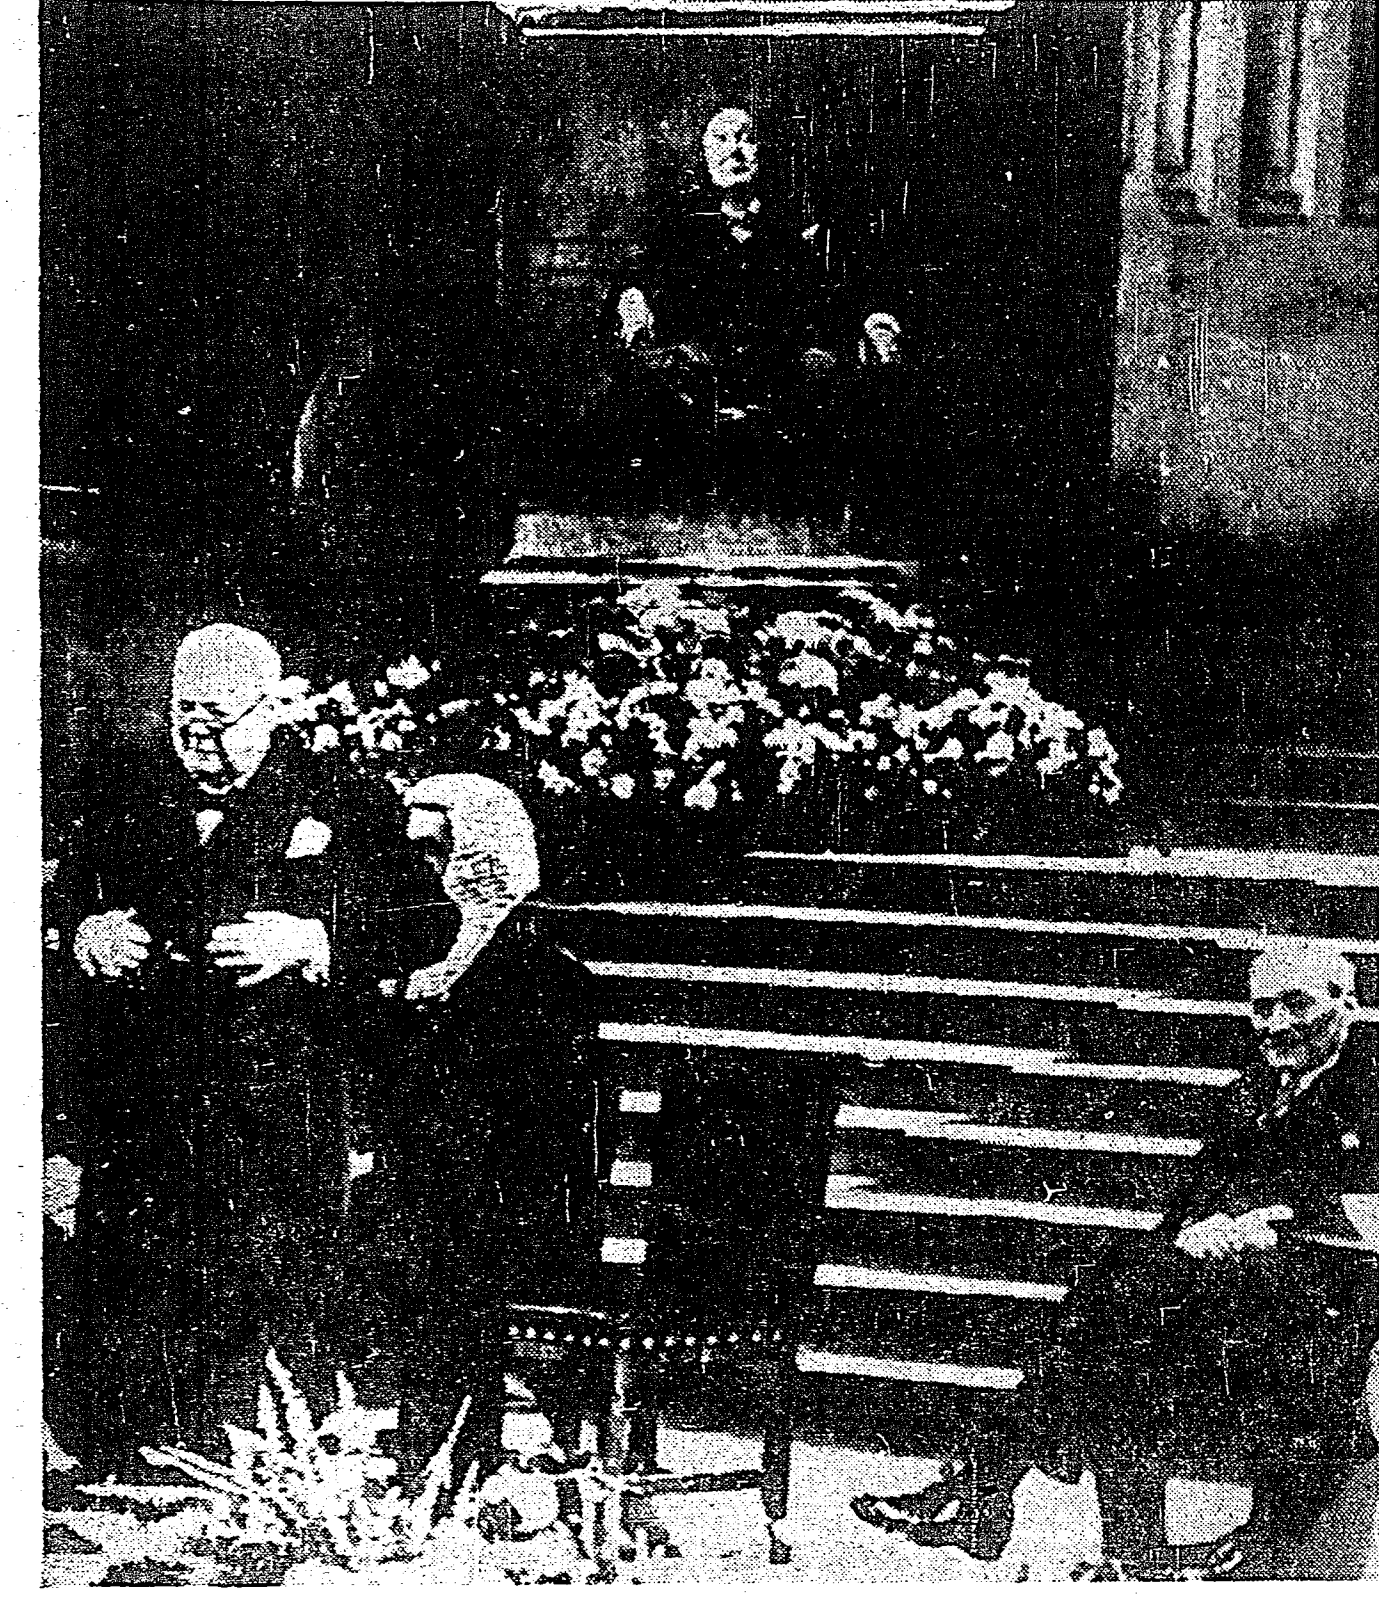

War Last Resort
The United States, he said, is committed by the U. N. Charter to try to settle international disputes by peaceful means.

"Therefore," he said, "our first duty is to exhaust peaceful means of sustaining our international rights and those of our citizens, rather than now resorting to war action such as a naval and air blockade of Red China."

He noted the existence of "a vast Russian military establishment" and said that safety from attack lies in the maintenance of an effective defense coupled with "retaliatory power."

"We believe," he said, "that the greatest contribution we can make to peace is to be ready to fight, if need be, and to have the retaliatory power."

All of Britain Toasts Churchill As Grand Old Man Turns 80

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill celebrated his 80th birthday today with the fervent hope he still has "some service to render."

The Prime Minister, always a man of many sides, was both jovial and somber as the nation paid tribute to him and millions of admirers, at home and overseas, marked the anniversary as a personal affair.

Looking especially fit for his age, Churchill heard eulogies from all factions in the House of Commons at a new session of Parliament opened by Queen Elizabeth II with a speech from the throne declaring — in his words — that world survival depends on a continued intimate association of Britain and the United States.

He accepted the eulogies "with pride and humility."

And to those looking for a hint of his future plans, the old warrior described himself as "a party politician who has not retired and may at any time become involved in controversy."

He made only one reference to his age in the House: "Ladies and gentlemen, I am now nearing the end of my journey. I hope I still have some services to render. However that may be and whatever may befall, I am sure I shall never forget the emotion of this day—this wonderful honor done me."

A family party at the Prime Minister's official residence, 10 Downing Street, was the last event on the day's schedule.

Two 90-pound birthday cakes were baked—one for the Parliament party and the other for the family gathering.

With one exception—the Communist Daily Worker—Britain's national newspapers hailed the day as a big event in British history.

"Today Our Toast Is You, Sir!" was the eight-column banner atop the Conservative Daily Mail's front page.

But the Worker published a crudely drawn "birthday card": "Resign! Along with your Tory government."

"Let electors prove by their vote they are against Germany being rearm!"

Otherwise political differences were adjourned for Winnie's day. His supporters and those who had voted against him in many elections joined in the national tribute to the man who spoke and stood so courageously in Britain's darkest hours.

The pubs rang with "happy birthday." A special three-room office in London's Charing Cross Road was swamped with presents and bags full of letters, many of them with checks and coins for Churchill's 80th birthday presentation fund.

A staff of 60, mostly volunteers from London banks, battled at adding machines far into last night in an effort to keep even with the contributions.

As a first installment of the fund, Churchill will be presented with a "six-figure check" (something approaching the equivalent of half a million dollars), it was whispered at a ceremony late today.

"It is a personal gift to Sir Winston and he may do with it what he wishes," said Lord Moyinhan, the fund's treasurer. But it was generally presumed the Prime Minister would devote it to some public-spirited enterprise.

Queen Warns Survival Rests On U.S. Ties

By TOM OCHILTREE

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II opened the new session of Parliament today with a declaration that world survival depends on the continued intimate association of Britain and the United States.

The young monarch delivered her speech from the throne in the red and gold splendor of the House of Lords chamber. She spoke the words prepared for her in accordance with parliamentary tradition by Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill, today celebrating his 80th birthday.

Robbed peers crowding the benches and members of the House of Commons ranged along the walls heard the Queen say:

"My government attach the highest importance to maintaining and strengthening close and friendly relations with the United States of America. It is, upon this intimate association that world survival depends."

Short Session
She said that in the session ahead, a short meeting ending Dec. 28, her ministers "will strive unrelentingly to promote the well-being of my people and the peace of the world."

"My government are convinced a strong and united Commonwealth can take a leading part in the councils of nations," she declared.

The Queen's speech represents the basic policy Churchill's Conservative government will follow. During the next few days it will be analyzed and debated in Parliament.

Her reference to the United States means Churchill is as firmly committed as ever to the principle of close British-American partnership to promote peace.

The Queen also stressed that the government will give wholehearted support to the United Nations and the North Atlantic Alliance.

3 Known Dead As Snow Storm Lashes Colorado

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Three dead were counted today in a widespread snow storm which lashed Colorado and parts of four surrounding states. Temperatures fell as low as five below zero in mountain areas.

Snow packed up to 14 inches at Eagle, Colo., in the storm which has lasted three days. The disturbance also spread into southern Utah, southern Wyoming, and parts of Nebraska and South Dakota.

Included among the deaths was that of a 2-month-old boy killed when the auto in which he was riding skidded on an icy highway during the storm.

The cold air covered almost all of the country. Only southern Florida, southern Texas, and parts of New Mexico and Arizona escaped the frigid temperatures.

Even the usually mild Pacific Coast area reported many readings in the 40s.

Rahr Explains Badger Position On Power Dams

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The chairman of the Conservation Commission says that any impression that the commission has a general policy of bucking construction of power dams is erroneous.

Guido Rahr, Manitowoc, commission chairman, appeared at a meeting of the Legislative Council Monday at the request of the council to clarify the commission's stand.

"We treat each problem individually," Rahr said. "We express no opinion or make no decision as to whether a dam should be constructed."

"We present to the Public Service Commission our findings and evaluations of recreation worth of a particular area. It is up to the Public Service Commission then to weigh the economic gain against the recreational loss."

Sen. Foster Porter (R-Bloomington), chairman of a legislative committee on industrial development, said he had wanted a clear picture of the Conservation Commission's position because he had heard considerable criticism. Porter said critics claimed the commission was opposing all proposed power developments in northern Wisconsin and it was interfering with industrial development there.

Charles F. Smith, Wausau, and Douglas Hunt, Watoma, Conservation Commission members, joined Rahr in his explanation of commission policy.

A bill that would require all hunters between the ages of 14 and 21 to secure a certificate showing competence in handling firearms before being allowed a hunting license was recommended by the council for passage by the legislature.

The council also recommended passage of a bill that would allow clubs and restaurants to get a permit from the Conservation Commission to serve wild game.

Woman Scientist New Witness in Trial of Sheppard

CLEVELAND (AP)—A dainty woman scientist began unfolding the newest chapter today in the state's case against osteopath Samuel Sheppard, on trial on a charge of murdering his wife.

The story is still being written in blood.

Miss Mary Cowan, a medical technologist, went back on the witness stand this morning to describe the tests she made on stains found in the Sheppard home—particularly on the basement steps.

Her evidence may indicate that whoever killed 31-year-old Marilyn Sheppard did not immediately leave the house after the crime. On the basis of this and connecting testimony, prosecution lawyers said, the state may ask:

Did the killer go from the second-floor bedroom, scene of the crime, to the basement? Why? Did he go there to wash? To hide something?

Why did he not flee the house as rapidly as possible, especially since Sheppard claims, there was a struggle in which he, the doctor, was twice slugged into unconsciousness by the murderer?

The state says there was no "busy-haired" assailant, that Sheppard himself battered his wife to death with an instrument that has never been found, and that his motive arose from his relations with other women.

Hence the importance of the stain on the basement steps.

How I took the work out of drying clothes

I got a dryer last Christmas, and clothes drying is a cinch for me now—as easy as washing in an automatic washer! That's what you'll say, too, if you get a dryer for Christmas. Over 61,000 other N.W. women already dry their clothes this modern way. No musty basement clotheslines, no battling snow or freezing winds. And winter or summer, see the work they save—

No stair climbing with heavy baskets! In a year, a dryer saves lugging an average of 3 tons of clothes—and walking up to 40 miles. Isn't that much work worth saving? (Mrs. Fred Brandt, Minot, N. D., thought so; she "got tired of backaches from trips up and down stairs"—and got a dryer.)

My automatic dryer saves 3 hours a week! No hanging out clothes on the line for me! From women everywhere come similar reports. No more time-wasting on long washing and drying sprees for them! (As Mrs. John O'Rourke, Chippewa Falls, Wis., points out: "Now I can wash and iron all in one day!")

Dryer-dried clothes smell so sweet and fresh! This is a sweet surprise to hundreds who once believed clothes needed outdoor air, then found how wonderfully fresh and soft they come from a dryer. (In Minneapolis, Mrs. Norman MacDonald reports "clothes smell just as good as when you hang them out.")

Saves sprinkling, cuts ironing! Set a dial; it dries completely or damp-dries ready for ironing. Many items need no ironing! (And as Mrs. F. T. Helleloid, Bridgewater, S. D., says: "A dryer is so easy on clothes!") Don't you deserve one? Talk't over. Sixty-one thousand other husbands have said: "Okay!"

Stop lugging clothes . . . get a dryer for Christmas!

1 of 6 Injured In Hill Crash Out of Hospital

Charge to Be Filed Against One Driver, Authorities Announce

One of six persons hospitalized here as a result of a three-car collision on Lewiston Hill Sunday afternoon has been released from the Winona General Hospital.

He is Norman Best, 14, Chatfield, who left the hospital Monday after receiving treatment for cuts and bruises suffered in the crash.

Two other members of his family are still confined in the hospital: His father, John Best, 47, the driver of one of the cars, who has a leg fracture and severe lacerations, and a sister, Marsha, 16, receiving treatment for a leg fracture and severe hand injury.

The condition of each was good today as was the condition of three occupants of the second car who were hospitalized: Mrs. Stanley Speltz, 46, with multiple bruises; Ray Keating, 18, St. Mary's College student from South St. Paul, foot injuries, and Catherine Bagan, 36, Albert Lea, lacerations and head injuries.

Best is expected to be arraigned in court following his release from the hospital on a charge of passing illegally in a no-passing zone. Eight persons were injured when the Best car and an automobile driven by Speltz collided head-on. Moments later a car driven by Walter Ingalls, Rochester, collided with the badly damaged Best car.

Ad Club Meets At Rochester, Takes Two Tours

ROCHESTER, Minn.—Members of the Hiawatha Valley Advertising Club met here Monday for the regular monthly meeting that included several guided tours arranged by William Erin and Harry C. Carpenter, co-chairmen of the program committee.

The group comprised of advertising and sales persons from Winona, La Crosse, Red Wing and Rochester, toured the new diagnostic building of the Mayo Clinic and the television station.

The dinner meeting at the Kahler Hotel followed the tours. Erin announced his transfer to Chicago and tendered his resignation as treasurer and as a member of the club's board of directors. Joseph Carter, Rochester, vice president of the group, was named treasurer and appointed to the board of directors to fill Erin's unexpired term of office.

C. E. Linden, Winona, reported on the club's proposed activity during Advertising Week. Plans are being formulated for special promotion to make the consumer aware of advertising's contribution to better living. Linden discussed plans for securing outdoor billboard space from plant operators to post advertising messages during Advertising Week. He also said of tentative plans for club sponsorship of an essay contest for high school students. Prizes for the best essay in each of the four towns which comprise the Hiawatha Valley Advertising Club area will be awarded and the winner will compete for the national grand prize of $500, awarded by the Advertising Federation of America.

Featured speaker was Douglas Naegele of the Naegele Sign Co., Rochester. His program consisted of a film produced by the American Association of Outdoor Advertisers which told of outdoor advertising's role in a community. It also showed the prize-winning outdoor billboard signs for 1953. Naegele's talk outlined specific offerings by the outdoor companies to advertisers. A question and answer period followed.

F. J. Marin, Winona, president of the club, announced that the December meeting will be held at Oakes, Minnesota City, Dec. 27. It will be the club's first "Sample Night." Club members are asked to bring samples of their company's products for a Christmas "grab bag" distribution.

MONDOVI, Wis.—Burglars took $5 in cash from the Mondovi Equity Oil Station Sunday night or early Monday morning.

Heavy Snowfall Expected; Mercury Drops to 19 Here

3 to 5 Inches, Reading of 25 Forecast Tonight

Monday night's 19-degree temperatures, coldest of the season to date, will be followed by the first heavy snow tonight, according to a warning issued today by the Weather Bureau.

Between 3 and 5 inches of snow are expected in the Winona area and as much as 8 inches are forecast for other parts of Southern Minnesota. The northern half of the state will have only flurries.

Little change in temperature is anticipated, with a low of 25 locally tonight and a high of 32 degrees forecast for Wednesday afternoon. It was 28 at noon today.

Monday night, temperatures throughout the state dipped to season's lows. Bemidji reported a chilly 8 below and Rochester 14. International Falls equaled the Wisconsin low of 11 at Grantsburg.

Winnemucca, Nevada, had the nation's low of 5 below contrasted to the 85-degree high at Key West, Fla.

Elsewhere in the nation, three dead were counted in a snow storm which lashed Colorado and parts of four surrounding states. Colorado bore the brunt of the storm. Included among the deaths was that of a 2-year-old boy killed when the auto in which he was riding skidded on an icy highway during the storm.

A major storm which was fast tying up much of South Dakota's transportation developed today out of the season's first state-wide snow.

Eastward, the noon check showed 7 inches of snow along southern counties in the Vermillion-Yankton-White River area.

Elba Man Found Not Guilty of Assault Charge

An Elba farmer, Bernard Ellringer, 30, was found not guilty in municipal court this morning on an assault and battery charge.

Represented by P. S. Johnson, Ellringer previously had pleaded not guilty to the charge brought in a complaint signed by Lester Todd, 64, St. Charles, that the defendant had struck him during an altercation at Elba, Nov. 20.

During this morning's trial Ellringer acknowledged that he had "slapped" Todd but held that he done this only after Todd had swung at him.

Called by County Atty. W. Kenneth Nissen as the state's only witness, Todd said this morning that he had stopped at the Elba mill on the morning of Nov. 20, saw Ellringer's truck parked there and noticed some bags of oats in the box.

Todd said that one of the bags had a hole in it and he took a handful to inspect to determine where the oats had come from. The complainant said that at this point Ellringer swore at him, told him to get away from the truck, seized him by the shirt and struck him.

Ellringer testified that Todd opened the string ties on one of the sacks to obtain the sample and that when he told Todd to go away from the truck the latter took his glasses and began to swing at him.

Ellringer said that Todd accused him of stealing his oats. Todd denied this.

Other witnesses called by Johnson were Robert Strain, an employe at the Elba mill who said that he was in the mill at the time the two men drove up and that he did not know how the altercation started, and John Sampson, 19, Gilmore avenue, who was employed at the farm owned by Todd.

South Africans Ready to Name New Premier

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP)—The dominant Nationalist party faction in South Africa's parliament assembled here today to name a successor to retiring Prime Minister Daniel Malan. It was a near certainty they would choose Johannes Gerhardus Strijdom, uncompromising advocate of Republican status for this British Commonwealth country.

Selection of the 61-year-old Strijdom as the party leader—necessary prelude to his appointment as prime minister by Gov. Gen. E. G. Jansen—could transform the political situation in the country plagued by tension between blacks and whites and between whites of British and Dutch descent.

Strijdom's only other serious rival for the party leadership, Deputy Prime Minister Nicolaas Christiaan Havenga, spread the word he would quit the government and politics if not elected.

Others loyal to him and to Malan, who backed Havenga in his retirement announcement seven weeks ago, might eventually follow their candidate out of the party. The present party was formed in 1951 as a coalition of Malan's National party and Havenga's Afrikaner party, both made up of descendants of the country's Dutch-born Boer settlers.

This would bring the first serious split in Nationalist unity, unbroken since Malan led the two factions in taking power six years ago from the late Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts' United party.

The struggle between Strijdom and Havenga was one of tactics and timing rather than other Nationalist aims.

Strijdom is all for quickening the pace of the Nationalist march towards a Christian national republic in South Africa.

Frenchman Admits Americans Normal

By PRESTON GROVER
PARIS (AP)—A Frenchman's book just published here comes up with the conclusion that Americans are practically normal.

"The overwork of Americans is greatly exaggerated," says Raymond Cartier, a correspondent of the magazine Paris-Match. He spends much of his time in America.

A lot of Americans may die of heart disease and cancer, says Cartier, "but all the other causes of death are becoming increasingly rare so that heart disease and cancer tend more and more to be the only killers."

He observes, "The 48 Americans" that Americans don't find escape in alcohol any more than Europeans. And Europeans go astray in believing American family life is breaking up. He explains:

"The immense majority of the divorcers of both sexes are not seeking to break up the home but simply to change it. The large part of divorces are undertaken with the remarriage already in sight— and the partner already chosen."

Unlike Europeans who take lovers and mistresses, he says, Americans prefer to break up the marriage rather than sully it.

"The hard truth," he says, "is that America is coming to resemble Europe more and more. Everything is growing in that direction, increasing bureaucracy, mounting socialism, and obligatory military service in time of peace."

Cartier notes that many European observers find America too mechanized, half of the population rushing to bars at 7 p.m. to quiet their nerves, or passing hours on a psychoanalyst's couch "talking of love instead of making it."

"The misunderstanding is that this 'American way of life' doesn't exist," Cartier writes. "The bases of the life of an individual—spiritual, cultural, social and in his family—are approximately the same in West Europe and in the United States."

Toddlers Not As Terrible As Painted

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—When you have a new baby in the house, the veteran parents among your friends are always warning:

"Yes, they're wonderful when they're helpless and completely dependent on you. But wait until they learn to walk. Then you'll never know a moment's peace. They just become little terrors."

Well, Tracy Ann, who came to our house to live when she was five weeks old, has now passed her 17-month birthday. She walks and climbs like crazy, trying each hour to explore and absorb all the wonders and knowledge in the whole world. And while life with her is admittedly less peaceful, it grows more wonderful each passing golden day.

Nothing's Dull
Nothing makes a grownup appreciate the commonplace miracles of our daily lives—miracles which times has dulled us—than to watch a child discover them one by one.

Take a simple thing like shadows, for example. The morning Tracy discovered she could wave her hands in the bright sunlight and make moving shadows on the wall she went wild with excitement.

Her actual vocabulary consists of four words—mama, dada, pa-pa and no.

Some parents lament that a child is impossible in the "No" stage, but I just think it's funny. To take her mind off this word, I keep asking her if she can't say something really important like "Mississippi."

"Pizza Pie!"
The other morning, sneaking in to her room to kiss her goodby, I found her sitting up sleepily in bed saying, "No! No! Pizza pie! No! Pizza Pie!"

Puzzled, I stood there for a moment until it dawned on me that she is slipping up on "Mississippi" by way of "pizza pie."

Somewhere in America there is a runny-nosed, dirty-checkered little boy growing up. I wonder what kind of a man he will be. For here I am spending the best years of my life training a perfect little wife for him. I hope the scoundrel, whoever he is, will have the common decency to come to me 20 years or so from now and say, "Thanks, Dad."

"I have just got married and I can't afford to drink any more." He got his license back.

Wives That Work Better Housekeepers

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor
Working wives are better housekeepers than their stay-at-home sisters, and ask less help from their husbands, says Madge Lewyt, who spends most of her time inquiring into the housekeeping habits of U.S. women.

A few years ago Miss Lewyt volunteered to help her brother complete some facts about how modern women clean house and she has been at it ever since. The brother is Alex Lewyt, manufacturer of vacuum cleaners and other items. Says Madge, who bears the title of research consultant:

"In recent surveys I have found that women who work at a full-time job away from home all day tackle their housework the same way they do their office work. They organize it efficiently and don't get bogged down in it."

"Women who stay at home all day are likely to dawdle along at housework, using the old-fashioned methods learned from their mothers. There's probably something psychological about it. These women have a feeling they aren't doing a big important job in just keeping house, and so they try to make it sound as hard as possible."

"These are the women who do most of the complaining when their husbands come home at night, and the ones who act hurt if their husbands don't help with the dishes or other chores."

Working women, on the other hand, says Miss Lewyt, seem to take pride in being able to do two jobs, and do both well. She says:

"Most women who work outside the home get the house cleaned up in the evening after dinner, and give the house a thorough cleaning once a week, usually on Saturdays."

"They learn to empty ashtrays and straighten up the living room before they go to bed at night, spending only a few minutes at it, but leaving it neat. They put away their clothes when they take them off, and keep up with all the little things that keep a house neat, instead of letting them pile up."

Miss Lewyt has found that some women take all day to clean house simply because they have all day to spend. Actually it should be possible to give a thorough cleaning to a three or four-room apartment in not more than two hours, she says.

Says Miss Lewyt:
"After the years I've spent inquiring into such things, I've become convinced that it's better for both wives and husbands if the wife has a job outside the home, provided there are no small children. A job keeps her busy, alert and interested, and she becomes a better homemaker as well."

Bids on $2 Million U.S. Dollars Too Low

SEOUL (AP)—The U.S. Army today rejected as too low all bids received for two million American dollars it offered at auction to get Korean hwan to pay its Korean employees.

Lt. Col. James H. Comings, U.S. funding officer, said another auction will be tried soon.

He said Korean firms offered up to 428 hwan for $1 but most bids were substantially lower.

The ROK government recently sold five million dollars to businessmen at an average rate of 517 hwan to $1. Comings said market quotations are over 700 hwan.

Young Minnesota Sailor Denies Murdering Wife

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A young sailor, arrested after two hunters found his wife's head, steadfastly denied a murder charge today while police sought the rest of the body.

The decomposed head, identified as part of the body of Mrs. Eugene D. Haas, 30, was in a field near here, together with a .22 rifle and a pile of clothing.

A search party of 100 sailors and Marines from the Memphis Naval Air Station tramped the area for two hours Monday in a vain effort to find other body fragments.

Haas, 25, of Frazee, Minn., a tall, thin petty officer first class stationed at the Memphis base, told deputies:

"No, sir, I did not kill my wife. I haven't any idea who could have done it. I don't know of an enemy she had in this world. She and I had arguments now and then, like all married couples, but they weren't for long."

Sheriff's lieutenants J. V. Jowers and John Carlisle, heading the investigation, said the head, a .22 rifle, a blue skirt, a blouse and canvas sneakers were found in a field of deep grass about a mile east of the big air station.

Mrs. Haas, daughter of Mrs. Frances H. Chase of Newport, R.I., was reported missing from the Haas home in the station's enlisted married men's quarters Oct. 26.

The missing persons report circulated by the Navy said "no clothing or luggage missing."

The report described Mrs. Haas as "noticeably underweight, having recently been discharged from the naval hospital. She is nervous and excitable, due to her recent illness."

The report added: "Subject missing person was apparently in good spirits shortly before her disappearance. No known possible reason for her voluntary disappearance."

The Navy said Haas, "in apparent despair," threatened to kill himself after identifying the rifle and clothing Sunday night, and was held in "protective custody" until turned over to deputies Monday.

Dist. Atty. Gen. John Heiskell said the head was sent to the University of Tennessee college of medicine here for laboratory examination.

Haas enlisted in the Navy in 1949 and was transferred here in March 1952, after service aboard the destroyer Everett F. Larson.

Japan Paying $12 Million in POW Compensation

TOKYO (AP)—Japan today agreed to pay $12,600,000 in compensation to 13 nations whose soldiers it held as prisoners in World War II.

An agreement initiated today provides the money will be paid by May 31 through the International Red Cross in Geneva.

The United States has voluntarily relinquished its claim.

The payment was required by the San Francisco peace treaty.

Sir Norman Roberts, former British minister to Japan, initiated the agreement on behalf of the 13 nations, including the United States. Yoshimitsu Ando, counselor of the Foreign Ministry, initiated for Japan.

Roberts has been in Japan since mid-October negotiating the settlement, which must be ratified by the governments involved.

The agreement provides compensation to the United States, Great Britain, Canada, Australia, the Netherlands, France, Cambodia, New Zealand, Pakistan, Viet Nam, Laos, Indonesia and the Philippines.

St. Paul Jury Finds 2 Guilty Of Tax Frauds

ST. PAUL (AP)—A Minneapolis grain broker and a former St. Paul car dealer today awaited sentencing for separate violations of federal income tax laws.

Herbert V. Imholte, former sales manager for Hayden Motor Sales, Inc., wept and beat a table with his fists when a jury found him guilty of aiding the falsification of the firm's 1947 income tax returns.

The government charged that Imholte and David H. Hayden, head of the firm, bilked the government of some $22,000 by means of false records on car sales. Hayden, who pleaded guilty, was fined $10,000. He was a chief witness against Imholte.

Kenneth U. Miller, 56, the grain dealer, pleaded nolo contendere (no defense) to charges of failing to file federal tax returns for the years 1950-51. Clifford Janes, assistant district attorney, said Miller had filed a return, only once, in 1944 when he claimed a $4 refund.

The government charges he owes about $1,000 for 1950 and $1,120 for 1951. Janes said a 50 per cent fraud penalty, 25 per cent delinquency assessment and 6 per cent interest would be demanded on the past due amounts.

Judge Dennis Donovan delayed sentence in both cases until a probation investigation is completed.

In federal court in Minneapolis Monday, Judge Matthew M. Joyce levied a $1,100 fine against Isadore Goldstein for failing to buy a $50 federal gambling stamp.

George MacKinnon, district attorney, said Goldstein also had failed to remit federal excise taxes on bets he took during February and March 1953. Goldstein earlier had been fined $100 for gambling after his arrest by Minneapolis police.

Marshfield Man Held for Trial in Grandfather's Death

ASHLAND, Wis. (AP)—A 20-year-old Marshfield, Wis., man termed a Marine Corps deserter by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, today was held for April trial in the slaying of his grandfather.

Rodney W. Herman, 20, pleaded innocent Monday to a first degree murder charge. Judge Lewis Charles ordered Herman held without bond for the next term of Price County Circuit Court.

Herman is charged in the shooting of Norris Welch, 80, a Spanish-American War veteran, on April 24, 1953. The FBI arrested Herman last week near Richmond, Ill., where he had been working at a gasoline station during the 18 months he was sought.

Salem Woman Admits Killing Mate, Gets Life

SALEM, Mass. (AP)—Mrs. Lorraine Clark, 28-year-old mother of three children who confessed publicly yesterday that she killed her husband, begins a life term in prison today.

She is in the state's reformatory for women at Framingham, where she was sentenced yesterday when she pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the shooting-stabbing of her husband Melvin, 29, at their

Lake Attitash home in Amesbury. The life sentence was mandatory but she will be eligible for parole in 15 years.

Meanwhile, a self-described admirer of the comely widow, Arthur G. Jackson, 25, of Haverhill, is scheduled to go on trial today in the same Salem courtroom where Mrs. Clark's trial came to a surprise ending soon after its start. Jackson is under indictment on four counts of adultery with Mrs. Clark.

One of the indictments names a date between last April 10 — when the state contended Clark was killed — and June 2, when his decomposed body was found on a salt marsh on the banks of the Merrimack River.

Mrs. Clark made the decision to plead guilty in order to spare her three children from future knowledge of the details of the case, according to her counsel, C. Francis Leary.

The children are two girls, 8 and 7, and a boy, 5.

Dist. Atty. Hugh A. Cregg asked

Superior Court Judge Charles Fairhurst to impound the confession he said Mrs. Clark signed. And Cregg said later that he would impound the document himself if the court didn't order it held secret.

Cregg earlier had described the confession as "too lurid" for public disclosure before the trial.

Cregg, however, has repeatedly denied published reports about wife swapping among the Clarks' circle of friends.

Highway Slaughter Utterly Appalling!

When is it going to stop? Readers of The Daily News have become utterly appalled at the day-by-day slaughter on Southeastern Minnesota and Western Wisconsin highways during the last three weeks.

The front pages of this newspaper have thrown screaming death and destruction of life and limb at area residents in huge bundles the past 21 days—and still it goes on.

If it's statistics you want, here they are—they're staggering.

Twelve persons dead and 31 others critically injured in 16 highway accidents in which 21 cars were demolished. On eight separate occasions, glaring banner headlines on the front page of The Daily News have proclaimed "death" to one or more persons.

Let us remind you that these tales of injury and blood are gathered from a single three-week period from the first week in November through last Sunday. Twenty-one days and 12 deaths.

These were accidents occurring solely in The Daily News circulation area and every one of them is classed as one of the "spectacular" kind — they do not include the countless minor mishaps — smashed fenders, front-end damage and near-injuries — which occur every day. Each of the injured in our 21-day tale of death was listed as "critical." The deaths are sickening in their rate.

Throughout the very short 21-day period, only five days were free of either a serious accident or a fatality—none of them consecutive.

Thought of the many homes where despair and sorrow are now holding forth, the thousands of dollars of damage and the gallons of human blood needlessly spilled leaves one with a frustrating sickness inside.

The most disparaging fact about the 12 dead and 31 injured is that most of the accidents were caused, apparently, by driver carelessness.

Take a look at the toll day-by-day and here we list only the most spectacular of these tragic crashes.

Nov. 28—eight persons seriously hurt in head-on crash on Stockton Hill.

Nov. 26—two killed and another seriously injured in head-on crash at Red Wing.

Nov. 25—two killed and a third seriously hurt in head-on crash near Utica. Twenty-three-year-old Keith Fix, who had just seen his first-born son, never had a chance Thanksgiving Day.

Nov. 23—one killed and four seriously injured at Trempealeau, Wis., when one car skidded into the path of another.

Nov. 21—two seriously injured at Wabasha. One driving without a license—the other ran through a red light.

Nov. 18—two killed and three critically hurt near Millston, Wis., when five hunters were struck by a semi as they sat with no lights on.

Nov. 14—pedestrian killed as he walked along the highway near Marshland, Wis.

Nov. 12—one killed and one seriously injured in a two-car crash near Spring Valley, Minn.

Nov. 11—seven-year-old child killed at Dresbach, Minn., when she ran into the side of a passing truck on the same spot where her father died four years ago.

Nov. 5—two die when their car goes out of control on Stockton Hill.

Stockton Hill alone has claimed two lives and seriously maimed nine more during the last 21 days.

And so it has gone. Death and injury without cessation on our area highways in just 21 days. Twelve dead and 31 critically injured. When is it going to stop?

We at The Daily News plead with our area motorists—slow down on the highways, take it easy on these icy days and above all, watch where you're going.

If you don't, one of these days The Daily News is going to carry your name on the front page in banner headlines.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Tycoon Howard Hughes, says Neil Morgan, flew his giant Constellation airliner to a San Diego powwow, but returned to Hollywood by car with an aide. Weeks later an operations officer from the San Diego airport managed to get Hughes on the phone, demanding angrily. "Watcha want us to do with that blank Constellation of yours?" There was a long pause, then Hughes murmured sheepishly, "So that's where I left it! I knew I left it somewhere!"

New Deal Making Comeback in N.Y.

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK —It is expected that men in public office will have as their personal assistants those with whom they have had long associations. Therefore, it is not surprising that Gov.-elect Averell Harriman's announcements of his first appointments would give the impression that the state of New York would become a refuge for New Dealers out-of-a-job.

What does make it surprising is that Averell Harriman's friends are already beating the drums for his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for president. Therefore, he cannot afford to spend the next two years quarrelling with the Democrats in New York State.

HARRIMAN'S POSITION as governor is bound to be awkward. He faces a Republican legislature that will cooperate with him as little as possible. His own election was by so narrow a margin as to be attributable to the Republican McCarthyites who did not vote at all or who cut Irving lives because he refused to declare how he would vote on the question of the McCarthy censure. Out of more than 5,000,000 votes cast for governor, Harriman won by 12,272, which is, indeed, a trifling margin still subject to recount.

In the face of such obvious weakness, Harriman's first appointments are all favorable to the Liberal party; not a single one has been announced as from the Democratic party up to the moment of writing.

The appointment of Paul H. Appleby to be in charge of the budget was particularly startling to organization Democrats. Rep. Bradley of Michigan stated in the House on July 18, 1946, that Appleby had produced this piece of wisdom in a communication over his signature:

"A man in the employ of the government had just as much right to be a member of the Communist Party as he had to be a member of the Democratic or Republican party."

SUBSEQUENTLY, Appleby wrote a long letter to Robert Morris, Chief Counsel for the Internal Security Committee, dated July 14, 1953, in which he sought to explain such an obviously erroneous statement away. The gist of his answer is in this sentence:

"As I recall it, rather indistinctly out of the whole body of business in which I participated so many years ago, the statement in question was a sentence contained within an interdepartmental memorandum written hastily as a way of treating a gossipy kind of charge of Communist affiliation or leaning in the case of an employee known to me as not a Red, but as having other shortcomings which limited his responsible usefulness."

If that explains away the first statement, then words have lost their meaning. Appleby further says:

"In attempting to strike down the unwarranted charge, I wrote too incisively and sweepingly, without making my whole position clear."

Surely a responsible public official does not scribble sentences of this sort in the course of public business. Appleby's statement: "Even so, my memo was less idiotic at the time it was written than it would be now..." does not help to give the impression of a serious-minded, responsible official who is to be entrusted with the budget of New York State. Perhaps this kind of jousting with words is regarded as clever among the bureaucrats in Washington, but in New York State, the sense of humor is of a different order, and many Democrats are seriously worried lest Mr. Appleby makes it difficult for them to hold what they have won. This state could easily swing Republican and elect a Republican senator in 1956.

Again, Harriman appointed Dr. Isidor Lubin and a panel of ex-Washington officials to be in charge of labor matters in this state. Dr. Lubin is an accomplished statistician, associated with the New Deal, and was recommended by Alex Rose of the Liberal party. The appointment is regarded as the pay-off to the Liberal party for endorsing the Democratic candidates. The Democrats, it seems, were also not consulted in the matter of the appointment of Myles Lane as a sort of adviser on Communist matters.

A few more New Deal appointments in this state and the Democrats will wonder whether their organization is to have any say at all. It would then mean that the politicians of both parties would combine in the state legislature, to reduce the governor to size. This could have national repercussions affecting the 1956 presidential election.

Methods of Assembling McCarthy Petitions Unique

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—If the Senate ever investigates how the so-called "ten million Americans" are mobilizing McCarthy petitions—which it probably won't—some interesting extracurricular methods would turn up.

In order to see how these signatures against censoring McCarthy are being collected, a representative of this column dropped in on one of the hottest Joe-must-stay centers just outside Boston. The atmosphere smacked somewhat of a football rally with undertones of the Nazi-Communist fear technique in the background.

In Newton, Mass., a loudspeaker in the home of Francis Monahan, prominent local lawyer, at 1045 Center Street, blared forth invitations to passers-by to come in and sign up. From listening to the loudspeaker it appeared that the petitions were against Communism rather than for McCarthy.

At nearby Woburn, Mass., 16 stores and places of business near the Woburn town square were listed in an ad in the Woburn Times where citizens were urged to go in and sign up. The places were: Guy's Smoke Shop, Mac's Smoke Shop, North Woburn Package Store, Dean's Lunch, Joe Wells' gas station, Jerry Bennett's gas station, Bob McGuinness' South End Diner, Charlie Annas' Candyland, Larry Murphy's drug store, Joe Kelleher's taxi office, Gavin's Market, Doherty's Package store, Annese's Store, Patrick J. Gill & Sons, Leanos Restaurant and Woburn Daily Times.

McCarthy Headquarters In Boston, McCarthy headquarters are located at the Bradford Hotel, where four or five ladies of middle age and fervent disposition were handing out McCarthy literature, chiefly copies of a Chicago Tribune story lauding McCarthy written by Willard Edwards, his most devoted journalistic booster. The reprints usually sell for $1 for six or $25 per thousand, but the citizens for McCarthy were handing them out lavishly.

They were also handing out petitions to anyone who would help circulate them.

"How are these signatures authenticated?" the ladies were asked. "Don't they have to be notarized?"

"No," was the reply. "We do that. You just send them in. We do the rest."

Down at the bottom of the petition, in extremely small print, much smaller than anything else, were these words: "Important! Be sure that all signatures and addresses are bona fide."

"What happens if we sign twice?" McCarthy committee members were asked. "There's nothing to prevent it?"

This question was met with a blank stare and a shrug. "I don't know," was the final answer. "You're not supposed to."

Citizens Against McCarthy These usually pleasant ladies can be just the opposite on occasion.

Down the hall from McCarthy's headquarters on the fifth floor of the Bradford Hotel is the studio of station WJDA where Sherman Feller, disc jockey, holds forth over the airways. Mr. Feller is a gentleman with a sense of humor plus more courage than may be good for him in an atmosphere charged with pro-McCarthy tension. When Mr. Feller saw a "Citizens for McCarthy" sign on a door near his studio, he promptly put a sign over his own door which read: "Citizens Against McCarthy."

A few minutes later, the sign was torn down. So Feller took to the airways to express his views on McCarthy. A barrage of mail followed, most of it violent and unprintable.

"My phone calls have gone up 150 per cent since I got in this McCarthy kick," he says. "The people who are against him don't bother to call me as much as the people who are for him. But when they do, they're at least civil. The others just call up and cuss me out."

"I took some of my mail in to McCarthy's headquarters to show the ladies how vicious their friends could be," continued Feller. "The ladies at Joe's headquarters had seemed rather nice and I thought they ought to know about the mail. But when I got in there, they swarmed around me as if I were a monster. I just had to leave. I was scared."

Spankings Make Child 'A Big Shot'

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Nobody likes war. Nobody likes a bully. Yet, when you spank a child in anger, you are, in effect, declaring war on him and warning:

"You must obey me because I am bigger and stronger than you." The child knows that already.

Your youngster doesn't lie awake nights deliberately trying to think up ways to be naughty or to aggravate you. If he gets boisterous when you visit a neighbor's home, or climbs on the furniture at the home of a fussy friend, he's merely trying to attract attention. In a moment, he is transformed from just a "little guy" into a "big shot," the center of attraction. Spanking him will only prove that he has successfully got that attention.

Then how are you going to make him behave when you are out in company?

There's an easy and very effective way, if you are willing to sacrifice a few hours of your visit for a night or two. Tell him:

"If you don't stop that, we are going home and put you to bed. Not because you're bad, but because you're tired. If you weren't tired, you wouldn't act this way."

If the tot isn't tired, he will probably settle down and become a little gentleman. However, if he continues to act up, you must follow through with your warning and take him home and to bed.

You may have to leave a gathering early one or twice, but your child will soon learn that he must be orderly when he goes visiting if he doesn't want to be whisked home before the fun is all over.

Now, right here, let me give you parents one of the most important pieces of advice I have. And this comes from my own experience in raising six children and helping raise 14 grandchildren. It is that you must uphold each other in front of your children.

Youngsters should not be made to obey blindly because of fear. Some of them are pretty hard to scare anyway. But when you tell a child to do something, your spouse should uphold you in every way possible.

If one parent says "No" and the other says "Yes," a child will simply go from one to the other to get what he wants.

How can you expect obedience in a situation like this?

QUESTION AND ANSWER A.R.: How should I treat a sty? Answer: When a sty first forms, the use of cold compresses sometimes is helpful in preventing its development. Later, hot compresses may be necessary to hasten the appearance of pus. If too much pus forms, the sty may have to be lanced.

Peru Court Levies $3 Million Fine

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Five whaling vessels of shipping magnate Aristotele Onassis' fleet must pay a three-million-dollar fine within five days, a Peruvian Navy court ruled yesterday.

Peru charged the ships, herded into the port of Paita Nov. 15 by Peruvian warships and planes, were operating within the 200-mile belt of the Pacific sea claims as territorial waters. Lawyers for Onassis have contended three of the ships were outside the 200-mile limit and that Peru's claim to waters that far out violates international law.

Measures if the fine is not paid in five days were not announced.

Dulles' 4-H Talk Answer to Knowland

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration has replied to those—including Republicans like Sen. Knowland of California—who want tougher tactics toward Communism, but in particular and in a hurry against Red China.

Secretary of State Dulles responded in a radio-television broadcast last night: The United States will try to use every peaceful means, before going any further, to get along with the Communists. "Peaceful" was the keynote of his talk, although he said this country would "react vigorously" to provocation. He did not say what he meant by reacting "vigorously."

Last January Dulles spoke of "massive retaliation" against an aggressor. Last night, although firm, he was more restrained.

He took cracks at the Russians and Red Chinese. And, just as in January, he emphasized the vast power of this country and its allies to meet any attack. But he added:

"This does not mean that any local war would automatically be turned into a general war with atomic bombs being dropped all over the map."

This was a little more detailed insight into his thinking than he provided in January when his failure to explain in some detail what he meant brought him criticism here and abroad.

Dulles' speech last night was made at a time when this country is protesting the imprisonment of 13 Americans as spies, with sentences ranging from four years to life, by the Chinese Communists.

Without specifying this in his talk, Dulles called the Chinese "provocative." But if the administration has any plans for freeing those Americans, beyond protesting their imprisonment, Dulles did not reveal them. The Chinese have ignored the protests.

Knowland, the Republican senate leader, and therefore one of President Eisenhower's chief captives in Congress, last week attempted to tell Eisenhower and Dulles, apparently without consulting either, how to treat the Red Chinese for jailing the Americans.

He proposed a blockade of the China coast—an act which might lead to war—with the help of America's U.N. allies if they'd go along but without them if necessary.

Dulles answered Knowland directly, without naming him, by repudiating his two proposals of blockade and go-it-alone, at least for the present. He said:

"Our nation will react, and react vigorously, in the protection of our citizens, but without allowing ourselves to be provoked into action which would be a violation of our international obligations and which would impair the alliance of the free nations."

"Our first duty is to exhaust peaceful means of sustaining our international rights and those of our citizens, rather than now resorting to war action such as naval and air blockade of Red China."

Not long before making his blockade suggestion, Knowland denounced the idea that there could be peaceful coexistence with Communism and demanded a congressional investigation of the whole Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policy.

Eisenhower previously had expressed hope for peaceful coexistence. The President shortly afterwards explained that while he hoped the West and Communism could exist side by side he was not blind to Communism's long-range goal of world domination.

Last night Dulles said he hoped the West and Communism could get along too, but that this didn't mean he was asleep at the switch either.

So a good deal of Dulles' talk, which had been described by the State Department as a major foreign policy speech, was taken up with answering Eisenhower's captain in the Senate.

Except for the emphasis on America's peaceful intentions, plus the answers to Knowland, there was little in Dulles' speech on American foreign policy not already known.

Need to Help Destitute Greater Than Last Year

From observation, it is apparent that this Christmas season the need to help the poor and destitute is even greater than last year. On Thanksgiving Day in Minneapolis, where the Salvation Army prepared a holiday dinner for 1,200 persons, 1,600 of them—some of them entire families—were lined up along the street.

In the Nov. 26 edition of The Daily News, it was announced that the Goodfellows Club, an organization originated and sponsored by The Daily News, had opened its campaign. One of its paragraphs stressed the need this way: "When the Goodfellows put a warm coat on a youngster's back, sturdy shoes on his feet and over-shoes for protection, the child is on his way to a happier, healthier Christmas."

We also agree with one excerpt from the fine editorial on the same day—"Let's Keep Santa Claus as Well as a Crib in the Home."—We can see no need why there cannot be both Santa Claus and the crib in the home, especially if the objective is to teach little ones about God.

Often good people, and the Almighty knows there are many of them in our midst judging from the response shown in every charity drive, become weary of well-doing, never pausing to consider what they have done for one of the little ones in the way of offering them a much-needed and worthy gift. Their kind acts will not be forgotten.

At this moment of writing, I am reminded of the story of a poor, godly cobbler, who made shoes in the old days. One night he dreamed that Christ was coming to his humble shop. He got up early the next morning to gather green boughs to decorate his shop, so that it would be an appropriate place to welcome so great a guest.

All that happened during the morning, however, was the arrival of an old man asking for rest. The cobbler, noticing his worn shoes, said, "I'll give you a new pair of my sturdiest shoes." Later in the day, an old woman, under a heavy load of fagots, came in and the cobbler gave her food he had prepared for God's visit.

As the shades of night began to fall, there came to the shop a lost child, crying bitterly. The shoemaker was annoyed because it was necessary to leave his shop in order to take the child home, for it lived on the opposite side of the city. When he returned he was sure that he had missed the Lord.

Sadly, he relived the moments he was sure would have happened. The knock, the call, the pulled latch, the lighted face, the offered cup and then breaking bread with the Lord. The cobbler cried, "Why is it Lord, that your feet delay? Have you forgotten this was the day?"

Then he heard a soft voice: "Lift up your heart for I kept my word. Three times I came to your friendly door. Three times my shadow was on your floor. I was the beggar with bruised feet. I was the woman you gave to eat. I was the child on the homeless street."

Live Stock Show Picking Grand Champion Steer

CHICAGO (AP)—The International Live Stock Exposition reaches one of its most exciting moments today with the naming of the show's grand champion steer.

This is the moment that can bring riches as well as honor to the winner. Last year's grand champion brought a record $20,100 at auction.

One of the prime competitors for the big award is 16-year-old Janice Hullinger of Manly, Iowa, whose 1,080 pound Aberdeen-Angus, "Shorty," won the junior grand championship Saturday.

The first grand championship in open competition at the International was named Monday in the sheep show. Purdue University won the wether grand championship on a Southdown named "Purdue's Bollermaker," a 100-pound spring lamb.

The top titles in the grain and hay show also were bestowed after an earlier hassle which resulted in the naming of a second corn king.

The 1955 wheat king of North America is Elson Baur of Unionville, Mich., a newcomer in the exposition's grain show. He won the crown on Horkin, a soft white winter variety of grain. It weighed 61.2 pounds to the bushel. The reserve wheat champion is Fred Elmquist of Potter, Neb., who showed a Cheyenne variety, a hard red winter wheat.

The new corn king is Willard C. Kirk, 48, of Jeffersonville, Ohio. In the first day of judging Kirk was reserve champion, and the title was briefly held by two brothers, Paul Karsk, 67, and Arnold, 64, of Pecatonica, Ill.

Their title was taken from them and they were disqualified after other exhibitors objected, claiming the Karsk sample had glued kernels. The brothers admitted they had glued a few of the original kernels that fell from two ears of corn, and said that this was not an uncommon practice.

Kirk, a bachelor, operates a 350 acre livestock and grain farm about 48 miles southwest of Columbus, Ohio. He won the corn crown in 1951.

Party trick: Add a little curry powder to that canned cream of chicken soup and accompany it with salted almonds instead of the usual crackers. Elegant!

For The First Time in the history of the International Live Stock show, three girls' entries were winners in the finals of the junior grand champion steer contest at Chicago. Posing with their animals are, left to right, Ardyce Haring, 17, Franklin, Neb., whose Hereford "Cornhuskers

Milk Delivery Boys Stop Name-Calling

TOKYO (AP)—Seven milk delivery boys at a small dairy store here formed a union and handed their employer a list of demands for better pay, food, shorter hours and a promise to stop calling them "bakayaro" (stupid fools). The employer agreed to all demands.

Willard C. Kirk, Jeffersonville, Ohio, appears with samples of his corn that won the title of corn king at the International Hay and Grain show in Chicago. The Karsk brothers, of Pecatonica, Ill., were chosen corn kings, but were disqualified after it appeared some kernels on the winning ear had been glued in place. (AP photo)

Faith Lutheran Holds Dedication

Chancel memorials were dedicated at Faith Lutheran Church Sunday morning.

It was the second in a series of three special services. Two acolytes were invested and several persons were confirmed and received as members.

Before the sermon of the morning, two acolytes, Earl Drenckhahn Jr. and Earl Christenson, dressed in new black robes, marched to the chancel where the Rev. Webster Clement dedicated them for their office of assistants in the church. Jerry Briesath was installed an acolyte last Sunday.

Following the installation, Mrs. William Ertl, president of the Evening Missionary Society, and Mrs. Dan Fetke, past president, unveiled lectern and pulpit parameters for the dedication service. William Plate Sr., with a new candlelighter and extinguisher, Melvin Plate with a seven-branched candelabra, and Arnold Plate with another seven-branched candelabra then came to the altar. These memorials were dedicated by the pastor, one in memory of Mrs. William Plate, who died recently, and the other in honor of William Plate Sr. The candelabra, candle lighter, candles and lighter caps were the gifts to Faith Church by the Plate families, their neighbors, relatives and friends.

Altar parameters for the Advent and Lenten seasons were gifts of the Evening Missionary Society.

two collection plates by Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bingold, son and daughter, as memorials to a son and brother; two collection plates by Mrs. William O. Miller and sister, Miss Florence Sterbenz, in memory of their father and mother, and an alms basin by Mrs. Axel Johnson and family in memory of the late Axel Johnson. A large brass cross was given by the members of the Evening Missionary Society in memory of all members of Faith Church living and dead. Total cost of these brass furnishings and the dossal exceeds $700.

Englishmen Smoke Cigarettes Longer? Or Is It Shorter?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Englishmen don't smoke as many cigarettes as Americans, but because of the relatively high price in England, they smoke them longer.

Dr. Alexander G. Gilliam of the National Cancer Institute reported this in discussing the possible relationship between cigarette smoking and lung cancer.

He told the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States that recorded mortality from lung cancer in England is over twice that observed in the United States, although per capita consumption of cigarettes is "considerably greater" in this country.

Woman Sailor Needs Tow to Reach Port

OLD POINT COMFORT, Va. (AP)—Mrs. Ann Davison didn't quite make it all the way to Norfolk from New York in her one-woman sloop as she had planned, but she didn't miss it much.

The courageous Englishwoman, who left New York Nov. 22 expecting to sail her craft, the Felicity Ann, into Norfolk in five days at the most, needed seven before she finally reached port here last night at 10:30 p.m. A seagoing fishing trawler had to tow her the final 70 miles.

Bad weather gave both Mrs. Davison and her 23-foot sloop a buffeting, throwing her badly off schedule. So when the trawler, the 200-ton Sea Hawk skippered by Capt. H. W. Gibbs, of Hampton, came along early yesterday morning and offered assistance, the lady said a reluctant "Yes."

The trawler took the Felicity Ann under tow about 30 miles off Cape Henry and tied up at the Virginia Marine Service at Phoebus 13 hours later.

Mrs. Davison, who sailed in the Felicity Ann from England to New York last year, said she was "tired and wet but otherwise all right."

"There was nothing really glamorous about the incident," she said modestly. "I am very pleased to hear people were concerned about my safety. It's nice to know someone cares."

As soon as her sloop gets a few minor repairs she plans to set out to sea again — this time to Florida and the Bahamas, and all alone again, of course.

Red Chinese Reject New U.S. Protest

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—U.S. Consul General Franklin C. Gowen said today Red Chinese representatives refused to accept a new protest — couched in the "strongest possible" terms — against Peiping's imprisonment of 13 Americans as spies.

Gowen said he delivered the protest orally Monday night to Red Chinese Consul General Chen Ping at a Geneva hotel. Their meeting, which lasted an hour, followed Communist rejection of a similar protest delivered in Peiping by British diplomats acting on behalf of the United States.

A consulate spokesman, describing Gowen's protest as "the strongest possible," said he stressed the imprisonment of the Americans was "a flagrant violation" of the Korean truce agreement and Geneva conventions on war prisoners.

The 13, including 11 U.S. airmen and two Army-employed civilians, were captured by the Reds during the Korean War. Peiping announced recently they had been jailed for terms up to life on what the United States has branded as false spy charges.

Gowen said the Red Chinese representative took down his protest word for word and then said he could not accept it.

Cowboy Hero Breaks Tradition, Kisses Blonde

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The small fry may cry in their corn flakes when they learn this, but Wild Bill Hickok is making a movie in which he helps raid a gambling house and does some torrid smooching with a blonde.

As any juvenile within range of a TV set knows, Wild Bill is young Guy Madison. He is currently starring in a movie called "Five Against the House." It's a modern story about five college students who rob Harold's Club in Reno.

When I heard about the plot, I mused over to Columbia Studios to demand an accounting. I found Madison looking almost naked without his boots, chaps and Stetson. He wore slacks and a fancy-dude pink shirt.

He hastily explained that he plays an unwilling accomplice in the Reno rustling, being forced to go through with it at the point of a gun. It seems that his buddy, a fellow veteran of Korea, is off his trolley and makes Guy and two others accompany him.

"I don't think the effect will be too bad," he opined. "A gun is shown only once, and then sketchily. The job is pulled off by psychology—the psychology of fear. It is very well planned — so much so that Harold's has changed its policy of handling money in order to forestall such a job."

"In the end, I give the money back to the cops and it's all square between them and me."

But the smooching may raise some eyebrows. It used to be that a movie cowpoke could kiss his horse but didn't dare daily with the opposite sex. In his TV role, Madison is never allowed any romance.

"I don't think there are any hard and fast rules against it anymore," he remarked. "TV has done away with that."

For his sake, I hope he's right. Because I watched him do a sizzling scene with Kim Novak that even made the camera shake. Anyway, one of the lights attached to it overheated and burned the gauze filter.

Miss Novak, dressed in a low-cut sequin gown, slinked into his college dormitory and announced she would accept his offer of marriage. Whereupon he slipped off her coat and planted 13—I counted "em—kisses on her neck and face.

Mail Backs Stand Against Censure, Sen. Young Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Young (R-ND) reports that his mail is running about three to one in favor of his stand against censure of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis). Young announced a week ago that he would vote against censure.

The mail includes letters both from his home state and from other areas of the country.

The North Dakota senator told a newsman today that he intends to take the Senate floor to speak on the resolution of censure proposed by the six-man special committee headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah).

"I intend to criticize Sen. McCarthy during my speech on his criticism of the special committee headed by Sen. Watkins," Young said. "However, I do not intend to vote for the resolution to censure Sen. McCarthy."

At the same time, Young declined to say what he would do about any amendments which may be offered. One is a proposal by Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) that the Senate also consider censuring McCarthy for his criticism of Watkins and the select committee.

Young said the pending resolution to censure McCarthy deals with an important provision of the federal Constitution—that of freedom of speech, including the right to criticize.

Meanwhile, Sen. Langer (R-ND) gave no indication of how he intends to vote on the censure resolution.

Langer said he is listening to all the evidence and is not ready to announce his stand.

Langer's office said it is not keeping any record of pro or con letters on the subject.

Strike Averted, Chrysler Set For Competition

DETROIT (AP)—A Chrysler strike was averted today, making certain a full-scale automobile market battle among the industry's "Big Three."

Negotiators for Chrysler and the CIO United Auto Workers reached an agreement in the dawn hours after 19 hours of marathon sessions.

The settlement preserved Chrysler's place in the 1955 car market. A strike could have shut down all Chrysler's operations, idling 150,000 men and leaving the big competitive battle to Ford and General Motors alone.

The Chrysler settlement came in the literal last hour, actually 50 minutes before the 7 a.m. deadline. It was announced by weary negotiators at 6:10 a.m.

An issue were contract terms for 850 office workers at Chrysler's key automotive body division.

Robert W. Conder, Chrysler vice president in charge of industrial relations, and Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the UAW, said in their statement:

"The notice of strike has been indefinitely postponed."

The agreement said salaries of office workers at the automotive division will be covered by applicable provisions of the agreement for salaried engineers negotiated by the Briggs Manufacturing Co. before Chrysler purchased the Briggs automotive plants earlier this year.

The modifications cover bargaining procedure and seniority.

Other contract provisions in effect when Chrysler purchased the automotive division from Briggs will be continued.

15 of 40-Man Crew Drown as British Ship Sinks

LONDON (AP)—The British freighter Tresillian sank in the Irish Sea today under the hammering of winds of hurricane force and at least 15 of her 40-man crew were drowned.

Other ships plucked 19 survivors and 3 dead men from the water in perilous rescue operations and reported sighting 12 more bodies floating face down. Hope for the half dozen others aboard was slight. One of the bodies recovered was that of the master of the 7,372-ton vessel, identified as a Capt. Winter.

The known death toll of seamen in the five-day storm that sank four other ships in waters around the British Isles mounted to 37.

The Tresillian, bringing a cargo of grain to England from Canada, heeled over and went down 44 miles off Cork, Ireland. The crew of 40 went over the side into mountainous waves. The ship's owners, the Peninsular & Oriental Steamship Co., said there were no passengers aboard.

While winds with gusts of up to 100 miles an hour whistled from Ireland to the Netherlands, two other ships were missing and feared to be in serious trouble.

Badger Professor Upholds Right to Pick Debate Topics

CHICAGO (AP)—A University of Wisconsin faculty member is one of a committee of speech professors who said they will not take the subject of U. S. recognition of Red China off the list of debate topics for college students.

The educators said in a statement they are "convinced that distrust of free speech is distrust of democracy itself." The statement was released by the Speech Association of America's committee on intercollegiate debate and discussion.

The statement added that the committee "unanimously reaffirmed the results of the nation referendum of college debate director by which the proposition was determined and declined to designate an alternate question."

Several colleges, including the U.S. military and naval academies, banned it.

State Indian Agencies Start Consolidation

BEMIDJI, Minn. (AP)—Agency offices serving nearly 20,000 Minnesota Indians will be consolidated here effective Wednesday.

In anticipation of the Dec. 1 deadline set by the U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs, J. W. Kauffman of Cass Lake, superintendent of the Consolidated Chippewa Agency there, moved with 23 employees Monday to Bemidji.

Kauffman expects to be joined today by three employees of the Red Lake Indian Agency office. The Red Lake office and Chippewa office will combine into the new "Minnesota Indian Agency." Kauffman will head the agency.

The consolidation was ordered by the Bureau of Indian Affairs as an economy measure. It was opposed by some Indians and by Cass Lake and Red Lake commercial organizations.

The agency will take over Sioux affairs from the area office of the Bureau of Indian Affairs in Minneapolis.

Minnesota's 10 Indian reservations are Red Lake, Leech Lake, Nett Lake, Grand Portage, White Earth, and Mille Lacs in northern Minnesota; and the Upper Sioux, Lower Sioux, Prairie Island, and Prior Lake in southern Minnesota.

Army Decides On Court-Martial For Maj. Nugent

FORT SILL, Okla. (AP)—Maj. Ambrose H. Nugent of Merrill, Wis., will be tried on a general court-martial for alleged collaboration while a POW in North Korea.

No date or site of the court-martial has been announced, but sources close to the Army indicated it would be held in January.

The decision to convene the court was made Monday by Maj. Gen. Edward T. Williams, commander of Fort Sill's artillery center.

The Army said it would try Nugent, a 44-year-old World War II combat veteran on 13 counts of collaborating with the enemy. White sources said its case is based on statements from 130 witnesses.

Nugent is accused of turning against fellow prisoners and his own country by thwarting escape attempts, making propaganda broadcasts and signing surrender leaflets denouncing United States action in helping defend South Korea.

Nugent was assigned to recruiting work in southern Illinois before serving in Korea and Japan. While Nugent was a prisoner for three years following his capture in 1950, his wife, Olga, lived at Nashville, Ill. Later she lived with friends at University City, a St. Louis suburb. A German war bride, Mrs. Nugent became a naturalized U.S. citizen while her husband was confined in North Korea.

After his liberation in 1953, Nugent said he had committed "no treasonable acts" and had made propaganda broadcasts solely to save 72 fellow prisoners from execution.

He will be the fourth American tried by court-martial as a result of charges growing out of the Korean conflict. The others, all convicted, included Cpl. Edward Dickenson, Cracker's Neck, Va., 10 years imprisonment, Cpl. Claude Yates, Kermitt, Texas, life imprisonment later commuted to 20 years, and Lt. Col. Harry Fleming, Racine, Wis., ordered dismissed from service.

An Apology

The Daily News doesn't really think there are any Communists in Buffalo County even though we said so in Monday's issue.

And we herewith apologize to the Buffalo County Community Council which will meet at the Nelson community auditorium Dec. 6 at 8 p.m.

Because of a typographical error, we said "The Buffalo County Communist Council will meet Dec. 6" when of course it should have been "Community Council."

State Conservation Supervisor Resigns

ST. PAUL (AP)—Resignation of Daniel B. Magraw, St. Paul, administrative services supervisor of the Conservation Department, effective Dec. 10, was announced today by Chester S. Wilson, commissioner of conservation.

Magraw assisted in the reorganization of the business operations of the Minnesota Highway Department before joining the Conservation Department in 1952.

Expectant Mother Outpaces Stork, Wins Double Prize

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Mrs. Dale Lipsey and the stork staged a 275-mile race from Luverne, Minn., to a hospital here. Mrs. Lipsey won and got a double prize.

She was reported "doing very fine" today after prematurely giving birth to twins. The twin daughters, who weighed 2 pounds, 14 ounces and 3 pounds, 1 ounce, were reported in fair condition in an incubator today.

Mrs. Lipsey's husband is a foreman for a local construction company. The Lipseys were moving to Lincoln last Friday after the husband had completed some construction work in Luverne.

Mrs. Lipsey drove the family car and her husband pulled a trailer with another car.

The family, including three boys, stopped at a Lincoln cafe to eat. "When we got to the cafe I knew I had to find a hospital," Mrs. Lipsey said. "But we didn't even know where a hospital was. We asked a traffic cop, who directed us." The twins arrived Friday.

"I'm glad we made it," commented the relieved father.

October Traffic Deaths Below Figure for '53

CHICAGO (AP)—October's traffic deaths dropped below last year's figure, the 10th monthly decline in a row, the National Safety Council reported today.

The 2 per cent decrease for the month was the smallest since January and the 3,580-death total was the largest for any month in the year, the council added.

For the first 10 months this year, the total of 29,350 deaths was 6 per cent fewer than for the like period in 1953.

For the first nine months of the year, travel mileage was 3 per cent higher for the country as a whole. This gave a rate of 6.2 deaths per 100 million miles, or the lowest on record for the period, the council said.

For the 10 months, 96 cities still had perfect records, the three largest being Sioux Falls, S.D. (52,700); Aurora, Ill. (50,600); and Chicopee, Mass. (49,200).

Unused, Flabby Muscles Have Affinity for Fat

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Muscles shape the body. Unused muscles become soft and flabby—and flabby muscles have an affinity for fat. Worse, a lack of normal tone in the big muscles results in lessened well-being.

The way you habitually move and use your body can help maintain muscle tone or allow muscles to slump into tired, unlovely lines. Try this series of tests, suggested by Dr. Bess Mensendieck in her excellent new book, "Look Better, Feel Better."

To make this practical rather than mere guess work, act out the movements. Here we go...

In rising from a chair, do you push yourself up by using the chair arms, help yourself by placing hands on thighs, or do you use the big thigh muscles to lift? Just for fun, get up from your chair in order to check on yourself.

How often in the course of daily movements do you bend your body sideways?—seldom, occasionally, frequently? When you bend forward, is your abdomen relaxed, bulging loosely, or are these muscles drawn in? When you sit down, do you shift to one side, slump back in the chair seat or distribute weight evenly on your sitting bones? While standing or walking are buttock muscles relaxed or held tight? Mark your answers before reading the next paragraph.

In all these questions, the perfect way to perform the movement is the last one given. If you got A for Action, not only do you move beautifully, but you are guarding your body through correct natural movements.

Dr. Mensendieck emphasizes that the cause of sag, bulge and ache is due to improper body use and not advancing age.

If you have heavy thighs, this indicates that you may not be using your thigh muscles in your daily movements. By the way, watch the movements of an athlete. It is only when playing the part of an older person that she will use her arms to help herself out of the chair.

In bending, you should draw in the long abdominal muscles, otherwise the abdomen will bulge. When you sit, you should use your sitting bones, else you invite backache. In raising your arms, you should be conscious of the muscles near the end of the shoulder. If not, you will encourage drooping shoulders rather than squared ones.

The Mensendieck System stresses natural, easy-to-do movement schemes, scientifically designed to revitalize specific muscles and joints.

Series of Eight Children's Films To Be Sponsored Here by AAUW

A children's film series will be brought to Winona this winter by the Winona Branch of AAUW as a community project. Eight specially selected films—chosen for general appeal to children—will be shown at the Winona Theater for eight consecutive Saturday matinees, beginning Jan. 8.

The eight films are Rudyard Kipling's "Kim"; "Young Bess," a film about the young girl who later became queen of England; "The Stratton Story," a true story about a courageous baseball player; Gene Stratton Porter's loved story, "The Girl of the Limberlost," a documented film, "Savage Splendor"; Donald O'Connor in "I Love Melvin"; "Fearless Fagan," the hilarious story of a lion in the Army, and Fred MacMurray in a film about a horse called "Smoky."

Shown with the films will be a selected program of cartoons and shorts.

The film series for children, Mrs. L. L. Korda, chairman of the fellowship committee whose special project is the film series, stated, is being offered this year instead of the foreign film series for adults which has been sponsored by the organization in recent years. Winona is one of several cities in the northwest, she said, where such a children's series is being offered.

The films have the sanction of the public and parochial schools in Winona and information about the series is being sent home with each school child. Season tickets for all children through the eighth grade may be purchased from any AAUW member, or through the schools, through Dec. 15. Proceeds from the sale of tickets will be used for educational scholarships.

In previous years the Winona AAUW has been one of the top state fellowship contributors and in addition, has been able to present scholarships each year to two qualified young women in local colleges. Money for these purposes has largely been raised through the film series projects. "We are especially happy," Mrs. Korda said, "to bring this new project to the community."

In a communication to the parents, the film committee said, "This is your opportunity to show your approval of good movies brought to Winona for your children." It was also pointed out that a season ticket would be a good "toe-stuffer" for the Christmas stocking.

Serving on the film committee have been Mrs. Korda, Mrs. Milton Goldberg, Mrs. W. B. Spetch, Mrs. P. A. Mattison, Mrs. L. R. Woodworth and Mrs. B. A. Miller.

Sen. Knowland Renews Call for Naval Blockade

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Knowland (Calif.) today renewed his call for a naval blockade of Communist China as a pressure move to obtain the release of Americans held prisoners by Reds.

He was asked about Sec. of State Dulles' pronouncement on the subject Monday night. Dulles in a Chicago speech said this country will "react vigorously" to Communist provocation in Asia, but he opposed for the present any such "war action" as a blockade.

Knowland, responding with a renewal of the proposal which he first made in the Senate, nevertheless said he does not believe the "breach" between him and the Eisenhower administration is as wide as some people try to make it appear.

Honest Difference
There is "an honest difference of opinion on the steps to be taken to obtain release of the Americans," Knowland said, adding that it is a difference which needs to be expressed.

Asked if he knew what Dulles had in mind in speaking of "vigorous" measures to be taken in the matter, Knowland replied: "I'm frankly waiting to hear."

Knowland said that he felt a naval blockade would make matters "so expensive" for the Chinese Communists that the 11 American fliers and two Army civilians convicted by the Reds as "spies" would be freed. He stated the same view with regard to 26 civilians of whose imprisonment he reminded the Senate Monday. He said he believes there are a few others whom "we haven't been notified about yet."

Knowland said he doubts that another note would bring about the release of the Americans. Asked if he feels the United Nations could be helpful, he said he does not think that intervention of the U.N. would be effective if it merely "backed up our note."

U.N. Pressure Pointless
Knowland said Monday any attempt to apply pressure through the United Nations would be pointless.

And he placed in the Congressional Record the names of 26 American civilians he said also are imprisoned in China. The names had been given out before by the State Department.

"We do not know" how many others may be held, Knowland said. A dispatch from Hong Kong said the best information there was that 27 Americans are in Communist Chinese jails, not counting those captured as a result of the Korean War. These were described as persons who stayed in China for could not get out in 1949 and were subsequently arrested.

'Freedom Tank' Rider Gives Birth To Son in Iowa

SIoux CITY, Iowa (AP)—Mrs. Lila Cloud, who crashed through the Iron Curtain in a homemade "freedom tank" last year to join her husband in the United States, gave birth to a son here Monday night.

Her husband, Leonard, a Sioux City meat cutter, proudly told reporters the 7 pound, 6 ounce boy is named Dennis Franklin Cloud. Mrs. Cloud was one of eight persons who rode the "freedom tank"—a sort of homemade armored car—across the border into West Germany within sight of Red border guards on July 25, 1953.

She met her husband in Pilsen, Czechoslovakia, in 1945 where he was stationed with the U.S. Army of Occupation.

He had to return to the United States with his Army unit a short time later, but returned—a civilian—in 1949 and they were married. But his visa expired in January 1950 and the Communist government forced him to return home and leave his wife behind.

They were separated for nearly four years before Mrs. Cloud escaped and they were reunited here on Sept. 12, 1953.

Fond du Lac Boy Caught in 2nd Theft

FOND DU LAC, Wis. (AP)—Local juvenile authorities will deal with a 14-year-old Fond du Lac boy who police say was caught the second time he dipped into the safe of an Oshkosh business firm.

Oshkosh police said a firm employe caught the boy Saturday as he was reaching into the safe and the lad admitted he had taken $165 from the same safe July 27 when he entered the building to ask for a job.

Inter-American Confab Enters Final Phase

By STANFORD BRADSHAW

QUITANDINHA, Brazil (AP)—The Inter-American Economic Conference moved into its final phase today. Delegates hailed the meeting as marking a new era in relations between the United States and the 20 nations of Latin America.

This new relationship was labeled the "good partner" policy by President Eisenhower in a message to the conference. Carlos Davila, secretary general of the organization of American States, (OAS) said the gathering had been of "transcendental" importance.

Delegates pointed for adjournment Wednesday but last minute details could hold the windup over to Thursday. Most committees, however, reported the bulk of their work was already finished.

The big questions of the conference had been threshed out for presentation to a plenary session this afternoon. They included:

1. Latin America will go ahead with plans to study the possibility of creating an Inter-American bank to help finance the area's development. The bank's capital will be furnished by Latin America. The United States, which opposed the idea as unnecessary, will furnish indirect technical aid.
2. The original bank proposal, presented by Chile, called for the establishment of an institution with a capital of 1 1/2 billion dollars.
3. A special coffee committee of the Inter-American Economic and Social Council will make a detailed study of the world coffee situation. If the committee findings show a need for "international cooperation," it could prepare plans for an international coffee agreement along the lines of the present world wheat and sugar agreements.

This plan partly answers the demands of 15 Latin-American coffee-producing nations for better treatment on prices and markets. It was a compromise between them and the United States, which

Michigan-Wisconsin Natural Gas Firm Granted Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Power Commission Monday modified a July 30th order so as to give Michigan-Wisconsin Pipe Line Co., Detroit, an annual natural gas rate increase of $2,726,722, or $337,522 more than the $2,389,200 originally granted. The utility serves Wisconsin.

A commission spokesman said the modified opinion and order gives some recognition to an escalator clause contained in gas purchase contracts between Phillips Petroleum Co. and Michigan-Wisconsin which the original order had refused to allow. The commission said Michigan-Wisconsin buys all of its gas from Phillips.

The commission in September had granted in part and denied in part Michigan-Wisconsin's request for a rehearing of the July 30 decision.

Mabel School Meeting On Wednesday Evening

MABEL, Minn.—Architects who have planned a Mabel school addition, for which a $390,000 bond issue has been proposed, will discuss the new building with citizens of the Mabel Consolidated District at the high school auditorium at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

John Sweeney and Robert Kerr, St. Paul, will explain plans for the proposed new addition. The bond issue also will be aired. Questions submitted at the door in writing will be answered.

indicated it would oppose any attempt to push an immediate world coffee agreement.

3. The Latin-American nations will have recourse to consultations within the OAS when they feel their economies are unfairly affected by sudden price changes or by overproduction in the United States.

One of the resolutions, calling for talks on disposal of large surpluses, was strongly supported by Argentina, which has been concerned over U. S. wheat stocks. It recognized, however, that "the United States is seeking to dispose of its surplus stocks without affecting other nations unfavorably."

Milwaukee Man Heads Wisconsin 'Family Doctors'

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Dr. Clarence F. McDonald, of Milwaukee, has taken office as president of the Wisconsin Academy of General Practice—a society of the state's "family" doctors.

McDonald took office Monday as the academy elected new officers, selecting Dr. Raymond R. Richards, of Eau Claire, as president-elect.

Dr. Robert Purtell, of Milwaukee, was re-elected as secretary-treasurer. Dr. Edward Hougen, of Sheboygan was named speaker of congressional delegates and Dr. Leonard Rauen, Kenosha, as the vice speaker.

Drs. C. J. Reznicek, of Madison, and Joseph S. Devitt, of Milwaukee, were named delegates to the national congress.

Twenty-two members of the Academy were expelled Monday from the group for failing to log 150 hours of graduate medical work over a three-year period.

The board of directors said, however, the expulsions do not reflect on the doctors' professional abilities. It's a rule of the organization members are required to comply with in advanced study every three years.

Officials said some of the doctors probably forgot to send in their study reports and will be reinstated as soon as they prove they have completed the work.

Backstage Needs Of Ballet Pose Local Problem

If no one else in Winona knows that a major production is appearing here Wednesday evening, Roger Busdicker, vice president of the Winona Community Concert Association, in charge of concert presentation, the Winona Senior High School maintenance staff and local stage hands are acutely aware that the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo will present an evening of ballet in the high school auditorium.

The ballet program is at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday and doors of the auditorium will open at 7:30 p.m., Mr. Busdicker announced today.

A major need for the presentation of the ballet here is a stage floor clear of any slippery substance, wax, shellac or floor polish, and with any unevenness or holes filled in.

Ballerinas fear falls. Even now one of the company's ballerinas is in the hospital with a broken leg suffered in a fall on the present tour. Not only is the immediate injury to the dancer and the loss of her to the company's personnel, a disaster, but she may suffer an injury which would prevent her ever returning to the ballet field.

If possible, it is asked that the floor be sanded but at least it is required that it be washed with hot water—no soap—and in readiness for a stage call at 4 p.m. Wednesday.

All curtains and drops on the high school stage are to be removed for the company brings its own drops and scenery for 31 stage sets, all new this season as is its elaborate costuming.

The company's own switchboard for lighting effects is brought, and connected with the local lighting setup.

A company of 75 including an orchestra of 20 pieces comprises the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, and to accommodate its dancers, four or six small dressing rooms for the stars in addition to a large dressing room with 40 chairs are needed. Adequate mirrors, tables and lighting are required for make-up by this large group of dancers, and another large room is needed for the wardrobe mistress where mending and pressing of the many costumes is carried on.

Although six stage hands accompany the ballet in its travels, ten more are needed, four carpenters, four property men and two electricians, to put on this elaborate program of entertainment.

Italian War Bride Shot, Husband Sought

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A 29-year-old war bride from Italy was wounded critically Monday night and police today sought her husband who had complained earlier that his head "was throbbing again."

Mrs. Sylvia Netzel was in critical condition suffering from two bullet wounds and a scalp laceration. Police were unable to locate her husband, Robert, 30, who was credited with killing six Germans and probably killing seven others in a battle in an Italian village during World War II. The couple was married in Leghorn, Italy in 1946.

Police reported these events: Miss Gertrude Machalinski, 46, was at home with her parents when she heard a disturbance outside the house. She went outside and found Mrs. Netzel "with a bad gasp" in her head. As Miss Machalinski assisted the woman she said a car pulled up, a man jumped out and came toward them. Miss Machalinski related the man said "I'll take care of her," and fired. Mrs. Netzel slumped to the sidewalk.

As police sirens sounded the man jumped into the car and fled.

The husband's father, Frank Netzel, 60, said his daughter-in-law had not lived with his son since she returned from a visit to her native Italy two weeks ago. She said Sylvia, and the couple's 5-year-old son, Dennis, had been living with her brother.

The older Netzel said the couple met earlier in the evening and had talked over family matters without any sign of an argument. He said that later his son said "I'm going to the doctor. My head is throbbing again."

Netzel said his daughter-in-law left the house half an hour later. She was wounded 15 minutes after she left the house.

VOICE of the OUTDOORS

Gunflint Deer

The Minnesota deer season closed Sunday evening, a rather disappointing one for the southern Minnesota hunter who went into the rifle zone for deer. Unfavorable hunting conditions, unseasonable weather and lack of knowledge of deer habits under such conditions plagued most of the ventures.

However, there were groups of seasoned hunters like the four Winonans pictured above that filled and had a wonderful outing among the pines and along the lake shores. This group was deep in the Gunflint territory, where they had snow after the first three days. They got three of their deer after the snow came.

In the picture, left to right around the trailer, are Gillmer Keeler, Winona Rt. 3, Carl Bergmann, Winona Rt. 2; Otto Haake, Winona Rt. 2 and Alf Haake, 119 E. Sanborn St. They got two large bucks, eight pointers, and two nice does, the heads of which show over the trailer end board.

Most hunting parties from this area, a check today revealed, came back before Thanksgiving after spending three to five days in the woods. Most of them reported seeing plenty of deer, but complained about the lack of snow and other handicaps. Most parties did not fill.

County auditor license sales will show that the number of hunters from southern Minnesota was down definitely from other years when there was only a rifle season. Most of them reasoned that they would wait until next year when Minnesota, unquestionably, will have a shotgun season in the south half of the state.

Incidentally, Robert I. Benson, state biologist, in the current issue of The Conservation Volunteer shows that the deer population, based on aerial sampling surveys in southern Minnesota has dropped 50 per cent below 1947 figures. That was the reason there was no deer season in this sector of the state.

Big Walleyes were hitting Sunday along this sector of the river according to reports from various fishing spots. The big one of the weekend, a 12 pounder, according to entry at the Hurry Back, was caught by George Kendall of 1409 7th St. NW, Rochester. He caught it at the foot of Lake Pepin.

Another Rochester fisherman got an 11 pounder along the lock wall below the Whitman dam Sunday, according to a check-in at Bass Camp. Fishing however, was slow and most of the better fishermen were getting only sand pike. Reports from below the Dresbach and Alma dams also told of the big walleyes. Another big one entered at the Hurry Back was caught by Ray Rice, 711

W. 4th St. It weighed nine pounds, eight ounces.

Although the backwaters of some of the shallow sloughs are now coated with ice, there was little ice fishing over the weekend. The ice is rated unsafe by most fishermen. Wardens and rangers have issued warning to stay off the ice.

With the sloughs and backwaters closing, ducks that have been lingering in "closed areas" were moving out and going south or rafting up on open water. Shooting should be good for the final week of the season along the river in Iowa.

North Dakota Trapping
A note from Darby Reed, Bismarck, N. D., formerly of Wabasha, revealed that during the first week of the open season in North Dakota he caught 37 mink, 82 muskrats, nine coon and four beaver. Beaver, he contends, is a problem there. No market, and no one trapping them. They dam the creeks, causing damage, and interfere with trapping.

Darby writes that he caught five sets of toes this year as a result. He wonders what become of mink that lose their toes and makes this comment, "I never caught a mink less a set of toes or foot. Do they become so frightened that they go into their den and die? Every trapper has caught toothless rats. Everyone has heard of old three legs (referring to fox, wolves, coyotes and others.)"

Biggest Shindig For Opening of New Dallas Bank

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Much of Dallas was agog today over formal dedication tomorrow of the city's new 40-story Republic National Bank Building, tallest in these parts.

About 4,800 visiting "celebrities," the bank's press agents said, would be in town for Texas' biggest shindig since Glenn McCarthy opened his swank Shamrock Hotel in Houston.

Some of the same old cast from the Shamrock wingding was expected back, even Bob Hope, who was almost sure to have a crack about chinking on 20-dollar gold pieces.

Dessert at the dinner tonight in the huge Fair Park Automobile Building will be gold-colored ice cream in replica of the 20-dollar piece. Drinks at three bars, stretching a city block, will be on the house.

At the city's airport, "so many celebrities were arriving at one time that no one could count them all," a reporter said.

The big building, costing 25 million dollars, was plagued during construction by 21 destructive fires with estimated damage of about a half million. Recently, since completion, a water main broke on the 17th floor and flooded five stories.

Prededication viewers of the aluminum-sheathed giant compared it with New York's United Nations Building and with Washington's famed Pentagon. But a gravel-voiced east Texas hog farmer opined that "it sure would make a fine silo!"

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

What happened to me one morning shouldn't ever happen to you, I hope.

I went out into the garage to get into my 1952 automobile, which, in my opinion and in that of quite a few automobile service men, is still quite a good looking number, when I thought I heard a deep sigh.

I could have sworn it was my car that let out this mournful moan, but cars don't ordinarily sigh or cry, so perhaps it was just my imagination.

But then I looked at the radiator and I actually saw tears. I know there is no leak in the radiator. I just had anti-freeze put in for the winter and the garage man had checked it thoroughly.

Could my little car have been crying?

I got in—and there, I believe was the solution. On the seat I found the previous day's newspaper, full of announcements of the 1955 automotive beauties. What I think happened, was that my auto got bored during the night all alone out there in the garage, read the announcements and developed a terrific inferiority complex.

And is it any wonder? Look at these ads! More horsepower. Entirely new lines. New colors. New wrap-around windshields, bumpers, fenders and what-have-you.

Isn't it enough to make every 1952 or older car feel like an orphan, like something that is fit for the refuse heap?

Isn't it enough to make every owner of a car earlier than 1955 feel like a cheap old fuddy-duddy who is very apt to beat his wife or his little children?

I can just see people in town pointed to me and my car when I go in the next time and say, "There goes that cheap Brandeis with his '52 car. He ought to be ashamed of himself!"

Well, frankly I am not. Perhaps it's the same with cars as with women's clothes. If you keep them long enough they eventually get back into style again.

Here is another item, one that made me cry like a baby. Out in Las Vegas, Betty Hutton, movie actress and night club singer, bade farewell to her audience at the Desert Inn.

She cried like mad and every one of her 500 fans who were present, cried like mad. The bartenders cried like mad, the croupiers in the gambling hall cried, the waitresses cried, the bellboys cried.

Betty, with tears in her eyes, and the audience all sang "Old Lang Syne," and a terribly sad time was had by all.

Her third-husband-to-be, a recording company executive, went backstage from a ringside table. Her mother was already there.

Miss Hutton was twice previously married; first to a camera manufacturer, later to a dance director. But she is now going to be a troop mother to her daughter Lindsay, eight, who is a member of the Brownies, she says.

It is, of course, quite possible that Miss Hutton may change her mind and reappear in Hollywood or on Broadway. Those things have happened before.

But, in the meantime, won't you shed a silent tear for her—just to fill the cup of sorrow?

According to an eminent anthropologist—says an advertisement—women's foreheads are getting higher and higher all the time while men's become lower and more back-sloping.

I'm just telling you this so that you can check yourself in the mirror. It's supposed to be a sign that women are getting smarter and men dumber.

Check?

When you are baking and frosting a large quantity of cookies for holiday serving and giving, you may find it useful to put a wire refrigerator shelf into service as a cooling rack.

Litchfield Woman Seeks Share in California Estate

LITCHFIELD, Minn. (AP)—A 71-year-old pensioner here today laid formal claim to a widow's share of the fortune left by the mate she hadn't seen or heard from for 26 years.

Mrs. Edward J. Johnson got the first news of the husband she lost track of in Montana in 1928 from newspaper stories and broadcasts about his estate. Johnson died at Santa Ana, Calif., Nov. 16, from all appearances a near-penniless recluse.

Earl Abbey, public administrator at Santa Ana, reports $150,000 already accounted for in the estate.

Mrs. Johnson said she last saw her husband in Butte, Mont., 26 years ago. At that time, she left for Duluth, Minn., to care for her ailing mother and completely lost track of him.

Mrs. Johnson said she had retained Leland Olson, a Litchfield attorney, to represent her interests at hearings on the estate to be held in Santa Ana Friday.

Until her appearance, it had been thought that Mrs. A. M. Wyman of North Hollywood, Calif., Johnson's sister, and her son, Justin, 50, were the sole heirs.

Johnson owned a cafe in Bozeman, Mont., and invested profits in the stock market. Later he moved to San Francisco and became a barber at the Palace Hotel before going to Santa Ana in 1930.

The recluse built the poverty aura about himself with such devices as going on a hunger strike when bread went up two cents a loaf and riding a bicycle because cars were too expensive. Friends said that on his final illness he insisted on being placed in a ward because of the high cost of private rooms in the hospital.

Milwaukee Men Face Charges in Shooting Mishap

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Two Milwaukee men face charges in a shooting mishap in which their girl companion was wounded in the legs by a pistol bullet.

Richard Schwoegler, 32, was charged Monday with carrying a concealed weapon and criminal negligence in handling a firearm. Hugo Brinkman Jr., 22, was charged with disorderly conduct.

Miss Janet Gerard, 19, Port Washington, was shot through the legs Sunday while sitting between the two men in an auto. Schwoegler told authorities a pistol discharged accidentally as he was removing a clip of bullets. Brinkman was charged with disorderly conduct for telling officers at first that he was handling the weapon. Brinkman said he didn't want to see Schwoegler get into "further trouble."

Schwoegler's license to operate a tavern was revoked by the Common Council two weeks ago for an arrest, but not a conviction, on charges of aiding and abetting prostitution, selling beer to minors and permitting minors to loiter in the tavern.

Showgirl of '90s Finds Lots to Be Thankful for

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Trixie Friganza has been bedridden for years because of arthritis and now her eyesight is failing but on her 83rd birthday anniversary she said: "When anyone has lived as many happy years as I have, there's a lot to be thankful for, believe me."

The former showgirl, known as the "Champagne Girl" in the 1890s, has lived in retirement since 1939 at the Sacred Heart Academy. The Dominican sisters had a birthday cake for her yesterday and helped her open many cards and birthday presents.

Ramblers Make Champion 2nd Victim

Notch 62-54 Win Over Tall Knights

By RALPH REEVE
Daily News Sports Editor

Coach Johnny Nett's Cotter High Ramblers marked their second victory of the 1953-54 basketball campaign, a 62-54 conquest of the Champion Knights of Prairie du Chien, Wis., Monday night at the Catholic Rec.

After leading by only 27-25 at halftime, the Ramblers broke the game wide open in the third quarter and held a 48-36 margin going into the final eight minutes.

Campion staged a rally that closed the gap to 53-49 with 3:15 left to play, but the Ramblers were equal to the occasion and won going away.

Friday night the Ramblers journey to La Crosse for a non-conference tilt against Logan High School and a bid for their third consecutive victory of the season.

In chalking up their second decision in as many starts, the Ramblers defeated a good-sized, well-seasoned team.

Campion started a unit composed of three men 6-2 or over and matched the Ramblers in the height department.

The Knights held leads twice in the game, the first time at 2-1 after guard Jim Maloney sank in a drive-in and the last time at 21-20 in the second period.

Ken Tuccori's layup gave the Knights their 21-20 margin, but a trio of gifters by Rich Brown and two buckets from center Ken Plein vaulted the Ramblers to their 27-25 halftime margin, despite two more buckets from Tuccori, who picked off a pair of Cotter passes and drove in for crumple shots.

Six Ramblers shared in a 21-point third period burst that left Campion practically eliminated from contention.

Jim Small got a fielder on a tip-off play to start the third period. Don Dooney and Jim Danielson followed with two charity tosses apiece, Brown hooked one in on a fast break and Plein rebounded for two more points. Cotter led 37-26 at the time with only a free throw from the lanky Tuccori counting for Campion.

Mike Whalen and Maloney matched Cotter bucket-for-bucket the rest of the way in the third period but two more fast-break shots by Brown, who scored with both hands; a set shot from Skemp and points from Danielson and Plein prevented the Knights from closing the margin.

Tuccori staged a brilliant attempt to rally Campion in the fourth period with 10 points.

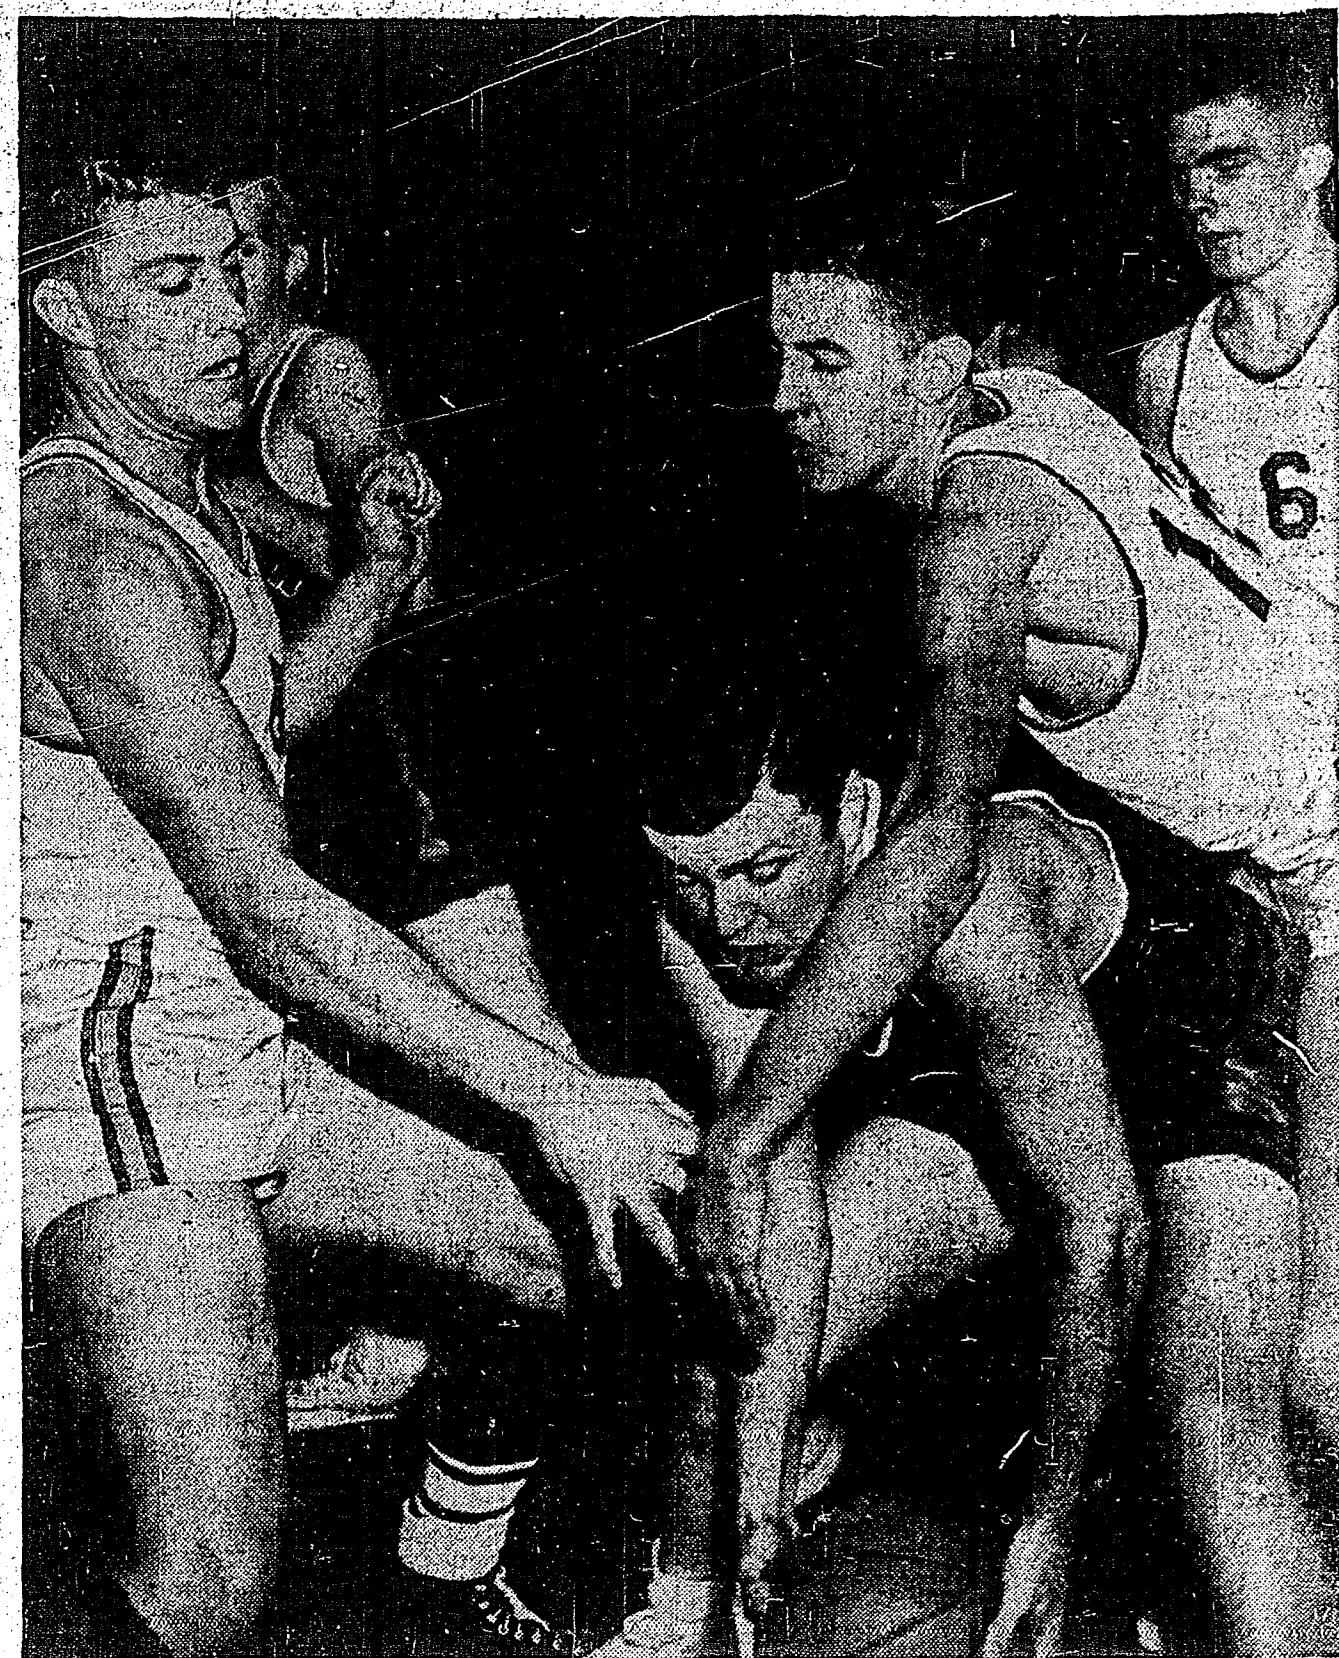

But after closing it to the aforementioned four-point deficit, Campion was unable to keep stride with the Ramblers who went out in front 58-49 on Skemp's hook and pair of free throws, and a gift by Ralph Dorsch.

Campion zoned Cotter all the way switching to several different varieties, while the Ramblers stuck with a man-to-man.

Plein continued to show well at center for Cotter, scoring 18 points, followed by Brown with 15 and Skemp with 14. Brown didn't start, but looked good the three minutes he saw action.

BROWN SCORES . . . This shot, taken during the last minute of play, shows Cotter's Rich Brown scoring the final two points in a 62-54 Rambler victory over Campion. Brown, a substitute, scored 15 points. (Daily News Sports photo)

HAWKS GET TEST TONIGHT

Warriors Open Schedule Here Wednesday Night

The Winona State Warriors make their first 1953-54 basketball appearance of the season Wednesday night at Memorial Hall against Stevens Point with a lineup that's expected to include plenty of new faces.

The Warrior-Stevens Point attraction is one of three mid-week games involving local schools.

Tonight the Winona High Hawks play host to the Lake City Tigers in one of the most important non-conference tests of the season for both schools.

Wednesday night the St. Mary's Redmen seek victory No. 3 at Menomonie, Wis., against Stout Institute.

Thursday night local football teams will be feted at the Winona football recognition banquet at the Oaks.

Basketball action resumes for local schools Friday with Winona High at Northfield and Cotter at La Crosse Logan.

Saturday night the Warriors play their second game at Memorial Hall against the Platteville, Wis., Teachers.

A note on tonight's Winhawk-Tiger game at the Senior High Auditorium was supplied by Lake City mentor Wait Williams in answer to queries from the Winona Daily News.

WYKOFF IN PRELIM

One of the top contenders for District One basketball honors will play the Winona State freshmen in a 6:30 preliminary to the Winona State-Stevens Point game Wednesday night at Memorial Hall.

Coach Harry Sheff's Wykats, second in the District One Conference last season, are paced by the return of three regular front liners, Barry Schroeder, Ken Nash and Ron Eickoff.

All three scored over 300 points last year—Schroeder hit 378, Nash 362 and Eickhoff 367. Schroeder was named, in addition, a first team back on the 1954 All-District One football team.

scored 37 points) but we could improve on defense."

Williams has three front-liners 6-2 or better but points out his two guards, Don Busch and Norm Busjan, stand 5-8 and 5-6, respectively.

A 6:30 B squad game tonight will precede the Hawk-Tiger main event. Both schools are rated strong in District Three and tonight's game is expected to provide a means of determining future tourney favorites.

Coach Lyle Arns will start two returning regulars Wednesday night against Stevens Point. They are 6-4 center Gil Regnier and 6-1 Pete Polus, moved to forward. Other starters will be Capt. George O'Reilly of Goodhue and Alma's Dave Smith, both 5-9, at guards, and 6-3 Lee Paul at the other forward slot.

Stevens Point has two regulars back from a year ago—Ken Roloff, 6-1 junior forward who led that team in scoring, and 6-2 forward Orv Koepke, a sophomore. Winona and Stevens Point split last season.

Arns said he feels this year's club will match the offensive ability of last year but won't be as good defensively. Gone are Fred Hoeft, Ron Richter and Dick Kowles.

"We don't have anybody like Kowles, who could be depended on to do a good job guarding someone like say, Pat Costello of last year's St. Mary's team," Arns said.

Smith, Paul, Jess Waldron and John Anderson all lettered at Winona State before entering service. Anderson, former Winhawk prep star, sprained an ankle and will be out two more weeks. Waldron is a 6-1 1/2 forward.

Paul, a Trempealeau product, is a baseball pitcher and the property of the Milwaukee Braves. Others expected to see plenty of action, according to Arns, are guard Bill Christopherson from Wykoff; Preston forward Jerry Grebin, Byron center Jim Kern and Dick Frederickson, former Cotter prep back from the service in his first season at Winona State.

Top prospects include guard Dick Beberg of Stillwater; Roger Agre, 6-3 forward for Renville's 1954 state tournament team.

Also Russ Blankenfeld, transfer from the University of South Dakota; Craig Currier, former Winhawk prep who sparked Winona State's fresh team last year, and Jerry Seeman, promising freshman from Plainview.

Cowles Hopes Simonovich Makes Grade

CHICAGO (AP)—Minnesota Coach Ozzie Cowles thinks he has one of the finest basketball players in the country in Dick Garmaker but is hoping his giant center, Bill Simonovich, can come through to make the Gophers a Big Ten power.

Cowles told the Chicago basketball writers Monday that Simonovich is coming along "nicely and I hope to use him a lot."

"He's the biggest guy I've ever had," said Cowles. "He stand 6-11 barefooted, weighs 288 pounds stripped and wears a size 18-D shoe."

Simonovich will start Saturday night when Minnesota meets DePaul in a Chicago Stadium doubleheader which also finds Iowa, one of the favorites in the Big Ten, playing Loyola of Chicago.

Coach Bucky O'Connor of Iowa said he's happy people think Iowa will have a good team but "it's not an enviable position to be tabbed the team to beat for the title."

The Hawkeyes have 11 of their first 12 men returning from last season's team which finished second to Indiana in the Big Ten.

DePaul Coach Ray Meyer predicted his club will be 15 to 20 per cent better than his 1953-54 team. Meyer expects a lot of scoring punch from Bill Robizine, a junior who was ineligible last season.

Also predicting he'll have an improved team was George Ireland, Loyola coach. Ireland said he's working his boys on the free throw line because "that's where games will be won and lost with the new rule."

"I wouldn't be surprised to see teams pick up 25 or 30 free-throws per game this season," said Ireland.

Under the new rule, a player getting a one-shot foul gets a second shot as a bonus if the first one is good. Last season, if a player missed on a one-shot foul, he was given another shot.

Dario Lodigiani, former major league infielder, is now a scout for the Chicago White Sox.

PGA Executive Raps Exploiting Temper Tantrums

ST. PAUL (AP)—Golf is being subjected to a creeping assault of "blind selfishness" which is threatening to break down the principles on which the game was built.

The charge was made Monday at the annual PGA convention by Joe Dey, executive director of United States Golf Association.

Dey said certain pros are exploiting their well-publicized temper tantrums to the detriment of the game. He mentioned no names.

Dey said use of winter rules for the sake of better scoring also is undermining the sport, and he called on professionals to set high standards of conduct and ethics for their club members.

His talk accompanied the first showing of the USGA's film on golf etiquette.

In other convention action, it was announced that next year women will play against a women's champion in National Golf Day competition. In the past, the ladies, like the men, have matched their score against that of the men's national open titlist.

J. E. King, vice president of Time magazine, and Hudson Stoddard, public relations director for Life magazine, reported that in 1954 the number of participants in Golf Day jumped to 133,000, an increase of 22 per cent over 1953.

In 1954, 1,808 medals were awarded to handicap golfers who beat the 64 shot by Ben Hogan.

Present open champion Ed Furgo, against whom the multitude will shoot next year, will address the convention today.

While playing for the Cincinnati Redlegs in 1949, Walker Cooper made six hits in seven times at bat during one game. Three of the hits were homers.

Ohio State Finishes First In National Football Poll

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—This usually frenzied football town, worn to a frazzle by Ohio State's unglorious and swashbuckling gridiron deeds, just took it in quiet stride today as the Bucks won the national collegiate championship.

"Aw, we knew it all the time," was the general attitude as news spread Ohio State had climbed on the throne in the final Associated Press poll with 3,670 points to UCLA's 3,594.

Win or lose, the Bucks are always champions to the year-round rooters, but as the 408 sports writers made it official for Coach Woody Hayes' unbeaten squad the satisfaction was tinged with a bit of discontent.

"We should be playing UCLA in the Rose Bowl instead of Southern California. That would stop all arguments," was the off-heard comment at Broad and High streets—the mecca which attracts the faithful for discussion of football doings.

Athletic director Dick Larkins was on the Coast making Rose Bowl arrangements, and Hayes was in upstate Fremont for a high school banquet when the championship flash came.

Larkins, always unruffled and soft-spoken, observed: "I am delighted that we are the No. 1 team."

Hayes, who has had three so-so seasons with the Bucks before this year, declared: "That's sure swell. Frankly, I think we deserve it because of the schedule we played and the way we stayed 'up' for nine games. This is the right time to win it too. Remember, after the Wisconsin game, when they voted us first I said 'Too bad!' Well, I was afraid everyone would be shooting at us the rest of the way."

Asked how his boys rolled over Indiana, California, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Pittsburgh, Northwestern, Purdue and Michigan in a row, Hayes said:

"I don't think it was depth, for other teams out-deeped us. I don't think it was conditioning. I think our kids just weren't going to let any team beat 'em — and they didn't."

Of the 408 ballots in the poll—a record vote—exactly half, or 204, picked Ohio State at the top, UCLA placed up 133 first-place votes, and third-place Oklahoma, which won 10 straight while the leaders were winning 9, was the choice of 35.

On the 10-9-8-etc. voting basis, Oklahoma finished 479 points back of UCLA with 3,155.

For winning the championship,

Ohio State will receive a leg on the Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C., Memorial Trophy, emblematic of the title. The award was donated by Notre Dame after the Irish retired the Williams Trophy in 1937 by winning it three times.

Orioles to Trip Farm Club System

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles have announced plans to trim their farm system from 12 to 7 clubs next year.

Farm Secretary Jim McLaughlin, making the announcement yesterday, said the move was a "natural step to weed out players who will never make the big league grade. It means merely that we have progressed a year."

Clubs to be dropped are Pine Bluff, Ark., of the Class C Cotton States League; Pocatello, Idaho, of the Class C Pioneer Loop; and three Class D clubs—Whytheville, Va., of the Appalachian League; Marion, N. C., of the Tarheel League; and Ada, Okla., of the Sooner State Circuit.

SPORTS Sidelight BY RALPH REEVE

All-Stable

Leave it to my irrepressible fellow-worker, Bob Eggleston, to come up with a suggestion that makes a good deal more sense than some of the all-conference misrepresentations we're heard banded about lately.

He thinks Native Dancer, that fine big gray hoss, oughta be named "All-Stable, 1954."

The Dancer has gone to greener pastures . . . As Arthur Godfrey sez, "He's retired to the stud . . ."

Ho! Hum! It's evidently hard for some folks to swallow the fact that the 1954 All-Big Nine football team announced by conference sports writers was the 28th annual selection . . .

Now we understand a radio man has called the sports writers in general, and yours truly in particular, a group of children . . . who can't see beyond the ends of their noses . . .

My! My! He shouldn't have made remarks which indirectly sound so uncomplimentary to members of his own profession . . . Even a child, you know, is aware of the fact that there are 11 men on a football team . . .

And the charge the sports writers can't see beyond the end of their noses . . . At least we had eyesight good enough to distinguish the difference between the center and guard positions on a football team . . .

Jerry Grebin of Winona State has received a couple of pro football feelers . . . "The Baltimore Colts even sent me an information blank with my name typed on it," Jerry quips . . .

Tuney Burkard, all-conference end of Winona State and teammate of Grebin, may try out with the Green Bay Packers next season . . .

The Big Nine Conference basketball race will be highlighted by a packed first division, if boosters of various teams have their way.

Just about certain first division finishes are expected from Austin and Red Wing . . . Almost every conference end we queried listed Mankato as a contender . . .

Al Schmah of the Albert Lea Tribune, writes, "Now I'm not going to say that Albert Lea will win the Big Nine title, but I'll wager the Tigers finish third or better . . ."

Where does that leave Winona High? We think the Hawks are capable of giving every loop for a good run for the money . . . A test is in store for them tonight against Lake City's tall, veteran team . . .

In their first two games Coach Don Snyder's boys showed some good tendencies . . . We're thinking of their ability to regain poise and defeat La Crosse Logan after Logan overcame a game-long Winona High lead and took a 43-41 advantage with moments of the regular game remaining . . .

The Cotter High Ramblers took another stride Monday night with their eight-point victory over Campion Academy of Prairie du Chien, Wis. It's significant because Campion beat Cotter twice a year ago and has three regulars back from that squad.

Evening up Cotter's home floor advantage Monday night was the fact that it was Campion's fourth game of the season and only Cotter's second . . . Rounding up the local situation, it's reasonably certain to expect some fine basketball this season from Winona's four teams . . .

We've already seen good work from the three teams who have opened their slates to date . . . The Winona State Warriors, who open Wednesday night at Memorial Hall against Stevens Point, base much of their hopes on the ability of some service returnees to take up the slack where the graduating members of last year's team left off.

More Trading As Big Team Managers Meet

By JOE REICHLER

HOUSTON, Texas (AP)—The fuss, furor and confusion created today by the American Association's drafting of the Western League's Denver club have all but blotted out the existence of the major league managers at the minors' 53rd annual convention.

But while weary and sometimes short-tempered executives were frantically seeking a solution to the many problems looming ahead because of the imminent wholesale realignment of teams, big league pilots were quietly plotting player trades.

One due to be announced at any moment now is the second half of the tremendous Baltimore - New York Yankee transaction of two weeks ago. The second installment probably will send Oriole pitchers Lou Kretlow and Mike Blyzka, outfielder Jim Fridley, catcher Derrell Johnson, first baseman Dick Kryhoski and an unnamed farmhand to the Yankees for pitcher Bill Miller and infielders Kal Segrist and Don Leppert.

That would make an 18-player deal of the one which began with the shifting of shortstop Billy Hunter and pitchers Bob Turley and Don Larsen to the Yankees for pitchers Harry Byrd and Jim McDonald, outfielder Gene Woodling, shortstop Willie Miranda and catchers Gus Triandos and Hal Smith.

There is no doubt more trade winds are blowing. One involves Brooklyn and Philadelphia.

General Manager Roy Hamey of the Phillies, openly admitting he is seeking hitting help, reportedly has made bids for Jackie Robinson, Carl Furillo and Junior Gilliam.

The Dodgers have asked for southpaw Curt Simmons and either of the Phils' two catchers, Smokey Burgess and Stan Lopatz, but not for the trio coveted by Hamey.

League officials were too busy swapping whole teams to worry about mere players. A financial stalemate resulted in the American Association's drafting of Denver. Unable to agree with the Western League over a settlement for encroaching on its territory, the A.A. asked minor league president George Trautman to appoint a five-man board of arbitration to settle the dispute.

The Western League has asked for $150,000 damages for the loss of the Denver club. The American Association has offered $50,000, the same it received from Arnold Johnson for its loss of Kansas City to the American League. The five-man board will decide on a "just and legal compensation."

The Western League also faces the loss of Omaha, which wants to follow Denver into the A.A. The St. Louis Cardinals, who own Omaha, would like to transfer their Columbus franchise to Omaha, which, incidentally, they also own. A demand for $100,000 for the Omaha territory, was rejected by the Cardinals.

Stunned by what is happening to their once solid Class A circuit, Western League officials are now faced with the problem of doing some drafting of their own or start the 1935 season with a six-team league.

Badgers Meet Frosh Tonight In Test Game

MADISON (AP)—The University of Wisconsin basketball team turns practice to action tonight in the annual game with the freshmen.

Coach Harold (Bud) Foster will be showing off his 1935 club but warns that "those freshmen have got enough to give us a real good battle."

Here's the starting lineup as Foster called it: Dick Cable and Curt Mueller at forwards; John Parker at center, and Dick Miller and Bob Badura, at the guard posts. All except Badura are lettermen.

Cable has been the big light for the Badgers during the past three seasons. He led the team with 301 points last year and set a new school field goal percentage mark of .436.

The varsity will go without center Dan Foltz who had the lead for the job until he sprained a wrist and knee when he fell in a parking lot. Other varsity members expected to see action are forwards Jim Clinton and Jack Manning and guard Dick Jorgensen.

Asst. Coach Fritz Wegner said he would probably start a freshman team of Bob Litzow, of Stevens Point, and John Pamparin, of La Crosse, at forwards; guards Dave Leichtfuss of Wauwatosa and Walter Holt, of Evansville, Ind., and Dave Telfer of Kalamazoo at center.

Kansas City, newest team in the American League, was a member of the National League in 1886.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Navy Picks Orange Bowl and Mississippi

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—Navy's decision to play Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl, which came as a distinct surprise to most Eastern observers, could be the forerunner of a much more liberal attitude on the part of both service schools toward playing genuine big-time football schedules within a couple more seasons.

A radical change in policy is being forced upon Army and Navy by the determination of the newly formed Ivy League to get away from it all. Beginning in 1936, its eight members plan to play full round-robin schedules among themselves.

This will leave a lot of blank space for the soldiers and the sailors to fill in their schedules, and there is no question that they will be under heavy pressure from every section of the country to spread their favors around. There breathe few congressmen who will be in there pitching for a fair share of the loot.

Once they become enmeshed in representative national schedules, where they regularly meet leading teams from each of the major conferences, the two schools—providing they have winners—will be in increasing demand in the various bowls. They'll be fair game too now that Navy has succumbed.

Army officials with whom we have discussed the bowl problem at one time or another have based their opposition to the fact that members of the Cadet squad would be forced to forego their Christmas holidays at home. In many cases, they pointed out, the Christmas break offered Army players their only opportunity all year to get away from the strict military grind and see the home folks. The premise that a football player would rather go home for Christmas than perform in one of the bowls might have gone unchallenged forever if Navy's officials, no doubt mindful of the changing scene, had not put it to a vote of their athletes after being given their pick of several invitations last week. From all accounts, the Middies didn't need to have their arms twisted.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D.Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1. Yes, says Hollywood writer Leon Surmelian in "Your Life." Great actresses Garbo, Dietrich, Caulfield, Grahame, Gail Russell, and many others—bold and audacious on the stage, he says—are extremely shy. So it is with Gary Cooper, Glenn Ford, Fred McMurray. Yet men admire such women, and women admire such men. They've learned poise even when shaking inwardly. Our booklet, "How To Be Popular," will teach you poise, however bashful. Non-profit, 15c (coin, only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope.

BEDTIME STORIES

By HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily was halfway out of his hollow stump bungalow, on his way to an adventure, before Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy really heard what the rabbit gentleman had said. But she didn't quite understand. "Excuse me, Mr. Longears," spoke the muskrat lady housekeeper politely. "But where did you say you were going?" "I am going to Christmas Tree Hill, Nurse Jane." "But why are you going there?" "To look for an adventure, Nurse Jane. And also for something else."
